

b. Mays.

34-5

LIBRARY

OF THE

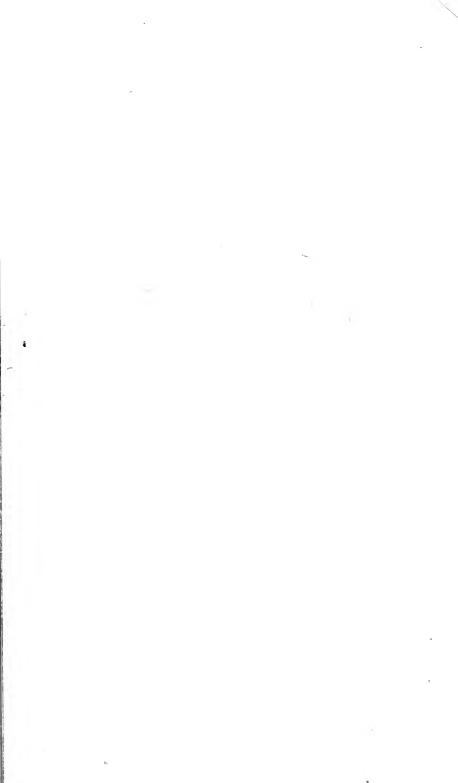

Theological Seminary,

Case,

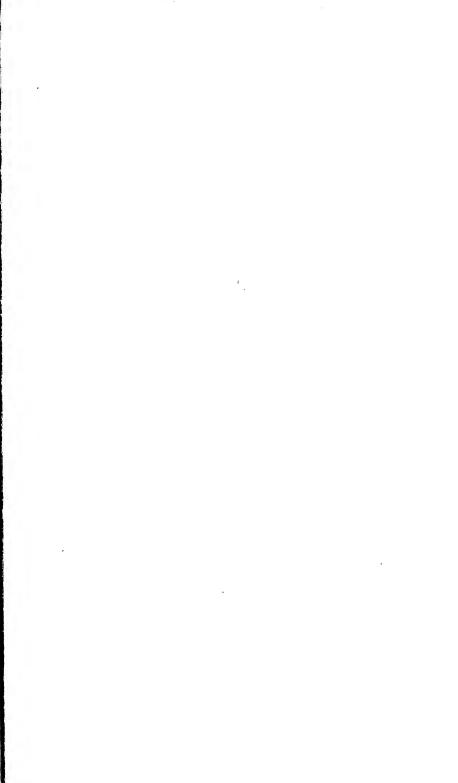

Shell.

Book.

ECC 2001

DICTIONARY

OF THE

HOLY BIBLE:

CONTAINING,

An HISTORICAL ACCOUNT of the PERSONS:

A GEOGRAPHICAL and HISTORICAL ACCOUNT of the PLACES:

A LITERAL, CRITICAL, and SYSTEMATICAL DESCRIPTION of other OBJECTS, Whether Natural, Artificial, Civil, Religious, or Military:

AND

The Explication of the Appellative Terms,

Mentioned in the Writings of the OLD AND NEW TESTAMENT.

THE WHOLE COMPRISING

Whatever important is known concerning the Antiquities of the Hebrew Nation and Church of God; forming a facred Commentary; a Body of Scripture History, Chronology, and Divinity; and ferving in a great Measure as a Concordance to the Bible.

BY THE REV. JOHN BROWN,
LATE MINISTER OF THE GOSPEL AT HADDINGTON.

A NEW EDITION,

CAREFULLY REVISED, AND IMPROVED WITH THE AUTHOR'S LAST ADDITIONS AND CORRECTIONS.

In TWO VOLUMES.

VOL. II.

EDINBURGH:

Printed and Sold by Murray & Cochrane.
Sold also by Bell & Bradfetf.

1797.

Entered in Stationers Ball.

THIS EDITION is improved and enlarged with many Additions and Corrections made by the Author on a Copy of the Book, which the Printers, together with the Copy-right, purchased from the Author's Widow.

DICTIONARY

OF THE

HOLY B IBLE.

Ĭ

When it relates to God, is expressive of his dignity, Psal. Nixxi. 10.; his power, Gen. xvii. 1.; his felf-existence and unchangeableness, Exod. iii. 14.; or the certainty of his promifes and threatenings, Exod. vi. 2. Numb. xiv. 35. Referring to men, it expresses their pride, If. xlvii. 8.; the certainty of what they fay, Gal. v. 2. Phil. iii. 19.; and their readiness to perform their duty, Mic. iii. 8. Matth. xxi. 30.

JABAL. See LAMECH.

JABBOK; a brook on the east of Jordan, rifing in the mountains of Gilead, and falling into Jordan a little fouth of the fea of Tiberias. parated the kingdom of Silion, from that of Og king of Bashan; and near to it Jacob wrestled with the Angel of the covenant, and prevailed, Deut. ii.

37. Gen. xxxii. 22.

JABESH, or JABETH-GILEAD; a city of the eastern Manassites, at the foot of mount Gilead, about fix miles from Pella, where the Christian Jews found refuge, amidst the ruins of Judea by the Romans. It was at no great distance from Gadara. The inhabitants of this city, neglecting to join their brethren against the Benjamites in the affair of Gibcah, were all put to the fword, except 400 virgins, who were bestowed on the surviving

VOL. II.

J A B Benjamites, Judg. xxi. About 310 years after, this city fustained a furious siege from Nahash king of the Ammonites; and the inhabitants could obtain no terms, but of having their right eyes pulled out, as a reproach to Ifrael. Unwilling to fubmit directly, they obtained a truce of feven days, before the end of which, Saul, at their request, raised an army, routed the Ammonites, and raifed the fiege. In the grateful remembrance of which, the valiant men of Jabesh, about forty years after, at the hazard of their lives, took the bodies of Saul and his fons, from the wall of Bethshan, where the Philistines had hung them, and gave them a decent interment, I Sam. xi. xxxi. 1 Chron. x. 11. 12.

JABEZ appears to have been a defeendant of Judah by Ashur. His mother bare him with much pain and forrow, which was the cause of his name. His noted religion, authority, and feed, rendered him more honourable than his brethren. With diftinguished fervour, he begged that God would truly and fignally blefs him; would enlarge his family and inheritance; would affift and direct him in every undertaking; and preferve him from every thing finful and dangerous. God fignally granted his request, I Chron. iv.

5.-10.

A JABIN:

JABIN; (1.) A king of Hazor, in the north parts of Canaun, and the / nost powerful of all the forereigns in thefe quarters. Struck with the rapidity of Jofhua's conquetls, he engaged all the kings on the north of Canaan, particularly the kings of Madon, Jobab, Shimron, Achthaph, Sc. to af-Their whole forces rendezvoused at the waters of Merom, to attack the Hebrews; but the Lord delivered them into Joshua's hand, who gave them an entire defeat, purfued their fugitives as far as Great Zidon to the north-west, and to Mezrephothmaim on the east. He then marched back to Hazor, and burnt it, and killed Jabin its king: Josh. xi. Jabin king of Hazor, and perhaps the great-grandehild of the former, was a very powerful monarch, had 900 chariots, armed with iron-feythes, and an army under Sifera his general, of 997,000 men, according to Philo Byblius. After he had twenty years, from about 2699 to 2719, or 2747 to 2767, mightily oppressed the Hebrews, his army was routed by Deborah and Barak, and, it is probable, a terrible florm of rain, that made the river Kifhon fweep away multitudes of them. Sifera the general fled away on his feet, and was kindly received by Jael, the wife of Heber the Kenite. fatigue occasioned his falling into a deep fleep. Jael, divinely infligated against this murderer of the Hebrews, killed him, by driving a nail through his head, and afterwards thewed him to Barak, Judg. iv. v.

JABNEH, or Jamnia; a city of the Danites, on the fea-shore, and at no great distance fouthward of Joppa. It feems it had been in the hands of the Philishines for some time before Uzziah broke down the walls of it, along with those of Gath, 2 Chron. xxvi. 6. There was a famous university of the Jews in this place, some ages after Christ.

JACINCT, or JACINTH; a precious flone, of a violet and purple colour, not unlike the amethyst. It is very hard; but the diamond will make an impression on it. It was the 11th foundation in the new Jerusalem, Rev. xxi. 20. That which some moderns call jazinth, has a yellow colour, somewhat like a flame.

JACOB, the younger fon of Isaac and Rebekah, was born A. M. 2168 or 2173, along with Efau. In the womb they had fome struggling with one another, and the Lord informed their mother that she was with twins. both of which should become nations, but of a very different temper, state. and condition; but the elder should ferve the younger. In their birth, the last took hold of his brother's heel, and for that reason was called Jacob, the heeler, or fupplanter. When he grew up, he was of a quiet and peaceable temper, and staid much at home with his mother; while his brother was of a restless temper, and passionately fond of hunting. He bought the birth-right of his brother for a mess of coarse pottage. By presenting some favoury meat, which his mother had prepared, to his dim-fighted father, and pretending he was Efau, he obtained his principal bleffing, of a fat land well watered, and of the dominion over all his brethren. Enraged hereat, Efau refolved to murder him. Rebekah his mother, who had advifed him, informed hereof, defired Jacob to retire to Mesopotamia, to her brother Laban's family, and abide there, till Efau's fury should be cooled. Afterward the communicated the matter to Isaac, and told him, what an insupportable burden it would be to her, if Jacob should marry a Canaanitish woman. Isaac fent for Jacob, gave him his bleffing, and charged him to go to Padan-aram, and there marry one of Laban his uncle's daughters.

Jacob departed privately from Beersheba. After funset, he, probably on the second day of his journey, lighted on a place called Luz, on account of the multitude of almonds or hazel-nuts that grew thereabouts. Here he laid himself down to rest all night, under the open sky, with a stone under his head for a pillow. Here, in his dream, he saw a ladder, whose foot stood on the earth, and its top reached unto heaven; the angels of God afcended and defcended on the rounds of it. Above the top of it flood the Lord God, and affured him he was the God of his fathers, Abraham and Ifauc, and would give him and his feed the land of Canaan for their inheritance, render them numerous as the faud by the fea-shore, and render all nations bleffed in him and his feed. This ladder reprefented the providence of God, administered by angels and managed by God, as a God in covenant; and Jefus Christ as the wonder and Lord of angels, and our Mediator between God and man, and the way of accefs to him, fprung of Jacob in his humanity, but in his divine nature the Lord from heaven, and the means of all bleffings from God to finful men. kened from his fleep, Jacob was deeply struck with a reverential impression of the divine greatness, took the stone which he had for his pillow, erected it as a monument, poured oil on the top of it, and called the name of the place BETHEL, or the house of God; and engaged, that fince God had promifed to protect him, and provide for him, and bring him back to Canaan, he would ferve him, give him the tithes of all he acquired, and, at his return, make Bethel a place of folenm worship, Gen. xxv. xxvii. xxviii.

JAC [3] JAC

Encouraged by this vision, he sped forward to Haran, where Laban his uncle lived. Near to the place, fome shepherds informed him where Laban dwelt, and that his family was well, and that Rachel his daughter was just coming to water her flock. At her coming up he kindly faluted her, helped her to water her flock, and told her that he was the fon of Rebekah her aunt. She hastily informed her father: he came, and conducted Jacob to his house. When Jacob had continued here about a month, Laban proposed to give him wages. Jacob offered feven years fervice for Rachel his younger, but most beautiful daughter; and with great cheerfulness he fulfilled his engagement, from the great love which he bare to her. When the marriage-night came, as a providential punishment to Jacob for deceiving his dim-eyed father, Laban conducted Leah his elder daughter, whose beauty was far inferior, to Jacob's bed, inftead of Rachel. Next morning the cheat was difcovered; and Jacob warmly chod with his uncle about it. pretended, that it was contrary to the custom of their country, to marry the younger daughter first; but, marking himfelf a greedy wretch, told him he might have Rachel too, for feven years more fervice. This Jacob agreed to. Of his two wives, Jacob much preferred Rachel; but God favoured Leah with children, Reuben, Simeon, Levi, and Judah; and, it feems, with a thankful heart, while Rachel was barren. Vexed hereat, she begged that Jacob would make her conceive, or elfe fhe would die of grief, or by fome violent means. With indignation at her rafhnefs, he told her, he was not a God to bestow, or with-hold the fruit of the womb at his pleafure. She next ordered Bilhah her maid, whom her father had given her, to take her place in her husband's bed, that by her she might have children, to pass for her own. By this means Jacob had two fons, the one Rachel called Dan, as if fhe hoped God would judge her, and avenge her want of children on her fif-The other she called Naphtali, as if with great wrestling she had prevailed. against her fister. In imitation hereof, Leah put her maid Zilpah to Jacob's bed, and she bare him two sons, Gad and Asher, by whose names Leah intended to hint her expectation, that a troop of children was coming, and that the daughters would call her bleffed .--Soon after, Leah with her fon Reuben's mandrakes, hired her hufband for Rachel's night to fleep in her bed, and, in confequence hereof, bare Iffachar; and not long after, the bare Zebulun, and a daughter called Dinah: nor was it long, when the Lord pitied Rachel, and gave her a fon, whom the called Joseph, in hopes that she should have another fon added to him.

JAC [4] JAC

Jacob's fourteen years fervice for his two wives being finished, he begged, that Laban, his father-in-law, would permit him to return to his country, with his family along with him, that he might provide for himfelf. Senfible of the advantage of his fervice, Laban offered him what wages. he pleafed, if he would flay. mark his dependence on the providence of God, Jacob moved, that all the fpotted cattle and brown sheep afterwards produced, should be his hire. Laban, expecting these could not be many, readily offented. To prevent all difputes, and hinder as much as possible, the future product of spotted cattle and brown sheep, all of these kinds were removed to the distance of three days journey, and intrufted to the care of Laban's fons; and the rest were committed to the overfight of Jacob. Instigated by a vision, Jacob laid fpeckled, fpotted, and ringitreaked rods of poplar, &c. in the wateringtroughs, about the time when the fronger cattle coupled and conceived; thefe striking their imagination as they drunk, made them conceive a spotted offspring; but he laid them not in when the weaker cattle conceived: by this means, all the stronger cattle were Jacob's, and his flocks and herds exceedingly increased. Laban therefore frequently changed his hire; but whatever was allotted to Jacob exceed. ingly increased. Laban, too, caused Jacob bear the lofs of whatever was missing of his flocks or herds. After Jacob had ferved other fix years with great labour and fidelity, Laban and his fons carried very furly towards him, pretending, that he had made himfelf rich at their expence. Meanwhile, God in a dream ordered him to return to Canaan. Refolving to do fo, he, perhaps when he was thearing his own fheep, at a distance from those of Laban, acquainted his wives, that he faw their father's deportment towards him changed, and that he intended to return to Caraan. They, being fensible of their father's injurious behaviour, were glad to part with him. So Jacob, his wives and children, and fervants, and flocks, moved towards Canaan, and Rachel carried off fome of her father's idols. On the third day after, Laban, informed of their departure, purfued them in no fmall fury; but God in a dream charged him, to beware of giving Jacob so much as an injurious word. On the feventh day, he overtook them on the mountain of Some sharp words were exchanged, and Laban heavily complained that they had carried off his gods. Jacob defired him to rummage all his ftore, and if his gods were found with any, let the person be put to death. Laban fearched with the utmost care: but Rachel having taken the idols, and put them into the camels furniture, fat upon them, pretending, that her frequent distemper hindered her to rife. Nothing of Laban's being found, he and Jacob made a folemn covenant of perpetual friendship, in testimony whercof, they reared an heap of stones, which Jacob called Galeed or Gilead, and Laban, Jegar-fahadutha, both which defignations fignified the heap of witness. After Jacob had effected facrifice, and given an entertainment to his friends, Laban and his company affectionately parted, and returned to Padan-aram, while Jacob and his family went forward to Canaan, Gen. xxix. xxx. xxxi. When Jacob had advanced to the ford of JABBOK, God fhewed him that he was guarded with angels on every fide, both from Laban and Efau; therefore Jacob called the name of the place, Mahanaim, or the double camp. Fearing the remains of Esau's resentment, he sent messengers to inform him of his return, and to fupplicate his favour. Jacob, informed by his moffengers, that Efau came to meet him with 400 men, justly fufpected his intentions were murderous, and fent off before him a large prefent of 220 goats, 220 sheep, 30 milk-camels with their colts, 40 kine and 10 bulls, 20 she-affes and 10 foles. These he divided into five droves, and ordered the drivers of each to tell Esau as they met him, that it was a prefent to him. By this means, he hoped to mighty and worshipful God of Israel, appeale his brother's anger. Meanwhile, he spent the whole night in folemn prayer. Our Redeemer appeared to him in the form of a man, and to check him for attempting to detain him by force, touched the hollow of his thigh, till it shrank, and made him always after go halting; to commemorate which, his posterity never eat of the fimilar finew in animals : but by weeping and supplication to the appearing Son of God, he obtained a change of his name to Ifrael, because as a prince he had wroftled with God, and had prevailed, and obtained a folemn bleffing on himfelf and his feed. Having croffed the Jabbok, he divided his family into three divisions, that, if Efau murdered the foremost, the others might flee. The two handmaids, and their children, went foremost; Leah and her's next; and Rachel and Joseph last, that she might have most opportunity to get off, if there was danger. According to Jacob's direction, they all, in the humblest manner, did obeifance to Efau. Partly moved by this deportment, and chiefly by the providence of God, Efau met Jacob with the most tender affection, generoufly refufed his prefent, because he had much wealth already; but Jacob urged him, because, said he, I have every thing, and have had the great happiness to meet thee in kindness and love. Efau offered to attend him on his journey to mount Seir; but Jacob, not over-fond of his company, begged he would not trouble himfelf, as the flocks and little ones could but move very flowly. After Efau's departure, Jacob coming to the fpot where Succoth was afterwards built, reared up an house for himself, and booths for his cattle. Not long after, he croffed the Jordan westward, and coming to Shalem, he bought a piece of ground from Hamor, the father of Shechem, for an hundred pieces of filver, probably shekels, and so a little more than 111. 6s. Sterling. Here he erected an altar, and called it El-Elohe-Ifrael, importing, that it was facred to the

J A C I A C

Gen. xxxii. xxxiii.

He had not dwelt long here, when Dinah his daughter, an handsome girl of about 14 years of age, at fome ball, or fimilar occasion, went to see the young women of the country. Shechem, the fon of Hamor, and prince of the city of Shechem, captivated with her comelinefs, took her, and defiled her. He and his father begged her in marriage for him, and he offered them any price they pleafed, to obtain her. Jacob waited till his fons came home. They descritfully propofed, that the Shechemites should be all circumcifed, as the only terms of obtaining Dinah. This they proposed as a means to render them incapable to defend themselves, horridly abusing the feal of God's covenant, to promote their murderous intentions. Dreading nothing, Hamor and Shechem, by hinting to their people how it would gain them the wealth of Jacob's family, perfuaded them to undergo the operation. On the third day, when they were at the forest, Simeon and Levi, and perhaps a number of fervants, entered the city, and murdered the inhabitants; and the other fons of Jacob coming up, feized on the spoil. This they did, to revenge Shechem's using of their fister as if an harlot. Dreading the refentment of the Canaanites around, and directed of God to go up to Bethel and dwell there, Jacob, remembering his vow which he had made as he went to Padan-aram, ordered his family to purify themselves, and to put away their strange gods, for several of his servants were Heathens. They, and no doubt Rachel among them, delivered up their idols to him, and he hid them under an oak. Protected of God, by a dread feizing the Canaanites around, he and his family came fafe to Bethel. There he offered facrifices to God: God appeared to him, and renewed his former bleffing. Soon after, Jacob moved fouthward to Hebron, to visit Isaac his father. Meanwhile, Deborah his mother's nurse died, to the no small grief of the family. Rachel too, who had faid the would die if the got not children, died in childhed of her fecond fon, whom the, in her last agonies, called Benoni, the fon of my forrow, but his father called him Benjamin: she was buried near Bethlehem. Not long after, Reuben committed incest with Bilhah, his father's concubine. Jacob had fearce dwelt three years with Ifaac his father, when he had Joseph carried off from him; and for twenty-two years, bewailed his lofs, imagining that fome wild beaft had devoured him. twelve years after, Ifaac died, and was buried by Jacob and Efau. It feems, the two brothers inclined to have lived together, but the vast number of their herds and flocks would not admit it: therefore Efau retired to Seir, leaving Jacob in the fouth of Canaan. while, he had his there of affliction, from the diforders in the family of Judah. Gen. xxxv.-xxxviii.

JAC [6] JAC

About nine years after the death of Isaac, Jacob, distressed by a famine, fent his ten elder fons to Egypt, to buy corn for their fubfiftence. At their return, he was shocked to find that each man's money was returned in his fack; but more, that Simeon was detained a prisoner, and the governor of Egypt had demanded a fight of Benjamin his darling, and, as he thought, the only furviving fon of his beloved Rachel. Pinching famine, and the repeated entreaties of his children, particularly of Reuben and Judah, obliged him to permit Benjamin to go with the rest on their fecond journey to Egypt, not without angry hints, that all thefe things were against him, and that he was bereaved of his children. On their return, he found that Joseph was yet alive, and governor of Egypt, and that he had fent for him and his family to come hither for fubfiftence. He, with great joy, left the plain of Mamre near Hebron, and moved towards Egypt. At Beersheba he offered facrifices to the Lord, and the Lord encouraged him to go down into Egypt, and affured him, that his feed should thence return to Canaan, in the time fixed by the promife; and that there Joseph fhould attend him in his last moments, clofing his eyes. He, and 66 of his offspring, with eight wives, went down iato Egypt, where were already Joseph and his two fons. Informed by Judah, who went before the rest, Joseph met him with the utmost expressions of tender affection. Jacob was by him prefented to Pharoah. He wished that monarch all true happiness, and informed him, that he had lived 130 years, chiefly in troubles. Let us learn the fruit of unbrotherly conduct, and of obtaining bleffings by unhallowed means. Jacob and his family had lived but 17 years in Egypt, when he fell into his last sickness. Joseph, whom a little before he had caufed fwear he would bury him in Canaan, with his two fons Manaffeh and Ephraim, came to vifit him. formed them of God's bleffing him at Luz or Bethel; he bleffed Joseph, affured him his fons should form two diftinct tribes of the Hebrew nation, but that of Ephraim should be the most numerous and honoured. He affured him God would bring all his posterity back to Canaan in due time; and affigned to Joseph's seed a piece of ground near Shechem, which he had first bought, and afterwards recovered by force, out of the hand of the Amorites. After this he convened his twelve fons, gave them his last benediction, and foretold what would befal their families in future Reuben, Simeon, and Levi, he reproached with their finful conducts and predicted how God would chaftife it in the fate of their feed. He especially commended Judah and Joseph, and foretold the future glory of their families. He foretold the coming of Christ, and the gathering of the Gentiles to him. Amidst the bleffing of his children, he expressed his strong desires of the Messiah's incarnation, and of his own full enjoyment of God. After charging his fons to bury him in the cave of Machpelah, where Abraham, Sarah, Ifaac, Rebekah, and Leah had been buried, he laid down himfelf on the bed, and breathed out his last, about A. M. 2316 or 2320, and in the 147th of his life. After his body was embalmed, and a folema

JAG. [7] JAI

 $\int\limits_{\text{folemn mourning of 70 days performed}} \int\limits_{\text{folemn mourning of 70 days performed}} \left[$ for him in Egypt, Joseph and his brethren, with the chief men of Egypt, attended his corpfe to its interment in Canaan. At the threshing-sloor of Atad they stopped, and had a second mourning of feven days; on account of which, the Canaanites called the fpot Abel-mizraim, the mourning of the Egyptians. He was interred in the cave of Machpelah. Gen. xlii. !. His pofterity, as well as himfelf, are called Jacob or Ifrael. A well which he used, and perhaps digged, near Sheehem, is called his well, John iv. 12. Deut. x. 22. Josh. xxiii. 4. Pial. ev. 10.-23. Acts vii. 11.—16. Hof. xii.

Was not our Redeemer, who is called JACOB and ISRAEL, prefigured by this patriarch? How long expected, earneitly defired, and fupernatural his birth! how divinely was he chosen to be the father of the faved nations of elect men? how he took the first Adam by the heel, fulfilling the covenant which he had broken! how he fupplanted and overthrew fin and Satan! By what red and bloody fufferings he purchased the mediatorial heirship of all things! What inestimable and irreverfible bleffings he obtained, by offering himself to God in the likeness of finful flesh! How fearfully was he exposed to trouble, from Jewish brethren, from Satan the father of his bride, and from his offended father! How direful his earthly exile! how hard his fervice! how numerous his forrows! how unfettled his lot among men! but how noted his plainness and integrity! What love he bears to his mother and spouse the church! how faithful in his work! how prevalent his interceffion! how glorious his reward! Having finished hiswork, and bleffed his difciples, he retired to his rest in the heavenly Canaan! What a multitude of spiritual seed fpring from the twelve apostles, these patriarchal fathers of the gospel church! Pfal. xxiv. 6. If. xlix. 3.

JADDUA or Jaddus, the fon of Jonathan, and high-priest of the Jews. He officiated a confiderable time after the captivity, Neh. xii, 11. He is thought to be the Jaddus who lived in the time of Alexander the Great. Jofephus fays, that Alexander, when befleging Tyre, demanded fome affiftance. Jaddus begged to be excufed, as he had fworn fidelity to Darius the Perfian. Highly provoked, Alexander vowed a revenge. After taking of Tyre, he marched towards Jerufalem. After the people had exercifed themselves in fasting and prayer, Jaddus and his fellow priefts, directed of God, met Alexander in their facred robes. Struck with the appearance of the high-prieft, he, instead of reproaching him, fell at his feet, and told Parmenio his general, that fuch a form had appeared to him in Macedonia, and promifed him the empire of the world: and, at the highpriell's request, cased the Jews of their tribute. But as none of Alexander's hillorians mention this matter, it is poffibly a lewish fable.

JAEL. See JABIN, SISERA.

JAH. See JEHOVAH.

JAHAZ, JAHAZAH, or JAHZAH; probably the Ziza of Ptolemy; a city near Aroer, between Medeba and Dibiatheim, on the north frontiers of Moab, and near to the fpot where Mofes defeated the army of Sihon. It was given to the Reubeniter, and by them to the Levites, Numb. xxi. 23. Jofh. xiii. 18. 1 Chron. vi. 78. After the death of Ahab, it feems the Moabites feized on it. It flared in the ruinous ravage of the Affyrians and Chaldeans, If. xv. 4. Jer. xlviii. 21.

JAIR; (1.) The fon of Segub, the fon of Hezron, of the tribe of Judah. By his grandmother, the daughter of Machir the Manassite, he fell heir to an estate eastward of Jordan, and conquered the whole country of Argob, as far as the borders of Geshuri and Maachathi, 1 Chron. ii. 21.—23. Numb. xxxii. 40. 41. (2.) A Judge of Ifrael, who fucceeded Tola, A. M. 2795 or 2857, and governed 22 years. He was a Gileadite, probably of Manasich. He had 30 fons, who rode on 30 afscolts, and were lords of 30 towns, called Havoth-jair, or the founs of Jair, Judg. x. 3.—5. · · · · the fynagogue at Capernaum. His daughter falling grievously sick, he begged that Jefus would come, lay his hands on her, and cure her. On their way to the house, some from it met him, and told him it was needless to trouble our Saviour, as his daughter was dead. Jefus bid him fear not, but only believe. When they entered the house, they found the mourners prepared to attend the corpfe to the grave, and making a noife. Jefus bade them be filent, as the maid was not to be given up for dead. They laughed at him. To punish their derision of him, he put them to the door; and when no more but her father and mother and three of his disciples were prefent, he took her by the hand, and bade her arife. did fo, and Jufus ordered to give her fome victuals. Matth. ix. 18. - 26. Mark v. 21.-43. Luke viii. 41. - 56.

TAIR

JAM IAI

JAMES the Great, or Elder, and JOHN the Evangelist, sons of Zebedee and Salome, were originally fishers of Bethsaida in Galilee, and left every thing at our Saviour's call, to follow him, Matth. iv. 21. Both were conflituted apostles: both were witnesses of Jesus's transfiguration: Matth. x. 2. xvii. 2. Both begged his leave to call down fire from heaven on the Samaritans, who refused to receive him; and on this account, as well as for their bold preaching, were called Boancrges or Bane regem, the fons of thunder. He checked their furious zeal, and told them that they knew not what unreafonable temper they were of, Luke ix. 54. Our Saviour's fingular honour of them, and regard to them, occasioned their mother's begging they might be made chief ministers of state in his temporal kingdom. After they had profelled their ability to undergo fufferings along with him, he told them that fuffer they must, but his Father had the disposal of eminent places in his kingdom, Matth. xx. 20.—24. Mark. x. 35.-45. They witneffed his agony in the garden, Matth. xxvi. 37. After our Saviour's refurrection, it feems they, for a while, returned to their bu-

JAIR or JAIRUS, a chief ruler of finess of fishing, John xxi. 2, 3. About A. D. 42 or 44, if not 49, James was taken and murdered by Herod, Acts xii. 1. and is now the pretended patron of Spain.—Whether his brother John was the bridegroom at Cana of Galilee, we know not; but he was our Saviour's beloved disciple. To him, Jesus, as he fat next to him on the couch at the paffover, intimated who should be the traitor. It is believed that he went up to the high-priest's hall, and being known to the fervants, introduced Peter; but perhaps that difciple might be Nicodemus, or Joseph of Arimathea, John xviii. 15, 16. He, at our Saviour's dying direction, took home the bleffed Virgin to his house, and provided for At the Galilean sea, he first difcovered our Saviour on the shore to Peter, John xix. 25, 26, 27. xxi. 1.—7. After dinner with our Saviour there, Peter asked him what should become of John? Jefus replied, That it was none of his bufinefs, though he should live till his coming. This expression, fondly mistaken, made many primitive Christians imagine that John should never die; but himfelf and other hiftories contradict this ill-grounded fancy, John xxi. 18.—25. He, for a time, shared along with Peter in preaching, working miracles, and enduring perfecution from the Jews at Jerusalem; and at Samaria they conferred the Holy Ghost, by the laying on of hands, Acts iii. iv. v. viii.

About A. D. 51, John continued a noted pillar of the Christian church in Judea, Gal. ii. 7. It is faid he afterwards preached the gospel to the Parthians and Indians; but it is more evident that he preached fome time in Leffer Afia. In Domitian's perfecution, about A. D. 95, it is faid he was cast into a caldron of boiling oil, and coming out unhurt, vigorous and clean, was banished to Patmos, to be starved to death. Under the Emperor Nerva he was recalled from exile, and returning to Ephefus, preached the gofpel there, till he died, about 90 or 100 years old. He appears to have been of a most kindly and affectionate temJAM [0] JAN per; and yet it is faid he leaved out of the bath, whenever he understood that Cerinthus, who denied the divinity of our Saviour, was in it; fo great was his zeal. In his old age he wrote three epitles, one to the Jewish Christians in general, another to a noted lady, and a third to one Gaius. The fcope is, to inculcate brotherly love, holy converfation, felf-examination, and cautious faunning of falle teachers, particularly fuch as denied the incarnation and true Godhead of our Saviour. He wrote an history of Jesus's life, containing a great many things omitted by the other three evangelists, chiefly a number of excellent discourses. It is principally calculated to evince our Saviour's divinity. In the ifie of Patmos he had various revelations and visions. Thence, from Jesus's mouth, he wrote feven epiftles to the Afian churches; and in this book of Revelation, under the visions of feals opened, trumpets founded, and vials poured out, &c. he exhibits the whole thate of the Chriftian church to the end of the world. From the fublimity of his revelations, and his vindication of our Saviour's divinity, he came to be called John the Divine. The book of his travels, and of his acts, and of the Virgin Mary's death and affumption to heaven, and the creed afcribed to him, contain plain documents of forgery.

2. James the Lets, called the brother of our Lord. He was the fon of Cleophas, by Mary, the fifter of the bleffed Vivgin. For the admirable holinefs of his life, he was firnamed the Just. Our Saviour appeared to him by himself, after his resurrection, I Cor. xv. 7. About three years after Paul's conversion he was at Jerusalem, and confidered as a pillar or noted supporter of the church there, Gal. i. 19. About 14 years after, he was prefent at the apostolic council; and, speaking among the last, he gave his fentiment, that as God, according to the ancient prondfes, had called a church from among the Gentiles to himtelf, it was not proper to burden them with Jewish ceremonies, fo hard to be borne; but merc-Vol. II.

ly to require them, for the fake of edla fication, in the prefent circumstances, to forberre ating of things ftrangled, or blood, and to abstain from fornication, and meats offered to idois. To this all present agreed. About nine years after, he wrote an epiftle to the Jewish believers, wherein he fharply reproves fuch as pretended to faith without good works, indulging themselves in instability, naughtiness, partiality, reviling, covetoulness, oppression, vain swearing, &c. About A. D. 63, when Feftus was dead, and Albinus had not come to fucceed him, the Jews being exceedingly enraged at the fuccess of the gofpel, Ananus fon of Annas, it is faid, ordered James to afcend one of the galleries of the temple, and inform the people, that they had without ground believed Jehas of Nazareth to be the Meffiah. He got up, and cried with a loud voice, that Jefus was the Son of God, and would quickly appear in the clouds to judge the world. Many glorified God, and believed; but the Pharifees threw him over the battlement. He was fore bruifed, but got up on his knees, and prayed for his murderers, amid a shower of stones which they cast at him, till one beat out his brains with a ful'er's club. To the death of this just man, some Jews a cribe the rain of their nation. The Talmud afcribes a valiety of miracles to James the disciple of Jesus, there called the carpenter.

JANGLING; vain or contentious talking about trifles, or what people do not underfland, or know what they would be at, 1 Tim. i. 6.

JANNES and JAMBRES, called by Pliny Jamma and Jotape, and by fome Jewish writers Johanne and Manre, were two principal magicians of Egypt, who withstood Moses in aping fome of his miracles, in the change of their rods into serpents, turning waters into blood, and producing frogs, 2 Timiii. 8. Exod. vii. viii. Jonathan, the Chaldee paraphrast, fabulou by says they were Balaam's sons, and attended him when he went to Balak.

JANOAH, JANOHAH, a city of the Ephraimites,

JAP [10] JAS

Ephraimites, on their north border, and about 12 miles castward from Shechem, Josh. xvi. 6. It was taken and ruined by Tiglath-pileser king of Assyria, 2 Kings xv. 29.

JAPHETH, the elder fon of Noah, born A. M. 1556, Gen. x. 21. v. 32. To reward his kind and modeft covering of his father's nakednefs, as he lay drunk, his father bleffed him, faying, that God would enlarge and perfuade him, and make him to dwell in the tents of Shem, and render the offspring of Canaan his fervants. His posterity were prodigiously numerous; he had feven fons, Gomer, Magog, Madai, Javan, Tubal, Meshech, and Tiras. Their posterity peopled the north half of Asia, almost all the Mediterranean ifles, all Europe, and, I suppose, most of America. How the GREEKS and ROMANS feized on the original refidence of the descendants of Shem in Syria, Palestine, Mesopotamia, Affyria, Perfia, &c.; how the Scythians, Tartars, Turks, or Moguls, the descendants of Gog and Magog, have made themselves masters of fouthern Afia, may be feen under thefe articles. How the Dutch, English, Portuguefe, Spaniards, and Danes, have feized the iflands or other fettlements in Southern Afia and its adjacents, is notorious. I know no country of note originally belonging to the offspring of Shem, part of Arabia excepted, that has not, or is not now claimed or poffeffed by the offspring of Japheth. God has perfuaded multitudes of them to become his peculiar people, when the Tewish descendants of Shem are cast How the CANAANITES in Caпаап, Phenicia, North Africa, Вжоtia, Heraclea, Arcadia, or Italy, have been enflaved by Japheth's Grecian, Roman, Vandal, or Turkith defcendants, is marked in that article, Gen. ix. 27. As Japheth or Japetus was the father of the Greeks, no wonder he be so often mentioned in their ancient fables.

JAPHIA; probably the fame as Japha, a city belonging to the Zebulunites, furrounded with a double wall, but taken and cruelly ravaged by the Romans, Josh. xix. 12.

JAPHO. See JOPPA.

JAREP. We find no certain evidence that there was fuch a king of Assyria; perhaps it might be read the king of Jareb, because he might dwell at a place called Jareb: or the word may be rendered, the king that shall strive, i. e. fight against and ruin them, Hos. v. 13. x. 6.

JARMUTH or JERMUS, a city about ten miles fouth-west of Jerusalem, and as much north-east of Elentheropolis, once a samed city of Judea. It was a village about 1400 years ago, Josh.

x. 5.

The book of JASHER was probably fome noted history of the Jewish nation, wherein things were recorded with great care and integrity; but it was not inspired, josh. x. 13. 2 Samii. 18.

[ASHOBEAM the Hachmonite or Tachmonite, the fame as Adino the It feems he fat on a kind of throne, at the head of David's might? men. He in one instance attacked 800, and in another 300, and cut them off to a man: or he routed 800, flew 300 of them, and his followers flew the other 500. He, with Eleazer and Shammah, brake through the army of the Philitines, and brought their mafter water from the well of Bethlehem, 2 Sam. xxiii. 8. 16. 17. 1 Chron. xi. 11. 18. 19. I suppose that it was he who commanded the royal guard of 2.1,000 for the first month, I Chron. xxvii. 2.; but that he was the defcendant of Benjamin by Koreh, I dare not affirm, 1 Chron. xii. 6.

JASON, a kinfman of Paul's, and his hoft at Theffalonica, who hazarded his life in a mob to preferve Paul. It feems he afterwards removed to Rome, Acts xvii. 7. Rom. xvi. 21.

JASPER, a precious stone, or a kind of serupus, being probably an opaque crystaline mass, debased with a mixture of earth, hence proceed its various colours of white, red, brown, bluish green. It is somewhat like the siner marble, or the half transparent gems. It strikes fire with steel; but makes no boiling appearance in aquafortis. It is found in the Indies, in Perfia, Syria, Armenia. Bohemia, &c. It was the third Rone in the fourth row of the highprieft's breaftplate, and might figure out faints having much earthliness mixed with their grace, Exod. xxviii. 20. It was the first foundation of the new Jerusalem, and might represent lefus, as at once the Lord from heaven, and the fruit of the earth, Rev. xxi. 19. God is likened to a jusper, to denote his manifold and well-connected excellencies, the perpetual thining thereof, and the pleafure there is in beholding him, Rev. iv. 3. xxi. 11. The medicinal virtues attributed to jusper are not to be depended on.

 fire

IDO IAV

JAVAN. See GREECE. JAVELIN. See DART.

IAW. Wicked mens power, or in-Aruments of holding what they have, or of doing brutish and outrageous mifchief, are called jaws or jaw-reeth, lob axix. 17. Prov. xxx. 14.

JAZER OF AAZER, a city about 15 miles north from Heshbor, and a little fouth of Ramoth gilead, at the foot of the mountains of Gilead, near the brook or lake of Jazer. It was given by the tribe of Gad to the Levites, but afterwards fell into the hance of the Meab-ites, Josh. xxi. 39. If uvi. 9. IBLEAM or Bullam, a city of the western Manustites, on the border of Islachar. It seems to have been given to the Levites for Gath-rimmon, but the Canaanites kept possession of it. Josh. xvii. 11. 12. 1 Chron. vi. 70. Judg. i. 27. Gur, where Ahaziah king of Judah was flain, was hard by Ibleam, 2 Kings ix. 27.

IBŽAN, of the tribe of Judah, fucceeded Jephthah, about A. M. 2823 or 2878, and judged Ifrael feven years. He had 30 fons, and as many daughters, all whom he married in his own lifetime. He was buried in Bethlehem, and fucceeded by Elon, Judg. xii. 8.—

ICHABOD. See Eli.

ICONIUM, now Cogni, was forrnerly the capital of Lycaonia, in Lef-

fer Asia, and stands in a most fertile plain, near the lake Trogilis, which fupplies it with fish. About A. D. 45, Paul and Barnabas preached the gospel here; and, it is faid, the famous Thecla was converted. A perfecution, raifed by the malicious Jews, obliged them to flee; but a Christian church continued about 800 years after. The ravages of the Saracens, but especially the Seljukian Turks, making it the capital of one of their four fultanies or kingdoms, reduced the Christians to a very low condition. At prefent, it is the most noted place in Caramania, and the feat of an Ottoman Beglerbeg. is furrounded by a strong wall of about four miles, and fortified with 103 stately towers, at equal distances; but a confiderable part of the inclosed space lies waste. None but Turks are allowed to inhabit the city; but Jews, Armenians, and Christians of the Greek church, with their archbishop, live in the fuburbs. Acts xiii. 51. xiv. 1.-5. xvi. 2.

· IDLE; without work, without uses fulnefs, Exod. v. 8. 17. Matth. xx. 3. Idleness was part of Sodom's fin; and it brings mens outward circumstances to ruin, and induces them to be tattlers and bufy-bodies; nor ought those given to it to be supported in life by their neighbours, Ezek. xvi. 49. Eccl. x. 18. Tim. v. 13. 2 Theff. iii. 10. Idle words are fuch as neither tend to the glory of God, nor the real welfare of men, Matth. xii. 36. God's account, they are idle who are unconcerned about the great work of their falvation, as no other labour can vield much comfort or advantage, Mat.

HOOL; any thing worshipped in room of the true God, and particularly, an image or representation of a true or false god, I John v. 21. I Cor. viii. Idols are represented in scripture as horrors which men ought to be terrified at, 2 Chron. xv. + 16.; as tormenting pangs, Pfal. cvi. + 36. If. xlv. + 16.; as dung-gods, Deut. xxix. + 17. and about forty-fix other places; flumbling blocks, Zeph. i. + 3.; as a shameful thing, Jer. xi. 12. as nothings, VANITIES, Lev. xix. + 4. I Cor. viii. 4.; strange gods, new gods, mere upftart deities, and which the Hebrews had not been used to, Deut. xxxii. 16. 17. Some good authors fufpect, that idolatry, or worshipping of false gods, or of the true God by images or human devices, began before the deluge; and fome vainly imagine that Enoth introduced it, because it is faid, that in his days men began to call on or profane the name of the Lord. Soon after the flood, almost all the world were mad on idolatry. Abraham's father's family ferved other gods beyond the river Euphrates. It is plain that Laban had idols, which Rachel, who it feems loved them too well, brought along with her. These, and other idols retained by fome of his family, Jacob hid under an oak, that they might use them no more. Josh. xxiv. 2. Gen. xxxi. 30. xxxv. 2.- 4. Probably the fun, moon, and stars, were the first objects of mens avowed idolatry, and the fire might be worshipped as a symbol of the sun, job xxxi. 26. - 28. The other idols mentioned in feripture, are, the teraphim, golden calves, Baal, Bel, Baalpeor, Baalberith, Beelzebub, Moloch, Ananomelech, Adrammelech, Remphan, Dagon, Nergal, Ashima, Nibhas, Tartack, Rimmon, Ninoch, Tammus, Shefhach, Nebo, Meni, Gad, Mahuzzim, god of forces, or protecting gods of the Papifts, Ashtaroth, and Succoth-benoth; fundry of which are no doubt the fame under different names. In process of time, noted parents or kings deceased, animals of various kinds, as apes, bulls, and the like; plants, flones, and, in fine, whatever people took a fancy for, as whores, or even imaginary beings, came to be worflipped. Mens minds forfaking their true rest in the Most High, and finding no rest in one idel, added others: hence, while almost every nation had idols peculiar to themselves, they were ready to receive those of their neighbours. Nor did their highest pretences to philosophy in the least reform any country. The Egyptians, though high pretenders to wildom, worshipped pyed bulls, fnipes, leeks, onions, &c. The Greeks had about 30,000 gods. The Gomerians deified their ancient kings and others. Nor were the Chaldeans, Romans, Chinefe, &c. a whit lefs abfurd. Nor did they flick at violating the most natural affections, by murdering multitudes of their neighbours and children, under pretence of facrificing them to their god. Some nations of Germany, Scandinavia, and Tartary, imagined, that violent death in war, or by felf-murder, was the proper method of access to the future enjoyment of their gods. In far later times, about 64,000 persons were facrificed at the dedication of one idolatrous temple, in the space of four days, in America.

B 2

The Hebrews never had any idols of their own, but they adopted those of the nations around. Their readiness to worship the golden calf at Sinai, strongly tempts one to think they had practifed fuch abomination in Egypt, E od. xxxii. Ezek. xv. 7. 8. They afterwards adopted the idols of the Moabites, Ammonites, Canaanites, Syrians, &c. During their 862 years refidence. in Canaan, before the Chaldean captivity, they relapfed 14 or 15 times into idolatry, Judges ii.—2 Kings vxiv. The kingdom of the ten tribes had it long for their established religion; and it was but feldom the kingdom of Judah was fully purged from it, the idolatrous high-places being feldom removed, 2 Kings - vii. Ezek. xvi. xx. xxiii. Jer. iii. Since their return from Babylon, the Jews have generally abhorred idols, and fuffered no finall hardfhip en that account. The Mahometans, too, are great pretenders to zeal against idolatry. The Papists worship of the Virgin Mary, and of other faints and angels unnumbered, and of the bread in the facrament, and of relics and images, is no finall offence to them, and tempts them to confider Christianity as a teene of idolatry. Nor indeed are the Christians of the Greek church, generally taken, much more free of idolatry than the Papills. Covetoufnefs, mess, in which is implied a fetting of our heart on worldly things instead of God, and all inordinate care for the belly, or finful love to or trust in any creature, is idolatry in God's account, and constitutes the person guilty, an IDOLATER, or worshipper of idols, Eph. v. 5. Col. iii. 5. Puil. iii. 19.

JEA T 13 T JEH

JEALOUS; much given to fufpect adultery, or danger. God's jealoufy or zeal, denotes his diffruit of creatures; his eminent care for his people and ordinances, and his readiness to punish such as injure them, Zech. i. 14. Zeph. i. 18. Exod. xx. 5. Paul's holy jealously, over the Corinthians, was an earnest concern for their welfare, and a painful fear, they had, or might do somewhat amiss, 2 Cor. xi. 7. The faints jealously, cruel as the grave, is an earnest defire to enjoy fellowship with Christ, and a painful fear of losing it, Song viii. 6.

JEBUSITES; a tribe of the Canaanites, that dwelt about Jerufalem, and the mountainous country adjacent, Numb. xiii. 29. Joshua cat off multitudes of them; and foon after Jerufalem was taken from them; but they quickly recovered it, Judg. i. 21. When, about 400 years after, David attempted to wrest this city from them, they rudely infulted him, as if their blind and lame were capable to defend their well-fortified walls against all his army. Joab, however, took the city, and no doubt killed multitudes of them. Numbers, however, feemed to have been spared, of which Araunah was one, 2 Sam. v. xxiv. 16. Shall be as a Jehnfite; the Philiftines shall be reduced by, and incorporated with, the Jewish nation: or shall be converted to Christianity by Jesus's power, as the Jebusites were reduced by David, Zech. ix. 7.

JEDUTHUN. See ETHAN.

JEHOAHAZ; (1.) The fame as Ahaziah, grandfon of Jehothaphat. (2.) The fon of jehu: he wickedly followed the pattern of Jeroboam the fon of Nebat. To punith his and his people's wickedness, God gave them up to the fury of Hazael the Syrian, who reduced the ten tribes to fuch & degree, that Jehoahaz had but 10 chariots, 50 horfemen, and 10,000 footmen left him, in his army. After he had reigned 17 years, from A. M. 3148 to 3165, he died, and Jehouth, who had been inftalled two years before, became fole king, 2 Kings xiii. (3.) JEHOAHAZ, or SHALLUM, the fon of Johah. He was not the eldeft; however, the people judged him fittest to govern in that critical juncture, when Pharaoh-necho had but just killed his father; and it feems, to prevent disputes about his right, they solemnly anointed him. He had but reigned three months, when Pharaoh, returning from Carchemish a conqueror, ordered him to attend him at Riblath, flript him of his royalty, and carried him a prisoner to Egypt, where he died; and placed Jehoiakim his elder brother, who perhaps was then a prifoner in Pharaoh's army, king in his flead, 1 Chron. iii. 15. 2 Kings xxiii. 30. — 32. Jer. xxii. 11. 2 Chron. xxxvi. 1.—4.

JEHOASH. See Joash.

JEHOIACHIN, CONIAH, or JE-CONTAH, the fon of Jehoiakim, and grandfon of Jofiah. It feems, his father installed him when he was but eight years of age; and after his father's death, A. M. 3404, he, at 18, fucceeded to the fole government. After a fhort and wicked reign, of three months and ten days, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came up and befreged Jerufalem; Jehorachin, with Nehushta his mother, and his wives, princes, and fervants, furrendered themfelves; and, with the principal artificers, judges, and warriors, to the number of 18,000, and the treafures, and part of the veffels of the temple, were carried to Babylon, Jer. xxii. 24. 2 Kings xxiv. 8. -16. 2 Chron. xxxvi. 9. 10. After 37 years imprisonment in Chaldea, Evil-merodach releafed him, and raifed him to confiderable dignity, 2 Kings xxv. 27.– 30. Jer. lii. 31. Jeremiah was divinely ordered to write him childles; but either that related only to his having no children fitting JEH [14] JEH on the throne of Judah, or he had adopted a variety of children; for we find Salathiel, Malchiram, Pedaiah, Slienazur, Jecamiah, Hosliama, and Nedabiah, mentioned as his children, Jer. xxii. 24.—30. 1 Chron. iii. 17. 38. Jechonias, in Matth. i. 11. feems to fignify Jehoiakim.

JEHOIADA. See Joash. JEHOIAKIM, the elder fon of Tofiah. When Pharaoh-necho killed Josiah, he perhaps took Eliakim prifoner: in his return home, he made him king instead of Jehoahaz, and changed his name to Jehoiakim, and Laid him under a tribute of 39,693 L 15 s. Sterling. This money Jehoiakim exacted of his fubjects, according to when ability. At 25 years of age he began his reign, and fat on the throne II years. He wickedly oppressed his Eubiects, to procure money to build thinnelf a palace: he kept back part of the hire of his workmen: he abandoned himself to inhumanity and avavice, Jer xxii. 13.-23.: he hated the prophets, which warned him or his people to repent of their wickedness, or threatened the judgements of God against him. Urijah, one of them, fled for his life into Egypt; but Jehosakim fent Eluathan the fon of Achbor, possibly his father-in-law, along with a troop, to bring him back, and murdered him, and cast his corpse into the graves of the common people. Jer. xxvi. 20 .- . 23. In the fourth year of his reign, he had a copy of Jeremiah's predictions brought before him, by Elishama the scribe, Delaiah the son of Shemaiah, Elnathan the fon of Achbor, Gemariali the fon of Shaphan, and Michaiah his fon, and Zedekiah the fon of Hananiah. Jehudi, who perhaps was a fcribe, had fcarce read three or four leaves, when Jehoiakim, notwithstanding the intercession of Elnathan, Delaiah, and Gemariah, cut the roll with a pen-knife, and cast it anto the fire; and fent Jerahmeel the Lon of Hammelech, Seraiah the fon of Azriel, and Shelemiah, the fon of Abdeel, to apprehend Jeremiah and Baruch; but the Lord knowing his murderous intentions, kept them out of his hands. This did but draw down new curfes on his head. Nebuchadnezzar, having routed the army of Pharoah at Carchemish, pursued his victory, rendered himself master of Canaan, and part of Phenice. Jehoiakim was taken prisoner in Jerusalem, and put in chains to be carried to Babylon; but on his fubmiffion to the conqueror's terms, was reftored to his kingdom. After he had continued three years a peaceful tributary, he thought to shake off the yoke. Nebuchadnezzar detached a part of his army against him, the rest being, it seems, employed in the siege of Nineveh: these, with bands of Syrians, Moabites, and Ammonites, terribly haraffed the kingdom of Judah. four years, Nebuchadnezzar, having taken Nineveh, came in person. hoiakim was taken prisoner, put to death, and his body cast into a common fewer, in the manner of the unburied carcafs of an afs, 2 Kings xxiv. 2 Chron. xxxvi. Jer. xxii. 18. 19. xxxvi. 30. Perhaps Jehoiakim is put for the brother of Jehoiakim, viz. Zedekiah, or the yokes were made under Jehoiakim, but not fent till Zedekiah was king, Jer. xxvii. 1.

IEHONADAB. See JONADAB.

IEHORAM. See JORAM.

IEHOSHAPHAT, the fon of Afa king of Judah, by Azubah, the daughter of Shilhi. At 35 years of age he fucceeded his father, A. M. 2000, and reigned 25 years. threngthen himself against the kingdom of the ten tribes, he placed strong garrifons in all the cities of Judah, and in those cities which his father had taken from the Ifraelites. The more his riches and honour increased, the more his heart was lifted up in the ways of the Lord. In the third year of his reign, he ordered Benhail, Obadiah, Zechariah, Nethaneel, and Michaiah, princes, with Elishama and Jehoram, priefts, and Shemaiah, Nethaniah, Zcbadiah, Afahel, Shemiramoth, Jehonathan, Adonijah, Tobijah, and Tobadonijah, Levites, to go through the cities JEH [15] JEH sities of Judah, and teach the people the law of the Lord. To reward his zeal, God made his neighbours to revere him: the Philistines and Arabs brought him large prefents of flocks or money; while, besides his garrisons, he had an enrolled militia of 1,160,000 under his generals Adnah, Jehohanan, Amafiah, Eliada, and Jehozabad, 2 Chron. xvii. Unhappily, he joined in affinity with the wicked Ahab, and married his fon Jehoram to Athaliah, the daughter of Ahab. This occasioned his being at Samaria, and affifting Ahab to retake Ramoth-gilead from the Syrians; in which war, by the treacherous artifice of Ahab, he had loft his life by the Syrian forces, had not God, at his request, moved them to leave him. On his return to Jerufalem, Jehu, the fon of Hanani, a prophet, rebuked him sharply, for affifting Ahab, a noted idolater; and affured him, that wrath from the Lord hung over his family and kingdom on that account. Taking this faithful admonition in good part, Jehoshaphat applied himfelf with the utmost earnestnefs, to establish the best civil and religious order in his kingdom: the Sodomites, but not the high places, were Scarce was this finished, when he was informed, that a powerful league of Edomites, Ishmaclites, Hagarens, Giblites, Moabites, Ammonites, Amalekites, Philistines, Tyrians, and Ashurites, was formed against him; and that the army of Moabites, Ammonites, and Edomites, were advanced to Engedi, a place about 38 miles fouth-east of Jerusalem. Fearing that the time of threatened judgements was at hand, he and his people at Jerusalem observed a solemn fast, to implore the protection of Heaven; and himfelf prayed as the mouth of the multitude, in the new court of the temple. His prayers were heard. Jahaziel, a prophet, divinely affured him of an eafy and miraculous victory, near the rock Ziz, and on the east of the wilderness of Jeruel. The very next day, as the Hebrew fingers before the army began to praise the Lord, God struck his enemies with a frenzy. that they murdered one another; and first the Edomites, who had a treacherous, and perhaps a principal hand in this alliance, formed to root out the Ifraelites from under heaven, were deflroyed. Jehoshaphat and his people had no occasion to fight; but the gathering of the fpoil took them up three days: the fourth day they obferved in folemn thankfgiving to God, in the valley called, from that event, the valley of Berachah, or bleffing. A. few months after, Jehoshaphat joined his fleet bound for Tarshish, with that of the impious Ahaziah, elder fon of Ahab. According to the prediction of Eliezer, the fon of Dodavah, of Maresha, the sleet was dashed to pieces by a storm before Ezion-geber. Not very long after, Jehoshaphat, and his deputy the king of Edom, marched with the wicked Jehoram, fecond fon of Ahab, against the Moabites, and had all perished with thirst, had not Elisha procured them a miraculous fupply of water. Jelioshaphat was fcarce dead, when the vengeance of God, occasioned by his alliance with the family of Aliab, in the time of his fon Jehoram, and grandfon Ahaziali, almost quite destroyed his family, and reduced his kingdom to the most wretched condition, 1 Kings xxii. 2 Kings iii. 2 Chron. xviii.—xx. Pfal. lxxxiii.

The valley of Jehoshaphat, was either the same with the valley of Berachah, or a valley between Jerusalem and the mount of Olives; or perhaps that mentioned by Joel, signifies no more than the valley or place where the Lord skall judge, and punish them, Joel iii.

JEHOVAH, JAH, and EHYEH-ASHER-EHYEH, I am that I am; or, will be what I will be; are the incommunicable name of God, and fignify his abfolute independency, felf-existence, eternity, and being, the cause of existence to all creatures. This name seems not to have been much used in the primitive ages. It is not compounded with any of their names; for is it found in the speeches of Job or his friends: yet when God fays, that by his name JEHOVAH he was not known to Abrah un, Isaac, and Jacob, it means, that they had not feen it efficaciously displayed in his giving a being to, or fulfilling his promiles, Exed. vi. 2. This name, often rendered Lord in our Bibles, is printed in capital letters, to dillinguish it from Lord, fignifying a governor. It is oft joined in facred inferiptions with other words, as Jehovah-jirch, the Lord will fee, or provide; Jehovah-nifi, the Lord is my banner; Jehowah-Balom, he Lord will perfect, or lend peace; and Jehowahthanimah, the Lord is there. It is also compounded with other words, in a multitude of names, as in those beginning with JEHO, and many of those in To, and is those ending with I vii. Whenever the name JEHOVAH is given to an angel, it fignifies, that he is the Angel of the covenant, i. e. the Son of God. Nor is it given to the church, in Jer. xxxiii. 16.; for the words would be better rendered, He who shall call her, is the Lord our righteoufness; or, He shall be called by her, the Lord our righteousness. The modern Jews fuperflitiously decline pronouncing the name Jehovah. - Jevo, Jan, Jahoh, Jaou, Jao!, and even the Juha of the Moors, feem to be but different pronunciations of JEHOVAH.

JEH [16] JEH

JEHU; (1.) A prophet that rebuked BAASHA and JEHOSHAPHAT, I Kings xvi. I. 7. 2 Chron. xix. I. 2. (2.) The foo of Jehodiaphat, and grandfon of Nimfhi, captain of the army to Joram king of Ifrael, confequence of a divine appointment given to Elijah, Elifha, about eleven years after his mafter's translation, fent a young prophet to anoint him to be king of Ifrael, as he commanded the army at Ramoth-gilead, in Jehoram's absence. The young prophet called him afide from his fellow-officers, carried him into a private chamber, anointed him with oil is the name of the Lord; and told him, he should cut off the whole house of Ahab. The prophet immediately fled off, that he might not be known. Jehu informed his fellows what had happened, and they acknowledged him king. After giving orders, that none should stir from the camp to carry tidings, Jehu posted off in his chariot, to surprise Jorain at Jezreel. Informed of his approach, Joram fent one to meet him, and ask, if all was well in the army. At Jehu's orders, the medenger joined the company. A fecond messanger came up, and did the fame. Underflanding by the furious driving of the chariot, that it was like to be John his general, Joram, and Ahaziah king of Judah, who had come to visit him, fet off in their chariots to meet him. Toram asked Jehu, if all things in the army were well, and at peace? Jehu told him, he needed expect no peace, while the whoredoms and witchcrafts of Jez. bel his mother were fo many. oram cried to Ahaziah, that certainly a plot was laid for their life, and fled off: but Jehu killed him with an arrow shot after him; and ordered Bidkar to cast his dead body into the field of NABOTH. By his orders too, Ahaziah was purfued, and flain. As Jehu rode through Jezreel, Jezebel, with her face painted, looking over a window, asked him, If Zinni, who flew his mafter, had much prosperity? Jehu, looking up, asked, if any body within favoured him? and two or three eunuchs looked out. . t his orders. they immediately threw Jezebel over the window: the horfes trode her to death, and in a few minutes the dogs did eat up her whole body, except fome principal bones, which Jehn ordered to be interred. Having killed all that pertained to Ahab in Jezreel, he ordered the nobles of Samaria to fend him the heads of the 70 children of Ahab, who had been committed to their care. Next day he went to Samaria, and having met 42 of the near relations of Ahaziah king of Judah coming to vifit Joram, and his queen, he ordered them to be killed on the fpot. Going a little farther, he met with John Jab, the fon of Rechab, and finding him hearty in his interest, took him him into his chariot, and bid him go and fee his zeal for the Lord. Whenever he came to Samaria, he slew all that remained of the family of Ahab. Under pretence of honouring Baal with a very folenin festival, he ordered all the priefts of Baal in the kingdom to attend in his temple, without one worshipper of the Hebrew God among them. They did fo. He ordered his guards to fall upon them in the temple, and kill them to a man. He broke down the image of Baal, demolished his temple, and turned it into a place for eafing of nature. To reward Jehu's labour, in cutting off the idolatrous family of Ahab, and destroying Baal, God promifed to him and his feed, to the fourth generation, the crown of the ten tribes; but offended with the ambition and refentment which influenced his conduct, he threatened to revenge the blood of Ahab's family on his feed. As Jehu perfifted in the worship of the golden calves, and in other wickedness, God permitted Hazael king of Syria terribly to ravage his territories. After a reign of 28 years, Jehu died, A. M. 3148, 2 Kings ix. x. Hof. i. 4. JEMUEL, or NEMUEL, the fon of Simeon, Gen. xlvi. 10. 1 Chron. iv. 24.

JEM [.17] JEP

To JEOPARD, is to expose to danger. JEOPARD, is hazard, peril, Judg. xv. 18.

JEPHTHAH, who fucceeded Jair in judging the Hebrews. He was the fon of one Gilead, not the fon of Machir, by an harlot, a native of east Mizpeh beyond Jordan. When his father's lawful children expelled him the family, he retired into the land of Tob, and commanded a gang of robbers. The Hebrews on the east of Jordan, having been long oppressed by the Ammonites, and knowing his valour, begged that he would be their captain, and lead them against the e-He reproached them with their expulsion of him from his father's house; but on their repeated intreaties, he offered to be their leader, if they would fubmit to him as their chief after the war should be ended. They gave him their oath that they would. Vor. II.

ter his instalment, he, without success, expostulated with the king of the Ammonites, on the unjustness of his pretensions to the land of Gilead: and represented, that neither Balak, nor any other, for about 300 years, pretended to any fuch claim; that as the Israelites claimed no territory but what had been given them of God, he would refer the matter to a divine decision by the fword, unless the Ammonites gave up their groundless pretensions. As the haughty Ammonite despised these just expostulations, Jephthah, animated of God, levied an army of the Hebrews on the east of Jordan. As he prepared for battle, he rashly vowed, that if the Lord should succeed him, he would devote, or facrifice whatever should first meet him from his house. A battle was fought, and Jephthah being conqueror, ravaged the country of Am-mon. In his return home, his only daughter, with timbrels and dances, was the first who met him from his house. At the fight of her, Jephthah cried out, that he was ruined. On hearing the matter, his daughter confented that he should do with her 30cording to his vow. She only begged he would allow her two months to go up and down in the mountains, along with her companions, and bewail her virginity. After she had done with this mourning, she returned to her father, who did with her according to his vow: but whether he offered her in facrifice, or only devoted her to perpetual virginity, is not agreed. Such as maintain the latter, observe, how unlawful fuch a facrifice would have been; that neither he nor the priest could be ignorant, that he might have redeemed her at perhaps no more than ten pieces of filver; that she did not bewail her death but her virginity, which would occasion the extirpation of her father's family: and that the word, relative to the yearly custom of the Hebrew girls, which we render lament, fignifies to talk with, and so implied, that Jephthah's daughter was in life. Those on the other fide, and to which I am chiefly inclined, allow the facrifice to have been abominable; but remark, that the law allowed of the redemption of nothing devoted under form of a curse; that in Jephthah's age, idolatry and ignorance greatly prevailed: that Jephthah's manner of life promifed fmall acquaintance with the law; that about this time the high-priesthood was transmitted from the family of Eleazar, to that of Ithamar, which was probably occasioned by some horrible crime; that vows of perpetual virginity are matters of a far later date; that if there had been no more in it but perpetual virginity, Jephthah had too fmall occasion for such agony of mind, and tearing of his clothes, at the fight of his daughter; that the plain tendency of the whole passage, is to persuade us that she was facrificed; that not long after this, the story of one Iphigenia, or the daughter of Jephthah, being facrificed by her father, was fpread through no fmall part of the east, though a different scene was fixed for it. Be it as it will, let us believe that he acted in the fincerity of his heart; and remember, that in his trophies of faith, the apostle gives us ground to hope, that Jephthah was a real faint, Judg. xi. Heb. xi. 32. Whatever hazard and lofs this victory over the Ammonites cost Jephthah, the haughty Ephraimites were fo horridly ungrateful, as to march over Jordan in a body, and threaten to burn his house on him, for fighting without their concurrence. He told them, he had invited them to a share in the war, but they came not. They continued their infults, and railed at the Gileadites, as a parcel of vagabonds, that had been obliged to flee their country, and fettle on the east of Jordan. Enraged herewith, Jephthah and his friends attacked them by force, and cut off 42,000 of them. He judged Ifrael fix years, and died about A. M. 2823, or 2878.

JEREMIAH, the fon of Hilkiah, a priest probably of the race of Ithamar, and a native of Anathoth. As God very early called him to the prophetical work, he begged to be excused, because of his youth; but God promifed to be with him, and render him as bold as if he were a brazen wall, in opposition to the wicked princes and people of Judah. He began his work in the thirteenth year of Jo-The first part of his prophecy chiefly confifts of a mixture of invectives against the sins of the Jews, and of alarming threatenings of heavy judgements, and of fome calls to repentance, and complaints of his own afflictions. Sometimes the mind of God was represented to him by figurative emblems. By the visionary emblem of an almond branch, and boiling pot, with its face towards the north, God represented, that ruinous calamities should quickly come from Chaldea on the Jewish nation. By the marring of a girdle in the bank of the Euphrates, was fignified the ruinous condition of the Jews in Chaldea. By the emblem of a potter making his vef-fels, is figured out God's fovereign power to form or destroy the nations: at his pleafure. By the breaking of a veffel on the wheel, is fignified; the unprofitable state of the Jewish nation in Chaldea, Jer. i. xiii. xviii. xix. haps a great part of what we find in the first nineteen chapters, was pronounced before Josiah had carried his reformation to perfection; or, during it, there might remain great obstinacy in finning, and an inward cleaving to their idols. It was also, perhaps, during this period of Josiah's reign, that his fellow-citizens of Anathoth fought to murder him, and were threatened with ruinous vengeance on account of Or rather, a great part of these prophecies relate to the time of Jehoahaz and Jehoiakim. Chap. i.—xix.

When, about the beginning of the reign of Jehoiakim, he foretold that Judah and Jerufalem should be rendered a defolation. Pashur, the son of Immer the priest, chief governor of the temple, smote him, and clapt him up in the stocks, in the gate of Benjamin. Jeremiah assured him, that he should be terribly punished in his person, and he and his family be carried, along with other Jews, into a wretched captivity.

He

JER [19] JER

He complained of the flanders that were carried about on him, and curfed the day of his birth, Jer. xix. xx. He warned the Jews to repent of their wicked courses, if they wished to prevent their ruin. The priefts and false prophets attempted to stir up the princes to put him to death; but the people and princes opposed it, and ob-derved, that Micah had predicted the defolation of Jerufalem, and the ruin of the temple, and yet Hozekiah did him no hurt; but he and his people turned to the Lord, and the judgements were prevented. Not long after, he predicted the calamities that should come upon the Egyptians, Phillithines, Phenicians, Edomites, Arabians, Moabites, Ammonites, Syrians, and Perfians, by the hand of Nebuchadnezzar, Jer. xxv. xlvi.—xlix. It was, perhaps, about this time that he formed yokes of wood, to be fent by the ambaffadors of these nations, to their respective masters, as a token of their servitude to Nebuchadnezzar, and his fon and fon's fon; though he did not fend them off till the reign of Zedekiah, Jer. xxvii. 1. During the fourth year of Jehoiakim, he, under the emblem of a cup given around to these nations, and to the Jews, Medes, and, after all, to the Chaldeans, predicted terrible and flupifying calamities to come on them, Jer. xxv. In the 9th month of this year, he caused Baruch write out a copy of all his prophecies which he had uttered, and read them before the people on a fast-day appointed by the king, in order to excite them to repentance. Michaiah, a young prince, informed his father Gemariah, Delaiah, and other princes; they fent Jehudi to bring Baruch and the roll. Baruch read it to them, and they were much affected; they advited Baruch and Jeremiah to hide themselves, while they informed the king of thefe predictions. Scarce had the king heard a few leaves read. when he cut and burnt the roll, and fought for Jeremiah and Baruch, to put them to death; but the Lord kept them hid. At the direction of God, Jeremiah caused Baruch write a new roll, and added to it feveral threatenings not in the former, and added predictions of Jehoiakim's unhappy death, Jer. xxxvi. It was also during the reign of Jehoiakim, that, by trying the Rechabites with drinking of wine, he figuratively showed the unreasonable nature of the Iews rebellion against the commands of their divine Father; and predicted an happy reward to the Rechabites, for their obedience to their earthly parent, Jer. XXXV. Towards the end of this reign, he denounced judgements on Jehoiakim, for his pride, oppreffion, and other wickedness; and foon after, on Jehoiachin, and the rulers of charch and state in Judah, xxii. xxiii.

In the oeginning of Zedekiah's reign, he delivered the yokes emblematic of flavery, to the ambaffadors of the various nations concerned, to be fent to their mafters. To reprefent the haftening ruin and flavery of the Jews, he wore a yoke and chain on his own neck, and advised Zedekiah to submit to bondage, as the means of escaping ruin. Hananiah, the fon of Azur of Gibeon, a false prophet. broke this yoke, and told the people prefent in the court of the temple, that so the Lord would in two years break, or finish the bondage of the nations to the Chaldeans. Jeremiah iropically wished it might be as he had faid, but hinted there was little ground to expect it; and foon after told Hananiah, that his uttering falsehood in the name of the Lord, should be punished with death that very year; which accordingly happened, Jer. xxvii. xxviii. About this time, he had his vision of two bafkets of figs ; the one very good, and the other very bad, by which was reprefented, the picty and happiness of many that had been carried captive to Babylon along with Jehoiachin, and the wickedness and ruin of those who remained in Jerufalem, chap. xxiv. Soon after, he fent a letter to the captives in Babylon, advising them to cultivate fields, and build houfes, and pray for the peace of the country, as they might expect 70 years continu ance in Babylon; at the end of which they should be delivered; and denounced terrible judgements of burning to death by the Chaldeans, to Ahab the fon of Kolajah, and Zedekiah the fon of Maaseiah, two false prophets. This letter he fent by the hand of Elasah, the fon of Shaphan, and Gemariah the fon of Hilkiah, whom Zedekiah fent, probably with his tribute, to Nebuchadnezzar. On account of this letter, Shemaiah, a Nehelamite, or dreamer, informed Zephaniah, the fon of Maaseiah the priest at Jerusalem, and defired him to clap up Jeremiah in the flocks as a madman. This letter was read to Jeremiah; and he predicted the ruin of Shemaiah and his family, chap. xxix. Twice this fame Zephaniah was fent by Zedekiah to Jeremiah, to beg his prayers for the kingdom, as it was in danger from the Chaldeans: but he affured the king, that the city and nation should be deftroyed for their wickedness, chap. xxxi. xxxvii. This happened about the ninth year of Zedekiah. His warnings had fuch effect, that Zedekiah and his people covenanted to leave off their oppressive detention of their fervants; but they had fcarce difmiffed them, when they forced them back; on which account Jeremiah predicted God's giving the fword a commission to destroy them, chap. xxxiv. When the Chaldeans raised the siege of Jerufalem, to go fight the Egyptians, Jeremiah affured the Jews they needed expect no real advantage from the Egyptians; and that the Chaldeans would take Jerusalem, and burn it with fire. Meanwhile Jeremiah intended to leave the city. Urijah, the fon of Shelemiah, apprehended him, as if he had intended to furrender himself to the Chaldeaus. The princes caft him into the dungeon. Being fent for, he told Zedekiah he should fall into the hands of the king, of Babylon; and begged he might not be returned to his dungeon, as he had given no offence. He was allowed to continue in the court of the prifon. But Shephatiah the fon of Mattan, and Geda-liah the fon of Pashur, and two other princes, offended with his faithful predictions, begged that Zedekiah would put him to death. Zedekiah bade them do with him as they pleased. They threw him into a dungeon, whose bottom was a deep mire, into which Jeremiah funk; but Ebedmelech scon after procured his liberty from this; and he was returned to the court of the prison; and had so much food allowed him every day: he predicted Ebedinelech's preservation: he told Zedekiah, that his furrendering himfelf to the Chaldeans would fave himfelf and his capital; but if he did it not, it should be destroyed, and himfelf taken, and reproachfully used, chap. xxxviii. xxxviii. It was during, or about the time of his imprisonment, that he foretold the happy return of the Jews from their mournful captivity; and bought a field from Hanameel his confin, and laid up the rights in an earthen veisel, as a token, he believed his feed should return and possess it, Jer. xxx.-xxxii. When Jerufalem was taken, he was relieved: and Nebuzar-adan was extremely careful of giving him his choice, either to go to Chaldea and be well provided for, or abide in Canaan with GEDALIAH. He staid with Gedaliah. After that prince was bafely murdered, Johanan the fon of Kareali, and his followers, defired Jeremiah to confult the Lord, whether they should go to Egypt or not. He, in God's name, charged them with their diffimulation, and warned them not to go to Egypt; but they pretended, that not the Lord, but Baruch, had directed him to fay thefe things; and forced him along with them into Egypt. There, without fuccess, he rebuked their idolatry, and threatened them with ruin from the hand of the Chaldeans, Jer. xv. 10.-14. xxxix.—xliv. After prophefying above 40 years, he died; but where, or in what manner, we know not.

Besides his book of prophecies, the last chapter of which was added by fome other hand, Jeremiah composed LAMINTATIONS. Those which he composed.

JER [21] JER

composed on the occasion of Josiah's death we suppose are lost; and that those which remain are what he composed on the destruction of Jerusalem. They confift of five chapters. In the first two, he bewails the miferies of the fie te; in the third, his own particular afflictions; in the fourth, he bewails the ruin of the temple and city, and the miferies of all ranks, king, princes, Nazarites, &c. and denounces ruin on the Edomites for their cruelty; in the fifth, he further deplores the mifery of his nation, and prays for deliverance. He chiefly infifts on subjects mournful and ruinous, but has here and there the clearest displays of free grace, as in his prophecy, chap. iii. xxiii. xxx. xxxi. xxxii. xxxiii. His manner is ordinarily very plain. His style is not a little enlivened with figures, and is tender and moving to admiration. His Lamentations, and part of his prophecy, as chap. iv. 19. - 26. ix. 1. &c. are aftonishing in the pathetic kind. fagacious discerner would think every letter written with a tear, every word the found of a breaking heart, and the writer a man of forrows, who fearce ever breathed but in fighs, or fpoke but in groans.

A prophecy relative to the purchase of the Potter's sield for 30 pieces of silver, found in Zech. xi. is ascribed to Jeremiah, Matth. xxvii. 9. Perhaps Jeremiah might utter that prediction, and Matthew does not fay that he wrote it; and it might be again uttered, and also written by Zechariah; or, as Jeremiah anciently stood in the front of the prophetic writings, the Jews might call the whole book by his name, as they did the books of Mofes by their first word; or, as the ancient Greek copies were oft full of contractions, what if zou was altered into jou? Nay, what great affair, to suppose Jeremiah an addition of the tranicribers, as well as Cainan? Luke iii.

36. · · · · ·

JERICHO, a noted city of the Benjamites, near eight miles west from Jordan, and 19 east from Jerusalem, and a little southward from the lot of

Ephraim, Josh. xvi. 1. 7. The ground was lower than at Jerufalem, Luke x. 30. It was extremely fertile, noted for palin-trees, and for the best of balm: nor was there any want of venomous ferpents. Jericho was the first city that Joshua spied and took in a miraculous manner: he devoted every perfon, fave Rahab and her friends, to ruin, and all the wealth to the fire or to the Lord; curfed the man who should rebuild it, to lose his eldest fon as he laid the foundation, and his youngest as he hung on the gates, Though another city of the same name, or called the city of palm-trees, was built near it in or before the days of Ehud, and from which the Kenites went up, Judg. iii. 13. i. 16.; yet for about 530 years, no man dared to rebuild Jericho itself. At last, in the days of Ahab, when men had cast off all fear of God, Hiel a Bethelite rebuilt it, and lost his fons Abiram and Segub, according to the tenor of Jofhua's curfe, 1 Kings xvi. 34. After it was rebuilt, no body feared to inhabit it; and there was here a noted college of young prophets, for whose behoof Elisha cured the bad taste of the water and the barrenness of the soil which had followed on Joshua's curse, 2 Kings ii. Great numbers of priefts and rabbins often dwelt at it. Christ's time, it was a splendid city, and one of the feats of the courts for government of the Hebrews; and near it he cured two if not three blind men, Mark iv. Luke xix. If it was not almost surrounded with hills, it had one that as it were hung over it, and hence was excessively warm; but it is said that the water of it grew hot or cold as the air grew cold or hot, by a kind of contrariety. Since the Romans deftroyed it, it has made no great appearance. It is now a poor village of about 30 houfes.

JEROBOAM, the fon of Nebat, and Zeruah of Zereda, in the tribe of Ephraim. Solomon observing him a bold and enterprizing youth, appointed him to levy the tax from the tribes of Ephraim and Manasseh. Ahijah the prophet having found him, rent his garment into 12 parts, and gave Jerohoam 10 of them, as a token that God would make him king over 10 of the Hebrew tribes. He, without waiting for Solomon's death, began to prepare the people for a revolt. Lifermed hereof, Solomon fought to are whend him, but he fled into E-The Chafe king, Shifhak, was difgn wth Solonion. Provoked with to the safety of Rehoboam to they are son for redrefs of their burof the tribes revolted, and in the feroboam, who was just returned from Egypt, for their king. To awe his ful jects into proper fubjection, he fortified Shechem, where he was made king, and rebuilt Penuel. God had promifed to establish the kingdom to him and his feed, on condition they should walk in the ways of King David. Inflead of regarding thefe terms, he, fearing that the frequent attendance of his subjects at Jerusalem in the worship of God, might issue in their refubmission to the family of David, formed two golden calves, placed the one at Bethel, in the fouth part of his kingdom, and the other at Dan, on the north, and ordered his subjects not to burden themselves with travelling to Jerusalem, but to worship the God who had brought them out of the land of Egypt, as represented by these calves; he built high-places, and made priefts of the lowest of the people, regardless whether they were Levites or not. He appointed a folemn feaft on the 15th day of the eighth month, which was a month after the feafl of tabernacles.

JER [22] JER

When he had affembled the people to begin the worship of his idols, he went up to the altar at Bethel to offer facrifices thereon; a prophet from Judah, but not Iddo, who lived a confiderable time after, cried out, that in some future time, one Josiah, a descendant of David, should pollute that altar, burning thereon the bones of the idolatrous priests that should serve at it; in token whereof, it should be now zent, and the ashes thereof poured out.

Jeroboam stretched out his hand, and ordered to apprehend him; his hand was immediately fo withered that he could not draw it in; the altar was rent, and the ashes poured on the ground. At Jeroboam's request, the prophet, by prayer, procured the healing of the arm, but refused his dinner and present, as the Lord, in token of his detestation of the place, had forbid him to eat or drink in it, or return by the way he came to it; but by the villanous pretentions of a false prophet, he was brought back, and decoyed to eat and drink. To punish his disobedience, a lion foon after met him, and killed him, but touched not his afs. None of these alarming events in the least reformed Jeroboam. He proceeded to oblige his fubjects to follow his idols, and so established that idolatry which at last ruined the nation. Nor did Providence forbear to punish him; his best subjects forfook his dominions, and retired into the kingdom of Judah: he had almost constant wars with the family of David, Rehoboam, and Abijah, in which he had 500,000 of his fubjects cut off in one battle. His only pious fon Abijah fell fick. Fearing to go himself, and unwilling to be an example of confulting the prophets of the Lord, he fent his wife in difguife to confult Ahijah if he should recover. She received but an awful denunciation of death on her child, and of ruin on the whole family. Jeroboam died, after a reign of 22 years: his fon Nadab fucceeded him, and in the fecond year of his reign, was murdered by Baasha at the siege of Gibbethon, and the whole family deftroyed in a most inhuman manner, and their carcafes left to be eaten by the dogs and wild beafts, 1 Kings xi. 26.-40. xii.-xv. 2 Chron. x. xiii.

2. Jeroboam, the fon of Joash, and great-grandson of Jehu, began his reign about A. M. 3179, and reigned 41 years. He followed the former Jeroboam in his idolatrous worship of the calves. The Lord, however, by him, according to the predictions of the prophet Jonah, restored the kingdom of the ten tribes to its greatest splen-All the countries on the east of Jordan he reduced. It appears from the writings of Hofea and Amos, that idleness, effeminacy, pride, oppression, injustice, idolatry, and luxury, mightily prevailed in his reign. Nor was it long after his death, before the Lord, according to the predictions of Amos, cut off his family with the fword. was 23 years after his death ere his fon Zachariah could get himfelf fettled on the throne; and in fix months, he and the whole family of Jehu were murdered, 2 Kings xiv. xv. Hof. i. 4. &c. Amos vii. &c.

JER [23] JER

JERUBBAAL or JERUBBESHETH,

the fame as GIDEON.

JERUSALEM, JEBUS, OF SALEM, the most noted city of Canaan, about 25 miles westward of Jordan, and 42 east of the Mediterranean sea. It was built on, and had hills around it. Some have thought it as ancient as the days of Melchizedek, and to have been his capital. It is far more certain that it constituted one of the more powerful kingdoms of Canaan in the days of Joshua: he routed Adonizedek the king of it; but that he reduced the city, is not faid. It was partly given to the tribe of Judah, and partly to the Benjamites, Joshua xv. 63. xviii, 28. long after Joshua's death, the tribe of Judah took and burnt it, Judges i. 8. The Jebusites rebuilt and fortified it to fuch a degree, that they thought their blind and lame fufficient to defend it against all David's forces. David, however, by means of Joab, made himfelf mafter of it. He built a new city on the north-west of the former; and a valley run from west to east, between the two hills of Zion on the fouth and Acra on the north: and over against the north-east end of Zion the temple was built on mount Moriah. Under David and Solomon this city was exceedingly enlarged. We find ten or eleven gates of it mentioned, which we fuppose situated in the following manner: the sheep-gate, near to which was the sheep-market, on the northsaft and northward of the temple; the fish-gate; at some considerable distance to the westward; the old gate, or gate of Damascus, still farther westward, and which is perhaps the fame as the high gate of Benjamin; the gate of Ephraim, on the north-west; the valleygate, at the west end; the dung-gate, on the fouth-west; east from it the fountain-gate; on the fouth-east corner, the water-gate; and at the east end, fouth of the temple, the horfe-gate, and the Miphkad or prison-gate. The walls round serufalem never feem to have been above 41 miles, if they were anciently fo much. On these walls towers were built, 2 Chron. xxvi. 9.; the tower of Meah on the east, of Hananeel on the north-east, of Hattanourim or the furnaces on the west, and of Ophel on the fouth. The city had but a moderate supply of water, and what they had was brackish. Nor was the country around it proper for digging wells. In order to prevent Sennacherib's having plenty of water in the fiege, Hezekiah brought the stream of Gihon, which used to run along the fouth of the city, into it, and caused it run straight eastward. Pilate brought water from Etam, by an aqueduct, into the city. It is faid that no trees except rofe-buflies grew in it; that fire being not much used in it, except of charcoal, there were no chimnies in it, any more than latticed windows. Having become the residence of the fymbols of the divine prefence, or the holy city, Jerufalem became as it were common to all the tribes of Ifrael; they visited it thrice a-year at the folemn feafts; and it was every whit as capable to lodge them all in houses or tents, as Mecca, which contains but about 1000 families, is able to lodge 70,000 when the caravans go thither. Under Rehoboam, it was taken and pillaged by Shifhak, 1 Kings xiv. 26. 27. 2 Chron. xii. 2.—9. Under Amaziah, it was taken by Joash king of Ifrael, 2 Kings xiv. 2 Chron. xxv. No doubt the Affyrians took it in the time of Manasseh, 2 Chron. xxxiii. 11. Pharaoh-neeho entered it; but we do not find that he plundered it when he made Ichoialain

TER [24] JES

Jehoiakim king. Nebuchadnezzar ravaged it oftener than once, and after a fiege of about two years, burnt it with fire, in the 11th year of Zedekiah, 2 Kings xxiv. xxv. 2 Chron. xxxvi. Jer. lii. After it had lain almost in ruins about 136 years, Nehemiah, together with Eliashib the highprieft, and a great number of others, repaired its walls, and it became populous, as in former times. Long after, Ptolemy took it by stratagem, and carried off vast multitudes of the inhabitants to Egypt. Antiochus Epiphanes ravaged it, and murdered about 40,000, and fold as many more to be flaves. Two years after, Apollonius took it, and murdered multitudes of the inhabitants. Many of the furvivors left it to the Heathen and their idolatries. Maccabeus retook it, and built a third part on the north fide, which was chiefly inhabited by artificers. Pompey the Roman took it about fixty years before our Saviour's birth. About twentyfour years after, it was taken by Sofius the Roman and Herod. About A.D. 70, after a most miserable siege, it was reduced to a heap of ruins by Titus. About fifty or fixty years after, a new city was built on mount Calvary, where was for fome ages a Christian church; but the Jews were not allowed to come near it. About A. D. 360, Julian, the apostate emperor, to falsify our Saviour's prediction, encouraged the rebuilding of the city and temple; but fiery earthquakes flopt them. About A. D. 614, the Perfians took Jerufalem, and 90,000 of the Christian inhabitants were facrificed to the malice of the Jews; but it was quickly retaken by Heraclius the Roman emperor, and the Jews malice returned on their heads. In A. D. 637, the Arabic Saracens feized on it. In 1079, the Seljukian Turks took it from them. In 1099, Godfrey of Boulogne, with his European croifades, wrested it from these. 1187, Saladin the fultan of Egypt took it from the Christian croisades. In 1517, the Ottoman Turks took it from the Egyptians, and remain still masters of it. At present it is a place of about three miles circuit, poor, and thinly inhabited. On mount Moriah there is built, but I know not by whom, a mock temple, inclosed by a court of 570 paces in length, and 370 in breadth; and where the holy of holics flood is a Mahometan mosque. Christian dare enter this inclosure under pain of death; but those of different denominations, Papists, Greeks, Armenians, &c. visit the church of our Lord's sepulchre with much ceremony. It feems that about the beginning of the Millennium, Jerufalem. with the Jews in it, shall sustain a terrible fiege from the armies of Gog and Magog; but the befiegers shall be divinely destroyed. Luke xix. 41.-44xxi. 24. Zech. xiv. 1.-5. The gofpel-church is called Jerufalem: in her is the peculiar presence and ordinances of God; in her the tribes of redeemed men meet and ferve him. O how beautiful and compact her form! how firm her foundation! how strongly fortified and protected by the laws, perfections, and providences of God! how rich, wealthy, and free her true members! how readily they welcome others to refide with them! Gal. iv. 26. Is not the heavenly state of glory called Jerusalem, or New Jerufalem, for similar reafons? Rev. iii. 12.

JESSE, the fon of Obed, and grandfon of BOAZ. His fons were Eliab, Abinadab, Shimea, Nethaneel, Raddai, Ozem, and David. His daughters were Zeruiah, the mother of Joab, Abithai, and Afahel; and Abigail, the mother of Amasa, 1 Chron. iii. 13. -Out, of his family did the most and best of the Hebrew kings, and even the Messiah, proceed, I Sam. xvi. I Chron. iii. Is. xi. I. As by reason of his extreme old age he was incapable to attend David in his exile, David put him and his wife under the protection of the king of Moab. It is faid that the Moabites murdered them, and fo drew David's refentment on themfelves, 1 Sam. xxii. 3. 4. 2 Sam. viii.

JESUS. See Joshua the fon of Nun. Christ. God.

IETHRO; either the fon of or the fame

TEW [25] I F

fame with Reuel, a defeendant of Abraham, and priest of Midian. From his facilitizing when he came to vifit Moses at the foot of Sinai, it is probable that the true worship of God remained in his family. He had a fon called Hobab, and feven daughters; one of whom, Zippporah by name, married Mofes. It is probable he continued with the Hebrews, after he had got a fet of new officers established among them, till they were departing from Sinai, and then left Hobab with Moses. Exad. ii. xviii. Numb. x.

JEWEL; a precious and costly ornament of gold, filver, &c. Jewels were used on the forchead, nose, ear, and hand, or even in the fervice of idols, Ezek. xvi. 14. 17. God's people are his jewels, or peculiar treasure; they are dear to him, rendered comely by his righteoufnefs and grace; he carefully preferves them; and by them he shews forth his honour, greatness, and wealth, Mal. iii. 17. The lips of knowledge are as a precious jewel; prudent and fenfible speech is valuable and honourable, Prov. xx. 15. A fair woman without difcretion, is like a jewel of gold in a fwine's fnout; fhe makes but a poor and fantastic appearance, and debaseth her comeliness by her filthy practices, Prov. xi. 22.

JEWS. It is no more wonderful that profane histories should say so little of them and their capital, than that they should fay almost nothing of Palmyra and Baalbeck, and their magniticent ruins. There is neither Jew ner Greek, bond nor free, male nor female in Christ; none is regarded before God on account of any outward circumstances; and now under the gospel all have equal warrant and access to receive him, and enjoy fellowship with him, in all the bleffings of grace and glory, Gal. iii. 28. Col. iii. 11. A Jew outwardly, is one who is a defeendant of Jacob, or professor of the Jewith religion. A Jew inwardly, is a real believer and fearer of God, answerable to his profession. See HEBREWS; JUDAH.

JEZEBEL, the daughter of Ethbaal king of Zidon, and wife of King VOL. II.

Ahab. She used witchcraft; and after her hu band's death, if not before She was fo mad on it, turned whore. idolatry, that fhe maintained, at her own expence, 400 pricits of the groves facred to Ashtaroth, while her husband maintained 450 for Baal. She infligated her hufband to murder the prophets of God wherever they could be found. Enraged at Elijah for the slaughter of 450 idolatrous priefts of Baal, she vowed to kill him; but his flight prevented her. In the most villanous manner fhe murdered Naboth, and procured his vineyard for Ahab, I Kings xvi. xviii. xix. xxi. At last, according to the prediction of Elijah, she was thrown out of a window by the wall of Jezreel, and trodden to death by horses. Immediately the dogs did cat up her body, that nothing remained to be buried but her skull, her feet, and the palms of her hands, 2 Kings ix. 30. - 37.

The name [EZEBEL has often been proverbially used to fignify any woman exceffively cruel, wicked, or given to idolatry. In this fenfe perhaps it is applied to that wicked woman in the church of Thyatira, who fo diligently feduced people to commit fornication, and eat things facrificed to idols, Rev.

JEZREEL; a celebrated city of the western Manassites, situated on the fouth border of Islachar. The beautiful plain of Jezreel, now Eidraelon, of about ten miles in length, lay near Ahab had his palace in Jezreel, and here his family were ruined: but God revenged on Jehu the blood which he had shed in Jezreel, because he cut them off, not in obedience to God, but from a felfish defire to obtain the throne. I Kings xxi. 2 Kings ix. x. Hof. i. 4. · · · · See Hosea.

IF is used to express, (1.) A condition, Deut. xxviii. 15. Luke ik. 23-(2.) A supposition, Rom. iv. 2. (3.) The reason of a thing. It signifies, (1.) Surely: in this fense it is taken in oaths and affeverations, and suppofes an imprecation of fomething hurtful and destructive, if what is threatened, promifed, or afferted do not prove true, Numb.

IGN [26] IMA

Numb. xiv. 23. Heb. iii. † 11. (2.) fame nature as his Father, and resembles Seeng, Gen. xxviii. † 20. (3.) Whether or not, Gen. viii. 8. (4.) When, man, and mediatorial office, he is a Judg. xxi. 21. John xii. 32. bright representation of all the perfec-

IGNOMINY; fliame; ilander,

Prov. xviii. 3.

IGNORANCE; (1.) Want of the true knowledge of God and his turbs, Eph. iv. 18. (2.) Miftake; furpille, Lev. iv. 2. 13. Heathens are ignerant; deflitute of the true knowledge of God, Acts xvii. 23. Wicked teachers are ignorant; they know not what they ought to teach others, If. lvi. 10. Paul finned ignerantly against Christ before his conversion, not knowing the truth of the Christian religion, I Tim. i. 13. Peter and John were ignorant, i. e. not trained up in the schools of polite learning, Acts iv. 13. Abraham in heaven is ignorant of his children on earth; he neither knows their cafe, nor acknowledges or helps them, If. lxiii. 16.

ILLUMINATED; endowed with the faving knowledge of Christ and divine things, Heb. x. 32.

ILLYRICUM; a country on the east of the gulf of Venice, about 480 miles in length, and 120 in breadth. It has Austria and part of Hungary on the north, Mysia or Servia on the east. and part of Macedonia on the fouth. Counting from north-west to south-east, it vas divided into Sclavonia, Bofnia, Dannatia, and Albania; but foretimes it was taken in a more large fense. To relate the reduction of this country by Cidmus, by Philip the father of Alexander, or by the Romans, and its ravages by the Quadi, Goths, and Huns, and by the Ottoman Turks, under whom the most of it is at prefent, would be to finall purpose in this work. Here the gespel was preached, and a Christian church planted by Paul. The Centuriators of Magdeburgh trace their bimops through eight centuries; and to this day there are not a few in it who have the name of Christians, Rom.

IMAGE; the representation or likeness of a thing, as pictures or statues are of men. - Christ is the image of the inviable God: as God's Son, he has the him in power; and in his perfen, Godman, and mediatorial office, he is a bright reprefentation of all the perfections of God, Heb. i. 3. Col. i. 12. Man was made in the image of God; he refembled God in the spinional and immortal nature of his foul, and in his true knowledge, righteoulness, and holinefs, and in his dominion over the creatures, Gen. i. 26. 27. Man, with respect to his wife, is the image of God, in respect of dominion and power, I Cor. xi. 7. We are born in the image of Adam; like him in our natural form, and in our rebellion against God, Gcr. v. 3.; and we bear the 1mage of Christ, and are renewed after it, when our nature is changed, and we are therein made like God in fpiritual knowledge, righteouinefs, hohnefs, and every other grace, I Corxv. 49. Col. iii. 10. All images in worship, are expressly condemned, and are reprefented as teachers of fallibood, as none can justly represent any divine person, Exod. xx. 4. Jer. x. 3.-16. Hab. ii. 18. Psal. cxv. 4.-8. cxxxv. 15.—18. Many of the Heathen images of their gods were monftroufly mixed pictures of human and brutal animals. Some were monftroufly large. That of Belus, erected by Nebuchadnezzar in the plam of Dura, was at least 90 foot high and nine foot thick, Dan. iii. 1. That of Apollo at Rhodes was almost 128 foot high, and the tallest ships in these times might fail in betwoch its legs. The image of the wicked, which God despiseth, is their outward appearance, glory, and happinels, Pial. lxxiii. 20. The image of the beaft is a likeness to the form of the Heathen empire, or the shadow of the Roman empire in that of Germany, Rev. XIII. 14. 15.

To IMAGINE, is to form a reprefentation in our mind; to device, Pfal. XXXVIII. 12. IMAGINATION denotes, (1.) The first ideas, purposes, and inclinations of the soul, Gen. vi. 5. (2.) Corrupt reasonings, 2 Cor. x. 5. In sundry places, the original word might be rendered stubbernness, Jer. iii. 17. &c.

71/14

IN IMM

IMMEDIATELY; in a moment; in a flort time, John v. 9. Luke xix. 11.

IMMORTAL; that which doth not or cannot die. God is immortal, and only hath immortality; he hath life in and of himfelf, and is infinitely fecure against death, hurt, or ruin of any kind, I Tim. i. 17. vi. 16. The eternal bleffedness of the faints is called Immortality: it can never certle, and is free from fuch pain, corruption, or unfightlinefs as attends death, Rom. ii. 7.; and it is brought to light, i.e. more clearly discovered by the gospeldispensation, 2 Tim. i. 10. Our mortal body that! put on immertality, when it thall glorioutly rife from the dead, and be no more fubired to any tendency towards diffolution or waiting, Cor. xv. 53. IMMUTABILITY; unchange-ablenefs, Fieb. vi. 17. 18.

IMPART; to bellow of one's fulnefs on others, Luke iii. II. The apostles were willing to impart their fouls, founding their firength, exerting their skill, and exposing their life to edify their hearers, 2 Theff. ii. 8.

IMPEDIMENT in speech, is that which hinders one to speak plain, and makes to nutter or flammer, Mark vii.

IMPENITENT; not disposed to repent of fins committed, Rom. ii. 5.

IMPERIOUS; proudly disposed to bear rule, Ezek. xvi. 30.

IMPLACABLE; fearcely to be pacified or reconciled, Rom. i. 31.

IMPLEAD; to charge with crimes

before a judge, Acts xix. 38.

IMPORTUNITY; carnefiness in requesting. It might be translated Jhameleffn fs, Luke xi. 8.

IMPOSE; to layer bind upon one,

Heb. ix. 10.

IMPOSSIBLE; what cannot be In respect of God's nature, it is impossible for him to lie, or deny himfelf, Heb. vi. 18. Tit. i. 2. In respect of his power, nothing good is impossible to him, Luke i. 37. nviii. 27. In refpect of God's purpoles and providen-tial methods, it is impossible that offen-- ees should not come, or that the elect should be deceived, Luke xvii. 1. Mat xxiv. 24. In refpect of his attendant power, nothing miraculous was impossible to the apostles, Matth. xvii. 20. That is impossible for men, which is above their frength, Matth. xix. 16.

IMPOTENT; weak; difeafed; without ability in legs, feet, &c. John H1POVERISH; to make poor; to carry off wealth from one, Jer. v. 17.

IMPRISON; to shut up in prison,

Acts xxii. 19.

IMPUDÉNT; shameless in finning. Whores, and persons given to boldness in wickedness, are impudent, Prov. vii.

13. Ezek. iii. 7.

IMPUTE; to account to one, in law-reckoning, what himfelf, or another in his room, hath done, in order to reward or punish him for it. We have righteoufuefs without works imputed to us, when the obedience and fufferings of Jefus Chrift in our flead is legally reckoned to the account of us guilty finners, to render us righteous in law before God as a judge, Rom. iv. 6. 11. Sin is imputed, when one is charged with it, in order to his fuffering of puniffrment for it, 2 Sam. xiv. 19. Lev. xvii. 4.; and the not imputing it, imports the free and full forgiveness of it, Rom. v. 13. In order to warrant fuch imputation, the actor and the one to whom it is imputed must be one, either really or legally. The Chaldean king imputed his power to his god, accounted his idol to have affifted him in conquering the nations, Hab. i. 1 ...

IN; in the midst of a thing, or having fome very close connection with God is in Christ; is one with him as God; has the closest connection, is well pleased with and reconciled to menin him: and Christ is in him; has the fame nature as his Father, John xiv. 10. 2 Cor. v. 19. God is in all the faints, is specially united to and dwells in them by his spirit, Eph. iv. 6. God purpoted in Christ; connected with him as our covenant-head, he purposed to effect our whole falvation through Chrift. Eph. iii. 11. The law of the Spirit of life is in Christ; the new covenant is ettablished.

eittblished with him; he is the great agent in it, and means of its operation. The Holy Ghost, as the Spirit of Christ, operates in us, by uniting us to and maintaining our fellowship with Christ, Rom. viii. 2. To believe or trust in Christ, or in God, or in his name, is, in a way of receiving Christ, and God in him, as the husband and faviour of our foul, offered in the promifes, to expect from his perfections, relations, and work whatever is good and necessary for us, John ..iv. 1. To live, move, and have our being in God, is to exist and act by virtue of our connection with him, and by his supporting and actuating influence, Acts avii. 28. Col. i. 3. The truth is in Christ; he is the fubstance and e emplification of it; by his death it is ratified; and in beholding and receiving of him, its light and glory are perceived, and its power felt, Eph. iv. 21. 2 Cor. i. 21. We are bleffed, chosen, called, justified, adopted, fanctified, and obtain an inheritance in Christ; our whole salvation was concerted with him as our Surety, purchased by him as our Ranfomer, is lodged in him as our treatury, and in a state of union to him, we share of it; and the enjoyment of him as the Lord our wildom, righteenfacts, fanctification, and redemption, is the fum of it, Eph. i. 3. 4. 6. &c. We are in Christ, and he in us. He dwells in our heart by faith, and we are closely united to him as our furety, our head, husband, and root of spiritual influence, John Avii. 26. Rom. vi. 7. But perfons are faid to be in Christ, if they are members of his visible church, and in outward profession joined to him, John v. 6. To glory in the Lord, is to make him the object of our spiritual boafting, 1 Cor. i. 31. To be ftrong in the Lord, be faithful in the Lord, labour in the Lord, and falute others in the Lord, is, in a flate of union to Jefus's person, and excreise of daily receiving out of his fulness, to study faithfulnefs and diligence in the work of preaching the gospel, or practising holiness; and to falute others from love to the Lord, and on account of their bearing his image, Eph. vi. 10. 1 Cor. iv. 17. Rom. vi. 12. 22. To be dead in fin, or perifh in iniquity, is to be under the reigning power of it, and to be dead and perifh by means of it, Eph. ii. 1. John wii. 20. John viii. 21. The accurace confideration of the fenfe of this preposition 18, is often of great use to lead to the true meaning of many inspired te tw.

INCENSE; that which is ordinarily fo called, is a precious and fragrant gum, iffuing from the frankincense tree. The incente used i. the Jewish ofierings, at least that which was burnt on the altar of incense and before the ark, was a precious mi ture of fweet spices, stacte, onycha, galbanum, and pure frankincenfe, beaten very finall. None but priests were to burn it, nor was any, under pain of death, to make any like to it. This incense was burnt twice a-day on the golden altar. fast of e piation, two hands full of it was burnt before the ark, in the Holy of holies, to prevent every curious and dangerous look to the ark. By it was fignified Christ's precious, hearty, powerful, and constant intercession within the vail, on the footing of his own righteoufnefs, which renders us and our spiritual services acceptable to God, E od. xxx. 34.—38. Lev. xvi. 12.- 14. Acceptable prayers and praifes are called incense and offering, Mal. i. 11. Pfal. exli. 2.

To be incensed against one, is to be filled with rage and enmity, If. xli. 11. 1v. 24.

INCHANT. See DIVINATION.

INCLINE. The ear is inclined, when it carefully liftens to hear, Prov. v. 13. The heart is inclined, when it earneftly affects, defires, or ftudies, Judg. i . 3. The house of an harlot inclines to death. Men's going into it, or indulging themselves in whoredoms, confirms spiritual death, and hastens forward temporal and eternal death, Prov. ii. 18.

INCLOSE; (1.) To compass; shut up round about, as with a wall or hedge, Psal. xxii. 16. (2.) To fix in the middle of a furrounding piece of metal, Enod. xxxin. 6. The church is inclosed; protected by God, and confecrated to his sole honour and use, Song iv. 12. Men are inclosed in their own fat, when they can searce see for plumpness; when their wealth abounds on every side, and their hearts are stupid and destitute of the sear of God, Psal. xvii. 10. God incloses mens ways with hewn stone, when, by outward calamities, he bereaves them of liberty, ease, or hope of outgate, Lum. iii. 9.

INC [20] INF

INCONTINENT; given to unchality and intemperance, 2 Tim. iii.
3. INCONTINENCY; an inability to refrain defire of the lawful pleafures of marriage, 2 Cor. vii. 5,

INCORRUPTIBLE; what cannot grow worfe, or rot. Corruption puts on incorruption, when our once corrupted and rotten bodies are rendered altogether free of all vileness, or tendency towards death, I Cor. xv. 50.

INCREASE. See grow.

INCREDIBLE; what cannot be believed. The refurrection of the dead, is not incredible; God's power and wifdom can effect it; his juffice and goodness require it; his word plainly foretels it; and his providence hath already given pledges of it, Acts xxvi. 8.

INCURABLE; what cannot be bealed, 2 Chron. xxi. 18.; or what can hardly be healed, Jer. xxx. 12.

INDEED; (1.) Truly; affuredly, Deut. ii. 15. (2.) Eminently; in a very fingular manner. So Christ makes free indeed, with a glorious liberty, which can never be taken away, John viii. 31. 36. His flesh and blood are meat indeed, fuited to every person, and are quickening to the foul; do fecure everlading life and strength, and are infinitely fweet and fubstantial, John vi. 55. and an Ifraelite indeed, is one truly and eminently holy, and noted for wreftling with God, John i. 47. Willows indeed, are fuch as behave gravely and pioutly, antwerably to their condition, and are really poor and deftitute, 1 Tim. v. 3. 5. 16.

INDIA; a large country on the fouth of Afia, extending from north to fouth about 2400 miles, and from east to west 1800. It is chiefly watered by the Indus on the west, and the Ganges and Burrampooter in the middle of the country, and the various rivers that run into these three. The foil is very fruitful in rice, millet, fruits, and spices. This country affords elephants, camels, monkeys, mines of gold and silver, diamonds, rubies, and almost all manner of precious stones. The empire of the Persians and Greeks extended to the north-west parts of it, Esth. i. 1.

INDIGNATION; anger kindled to a very high degree. Jeremiah was filled with indignation by God; he was appointed to deliver meffages of wrath; he was exposed to trouble, and to the fury of the Jews, and moved with holy zeal against their evil ways, Jer. xv. 17.

INDITE; to form thoughts for fpeech or writing. The word fignifies to boil up, as water in a fpring; oc, as the facred oil in the frying-pan, Pfal. xlv. 1.

INDUSTRIOUS; fenfible, and active in bufinefs, t Kings xi. 28.

INFALLIBLE; which cannot fail; cannot admit of any doubt, Acts i. 3.

INFAMY. See REPROACH.

INFANT; a child almost newly born, Luke xviii. 15. During the Millennium, there shall not be an infant of days; professors of Christianity shall not be so ignorant, or easily tempted to sin, as now; nor perhaps shall infants so frequently die as now, If. lxv. 20.

INFERIOR; leffer in honour, wealth, wifdom, or excellency, Job

xii. 2.

INFIDEL; an Heathen, who believes not the revelations of God in feripture, 2 Cor. vi. 15. 1 Tim. v. 8.

INFINITE; (1.) Exceeding great, Nah. iii. 9. (2.) Aktogether unbounded, Pial. exhib. 5.

INFIRMITÝ. See WEAKNESS.

INTLAME; to fet on fire. Wine inflames men, if drunk to excefs; it too much heats the bodily conflictation, and provokes fleihly lufts, If. v. II.

Men

INF 30 INS

Men inflame themselves with idols, when they have a burning zeal for their fervice and worship, and are ready to expend their wealth, honour, and firength in it, If. lvii. 5. Inflammation; a burning boil, either in the inner or outer part of the body, occasioned by an excellive flow of the blood into that part; or the blood becomes too thick, or the fibres are relaxed or bruifed, Deut. xxviii. 22.

INFLUENCE; the virtue that Hows from one thing to another, as from the fun, moon, stars, or rain, to cause the earth bring forth fruit, Job XXXVIII. 31.

INFOLD; to wrap up; catch hold of, Ezek. i. 4.

INGATHERING; the feast of ingathering, viz. after all the product of fields and vineyards was gathered in, was the same with the FEAST of tabermacles, Exod. xxiii. 16.

INGRAFT. See GRAFF.

INHABIT; to dwell in. See HA-BITATION.

INHERIT. See HEIR. INIQUITY. See sin.

IM; UKE; to do one wrong or in-Justice, Gai. iv. 12. An injurious perfon, is one that does wrong to God, his people, &c. 1 Tim. i. 13.

INK; a liquor for writing with on paper, pareliment, &c. Common ink as made of galls, copperas, gum arabic, vitriol, &c. Printer's ink is made of nut or lintived oil, turpentine, and lamp-black. Chinese or Indian ink is a rare composition of fincke-black, efpecially of that of fat pork, with tome oil and odoriferous ingredients; and is made up in folid pieces, which must be diffolved in water, Jcr. xxxvi. 18. 2 John 12. 3 John 13. In the Le-vant, great men affix their feals to deeds with ink. The people of the East were wont to carry their mx-HORNS by their fide, and to this day the recretaries or writers in Turkey do fo. Jefus Christ is represented as having an ink-born at his fide, to donote his walliefs to mark out his people for preservation, amilift comanon calendide, Ezek. ix. 2. 3.....

INN; a place for travellers to lodge or refresh themselves at. In ancient times, hospitality was fo common, that inns were much lefs necessary that. now: yet it appears there were fome, Gen. xlii. 27. Christ's church is an inn; there his people travelling to glory lodge and refresh themselves, and are under the care of his angels and ministers, Luke x. 34.

INNOCENT; not GUILTY of crimes; not guilty of fome particular crimes, Job xxii. 30.

INNUMERABLE; fo many as cannot be numbered, Job xxi. 33.

INORDINATE; diforderly; exceffive, Ezek. xxiii. 11. Col. iii. 5.

INQUISITION; fearch; examination, Deut. xi ... 18. God makes inquisition for blood, when, in his providence, he discovers and punishes murderers and oppressors, Pial. ix. 12.

·INSCRIPTION, or SUPERSCRIP-TION; a writing on pillars, altars, marble, coins, &c. Acts xvii. 23. Matth. xxii. 20. Anciently the hiftory of nations and the principles of feience were often marked in inferiptions. A Grecian history of about 1318 years was inferibed on the Arundelian marbles. Grævius has filled three volumes in folio, with infcriptions of the ancient Greeks and Romans. At least an abridgement of Mofes's law, or a copy of the bleffings and curfes, was inferibed on the altar at Ebal, Deut. xxvii. 8.

INSPIRATION; God's conveying of directive and exciting influence to mens fouls, Job xxxii. 8. The infpiration whereby God indited his word, was not merely his fuperintending the minds of the facred writers, fo as to keep them from groffer faults, but his impressing their minds in fuch a manner as fully convinced them they were moved of God, and his suggesting to them what they should write, and words fit for expreffing it. Should we, with fome learned men, admit superintendency to preferve from grofs errors, and no more, our Bible may be a mafs of finaller errors, even in its original draught; and if we admit the writers to have been left to themselves in the choice of their words, for aught we know, they may have every where expressed their just ideas in words very improper, 2 Tim. iii. 16.

INS [31] INT

INSTANT; very eager and earnest, Rom. xii. 12. An inflant, is a moment, or short period of time, Jer.

xviii. 7. Luke ii. 38.

INSTRUCT. See TEACH.

INSTRUMENT; a tool wherewith one labours, plays music, &c. Exod. xxv. 9. The fecond causes, whereby God executes his works of mercy or judgement, are his instruments, It. vli. 15. Sword, famine, pestilence, and difeases, are his instruments of death, Pfal. vii. 13. Mens bodies, or members, are infiruments of righteoufness or unrighteoulness; are as it were tools whereby we work the one or the other in outward acts, Rom. vi. 13. evil instruments of the churl, are the finful methods which he useth to increafe his wealth, If. xxxii. 7. Zechariah took to him the instruments of a foolish shepherd, a scrip and staff, and behaved as a foolish shepherd: this fignified the foolishness and tyranny of the Tewish rulers after the time of Christ. Some think it also marked the foolishness and tyranny of the Romish popes: Zech. xi. 15. 16. The instruments of cruelty in Simeon and Levi's habitations, were their fwords, wherewith they had murdered the Shechemites, Gen. xlix. 5.

INSURRECTION; a rebellious rifing of fubjects against their magistrates, Pfal. lxiv. 2. Mark xv. 2.

INTANGLE; to bring into trouble or danger, that one can hardly escape. The Hebrews were intangled at the Red-sea, the sea being before them, the Egyptians behind them, and rugged rocks on every hand of them, Exod. xiv. 3. The Jews thought to intangle Christ in his talk, by decoying him to speak something criminal, and which he could not excuse or desend, Matth. xxii. 15. The Jews were intangled with the inflaving yoke of ceremonies; so fixedly accustomed to them, as neither to be able or willing to free themselves therefrom, Gal. v. 1. Means are intangled by their lusts, when so investigled and fixed in a course of sinct that they neither will nor can leave it, 2 Pet. ii. 20. Men are intangled in the affairs of this life, when their care of, and labour therein, distract and captivate their minds, 2 Tim. ii. 4.

INTEGRITY; downright honefty, fincerity, Job xxvii. 5.

INTELLIGENCE; correspondence for information, Dan. xi. 30.

INTEND; to aim; to purpose, Acts v. 28.35. INTENT; end, 2 Sam. xvii. 14. Acts x. 29. The intents of the heart, are its secret purposes and aims, Jer xxx. 24.

INTERCESSION; a pleading in behalf of others. Christ maketh intercession for us; he appears before God in our nature, and pleads, that the bleffings purchased with his blood may be given us, If. liii. 12. Rom. iii. 34. The Holy Ghost makes intercession for us with groanings that cannot be uttered; he excites to prayer, directs what to ask, and enables to offer our requests to God in a duly earnest manner, Rom. viii. 26. We make intercession for men, when we plead with God on their behalf, and for his gift; and graces to them, I Tim. ii. I. In a time of univerfal apostasy, God wondered that there was no interceffor, none to stand up in behalf of religion, and wrestle with him for the turning away of his wrath, If. lix. 16.

INTERMEDDLE; (1.) To attempt to deal in, Prov. xviii. 1. (2.)

To share of, Prov. xiv. 10.

INTERMISSION; ceafing, breaking off a little, Lam. iii. 49.

INTERPRET; (1.) To explain the words of one language into those of another, 1 Cor. min 20. (2.) To shew the sense of something mysterious and obscure, Gen. xli. 8. Jesus is an interpreter, one among a thousand: he, by the powerful illumination of his word and Spirit, explains and shows unto men the deep and dark things of God, Job xxxiii. 23.

INTREAT; (i.) To befeech; to beg earneftly; to pray, Exad. viii. 8.

INT [32] JOA

Gen. xxiii. 8. Ruth i. 16. (2.) To entertain; deal with, Cen. xii. 16. Exod. v. 22. To be intreated, is, kindly to regard and grant a request, Cen. xxv. 21.

INTRUDE; proudly to prefs in by force; to pry into things above our reach, and which we have no call nor need to know, Col. ii. 18.

INVADE; to enter a country, with a view to cut off or fubdue the inhabitants, or to carry off their wealth,

2 Kings viii. 20.

INVENT; to contrive; find out. Inventions are, (1.) Wife contrivances, refpecting knowledge, arts, management, Prov. viii. 12. (2.) Idolatrous and other finful devices and practices, contrived by men, to render themselves happy or honoured, Pfal. cvi. 29. xci. 8. Eccl. vii. 29.

INVISIBLE; what cannot be feen

by our bodily eyes, Rom. i. 20.

INWARD. Inward parts, denote the foul or heart: and inward fignifies what belongs to the foul, Pfal. li. 6. An inward friend, is one who truly and from the heart loves us; or who is very familiar with us, and shares of our fecrets, Job xiv. 19.

IOAB, the fon of Zeruiah, brother of Abishai and Afahel, the nephew and general of King David, was a faithful and valiant commander; but imperious, cruel, and revengeful. No doubt he attended his uncle in his exile, under Saul. At Gibeon, he finfully complied with Abner's propotal of a combat betwixt twelve on each fide, of David's and Ishbosheth's men. That very day he defeated the troops under Abner, but loft Afahel his brother. To revenge his death, he afterwards treacheroufly murdered Abner; nor durst David punish him for so doing, as he and his brother Abishai had the troops fo much at their beek. By first entering the city of Jerusalem, and driving back the Jebusite guards, he procured himself the office of commander to all the Hebrew troops. Criefly under his direction of the army, the Moabites, Philistines, Edomites, Syrians, and Ammonites, were rendered tributary to Ifrael. At David's direction, he basely promoted the murder of Uriah. By his direction the widow of Tekoah procured Abfalom's return from exile. He afterwards procured his admission to court: but was his hearty oppofer when he rebelled against his father; and, contrary to David's orders, killed him, as he hung by his hair on an oak-tree. He wifely, but harfhly, chid David for his excessive and ill-timed forrow for Abfalom's death, and his neglect of the brave warriors who had routed the rebellious hoft. The killing of Abfalom, and this harsh usage, David refented, by displacing him from his generalship, and putting Amasa his cousin, and the commander of Abfalom's hoft, in his room. Joab, however, attended his brother Abishai's troop, as a volunteer, in the pursuit of Sheba the fon of Bichri, who had raifed a new rebellion. He quickly murdered Amasa, when he came up, and refumed his command. He purfued, and quickly procured the head of Sheba, and quashed his rebellion. He wifely remonstrated against David's numbering the people, but was obliged to execute that talk; and in ten months performed the greater part of it, 2 Sam. ii. iii. v. viii. - xii. xiv. xviii. -xx. xxiv. When, through old age, David concerned himfelf little in the government of the kingdom, Joab and Abiathar, contrary to their master's known intentions, thought to have fet up Adonijah to be his fucceffor. The attempt miscarried, but tended to increase David's difgust at On his death-bed, he requested Solomon to punish him for the murder of Abner and Amasa. Some time after David's death, Joab, hearing that Adonijah was executed by Solomon's orders, fled to the horns of the brazen alter at Gibeon, for refuge. Solomon fent Benaiah, now general of the hoft, to require him to quit his place of pro-Joab refused, and faid he would die on the fpot. Solomon ordered him to be killed where he was. This being done, he was buried in his own house, in the wilderness, I Kings i. ii. IOASH,

ЈОА

JOASH, or JEHOASH, the fon redeem About bah, the wife of Jehoiada the high-rians reprieft, his aunt professed by prieft, his aunt, preferved him from the murderous defigns of ATHALIAH, his grandmother, when he was but a year old, and kept him hid fix years in a chamber belonging to the temple. When he was feven years of age, Jehoiada entered into a folemn covenant with Azariah the fon of Jeroham, Ithmael the fon of Jehohanan, Azariah the fon of Obed, Maafeiah the fon of Adaiah, and Elishaphat the fon of Zichri, to fet up young Joath for their fovereign, and dethrone the wicked Athaliah. After preparing matters in the kingdom, and bringing the Levites, and fuch others as they could truft, to Jerufalem, they crowned him in the court of the temple with great folemnity. Alarmed with the acclamations, Athaliah run to the court, but was quickly carried forth and flain. Joash and his subjects covenanted with the Lord to ferve him only, and with one another. No fooner was Joafh placed in the palace, than the people pulled down the statue of Baal, and demolished his temple, and slew Matran his prieft; but the high places were not removed. Jehoiada then, as tutor for Joath, fet on foot the repairs of the temple; but it was fo flowly done, that in the 23d year of Joain it was fearce begun. Infligated by Joath, Jehoiada fet about it effectually, by a voluntary collection. While Jehoiada lived, Joath zealoufly promoted reformation; but no fooner was that high-prieft in his grave, than Joash hearkened to his wicked courtiers. The worship of God was neglected, and idolatry prevailed. Zechariah the prieft, the fon of Jehoiada, faithfully warned the people of their fin and dan-By order of Joash, his ungrateful coufin, he was stoned to death between the porch and the altar. martyr, when dying, affured them that his death should be divinely revenged. His prediction was quickly accomplished. Hazael invaded the kingdom; but, with a large fum of money. Joath Vol. II

3] JOB redeemed his capital from plunder. About a year after, a finall host of Syrians ravaged the country, defeated the huge army of Joash, pillaged his capital, and murdered his princes. After loading himfelf with ignominy and difgrace, they left him; but his own fervants, foon after, murdered him in his own bed, in the 41st year of his reign, A. M. 3116; and he was buried in the royal city, but not in the fepulchres of the kings, 2 Kings xi. xii. 2 Chron. xxiii. xxiv.

Joash, or Jehoash, fon of Jehoahaz, and grandfon of Jehu. After a reign of two years in conjunction with his father, he reigned fourteen more alone over the kingdom of Ifrael. He copied after the wickedness of Jeroboam the fon of Nebat, and perhaps honoured him with the name of his fon. By Joath, God delivered the Hraelites from their Syrian oppressors. With no small concern he visited the prophet Elisha in his dying moments; and from him had the prediction of a triple victory over the Syrians. Joafle had not long routed the Syrians, and recovered the cities which they had taken from Ifrael, when Amaziah king of Judah provoked him to war; but Joash defeated him, pillaged his capital, and returned to Samaria in triumph, and died A. M. 3179, 2 Kings xiii. 2 Chron. xxv.

IOB, a noted inhabitant of the land of Uz, eastward of Gilead. An addition to the Septuagint version of his book, as well as Philo, Arifteas, and Polyhistor, and a great many of the fathers, reckoned him the same as Fobab, one of the ancient kings of Edom, and third in descent from Esau; but it is more probable that he was a defcendant of Nahor, by Huz his eldest son, as Elihu was by Buz his fecond. Owen thinks Job was contemporary with Abraham: but how then could Eliphaz, a defeendant of Efau, have been his aged friend? Some place him as late as the times of Ezekiel: but how then have we no allusion in his book to the paffage of the Hebrews through the Red sca, or their entrance into Canaan, though there is to the deluge, and to the burning of Sodom and Gomorrah with fire and brimflone? This renders it probable that his affliction was before the Hebrews departure from Egypt; though per-haps a great part of his 140 years life ar wards might be posterior to it. This is confirmed by the confideration of Eliphaz, his aged friend, who spoke first, his being a Temanite, and confequently at least a great-grandchild of Some have pretended, that the whole book of Job is but a dramatic fiction, and that no fuch person ever existed: but God's mention of him as a righteous man, together with Noah and Daniel, and James's testimony to his patience and happy end, fufficiently refute that imagination, Ezek. xiv. James v. 11.

127 .0

JOB [34] JOB

At first, Job was in a very prosperous condition; he had feven fons and three daughters, who lived in the utmost harmony and affluence: he had a prodigious number of flocks, herds, and fervants; and was the greatest man in that country. His piety and integrity were distinguished; his clearnefs from idolatry and unchastity, his abhorrence of pride and injuffice, were remarkably fo. Not only did he regulate his own perfonal practice, but took care of the piety of his children. When his fons held their annual feafts, perhaps on their respective birth-days, he always rofe early next morning, and, with prayer, offered up facrifices for them, fearing lest they might have finned, and curfed, contemned, or forfaken God in their hearts, Job i.

1.-5. xxix. xxxi.

Upon a certain day, when the angel's or the human fons of God were affembled together before God, Satan preferred hi afelf among them. In a manner, we do not understand, God questioned the fiend, where he had been employed? and if he had confidered, or fet his heart against his fervant Job, so dislinguished for piety and goodness? Satan replied, that Job was but a mercenary hypocrite, who served God to obtain and preserve his uncommon wealth; but if he was fharply, or even a little afflicted, he would contemptuoufly curfe his Maker, and bid adieu to his fervice. For the manifestation and exercise of Job's grace, Satan was permitted to ruin all he had; but limited from touching his person. He immediately vented his malice against Job: he stirred up the thievish Sabeans to fall on his cattle. These they drove away, and his fervants they murdered. He next caused fire from heaven fall on his flocks, and burn them up, and the fervants that kept them. Next he made the favage Chaldeans fall on the camels, and murder the fervants who attended them. Much about the fame time, while the ten children feasted in the house of their elder brother, he raifed a terrible florm, that buried them all in the ruins of the house. In each of these disasters, just one was preferved, to bring the tidings to Job. Scarce had one finished his doleful story, when another came up with his. In great composure Job heard all; and at last, to mark his gricf, rent his clothes, and shaved off the hair of his head. With refignation to the whole, he bleffed Cod, who had given him his children and wealth, and who had taken them a-Tob i.

Not long after, Satan presented himfelf again before God in the former manner, and was divinely asked, where he had been? and if he had observed' how piously Job had behaved himfelf under his heavy afflictions, which had not been merited by any peculiar wickedness? He suggested, that there was very little in Job's being content to lofe his children and wealth, when his person was untouched; but alledged, if that were touched, he would contemptuously curse God, and give up with his fervice. For the further discovery and excitement of Job's grace, Satan was permitted to do all that he could against his body, if he but spared his life. He immediately infected his body all over with most loathfome boils. Job laid himfelf down on a daughill, and with a potsherd feraped

JOB [35] JOB

feraped off the putrid matter that ran from his boils. In an upbraiding tone, his wife bid him curfe God, and put an end to his life. He replied, that the motion was quite abfurd, as it becomes us to receive affliction out of God's hand, as willingly as the most agrecable outward favours, Job ii. His friends, hearing of his difafter, came to visit him. The chief were Eliphaz the Temanite, Bildad the Shuhite, Zophar the Naamathite, with a young man named Elihu. When they faw him at a distance, they could scarce believe it was he: when they came near, they could not speak to him for feven days; they were fo shocked at his trouble, and faw him fo affected with his pain. At last Job's patience was overcome, and he curfed the day of his birth, and withed, that either he had never been born, or had been foon after cut off by death. This occasioned a conference betwixt him and his friends. Eliphaz and Bildad took three different turns in the conversation, and Zophar two. To add to his trouble, they infifted, that God never punishes men with uncommon strokes, but for uncommon fins. They infilted, that certainly he was a wicked hypocrite, fince he had been fo uncommonly punished. They intermingled a great many excellent Lints concerning God, and advices to duty. He answered them all in their turns; he maintained that he was no hypocrite, but a true fearer of God; and that diftinguished afflictions in this world were often the lot of the godly, though eternal punishments in hell were referved only for the wicked. By his reafonings, and his folemn proteflations of his integrity, he put them to bleace. Elihu then fpoke, and admitting Job to be a faint, he sharply reproved him for his unguarded speeches, and his defire to jullify himself, at the expence of the divine honeur. His differente introduced Job's conviction. God, by a folenm speech, declaratory of his power and fovereignty in the works of nature, particularly with refrect to the earth, the fee, air, it and I have beauty hinds, wild affes, unicorn, oftriches, horfe, hawks, eagles, behemoth, and leviathan; and, by a number of pungent queries, convinced Job of his ignorance and vileness, to a great degree. Job no fooner repented of his mifcarriages, than God reproved his three friends, for their mifrepresentation of his providence, and charged them to offer facrifice, and to defire Job to pray for forgiveness to them. Hereon Job was relieved from his diffrefs. His friends came to him on every fide, and each gave him prefents of money. It was not long when his riches were double of what they had been, and he had as many children as before. These were not doubled, as the former were not loft, but gone to the eternal flate. To his three daughters, the most comely in the country, he gave names, Jemima, Kezia, Keren-happuch, fignifying, that his prosperity, happiness, and glory, were recovered. After this, Job lived 140 years, and faw his posterity to the fourth generation. - Was Job a type of our bleffed Redeemer? How infinitely rich and righteous he! yet for our fakes he became poor: how quickly reduced to deeps of abalement! how stupendous the trouble he suffered from God! from Satan! from men both good and bad! how tempted, reproached, afflicted! but how marvellous his refignation and patience! how feafonable and necessary his facrified! how undeferved and powerful his intercefilion! how illustrious the glory and honour, and his numerous family among the Gentiles, that fucceeded his poverty and fuffering!

Who was the writer of our infpired account of Job; whether Job, Elihu, Mofili, or fome other, we do not certainly know. From chap, iii, to xlii, 6, it is generally wrote in a kind of poefy; but the paculiar rules of the metre are not cafy to be flated. The fivle is for the most part extremely fublime, and the figures half and driking in an uncommon degree. The poecie part of it is, perhaps, in the very language of the Analysis in the days of Job. The frequent children is it to things which we are unacquainted with, renders a variety of paffages in it not cafily intelligible to us. Though the historical account of Job be inspired, we must not therefore conclude, that every fentence narrated in it is fo too. From God's finding no fault with Elihu, it feems that what he faid is divinely fuftained as true. From God's unding fault with Job and his friends for their speeches, it is plain we must not look on them as the standard of our faith and practice, as their fpeeches, but only in as far as fupported by other feriptures. Only Job's fentiments with respect to the outward providences of God, making no diftinction as to mens flates, is divinely approven.

2 unac

JOE [36] JOH

JOEL, the fon of Pethuel, whom fome, without ground, take for Samucl, was one of the leffer prophets. As he makes no mention of the ten tribes, it feems that he prophefied after their captivity, in the time of Hezekiah or Manasseh. He represents a fearful famine, occasioned by excessive drought, and by destructive vermin: he directs to fafting and prayer, as the means of deliverance: he foretels the deliverance from the famine, and the effusion of the Holy Ghost on multirudes in the apostolic age: he predicts the ruin of the Philiftines and Phenicians; and perhaps of the Affyrian army in the valley of Jchoshaphat: he concludes with promifes of deliverance to the Jews in the latter days.

JOHANAN, the fon of Kareah, with his brother Jonathan, and Seraiah, and Jezaniah, and fonce other captains, who had fled off in fmall bodies, came to Gedaliah at western Mizpah, and he with an oath undertook for their fafety, if they should continue fubject to the Chaldeans. They informed Gedaliah of Ishmael's intended murder of him. After it was over, and they had purfued Ithmael, and recovered the captives he had carried off, they retired to Chimham, which is by Bethlehem. There they defired Jeremiah to ask direction of Ged, whether they should go to Egypt or not. As they were determined to go thither at any rate, they difregarded his warnings against it, and pretended, that not God, but Baruch, the son of Neriah, had prompted him to speak so, that he might deliver them up to the enraged Chaldeans. As Jeremiah had told them of their dissimulation, now it appeared. Johanan, and his fellow-captains, carried all the people left in the land, Jeremiah not excepted, into Egypt: where, in about sources years after, they had a miserable end by the Chaldean invasion, Jer. xl.—xliv.

JOHN BAPTIST, the celebrated forerunner of our Saviour, and the Elias of the New Testament. He was the fon of Zacharias the aged prieft, and the long barren Elifabeth. birth and work were predicted by the Angel Gabriel; and his unbelieving father's dumbness while he was in the womb, was the miraculous token of its fulfilment. Being conceived fix months before our Saviour, he leapt in his mother's womb at the falutation of the bleffed Virgin, now with child of our Saviour. At his birth, his parents were exceeding glad; and his father foon after had his tongue loofed, and predicted his and our Saviour's appearance and work. From his infancy, he was endowed with the Holy Ghost in an extraordinary manner; through his whole life he was a Nazarite, drinking neither wine nor strong drink. After fpending his earliest years in his father's house, he retired to the deferts, where he lived on locusts and wild honey, and was occupied in meditation and prayer. His garments were of camel's hair, and he was girt about the waist with a leathern girdle. About A. D. 28, he began to publish the approaching appearance of the Mesliah, and called the people to repent, because the kingdom of God, or New-Testament dispensation of the gofpel, was at hand; he affured them, that their circumstances were very critical; and if they did not fpeedily repent, the axe of God's judgements would certainly cut them off. Such as professed their repentance, and made confession of their sins, he baptized with water, charging them to believe on the Messiah, who was to be immediately revealed, and would endow them with the Holy Ghoft, and grant them the forgiveness of their fin; he directed them how to behave in their various stations. Sundry clave to him as his disciples, and affifted him in calling the people to repentance. Such was his virtue and fame, that many of the Jews suspected he might be the Melliah. He affured them he was not; and, by divine direction, informed them, that he on whom they fhould foon fee the Holy Ghost defeend and remain, was the Meffiah. Jefus came, and defired baptifm: John differning his true character, would have excused himself, as unfit for the office; but on Jefus hinting, that it was necessary to his fulfilment of all righteonfnefs, he complied. To the meffengers fent by the prichs and rulers, to know what he pretended to be, he replied, that he was neither the Meffiah, nor the ancier Elijah, not an old prophet rifet, from the dead; but was a poor unfubfiantial voice in the wilderness, calling them to prepare for the Melhah, and to remove every hinderance of receiving him. Next day John pointed out Jefus to the multitude, and foon after to two of his disciples, as the Lamb of God, that takes away the fin of the world, Luke i. iii. Matth. iii. John i.

made

JOH [37] JOI

Not long after, when John was baptifing at Enon, near Salini, where was a number of finall rivulete, fome of his disciples informed him that Jesus Carift had begun to baptize by his disciples, and was like to be followed by all the country; he replied, that he had no honour but what was freely given him of God; that as Christ was the divine Bridegroom of the church, he was glad to have his own honour vailed and diminished, that that of Jeius might increase and shine forth; and that as Jefus was a divine person, endowed with an unmeasurable fulness of the Holy Ghoft, and ruler over all, they could not escape the vengeance of God if they believed not on him, John iii. 23. -- 36. He was for a while revered and heard by Herod the tetrarch of Galilee; but having reproved that wicked man for marrying his brother's wife, he was impritoned in the cattle of Macherus. From hence he fent two of his difciples to alk Jefus if he was the true Melliah. or if they flould look for another? Perhaps his impriforment, which laid him afide from his work, had made his faith to flagger; or perhaps they were fent for their own confirmation in the faith. Jefus bade them go tell John what mis cles they faw performed, and what tidings of falvation they heard preached to the poor, Matth. xi. Soon after, to gratify the malice of Herodias, and reward her daughter's fine dancing, his head was cut off, and delivered as a prefent to the damfel. His disciples, permitted by Herod, carried off his body, and buried it. He died about a year before our Saviour. Jefus affures us, that John was no unconstant believer or preacher; no reed shaken with the wind; but one of the greatest men that had appeared in the world; and yet that there is none in heaven but is more holy and perfect than he was; and no believer in the New-Testament church but hath clearer views of the method of falvation, and better tidings to tell, than he; even, that Jefus hath died for our offences, and is raifed again for our justification. As John's life was very auftere, the wicked Pharifees faid he had a devil, but were afraid openly to avow their fentiments, Matth. xi. xiv.

JOHN the Evangelist. See James fon of Zebedee.

JOIN; (1.) To knit or unite together, Job xli. 17. (2.) To make an Eliance or league, Dan. xi. 6. (3.) To enter into intimacy with, Acts viii. 29. (4.) To be reckoned with, Job iii. 6. Joining is applied, (1.) To things: fo house is joined to house, when one is added to another under the same master, Isa. v. 8. (2.) To persons, when they are united in marriage, Eph. v. 31.; in affinity, 2 Chron. xviii. 1.; in affilance, Exed. i. 10.; or in churchscale.

JOI [38] JON

fellowship, Acts ix. 26.; or in battle, army fighting close with army, 1 Sam. iv. 2. (3.) To minds, when people are united in judgement and affection. To be joined to the Lord, is to be spiritually espoused to his Son, and solemnly devoted to his service, 1 Cor. vi. 17. Jer. l. 5. To be joined to idols, is to be firmly intent on worshipping them, Hos. iv. 17. To be joined to an Larlet, is to have the affections set upon her, and to commit whoredom with her, 1 Cor. vi. 16.

JOINTS, are, (1.) The unitings of the bones in an animal body, Dan. v. 6. (2.) The uniting parts of an harnefs, 2 Chron. xviii. 33. The joints and tands which unite Christ's mystical body, are his Spirit, ordinances, and influences, and their mutual relations to him and to one another, and their graces of faith and love fixed on him, and in him loving one another, Col. ii. 19. Eph. iv. 16. The joints of the church's thighs may be her public standards of doctrine, worship, discipline, and government; and her young converts; which add greatly to her comely deportment. In particular faints, the joints of the thighs may denote their inward gospel-principles of action, Song vii. 1. The joints and marrow of mens heart, are their fecret dispositions, which the convincing word of God, with no finall pain to them, shows and affects them with, Heb. iv. 12.

10KTAN, the cldeft fon of Heber. Not Jokshan, the second son of Keturah, as Calmet will have it; but this Joktan was the Kahtan, or father of the ancient Arabs, part of whom are called Catanitæ by Ptolemy. About a mile west from Mecea, there was, if there is not ftill, a place called Baifathyektan, or the dwelling of Joktan. Joktan had 13 fons, Almodad, the father of the Almode or Allumætæ; Sheleph, the father of the Thalapeni or Alapeni; Hazarmayeth, from whom fprung the Atramitæ, Chatramotitæ, or Chatramonitæ; Jerah, or as the Arabs call him, Yarab and Yorham, the father of the Yeracheans or Yorhamites; Haderam, the father of the Adramitæ or Drimatæ; Uzal, the father of the Auzalites, or Aufarites, in the kingdom of the Gebanites; Diklah; Obal, the father of the Avalites, Abulites, or Adulites, Abimael, the father of the Malites; Sheba, the father of a tribe of the Sabeans; Ophir, who perhaps gave name to Copher, a village on the Arabian gulph, or to Urphe, an island in the Red fea, and might be the father of the Cassanites or Ghassanites; Havilah, whose posterity inhabited Chaulan, on the border of the Sabeans; and Jobab, of whom came the Jobarites, or Jobabites. The Arabs descended from Joktan, dwelt from Mesha, which is perhaps the fame as Muza or Mecca, on the east of the Red sea, to Sephar, a mount of the fouth-east of Arabia Felix, Gen. x. 25.—30. 1 Chron. i. 19.-23.

JONADAB or Jehonadab. See

KENITES.

JONAH, the fon of Amittai, a prophet of Gath-hepher in Galilee. Some lews would have him to be the widow of Sarepta's fon, raifed to life by Elijah; but the distance of time renders it almost impossible. Nor is it a whit more certain that he was the fon of the Shunamite reftored to life by Elisha, or the young prophet who anointed Jehu. It is certain that he predicted that God would reftore to the Hebrews the cities which the Syrians had taken from them during the reigns of Ahab, Jehoram, Jehu, and Jehoahaz, 2 Kings xiv. 25. God ordered this prophet to go to Ninevch, and warn the inhabitants of their approaching destruction. Fearing that the merciful Lord might forbear punishing them if they repented, and so feemingly tarnish his honour, Jonah shipped off himfelf at Joppa for Tarshish, wilether in Cilicia, Africa, or Spain, is uncertain; that, being out of the promifed land, the spirit of prophecy might forbear to excite him. A ftorm quickly purfued the thip wherein he was. The Heathen mariners awaked him, and required him to call on his God for deliverance. Lots being cast to discern for whose fake the florm rose, the lot fell on Jonah. With shame he confes-

ied

JON [39] JON

fed his guilt to the mariners. He defired them to call him into the fen, that the storm might be flaved. With reluctance they at last were obliged to do it, whereon the form immediately ceafed. A large fith fwallowed up Jonah, and retained him fafe in her belly for three days. There he earnestly praved to the Lord, at whose command the fith vomited him alive on the dry land; but whether on the east end of the Syrian fea, near Scanderoon, we know not, though that is most probable. His orders to warn the Ninevites of their approaching destruction were imme-All obedient, he d'at dy renewed. halled to that vail city. He had not travelled in it above a day's journey, denouncing their ruin, when the king, whom we cannot suppose Pul, but one about 50 or 60 years earlier, and all his people, applied themselves to solemn fasting and prayer. Hereupon God forbore to execute his vengeance upon them, which had been but conditionally threatened. Displeased with the divine mercy, Jonah angrily withed to die, rather than live and fee his prediction unfulfilled. While he fat without the city, waiting for his defired view of Nineveh's ruin, God caufed a gourd quickly fpring up to overshadow him from the fcorching heat of the fun: but next day, a worm having bitten its root, it fuddenly withered. The fcorching fun and blafting wind vehemently beating on Jonah, he fainted, and angrily wifned to die, and averred to God himself that he was right in so doing. The Lord bid him think, if he had pitv on the fhort-lived gourd, was there not far more reason for his and their Maker to pity the penitent inhabitants of Nineveh, where were above 120,000 infants, and much cattle: Jon. i.-iv. Did not the fate of this prophet typify our Saviour's being cast into the raging fea of divine wrath; his lying a part of three days in the grave; his glorious refurrection from the dead; and the effectual publication of the gospel to multitudes of finners, for their everlafting falvation, that followed?

JONATHAN: 1. The fon of Gershon, and perhaps grandfon of Moses. After he had officiated for some time as idol-priest to Micah, at the yearly rate of his victuals, a fait of clothes, and not quite 23 thillings Sterling; he, pretending to consult his idol, affared the Danites that their undertaking at Laih should prosper; and afterwords went along with 600 Danites, and he and his posterity were priests to that idol at Dan till the captivity of the land. Judg. xvii. xviii.

2. JONATHAN, the fon of Saul, was a prince, pious, and of diffinguithed valour. When the Philiftines had invaded, and quite terrified the whole Hebrew nation, near Michmash, where flood the rocks Bozez and Sench, Jonathan and his arbour-bearer, taking it as a divine fignal, that the Philistines bade them come up to them on the rock where the garrison were posted, climbed up on their hands and feet, and flew 20 men within about half an acre of ground. At the view of this difcomfiture, the Philiflines were put into the utmost confusion; Saul and his frighted troops observing it, pursued them. Not hearing his father's rafh' fentence of death against the man who should stop the pursuit till night, by taking of food, Jonathan, by tasting a little honey on the top of his staff as it dropped in a wood, brought himfelf into the utmost danger. But the people boldly told his father, that they would not fuffer his innocent fou, by whom the Lord had wrought fo great a deliverance, to be unnaturally murdered, 2 Sam. xiv.

After David had killed Goliath, Jonathan conceived the flrongest affection for him; he presented him with his robe, his bow, and girdle; he vindicated his character to his angryfather, and saithfully informed him of the danger he was in, even though he knew he was to be king in his stead after his father. During David's exile, Jonathan once and again resorted to him, and there was a covenant of mutual friendship betwirt them. He even encouraged him to hope for the Hebrew throne at his own expense. Some years after, to the great grief of David, Jonathan was flain with his father at Gilboa. David tenderly bewailed his death, and flewed the most affectionate kindness to Mephibosheth his fon, 1 Sam. xix. xx. 2 Sam. i. ix.

JOP [40] JOR

JOPPA or JAPHO, a beautiful feaport on the west of Canaan, about 34 miles north-west of Jerusalem, from which it was feen, as it stood on a hill amidst a delightful plain. It is thought by fome to have been built before the flood; but afterwards, it perhaps belonged to the Danites. In the days of Solomon, it was a noted fea-port, where the wood brought from Lebanon was unloaded. It was probably fo in the time of Jeroboam the Second, when Jonah failed from it to Tarshish. Before its harbour, the Maccabees burnt the Syro-Grecian fleet. Here Peter restored Dorcas to life, and received the messages of Cornelius. The Romans deftroyed it. We read of no bishops here till the 5th and 6th century. In the time of the Antichristian war of the Croifades, Lewis of France, and Godfrey of Boulogne, and others, repaired and adorned it; but in these unhappy times, what was one year a beautiful city, was oft in the next an heap of ruins. At present, and for ages past, it hath but a bad harbour, and is remarkable for nothing but ruinous remains of antiquity, Josh. xix. 46. 2 Chron. ii. 16. Acts. ix. x.

JORAM or JEHORAM, the fon of Jehoshaphat, and son-in-law of King Ahab. Infligated by Athaliah his wife, he was exceedingly wicked. His father made him his partner in the kingdom, about A. M. 3109, and about five years after, he began to reign by himfelf. He murdered his brethren, Azariah, Jehiel, Zechariah, Michael, and Shephatiah, whom their father had endowed with rich prefents, and made governors of fenced cities. In idolatry and other wickedness, he made Ahab his pattern. To punish his impiety, the Edomites revolted, and haraffed the kingdom of Judah. Though he defeated them, yet they continued their revolt. About the fame time, Libnah, a city of the priefts, shook off his government. Letters written by ELIJAH, reproached him with his wickedness, and denounced fearful judgements against him and his family. These threatenings were fulfilled; the Philittines and Arabians ravaged his kingdom, plundered his palace, carried captive all his wives and children, fave Ahaziah the youngest, who fuccecled him, and foon after, with almost all the family, came to a miferable end. Jehoram was feized with a terrible diffemper, of which, after two years, his bowels fell out, and he died. His fubjects refused him the ordinary honours of their deceafed fovereigns. They neither buint any spices for him, nor interred him in the royal fepulchres, 2 Kings i. 17. viii. 16.-25. 2 Chron. xxi.

JORAM OF JEHORAM, the fon of Ahab, fucceeded his elder brother Ahaziah, A. M. 3108. While Jehoram of Judah introduced the worship of Baal into his kingdom, this Jehoram of Ifrael removed the statues of Baal which his father had erected. Having Jehoshaphat of Judah and the Edomites for his allies, he marched to reduce Mesha the king of the revolted Moabites. In their march around the fouth of the Dead fea, they had almost perished for want of water. After a sharp reproof, and a bidding Jehoram go apply for relief to the prophets of his father and mother, Elisha procured a miraculous fupply of water, without either wind or rain. The Moabites mislaking this water, reddened with the beams of the rifing fun, for the blood of the allies, furioully hafted to the fpot, and were mostly cut off. When Benhadad sent Naaman to be healed of his leprofy, Jehoram rent his clothes, reckoning that it was done to pick a quarrel with him; but Elisha removed his fears. The Syrian invaders often laid fnarcs for his life, but Elisha discovered them, and the effect was prevented. When the Syrians belieged Samaria, till women did eat their own children, Jehoram intended to have murdered Elisha, because he did not deliver the JOR [41] JOS oity from its mifery; but that being prevented, Jehoram desperately concluded it was needlefs to expect or wait for deliverance from God. Jehoram fometimes took pleafure to hear Gehazi relate the miracles of Elisha his master, and readily reflored to the Shunamite her whole inheritance, because Elisha had refored her fon to life. After the Lad had miraculously terrified the Syrins, and made them run out of the Hebrew kingdom, Joram, it feems, took Ramoth-gilead out of their hands, at lead, he laid fiege to it; but being wounded, he went home to Jezreel, to be healed of his wounds; nor was he long there, when Jehn came and murdered him, and call his dead body into the field or vineyard of Niboth the Jezreelite, whose murder God had threatened to avenge on the family of Ahab, and which Jehu destroyed at the fame time he killed Joram his mafter, viz. A. M. 3120. 2 Kings ii. 17. iii. v. vi. viii. -x. 2 Chron. xxii.

JORDAN; a river of no fmall note in Canaan; but whether the name fignifies the spring of Dan, or the descending river, we shall not determine. The uppermost spring of Jordan is in mount Lebanon, about 12 miles north of Cefarea-Philippi. After it has run about 12 miles more to the fouth, it receives a more confiderable branch, which, under ground, proceeds from the lake Phiala. About 15 miles farther fouth, it forms the waters of Merom, or lake of Samechon, both names fignifying the higher lake, which is near 4 miles broad, and 7½ long. After running about 28 miles farther fouth, it forms the lake of Genefareth, which is about 13 miles in length, and 5 in breadth. From thence, it runs fouthward thro' a long valley, whose air is unwholesome, and most of it defert, till it lose itself in the Dead sea. Its whole course is about 160 miles. verflowed its banks in March or April, by means of the melting of the fnow on Lebanon and Hermon; but from the conjunct testimony of Maundrel and Thomson, it feems it does not so now to any degree. Perhaps the rea-Vol. II.

fon is, that its channel is now funk fo Before it enter the Dead fea, its ordinary current is but 30 yards in breadth, according to Shaw, and no more than 25, according to Thomson; but is exceeding deep, even at the edge of its inner bank. It has an outer bank, about a furlong of diftance from the other: fuch it feems was its width when it was fwelled. The banks of a great part of it are fo covered with thickets, that in many places one cannot fee it till at the very brink of it; and in thefe thickets lions were wont to lodge, but were driven thence by the overflowing of the river, at which feafon they wandered about, and were dangerous to fuch as dwelt near, Jer. xlix. 19. The deep stream of Jordan was divided under Joshua, and by Elijah and Elisha. At it John baptifed multitudes, and our Saviour among them, Josh. iii. 2 Kings ii. Mutth. iii.

JOSEPH, the fon of Jacob and Rachel, was born in Mesopotamia, A. M. 2259. Very early God favoured him with a prophetic dream, of the eleven sheaves of his brethren doing obeisance to his sheaf, and of the fun, moon, and eleven stars doing reverence to him. Thefe emblems imported, that all his father's family should be under his rule. On account of his piety, and for the fake of Rachel his mother, Jacob was extremely fond of him, and made him a party-coloured coat, fuch as young princes then wore. Joseph too informed him of some wickedness his brethren. fons of Bilhah and Zilpah, had been guilty of. On these accounts, his brethren heartily hated him. When he was feventeen years of age, his father, who generally retained him at home, fent him to fee where his brethren were feeding their flocks, and how they were in their circumstances. Going to Shechem, and thence to Dothan, he earefully fought them out. At first fight of him, they refolved to murder him, and tell their father that fome ravenous beaft had devoured him. The took him and stripped him. moving appearances and cuteries made no impression on the most; but ReuJOS [42] JOS den, who detefted the murder, begged they would throw him into a dry pit: from this he intended to convey himfecretly, that he might escape to his father. As he fetched a compass to effectuate this, some Ishmaelitish and Midianitish merchants passed that way, carrying fpices and gum from mount Gilead to the land of Egypt : on fight of them, Joseph's nine breaks a immediately resolved to fell him for a flave. His price was 20 pieces of filver, or about L. 2, 6 r. Sterling. His coat of divers colours they dipt in the blood of a kid, and carried to their father, as what they had found, and defired him to think whether it was Joseph's or not. He knew the coat, and was overwhelmed with grief for the lofs of his fon, whom he believed to have been devoured by fome wild beaft, Gen. XXX. XXXVII.

The Arabian merchants fold him to Potiphar, the captain of the royal guards of the Egyptian king. Jo-leph's good behaviour quickly gained him the efteem of his mafter; and he made him his fleward. Meanwhile his mittrefs conceived a criminal passion for him. He refitted her impadent folicitations for the gratification of her abominable luft. When the one day urged him with the greatest carma mete, he remonstrated, that it would be the higheft ingratitude to his kind mutter, who had given him to much power, and the most horrid wickedness against God. Unmoved, the caught hold of his garment, to force him to comp v. He fled off, leaving his coat in her hand. Enraged with this disappointment, the raised a terrible outcry, pretending to the lervants, and to her hubband when he came home, that Joseph had attempted to debauch her, and at her outcries had run off, leaving his garment in her hand. Potiphar believed his wife, and cast Joseph into prison. Here his virtuous behaviour gained him the favour of the keeper, if not alfo regained him the favour of Potiphar. The other prisoners were entrufted to his care. The king's butler and baker were prifmers at that time. Each of them dreamed a dream; the butler, that he faw a vine of three branches, and prefled the grapes, and a verthe wine into Pharaota's hand. This, Joseph told them, figuified, that in three drass he should be reflored to his chee. The baker dreamed, that he had circe baskets full of baken means on his head, of which the birds did cone and eat. This, Joseph told him, means, that in three days be should be beheaded. Both interpretations were verified by the event; but the butler, contrary to Joseph's request, neglected to exert himself, when restored to his office, to procure Joseph his liberty. Gen. xl.

Joseph had lain about three years in prifon, when Pharaoh dreamed a dream, of feven fat kine devoured by feven lean kine; and afterward, of feven good ears of corn confumed by feven cars empty and withered. While Pharaoh was uneafy that no body could explain his dreams, the butler remembered the story of Joseph's interpreting his and the baker's according to truth; and told Pharaoh of him. Pharaoh ordered him directly from prison. Joseph, after shaving himself, and charging his clothes, prefented himfelf before Pharaoh. Scarce had Pharaoh related his dream, when Joseph told him, that both the dreams fignified that there thould outckly be feven years of great plenty, fucceeded by as many of terrible famine. He also hinted, that it would be proper to appoint fome perfon of fkill and prudence, to collect into the royal granaries a fifth part of the crop, during the fiver plenteous years, that there might be a referve of food in the years of famine. This hint was readly profecuted; and Joseph Limfelf was made mafter of the flores, and feeded governor in all the land of Egypt. He was gorgeously arrayed. His name was called Zaphneath-paancab, which, in the old Egyptian tongue, fignified the faviour of the world; but in the Hebrew might be rendered, the revealer of secrets. He was married to Afenath, the daughter of Potipherah, priest or prince of On, and had by her two fons, Manasseh and Ephraim. During JOS [43] JOS ring the years of plenty, Joseph, with the utmost prudence and activity, bought, with Pharaoh's money, great quantities of corn, and laid it up in public granaries.

The neighbouring nations, who had laid up little or nothing, foon feit the preliure of familie, and came to buy corn in Egypt. Loob fent his ten fons among the red; but he retained Benjamin at home, Let forms milehief fhould happen to him. Joseph knew his brothren, but they knew him not. Waiting for the operation of Divine Providence, he had ftill concealed his cafe; and now, to awaken his brethrens conscience, he spake roughly to them, charged them of being Spice, come to fee how the country might be most easily conquered. After inquiring into their family-circumstances, he difmiffed them, on this condition, that Benjamin, their younger brother, thould come along with their next time; and to fecure this, kept Simcon, who perhaps had been most cruei to him, prifoner and hoftage for the bilinging of Benjamin. On this, their confeiences terribly thinged them for their cruelty to Joseph. To try their honesty, he caused each man's money to be fecretly returned in their facks. Next year, Jacob, with great relustance, feat Benumin along with the rell; and they brought the returned money, with more for their new loading. Finding his brother Benjumin with them, Joseph prepared them a feath. When they came to the theward, they told him of the return of their money in their facks. He told them, that God had given them creafure in their facks; for their money was paid in his reckoning. When they were called into jofeph's house, they were mightily afraid: they bowed to him with the greatest reverence. asked them of the welfare of their father, and if Benjamin was their younger brother; and Simeon was releated. They dined at a separate table from the Egyptians; and, to their turprife, Joseph placed them at the table according to their age, not in the confused . way of the Arabs, but in the polite manner now used by the Persians. To try his brother's temperance, and mark his peculiar love, he ordered a five-fold mels for Benjamin. His brethren were quite aftonished at these things. Next morning their facks were filled with corn: and Juseph's filver cup was, by his orders, privately put into Benjamin's. They had fcarce gone out of the city, when Joseph sent his steward after them, to upbraid them for their ungrateful stealing of his filver cup, wherein he used to drink. Their facks were fearthed, and the cup was found in Benjamin's. Shocked herewith, they returned to Joseph, and furrendered themselves to his mercy, to make flaves of them all. Joseph refused to accept of any of them for flaves but Benjamia, in whose fack the cup had been found. [udali, in the most prudent and affectionate manner, begged that he would accept of him for a flave inflead of Benjamin, as his father could not possibly live bereaved of his favourite fon, and himfelf could not withefs the anguith of his futher, if they returned without Benjamin. Overcome with affection, Joseph ordered the Egyptians to leave him; and then, with a plentiful flow of tears, he told his brethren that he was Joseph their brother, whom they had fold; and he kindly encouraged them not to fear, as God had fent him hither for their prefer ration. He ordered them to go harmoniously home, and bring their father, and all they had, down to Egypt, as the famine would continue other five years. He fent wag jons along with them, to bring his father's family and furniture. At the news of Joseph's being alive, and governor of Egypt, Jacob fainted; but when he faw the waggons, he revived, and went off on his journey. Joseph met his father on the north-cad frontier of Egypt, and great were their transports of mutual affection and gladuels. Joseph prefented his father to Pharaoh, and, at his direction, placed his fither and brothrea in the land of Coffien, whomes their return to Canaan might be eary.

The famine dill increased, and to-feph, by the fale of corn, drew all the

V 2 mon

JOS [44 1 TOS

money of Egypt into the king's exchequer. When money failed, he gave the Egyptians corn for their flocks and herds: thefe exhaufted, he fold them corn for their lands and perfons. Thus all the Egyptians became in a manner the property of their king; and they paid him yearly a fifth part of their crop, as the proprietor of their land. Only neither the priests nor their lands were thus purchased, as they had their maintenance from the flate. When Jacob died, about feventeen years after, Joseph and his fons were remarkably blaffed by him. The bleffing implied, that his posterity by Manasseh, and efpecially by Ephraim, should be figually numerous and honoured. When his father died, tofeph melted into tears; and, according to his oath, buried him, with great folemnity, in the cave of Machpelah. After his return from the interment, his brethren, as in their father's name, by meffengers, begged that he would forgive them what injury they had done him, in refolving to murder him, and in felling him for a flave. Joseph wept, and answered, that they had nothing but kindness to expect from him, as God had ordered their evil defigns for the prefervation of multitudes. After ofeph had lived 110 years, he fickened. He affured his brethren that God would bring up their posterity from Egypt; and he made them fwear they would carry his bones to Canaan along with them. After his death, A. M. 2369, his body was put into a cossin, but remained in Egypt 144 years, till the Hebrews carried it with them; and, in the time of Joshua, it was buried near Sheehem, in the very fpot which Jacob, by his bleffing, had affigned him. The Egyptians, to this day, afcribe almost every thing grand and wife to lofeph. Gen. xxxix. -l. Exod. xiii. 19. ofh. xxiv. 32.

Was not this patriarch a noted type of our adored Saviour? How certain a pledge was he, that God would add to the church, and add bleffings to men! What diffinguished darling of his heavenly Father! how precious and only beloved in the fight of his mother the church! how beautiful the robe of his humanity, adorned with every grace! how abundantly bleffed of his Father! and how delightfully God is in and with him! what an affectionate brother, that visits us in our wilderness state; is patient under the injuries we do him; deals roughly with us, to humble and prove us, and do us good in our laft end! how heart-melting his discoveries of himfelf! and how richly he makes us fhare the fatness of his house! what a dexterous, faithful, and fuccefsful fervant! what an illuminated prophet, who foretels his own future honours, and the future happiness or misery of men! how noted a refister of temptations from Satan and a whorish world! how numerous and heavy his fufferings! how hated, reviled, fold, falfely accused, condemned, crucified, and for three days imprisoned in the grave! how patient under his pressures! how attentive to the hand of God therein! how ready to forgive his injurers, and render them good for evil! To what amazing glory has he entered through fuffering! how bleffed his marriage with the gofpel-church! how numerous his spiritual feed! and they are the ten thousands of Gentiles, and thousands of udah.

2. Joseph the carpenter was probably dead before our Saviour began his public ministry, as we never hear of him at the marriage of Cana or elfewhere; and Christ, when dying, recommended his mother to the care of John, Matth. i. ii. &c. See Christ.

3. Joseph of Arimathea, a private difeiple of our Saviour's, and a Jewish fenator, who confented not to the deed of the fanhedrim, in condemning and crucifying Christ. He begged his body from Pilate, and he and Nicodemus, now more avowed followers of Jesus than before, honourably interred it in Joseph's new sepulchre, John xix. 38.—41. Matth. xxvii. 6. It does not appear that he attended the fanhedrim any more after our Lord's crucifixion.

4. Joseph, or Joses, the brother of James the Lefs, and fon of Cleophas, is, perhaps, the fame with Bartabas, Mark xv. 10. Matth. xiii. 55. xxvii. 36.

Joshua,

 $\int OS \qquad [45] \qquad \int OS$

JOSHUA, or Jesus, Acts vii. 45. Heb. iv. 8. a descendant of Ephraim, born A. M. 2460. His first name was Hoshea, But to mark that he would render What fafe and happy, he was called Jehoshua or Joshua. He was a noted fervant or agent for Mofes. At Mofes's direction he engaged and routed the Amalekites, and was divinely informed of God's perpetual indignation against that people. When M fes was on the mount, Johna tarried fomewhere on the fide of it, and came down with him. His refidence was near the tabernacle. Zealous for Mofes's honour, he was for prohibiting Eldad and Medad to prophefy. He was one of the spies that searched the promifed land, Exod. vii. viv. xx ii. xxxiii. 12. Numb. xi. 28. 29. xiii. xiv. A little before Mofes's death, Joshua was solemnly installed in the government of the Hibrew nation; and fuch honour was by Mofes put upon him, as tended to make them reverence and obey him, Numb. xxvii. 18.-23. Deut. iii. 21. xxxi. 14. - 23.

After Mofes's death, God directed and encouraged Joihua to take on him the government of the Hebrews, and promifed to give him his continued prefence and support. Jothua warned the Reubenites, Gadites, and eastern Manashites, who were settled by Moses, to prepare for crofling the Jordan, and conquering Canaan, along with their brethren. Spies were fent to view Jericho. Thefe, by means of RAHAB, were preferved and returned fafe, though no fmall fearch had been made for them: they reported, that the Canaanites were in the utmost consternation, for fear of the Hebrew invalion. At this time the Jordan overflowed its banks; but as foon as the feet of the priefts, who bare the ark of the Lord, going at the distance of 2000 cubits, or 3648 feet, before the hoft, touched the brim of the waters of Jordan, they parted: those above stood like a mountain, and those below run off into the Dead Sea, leaving an empty space of about fix miles for the Hebrew talbes to pass over. The priests, with the ark, continued in the middle of the channel till all were got over. To commemorate this event, Joshua erected 12 large stones in the very fpot where the ark had flood; and taking 12 other stones from the mid channel of the river, creeted them on the bank. Some days after, he ordered all that had been born for 38 years back to be circumcifed; fully affured of God's protecting them, when fore, from their foes. Next, the paffover was celebrated. On the morrow after, they began to cat the old corn of Canaan, and the manna fell no more about their tents. Soon after, the Son of God appeared to Joshua as a glorious man with a drawn fword, and told him he was come, as chief commander of the Hebrew troops in their approaching wars. He fell on his face, and reverently put off his shoes, Josh. i .- v.

Directed of God, Joshua made his troops encompals Jericho feven days, and feven times on the feventh, with the ark carried before them, and fome founding with rams horns. When they had finished the 13th circuit, they gave a great shout, and the walls of Jericho, all around, fell flat to the ground. None but Rahab and her family were faved. The metal found in it was devoted to the fervice of God, and every thing elfe to ruin; and a curfe was denounced against the rebuilder of the city. Achan, however, coveted, and took part of the spoil. Advised by fome, Joshua, to ease his troops, fent no more but 3000 to attack A1. To punish Achan's theft, they were repulfed, and 36 flain. This exceedingly grieved Joshua, as he thought it would make the Canaanites triamph over God and his people. After folema prayer, he was informed of the caufe, and the facrilege was punished in the death of Achan and his family. Next, the Lord ordered the whole Hebrew holt to attack A1, and to use stratagems belide. It being taken, Joshua and the Hebrews feem to have marched northward, to Ebal, and Gerizzin. On Ebal they erected stones, and plastered them with plaster, and wrote thereon plainly a copy of the Mofaic laws, or rather an abridgement, or perhaps no more than the bleffings and curses in Deut. xxvii. xxviii. An altar of rough stones was raised, and the burnt-offerings and peace-offerings being finished, the people feasted on the flesh of the last, with joy and gladness, that they were the people of God. The priefts then went down to the valley of Moreh between the two hills, and with a loud voice read the bleilings and curfes. Six of the tribes defcended from free - women, with their wives, and the ftrangers among them, flood on Gerizzim, and echoed Amen to the bleffings. Six of the tribes, four of which were descended of bond-women, and one of Reuben, who had loft his birth-right, with their wives, and the ftrangers, stood on mount Ebal, and echoed their Amen to the curies as they were read. Aft ; this folemn dedication of themdelves o God's fervice, the Hebrews returned to Gilgal, Josh. vi. - viii. Deut. xxvii. Next, Joshua and the princes entered into a league with the Gibeonites, and being convinced of his mistake, he devoted that people to the Slavish part of the service of God. Enraged that the Gibeonites had made peace with Johna, Adonizedek, and four of his neighbouring princes, entered into a league to destroy them. Informed hereof, Joshua marched to their affiftance, and ronted the five kings. In their flight hail-flones killed multitudes of them; and, at Jo-'shua's request, the fun and moon stood flill, for a whole day, to give him light to purfue the fugitive Canaanites, and fuch as affifted them. A little before fun-fet, Johna canfed bring thefe five kings out of the cave at Makkedah, where he had shut them up, and, after caufing his captains trample on their necks, he hanged them. Joshua proceeded to burn their cities, and flay the inhabitants, all over the fouth part of the promifed land .-- Perhaps it was some years after, that he routed Jabin of Hazor and his allies, and made himself master of the north parts of the country. After employing his troops fix years in the conquest of Canaan, he began to divide it to the Hebrew tribes. Calcb, and after him his brethren of Judah, and next the tribe of Ephraim, and the western Manasfites, had their theres affigued them. After this, the tabernacle was filled at Shiloh, and the tribes of Benjamin, Simeon, Zebulan, Iffachar, Ather, Naphtali, and Dan, received their portion, and three other cities of refuge were appointed, and the REUBENITES, Gadites, and eaftern Manaffites, were difmissed to their homes. After Jofhua had governed the Hebrews 17, or perhaps 25 years, he, finding his end approaching, affembled the Hebrews, rehearfed to them what God had done for them, and made them renew their folemn engagements to worthip and ferve him. He died, aged 110, and was buried at Tinnath-ferah, Joth. ix. - xxiv. Probably himself wrote the book that records his transactions. The Samaritans have another book of Joshua, different from ours, consisting of 47 chapters, earrying down the hiftory till about 100 years after our Saviour's death, and filled with fables, the most childish and trisling.

JOS [46] JOS

Was not Joshua a distinguished type of our Redecmer? He was trained up under Mofes's broken law; God to lemnly called and fitted him for his office; nor did he ever fail or forfake him. How pregrant his name with falvation! Through what Jordans of trouble he brings his church into their gospel-state, and her true members into their gracious state! how he circumcifes their hearts; feafls them on his flesh and blood; powerfully intereedes for them; miraculoufly conquers their foes, and enables them to tread on their necks; purchases and prepares for them the heavenly inheritance, and puts them into possession thereof; and by bringing them into covenant, causes them to serve the Lord, after his own example. How ready to receive returning finners of the contiles! nor till his victories be finithed, thall the luminavies of heaven, or of the Carel, whilehow their thining.

JOSHUA,

JOS F 47 7 JOS

Joshua, or Jeshua; the fon of Jozadak, or Jesedech, was high-priest of the Jews when they returned from Babylon. He affifted Zerubbabel in rebuilding the temple. Zechariah faw him reprefented as flanding before the Lord in filthy garments, and Satan flanding at his right hand to accuse and refilt him; but the Angel Ir novah rebuked the devil, and arrayed Joihua in pure raiment. Not long after, Zechariah was directed to make a golden erown for him. Did not he prefigure fefus, as the high-pricit, erector, and Saviour of his church, who, though once laden with our iniquities, and in the likeness of finful flesh, is now glorious in his apparel, and crowned with many crowns? Ezra iv. 3. Hag. i. 1. 2. Zech. iii. vi.

JOSIAH, the fon of Amon, and king of Judah, began his reign in the 8th year of his age, A. M. 3363. the 8th year of his reign he began to be noted for his picty and zeal. the 12th, he began to purge Jerufalem and Judah from idols, and burnt the deceased pricits bones on the altars of the false gods which they had served. As the Affyrians had no more power to protect their whole territories, or perhaps had given him the infraction of it, he extended his power over the country of the ten tribes, and destroyed the idols and monuments of their false worthip. The altar of Bethel he quite demolished, and burnt dead mens bones on it; but spared the bones of the prophet who had foretold its ruin. Having destroyed the monuments of idulatry, he repaired the temple of the Lord. As they were repairing the temple, Hilkiah the high-priest found a copy, perhap; the original one, of the law of Mofes, which had been put into the lide of the ark. Informed of this book, by Shaphan the feribe, Jofiah, who, it feems, had been formerly little acquainted with it, having heard a part of it read, was extremely affected that the divine laws had been to broken, and fuch fearful judgements incurred. After rending his clothes for grief, he fent Hilkiah, Ahikam,

Achbor, Shaphan, and Afaiah, to Huldah the proplictefs, wife of Shallum, the keeper of the wardrobe, to confult her what was to be done. She affured his meffengers, that what was threatened thould be fulfilled; but one account of Joliah's piety and grief for the wickedness that had prevailed, the firoke flould be delayed, and he flould be interred in his grave before the ruinous calamities were begun. Finding, by this book of the law, what a shameful neglect there had been of the three folemn feaths, he ordered his fubjects to celebrate the paffover with fuch folemnity and exactness, as had not been done fince the days of Samuel. Not long before, if not afterwards, he convened the elders of Judah, and, without using any force, caused his subjects renew their folemn covenant with God. —He gave orders to deflroy the footh. favers and Sodomites out of the land. and to pull down every remainder of fuperflit on and idolatry in Judah and Jerufalem. To defile the valley of Hinnom, where Molech, and perhaps other idols, had been worshipped, he filled it with dead mens bones, and brake down the flatues. Josiah went on in his reformation, and while he lived continued an eminent fearer of God; but it appears from the propliecies of feremiah and Zephaniah, that most of his subjects turned to the Lord but in a feigued manner. After he had four fons, Jehoiakim, Jehoahaz, Zedekiah, and Johanan, three of whom fucceeded him in the throne, and had lived 39 years, and reigned 31, Pharaoh-necho, king of Egypt, marched his forces that way. Joliah, either being in league with Nahopolaffar, king of Babylon, or with the Affyrians, levied an army to flop him. In the battle he was flain, to the exceffive lofs and grief of his fubjects. He died in peace with God, and his confeience, and in a war in which his nation was not concerned. Jeremials composed lamentations over his death, and his army at Hadad rimmon, in the valley of Megiddo, bewailed his death in the most rueful manner, I Kings JOT [48] JOY

Kings xiii. 2. 2 Kings xxii. xxiii. Chron. xxxiv. xxxv. Zech. xii. 11.

JOT, the fmallest part. There is an allusion to the letter Jod, which, in the Hebrew alphabet, is very small, Matth. v. 18.

JOTHAM; the youngest son of Gideon, who escaped, while his 70 brethren were flain by Abimelech their baftard-brother. By a parable of olives, figs, and vines, refuling to reign over the trees, while the bramble confented, which he uttered with a loud voice from the top of an adjacent mount, he hinted to the men of Shechem, that fince, while his father and worthy brethren refused to reign over Ifrael, they had made the worst and basest their king, they might expect that he and they should quickly turn out mutual plagues one to another. After he had finished this parable, he fled away to BEER, and concealed himself, and probably lived to fee his parable fulfilled, Judg. ix.

JOTHAM, or JOATHAM; the fon and fucceffor of Uzziah king of Judah. When his father became leprous, Iotham for fome years ruled as his vice-In the 25th year of his age, he commenced fole governor, A. M. 3246. On the main, he did that which pleafed the Lord, but permitted the people to continue facrificing in the high places. He built the great gate of the temple, fortified part of the wall of Jerufalem, built caftles in mountains and forests, reduced the revolting Ammonites, and laid them under tribute. But in the end of his reign, his kingdom was haraffed by the Syrians under Rezin, and the Ifraclites under Pekah. After he had reigned 16 years, he died, and was fucceeded by Ahaz; and so the twentieth year from the beginning of his reign, is the fourth of Ahaz, 2 Kings xv. 30. - 38. 2 Chron. vii.

JOURNEY; a travel from one place to another. A day's journey is reckoned about 16 or 20 miles. So far around the Hebrew camp were the quails scattered for them, Numb. xi. 31. Shaw thinks the eleven days journey from Sinai to Kadesh-barnea, is but about 110 miles, Deut. i. 2. A Sabbath-day's journey is reckoned by the Hebrews at 2000 cubits, or near 730 paces; and it is faid, that if any Jew travelled above this from the city on Sabbath, he was beaten; but it is probable, they were allowed to travel as far to the fynagogue as was necessary, Acts i. 12. 2 Kings iv. 23. The Hebrews feem to have had 52 journeys or marches from Ramefes to Gilgal, Numb. xxxiii. The modern orientals fet out on their journeys at the new moons, and from a place of common rendezvous.

IOY, or GLADNESS, is an agreeable affection arising from felt poffession, or from hope of enjoying fomething pleafaut or valuable; and the expression thereof in praise, міктн, &с. 1 Chron. xii. 4. Joy is either, (1.) Divine, which denotes, that infinite pleafure God takes in his people or work, and to do good to, and support the same, Ifa. l ii. 5. Zeph. iii. 17. Pfal. civ. (2.) Natural among creatures, confisting in natural cheerfulness, and arifing from fome outward pleafure or profit, Prov. xxiii. 24. (3.) Spiritual, excited by the Holy Choft, and arifing from union to, possession of, and hope to enjoy for ever, a God in Christ; and is attended with an agreeable earneftness in acting to his honour, Gal. v. 22. Thus the faints rejoice in Christ, or in God; they take pleafure in, and boast of their connection with him; they praise him for his kindness to them; and for what he is in himfelf, Luke i. 47. Their rejoicing of hope, is their delightful views, holy boafting, and cheerful praife, on account of their infallible perfeverance, and eternal happiness, Heb. iii. 6. A faint's rejoicing in himfelf, means his inward fatisfaction in the testimony of a good conscience, Gal. vi. 4. (4.) Shadowy and hypocritical, arifing from a fancied perfuation of relation to, and fellowship with God, and an ill-grounded hope of the everlasting enjoyment of him, Matth. xiii. 20. (5.) Sinful, when men rejoice in their fin, Prov. xv. 21.; and even

IRO IOY 40 7

even carnal joy or mirth becomes finful if it is excessive, or takes place when God calls to mourning and grief, If. xvii. 13.- Gladness is fown for the upright, and their hope is gladnefs; fpiritual pleafure and endless joy, are prepared for, and shall, as they expect, be enjoyed by them, Pfal. xcvii. 11. Prov. x. 28. The day of our spiritual marriage occasions gladness to Christ's heart: therein he enjoys the promifed reward of his fervice; he beholds the efficacy of his Father's love, and plucks loft finners as brands out of the burning, Song iii. It. The ground or object of one's rejoieing is called his joy: thus God is the joy, the exceeding joy of his people; he, as theirs, and as enjoyed by them, is the cause and ground of their eternal and superlative joy, Pfal. liii. 4. Christ's exaltation promised to him, to encourage him in his work, is the joy fet before him, Heb. ii. 2. Our heavenly bleffedness is called the joy of the Lord. It confifts in our delightful enjoyment of God in Christ, and it much resembles that pleasure he has in our redemption, Matth. xxv. 21. 23. But the joy of the Lord, that is the strength of faints, is the grounds of joy contained in the gospel-promises, and the inward gladness arising from a believing view thereof; both which increase their fpiritual vigour and might, Neh. viii. 10. Converts are the joy of ministers, who are inftrumental in bringing them to Christ, I Thess. ii. 20. The temple, and its worship, was the joy of the Jews, Ezek. xxiv. 25. Jerusalem and Zion was the joy of the whole earth: as God was there prefent and peculiarly worshipped, there was more ground of joy than elfewhere; or the words may fignify, that they were the joy of the whole land; as all the Jews took pleafure therein, and boafted thereof, Pfal. xlviii. 2. Lam. ii. 15. The church is created a rejoicing, and her people a joy; when she is so reformed, fettled, purged, and bleffed, as to abound with fpiritual gladness, and to rejoice the heart of every pious beholder, If. lav. 18. Falling into temptations, or Vol. II.

troubles, is to be accounted all joy; as troubles work exceedingly for our real good, Jam. i. 2. The joy of God's falvation, is the heart-exhilarating bleffings therein contained, and the spiritual gladness that iffues therefrom, Pfal. li. Spiritual gladuefs is called joy in the Holy Ghost, as it proceeds from his dwelling and working in our heart, Rom. xiv. 17. A defert place is called, a joy of wild affes; these animals, who abhor the noife and multitude in cities, with pleafure haunt and feed there, If. xxiii. 14. The Medes rejoiced in God's highness: they cheerfully executed his awful judgements on the Chaldeans, If. xiii. 3. Mirth is chiefly the outward expression of joy. That at the return of the prodigal, is the amazing pleafure on od's fide, and the joy and praife on the fide of men and angels occationed thereby, which begins, but shall never end, Luke xv.

Joyous; (1.) Pleafant and delightful, Heb. xii. 11. (2.) Full of mirth and revelling, If. xxii. 2.

IRON; a well-known ftrong and ufeful metal, and which, by an artful management, is rendered fteel. Warlike instruments were made of iron, Perhaps no iron was used in the tabernacle, to hint, that great is the peace with God, our conscience, and the faints, enjoyed in Christ and his church. The stones of Canaan were iron; were hard, and contained iron-ore, Deut. viii. 9. The heavens are iron, and the earth brafs, when the air yields no rain, and the hardened earth no crop. Lev. xxvi. 19. Iron applied to yoke, furnace, feeptre, denotes what is galling and fevere, Jer. xxviii. 13. xi. 4. Deut. iv. 20. Pfal. ii. 9. Rev. ii. 27. xii. 5. 1 Kings viii. 61. &c.; when applied to hoofs, or teeth, it denotes great power to defeat, and ability to destroy, Mic. iv. 13. Dan. vii. 7. Can iron break the northern iron and the steel; in vain the obstinate Jews thought to outbrave the prophet Jeremiah, whom God made like an iron pillar: in vain they attempted to relift the Chaldean army, jer. xv. 12.

ISA [50] ISA

ISAAC; the fon of Abraham by Sarah, fo called, to mark the laughter and gladuess occasioned by his birth. His mother, though go years old, fuckled him herfelf. He was but young when he received fome bad ufuge from Is MAEL. When Isaac was about 25, or perhaps 33 years of age, his father was ordered to offer him for a burnt offering. Ifaac himfelf en lied the wood for burning his body. When the knife was just to be plunged into his throat, the execution was divinely flepped, and a ram provided in his stend. When he was about 40, his father, by means of Eliezer, provided him with Rebekah the Syrian to wife. Ifaac met her in the field, as the came, and lodged her in his mother's tent, who was now dead. Rebekalı continuedlong barren, and Ifanc, by prayer, procured her pregnancy. In the 20th venr of their marriage, Rebekah fell with twins. They itruggled in her wordb. Upon her enquiry, the Lord informed her, that the two children in her womb should be very different in their tempers, and the nations to fpring from them very different in their fate, and that the elder flould ferve the younger. Her two children were E-SAU and IACOB; of whom the fact was the darling of his father, and the last of his mother, Gen. Kail KKill. KKill. axiv. axvi.

After Isaac had fallen heir to Abrahom, a famine happened in Canaan. He retired to Gerar, where Abims-LECH was king, in his way towards Egypt; but God prohibited him from going down to it, and established his e mant with him and his feed. Fearing that the Philistines of Gerar might kel him, for the fake of his beautiful wife, Haac and Rebekah agreed to protend that the was his fifter. Dut Abimelech, from his window, obterving Itaac use such familiarity with Rebekah, as was not proper between brother and fifter, called him, and chid him for pretending that the was his fifter, and thus laying a fnare to involve his kingdom in guilt. All the Subjects were charged to beware of injuring Ifaac or Rebekah. Haac had. fine crops, and his flocks multiplied exceedingly. He opened the wells which his father had digged, and which the Philistines had stopped. Finding Abimelech wearied of him, Ifaac retired eaftward to the valley of Gerar. Here his fervants digged wells. For two of them the Philiftines strove, and pretended that the water was theirs. Isaac called the one Esek, i.e. contention, and the other Sitnah, i. e. batred. For a third they strove not, and he called it Rehoboth, as a memorial that the Lord had made room for him. Weary of strife, he retired eastward to Beersheba, where God again renewed his promife and covenant with him; and Abimelec's, dreading the increase of his wealth, came to make an alliance with him. When he was about the tooth year of his age, he and Rebekah were mightily grieved with the conduct of Efau, in his marriage of two Canaanitish women, Gen. XXVI.

When he was about 137 years of age, his fight failed him exceedingly. Supposing his death to be at hand, he defired his darling Efau to bring him fome favoury veniton, that he might eat and give him his tenderest bleffing before his deceafe. Rebekah overhearing, caused Jacob go to the fold, and bring her home fome flesh, of which the made favoury meat for Ifaac. This the caufed Jacob, whom the had dreffed as like Efau as the could, carry to his father, and pretend that he was Efau. He complied with her finful directions how to obtain the promifed blefling. His father suspected and felt him; but he constantly afferted that he was Liau. Isaac there. on bleffed Jacob with a fruitful land, and dominion over all his brethren. Jacob had fcarce gone off, when Efau came with his venison, and demanded his father's bleffing. Finding that Jacob had imposed on him, Isaac trembled to think how the providence of God was to work: strongly he inclined to recal the bleffing of Jacob, but he could not, At Efau's bitter intreaties, treaties, he bleffed him in an inferior degree. Fit ding that Jacob's life was in danger from Efret, whom he had tricked out of his bithright and bleffing, Hare and R bekah agreed to fend him to Meffey what, and charged him to lewant of chooting a Camanite's. About 12 years flort, and to years before Jie bewest down into Egypt, Ifare did, and was honourably interred, by Josh and Efau, in the cave of Michy ith. Here to the bekah was builed, Gen. xxvin. xxviii.

ISA [51] ISA

XXXV. 27. - 20. Was this puriarch a diffinguished type of our Saciour? How ofen promided; how carnelly defired; how long expected; and how superentural his birth! What lov it gave to angels and men! and in his name is the whole joy and con later of Ifrael wrapt up. He is the only begotten fon of Jano-VAH, and the durlier of his heart: but at the espence of their own rejection from the church of God, how hated, monked, perfecuted, and murdered by his Jewith brechren! In his dectrine and work, how he redigged the wells of his Father's love! and now oppoled by Jews and Gentiles therein! with what cheerfulness he allianed and bare our guilt; bare his cross; and laid down his life a factaice in us! how willingly he went with his Father into inconceivable feenes of wo! O the remerous feed, and the unbounded Heffings for them, that are the re hard of his work! and how firmly the new covenant is ratified, in his death ! Hisving rifen from the dead, and busing a church, a sponse, chirily of Gostiles, allotted to him by his Pacher, but quickly his blood and his prayers produced a multitude of spiritual bod! For a while, what a fire gift force in the I with and Gestile church! At halt the Jews, like Eth i, jack I their Lirthvight, and forfeiting the block of were call out; while the Chailes. his younger fred, became the region for voured, but much afflicted profile of

ISAIAH, or Esaias, the prophet, the fon of Amoz; and it is idd, one

without any probable ground, that he was the confin of King Uzziah, in the latter end of whose reign he began his predictions. Perhaps the first five chapters were uttered before the death of that king. Is the year of Uzziah's death, he had a glorious vilion of our Redeemer, attended and praifed by feraphic angels and ministers. All felt-debased, he bewaited his own loathfomenefs; but a feraph touching his mouth with a burning coal from the altar, intimated, that his pollution was purged away. Readily he offered himfelt to the prophetic work, and was informed, that his preaching thould occasion the hardening and rula of his hearers, till the Allyrians should have rendered the land almost wholly desolate. When Ahaz and his people were put into the utmost consternation by the ravages of Pekah and Rezin, Ifaiah told Aliaz, that he had no reason to be afraid of thefe kings, as the ruin of them and their kingdoms was at hand. When Ahaz refused to ask a sign of the preferration of his kingdom, God gave him the ngn of the Melliah's proeseding from the Jewish royal family. as an infallible fecurity thereof. P lating to Shearjathub, his child in hi arms, he told Ahaz, that before the child fhould come to the years of ducretion, both Scrit and the ten tribes thould be deliture of a king. He however told him, that the Affydams would lay the land of Judah almon ? folate, when they ruined the kingdom of Idad. If ship had are according when the Lord ordered this to call Mahe the Islahathabaz; i.e. in believe to the first ranke hagle to the prey: he are famol the Ices, before withches, that to fore that et fill the dd he able to en . My parker or in her, the hingeloms is Sychien I See that board be rained by the Myrans; and bot long often. Judah ha broager to the brink of rain, Cap. i. - di. When He skink was fore daire had of his holling discoper, and by the Afficient ration, tfilm project for, differ to a step on tosted idia : but aftere and prophosed that, for his vanity, his field should is $G : \mathbb{R}$ eunuchs in the palace of Babylon. While Sargon's army befieged Ashdod, Isaiah, by going bare foot, and with few clothes, for three years, prefigured the distressed condition of the Egyptians and Ethiopiaus, for three years, under the Asiyrian yoke, Is. xxxvi. - xxxix. xx. Notwithstanding Isaiah's excellent qualifications for his work, and his faithful discharge thereof, his fuccess was small, Is. xlix. 1. - 5. Aster he had prophesied 45, or rather 60 years, he was killed, perhaps sawn as funder, or died a natural death, about the beginning of Manasseh's reign.

Ifaiah's feparate history of King Uzziah's reign was uninfpired, and is now loft, 2 Chron. xxvi. 22. His in-fpired prophecy remains. The first part of it confifts chiefly of declarations of fins and threatenings of judgements: the last 27 chapters, together with chap. iv. xi. xii. xxv. xxxii. and xxxv. confilt chiefly of promifes. In chap. i. ii. iii. and v. the general fcope is, to represent the ingratitude, unfruitfulness in good works, idolatry, profanenefs, pride of women, oppression, drunkennels, perverting of judgement, &c. an eng the H brows; and to predier their terrible miseries by the Affrians, Chaldeans, or Romans. This, too, is the scope of chap, vii. 17. 25. and viii. is. xxii. xxiv. xxvii. 7. II. and xxviii. xxix. xxx. I. I7. xxxi. 1. 3. lix. lxv. and lxvi. chap. vii. 5. 9. viii. 4. ix. 8. 21. and xvii. he predicts the ruin of Syria, and of the kingdom of the ten tribes; and the calamities of the Philiftines, chap. xiv. 29. 30. 31.; of Moab, chap. xv. xvi. and xxv. 10.; of the Egyptians and Ethiopians, chap. xviii. xix. xx.; of the Arabians, chap. xxi. 13. -17.; of the Edomites, chap. xxi. 11. 12. and xxxiv.; of Tyre, chap. xxiii.; of the Affyrians before Jerufalem, chap. x. xiv. 24. - 27. xvii. 12. 13. xxvii. 1. xxx. 27. - 33. xxxii. 4. - 9. xxxiii. and xxxvii.; and of the Chaldeans, chap. xiii. xiv. xxi. 1.—10. xliii. 14. xlv. 1.-4 xlvi. 1. 2. 11. and xlvii. Amidst these denur ciations of wrath, we have many pleafant promifes of the redemption and glorious kingdom of the Messiah, as chap. i. 18. 25. 27. ii. 1.—5. iv. 2.—6. vii. 14. viii. 14. ix. 6. 7. xi. xii. xxv. xxvi. xxviii, 16. and xxxv. &c. From chap. xl. to the end, the deliverance of the Jews from Babylon, and the vanity of idols, are often occasionally hinted; but the chief fcope is to forctel the incarnation, fufferings, and glory of the Mcffiah; the erection of the gofpelchurch among the Gentiles; the rejection of the Jews, and their future restoration. The style of this prophet is fublime in the highest degree, and his views are extremely evangelic.

ISHBOSHETH, or ESHBAAL, the fon and fucceffor of King Saul. In the 40th year of his life, Abner made him king in the room of his father, over all the Hebrew tribes, except that of Judah, which clave to David. He reigned two years pretty peaceably; but Abner's forwardness drew on a war between the party of Ishbosheth and the fubjects of David. It never feems to have gone beyond fmall skirmishes. Abner, taking offence at Ishbosheth's accuting him of an intrigue with Rizpah, the concubine of Saul, deferted him, and began to fet on foot the interest of David; but he was murdered by Joab. Leforned hereof, Hilbotheth loft all courage; and, as he took his noontide fleep, Baanah and Rechab, his captains, and perhaps kinfn en, murdered him, brought his head to David, and were rewarded with the ignominions lofs of their life. Ishbosheth's head was decently interred in the fepulchre of Abner. Thus fell the royal dignity of the house of Saul, A. M. 3956.

ISIII. Thou shalt no more call me Badi, but thou shalt call me Ishi; thou shalt look on me not as a rigid lord, but as a kind and affectionate hydrand; and shalt worship me in a tranner quite free from the idolatry of Bad, Hos. ii. 16.

ISEMAEL; 1. The fon of Abraham by Hagar. When about 18 years of age, he fported too roughly with Ifnae, a child of four or five. On this account account he and his mother were expelled the family. After being almost cut off with thirst in his way to Egypt, and miraculoufly refreshed, he and his mother took up their residence in the wilderness of Paran, and lived by his flooting of venifon. He married an Egyptian, at his mether's direction. According to the divine predictions to his father and mother, he had 12 fons, Nebaioth, Kedar, Adheel, Milfam, Mishma, Dumah, Masia, Hadar, Tema, Jetur, Naphish, and Kedemah; parents and princes of twelve Arabian tribes. He had also a daughter, called Mahalath, or Bashemath, who was the wife of Efau her coufin. His pofterity took up their refidence between Havilah and Shur, in Arabia the Stony, and in part of Arabia Deferta, and were called Ishmaelites, Hagarenes, and in the later times Saracens. Arabia. After Ishmael had lived 130 years, he died amidft his friends, the offspring of Keturah, &c. Gen. xvi. xxi. xxv.

2. ISHMAEL, the fon of Nethanish, being one of the royal family of Judah, was fent by Bazlis, king of the Ammonites, to murder Gedaliali, the deputy of Nebuchadnezzar over the Jews who were left in Canaan. After he had ungratefully naurdered that good man, fo averfe to suspect his wicked defigns, and a number of Jews and Chaldeans along with him, he murdered other 70 whom he met with, all except ten, who begged him to fpare them, that they might discover to him their hid treasures. The rest of the Jews prefent, women and children, he carried captive, and marched towards his country of Ammon, where he had dwelt for fome time. But Johanan the fon of Kareah, and the other warriors, returning to Mizpeli, and finding what he had done, purfued him; recovered his captives and spoil: but himfelf, and eight of his band, efcaped fafe to the Ammonites, Jer. xl. xli. · · · · ·

ISRAEL. See JACOR. HLBREWS. ISLE, ISLAND; properly a (pot of earth furrounded with fee. The most noted ifles on the north of Europe, are Britain, Ireland, and Iceland, and about three or four hundred fmaller ones. The most noted in the Mediterranean, are Cyprus, Crete, Rhodes. Eubœa, Sicily, Malta, Sardinia, Corfica, Minorca, Majorca, and a multitude of leffer ones. Between Europe and America are the Azores and Newfoundland; and on the west of Africa are the Canaries; and almost straight west from these, as in the eastern bofom of America, are the Carribees and Antilles islands, the largest of which are Cuba, Hifpaniola, Jamaica, and Martinico. On the cast of Africa is the ifle of Madagafear. On the fouth, and fouth-east of the East Indies, are Ceylon, Sumatra, Java, Borneo, Celebes, Gilolo, Mindano, and Manilla, with about 12,000 others. On the fouth-call of Tartary, are Japan and Jeffo. The Hebrews called any place separated by sea from their country, or even a place on the fea-coaft, an isand. So Lesser Asia and Europe, peopled by the defeend ints of Japheth, are called the ifles of the Gentiles; and to these a number of promises of the forend of the gospel relate, Gen. x. 5. If. xlii. 4. 10. xlix. 1. The isles on which Ahafuerus laid bis tribute, were the maritime countries of Leffer Afia, and the iffes in the eaftern part of the Mediterranean fea, Esth. x. 1. Canaan is called an i/h, If. xx. 6.

ISSACHAR, the fifth fon of Jacob by Leah. The name Iffachar.fignifying HIRE, was given him, because the occasion of his birth was purchased by fome mandrakes, which Leah gave to Rackel. He had four fons, Tola, Phavah or Phun, Job or Jashub, and Shimron. When this tribe came out of Egypt, they amounted to 54,400, under the government of Nathancel the fon of Zuar. Their fpy to view the promifed land was Igal the fon of Joseph; and their agent to divide it, was Talciel the fon of Azzan: they were flationed before the tobernacle, in the camp of Judah, and increased in the wilderacks to 64,300, Gen. xxx. 14. -- 18. Mi. 13. Numb. i. 8. 29. 1. 14. ISS [54] ITU

5. xiii. 7. xxvi. 23.-25. xxxiv. 26. They had their lot in one of the fattest places of Canaan, between the Zebu-Iunites on the north, and the western Manaffites on the fouth. They were extremely laborious and wealthy, ready, like the obedient afs, to hear the heavieft burden of labour or tribute. Nor did they forget to invite one another to the worship of God, Gen. vlix. 14. 15. Deut. xxxiii. 18. 19. Tolah the judge, and Baasha the king of Israel, were the most noted of this tribe. Their princes were very active in the overthrow of Jabin's army by Barak, Judg. v. 15. Two hundred of the principal men, who had the rest at their direction, attended at David's coronation, and brought much provifion with them. Under his reign, Omri, the fon of Michael. was their deputy-governor, and their number able to draw fword was 142,600, 1 Chron. xii. 30. 40. xxvii. 18. vii. 1. -6. Sundry of this tribe attended at Hezekiah's folemn passover, 2 Chron. XXX. 18.

ISSUE; (1.) Children; posterity, Gen. xlviii. 6. (2.) A tunning of blood, feed, &c. Lev. xii. 7. xv. 2. Ezck. xxiii. 20. An if he of this kind was very polluting; but a mother's did not pollute her fucking child. Did it not reprefent foundalous fins, that are very infecting? The iffues from death, that is, all the means of escape from fin or mifery, and all the persons redeemed, belong to the Lord, Pfal. Ixviii. 20. Out of the heart are the iffues of life; the holy thoughts and good works of men, demonstrate life to be in their heart, and prepare them for eternal life, Prov. iv. 23. To iffue, is to fpring forth; flow along, Ezek. xlvii. 8. 2 Kings xx. 10.; er to march forth in halte, Josh. viii. 22.

ITALY; a noted country in the fouth of Europe, firetched out to the fouth-east, between the gulf of Venice on the east, and the Tuscan sea on the fouth-west: it has part of France, Switzerland, and part of Germany, on the north; and is shaped like a boot. It was anciently inhabited by the Um-bri, who are perhaps the fame with the Gomerians. The Etrufcans came afterwards, whom we suppose of a Canaanitish original; and the Greeks alfo feized on a part of it. It was poffeffed by a great many different tribes, Etruscans, Samnites, Campanians, & ... but the Romans fwallowed up all. At prefent, it is divided into a variety of states. Piedmont, Montferrat, Milan, and Venice, lie in the north part, or head of the boot. Southward of thefe are Genoa, Parma, and Mantua. Still farther fouth, and in what may be called the mid-leg, are Lucco, Modena, Romania, Tufcany, Florence, and the Pope's territory. The ancle and foot contain the kingdom of Naples; and the Tarantese is the heel. The Italians are great pretenders to polite learning; but are generally devoted flaves of the Pope, or what is no better, a feandal to the Christian name, with their implety and profanenels, Acts xxvii. 1. Hence Paul wrote his letter to the Hebrews, ch. xiii. 24.

ITCH; a dilease of the skin, in which sharp and faltish humours ouze forth, and gather into fmall boils, which occasion itching. Probably it is produced by certain animalcules neftling in, and preving on the skin, and there breeding their young. Hence, one by touching the infected, catches the contagion, as these vermin fasten on his flesh. In curing the itch, not only must all the animalcules, but their eggs, be destroyed, by falts, fulphur, mcrcury, &c. 'The itch is two-fold; the moift, which is more eafy of cure, and the dry, which can fearce be healed, Deut. xxviii. 27.

ITHAMAR, the fourth fon of Aaron. Never but in Eli's family, was the high-priefthood vefted in his family; but his defeendants conflituted eight of the orders of the priefts,

I Chron. xxiv. I.—3.

ITUREA; a county on the foutheast of Syria, and eastward of Bashan. Probably it was denominated from Jetur the fon of Ishmael, and peopled by his posterity. Aristobulus, king of the Jews, compelled them to receive circumcifion in the Jewish manner. Philip, a fon of Herod the Great, was tetrarch here in our Saviour's time, Luke iii. 1.

circum-

JUD

JUBILEE. See FFAST.

JUDAH, the fourth fon of Jacob by Leah: his name imports, that his mother praised the Lord for giving her children. When about 14 years of age, he contracted a great familiarity with Hira, a Canaanite of Adullam; in confequence whereof he married one Shuah a Canaavitefe, by whom he had" three fons; Er, Onan, and Shelah. judah marrie i Er, when very young, W Tamar a Canaanitefs: for some hortil wickedneft, the Lord cut him off by an untimely death. According to the then cultom of the east, Judah made Onan her huband, that he might raife up feed to his brother. Onan knowing that the feed should not be reckoned his, did, in an abominable manner, prevent his wife's pregnancy. For this the Lord cut him off by death. Infreed of giving Tamar Shelah his third fon to be her hulband. Judah amufed her with empty promifes. This difguited her at him. Hearing that he was to pass that way to fnear his fleep, fhe dreffed herfelf as an harlot, and fat by the way-fide till he came by. Caught with the fnare, Judah, now a widower, went in to her; for allowance of which he agreed to give her a kid; and gare his staff and bracelets as a pledge of it. Immediately after, he fent the kid by his friend Ilira; but the could not be found, and the men of the place told him, that there was no harlot among them. Not long after, Judah heald that Tamar was with child, and was for burning her quick: but her exhibition of his bracelets and ftaff made him quite ashamed; and he acknowledged his fault in tempting her to what the had done, in not giving her Shelah for her hulband. She quickly bare to him Pharez and Zerah, Gen. xxxviii. Judah moved the felling of Jofeph to the Arabian merchants, rather than to kill him, Gen. xxxvii. 26, 27. He folemnly engaged to return Benjamin fafe to his father, if he permitted him to go with them to Egypt, By a most affecting oration he pled the cause of Benjamin, when charged with stealing of Joseph's cup; and by offering himfelf a flave for him, he melted the heart of Joseph, Gen. xliv-In his hill benediction, Jacob conflituted Judah the superior of his brethren 3. and predicted him the father of the Melliah; and allotted him a land abounding with vin s. The event anfwered the prediction. Judah's tribe, by his three fon., Shelah, Pharez, and Zerah, prodigionfly increased. At. their coming out of Egypt, their fighting men amounted to 74,600, under Nalishon, the fon of Amminadab. In the wilderness they increased to 76,500. Their fpy to view, and agent to divide the promifed land, was Calco the fon of Jephunch. They, with the tribes of Islachar and Zebulun, marched in the first division through the wildernefs, Numb. i. 10. xiii. xxvi. xxxiv. They had the first, the fouthmost, and by far the largest portion, on the west of Jordan. Soon after their fettlement, they, infligated by Caleb, were the most active to expel the Canaanites from their territory. They marched first of the Hebrew triber against the wicked Gibeathites, Joh. xv. Judg. i. 1 .- 10. xx. 13. Othmiel, the first judge and deliverer of Ifrael, was of this tribe, Judg. iii. In Saul's war with Nahash, the men of Judah in his aren were but 30,000, and of the 6ther tribes, 300,000. In his war with Amold, no more than 10,000 of this tribe affifted him, though the other tribes farnished him 200,000. Whether the Phillitines and exceeds dy reduced the tribe of Judah, or what elfe was the cause of this great disproportion on these occidions, we know not. After Saul's death, the Hebrew kings began to be of the tribe of Judah and family of David. Nor-cid the government ever depart from them till the Meffish appeared, I Sam. xi 8. xv. 4. Gen. xliv. 10. See 17 . Brows. Indah's posterity are often called by his name. Beth! hera is called the city of Judah, or Bethleham-Judah

JUD [56] JUD

Judah; it was the native place of David their king, 2 Chron. xxv. 28. But there was another city called Judah, on the fouth-east corner of the portion of Naphtoli; but whether on the east or west side of Jordan, we cannot positively determine, Josh. xiv. 34.

JUDEA, or JEWRY. The country of Judah was never to called till after the captivity; fomctimes the whole land of Canaan feems to have been called Judea, Matth. xxiv. 16. Gal. i. 21.; but more properly it was divided into Perra beyond Jordan; Galilee, Samuia, and Judea, on the well of Jordan. Judea, thus taken, contained the original portions of the tribes of Judah, Benjamin, Dan, and Simcon. It confilted of three parts; the plain country on the wal; the hill-country fouthward of Jerufalem; and the fouth on the north borders of the land of Edom, Matth. iii. 1. Acts ii. q. Zech. Vii. 7.

JUDAS ISCARIOT. Why he was called Hamiot, whether because he was Ilb-karioth, an inhabitant of Kerioth; or because he was I/h-frarisia, the man who had the bag; or Ife corat, the man that cuts off; or I/b flakrat, the man of the reward or bribe, I know not. Our Soviour chofe him to be one of his disciples, and gave him the charge of what money or provision he carried about with him. There is no evidence that his religious appearances, or his preaching, or miracles, were inserior to those of his brethren: but coverousness still reigned in his heart. Highly provoked that Mary had fpent to much oil in anointing our Saviour's head, and that he justified her conduct, he refelved, in revenge, to betray him. He agreed with the chief-, riefls and elders to deliver him into their hands for L. 3:8:5. returned, and cat the palfover with his Mader and fellow-difeiples. At the inport of bitter herbs, Jeins, to gratity ; day, and manifest his own divine omnifeience, pointed him out as the traitor. I'lled with rage, he went directly to the chief priefle, and brought a band of men to apprehend his Mafter. He led them to the garden, where Jefus was wont to retire for his devotion. He, by a kifs of our Saviour, gave them the figual whom they should apprehend. No fooner had he feen his Mafter condemned by the Jewish council, than his conscience upbraided him; he brought back the 30 pieces of filver, and confessed he had betrayed his innocent Mafter. the Jewish rulers told him, that that was none of their bufinefs, he might blame himfelf; he cast down the money, and, as they thought the price of blood was not fit for the treafury, they, as agents for Judas, gave it for the Potter's field to bury strangers in. Meanwhile Judas hanged himfelf; but the rope breaking, or the tree giving way, he fell, and his body burft afunder, and his bowels gushed out. Some think the word we render hanged, imports, that he was choaked with grief, and that in the extremity of his agony, he fell on his face, and burst afunder, Matth. xxvi. xxvii. Acts i. 16.—20.

JUDAS, or Jude; the fame as Thoddens Lebbeus, the fon of Cleophas, and brother of James the Lefs, and the coulin and apostle of our Lord, Matth. x. 3. At his last supper he asked Jefus, how he would manifest himself to his people and not to the world? John xiv. 22. It is faid he was married, had two grand-children martyrs for the Chriftian faith, and that, having preached at Edeffa, and in Mefopotamia, Judea, Samaria, Idumea, and chiefly in Perfia and Arme ia, he died in Lybia: but it is more certain that, to confute the Gnofficks and other heretics, he wrote an epistle to the scattered Jews. His allutions to the fecond epittle of Peter, and to the feedad of Paul to Timothy, renders it probable that it was written after A. D. 66. From the character of mints, and the various judgements of God on tinning angels and men, paft or future, and from the odious character of feducers; he urges on them a constant zeal for truth, and a continued practice of holinefs. His quoting a frying of Enoch, not the book that goes by his name, and a passage concerning

IUD IUD 57

fome rashly question the authenticity of his epiftle.

To JUDGE; (1.) To try and determine a caufe, Exod. xviii. 13. The manner of giving fentence was different in different nations. The Jewish judges gave fentence by fimply declaring to the pannel, Thou art guilty, or Thou art innocent. The Romans did it by casting various tables into a box or urn, marked with an A, if they abfolved, and with a C, if they condemned the pannel. Some of the Greeks intimated the fentence of absolution, by giving a white stone, and of condemnation, by giving a black one; to this the allusion is made, Rev. ii. 17. (2.) To understand a matter: fo the fpiritual man judgeth all things, and is judged of no man; he has a folid knowledge of all things important; but no natural man can understand his views and experiences, I Cor. ii. 15. (3.) To esteem; account, as if on trial, Acts xvi. 15. (4.) To rule and govern, as one having power to try and determine causes, Pfal. lxvii. 4. (5.) To punish, as in consequence of trial and fentence; and to declare and denounce fuch punishment, Heb. xiii. 4. Ezek. vii. 3. 8. xxii. 2. (6.) To cenfure rashly, Matth. vii. 1. (7.) To appear upon one's fide, as in confequence of trial of his cause, Prov. xviii. 18. Christ does not judge according to the feeing of the eye, or hearing of the ear; does not esteem persons or things, or give fentence, merely according to outward appearance, If. xi. 3. Saints judge the world, judge angels; they now condemn the wickedness of the world, by their holy profession and practice. At the last day they shall affent to the fentences of damnation pronounced against wicked angels and men, I Cor. vi. 2. The faints are judged according to men in the flesh, and live according to God in the spirit; when they are outwardly corrected for their fin, or perfecuted by wicked men, and yet inwardly live a life of fellowship with God, I Pet. iv. 6. Men become judges of evil thoughts, when, in a partial man-Vol. II.

cerning the body of Moses, made ner, they prefer one person to another, Jam. ii 4.

A Judge is one that tries the cause of others, and passes sentence upon them, Pfal. ii. 10. God is the Judge of all the earth; he rules over, tries the cafe, and gives fentence on all its inhabitants, Heb. xii. 23. Gen. xviii. 25. Christ is called the Judge; he is appointed of God to try the state and actions of all men, and to pass the sentence of everlasting happiness or misery upon them, 2 Tim. iv. 1.8. Authority, wifdom, courage, activity, and impartial equity, are necessary to qualify one to be a judge. The Jews had ordinary judges, both for civil and religious causes. In reforming the nation, Jehoshaphat established two classes or courts of judges; one cognofced matters pertaining to the Lord, the other cognofced what belonged to the state, 2 Chron. xix. Thefe judges or ELDERS, it is faid, were formed into three courts, (1.) The court of three judges, which decided small affairs of loss, gain, restitution, intercalation of months, &c. and had only power to punish with whipping. Perhaps this was no more than a court of arbitration, each party chose a judge, and the two chosen judges chose a third. The second court confifted of 23 judges. This determined matters of great moment, relative to mens lives. And the third court or fanhedrim confifted of 70 or 72 judges. This determined in the highest affairs relative to church and state. The highprieft was a kind of supreme judge. No judge was allowed to receive prefents, nor to regard men for either poverty or greatness, or to follow a multitude; and all were required to honour them, Exod. xxii. 28. xxiii. Deut. xvi. No man was to be condemned unheard, nor on the testimony of less than two or three witnesses, John vii. 51. Deut. xvii. 6.

The Hebrews had also extraordinary judges, who being raifed up by God, on necessary occasions, had a kind of fovereign power. Some of them were immediately called of God, others were εlefted by the people, as Judg. iii. xi. Nor does it appear that the power of

JUD [58] JUD

Each extended over all Ifrael. Perhaps Teplithah did not exercife his power on the west of Jordan, nor Barak his to the east of it. These judges had the fole management of peace and war, and decided causes with an absolute authority; they executed the laws, reformed or protected religion, punished id daters, and other malefactors; but tary Jevied no taxes, nor had any train but what their own revenues could afford: and, in fine, were much the fame as the archons of Athens, the dictators of Rome, the fuffetes of Carthage, and the governors of Germany, Gaul, and Britain, before the Roman invasion.

After the death of Joshua and the elders which outlived him, their judges were, Othniel, Ehud, Shamgar, Barak, Gideen, Abimelech, Tola, Jair, Jephthah, Ibzan, Elon, Abdon, Samfon along with Eli, and Samuel. As the temple is expressly faid to be founded in the 480th year after the Hebrews came out of Egypt, it is not easy to calculate the time of the judges, to as to correspond herewith; and so much the more fo, as Paul avers that God gave them judges about 450 years; I Kings vi. I. Acts xiii. 20. But perhaps Paul's expression denotes, not the time of the judges, but the period between the birth of Isaac and the fettlement in Canaan, which was 447, or abe ut 450 years; or if it relate to the period of the judges, the III years of fervitude must be taken into the account: though, according to the other reckoning, in the book of Kings, these years of fervitude must be comprehended under the years of the judges, or the reflaprocured by them. And it may be added, that when it is faid the land under Othered had rest 40 years, that perhaps means, till the 40th year of their fettlement; and under Ehud and Shamgar, 80 years, perhaps means no more than till the Soth year of their fettlement. Belides, the years of fome of the judges might run into those of another; or those of Samuel and Saul were perhaps but 40 years between them. Or the 480 years may be reckoned thus: from the departure from Egypt to the fettlement in Canaan, 47; from thence, during the refts of 40, of 80, of 40, of 40 years, under Othniel, Ehud, Barak, Gideon, 200; to which add, for the duration of the government of Abimelech, Tola, Jair, Jephthali, Ibzan, Elon, Abdon, Samfon, and Eli, 109; and for Samuel, Saul, David, and the first four years of Solomon, 124; and then we have precifely 480. Or from the departure from Egypt to the fettlement of the Reubenites and Gadites, 40 years; from thence to the invasion of the Ammonites, 300, Judg. xi. 26. thence to the reign of Saul, 36.; and from thence to the building of the temple, 84 years; in all 480. After the death of Gideon, two, if not fometimes three judges ruled at the fame time in different places.

Probably the book of Judges was written by Samuel, and the book of Ruth written as an appendix thereto. In the 2d chapter, at the end, he gives a fummary of the whole. The Jebufites were mafters of Jerufalem when it was written, chap. i. 21.; the houfe of God was no more at Shiloh, chap. xviii. 31. His fo often marking that then there was no king in Ifrael during the period of that history, infinuates, that there was a king in Ifrael when the penman of this book lived. mention of the captivity of the land, chap. Evill. 31. feems to point this book to fome writer more late than Samuel; but he might call that ravage of the country under Eli a captivity; or that clause might be long after added by Ezra.

JUDGEMENT; (1.) Wisdom and prudence, whereby one can judge of what is proper or improper, right or wrong, Jer. x. 24. U. xxx. 18. Pfal. lxxii. 1. (2.) Strict equity, such as should appear in judging, Luke xi. 42. (3.) The power of governing and judging the world: this God hath committed to Christ, John v. 22. xvi. 8. (4.) The wise separating of men one from another, some to damnation, others for salvation, John ix. 39. (5.) The decision of a judge, 1 Kings iii. 28. (6.) God's purposes, and the execution thereof, Rom. xi. 33. (7.) The

folemn

JUD 1 59 7 IVO

Tolemn trial of men at the last day, that the wicked may be condemned, and the righteous adjudged to everlasting life, Eccl. xii. 14. Jude 6. 15. (8.) The punishment inflicted for fin, Prov. xix. 29. Ezek. xxx. 14. Ifa. liii. 8. (9.) Chastifement inflicted on faints, 1 Pet. iv. 17. (10.) The flatutes or commandments of God, or what he hath decided in his word, particularly in what relates to civil punishments, Pfal. xix. 7. Matth. xii. 18. Exod. xxi. 1. (11.) Courts for trying caufes, Matth. v. 21. (12.) Controverfies to be tried and decided, I Cor. vi. 4. (13.) Sentiment, opinion, advice, 1 Cor. i. 10. vii. 25. God brings forth mens judgement as the noon-day, when, in his wife and righteous providence, he openly manifetts and rewards them according to the goodness and equity of their cause, Pfal. xxxvii. 6. Zion shall be redeemed with judgement; shall be delivered according to the wifdom and equity of God, and through the infliction of punishment on God's Son, Ha. i. 27. Christ brings forth judgement to the Gentiles, fends it forth unto victory, when he effectually reveals the truths of God, fully fatisfies his offended juftice, and, in a way of executing vengeance on Satan and his interests, forms a people to himfelf, i. xlii. 2. 3. Mat. xii. 18. 20. Now is the judgement of this world come; now shall the prince of this rvorld be cast out. Now shall God separate multitudes to himfelf; now shall the bring down their carnal lufts and imaginations; now shall the Tewish nation be punished; now shall Satan be call out from mens hearts, and lofe his authority in the world, John xii. 31. The Holy Ghost shall convince men of judgement, because the prince of this world is judged; by diflodging Satan from mens bodies, and eafting him out of their hearts, he shall demonstrate Jefus's power and authority, and evince his future appearance to judgement, John xvi. 11. God's judgements are true and righteous; his conduct in delivering his people and punishing his enemics, corresponds with the predictions and threatenings of his word and the equity of his nature, Rev. xix. 2.

JULIUS, the centurion of Augustus's band. Into his hands Festus committed Paul, to convey him prisoner to Rome. He showed a great regard for that apostle. See Paul. Acts xxvii.

JUNIA; an early convert to the Christian faith, and of note among the aposties. But whether this person to whom Faul sends his falutation was a man, or a woman, and the wife of Andronicus, I cannot determine, Romanicus

JUNIPER; a well-known fhrub, whose male-slowers are of the amentaceous kind, and confift of many fmall prickly leaves; the fruit is a roundish fleshy kind of berry; the kernels are angular, and the feed oblong. The leaves are ever green, and are plain and fimple, not like those of the cypress. Its appearance is a little fimilar to that of the cedar, and fome of the Greeks Tournefort called it by that name. mentions five kinds of the juniper. Whether the Hebrew Rethem fignifies juniper, is not altogether certain. So the ancient interpreters Aquila and Jerome indeed render it; but the valuable Syriac translation renders it turpentinetree; and the Chaldaic paraphrase and the great Schultens render it broom. It is certain a turpentine-tree was fit for Elijah to rest under, and that the fuel of it burns very fiercely, I Kings xix. 4. 5. Pfal. cxx. 4.; but whether the root of either it or juniper could be food, I know not; but it is certain, broom has fometimes a rape or navew about its root, that may be eaten, Job xxx. 4. As coals of juniper or turpentine-tree burn long or fiercely, they are an emblem of terrible calamities here, and of everlasting torments hereafter, Pfal. exx. 4. Calmet thinks Rethem fignifies any wild fhrub.

IVORY; a hard fubflance, white in colour, and capable of a fine polifh. It is the tufks of elephants, which are hollow from the base to a certain height, and the cavity is filled up with a marrowy substance mingled with glands. These ivory tusks resemble horns, Ezek. xxvii. 15. Some ivory tusks are from 90 to 125 pound weight; and one H 2 found found in the ifle of Sumatra in the East Indies is faid to have been 330 pound. It is faid the ivory of Ceylon and Achem does not become yellow by wearing. In Russia, and other places of Europe, a kind of ivory is found buried in the ground; and at Petersburgh is a tulk of 180 pound weight: but whether these be real teeth of elephants, long ago there dropt, or horns of fishes brought thither at the flood, or a kind of fubstance formed in the earth, we cannot determine. Ivory was anciently very plentiful in Canaan; wardrobes were boxed with it, to prevent the damage of moths, Pfal. xlv. 8. So-Iomon had a throne of it, I Kings x. 18. 22. Ahab and fome of the Ifraelitith nobles had their houses boxed with it, and their beds made of it, I Kings xxii. 39. Amos iii. 15. vi. 4. At Tyre, they foretimes made the feats for the rowers of their ships of it, Ezek. xxvii. 6. In metaphoric language, it reprefents what is comely, pure, strong, and durable. See Belly. Neck.

JUP [60] JUS

JUPITER; the great god of the Heathers. Perhaps the name is delived from Jao, Jeve, or JEHOVAH, and pater, father. It is certain, the Jupiters among the Latins and Zeus's among the Greeks, were as common as the Baals in the east. Three Jupiters were principally famous, the fon of Æther, the fon of Coelus, but chiefly the fon of Saturn. His father is faid to have been king of Crete about the time of Moses, or perhaps 300 years later, and to have endeavoured the destruction of all his children. When Jupiter, who was fecretly brought up, came to man's age, he flripped his father of his kingdom, and appears to have been one of the most adulterous and otherwife unclean wretches that ever breathed. The Heathens, however, believed he had the government of heaven and earth; and that he gave to his brother Neptune the government of the sea, and to Pluto the government of hell. See NOAH. The Jews appear to have known nothing of Jupiter or Zeus till the times of Alexander the Great. Antiochus Epiphanes placed a statue of Jupiter Olympius in the temple of Jerusalem; another of Jupiter, the defender of strangers, in the Samaritan temple of Gerizzim. On account of his gravity and majestic mien, Barnabas was taken for Jupiter at Lystra, Acts xiv. 11. 12.

JUST or RICHTEOUS; what is agreeable to giving every one his due. God is just and righteous : of his own nature he is infallibly difpofed to reader to himfelf, and to every one of his creatures, what is just and equal, agreeable to their nature, or according to their deferts, or the deferts of amother in their stead, Deut. xxxii. 4. Pfal. xi. 7. Christ is just and righteous; he is infinitely just and holy as God, perfectly holy and obedient as man, and has fulfilled, in our stead, the whole demands of the broken covenant of works, 1 Pet. iii. 18. 1 John ii. I. The faints are just and righteous; through the imputed righteousness of Jefus Christ, they are constituted complete fulfillers of the law as a covenant, before God as an impartial judge, and, in confequence hereof, are, by the Spirit of God in them, conformed to God's image and law, in their nature and life, and are inclined to do to every one what is just and equal, Rom. i. 17. Luke xxii. 50. Joseph, the hufband of Mary, was a just man; not rigid, and averte to do Mury, who, he fupposed, had been unwillingly defiled, any injury, in procuring her death, Matth. i. 19. Mufters give fervants what is just and equal, when they are fufficiently compaffionate of, kind to, and give them due maintenance and reward for their fervice, Col. iv. 1.

JUSTICE, RIGHTEOUSNESS, OF EQUITY; the giving of every one his due. God's justice or righteousness, is that effential perfection of his nature, whereby he is disposed to render to every one his due; gives creatures laws suited to their nature, and which he originally gives them sufficient strength to perform; and renders to them the due reward of that moral good or evil which is justily charged to their account. Ignorance of this rightcousness of

God.

God, occasions men going about to establish their own rightcousness, Rom. x. 3. God's righteoufness fornetimes may fignify, his mercy, goodness, and faithfulnefs, Deut. vi. 25. If. Alii. 6. The rightcoulness of Jesus Christ, is that equity which he observes in all his management, 2 Tim. iv. 8. particularly his complete fulfilment of the precepts, and fatisfaction of the penalty of the broken covenant in our stead, Matth. iii. 15. If. xlii. 21. is called the righteoujness of the law, because it fully answers all its demands, Rom. viii. 4. It is called the righteoufnefs of, or by faith, because it is not fulfilled in our perfon, but received by faith, as offered in the gospel, Rom. iii. 22. iv. 13. x. 6. It is called the righteoufnefs of God; God the Father devifed and exacted it, God the Son fulfilled it, God the Holy Ghost applies it; and it is infinitely worthy of the divine acceptance and reward, Rom. i. 17. iii. 21. Believers are made the righteonfuels of God in Christ; having Jefus's furety-rightcoulness imputed to them, they are conflituted perfectly righteous before God as a judge, 2 Cor. v. 21. Mens righteoujme/s, is either their univerfal holinofs of nature and life, in conformity to the divine law, I Cor. xv. 34.; or their justice and equity in their dealings with men, Luke i. 75.; or a noted act of obedience to the divine law, Pial evi. 31.; or their innocency of a particular crime, Gen. xxxviii. 26.; or the free gifts they give to the pour, Pfal. cxii. 9. 2 Cor. viii. 10.; or their evidence of honeity, Gen. xxx. 33. The faints have a threefold rightcoufnels: (1.) The righteoulnels of their person as in Christ: this is Jesus's holiness of human nature, obedience of life, and fatisfactory fufferings, imputed to them; of this they glory and boat, If. xlv. 24. (2.) The righteonfuefs of their nature and life, as renewed, affilted, and directed by the Spirit of God; this they difelaim in the cafe of juttification, and, as performed by then; count dung and filthy rags before God as a judge, If. kiv 6. Phil. ili. 9.

(3.) Their rightcoafness or innoceacy with respect to a particular cause, Plal. vii. 8. This kind of his righteoufnefs Job defended too much, to the charging of God with injuffice, Job xxxv. 2. They believe unto righteoufmess; and their faith is counted to them for right confucts: by faith they receive Jefus's righteoufnefs, and this object of their faith is accounted to them as their judifying rightcoulness before God, Rom. x. 10. 1. 3. 5. 9. The Holy Gholt costness of righteensfins ; i. e. that we have no righteoufness of our own, that Jefus was a righteous perfon, and hath fully finished his mediatorial rightconfuels for us, John xvi. 10. — Righteonfucts also fignifies, the reward of righteouthers inputed or implanted; or the bleffings that flow therefrom, Pfa'. xxiv. 5. If. lviii. 8. Judgement is before God, he attends to equity, wildom, and prudence, in all his conduct, Job xxxv. 14. God enters into judgement, when he calls men to account for their condust, that he may deal with them according to their works, Pfal. exliii. 2. Judgement returns to righteoufness, when, either by God or men, the wicked are remarkably punished, and the righteous remarkably favoured, Pf. xciv. 15.

JUSTIFY; to furtain, or declare one righteous. It never fignifies to render one boly; God or Christ cannot be rendered holy. It is reprefented as findul to juflify the wicked, or to juflify one': felf; but it could never be inful, to render holy the wicked, or one's felf. To juflify, is the opposite of condemnation, Prov. xvii. 15. Deut xxv. 1. Matth. xii. 37. God is juflified, when the right-outness of his conduct is openly manifested and declared: David's fin inshifted God; God appeared perfectly lighteous in threatening or punishing it; and his confession justified God, as therein he acknowledged God's holiness and righteousness in all that came upon him for it, Pfal. li. 4. God juftified Christ, in accepting his fervice in cur flead, in bringing him from the dead, and giving him glory, as the full evidence of his having fully finished what was required of him as our fureey, If. 1. 8. Christ was justified in the Spirit. By the power of his divine nature, he rose from the grave, as our justified head; and by the miraculous and faving influences of the Holy Ghost, he was manifested to be the righteous Son of God, and the Mediator who had finished the work of righteousness, which the Father gave him to do, I Tim. iii. 16. God justifies men, when he fultains them perfectly righteous in his fight, as their judge, freed from the guilt of fin, and accepted into his favour, and entitled to endless felicity, Rom. iii. 24, 28, 30. viii. 33. v. 9. They are confidered, as ungodly in themfelves, Rom. iv. 5. This justification is founded on no works done, or to be done by us; none of these can satisfy the unchanging law of God, and all of them are in every shape excluded from the matter of our justifying righteoufness before God, Gal. iii. 10, 12. Rom. iii. 20, 24, 28. Gal. ii. 16. But it fprings from the abfolutely free grace of God, Tit. iii. 7. Rom. iii. 24.; and is founded on the righteoufness of Jesus Christ, as fulfilled in our stead, and imputed to our person, Gal. ii. 16. Rom. iii. 24. v. 9, 19. Phil. iii. 8, 9. If. xlv. 24. Jer. xxiii. 6. xxxiii. 16.; and it is by the faith or knowledge of Christ, as by faith we receive Jesus's person, righteousness, and a full justification thereby, Gal. iii. 8. Rom. v. 1. iii. 28. iv. 5. If. liii. 11. Good works, being the infallible fruits of justification, justify the faints; they manifest to their own conscience, and to the world, that they are justified, and righteous before God, James ii. 21,-25. Ministers justify many, or turn them to righteoufnefs; they preach the justifying righteousness of Jesus Christ, that men may receive it; and publish the sentence of justification contained in the gospel-promise; and they absolve men from scandals, Dan. xii. 3. Our justification is through the death and refurrection of Christ; his death, blood, or righteoufness, is the price and ground of it, or the very righteoufnefs, in which we are fustained righteous before God; and in his refurrection, he was justified as our public head, and begun to be exalted, that he might give us repentance and remission of sins, Rom. iv. 25. viii. 34. and it is justification of life, in as much as we are therein entitled to eternal life of holiness and happiness; and all the perfections of God are deeply engaged to bestow the same upon us, Rom. v. 16, 18.—Men justify God, when they acknowledge and declare the righteousness of his conduct, Luke vii. 29, 35. They justify themselves, when they imagine or declare themfelves blameless in whole or in part, Luke x. 29. xvi. 15. They justify others, when they believe or declare them righteous, Dent. x.v. 1. Prov. xvii. 15.; or, by a worfe practice, fhew and vindicate them as lefs guilty than themfelves, Ezek. xvi. 51. Jer. iii. 11.

JUTTAH; a city of the portion of Judah; but whether the fame as the city Juda, Luke i. 39. I know not, Josh. xv. 55.

K

KAB

K AB; a measure of about 96 solid inches, which is about fix less than our Scotch pint, and somewhat more than 3½ pints English wine measure, 2 Kings vi. 25.

KADZEEL, or JEKABZEEL, was a city of Judah; it feems, near the west shore of the Dead sca, Josh.

KAD

xv. 21.; and here Benaiah, the general of Solomon's army, was born, 2 Sam. xxiii. 20.

KADESH, KEDESH, or KADESH-PARNEA; was a place on the fouth of Canaan, about 24 miles fouth from Helmoa, and on the edge of the wilderness of Paran. It was anciently called

Enmifletat,

K A D [63] K E E

Enmillipat, because there the Canaanites nad judged their people, near to a well, Gen. xiv. 7. Perhaps it was called Rithmah, from the junipers, or turpentine-trees, or other shrubs, that grew near to it, Numb. xxxiii. 18. xii. 16. xiii. 1. xxxii. 8. Here the Hebrews long fojourned, and from hence Moses fent the spies to view the promifed land, Deut. i. 46. Whether this be the Kadesh in the wilderness of Zin, where Miriam died, I dare not affirm. Lightfoot is positive it was; and Wells thinks it was not. was another Kedesh in the lot of Naphtali, which was given to the Gershonites, and made a city of refuge, Josh. xxi. 32. xx. 7. Kishon, of the tribe of Islachar, which was also given to the Gershonites, was also called Kedesh, 1 Chron. vi. 72.

KADMONITES, or EASTER-LINGS; a tribe of the Canaanites who dwelt to the north-east of Canaan, near mount Hermon. Possibly Cadmus, who retired to Bootia in the time of Joshua or David, was one of them, and his wife Hermoine had her name from Hermon.

KANAH; (1.) A river on the fouth border of the western Manassites; by fome thought to be the fame as CHERITH, fo called from the reeds or canes growing about it: but perhaps it was a different river, and run westward into the Mediterranean fea, Josh. xvi. 8. xvii. 9, 10. (2.) Kanah; a city of the tribe of Ather, and not far from Zidon, Josh xix. 28.; but whether this, or another place about four miles north of Nazareth, was the Cana of Galilee, where our Saviour attended at a marriage, I cannot certainly determine; though, with Focas and Maundrel, I rather incline to the latter, as it was much nearer the refidence of Christ's mother, John ii.

KARKOR. We suppose it, and Nobah, and Jogbehah, were all cities about the head of the river Arnon, or a little northward from it, Judg.

vill. 10.

KEDAR, a fon of Ishmael, and father of the Kedarenes, who resided about the fouth parts of Arabia the Defert, ordinarily in tents, but fometimes in villages, and whose glory and wealth chiefly consisted in their slocks and herds, Song i. 5. If. xlii. 11. xxi. 16. It seems David lurked here during the perfecution of Saul, Psal. exx. 5.; but it is more certain, that the offspring of Kedar traded with the ancient Tyrians in sheep and goats, Ezek. xxvii. 21.; and that they were terribly harassed by the Assyrians and Chaldeans in their turn, If. xxi. 17. Jer. xlix. 28.

KEDEMAH, the youngest fon of Ishmael. He could not be the father of the Kadmonites, as they existed before he was born, Gen. xv. 19. xxv. 15. His posterity roved about the southeast of Gilead, and perhaps gave name to the city of Kedemoth, near the river Arnon, and given, by the Reubenites, to the Levites of Merari's family, Deut. ii. 16. Josh. xiii. 18.

xxi. 37.

KEEP; (1.) To hold fast, preferve firmly, 2 Tim. i. 12, 14. (2.) To watch over; protect, Pfal. exxvii. 1. (3.) To fave; preferve; deliver, John xvii. 15. (4.) To observe; to put in practice fincerely or perfectly, Pfal. cxix. 4. Matth. xix. 1.7. God keeps covenant and mercy: according to the tenor of his covenant, he is ever ready to forgive his people's fins, and to grant free favours to them, I Kings viii. 23. He keeps the door of mens lips, in preferring them from vain, imprudent, and finful speech, Psal. exli. 3. Ministers are keepers of the vineyard; they watch over, and labour in the church, and preferve the truths, ordinances, and members thereof, from fpiritual hurt, Song viii. 11. The faints are made flavish keepers of the vinevard, to the neglect of their own, when, by administering public offices, intermeddling too much with carnal bufinefs, or by oppression with the impofitions of men, they are made to neglect the due management of their own heart or life, Song i. 6. To keep the hear's with all diligence, or keeping, is watchfully to observe its inclinations and motions, that it comply with no temptation, no appearance of evil, and earnestly to study that its whole temper, thoughts, and the words and works proceeding therefrom, correfpond with the unerring law of God, Prov. iv. 23. To keep God's word, statutes, or laws, is to believe them firmly, as indeed the word of God; to love, effeem, and delight in them; and diligently endeavour to have our whole life exactly conformed thereto, Pfal. exist. 17, 34. The barren woman keeps koufe, when the is made to conceive, bring forth, and attend children, Pfal. exiii. o. The arms are called keepers of the house, which shake in old age, Eccl. xii. 3.

KEILAH; a city belonging to the tribe of Judah. It flood northwest of Hebron, and about 16 or 20 miles fouth-west of Jerusalem, Josh. xv. 44. Naham, or Achotnaham, was the prince or chief proprietor of it in the days of Joshua, I Chron. iv. 19. David faved it from the ravage of the Philistines during his exile; and yet had he continued in it, the inhabitants would have ungratefully delivered him up into the hands of Saul, I Sam. Axiii. 1,-12. In the time of Nehemiah it was a confiderable place, Neh. iii. 17, 18. About 400 years after Christ it was a place of some note.

KEMUEL, the third fon of Nahor, and father of Aram; from him probably iprung the Kamelites, who, Strabo fays, dwelt on the east of Syria, and westward of the Euphrates, Gen. xxii.

21.

KENATH; a town of the eaftern Manailites. Nobah, one of them, took of from the Canaanites, and called it after himfelf, Numb. xxxii. 42. It feems, that it afterwards recovered its ancient name; and is placed by Pliny in Decapolis, but by Enfebius in Trachonitis, about four miles from Jogbehah.

KUNUTES; an ancient tribe, that refided fomewhere in the defert of Arabia, between the Dead fea, and the gulf of Elath, if not further to the north-weft. It feems they coalefeed with the Midianites; for Jethro, priest of Midian, was a Kenite, Judg. i. 16. Their land was promifed to the Hebrews, Gen. xv. 19.; but for the fake of Jethro, they were generally spared, and dwelt mostly in the inaccessible rocks of Arabia, Numb. xxiv. 21. Such as dwelt in the fouth coasts of Canaan mingled themselves with the Amalekites, perhaps to evite the ravages of the Philistines; but, at Saul's direction, as he marched to deftroy the Amalekites, they feparated from them. and returned to the fouth parts of the lot of Judah, 1 Sam. xv. 6. xxvii. 1c. They were often haraffed by their enemies, and at last the Assyrians carried the most of them captive, into countries more to the eastward, Numb. xxiv. 21. One Rechab, whom we suppose to have defeended from Hobab, the brother-in-law of Mofes, was one of the most considerable chiefs of the Kenites, and gave name to a tribe of them. Thefe Rechabites appear to have been fubdivided into three tribes, the Tirathites, the Shimeathites, and the Suchathites: they were profelytes to the Jewish religion, and many of them followed the bufiness of seribes, I Chron. ii. 55. Jonadab, the fon of Rechab and friend of Jehu, having feen the terrible cafe of the Jews who lived in cities, in the time of Ahab, Jehoram, &c. and perhaps feen fome fatal confequences of the drinking of wine, folemnly charged the Rechabites never to drink wine or ftrong drink, nor to build any honses; but to dwell in tents and feed cattle. This charge they fo carefully observed, that when they had fled into Jerusalem in the time of Zedekiah, which was about 300 years after, and Jeremiah took them into an apartment belonging to the temple, and urged them to drink wine; they begged to be excufed, that they might not tranfgress the charge of their ancestor. The Lord declared his high approbation of their obedience, and promifed to reward it with the perpetual prefervation of their family, whether in the Chaldean eaptivity, or the prefent difperfion of the Hebrew nation, Jer. xxxv.

The

KEN [65] KID

The KENIZZITES were a tribe of the ancient Canaanites, who feem to have refided in the mountains of Judah, Gen. xv. 10.

The KERCHIETS used by the false prophetesses, are thought to have been head-tires, or walls bound to the head, so as to cover most, if not all, of the face. They make kerchiefs on the head of every statue to hunt souls; they put them on the head of the idolatrous statues; or they put them on the head of those they spoke to, as if a divine toke. of their protection; or it may mean, that they blindfolded people with their delusive speeches, Ezek. xiii. 18.

KERIOTH-HEZRON, was also called HAZOR, and was a city of the tribe of Judah, Josh.xv.25. There was another city called Kerioth, in the country of Moab, and which the Affyrians and Chaldeans terribly wasted, Ámos ii. 2. Jer. xlviii. 24, 41.

KETURAH, See ABRAHAM. KEY, is often used to denote power and authority, whereby perfons are thut up, or fet at liberty. Eliakim's key of the house of David, was power to transact affairs in the kingdom of Indah, as minister of state to Hezekiah, the defeendant of David, If. xxii. 22. Christ has the key of David, and openeth, and no man shutteth, and thutteth, and no man openeth; has full power and authority to admit or exclude men from the church, or from heaven; and to open or flut mens hearts; and to open up or feal the oracles of God, as he pleafeth, Rev. iii. 7. He hath the key of the bottomless pit; the keys of hell and death; hath power and authority to permit or reftrain Satan and his agents as he pleafeth; and to fave from, or condemn to, death and hell, as feemeth good in his fight, Rev. xx. 1. i. 18. Ability and authority to explain the fcriptures to men, are called the key of knowledge, Luke xi. 52. The keys of the kingdom of heaven, are power and authority to preach the gospel, and administer the facraments, and to exercife government and difcipline, that men may be admitted to, or excluded from the church, as is pro-Vol. II.

per, Matth. xvi. 19. The key of the bottomlefs pit given to the fallen flar, is power and authority, permitted by God to Antichrift and Mahomet, to fend forth and employ the policy and legious of hell, to affift them in their delutive projects, Rom. ix. 1.

To KICK, is a metaphor taken from a fed horfe, or like animal, kicking with his HFFLS, at his owner, when he gives him provition, pricks him forward, or the like. To kick against God, is wantonly and stubbornly to rebel against him, and makes his benefits an occasion of rebelling against him, Deut. xxxii. 15. To kick at his facrifice, is wantonly to profane and abufe it, in contempt and hatred of him, 1 Sam. ii. 19. It was hard for Paul to kick against the pricks; it was not only without fuccefs, but infinitely abfurd and hazardous, wantonly and outrageously to rebel against the Almighty God, to the pricking, tormenting, and ruining of his own foul, Acts ix. 5.

KID; a young GOAT, very often ufed in fin-offerings, and reprefented Jefus as in the likeness of sinful flesh, and, through weakness crucified, to make atonement for our fin, Numb. vii. xv. xxviii. xxix. Kids were fometimes given in prefents, and their flesh was esteemed a delicious dish, but was never to be boiled in its mother's milk, as that would have been an appearance of ernelty, and an imitation of Heathen fuperstition, Gen. xxxviii. 17. Judg. xv. 1, 1 Sam. xvi. 20. Judg. vi. 19. xiii. 13. Gen. xxvii. 9. Exod. xxiii. 19. xxxiv. 26. In allufion to which it is faid, Thou never gavest me a kid, to make merry with my friends; thou never gavest me any distinguished token/ of thy favour, or fuch delightful experience of thy redeeming goodness, as I might mention, to the great joy of my friends, Luke xv. 25. Saints harmlefs, tender, weak, fomewhat comely in their conversation, but still polluted with fad remains of corruption, are called kids, Song i. 8. See Flock.

KIDNEYS; (1.) Inward parts of fome animals, Lev. iii. 4. (2.) The kernel or fubitantial part of grains of wheat, Deut. xxxii. 14. (3.) The inmost powers, thoughts, and defires of the foul, and which are foractimes called reins, Pfal. xvi. + 7.

Ţ

wheat a

KIDRON or Cidron; a brook which runs fouth-eathward, along the cast side of Jerusalem, through what is called the valley of Jehomaphat, or vallev of the fon of Hinnom. It runs along the well fide of the mount of Olives, between it and the city, and then runs fouth-castward into the Dead fea. David croffed it in his escape from Abfalom, and Jefus, in his way to the garden of Gethfemane, 2 Sam. xv. 23. John xviii. 1. The brook Kidron, tho' it receives all the rivulets about Jerufalem, is generally but fmall, and fometimes dry; but amidit fudden and heavy rains, it fwells exceedingly, and runs with great violence; and on fuch occasions carries off the filth of the city, which by the common fewers is carried into it. The valley through which this brook runs for about 12 miles, is confiderably unfightly. About the weit end of it, Asa, Hezekiah, and Josiah, burnt the idols of their apostate predecessors, 1 Kings xv. 3. 2 Chron. xxix. 16. 2 Kings xxiii. 4.

KILL; SLAY. God kills men not only with natural, but with spiritual and eternal death, Rev. ii. 23. Matth. x. 28. The killing of wifdom's beafts, of God's oxen, fatlings, or fatted colf, fignifies the whole fufferings and death of our Saviour, to render him a fit Redecimer of and provision for our fouls, Prov. ix. 2. Matth. xxii. 4. Luke xv. 27. The faints are killed all day long, when they are grievoufly oppressed and perfecuted, Pfal, xliv. 22. Rom. viii. The killing of Christ's witnesses by Antichrift, includes not only the murder of their bodies, but, I think, chiefly the feduction of Protestants from their holy profession and zeal for God, Rev. xi. 7. To kill with the favord, includes all kinds of violent deaths, Rev. xiii. 10. Not only the wrath and jealoufy of God, but a man's own wrath and envy kill him; they waste his vital spirits, prompt him to such rash and wicked things as haiten his death, Job

v. 2. God flays men by the words of his mouth, when he denounces and executes his destructive judgements upon them, Hof. vi. 5. The letter, or covenant of works, killeth; it is the flrength of fin, and condemns men to death, spiritual, temporal, and eternal. The letter, or external part of ceremonics, without regard to the gospel-fignification, killed men, and hindered them from Christ and falvation, and cleaving thereto, haftened ruin on the Jewish nation. The letter, or unfanctified head-knowledge of divine truth, kills; it encourageth pride, and makes men effect themselves and contemn Christ, and, to their own ruin, refuse the offers of the gospel, 2 Cor. iii. 6. The defire of the flothful kills them; their delight in eafe hurts their constitution, and exposes them to great straits and poverty: or their defire after things for which they care not to labour, leads them to methods that bring them to an unhappy end, Prov. xxi. 25. Sin flays men, when the prevalence of its reigning power, and the apprehension of its guilt, render them worfe, and undo all their hopes of felicity, Rom. vii. 11. Hebrews flaying children in the valleys, fignifies their offering them in facrifice to Molech, or other idols, in the valley of the fon of Hinnom, or other concealed places, If. lvii. 5.

KIND; (1.) A fort, Gen. i. 11. viii. 19. (2.) Courteous, loving, and ready to do good offices, Luke vi. 35. 1 Cor. xiii. 4. 2 Chron. x. 7. The Hebrews kinducfs of youth, and love of espoufals, denotes God's ancient favours to them, and their zealous profession of regard and obedience to God in the wilderness, as they had passed the Red sea, and came to mount Sinai, Jer. ii. 2.

KINDLE; (1.) To cause to burn: to slir up strife, anger, judgements, compassion, Prov. xxvi. 21. Pfal, ii. 12. E-

zek. xx. 48. Hof. xi. 8

KINDRED; a number of people related to one another by blood or marriage. The all kindreds of the earth, that shall mourn at Christ's second appearance, are the vast multitudes of wicked and worldly men, Rev. i. 7. The all kindreds lin lieds over which Antichrist rules, are vast multitudes of different nations, sexes, and conditions, Rev. xiii. 7. xi. 9. God's New-Testament people are gathered out of every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation; they are of many different nations, families, languages, and conditions, Rev. v. 9. vii. 9.

KIN [67] KIN

KING; a chief ruler of a tribe or nation. At first the power of kings was of very fmall extent, over but one city or large village. Benhadad had 32 kings fubject to him, I Kings xx. 1. 16. In Canaan, Adombezek conquered 70 kings, and made them eat bread under his table. Joshua conquer-Mimrod ed 31, Judg. i. 7. Josh. xii. of Babylon was the first king we read of; but foon after, we find kings in Egypt, Persia, Canaan, Edom, &c. Gen. x. 10. xiii. xiv. xx. xxxvi. In the east, kings were supposed to have uncommon wisdom, and malefactors were not allowed to look upon them, 2 Sam. xiv. 17. 20. Gen. xliv. 18. Efth. vii. 8. After the Hebrews were erected into a separate nation, God was properly their king: he gave them their civil laws, and by the Urim and Thummim, and by the prophets, or by vifions, was his mind declared to them. Moses, who is called king in Jesburun, or the upright people, as well as Joshua and the Judges, were but the deputies of heaven, and had no legislative power. After the Hebrews had been under this government for about 396 years, they, pretending that Samuel's fons behaved unjutly, begged to have a king like the nations around. God had hinted to Mofes that the Hebrews should have kings chosen from among their brothren, and required them to write each for himfelf a copy of the law, and observe the same in their whole conduct, and prohibited them to multiply horses, wives, or treafures; it feems, their defire of a king was not finful in itself, but only in its manner, as it implied a weariness of the divine government, and in its end, to be like the nations around. After laying before them the manner in which most of the kings they should have would oppress them, disposing of their fields, crops, sons, and daughters, at pleasure, God gave them King Saul in his anger, and afterward cut him off in his wrath, Hos. xiii, 11. After this their theocracy was in a languishing condition, and their kings power was not a little similar to the just power of kings in our own times.

Befides Saul, David, and Solomon, their general fovereigns, the tribe of Judah were governed by Rehoboam, Abijah, Afa, Jehoshaphat, Jehoram, Ahaziah, Athaliah, Joash, Amaziah, Azariah, Jotham, Ahaz, Hezekiah, Manasseh, Amon, Josiah, Jehoahaz, Jehoiakim, Jehoiachin, and Zedekiah, twenty in all; and the ten tribes by Ishbosheth, Jeroboam, Nadab, Baasha, Elah, Zimri, Omri, Ahab, Ahaziah, Joram, Jehu, Jehoahaz, Joash, Jero-boam, Zachariah, Shallum, Menahem, Pekahiah, Pekah, and Hoshea, twenty in all. After their return from Babylon, the Hebrews had no kings of their own for about 400 years, but had their own deputy-governors under the Perfians or Greeks. After that, Hircanus, Aristobulus, Janneus, and his fons Hircanus and Aristobulus, all highpriests, ruled with supreme power. After these, Herod the Great, Archelaus, Herod Agrippa, and Agrippa his fort, were kings tributary to the Romans; and the last had scarce any power at all, but to manage the affairs of the temple. The two books containing the history of the Hebrew kings for about 456 years, from the death of David to the release of Jehoiachin, seem to have been wrote piece-meal by Ahijah the Shilonite, Iddo the feer, Ifaiah, &c. and to have been reduced into one work by Jeremiah or Ezra. The joint reign of fome kings, the father with the fon, the reckoning of the fame year to the deceased king and to his fuccessor, and the inter-reigns that happened before the fettlement of fome kings, as before the reign of Omri, Zachariah, and Hoshea, kings of Israel, and before the reign of Azariah in Judah, render it fometimes hard to adjust the dates in this book.

g God

God is a King, and King of nations: with great wifdom and power he governs and protects all things in heaven and earth, Pfal. xliv. 4. Christ is a King; King of kings, and Lord of lords; and King of Jaints; by his Father's appointment, he fubdues, governs, and defends his church; and hath all power in heaven and carth given him, for the promoting of her welfare; he reftrains and conquers her enemies, and at the last day, he will pass an irreverfible fentence of judgement on the whole world, Pfal. ii. 6. xlv. t. Matth. xxv. 34. Rev. xvii. 14. xix. 16. The king that reigned in rightconfiness, and princes that ruled in judgement, were Hezekiah and his governors, and Christ and his apostles and ministers, It. xxxii. 1. Saints are lings; they have the kingdom of God within them; they are heirs of the kingdom of glory; they war against and conquer fin, Satan, and the world; they rule their own spirit, and govern their body, and have no finall influence on God's government of nations and churches, Rev. i. 6. v. 10. xx. 4. Leviathan is king over all the children of pride, or fiercelooking monsters; in strength or bulk he exceeds all the animals, Job xli. 34. Four kings, and king of the north and fouth, Dan. i. See PERSIANS. GREEKS.

KINGDOM; (1.) The country or countries subject to one king, Deut. iii. 4. (2.) The power of acting as king, or of fupreme administration, 1 Sam. xviii. 8. xx. 31.—God's univerfal dominion over all things, is called his kingdom; thereby he preferves, protects, gives laws to, and regulates all his creatures, and can difpenfe favours or judgements as he pleafeth, I Chron. xxix. II. Pfal. cxlv. 12. — The visible church, especially under the New Testament, is called a kingdom; Christ and his Father rule in it, and maintain order, fafety, and happiness therein. It is called the kingdom of beaven; it is of an heavenly original, has a heavenly governor and laws; and is creeted to render multitades fit for heaven, Matth. iii. 2. 5. 19. 20. xiii. 47. xvi. 18. Col. i. 13.

-The faints new-covenant flate, and the work of faving grace in their heart, are called the kingdom of God, and the kingdom of heaven. Therein God erects his throne in their heart, gives laws and privileges to their foul, renders them heavenly-minded, and meet to enter the heavenly glory, Matth. vi-33. xiii. 31. Luke xvii. 20. 21.—The thate of glory in heaven is called a kingdom. How great is its glory, happinefs, and order! how ready the obedience of all the unnumbered subjects of God and the Lamb therein, Matth. v. 10. Luke xxii. 16. 1 Cor. vi. 9.-The Hebrew nation and the faints, are a kingdom of priefts; they were, or are a numerous and honoured body, who have access to offer up facrifices, prayer, praife, and good works, acceptable to God through Jefus Chrift, Exod. xix. 6. 1 Pet. ii. + 9. Heathenish and Popish nations are called the kingdoms of this world; their ends, maxims, and renner of government, are carnal and earthly, Rev. xi. 15.

KINSMAN. See RIDELMER.

KIR, KIRHERES, KIRHARESH. KIRHARESHETH; a principal city of the Moabites, ravaged by the Hebrews ander Jehoram, 2 Kings iii. 25.; and long after rained by the Affyrians, and by the Chaldeans, If. xv. 1. xvi. 7. 11. Jer. xlviii. 31. (2.) Kir, a place in Media, whither the Syrians and part of the Hebrews were carried captive by the Affyrians, and part of the inhabitants of which ferved in Sennacherib's army against Judah, 2 Kings xvi. 19. Amos i. 5. ix. 7. If. xxii. 6.

KIRJATHAIM, or double city; a city on the east of Jordan, about 10 miles west of Medeba. It seems to have been built before Chedorlaomer's ravages, Gen. xiv. 15. Probably Sihon took it from the Moabites, and Moses took it from him, and gave it to the Reubenites; but the Moabites long after retook it. It was destroyed by the Chaldeans, but was rebuilt; and about 400 years after Christ, it was called Kariatha, Numb. xxxii. 37. Jer. xlviii. 1. 23. (2.) Kirjathaim, or Kartan, in the tribe of Naphtali, and given to the Levites, Josh. xxi.

KIR [69] KNE

32. 1 Chron. vi. 76.

KIRJATHARIM, KIRJATHJEA-RIM, KIRJATHBAAL, or BAALAH; a city of Judah, fituated in or near to a wood, about 9 or 10 miles north-west of Jerusalem. It was one of the cities of the Gibeonites. Here the ark of God continued for perhaps about 80 or 90 years after it came back from the land of the Philistines, Josh. ix. 17. xv. 9. 60. I Sam. vii. 1. I Chron. xiii.

KISHON, probably the fame with Ptolemy's Pagida; a river that is faid to take its rife in the valley of Jezreel, and run almost straight westward into the Mediterranean fea, by the port of Accho. Dr Shaw, however, denies that its fource is fo far east as some make it; and affirms, that, rifing near mount Carmel, it runs north-west till it enter the fea. It hath a multitude of turnings, in the manner of the Forth near Stirling. As a multitude of rivulets fall into it from the adjacent hills, it fwells exceedingly in the time of About the east end of it, Jabin's army was routed, and multitudes of them were carried down by the fwelling current of this river, occasioned by a terrible fall of rain. It was called ancient, because, it feems, it had been early famed on fome account, Judg. v. 21. Pfal. lxxxiii. 9. The city Kedesh, or Kadesh, was called Kishon, or Kithion, perhaps because it stood on the bank of this river, or had its streets winding hither and thither, Josh. xix. 20. xxi. 28. 1 Chron. vi. 72.

KISS, is used as a token of affection to a friend, or of reverence and subjection to a superior, Gen. xxvii. 26. 27. I Sam. xx. 41. x. 1. In the East, kissing of the feet or ground expresset vasfallage or reverence; kissing the decrees of judges, imports complaisant subjection; kissing of petitions, an humble presenting of them. Equals kiss the head, shoulder, and beard of one another; but they kiss the hand of facred persons, and kiss their own hand in honour of idols, Psal. lxxii. 8. 9. Is. xlix. 23. Gen. xli. 40. xxxiii. 4. Job xxxi. 26. 27. At their meeting for religious worship, the primitive Christians seem to have been wont to kifs one another. This the feripture requires to be an holy kifs, and a kifs of charity, i. e. proceeding from a pure heart, and the most Chriftian and chafte affection, Rom. xvi. 16. 1 Pct. v. 14.: but this kifs, and the love-feafts, happening to be early abufed, to promote unchastity or diforder, were laid afide. Kissing has been often abused to cover treachery, as by Judas and Joab, 2 Sam. xx. 9. Matth. xxvi. 49.; to pretend affection, as by Abfalom, 2 Sam. xv. 5.; to excite unchaste inclinations, as by the whore, Prov. vii. 13.; or to mark idolatrous reverence to an idol; this was done, either by kiffing the idol itfelf, or by kiffing of the hand, and directing it towards the idol, Hof. xiii. 2. 1 Kings xix. 18. Job xxxi. 27. Every man fhall kifs his lips that giveth a right anfwer, i. e. shall love and reverence him who béars a proper testimony, or gives a right decision in an affair, Prov. xxiv. The kiffes of Christ's mouth, are the fenfible, familiar, and frequently repeated applications of his love, by his word and Spirit: these tetlify his friendship and affection, and encourage and draw out our hearts to him, Song i. 2. The faints kiffing of Christ, or kiffing him without, denotes their receiving of him by faith, their fubmiffion to him, their public profession of, and adoring him, Pfal. ii. 12. Song viii. 1. Righteoufnefs and peace kifs one another; the justice of God, through the imputed righteousness of Christ, kindly promotes our peace with God, and with one another, Pfal. lxxxv. 10.

KITE. See Vulture. KITTIM. See Chittim.

KNEE not only fignifies that part of the body so called, but the whole body, a part being put for the whole, Psal. cix. 24; or for persons; so weak and seeble knees denote weak and disconsolate persons, Job iv. 4. Heb. xii. 12. If. xxxv. 3. To bow the knees to one, imports adoration of, or prayer to him, 1 Kings xix. 18. Eph. iii. 14.; or to reverence and be in subject tion to him, Gen. xli. 43. Phil. ii. 1c. To bring up, or dandle on the knees, is affectionately to nourish, as a mother does her own child, Gen. xxx. 3. l. 23. If. kxi. 12. The finiting of the knees one against another, is expressive of extraordinary terror and amazement, Dan. v. 6.

KNI [70] KOH

KNIFE. To put a knife to our throat at the table of the churl, is carefully to restrain our appetite, as if we were in the utmost hazard of eating too much, Prov. xxiii. 2. The knives used in killing and cutting the facrifices, might represent Pilate, Herod, and other instruments of our Saviour's death, Ezra i. 9.

KNOCK. Jefus knocks at the door of our heart; by his word, Spirit, and providence, he awakens, invites, and urges us to receive himfelf as the free gift of God and Saviour come to feek and fave that which is loft, Rev. iii. 20. Song v. 2. Our knocking at his door of mercy, is fervent and frequent prayer for his diffinguished presence and favours, Matth. vii. 7. 8. Luke xi. 10.

KNOW; (1.) To understand; perceive, Ruth iii. 11. (2.) To have the experience of, 2 Cor. v. 21. To acknowledge; take particular notice of; to approve, delight in, and thew diffinguished regard to, If. lv. 5. i Cor. viii. 3. John x. 27. Amos iii. 2. Gen. xxxix. 6. 1 Theff. v. 12. (4.) To make known and fee difcover ed, I Cor. ii. 2. (5.) To have carnal dealing with, Gen. iv. 1. xix. 5. Judg. xix. 22 .- I know nothing by myfelf; I am not conscious of any allowed wickedness, 1 Cor. iv. 4. make known our requests unto God, when we, directed by his Spirit, exprefs the defires of our heart in prayer to him, Phil. iv. 6. He that perverteth his way is known, when God exposes him to shame and punishment on account of it, Prov. x. 9.

KNOWLEDGE; (1.) The infinite understanding of God, whereby he perfectly perceives and comprehends himself, and all things possible or real, r Sam. ii. 3. (2.) A speculative knowledge, whereby one has a merely rational perception of things natural or divine, without any faith in, or love to God produced or strengthened thereby, I Cor. viii. I. Rom. i. 21. Eccl. i. 18. (3.) A spiritual uptaking of divine things, whereby, through the instruction of God's word and Spirit, we not only perceive, but are powerfully and kindly disposed to believe in, and love God in Christ as our God, 2 Cor. vi. 6. John xvii. 3. (4.) The fupernatural gift of interpreting dreams, explaining hard passages of scripture, or foreseeing things future, Dan. v. 1 Cor. xiii. 2. (5.) Spiritual prudence, and gracious experience in the ways of God, Prov. xxviii. 2. (6.) The perfect and immediate views of the glory of God in heaven; in this we know God, as we are known; apprehend his exittence, and glorious excellencies and work, without any miftake, 1 Cor. xiii. 12. (7.) Infiruction, whereby knowledge is communicated, Prov. xxii. 17. (8.) Faith is called knowledge, as it supposes knowledge, and is an apprehending of thing; invisible, on the testimony of God, H. liii. 11.; but that text may also mean, that by Jefus's infinitely skilful fulfilment of his work, he shall justify many. ----Saints are enriched with all knowledge; they are made wife unto falvation, and know every thing important concerning it, Rom. xv. 14. 1 Cor. i. 5. 1 John ii. 20. Through knowledge the just shall be delivered; by the infinite wildom of God, and by means of their faith, fpiritual knowledge, and prudence, shall they escape trouble, or get out of it, Prov. xi. 9.

KOHATH; the fecond fon of Levi, and father of Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel. From him, by Aaron the fon of Amram, fprung the Hebrew priefts. The reft of his family, at their departure from Egypt, were 8600 males, 2750 of which were fit for fervice. They, under Elizaphan the fon of Uzziel, pitched on the fouth fide of the tabernacle, and they marched after the hoft of Reuben. Their business was, to carry on their floulders shoulders the ark, and other facred utentils of the tabernaele; but were not, under pain of death, allowed to look at any of these, except perhaps the brazen laver, Exod. vi. 16. — 25. Numb. iii. iv. x. 21. Befides the thirteen cities of the priefts, the Kohathites had, from the Ephraimites, Shechem, Gezer, Kibzaim, or Jokmean, and Bethhoron; from the Danites, Elthekeh, Gibbethon, Aijalon, and Gathrimmon; from the western Manaffites, Taanach and Gathrimmon, which either were the fame, or afterwards exchanged for Ancr and Ibleam, Josh. xxi. 20.-26. 1 Chron. vi. 66. -70. In the days of David, Shebuel, Rehabia, Jeriah, and Micah, were the chief of the Kohathites; and Shehuel and Rehabiah, descendants of Moses, had the charge of the facred treafures. 4400 of the descendants of Hebron, and fundry of the Izharites, were officers on the east and west of Jordan, in affairs civil and facred, I Chron. xxiii. 12.--30. xxvi. 23.--32.

KOR 571 KOR

KORAH, KOREH, CORE; the cousin of Moses, son of Izhar, and father of Affir, Elkanah, and Abiafaph. Envying the authority of Mofes and Aaron, Korah, together with Dathan and Abiram, fons of Eliab, and On the fon of Peleth, chief men of the Reubenites, with 250 other chiefs of the congregation, formed a party against them. On deferted them, but the rest stuck in a body. They haughtily upbraided Mofes and Aaron, as taking too much upon them, fince the whole congregation were facred to God. Mofes replied, that they were too arrogant to find fault with the preferiptions of God, and that to-morrow the Lord would flow whom he allowed to officiate in the priefthood. He advised Korah, and his 250 accomplices, to appear with their cenfers full of incenfe, on that occasion, to stand the trial. They did so, and put facred fire into their cenfers. They alfo convened a great body of the people, to rail on Mofes and Aaron, at least to witness God's acceptance of their incense. From a bright cloud hovering over the tabernacle, God ordered Mofes and Aaron to separate themfelves from the affembly, that he might destroy them in an instant. and $\mathbf A$ aron begged, that he would not deftroy the whole congregation for the fin of a few, who had stirred them up. The Lord granted their request, and directed them to order the congregation to flee as fast as they could from the tents of Korah, Dathan, and Abi-They had fcarce retired, when the earth, according to Mofes's prediction, opened her mouth, and fwallowed them up alive, and all their tents and families. Meanwhile, a fire from God confumed the 250 men that offered incense along with Korah. feems, the fons of Korali detested their father's arrogance, and were perhaps miraculously preferved, and continued in their facred office. Their descendants were Samuel, Heman, and others; facred muficians in the time of David; and to them were eleven of the Pfalms, viz. 42, 44.—49, 84, 85, 87, 88, delivered to be fet to music, Exod. vi. 24. Numb. xvi. xxvi. 9. 11. 1 Chron. vi. 33.-38. xxv. Some of them were porters to the temple, chap. xxvi.

L

LAB

ABAN, the fon of Bethuel, the brother of Rebekah, and father of Leah and Rachel. He appears to have been a very active man, and to have had a great deal of power in his father's lifetime; but he was an idolater, and a most covetous and decestful wretch. Sec Eliezer and Jacob.

LAB

LABOUR; (1.) Diligent care and pains; and fo the diligent and hard work of the ministry, is called labour, and ministers labourers; and travelling,

L A C [72] L A M

velling, is called labour, Prov. xiv. 23. Eccl. i. 3. 1 Theff. v. 12. 1 Tim. v. 17. Josh. vii. 3. (2.) The pangs of a woman in child-bith, Gen. xxxv. 16. 17. (3.) The fruit or effect of labour and diligence, Exod. xxiii. 16. Eccl. ii. 10. 11. Hab. iii. 17. The evil of fin and mifery, and the painful fervice of God, Rev. xiv. 13. The labour of faints and ministers, includes both their obedience and fuffering, 2 Cor. v. 9. To labour in the Lord, is, in a state of union to the Lord Jefus, and deriving strength from him, to be earnefly employed in his fervice, whether of preaching the gospei, supporting such as do it, privately instructing others, or caring for the poor, I Theff. v. 12. Rom. xvi. 12. Christ's biring labourers into his vineyard, at the 3d, 6th, 9th, and 11th hour, fignifies his effectual calling of men in very different periods of life, early, middle, declining, or decrepit age, or in different periods of times under the Old Testament, in the apostolic, or in the millennial age, or in the different periods of John Baptift, Christ's and his apostles ministrations, Matth. xx. 1.—16.

LACHISH; a city of Judah, about 20 miles fouth-east of Jerusalem, and feven fouth-west of Eleutheropolis. The king of it was one of the affiftants of Adonizedek against the Gibeonites, and had his kingdom deftroyed by Joshua, Josh. x. 5. 32. xii. 11. xv. 39. Rehoboam fortified it; Amaziah fled to it when his fervants conspired against him, 2 Chron. xi. 9. 2 Kings xiv. 19. As it had been most early or most eminently involved in idolatry, the inhabitants are ironically warned to flee off whenever Sennacherib invaded Judea, Mic. i. 13. When he came, he befieged it with his whole force; and hence he directed his threatening missive to Hezekiah; but whether Lachifh was taken, or whether Sennacherib raifed the fiege to take Libnah ere Tirhakalı fhould come up with his Ethiopian troops, I know not, 2 Kings xviii. 17. xix. 8. 2 Chron. xxxvi. 9. If. hxxvi. 2. xxxvii. 5. It is certain Nebuchadnezzar took and demolifhed it, Jer. xxxiv. 7.; but it was afterwards rebuilt, and was a place of fome note about 400 years after Christ.

LAISH, or Leshem. See Dan. LADE; men are faid to be laden, when oppressed with grievous taxes and hard servitude, I Kings xii. 11.; or oppressed with troublesome ceremonies and traditions, Luke xi. 46.; or oppressed with the guilt and the care of getting or keeping ill-gotten wealth, Hab. ii. 6.; or when under the guilt and power of much sin, Is. i. 4. 2 Tim. iii. 6.; or when under the guilt and power of sin, and also under trouble, outward or inward, Matth. xi. 28.

LADY. See LORD.

LAKE; a loch, or very large pool of flanding water, fuch as the lake of Merom, Gennefaret, Sodom, &c. See JORDAN, SEA. The lakes of Egypt are for a defence to the country, If. xix. 5. 6. 7. Ezek. xxix. 3. Hell is called a lake burning with fire and brimftone, to reprefent the terrible, difagreeable, and lafting nature of its torments, Rev. xix. 20. xx. 10.—15.

LAMB. See sheep.

LAME; maimed, or enfeebled in the limbs, 2 Sam. iv. 4. Lameness disqualitied from officiating in the priest-hood, or for being offered in facrifice. Did not this intimate, that in Jesus, our great priest and facrifice, there is no want of ability to perform his work, and no readiness to be turned out of the way? Lev. xxi. 18. Dent. xv. 21. Persons weak in body, or in their intellectuals and grace, and halting between different opinions, are called lame, Is. xxxiii. 23. Heb. xii. 13.

LAMECH; a defeendant of Cain by Methufael. He is reckoned the first that ever married more wives than one; his wives were Adah and Zillah. One day he, with a solemn air, told them, that he had slain, or could slay a man to, or in, his wounding, and a young man to, or in, his hurt; and that if Cain should be avenged seven-fold, Lamech should be seventy times seven-fold. The meaning of this speech is not agreed on. Some think, that in his blindness he slew Cain, who was hid in a bush, mistaking him for a wild beaft, and afterwards flew his own fon Tubal-cain, for directing him to shoot at that bush: others think he had flain two godly perfons; and that the name of Tubal-cain his fon, imported his daring refolution to defy the vengeance of Heaven, and bring back Cain to his native foil. Perhaps rather, he meant no more but to threaten his unruly wives with fome dreadful mischief, if they were not duly fubmissive; boasting, that he was able to flay a man suppose he were wounded; and threatening, that if the murderer of Cain who killed his brother was to be fevenfold punished of God, they might expect that the murderer of Lamech, who had killed no body, should be feventy times more punished.

LAM [73] LAM

By Adah, Lamech had two fons; Jabal, who first invented dwelling in tents, and roving about with herds of cattle; and Jubal, who was the first inventer of music on harps and organs. By Zillah he had Tubal-cain, the first inventor of foundry and fmith-work, and is supposed to be the Vulcan, or god of fmiths among the Heathen; and a daughter called Naamah, or the comely one, who is perhaps the most ancient Venus of the Pagans, Gen. iv. 18,— 24. (2.) Lamech the fon of Methufelah, and father of Noah, who lived 777 years, and died five years before the flood, Gen. v. 25,-31. I Chron. i. 3. Luke iii. 36.

LAMENT. See MOURN.

LAMPS; a kind of lights_made with oil in a veffel; they were ordinaly placed on a high stand, or candleflick, which flood on the ground. Perhaps those used by Gideon and his foldiers were a kind of torches of old linen rags, wrapt about a piece of iron or potter's earth, and from time to time moistened with oil, Judg. vii. 20. Nineveh was taken in the night, when the enemy needed torches to illuminate their chariots, Nah. ii. 3, 4. The Arabian and other eaftern princes adorn their tents with lamps. In Egypt, all inhabited apartments have a lamp burn-Vol. IJ.

ing in them all night. But it feems their lamps, at least at Cairo in Egypt, give but a faint light. In many parts of the East, particularly in the Indies, instead of torches and slambeaux, they carry a pot of oil in one hand, and a lamp full of oiled rags in the other, Matth. xxv. 4. Successors are called a lamp, because they increase or continue the glory of their predecessors, I Kings xv. 4. Pfal. exxxii. 17. governors of Judah are like a torch in a (heaf amidst their enemies; the Maccabees and their fucceffors, for above 100 years, were noted destroyers of the Syro-Grecians, Arabians, Edomites, Philiftines, and others; and in the beginning of the millennium their governors shall still more fignally cut The *burn*off their foes, Zech. xii. 6. ing lamp iffuing out of a smoaking furnace, that paffed between the pieces of Abraham's divided pieces of animals, imported the peculiar prefence of God with the Hebrews in their Egyptian bondage, and that their falvation therefrom should at last be glorioufly effected, Gen. xv. 17. likened to a lamp, he enlightens, comforts, and honours his people, 2 Sam. xxii. 29. The feven lamps of the golden candelflick, figured out Jesus and his church, as possessed of the fulness of the Holy Ghost, and of divine oracles and knowledge, Exod. xxv. 37. The Holy Ghost is likened to feven lamps of fire burning before God's throne, to mark the fully instructive, comforting, heart-warming, and findestroying nature of his influence, Rev. iv. 5. The feven lamps of the golden candlestick, in Zecharian's vision, which received their oil from the bowl or fountain by pipes, are a fufficient number of ministers, deriving their light, comfort, gifts, and grace, from Jefus, by the pipes of ordinances, reading the feriptures, meditation, prayer, and by faith, Zech. iv. 2. Christ's eyes of infinite knowledge, and of difcovered affection or wrath, are as lamps of fire, most penetrating and pure, and vet, how terrible to his enemies! Dan. x. 6. The word of God is a lamp and

LAN [74] LAN

LAN [] it directs mens courfe, and comforts their hearts amidst the darkness of this world, Pfal. cxix. 105. The lamp ordained for God's anointed, is either Jefus, who is the light of the world, and the continued honour of David's family; or it is the gospel, which, from age to age, maintains the fame and honour of our Redeemer in the world, Pfal. cxxxii. 17. A profession of religion is called a lamp; it renders men fluining and ufeful, and instructers of others, Matth. xxv. 3, 4. Prosperity is a lamp; it renders men cheerful, noted, and glorious, Prov. xiii. 9. xx. See CANDLE, FIRE, LIGHT. The falvation of the church from her troubles is likened to a burning lamp; it is bright and visible, and its effects are instructive and comforting, If. lxii. 1.

LANCE; a fpear; but the word CHIDON is translated a target, I Sam.

xvii. 6.

LANCETS; javelins; fhort fpears, I Kings xviii. 28.

LANCH; to put from shore into the fea, Luke viii. 22.

LAND; (1.) The whole continent of the earth, as diffinguished from the fea, Matth. xxiii. 5. (2.) A particular country, especially what parts of it are fit to be ploughed, Matth.ix. 26. Gen. xxvi. 12. Acts iv. 37. Mat. xix. 29. (3.) The inhabitants of a country, If. xxxvii. 11. Canaan is called Immanuel's land, or the Lord's land. It enjoyed the peculiar care, protection, prefence, and ordinances of our Redcemer; and in it he long dwelt in our nature, If. viii. 8. It was a land ef promise, as given by promise to Abraham and his feed, Heb. xi. q. was a land of uprightness; as there, men having the oracles of God, ought to have uprightly behaved towards God and man, If. xxvi. 10. It is called a land of unwalled villages, as it feems, the Jews at their return, in the beginning of the millennium, will not fortify their cities, Ezek. xxxviii. 11. Egypt is called a land of trouble and anguifb, because there the Hebrews were exceedingly differeffed, and it has long been a fcene of terrible calamities, If xxx. 6. Babylon was a land of graven images; idolatry mightily prevailed in it, Jer. l. 38. The land of the living is this world, wherein men are before death, and the heavenly state, where no death ever enters, Pfal. cxvi. 9. xxvii. 13. The grave is the land of darkness, and of the shadow of death, Job x. 21, 22.; and of forgetfulness, as men are soon forgotten after they are buried, Pfal. lxxxviii. 13.

LANES; the narrow closes in a city, where poor people generally dwell, Luke xiv. 21.

LANGUAGE; a fet of words made use of by the people of any particular country, or countries, to express their thoughts. No doubt God, at the first, inspired men with language. Without supposing this, we see not how they could fo early converfe with God, or the man with his wife. While men lived fo long, and applied only to the more fimple methods of life, as before the flood, their ideas were few, and their language was eafily preferved without alteration. For fome time after the flood, mankind were still of one language and speech; but what it was is not fo readily agreed. Could we, with Shuckford, believe that Noah went almost directly eastward to China, we fhould readily imagine the Chinese language, which is but fimple, and its original words very few, was the first one. But as it is certain Noah did not retire to thefe eaftern regions before the building of Babel, and not evident that he did fo afterwards, we cannot adopt this opinion. When we observe the fimplicity and emphasis of the Hebrew tongue; when we confider how exactly the Hebrew names of animals fuit their natures, and how exactly the names of persons suit to the reason of their imposition, we cannot but declare for the Hebrew. It is abfurd for the Chaldaic, Affyrian, Arabic, or Ethiopic, to compete in this claim. Every unbiaffed obferver will plainly fee them but dialects of the Hebrew tongue; and perhaps they, as well as the Phenician, were for many ages almost quite the fame with the Hebrew. As the Jews lived in a manner fo diffinct from other people, they bid fairest to preserve their language uncorrupted. As we have no standard book in the Hebrew besides the Old Testament, the signification of not a few of its words, seldom used, is not altogether certain to us; but by tracing them in similar words of the Arabic, &c. we may arrive at what is very probable.

LAN 75 1 LAN

How God confounded the language of mankind at Babel; whether he made them forget the meaning of their words, and put one name for another; or whether he infpired the most of them with new languages, is not eafy to fay. is certain, the ancient language of the Gomerians, Hups, Greeks, Gr. did not a little refemble the Hebrew; and that there are other languages, fuch as the Sclavonic, and fundry of America, between which and the Hebrew we can fcarce trace the finallest refemblance. Into how many languages speech was divided at Babel, it is impossible to fay. Alfledius enumerates about 400; but makes only 72 distinguished ones, and five chief ones, viz. the Hebrew, Greek, Latin, Germanic, and Sclavonic. At prefent a fort of Arabic mightily prevails in western Asia, and in the north of Africa. Mingled dialects of the Latin and Teutonic, &c. mostly prevail in the west of Europe. The French and English are the most esteemed.—When God cast off the Gentiles, he confounded their language; when he called them back to his church, he gave his apostles the miraculous gift of speaking with tongues, Gen. xi. Acts ii. The language of Canaan, or a pure language, is a proper manner of speech in prayer to God, and editying converse with men, If. xix. 18. Zeph. iii. 9.

As the use of language is to convey ideas from one to another, that must be the best style, which conveys them in the most just, clear, and affecting manner, fuiting, at once, the subject spoken of, and the person speaking, and those to whom he speaks. To render language perspicuous, every word and phrase, if possible, should be pure, belonging to the idiom in which one speaks; should be proper, authorifed by the best speakers and writers in that language; and should precisely express the idea to be conveyed, without any foreign or fuperfluous circumstance added thereto. In fentences, there ought to be clearnefs, the words, efpecially those which express the principal ideas, being fo placed, as to mark the relation of one idea to another, without the least ambiguity: there ought to be unity, the principal object being still kept unchanged, and no way obscured or diverted from, by a mention of things flightly related to it, whether included in parenthesis or not: there ought to be strength, so as it may make the more impression; uselefs words ought to be rejected, and the principal words placed where they appear most brightly, and the members of the fentence made to rife in their importance: there ought to be HAR-MONY, the words being fo chosen or disposed, as the found may be expresfive of the fenfe, at least not disagreeable to the ear. In every language, especially of the eastern nations, whose imaginations were warm, there is a great use of tropes and figures, and which, if they rife naturally from the fubject, and from the genius of the fpeaker, and are but fparingly used, and that only to express thoughts of proper dignity, tend not a little to explain a fubject, and to embellish the ftyle, by rendering it more copious, more dignified, more expressive, and more picturefque. Metaphor, hyperbole, perfonification, address, comparifon, interrogation, exclamation, vifion, repetition, and amplification, are the principal figures of speech. To preferve the world from counterfeit writings, God has endowed every man with a flyle, or manner of language, peculiar to himself; and often it is concife, diffuse, perplexed, manly, smooth, sprightly, smart, gloomy, or dull, &c. according to the turn of the person's passion, imagination, or thought. hide pride from man, scarce any pos-K 2 fels all the graces of language: few towering writers are very correct; and as few very correct writers have much fire. Nay, few authors write always like themselves, but even the elegant sometimes fink into the frigid, or foar into airy bomb if. - As fublimity of style lies in the expression of grand thoughts in few and plain words, it must indeed be opposite to airy bombast, or high swollen language, without fentiment, or clothing thoughts, puny and common; and to childish conceits, filly puns, forced and unnatural antitheses, unnatural and felf-opposing comparisons, affected jingles of found, -and to every ill-timed elevation or fall of the language, that corresponds not with the rife or fall of the thought: but it is fo far from being contrary to real fimplicity and plainness, that simplicity is one of the principal beauties of fublime language, and nothing is more contrary to the true sublimity of style, than the airy bombast, and pert conceited manner which fome abfurdly imagine the perfection of language. In respect of ornament, style is either dry, where there is fearce a word to embellish, or plain, or neat, or elegant, or florid. As both the first and last are extremes, the first approaching to the frigid and grovelling, and the last to the airy bomball, neither are much to be coveted.

As the true propriety of language lies in its fuitableness to the subject, and the persons concerned, nothing can be supposed more proper to be used on religious subjects, or more truly fublime, than the ftyle of the only wife, and the most gracious God, in his word. Nor can I imagine, what can tempt any to think otherwife, except it be their vain affectation of idle romances, their ignorance of the scriptures, especially in the original tongues, and their hatred of their divine Author .-Can language more beautifully correfpond with its subject! In the descriptions of God, and his appearances, how grand and majestic! Enod. xv. 1,-18. Deal. xxxii. 2,-43. Pfal. xviii. 1.—18. if. xl. 10,—28. lvii. 15. America 13. Heb. II. In deferibing the overthrow of nature, cities, or nations, how noify and terrifying! 2 Pet. iii. 9, 10. Rev. vi. 14,-18. If. xxiv. Jer. l. li. Nah. i. 3,—6. ii. 1,—10. iii. 17, 18. In pointing forth the Meffiah, and the glory and peace of his kingdom, how fweet and delightful! If. xi. xii. xxxv. In gofpel-invitations to receive him as the free-gift of God, how foft and captivating! Pfal. xxxiv. 8. lxxxi. 10,-12. Deut. xxxii. 29. Prov. i. 23. ix. 4, 5. xxiii. 26. Song iv. 8. v. 1, 2. If. i. 18. lv. 1, 3, 7. In expostulation, how rapid and urgent, Prov. i. 22. Ezek. xxxiii. 11. If. lv. 2. In lamentation, how pathetic and tender, as if every word was a groan, Jer. ix. 1. Lam. i .-- v. Matth. xxiii. 37. Luke xix. 41,—44. In the discourses of Jesus, and the epistles of John, how familiar, but never frigid, grovelling, or pickt up from the low rabble! In God's promulgation of the ten commands from Sinai, how plain, but truly fublime!

No book has its style more adorned with every beautifying trope or figure than the oracles of God. As the hiftorical part is most furprisingly plain, fo the poetic and other parts are decked with all the finery of true ornament. Tropes remove the words used from their natural fignification, to another fome way connected therewith. Those in scripture are drawn from things obvious and wellknown, andrepresent the object expressed under the intended idea. When the name of the cause is put for that of the effect, or that of the subject for that of the adjunct, or the reverse, it is called a metonomy, Rev. i. 10. Zech. xi. 1. 1 John i. 3. When more univerfal terms are put for fuch as are more restricted, or a whole for a part, or the contrary, it is called a fynecdoche, Matth. iii. 5. John xix. 42. Pfal. i. 1. Acts ii. 41. When more is fignified than the expression necessarily bears, it is a meiosis, or abatement, as is oft the case in negative precepts and promises, Exod. xx. 3,—17. If. xlii. 3. 4. When lefs is meant than the expression naturally bears, it is an hyperbole, or excefs of the language, Gen. xi. 4. xiii. 16.

Jut

Job xxix. 6. 2 Sam. i. 23. When the cency or the like, a thing is described contrary of what the expression naturally fignifies is meant, it is an irony, or mock, Deut. xxxii. 38. Eccl. xi. 9. I Kings xviii. 27. When one thing is represented in words that natively mean a thing fomewhat fimilar, it is a metaphor, John x. 9. xiv. 6. A metaphor continued, or oft repeated, forms an allegory or parable, Song i. -viii. Luke xv. Figures relate to a whole fentence. Their principal kinds are, (1.) Exclamation, whereby, as with an outcry, the vehemence of fome particular paffion is expressed, Zech. ix. 17. Rom. vii. 24. (2.) Doubt, where a debate in one's mind, what he should do, is expressed, Gen. xxxviii. 30. (3.) Correction, whereby one retracts what he had faid, as too little, or too much, or as an entire mistake, Gal. ii. 20. 1 Cor. xv. 10. (4.) Suppression, when one stops before he finish his fentence, as overwhelmed with wonder, grief, rage, &c. Pfal. vi. 3. (5.) Omi/fion, when one feems to pass what he plainly, but briefly hints, Heb. vi. 1. (6.) Address to persons or things, Pfal. xxxv. 10. 1 Kings xxii. 28. Job xvi. 18. (7.) Sufpenfion, when the principal point is referved till the laft, and the reader or hearer kept in expectation of it, Luke xvii. 26,-30. (8.) Interrogation, when questions are atked, and fometimes answered, in a difcourfe; to which exposulatory reasoning with one, may be reduced, John iii. 4. Gen xviii. 14. If lv. 2. x. 3. (9) Prevention, whereby an objection is directly or indirectly flarted and anfwered; to which may be joined pre-munition, whereby one, in the beginning of his discourse, guards himself against the prejudice and misapprehenfion of those he speaks to, Rom. ix. 1,-6. 19,-23. (10.) Concession, in which fomething is granted, in order to infer some other thing from it, Job xix. 4. Rom. ii. 17,-24. Jam. ii. 19. (11.) Repetition of the fame ideas, in the fame or in different words, Pfal. xviii. 1,—3. xxii. 1. If. lxi. 10. (12.) Circumlocution, whereby, to avoid indein words more in number, or less plain, Jer. xxii. 28. Job xviii. 4. (13.) Amplification, when every principal expreffion in a passage adds plainness, strength, or grandeur, to what went before; to which climax, or gradation, where the term or phrase conclusive of the former expression begins the next, may be added, If. i. 22, 23. Rom. viii. 29, 30. (14.) Omission of copulatives, to mark eagerness of passion, Rom. i. 29,—31.; and fometimes frequent repetition of copulatives readers a fentence folemn, and every verb or fubstantive therein emphatic, Rev. v. 12. (15.) Opposition, whereby things different, or contrary, are placed together, that the nature of either, or both, may be shown with more clearness and force, 1 Tim. i. 13. 2 Cor. v. 7. Rom. viii. 1. Mark xvi. 16. Ezek. xx. (16.) Comparison, whereby things fimilar are likened to one another, to illustrate one of them, Song ii. 2, 3.; of this kind are parables. (17.) Lively defeription, wherein, by a nice arrangement of the principal ideas, the thing is almost as clearly represented as if it were before our eyes, 2 Pet. iii. 9, 10. (18.) Vision, or image, whereby things distant, or unfeen, are reprefented in a lively and emphatic manner, to raife wonder, terror, compaffion, care, Rev. xviii. 9,— 19. Heb. xii. 1. (19.) Personification, when qualities, or things inanimate, are reprefented, as if thinking, speaking, hearing, or acting, as rational persons, Is. i. 2. xiv. 8,-12. Rom. viii. 22. Job xxviii. 22. (20.) Change of person or time, as when a speaker puts himself for others, or the present time for the past or future, &c. Is. xvi. 9. liii. 12. To this may be reduced, introduction of persons speaking, Is. iii. 7. iv. 1. (21.) Transition from one fubject to another, in which a fubject tending to illustrate the principal is fometimes abruptly introduced, I Cor. xii. 31. If. xi. xii. Rom. xiv. 1. (22.) Sentence, is a short and lively remark on what is treated of, Rom. iii. 31. To which may be reduced epiphonema, or a concluding concluding observe on a discourse,

LAN [78] LAT

Rom. xi. 33 *.

LANGUISH; the world or earth languisheth, when its furface is withered, its cities destroyed, and inhabitants killed, If. xxiv. 4. xxxiii. 9. Vines, olives, flowers, and other vegetables, languish, when they wither and fade, Jer. xxiv. 7. Joel i. 10. Nah. i. 4. Persons languish, when they become weak, and their comelines fades, Jer.

xv. 9. Pfal. xli. 3. LAODICEA. There were at least fix cities of this name; but the feripture mentions only that of Phrygia, on the river Lyous near Coloffe. It was anciently called Jupiter's city, and then Rhoas; but Scleucus, or perhaps Antiochus, the Syro-Grecian king, rebuilt it, and called it Laodicea after his wife. Though Paul never preached here, yet a Christian church was early planted in this place. were in the fame danger of false teachers as the Coloffians; and fo Paul orders his epittle to the Coloffians to be read to them. He also mentions a letter from Laodicea; but whether it was the epiltle to Timothy, or that to the Ephefians, which the Laodiceans had had the perufal of, or whether it was some letter the Laodiceans had fent him, we know not. There is still extant a letter, pretended to be that of Paul to the Laodicean church; but it is agreed to be spurious, and Timotheus, a priest of Constantinople, fays, it was forged by the Manichees, Col. ii. 1. iv. 15, 16 About A. D. 96, the Christians of Laodicca were become extremely ignorant, proud, felf-conceited, and carelefs about eternal things; Jefus Christ therefore directed John to write them an epiftle, for their conviction and amendment; and at prefent, Laodicea is not only unchurched, but is a mere defert, with fome ruins fcarce furficient to mark that ever fuch a city was in the place, and is called Eskhissar by the Turks, Rev. i. 11. iii. 15,-21.

LAPWING. Calmet thinks the * Sec. 10 19 Book I. and Introduction to Self-interpreting Bills.

Duchiphab is the hoopopoo, which is a bird about the bignefs of a thrush. Its beak is long, black, thin, and a little hooked. It has a tuft of feathers on its head, which it raifes or lowers as it pleafeth. Its legs are grey and fhort; its neck and stomach reddish; its wings and tail black, with white streaks; its wings roundish at the point; its flight flow. In northern countries it is feen but about three months of the year; during the rest of it, it probably removes to warmer regions. Its form is beautiful, but its voice is hoarfe and unmufical. It generally makes its neft in old ruins, or on way-fides. It feeds much on worms, and on human dung, and makes its neft thereof. Others take this bird to be the black-breafted Tringa, with a hanging crest, or top on its head. It is a beautiful bird, about the fize of a pigeon, and very common in fen countries, through most of Europe. On each foot it has four toes, connected as those of a duck. It is very dexterous in decoying perfons or dogs from its nest, Lev. xi. 19.

LARGE. Affyria was a large or extensive country, or place, If. xxi. 18. Hof. iv. 16. David was set in a large place, or room, when he had great liberty and comfort, and was advanced to extensive power and authority, Psal.

xviii. 19. xxxi. 8. cxviii. 5. LASCIVIOUSNESS. See wan-

TON.

LAST; (1.) Late, later, or latest in time, Gen. xlix. 1. God is the first and the last; is from eternity to eternity, Is. xliv. 6. (2.) Worst in condition: Many that are first shall be last, and the last shall be first: the Jews, that were first brought into a church-state, and had the gospel first preached to them, shall in the end be most miserable; and the Gentiles that were last called to the fellowship of God's Son, shall, multitudes of them, be for ever most happy, Matth. xix. 30. xx. 16.

The LATIN tongue, was the language of the ancient Romans, but now it is only learned in the fehools; but the Italian, French, Spanish, and, in part,

LAT [79] LAW

part, the English and Portuguese language, are derived from it, John xix.

LATTICE. See WINDOW.
LAUD; to praise; extol, Rom.
kv. 11.

LAVER; a veffel for washing. The Mofaic laver was made of the fine brazen looking-glaffes, which the Hebrew women brought to him for the fervice This laver held the of the tabernacle. facred water for the priefts to wash their hands and feet with, by cocks, at which the water run into bafons. It flood between the altar and the entrance of the tabernacle, Exod. xxxviii. 8. Solomon made ten new lavers. According to Calmet, these consisted of two vessels, a fquare one placed above one shaped like a bason. The square vessel was adorned with the figures of the head of an ox, lion, and cherubim, drawn thereon. The bason was supported by a cherubim, flanding on a pedeftal, which was mounted on brazen wheels to run on, from one place to another. Each of these contained 40 baths, or about 6851 Scots pints. These lavers contained water to wash the pieces of the facrifice, and were placed five on the fouth fide and five on the north fide of the entrance to the temple; but Ahaz removed them off their bases, to make way for his idolatrous worship, 1 Kings vii. 27.—39. 2 Chron. iv. 6.—14. 2 Kings xvi. 17. Solomon also made a huge laver, containing 2000 baths for ordinary, and 3000, or about 6426 gallons and 3 pints, on a stretch. This was supported by 12 brazen oxen, three of which had their heads toward every airth; this was for the priefts to wash at, and was called the brazen fea, I Kings vii. 22.—44. 2 Chron. iv. Did not these lavers represent Jesus in his fulness of righteousness and Spirit, to justify and fanctify his people, who are priests unto God; and to render their facrifices of prayer and praife acceptable in his fight?

LAUGH. God laughs at men when he difregards their trouble, contemns their opposition, and takes pleasure in punishing them, Job ix. 23. Pfal. ii. 4. xxxvii. 13. Prov. i. 26. Mens laughter imports, (1.) Their rejoicing in the bleffings promifed to or possessed by them, and in their divine fecurity from the calamities of famine, peftilence, &c. Gen. xvii. 17. xxi. 6. Luke vi. 21. Job v. 22. (2.) Their finful mirth, doubt of God's fulfilment of his promife, or their derision of other men, Luke vi. 25. Gen. xviii. 12. 13. If I had laughed on them they believed it not, and the light of my countenance they cast not down. When I looked checrfully on them, or even innocently jefted with them, they did not become prefumptuous, or too familiar, but supposed I had a ferious meaning, and they were afraid of abufing my finiles, Job xxix. 24. in laughter the heart is forrowful; amidst finful or exceffive mirth, an evil confcience often flings, and fad calamities happen, Prov. xix. 13. Laughter is mad, and as the crackling of thorns; foolish and excessive mirth shews one so far deftitute of reason, is very dangerous to be meddled with; and as it is fenfelefs, fo it is fnort-lived, Eccl. ii. 2. vii. 6.

A LAW properly is the declared. will of a fuperior, obliging his fubjects to perform what is pleafing to him, and to avoid what displeases him; but the fcripture uses this word to express any thing that communicates instruction to or occasions any obligation on an inferior. It is the fame with commandments, precepts, flatutes. When God created man at first, he imprinted the knowledge, love, and awe of his law on their minds. Sin has defaced, but not utterly erazed this inwrought impression, as to the knowledge and awe of the divine law, Rom. ii. 14. 15. Our confeiences still suggest to us our obligation to believe in, worship, and ferve the fupreme Being; to honour our parents and governors; to promote our own real welfare and happiness, in time and eternity; and to do to others as we reafonably with they would unto us, &c.: but how to perform thefe things truly and acceptably, or how to obtain pardon of what we do anias, they inform us not. In the innocent flate. God added the politive laws of observing a Sabbath; of abstinence from the fruit of the tree of knowledge, and of fruitfulness in and government of the earth, Gen. i. ii. After the fall, the law of facrifices was imposed, Gen. iii. 21. The Jews often mention the feven precepts imposed on Noah and his family; the first whereof, they fay, enjoined subjection to governors; the fecond prohibited blafples-· my; the third prohibited idolatry and fuperstition; the fourth forbade incest, fodomy, befliality, and the like impurities; the fifth prohibited murder; the fixth prohibited all kinds of theft; and the feventh forbade the eating any part of an animal while it was yet living: but we cannot fafely depend on their accounts of this feven-fold law, Gen. ix. God imposed the law of circumcifion on Abraham and his family, Gen. xvii. To Moses and the Hebrews in the defert, God gave a threefold fystem of laws; a moral fystem, which binds all persons of mankind, in every nation and age; a ceremonial, which prescribed the rites of their worship and facred things, and thereby pointed out Jefus Christ, in his person and work, and the blefings of his New-Testament church and heavenly kingdom; and which were obligatory only till Jefus had finished his purchasing work, and began to creet his gospel-church, Heb. x. i. vii. 9.—11. Eph. ii. 15. 16. Col. ii. 14. Gal. v. 2. 3.; and a judicial or political fystem, which directed the policy of the Jewish nation, as under the peculiar dominion of God as their fupreme Magistrate, and never, except in things relative to moral equity, was binding on any but the Hebrew nation, especially while they enjoyed the poffession of the promised land.

ebferin≖

The moral law was most folemnly proclaimed by God himself, after a terrible thunder, lightning, and earthquake, and from the midst of the slames of fire, and was divided into ten precepts, and written by God himself once and again, upon two tables of stone. Four respecting our duty to God, were written on the first, which, in sum, required our loving him, as the Lord our

God, with all our heart, foul, mind, and ftrength: fix were written on the fecond, which, in fum, required our loving our neighbour as ourfelves, Exod. xix. xx. xxxii. xxxiv. Matth. xxii. 37. -39. More particularly, the first commandment required, that God alone should, both in heart and life, be acknowledged, worshipped, and glorisied as the true God, and our God; and all Atheifm, profanenefs, and idolatry abstained from. The fecond required, that all the ordinances of worship, instituted by God, in his word, should be received, obferved, and kept pure and entire, and all carnal conceptions of God, all idolatry and fuperstition and monuments, or occasions thereof, detested. third required, that God's names, titles, attributes, ordinances, words, and works, should be, under the severest penalties, used only in a holy and reverend manner. The fourth required, that whatever times God has appointed in his word, particularly one whole day in feven, be carefully observed, in fpiritual exercifes, as holy to the Lord. The fifth required the prefervation of honour, and performance of relative duties between parents and children, husbands and wives, masters and servants, magistrates and subjects, minifters and people, and, in fine, between fuperiors and inferiors, in age, station, gifts, or grace, and between equals one to another. The fixth required all lawful endeavours to promote and preferve the life of ourselves and others, temporal, fpiritual, or eternal, and probibited all malice, envy, murder, angry words, drunkennefs, and every thing elfe, tending to the hurt of foul or body. The feventh prohibited all kinds of whoredom, fernication, adultery, in- \mathbf{c} ear, bestiality, self-defilement, and \mathbf{o} ther uncleanaefs, and every thing in heart, speech, or behaviour, tending thereto. The eighth required, that every thing lawful be done, to promote our own and our neighbour's outward estate, and all dishonesty, stealing, robbery, extortion, oppression, facrilege, &c. be detefted. The ninth required the utmost care to maintain and preferve truth, and our own and our neighbour's good name, and prohibited all falfehood, lying, diffimulation, flattery, railing, or reproachful language. The tenth prohibited the very root of wickedness in the heart, and first motions thereof, and all discontentment, envy, inordinate affections towards our neighbour, or any thing that is his. These precepts may be considered in a threefold light, (1.) As the law of nature; in which view, they require perfect obedience, under the penalty of infinite punishment, but entail no reward of eternal life on the perfect obferver of them. (1.) As formed into a covenant of works, in which fense they are called the law of works, and require perfect obedience under pain of death, temporal, spiritual, and eternal, and entail eternal happiness on the complete fulfiller thereof, which, in our lapfed state, it is impossible for any of mankind to be, Rom. x. 5. Gal. iii. 10. 12. 21. All men by nature are under and defire to be under this law, and are of the works of it. ignorantly and proudly imagine they can fulfil it, at least in a good degree, and heartily detefting the Lord Jefus Christ, and his righteousness, and the whole method of falvation through him, they cleave to it, and expect happiness by the works of it, Rom. ix. 31.—33. x. 3. (3.) As the law of Christ, or a rule of duty in the hand of Jesus Christ as Mediator; in this sense, they require perfect obedience in the highest degree, but admit of the acceptance of whatever obedience is done in faith; and they have no fanction of divine wrath or of fervile reward, but only of fatherly chaftifements for fin, and gracious rewards of duty, and in the heavenly state it hath no fanction at all, nor are any but believers under the law in this form, Matth. v. 48. xi. 30. 1 Cor. ix. 21.

LAW SI J LAW

Whether the divine oracles published from Sinai, exhibited the covenant of grace or the covenant of works, or a national covenant between God and Ifrael, has been controverted. To me, the whole dispute feems easy to be com-promifed. When we confider the ten commandments as ushered in with such terrible thunders and lightnings, and as attended with a curse to the breaker, they appear plainly a republication of the covenant of works, in order to alarm the Hebrews to flee from it to Jefus, the deliverer, Exod. xix. xx. Deut. xxvii. When we confider the ten commandments as founded on the preface, and laid up in the ark, and attended with the facrifices and other ceremonies confidered in their gospel-fignification, there appears a declaration of the covenant of grace, and of the law, as a rule of life embosomed therein. When we confider these laws as required to be observed, in order to secure an happy entrance into Canaan, and a peaceful refidence therein, we justly take them up as the matter of a national covenant between God and Ifrael.

The ceremonial law regulated the office and conduct of priests, Levites, NETHINIMS, NAZARITES, and of cir-CUMCISION, FEASTS, OFFERINGS, TA-BERNACLE, TEMPLE, and utenfils thereof, vows, purifications, &c. In respect of observance, this law was a heavy yoke and partition-wall; but in refpect of the fignification of its ceremonies, it was an obscure gospel, Gal. v. 1. Eph. ii. 14. Col. ii. 17. The judicial law regulated the affairs of their kings, judges, fields, marriages, punishments, &c. Some laws relative to redeemers, murders, adultery, cities of refuge, hanged malefactors, strangers, &c. feem to have been partly ceremonial and partly judicial. Great care was taken to keep up the knowledge of the divine law. Befides the tables of the ten commandments reposited in the ark, a copy of the books of Moses was laid up somewhere in the fide of the ark. The Jews fay that every tribe had a copy of it. From this other copies were taken. Every king was obliged to transcribe one for himself. The whole law was to be publicly read over at the feast of tabernacles in the year of release, befides the reading of it on other public Nay, they were required occasions. to have it written on their hearts, and to teach it diligently unto their children, Deut. xvii. xxxi. 9 .-- 19. vi. x. To this day, the Jews have the utmost regard for their law, reading, in the ancient manner, fo much of it every Sabbath in their fynagogues. The book of it publicly used, is written with the greatest exactness, and is carefully posferved from every thing tending to cofile it. See TRADITION. With a great parade of ancient learning, Spencer attempts to prove, that most of the fewish laws, of the ceremonial kind, are but an imitation of the cuftoms of Egypt; and some the very reverse of others, of the abominations used there, to render these odious to them. That fome of the ceremonies were intended to render the vile enflows of the Heathen mound detelled by the Hebrews. we doubt not; but that God formed the rites of his worthip after those of idolaters, we dare not suppose. own infinite wildom, and the nature of the things to be repreferted thereby, were a frandard of regulation much more becoming the Majesty of Heaven. Many of the Egyptian rites were fill very different from the Jewish; and as to be fimilarity of some, it is reasonalor to suppose, that the Egyptiana, in the time of joleph, Solomon, Herekish, or afterward, borrowed them from the Hebrews.

Some think, that by large, precepte, or commandaents in Motes, is meant the moral law; by flatures, the ceremoniai; and by judge works, the judicial laws are figuified; but this observation will not always hold. It is certain, that by law. commandment, precept, flatute, and judgement, used in this figuiliention, is often meant one and the fame thing. The name law, or communichment, may draste, a thing as the will of a fuperior; flatate represents it, as ordained and effablished by high authority; judgement corefents it as full of wildom, and as the Beet red by which God will judge men. I aste pallages of feripture, which require any good quality in us, or good wor't to be performed by us, are the law in a strict sense, John i. 17. The ten commandments are called the laso or commandment: nay, fometimes the last fix are so called, Jan. viii. 11. Rev. xxii, 14. Rom. ii. 25. vi., 7. 8. xiii. 8. The commandment of loving one another is old, as it was contained in the moral law ever fince the creation; and it is new, as enjoyed to fresh by our Saviour, as exem, Fresh his life, and enforced with the new 119tive of his dying love, John ii. 7. 8. xiii. 14. The whole conflitution of the covenant between God and the Hebrows, and the rites of worship thereto belonging, are called a law, or law of ordinances, and a carnal commandment; as, by the authority of God, fo many rites, especially relating to carnal facrifices, washings, and the like, were therein required, Heb. x. 1. vii. 16. Eph. ii. 15. The five books of Mofes are called the law, as they abound with the requirements and prohibitions of God, Mal. iv. 4. Matth. v. 17.; and for the fame reason, the Old Testament is called a law, John x. 34. xv. 35. I Cor. iv. 21. The whole word of God is called a law, flotutes, &c. as it is the fole rule of our faith and practice, Pfal. i. 2. xix. 7. 8. The doctrines of the gospel are called a law, and the law of faith: they teach and instruct men, and when believed by faith, they ftrongly influence to hely obedience, Ifa. ii. 3. xlii. 4. Rotn. iii. 27.: and they are a perfect law of liberty, proclaim a perfect deliverance and redemption to us thro the blood of God's Son, and infligate to a kindly and free obedience to him; or this perfect law of liberty may be taken for the law as a rule in the hand of Christ, which is pleasant to the funts, James i. 25. ii. 12. The law may fometimes denote mens observance of God's commandments, as that correfounds to the law imposed in the scripture, or impressed on the heart, Rem. iii. 21. Gal. iii. 11. Phii. iii. 11. The commandments of men were the traditions of the Jewish elders, Mat. xv. 9. commandments, by willingly walking after which, the Jews rained themselves, and the flatutes not good, given to them, were the idolatrous laws of Jerchoam, Omri, and Ahab, requiring them to worship worship the golden calves, Baal, &c. Hof. v. 11. Ezek. xx. 25. Mic. vi. 16.

LAW [83] LAW

The commandments and word of God are a law ordained to life, and are skututes of life. In believing and obeying thefe, we receive or possess life temporal and spiritual, and are prepared for life eternal, Rom. vii. 10. Ezek. xxxiii. 15. One is quithout the law, when not under the ceremonial law, or not bound by the law, 1 Cor. ix. 21.; or when he is without the knowledge of it, and deflicate of the experience of its convincing power on the confeience, Rom. ii. 12. vii. 8. 9.; or when they have not the word of God revealed to them, Rom. ii. 14. Those under the law, are either Jews under the ceremonial, or finners under the broken covenant, or faints under the law as a rule. By the law is the knowledge of fin; by our confeience comparing our dispositions and conduct with the commands and probibitions of the divine law, our imfulnels is perceived, Rom. iii. 20. One through the law is dead to the law, and dies, when the commandment comes home in its convincing power on his confcience. its convincing force on mens conscience, they are made to give up with all exsectations of life by their own works, and flee to Jefus and the new covenant for relief, Gal. ii. 19. Rom. vii. 9. The law is the strength of fin; the law as a covenant occasionally irritates the corruption of mens nature, they being offended with the strictness of its precepts, and the tearible nature of its curfe; and its curfe binds them over to underly the dominion of fin, as a chief branch of their punishment, I Cor. xv. 56. Rom. vi. 14. The law as a covenant worketh wrath; it condemns bs to the everlasting wrath of God, and occasionally stirs up our corrupt heart to rage against him more and more, Rom. iv. 15. This law has dominion over a man as long as it or he broth. While we are connected with it, and not married to Jefus as the end of the law for righteoufness, it constantly demands perfect obedience, under pain of eternal wrath, and full fatisfaction for the crimes we have already committed, and retains full power to curse and condemn us to infernal punishments for the least fault, Rom. vii. 2. One is dead to the law, and redeemed from under it, by the body or mediation of Christ, when, through the application of Jefac's lave-liabiliting and magnifying rightentimels to his person and conscience, he is united to him, justified, and infallibly fixed in a new-covenant state, Rom. vil. 4. vi. 14. Gal. iv. 4. 5. The law is not made for a righteous man; it is not made for him as a covenant of works to cerrify, curfe, and condema him: but the law is good, if a man ufe it lawfully; if he improve it as a covenant to drive him to Jefus Christ; and improve it as a rule, to instigate and direer him how to walk in Christ, ITim. i. 8. 9. The law entered, that the offence might abound; the publishing of the law moral or ceremonial, from Sinai, occasioned the increase of fin, and mightily tended to difcover it, Rom. v. 20. It was added because of transgresfion, i. e. in order to restrain and discover it; but could not make any alteration on the free promifes of grace, as they are established in the law-magnifying righteoulness of our Redeemer, Gal. iii. 17 .- 19. The law is a schoolmaster to tring us to Christ; the ceremomal law pointed him out, and led to bing as the end and antitype of all its rites; the law as a covenant, applied by the Holy Ghost, instigates us to lice to Jefus, to obtain in him that righteoufness which it requires, and escape that wrath which it denounceth, Gal. iv. 24. God puts his law into mens hearts, and writes it in their inward parts, when, by the powerful application of his word, he fauctifies their nature, and renders it conform to his law, as a rule, Heb. viii. 10. x. 16. The law of the spirit of life in Christ Hosus makes free from the law of fin and degile. The covenant of grace or gospel, powerfully applied by the quickening Spirit of Christ, frees us from the broken covenant of works. which is the flrength, irritator, and difcoverer of fin, and condemns to death: the energy of the Holy Ghoth, as in and uniting us to Jefus Christ, frees us from the corruption of our nature, which is fin, and instigates to finful deeds, and renders us obnoxious to death, spiritual, temporal, and eternal, Rom. viii. 2. The principle of grace in the faints is called the law of their mind; influenced by the views of God in Christ, it reigns and determines the foul to obedience. The principle of corruption in men is called the law of fin, as it is altogether finful; and determines to finful thoughts, words, and actions; and is called the law in the members, as, though dislodged from its throne in the heart, it continues strongly to actuate the powers of the foul, and members of the body, to what is filthy and wicked, Rom. vii. 23. 25. Precept upon precept, line upon line, &c. imports, instructions given in fmall portions, and often repeated, as to children weak in capacity, If. xxviii. 10.

LAW [84] LAZ

LAWFUL; agreeable to law. All things are lawful, but all things are not expedient: it is lawful, fimply confidered, to eat any kind of provision; but it may be so circumstantiated, as not to promote the edification of others, I Cor. vi. 12. In his trance, Paul heard things which were not lawful to be uttered; so mysterious and grand, that it was not proper to declare them to men in their embodied state, as they could not be prosited thereby, 2 Cor. xii. 4.

LAWGIVER. God or Christ is a Lawgiver; his fovereign will is the infallible rule of our conduct; and he hath prescribed laws to us in his word, Is. xxxiii. 22. James iv. 12. and he is the only Lord of our conscience, whose mere will binds it to obedience, and whose laws are subject to no examination, being absolutely supreme and infallible. Moses was a lawgiver; by him God gave his system of laws to the Hebrews; the law is called his, and he is said to give its commandments, Numb. xxi. 18. Deut. xxxiii. 21. David and his successors in rule are called lawgivers; they had power of enacting lay s for the civil government of the Hebrewnation, Gen. xlix. 10. Pial. lx. 7.

LAWYER; an explainer of the Jewish laws. The lawyers were generally enemies to our Saviour in the days of his slesh, rejected the counsel of God against themselves, and were condemned by him, for binding heavier burdens on others than themselves chused to bear, Tit. iii. 13. Mat. xxii. 35. Luke
vii. 30. xi. 45.—52.
LAZARUS, together with his sisters Martha and Mary, dwelt at Bethany. Jefus fometimes lodged in their house. One time when he was there Martha, the elder fifter, was extremely careful to have him handsomely enter-She complained to him, that Mary, who anxiously attended his inflructions, did not affift her in preparing the dinner. Jefus told her, that herfelf was too attentive to unnecessary things, while the one thing, of fecuring eternal falvation, was alone abfolutely needful, and that Mary had chofen the good part, of an interest in and fellowship with God, which should never be taken from her, Luke x. 38.— 42. Not many months before our Saviour's death, Lazarus fell dangeroufly fick: his fifters fent to Jefus, who was then beyond Jordan, to come with all expedition to cure him. Upon hearing of it, Jesus told his disciples, that this fickness would not shut up Lazarus into the flate of the dead, but tend to the figual illustration of the glory of God. That the intended miracle might be the more noted, Jesus staid two days longer where he was, till Lazarus was actually dead. He then told the difciples, that their friend Lazarus flept, he meant, in death; and that he went to awake him. Thomas imagining that he fpoke of common fleep, replied, that if Lazarus had fallen into a found fleep, it was a good fign, that the principal danger of the fever was over. Jefus then told them plainly, that Lazarus was actually dead. On the fourth day after his death, and when he had been for fome time interred, Jefus came to Bethany. Martha hearing that he was at hand, met him, and inattentive to his omnipotent power, fuggested, that had he been prefent, her brother had not died. Jefus told her, her brother should be raifed from the dead. She told him, that she knew he would be raised at the last day. Jefus told her, that as himfelf was the refurrection and life, he could raife him when he pleafed: and upon Jefus's asking if she believed this, fhe replied, that she believed he was the Christ, the fon of the living God. Martha went in, and informed Mary that Jefus, the Master, was come, and called for her. Mary went forth, and the Jews imagined she was going to her brother's grave to weep. Mary met our Saviour all in tears, fell at his feet, and faid, if he had been prefent, her brother had not died. When he faw what grief she and the Jews who came with her were oppressed with, and thought what miferies fin hath fubjected men to, he affectionately groaned in himself, and asked where Lazarus was buried. The Jews prefent observing him weep, faid, Behold how he loved him! and added, Could not this man, who opened the eyes of the blind, have prevented his friend's death? After coming to the grave, he ordered them to remove the stone from the mouth of it. This Martha was averfe to, and objected, that now her brother's fmell would be very offenfive, as he had been dead four days. Jefus admonished her to believe, and she should quickly see a display of the glorious power of God. After thanking his Father for hearing him always, he bid Lazarus come forth. The dead body immediately started up alive, and Jefus ordered those present to take off his dead-clothes, that he might be able to walk. This noted miracle, wrought almost at the gates of Jerusalem, so enraged the Jewish rulers, that they resolved to murder both Jefus and Lazarus, that the report of it might be stopt. Six days before his crucifixion, Jefus lodged again in the house of Lazarus. Lazarus sat at the table, Martha ferved, and Mary, to the great vexation of Judas, anointed our Saviour's head. Jefus vindicated her conduct, and told his disciples, that this deed of her's should, to her honour, be divulged through the whole world, John xi. xii. 1.—8. Matth. xxvi. 6.— 13. Mark xiv. 3.—9.

LAZ - [85] LEA

LAZARUS, the name of the poor man in Christ's parable. He is reprefented as covered with ulcers; as laid at a rich man's gate, and in vain begging for some of the crumbs that fell from the rich man's table; as having his fores licked by the dogs; and, in fine, as dying, and carried by angels into the heavenly state. Soon after, according to the parable, the rich man died, and was buried; but his foul being tormented in hell, he, feeing Abraham and Lazarus afar off in glory, begged that Abraham would fend Lazarus to dip his finger in water, and cool the tip of his tongue. Abraham bid him remember, that Lazarus in his lifetime had been afflicted, but was now comforted; and that himfelf had enjoyed his prosperity, and was now tormented; and told, that there was no paising from the heavenly slate to the infernal regions. The rich man then begged, that Lazarus might be fent to his five brethren, to warn them to flee from the wrath to come: but this was also refused, as one's return from the dead could be no more effectual to convince them, than the infpired writings which they had. In this parable, perhaps, our Saviour partly alludes to fome real event. It shews the danger and ruin of fuch as, amidft wealth and profperity, contemn the indigent, afflicted, and pious. Perhaps, too, it hints the tremendous ruin that fell upon the Jewish rulers and people, for their despissing of Jesus; while he, after much fuffering and contempt, and amidst multitudes of angels, ascended to heaven, never more to appear in the world, till the end of time, Luke xvi. 19.--31.

LEAD; a coarse and heavy, but useful metal, from which an oil and spirit, somewhat like vinegar, is sometimes extracted, and with the ore of which, silver is ordinarily mixed. It seems, that as early as the age of Job, it was used in engraving, and that they poured it into the incisions of the characters, for the lasting continuance thereof.

thereof, Job xix. 24. It is certain that the Millianites, not long after, had confiderable quantities of it among them, Numb. 18xi. 22. The Tyrians had planty of it from Taribith, Ezek. 20xii. 12. The Jews were as lead, much abounding in guilt and corruption, and eafily melted and afflicted in the five of God's wrath, Ezek. 20xii. 18. 20. Great wickedness, or the judgements of God on account of it, on the Jews or Chaldeans, are likened to a talent of lead on the mouth of an ephah, Zech. v. 7. 8.

To LEAD; (1) To direct, Pfal. xxxi. 3. (2.) To govern, conduct, Ffal. lxxx. 1. (3.) To feduce; draw into error and wickedness, 2 Tim. iii. 6. God hd the Hebrews in the wilderneis, by the symbol of his prefence, in the pillar of cloud, that directed their motions, Pfal. exxxvi. 16. If. lxiii. 12.; and leads his people in every age, by the direction and drawing influence of his word, Spirit, and providence, Pfal. xliii. 2. His goodness leads men to repentance; it points forth the duty and advantage thereof; and is calculared to ftir up men to bewail their offence of God, fo gracious and kind, Rom. i. 4. Jefus is a leader, who, by his and vitative word, holy Spirit, and creme bry pottain, teacheth men how to walk and act, H. F. J. The Holy Ghoft leads men; by applying the word of God to their heart, and by his directive and drawing influence, he causes them to walk night in the path of holinefs, Rom. viii. 14. Gal. v. 18. Ministers are haders, by their directive and exciding doctrines, and by their exemple; practice; and magistrates are fuch, by their laws, and the pattern of their conduct, If. ix. 16. The chiefs of a class, or army, are their headers, who direct and govern them, I Chron. xii. 27. xiii. I. The faints lead and bring Jefus to their mother's Loufe, when they earneflly and frequently request his prefence in his church and ordinances; prepare for its coming, and affectionately wait for the motions of his Spirit, Song viii. 2.

LEAk; there are leaves of trees;

of books; of doors, Gen. viii. Fi. Jer. xxxvi. 23. 1 Kings vi. 34. Adam and Eve's first cleathing of igleaves, was an emblem of our telf-righteoufnefs, which must be put off, to put on the Lord Jefus, our glorious facrifice. Gen. iii. 7. Christ's leaves for the healing of the nations, are his offices, appearances, word, ordinances, and influences, whereby our spiritual maladies are cured, Rev. xxii. 2. A profession of the true religion is called leaves; it is very adorning and beautiful. the faints, it and the happiness attending it, never wither away or perish; and it is for medicine, is a bleffed means of bringing others to Christ for the cure and health of their foul; but in hypocrites, the Jews, or others, how quickly it faded away, and had no good fruits attending it, Pial. i. 5. Jer. xvii. 9. Ezek. zlvii. 12. Match. xxi. 19. Prosperity is likened to a leaf; how comely and pleafant for a while! but how quickly it withers and perisheth away! Dan. iv. 12, 14. To mark his troubled, reftless, and comfortless condition, Job compares himself to a toffed leaf and dry stubble, Job xiii. 25. To fall, or fade as a leaf, is to be deftroyed, or lefe every good appearance, easily and fuddenly, II. xxxiv. 4. lxiv. 6.

LEAGUE; a covenant, or fo-Limit agreement for peace, protection, or additance, or fubjection between nations, or between princes and people; Joh. in. 11,-16. 2 Sam. v. 3. 1 Kings v. 12. nv. 17. After the league made with Antiochus Epiphanes, he wought deceifully; after a covenant of friendflip with Demetrius, his nephew, the true heir, he deceitfully procured the kingdom of Syria to himfelf: after a covenant of friendship with his other nephew, Philometer king of Egypt, he deceitfully invaded that country, to feize it for himfelf, Dan. xi. 23. To be in league with the stones of the field, fowls, or beafts, is by virtue of an intend in Cod's new covenant of peace, to be fecured by God, their proprietor and manager, from receiving any hurt by them, Job v. 23. Ezek. xxxiv. 25.

Hof. ii. 18.

LEAH. See JACOB.

An animal body is lean, LEAN. when there is fo little flesh that the boues stick out, Gen. xli. 3, 4. land is lean, when it is a poor barren foil, and produces little of what is useful, Numb. xiii. 20. A foul is kan, when destitute of the grace and comfort of God's Spirit, and fo rendered unfightly in his prefence, and incapable to fulfil his fervice, Pfal. cvi. 15. Persons poor and debased in this world, and poor in their own eyes, are called Jean cattle, Ezek. xxxiv. 20. Jacob's fat flesh became han, when his once numerous and wealthy posterity were reduced to a fmall number, and rendered miferable by the Affyrians overturning the kingdom of the ten tribes, and almost ruining that of Judah. If. xvii. 4. My leanness! My leanness! Wo unto me. Their wickedness, in the time of Hezekiah, and after the death of Josiah, and forty years after Christ, brought fearful and wasting judgements of sword, famine, and peftilence on the Hebrews: and still they are in a wretched condition as to both spirituals and temporals, If. xxiv. 16. God fent leanness on Sennacherib's fat ones, when his captains and valiant men, to the number of 185,000, were deftroyed by an angel in one night, and but a fmall part of his army left, If. x. 16.

To LEAN upon a staff, pillar, or supporting a Willent, Hich. xi. 21. Jud. yvi. 26. To lean, in the metaphoric language, fignifies, to truft, or depend upon any person or thing, for assistance or comfort, 2 Kings xviii. 21. Saints lean upon Christ, when trusting in his word, they cleave to his person, depend on his righteoufness and strength, and delight themselves in his love, Song viii. 5. Hypocrites lean on the Lord, when they profess a strong attachment to his truths, ordinances, and ways, and expect that he will show them fingular favours and deliverances, Mic. iii. 11. Man lean to their own understanding, when, without ferious confulting of God, they truft to their and prudence to direct their management, Prov. iii. 5. They lean on their house, when they depend on the increase and continuance of their children and wealth, to be the portion and comfort of their foul, Job viii. 15

LEAP; skip; to jump to and fro, especially to express joy. Jer. xlviii. 27. Acts iii. 8. (2.) To move, or march. with great cheerfulness and speed: for the Danites leapt from Bashan, when they, by a speedy march, seized on Laith, on the north border of Bashan, Deut. xxxiii. 22. Jefus Christ comes leaping on mountains, and Scipping on hills, when, notwithstanding of our many and great provocations, he comes. by his spiritual power, in his ordinances, to comfort and fave us. Song i. U. The lame man skall leap as an hart, and the tongue of the dumb shall sing. Many lame and dumb perfors were, to their great joy, perfectly healed by Jefus and his apostles: and many, by the influences of his Spirit, have the maladies of their foul removed, and are made joyful in the Lord, If. xxxv. 6. By God's affiftance, David overlant a wall; he furmounted great difficulties, and took firong towers and fenced cities, Pfal. xviii. 29. Those who leaped on the threshold, were citter fuch as irreverently entered the courts of the Lord; or who entered the temple of idols, as Dagon's priests did, by jumping over the threshold; or who. by violence or theft, got into people'. houses, and returning with their illgotten goods, joyfully jumped in a their maiter's doors, Zeph. i. 9 .- The possessed person leapt upon the sons of Scheva, and violently attacked them. Acts vin. 16.

LEARN; (1.) To get the knowledge of things by hearing or observing, 1 Cor. xiv. 31. Phil. exix. 71. (2.) To imitate; to follow as a pattern, Phil. exis. 35. Matth. xi. 29. (3.) To take head, 1 Tim. i. 20. (4.) To know the sentiment of others, Gal. iii. 2. Christ learned obedience, by the things which he suffered; by his sufferings he experimentally felt what it was to obey the divine law; and he improved them all to excite his holy manhood to fuitil the obsessence required of him, Heb. v. 8. None besides the witnesses for Christ could learn their new fong; none but faints can heartily afcribe all falvation and glory to God None of the Papifts and the Lamb. can join in pure gofpel-worship, where all the glory of our falvation is afcribed to Jefus alone, because they make angels and faints sharers thereof, as if they were mediators along with him, Rev. xiv. 3. Some are ever learning, and yet never come to the knowledge of truth; have long the means of inthruction, and profess to use them, and yet never have any folid knowledge of divine things, 2 Tim. iii. 7.

LEASING; falfehood, lies, Pfal.

iv. 2. v. 6.

LEAST; (1.) The fmallest quantity, Num. xi. 32. (2.) Such as are meanest, of lowest rank, value, and usefulness, Judg. vi. 15. Eph. iii. 8. (3.) Most humble and self-debased, Luke ix. 48. The wilful breaker of the least of God's commandments, shall be called least in the kingdom of heaven, i. e. shall be of little use or esteem in the visible church; and without repentance, shall never be admitted into the kingdom of glory, Matth. v. 19.

To LEAVE; (1.) To depart from, Job xvi. 18.; to ceafe dwelling with, Gen. ii. 24.; to cease infishing further on, Heb. vi. 1. (2.) To let remain behind, Lev. vii. 15. Exod. xvi. 19. Joel ii. 14. God may leave his people, fo as to withdraw his fenfible prefence and comfort for a time, but never leaves them nor forfakes them, so as to break his covenant-relation to them, as their God, Saviour, and portion; or as to with-hold what continued fupplies of gracious influence are neceffary to maintain the existence of their new nature, Pfal. exli. 8. Heb. xiii. 5. Dying parents leave their fatherless children on God, when, by the effectual fervent prayer of faith, they commit them to his care, and trust in his promile, that he will preferve, direct, and provide for them, Jer. xlix. 11.

LEAVEN; a piece of dough, but ofpecially what is falted and foured for fermenting. Such bread as was made of dough unfoured and unfermented, was called unleavened; and what was made of fermented dough, was called leavened, Exod. xii. 15. To leaven, which is fouring and infectious, are compared, (1.) The gospel-church of God, which, from fmall beginnings, gradually fpreads in the world; and the gospel of Christ, which gradually prevails to reform and convert the nations of the world; and the work of inward grace, which gradually prevails in, and affimilates the heart of men unto its own likenefs, Matth. xiii. 33. (2.) The erroneous doctrines, corrupt glosses of the scripture, or vain traditions of the Pharifees, Sadducees, and Herodians, and their corrupt examples, whereby many were infected, Matth. xvi. 6, 12. (3.) Scandal, and fcandalous finners, who infect and cast a blot on the church, I Cor. v. 6. (4.) Malice, hypocrify, and like corruptions in the heart, which exceedingly defile us, and render us infectious to others, I Cor. v. 7. To commemorate Ifrael's hafty departure from Egypt without having time to leaven their dough, they were prohibited to ufe any leaven at the passover-feast, or to offer it on God's altar in any of their meat-offerings. Did this fignify the perfect purity of Jefus, our all-comprehending oblation; and that, in our whole worship of God, we ought to beware of the infecting influence of our finful corruption, but act with fincerity and truth, Exod. xii. 15,-19. Lev. ii. 11. Amos iv. 5. 1 Cor. v. 8. A portion of leavened bread was allowed in thank-offerings, though it was not put on the altar; and might hint, that our grateful service of God may be accepted, though mingled with imperfection, Lev. vii. 13. Two loaves of leavened bread were required in the festival-offering of pentecost, perhaps to denote the fpreading influence of the gospel, and the operations of the Holy Ghost, in the New-Testament church, Lev. xxiii. 17.

I.EBANON; a famed mountain in the fouth of Syria, and north of Canaan. When taken at large, it is about

bout 300 miles in circumference, and confifts of two large mountains, Lebanon or Libanus, and Antilibanus. According to the ancients, these mountains lay east and west; but the moderns fay, that they lie fouth and north, Lebanon on the west side, and Antilibanus on the east, with Hollow Syria, or the pleafant valley of Lebanon, between them, Josh. xi. 17. According to Calmet, mount Lebanon is shaped like a horfe-shoe, with its opening towards the north. It begins about ten miles from the Mediterranean fea, well northward in Syria, and runs fouth till almost over against Zidon, then turns eastward on the north frontiers of Galilee, and laftly, turns northward, running as far as Laodicea Scabiofa, in Syria. But according to Maundrel and Reland, the valley between the two mountains is much more long and narrow than Calmet's representation will allow of. But the truth is, travellers are in fo much danger, from the wild beafts that haunt it, and from the scarce tamer Arabs that rove about it, that they dare not fearch it with fuch eare and deliberation as an exact defeription would require. In Lebanon, it is faid, four mountains do, as it were, rife one above another; the first has a fruitful foil, excellent for vines: the fecond is barren: the third enjoys an almost perpetual spring: the fourth is often, but not always covered with fnow. This mountain is thought to be higher than the Pyrenees between France and Spain, or the Alps between the east of France and Italy. The vines n the lower parts of it, and the cedars on the top of it, which were anciently very numerous, but now reduced to a few, rendered it extremely beautiful and fragrant. But vast numbers of lions, leopards, and other wild beafts, rendered it dangerous to walk on, Hof. xiv. 5 .- 7. Song iv. 8. 11. v. 15. The springs in it, and the water that descended from it in the rivers of Jordan, and Eleutherus, Abana, and Pharphar, that run to the fouthward, and in the rivers of Roffian, Cadichæ, and Abvali, that Vol. II.

run west or north, are fine water, Jerxviii. 14. Mofes had a strong defire to fee Lebanon; but was only allowed a distant prospect of it, Deut. iii. 25. xxxiv. From Lebanon Solomon had his wood for the building of the temple, and other structures: from Lebanon the Tyrians and Sidonians had their wood for flipping and building: from Lebanon, the Assyrians Chaldeans had a great part of the wood they used in their sieges of the cities of Syria, Canaan, and Phenicia: but all its wood was not fufficient to burn one facrifice that could truly expiate fin, If. xxxiii. 9. Hab. ii. 17. If. xl. 16. The tower of Lebanon, looking towards Damafcus, was perhaps a castle built by David or Solomon, at the fouth-east of Lebanon, to awe the Syrians; if it was not rather the house of the forest of Lebanon, a stately structure at Jerusalem, mostly built with cedars from Lebanon, Song vii. 4. I Kings vii. 2. At prefent, a kind of Popish monks, called Maronites, dwell about the lower parts of Lebanon, in circumstances fusficiently wretched. Wild Arabs, of the Mahomedan fect of Ali, fwarm almost every where in it. Here also, I think in the western parts of it, dwell the Drufes, who are faid to be chiefly the remains of the European Croifades, that went to these parts in the 11th, 12th, and 13th centuries, for the recovery of the holy land. They are baptifed, and heartily hate the Jews and Mahometans, and have hitherto refused to submit to the Turkish yoke; but the bulk of them have little more religion than the wild beafts among whom they dwell, allowing of lawdness with mothers, sisters, daughters, &c.

Jefus Christ and his church are likened to Lebanon, for their spiritual comeliness and perpetual flourish, and for their fragrancy and fruitfulness, Song v. 15. Pial. lxxii. 16. If. xxxv. 2. lx. 13. Hof. xiv. 5 .- 7. Jerusalem, and the temple thereof, are called Lebanon, because much built of the cedars of Lebanon; and the houses of Jerusalem were so many and high, as to refemble the forest of Lebanon, Hab. ii. 17. Zeph. xi. 1. Ezek. xvii. 3. Jer. xxii. 23. Sennacherib's army, and the Af-Syrian empire, are called Lebanon. How great was once their glory and strength! but how cut down at last by the axe of God's judgements! If. x. 34. Ezek. xxxi. 3. 15. 16. This world is by ned to Lebanon, Amana, Shenir, and mon, where are dens of lions and nopards: amidd all its carnal plenfures, profits, and honours, there is great denoter and manifold temptations; and therefore faints should forfake it, to 1.k for, and enjoy fellowship with Christ, Song iv. 8. Lelaton shall be turned into a fruitful field, and the fruitful field be effection a forest. The Gentile nations thall become a flourishing church, and the Jews faall be cast out, and live without God, and without Christ, and without hope in the world, If. xxix. 17. xxx. 15. To go up to Lalanon and, Bafvan, or mount Gilead, and cry, fighines, that the Jews would have none to help them. Jer. xxii. 21.

LEEK. See ORION.

LEDGE; a roll of short brazeu staves, with a plate of brass along their heads, 1 Kings vii. 28. 35. 37.

LEES; the dregs of wine fetiled to the bottom; and for wines on the less, are wine firoug and purified, by the less fettling to the bottom, H. xxv. 6. Men are fettled on their less, when through long prosperity, they have arrived at much outward firength, and are fixed in, and delighted with corrupt courses, H. xlviii, tr. Zeph. 1. 12.

LEG. Mess kgs are taken for their fireigth, Pful. exlvii. 10; and are called elegant meg, who how themfelves, becaming feeble in old age, Eccl. xii. 3. Coult's legs as pillars of markle, are his firength to hear whatever fin or punishment was laid upon him, or what exceeding weight of glory is given him; and his ability to finish his whole work of mediation; and his wife and skilful providences, and the stability of his kingdom and government, Song v. 15. The iron kgs of Nebuchadnezan's vifionary image, and feet and toes, partly of iron and clay, not right coalef-cing together, represented the strong Roman empire, with two confuls at its head; and after many ages, divided into the eastern and western empires, and which at last was mingled with Goths, Huns, Vandals, &c. but did not rightly incorporate with them, nor retain its strength, after they had well begun their invafions; and which was divided at last into ten kingdoms. Horns. Dan. ii. 33. A parable in the mouth of fools, is like the unequal legs of the lame: a wife fentence, or feripture expression, looks ill from the mouth of foolish and wicked people, and is difagreeable and inconfiftent, Prov. xxvi. 27.

LEGION; a band of foldiers in the Roman army. When that flate was but in its increase, the legion was fmaller; but in its glory, the legion ordinarily confisted of about 6200 footmen, and 730 borfemen. In feripture it fignifies a great number, Matth.

xxvi. 53. Luke viii. 30.

To LEND, hoping for nothing a-gain, is to give freely, or lend without usury, Luke vi. 35. Lending to the needy is a very necessary duty, Deut. xv. 8. xxiii. 19. In ordinary cases, borrowers must, in some measure, submit themselves to the will of lenders, Prov. xxii. 7. Deut. xxviii. 12.; but desolating judgements make both alike poor and miserable, Is. xxiv. 2.

LENTILES; a kind of grain, like vetches or peafe, of which was made a coarse kind of food, used by mourners, Gen. xxv. 34.

LEOPARD; the long-tailed felis. Its upper part is beautifully spotted, and the lower is streaked. It is smaller than the tyger; but surprisingly swift, strong, and active, and no less veracious and steres. Its feet are formed for climbing, and it can draw back its claws at pleasure. It watches for its prey by way-sides, or where the animals are wont to haunt. It is faid to allure them with a sweet smell, and then to spring or leap from a tree upon them, and tear them. It will often leap 17 or 18 feet at once to fall upon them. It is so inveterate an enemy to mankind, that, it is faid, it will fly upon their very picture painted on paper. Some orientals however tame leopards, and hunt jackalls, &c. with them. God compares himself to a leopard: with what patience he waits for the proper feafon of vengeance! with what fierce indignation he breaks forth upon, and teats to vieces his incorrigible oppofers, emicily wicked profeffors of the true religion! Hof. xiii. 7. Wicked men are likened to leopards; how footted with corruptions in heart and life! how herce and untractable to what is good, till God by his grace fubdue them! II. xi. 6. Jer. xiii. 23. Nebuchadnezzar and his army are likened to lespards; with what guileful cruelty, and fierce rage, they watched over and belieged the cities of Judah, and nations around, till they took them, and murdered the inhabitants! Jer. v. 6. Hab. i. 8. The Grecian empire is likened to a leopard with four wings and four heads; from finall beginnings, and with much craft, rapidity, and bloodshed, it was founded. Alexander, who formed it, was spotted with many vices: his army was adorned with many skilful commanders, and he quickly made himfelf maîter of nations unnumbered. After his death, his empire was divided into four parts. See Greece, Horns. Dan. vis. 6. The Antichritian Pope, and his agents, are likened to a leopard, to mark their outward glory and iplendor, and their crafty, cruel, and bloody perfecution of the faints, Rev. xiii. 2.

LEP [QI] LEP

LEPER; one affected with the leprofy. Lepers were excluded from the fociety of other people, and hence fometimes formed one of their own. We find four of them in one; in the days of Elisha, and ten of them in another, in the days of our Saviour, 2 Kings vii. 8. Luke xvii. 12. The leproly is twofold in kind or degree. That of the Jews was probably much the fame with the elephantialis, or leprofy of the Arabs, Egyptians, &c. and which came into, and ragod in Italy about fixty years before the birth of our Saviour. It chiefly rages in warmer climates. It begins within the body, and throws out a fanious moisture, that corrupts the outfide of it, covering it with a kind of white scales, attended with a most tormenting itch. The afflicted perfon becomes hoarle: his blood becomes mingled with whitish particles, and the ferum of it to dry, that vinegar poured thereon boils up, and falt applied to it, does not diffolve, and fo strongly bound together with imperceptible threads, that calcined lead thrown into it, fwims above; his hair becomes ftiff, and if pluckt, brings away rotten flesh with it; his eyes become red and inflamed, fimilar to those of a cat; histongue becomes dry, black, fwollen, ulcerated, and furrowed; his face refembles a half-burnt coal, furrowed with hard knobs, greenish at bottom and white at the top. The body becomes fo hot, that a fresh apple held but an hour in the hand, will be confiderably withered and wrinkled; the parts infected become infensible, and at last, the nose, fingers, privy members, &c. fall off, being rotten. In the 10th and 11th centuries, this terrible diffemper was common in Europe, introduced, I fuppose, by the Arabs and Moors; and it is faid there was about 15,000, or rather, according to Matthew Paris, 9000 hospitals for lepers. At prefert, it is scarce known in Europe, unless we suppose the venereal disease to be a kind of it. Some time ago, a leprofy refembling that of the Africans terribly afflicted the people of Barbadoes, especially the blacks.

The Jews generally supposed the leprofy to be inflicted of God, for the punishment of some horrible crime. For reproaching of Mofes, the dittinguished deputy of God, was Miriam infected: for treacherous and dithonoft procuring of clothes and money, was Geliazi fmitten: for profacely prefunding to offerincense, was King & zziahpunished with it, Numb.xii. 2 Kings v. 2 Chr. xxvi. Mofes directs to no medicine for the cure of it, and it does not appear that the Jews applied any remedies, but waited for the healing of it only from God. Whenever a History fittee d himfelf, or was fufpected by other and infected with this fearful disease, he presented himself for inspection to the prieft, who, in trying him, was in no danger of catching the plague. freckle, a boil, a fpot, or fcab in the fkin, or the falling off of part of the hair, were no tokens of leprofy. Nevertheless, the suspected person was to wash himself and clothes in water. A fwelling with a white spot bright and reddish, created strong suspicions; in which case, the leper was to be shut up feven days, and at the end thereof reinspected by the priest. If the hair in the fore had turned white or yellow; if the plague was in fight deeper than the skin; if it continued to spread in the flesh after the first inspection; if there was quick raw flesh in the swollen part; if there was a white reddish fore in the bald head, the priest pronounced him unclean; and as the difeafe was extremely infectious to fuch as touched or drunk after those who had it, he was excluded from the city or camp, till God should heal him, and was obliged to cover his upper lip, and call out to every body that was coming near him, that he was unclean. If, on the fecond inspection, the fore was not in fight deeper than the fkin; if it had spread nothing during the feven days; if the hair of the infected place was not turned white, or if the plague, being thrown out from the infide, had covered the whole body with an univerfal leprofy, the prieft pronounced him clean; only he was to wash himself in water, on account of his feabs.

M 2 infecte

LEP [92] LEP

When it pleased God to heal one that had been pronounced unclean, the priests went out of the camp or city, and inspected him. For his ceremonial purgation, two birds were taken: the one was slain over a vessel full of fresh water, mingled with cedar wood, scarlet wool, and hysop. The other bird was dipt into this mixture of water and blood, and then dismissed, to sly whither it pleased. The healed leper was seven times sprinkled with the mingled blood and water. He then shaved off all the hair of his body, washed his clothes, and flesh in water; after which, he might come into the city or camp, but not into his own house. On the 7th day he again shaved and washed himself. On the 8th, he offered two he-lambs, and one ewelamb, for a trespass-offering, burntoffering, and fin-offering, with a quantity of oil; or, if poor, offered one lamb and two young doves. Part of the blood of his trespass-offering was, by the priest, sprinkled on the tip of his right ear, and on his right thumb and right toe. After sprinkling so much of the oil feven times towards the tabernacle, the above parts of the leper's body were anointed with another part, and the rest was poured on his head; and after the offering of the burnt-offering and fin-offering, he was difmiffed to go to his houfe, or to the houfe of God, whenever he pleased.—Did not this leprofy reprefent the corruption of our nature, in the reigning power thereof, and which is of a most penal, dreadful, defiling, spreading, and obstinate nature, separating from God? Not any finful act of infirmity marks this uncleanness. Inward uprightness, bitter repentance for, and hearty striving against fin, and particularly an affecting fense of the universal vileness of our heart and life, are certain tokens that we are not under the dominion of fin; but every appearance of evil must lead us to wash ourselves in a Saviour's blood .- Delight, or pining away in iniquity; wilful increasing unto more ungodliness; dependence on felf-righteoutness as the ground of our acceptance before God; habitual raging at reproof; fixed embracement of grofs herefies, and boafting of what is plainly finful; mark us under the dominion of our filthy lufts.—Nor is there any deliverance from this plague, but by the grace of God, and through the application of Jefus's blood and Spirit to our foul: nor, on our justification, are we immediately admitted to heaven, but by again and again mortifying the deeds of the body; and at the end of life, making a noted use of the blood and Spirit of our Redeemer, shall we at last enter into the sull enjoyment of that free sellowship with God, and his holy angels, and glorified saints.

LET [93] LEV

Perhaps the leprofy of a garment was produced, by a fmall kind of vermin: if greenish or reddish spots rendered a garment fuspicious, the priest was to inspect it, and shut it up seven If, on his fecond examination, he found the tokens of leprofy spread, he tore out the infected threads, and ordered it to be washed. If the tokens were not fpread, he ordered it to be washed :- and if, on the third inspection, he found the tokens departed, it was again washed, and sustained to be clean. If, on the third or fourth examination, the plague continued after the infected threads had been torn out, the whole garment was to be burnt in the fire. Did this leprofy denote feandals in the converfation, from which Iesus's blood alone can cleanse us; and unto which, if we again and again relapse, if we be faved, it must be so as by fire, our works being burnt up and loft?

Probably the leprofy of a house was produced by vermin of the same kind; if pale reddish spots in the wall, lower than the rest, rendered a house suspicious, the prieft, after inspecting it, shut it up feven days. If, on the 7th, the fymptoms were increased, the infected materials were carefully removed, and pure ones put in their place. the leprofy again appeared, the house was demolished, and its materials cast into an unclean place. If the house was got cleanfed, a fprinkling, with the mixture of the water and blood of the offering of birds, removed the ceremonial defilement. Did this leprofy hint, that the obstinate continuance of indwelling fin brings on the diffolution of our mortal frame? and that obflinacy in wickedness brings ruin and destruction upon families, nations, churches, and the world itself, Lev. xiii. xiv.

LET; is expressive, (1.) Of command, Deut. v. 12. (2.) Of intreaty, 2 Sam. xiii. 6. (3.) Of permission, Gen. xlix. 21. (4.) Of entrufting, or affigning by tack or leafe, Song viii.

11. To let, also fignifies to hinder; keep back, If. xliii. 13. 2 Theff. ii. 7.

LETTER; (1.) A mark of found used in writing. The Egyptian method of writing, by a kind of pictures of the things themselves, was perhaps the most ancient in the world. Chinese method of using a distinct character for every word, fomewhat like our short hand, is also very ancient, but it is very incommodious, as it would take a man's life to learn the half of their 80,000 letters, unlefs thefe letters, as some fay, be formed from simple ones, by stated rules. The invention of letters, that may be combined in fo many thousand different forms, is so marvellous and useful, that I am almost tempted to believe God himself the author of it, perhaps in the tables of the law. No letters were known in Europe, till Cadmus, about the time of David, brought 16 of the Phenician characters hither. From thefe, the Greek, Roman, Coptic, Gothic, and Sclavonic characters were formed, one after another. From the Hebrew or Affyrian characters, the Phenician, Syrian, Samaritan, Ethiopic, and Arabic characters, feem to have been formed, though with confiderable alterations. (2.) A miffive or epittle, fent by one person to another, 2 Sam. xi. 14. Sanballat infulted Nehemiah in fending him his letter open, and not rolled up in the Afiatic form, Neh. vi. (3.) Learning, knowledge of the mysterious sense of God's word, John vii. 15. (4.) The outfide of things; fo circumcilion of the flesh is called circumcifion of the letter, Rom. ii. 29. The outward observance of Moses's ceremonies; outward fervice of God; or walking according to our corrupt lusts, is called the oldness of the letter, Rom. vii. 6. See KILL.

LEVI; the third fon of Jacob by Leah, born about A. M. 2254. He affifted Simeon in murdering the Shechemites, and for that reason had his father's dying denunciation, that his feed should be scattered among the

 ${
m Hebrew}$

LEV [94] LEV

Hebrew tribes in Canaan, Gen. xxxiv. 25.-33. xlix. 5.-7. He had three fons, Gerthon, Koliath, and Merari, and a daughter, called Jochebed. Himfelf died, aged 137 years; but his three fons produced three different families. At their return from Egypt, the tribe of Levi was by far the leaft of all the Hebrews, confishing of but 22,273 males above a mouth old. The Levites faithfully cut off their idolatrous friends, for their worthipping of the golden calf. God rewarded their zeal, conflituting them his facred minifters .- Aaron and his male defcendants were chosen to be priests. The rest of the tribe were made a kind of inferior agents in holv things. As after five years of probation, they were to enter their fervice at 30 years of age, and leave it at 50, no more than 8560 - were fit for fervice. In their confectation, they were fprinkled with the holy water of teparation; they fliaved off their hair, and washed their clothes: ther brought two bultocks to the door of the tabernacle: the first-born Israelites, or fame in their name, laid their hands on them, to denote their refigning to them their flation in the public worship of God. The Levites then laid their hands on the two young bullocks, and the one was offered for a burnt-offering, and the other for a fin-offering. To figuity, their being dedicated to the fervice of the God of all the ends of the earth, they were made to walk to and fro before the tabernatle; and thus entered on their work, which, in the wilderness, was to bear the things pertaining to the tabernacle; and in that, and after ages, to take care of the tahernacle, temple, and furniture thereof, and to teach the people, and affirt the priefts. They had no facred apparel, but, though the tribe of Levi were but about the 40th part of the people, they had 48 cities, with the fuburbs thereof, affigued for their dwelling, and had about the 5th part of the Hebrew incomes, Mind. vi. xxxii. 16.-25. 26. -29. Numb. ib. ic. viii. v. zviii. Did thefe Levices prefigure Jefus? From the earliest ages of eternity he was chofen to his work: from the earliest ages of time he was promifed; early was he circumcifed and initiated; and at twelve years he began his fervice in the temple. —Divinely was our place in law, and our fins transferred upon him; and folemnly was he, in his birth, and in his unction at his baptifin, fet apart to his work of obedience and ministry in holy things. At 30 years of age, he entered on his public fervice, and having wasted his body, till, it feems, he appeared as one of fifty, he retired, by death, refurrection, and afcention, to his eternal rest. He is the great burden-bearer of his church, that bears all his people's fins, and bears their perfons and cares; and supports the whole frame and government of the church; honours his Father to the highest: teaches, governs, and faves his people; and for reward, is crowned with giory and honour. Terrible is the curfe that falls on fuch as continue to deny him his dues.—Did thefe Levites reprefent gospel-ministers, who being chosen to their work by God and his people, are to enter on it in a folemn manner, fanctified by the blood of the Lamb, and by his purifying Spirit; and who fpend and are fpent in the fervice of the church, bearing Christ's name before the Gentiles, teaching and ruling the people, and affilting the faints, these spiritual priests, in their sa red work; and who are to be duly provided with subfiftence, and at the end, are to have rheir faithful fervice rewarded with endless honours and happiness?— Did they refemble the faints, who are early inrolled in the Lamb's book of life, and in due time are folemnly fet apart to the holy fervice of God, to care for, and in their flations instruct, and promote order; and after they have finished their course, retire to their everlasting rest, to enjoy the whole fulness of God? Is. xlvi. 21. When Joshua divided Canaan to the Hebrew triber, he gave the Levites no inheritance, as they were to live on facred oblations; but they had 48 cities feattered among the other stibes, with a held of 3000 cubits around for pasture and gardens. Six of these cities were cities of refuge, and others of them were retained by the Canaanites. Their tithes too, and other dues, were but ill paid, as oft as religion was in a languishing condition, Josh. xx. xxi. Judg. i. Neh. xiii. Soon after, a vagrant Levite helped Micah, and the Danites of Laish, to introduce idolatry; and his descendants were for many ages priefts to that idol. Another, by the affair of his whorish wife abused at Gibeah, occasioned the death of 40,000 Hraelites, and of the whole tribe of Benjamin, except 600, and all the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead, except 400 virgins, Judg. xvii. - xxi. Eli and Samuel, both Levites, were judges of Ifrael, I Sam. i .- viii. 8300 Levites attended at David's coronation; and in his days they began to enter on their fervice at 25 years of age, and there were of them fit for fervice, 38,000; of which 24,000 were appointed to officiate in the fervice of the tabernacle or temple; 6000 of them were judges; 4000 were porters; and 4000 were facred musicians. The officiating Levites, as well as the priefts and fingers, if not also the porters, were distilled into 24 classes, and had their turns of fervice affigned them by lot, I Chron. xii. xxiii.-xxvi. When Jeroboam the fon of Nebat established his idolatrous worship of the golden calves, many of the Levites left his kingdom, and retired to the kingdom of Judah. Johoshaphat dispersed them through his dominions, along with fome of his princes, to teach the people. Those of Libnah revolted from King Jehoram. Under the direction of Jehoiada, the Lcvites, being furnished with arms, might-Thy affished to establish Joash on the In Hezekiah's time, they were more hearty for promoting reformation than the priefts; a few of the priests fanctified themselves, and the Levites affifted in killing the burnt-offerings. Under Jofiah, they directed the repairs of the temple, and zealoufly affilled at the folemn pafforer, 2 Chron. xi. 12. 13. xix. xxi. 10. xxiii.

xxix.-xxxi. xxxiv. xxxv. A comidetable number of them returned from Babylon, fome along with Zerubbakel, others with Ezra, and 1760 priests, and 212 Levites, dwelt at Jerufalem, Ezra ii. 40.-42. viii. 18. 19. 1 Chron. ix. 13. Ten of them, at Ezra's direction, put away their strange wives, Ezra x. 23. 24. Under Nehemiah, they affifted at his follown faft, in reading the law, Neh. viii. 7. ix. 4. 5.: and 17 of them fubferibed his covenant, for refermation, chap. x. About this time, or not long after it, Nehemiah ordered their titlies to be punctually given them, as the with-halding thereof had obliged them to detert the fervice of the temple, and betake themfelves to civil employs, Neh. xiii. 10. -13. After our Saviour's death, we find the tribe of Levi in the utmost diforder; the high-priesthood was difpoled of to the highest bidder: the Levites were ellewed by Agrippa to wear the face o'otal robes of the common pricits, and the porters to become fingers.

LEVITICUS, the third book of Mofes, to called because it chiefly confifts of laws relative to the Levitical prieflhood. In the ind i can chapters, are preferibed the laws of the various offerings. In the next three, we have an account of the confecration of Aaron and his fons, the death of Nadab and Abihu, and fome rules relative to priests mourning, and their drinking no wine during their attendance on their facred work. I am chap, xi, to xv. are inferted the kars relative to ceremonial purification, from uncleanness of eating, or touching of unclean beaits, and of child-birth, leprofies, running issues. In chap, xvi. are the laws relative to the fast of expiation. In the fix following chapters are the laws prohibiting the eating of blood, the facrificing to devile, and all alliances with the Caraanites, and all heathenish fuperstition, divination, idolatry, theft, perjury, incest, fodomy, and bestiality: and those requiring four years abitinence from the fruit of trees, or leaving of gleanings to ftrangers, and the poor; and those regulating the blemishes which rendered priests unfit for facrificing, or cating the more facred food, and which rendered animals unfit to be facrificed. In chap, xxiii, are the laws for the facred feafts, the passover, pentecost, feast of trumpets, feast of expiation, and feaft of talernacles. In chap, xxiv, we have an "flance of blatphemy, and the law appointing death for that crime. In chap. xxv. the rules of the years of releafe and jubilee are prescribed. In chap. xxvi. are promifes of mercy to the obedient and penitent, and fearful threatenings of vengeance against the disobedient and obstinate. The last regulates the de voting of things to the Lord, and of redeeming what had been devoted. All thefe laws were given at the foot of $inai, perhaps in a few days after the crection of the tabernacle. To a carnal reader, nothing appears more trifling than fome parts of this book : but to one truly evangelic and fenfible, the book is a rich mine of the gospel of Christ.

LEVIATHAN; a monfirous animal; but whether it be the crocodile, the teethed whale, or the huge land-dragon, is not agreed; and indeed all the three might be known to Job. The crocodile is of the lizard kind, with a two-edged tail, and triangular feet: on each of the two fore feet are four toes, and on the hinder ones five. Crocodiles grow to about 25 or 30 feet, or more, in length; and it is faid, some grow to an hundred; and they are about the thickrefs of a human body. About the 33d degree of north latitude, they abound in America, and in the north parts of Africa, and no where more than they once did in the river Nile in Egypt. They deposit their eggs, which are not bigger than those of a turkey, in the fand on the flores, that they may be hatched by the folar heat: and unless the ichneumon fought out and def oyed their eggs, they would quickly plague the adjacent countries with their prodigious increase. It is faid, the Tentyritæ, a tribe of the ancient Egyptians, caught them with nets, or bridled them; but none elfe were fo daring: they are fo frightful, that it is faid fome have been terrified out of their wits at the fight of them. It is extremely dangerous to awaken one that is afleep. They are covered with scales, like to a coat of mail, almost impenetrable, and which cannot be feparated, only their belly is foft and eafily pierced. They have fearce any tongue, but their teeth, to the number of 36, if not 60, are very fharp and terrible, and are Their mouth closely joined together. can take in a whole man, or even a cow. Their eyes are fparkling, efpecially when they fun themselves and fneeze. Their breath is exceffively warm, and is emitted like fmoke, and with their motion they occasion a froth in the water. They generally live on fifb; but ordinarily lie among rushes and reeds, and thence dart on men, or other land-animals, and drag them into the water, that, being drowned, they may be the more eafily maftered. Unterrified, they will attack any creature, and with a fweep of their tail break their legs, and fo bring them down; but their back-bone being fliff, they can only run straight forward. cold climates the crocodiles are lefs. and are called alligators, and their flesh is faid not to be unfavoury meat.

Whales are much larger than crocodiles. Pliny speaks of one in the Red fea, or Arabian river, 600 feet long, and 360 broad: and Pontopidan fays, there are of them in the north feas of 100 fathoms long, and mentions a monfter called the Kraken, still far larger. But whales are commonly from 50 to 100 feet in length. They breathe by lungs, bring forth their young alive, and fuckle them, and carry them along with them. body is thick, their head very large, the lower jaw larger than the other; their eyes are fmall, like those of a bullock, and placed at a great distance from one another; their tail is a little forked. From their fat is made oil and fpermaceti. Some whales have jaws 12 or 14 feet long, and teeth of 6, 8, or 12 feet in length, which closeLEV [97] LIB

ly join into one another. Of the many kinds of whales, the teethed ones are represented as the most fierce, and seldom taken. They have eyes of about a foot long, and, some fay, ten or twelve times longer, of a reddish colour, like that of the morning sky. They oft lie among hard rocks and ice, and are extremely bold and daring. They throw great quantities of water out of their mouth, and sometimes a glistering and oily mucus, called spermaceti.

Land-dragons were known among the Troglod; tes on the banks of the Red fea. They haunt lakes and feashores, and can plunge into rivers and seas. They are exceeding big and terrible in their appearance. jaws are wide; their tongue three-forked: they have three rows of sharp teeth, and are all over covered with hard feales, impenetrable to arrows or darts. Their breath is fiery, and eyes flaming. They are terrible to, and fearless of every other animal; will attack and conquer an elephant. That one which, at Bagrada, was like to destroy the Roman army, is said to have been 120 feet long, and was deftroyed by engines that threw great flones at it.

The kings of Egypt, if not also of Assyria, are likened to this monster, which is also called a dragon and ferpent, to denote their terrible and destructive influence, Pfal. lxxiv. 13. 14. Ezek.

xxix. 3. If. xxvii. 1.

LEVY; to raife, by taking a part from among the reft, as tribute is raifed from the reft of the incomes of the nation; or an army, or number of workmen raifed in a nation, I Kings ix. 21.

V. 13. 14.

LEWD; openly wicked, given to the most shameless course of uncleanness, Acts xvii. 5. Ezek. xxiii. 44. In thy silthiness is lecodness; thou are become shameless and obstinate in thy wickedness, idolatry, Sc. Ezek. xxiv. 13. Lecodness is discovered and borne, when sinners are openly and heavily punished for it, Ezek. xxiii. 35.

LIBERAL; ready to give to the

Vol. II.

poor and needy. Men fland by liberal things, as flewing kindness to the poor is an especial means of procuring and establishing one's wealth, Is. xxxii. 8. Prov. xi. 25. God giveth liberally, with a willing and bountiful heart, and in large abundance, James i. 5.

LIBERALITY, is either what is given to the poor, or the bountiful disposition wherewith one gives it, I

Cor. xvi. 13. 2 Cor. viii. 2.

LIBERTY; (1.) FREEDOM, to do or forbear a particular action, as one pleafeth, 1 Cor. vii. 39. viii. 9. x. 29. (2.) Freedom from human flavery or imprisonment, Lev. xxv. 10. Heb. xiii. 23. (3.) Freedom from the ceremonial and broken covenant of works, Gal. v. 1. (4.) The happy flate of eternal glory, where one is delivered from all mifery and fervitude, Rom. viii. 21. Where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty; i. e. freedom from the flavery of fin, Satan, and the broken law, and now, under the gofpel, from the ceremonial yoke, and great pleafure and boldness in fellowship with God, 2 Cor. iii. 17. It is heinoully wicked, to use Christian liberty, to the hurt of our weak brochren, or to cover a loofe practice, Rom. xiv. 1 Cor. viii. 1 Pet. ii. 16.

LIBERTINES; fuch Jews as were free citizens or burgefles of Rome; they had a feparate fynagogue at Jerufalem, and fundry of them concurred in the perfecution of Stephen, Acts vi. 9.

LIBNAH; (i.) A place in the Arabian defert, where the wandering Hebrews encamped, Numb. xxxiii. 20. (2.) A city of Judah, given to the pricits, and which I fuppose stood about 12 or 16 miles south west of Jerusalem, Josh. xxi. 13.; the inhabitants of it, offended with Jehoram for his idolatry and murder, revolted from his government, 2 Kings viii. 22. This city sustained a terrible steep from Senacherib, Is. xxxvii. 8. About 300 years after Christ, it still existed as a village, and was called Labinah, if not also Lobia.

LIBYA; a large country well-ward of Egypt. A number of the inhabitants lived anciently in a vagabond manner, roving from place to place. They were, we suppose, the descendants of Lehabim, the fon of Mizraim, and are called Lubim. The eaftern part of Libya was generally subject to Egypt. The Lubims affifted Shifhak and Zerah in their warlike expeditions, 2 Chron. xii. 3. xvi. 8. They affifted Pharaoh-necho and Pharaoh-hophrah, against the Assyrians or Chaldeans, and fuffered terrible ravage and ruin by the latter, Neh. iii. 9. Jer. xlvi. 9. Ezek. xxx. 5. The western Libvans had bloody wars with the Carthaginians, and in the end were miferably ruined. Some Jews, who ordinarily refided in Libya, were converted by Peter's fermon, at Pentecost, and it feems carried Christianity to those quarters; where, for fome ages after, we find a Christian church; but which, for about 1200 years past, has scarce made any appearance. For about 2000 years past, the country has been enflaved by the Greeks, Romans, Sa racens, and Ottoman Turks, in their LICE; well known infects, with fix legs, and two fimple eyes; and with which most other animals are infected. The crab and common kind especially attend mankind, and which, where people live nastilly, as in east Tartary, are excessively numerous. Swarms of lice were one of the plagues of Egypt, nor could the magicians produce any. But the feventy interpreters render Chinnim, gnat slies, Exod. viii. 16.—19.

ta~1

LIE, or LYE; (I.) An untruth told with a defign to deceive, or at least tending to it, Judg. xvi. 10. (2.) False doctrine, John ii. 21. Rom. iii. 7. All lying false-hood and equivocation are condemned in scripture, under pain of cternal damnation, Exod. xxiii. 1. 7. Rev. xxi. 8. An idolatrous picture of God is called a lie, as it gives a false and deceiving representation of him, Rom. i. 25. Great men, and the houses of Achzib, are or were à lie, very unsubstantial, and ready to disappoint such as trust in them, Psal. Ixii. 9. Mic. i. 14.

LIEUTENANTS; the deputy-governors of the Persian king, Ezrz viii. 36. Esth. iii. 12.

LIFE. See LIVE.

LIFT; (1.) To raise higher, Gen. vii. 17. (2.) To render more honourable and confpicuous, I Chron. xiv. 2. 1 Sam. ii. 7. God lifts up himfelt, or lifts up his feet, when he haftens todeliver his people, Pfal. lxxiv. 3. and when he displays his power and greatnefs, and overthrows his and his peoples enemies, Pfal. xciv. 2. If. xxxiii. 3. 10. Christ was lifted up; when he hung on a cross; when exalted to heaven; and when publicly offered in the gospel, John viii. 28. xii. 32. 34. He and his people lift up the head, when they are filled with joy, glory, and honour, Luke xxi. 28. Pfal. cx. 7. Men lift up the eyes, when they view carefully, Gen. xiii. 20. II. xl. 26.; or when they pray with expectation of a gracious answer, Psal. cxxi. 1. The lifting up of the hands, imports fwearing, Deut. xxxii. 40.; threatening, Ezek. xx. 15; threatening and oppression, Job xxxi. 21.; invitation, If. xlix. 22.; bleffing of others, Lev. ix. 22; prayer to God, Pfal. xxviii. 2.; applying earneftly to work, Pfal. cxix. 48. rebelling against a fovereign, 2 Sam. xviii. 28.; or helping, encouraging, and comforting a diffressed and disconsolate neighbour, Heb. xii. 12. The lifting up of the heart or foul to God, imports folemn dedication to God, joy in his fervice, and carneft prayer to him, 2 Chron. xvii. 6. Lam. iii. 41. Pfal. xxv. 1.

LIGHT; (1.) Of fmall weight; not heavy, Numb. xxi. 5. (2.) Of fmall moment, value, or use, I Sam. xviii. 23. I Kings xvi. 31. Persons are light when they are inconstant, vain, frothy, and unchaste, Judg. ix. 4. Zeph. iii. 4. And so lightness, is either frothiness and lewdness, Jer. iii. 9. xxiii. 32.; or a vain and thoughtless inconstancy of mind, 2 Cor. i. 17. The saints afflictions are light; far castier to be borne than what they deserve, and than what Christ bore for them; and made easy by his affisting and supporting them; and finall, in comparifon of the glorious reward. See BUR-DEN. To fet light by, or make light of, is to contemn and mock, Deut. xxvii.

porting

16 Matth. xxii. 5.

Light is a very marvellous and delightful fubstance. Its motion is extremely quick, and is faid to move about ten millions of miles in a minute. renders other bodies visible and agreeable, Eccl. xi. 7. After God had formed the heavens and the fubitance of the earth, he formed light; and by including it in a kind of luminous cloud moving round the earth, or having the earth moving round it, he divided it from the darkness. On the 4th day he made the fun, moon, and stars, to be means of communicating this light to our lower world: and they and all other things tending to give, or tranfmit, or receive light, as windows, eyes, fight, candles, and return of the day, &c. are called lights, Genefis i. 3. 16. 1 Kings vii. 5. Pfal. xxxviii. 10. Job 'xxiv. 14. God is light; his nature is infinitely pure and glorious; he has all wifdom, excellency, and usefulness; and is the author of all knowledge and comfort to his creatures, I John i. 5. Ifa. x. 17. Pial. xxvii. 1. He is in the light, possesses his own excellencies; is in Christ; and is clearly manifested in his word and works, I John i. 7. Christ is the light; he is the fountain of all light and knowledge, natural. fpiritual, and eternal: and in him we different every thing important, Luke ii. 32. The light of God's countenance, or light of the Lord, is the instruction given by him; the diferreries of his glory and love; the comforts of his Spirit, and joy of his falvation, Plal. iv. 6. Ifa. ii. 5. God's judgements are as the light that goeth forth; his laws are clear and plain, and his fentences and punishments are righteous, pure, speedy, and irresistible, Hos. vi. 5. John Baptist, and other ministers, are called light, or lights; they are endowed with the knowledge of divine things, and are delightful means of instructing, directing, and comforting others, John v. 35. Matth. v. 14.

Saints are compared to light: they have the faving knowledge of divine things, and by their instruction and holy converfation, are agreeable means of conveying knowledge and comfort to others, Eph. v. 8. Luke xvi. 8. Good kings are called light, to denote their agreeable fplendour, and the counfel and comfort which their fubjects receive from them, 2 Sam. xxi. 7. A fon, or fucceffor, is called light, as he honours, and keeps his ancestors in view, 1 Kings xi. 36. The word of God, particularly the gospel, is a light, or a lamp; it discovers to us things divine and eternal, and guides us to glory and happiness, Psal. exix. 105. Matth. iv. 16. The faving knowledge produced by God's word in our heart, is light; we thereby differn the most glorious and eternal objects, and are wife unto falvation. Prosperity, joy, or comfort, is called light. pleafant in itself, and it renders men conspicuous. Isa. lviii. 8. Esth. viii. 16. Pfal. xevii. 11. The heavenly glory is called light, and light of life, to represent the excellency, purity, and knowledge, and comfort thereof, Col. i. 12. The faints whole new-covenant flate is called marvellous light. What knowledge, comfort, and happinefs, are therein bestowed, I Pet. ii. 9. The light of the faints, Shines more and more unto the perfect day, when their inward gifts and graces increase more and more, and are more and more manifefted in their holy conversation, Matth. v. 16. Prov. iv. 18. light rejoiceth, when their found knowledge, grace, and good works, delight themselves and others, and gradually increase in brightness, Prov. xiii. 9. xv. 3c. The light of the moon shall be as the light of the fun, and the light of the fun shall be as the light of seven days. Great shall be the comfort of the Jews when delivered from the Affyrians, or from their Chaldean captivity, Sc.; and much superior to that under the Old Tellament, shall be the spiritual knowledge and comfort of the New-Testament church, in the apostolic and millennial age, Ifa. xxx. 26. N 2 LIGHTNING: LIG [100] LIL

LIGHTNING; flashes of fire that attend thunder. The motion thereof is quick and majestic; and it is called God's light, that is, as it were, fpread along the fky, as he forms it, and it is grand and glorious, Job xxviii. 26. xxxvi. 30. It often happens in Canaan in winter. And when it is in the fouth or fouth-west, and followed with thunder, it is a certain fign of rain. Christ's face is as lightning, shining to his people, but awful and terrible to his enemies, Dan. x. 6. His coming to destroy the Jews and judge the world, is as lightning, very fudden, alarming, and of a wide-spread influence; and as lightning fprings from the east even unto the west, so the Roman armies, beginning on the northcast of the Jewish country, spread ravage and ruin through the whole of it, Mat. xxiv. 27. Luke xvii. 24. vine judgements are likened to lightning: how terrible and spreading! and how oft, in the execution of it, cities are fet on flames and burnt! Rev. viii.5. XVI. 18. xi. 19. Satan falls as lightning from heaven, when his power and interest are suddenly ruined, Luke xi. 18.

To LIGHTEN; (1.) To make light by unloading, Acts xxvii. 18. (2.) To make to fee or shine; or to fill with comfort, Pfal. lxxvii. 18. xxxiv. 5. See Enlighten.

LIGURE; a precious stone, said to be spotted like the animal called the lyux or ounce; and others take it for the jacinet. It was the first in the third row of the high-priest's breast-plate, and had the name of Gad inscribed on it, Exod. xxviii. 19.

LIKEN. See COMPARE.

LIKENESS; fimilitude; (1.) The outward form of any thing, Ezck. i. 5. (2.) An image, reprefenting a person or thing, Deut. iv. 12.15. (3.) A refemblance between one person or thing and another, Acts xiv. 11. Adam was made after the likeness of God, in the spiritual nature of his soul, and in the knowledge, righteousness and holiness wherewich it was qualified: but he begat Seth in his own likeness, corrupt in dispositions as well as himself, Gen. i.

26. v. 3. Jesus was sent in the likeness of finful flesh; appeared in outward form as another man, Rom. viii. 3. Mofes faw the similatude of the Lord; had a fingular display of his glory; or perhaps faw the fecond person of the Godhead, in the form of a man, but faw not the face or effential glory of God, Numb. xii. 8. The Hebrews faw no fimilitude, that is, no bodily shape or form of God, at Sinai, Deut. iv. 12. 15. Those who have not sinned after the fimilitude of Adam's transgression, are infants, who have not finned actually; and others, who have not finned prefumptuously, as he did, Rom. v. 14. God used similitudes by the ministry of the prophets; he, by parables, and comparifon of things ipiritual and future to what was earthly and prefent, instructed the Jews, Hos. x. 12.

LILY; one of the principal flowers.

The flower confifts of fix leaves, formed into the shape of a bell; the pistil is in the centre of the flower, and becomes an oblong and three-cornered fruit, containing two rows of feed. The root is of a bulbous form. Lilics are very high flowers, and many fpring from one root; they are no lefs fragrant, comely, and medicinal, especially the roots of white lilies are excellent for foftening and for ripening fwellings. Tournefort mentions 46 kinds of lilies, and befides, there is the lily of the valley, which has but one leaf, formed in the manner of a bell; and of which there are feven kinds. Lilies were so plentiful in Canaan, that, it feems, they heated their ovens with withered ones, Matth. vi. 28. 30. fome countries, lilies grow to the height of four feet, but their neck is so weak that it can fearce fupport the head. Christ is likened to the lily of the valley, to exprefs his excellency, purity, fuperiority to angels and men, and his fulness of the fruits and blessings of grace: deeply was he humbled, and with the lowly he dwells; and from him, as their root, do the multitudes of faints proceed. Saints are lilies among thorns. Amidft wicked men, and manifold troubles, they grow up more excellent than their neighbour: how filled with fruits of righteoufnefs! how humble and felf-denied! and how delightful and healing are their graces and converfation! Song ii. 1. 2. Perhaps gofpel-promifes as well as faints, are called lilies; for how delightful, healing, and fructifying are they to mens fouls! Song. vii. 2.

Oź

LIM [101] LIO

v. 13.

LIME; a kind of fubiliance formed from chalk, burnt stones, shells, or bones, &c. It is of great use for building, and for manuring fields. One of the kings of Moub having got a king of Edom, perhaps that one who assisted Jehoram, either dead or alive, burnt his bones into lime, Amos ii. 1. The Assyrian army was like the burnings of lime, when, by a kind of pestilence, they were mostly cut off in the fire of God's vengeance, If. xxxiii. 12.

A LIMIT is the utmost boundary of a place. The limit of God's house round about being most holy, imports, that even the most circumstantial things belonging to the church are holy in themselves, and tend to promote holiness, Ezek. xliii. 12. To LIMIT, is to point out and fix, Heb. iv. 7. To limit the Holy One of Israel, is to doubt of or defy the power of God, its going beyond certain bounds, which we, in our imagination, fix for it, Psal. lxxviii. 41.

LINE; (1.) A cord or instrument, to measure and adjust things by, 1 Kings vii. 15. If. xxxiv. 17. 2 Sam. viii. 2. (2.) A province, or course of motion, Pfal. xix. 4. Thus the apottle's line or voice went to the ends of the earth, Rom. x. 18.; and to boast in another man's line, was to go where he had laboured, and pretend we had done it, 3 Cor. x. 16. (3.) A portion which is as it were measured out by lines, Pial. xvi. 6. (4.) A fhort instruction, that might be as it were written in one line, If. xxviii. 10. The word of God is a measuring line, as our whole conduct, and all the forms and ordinances of the church must be adjusted thereby, Ezek. xl. 3. In a promife, the firetching out of the line upon a place, imports, the meafuring of the ground to build houses on it, Jer. xxxi. 39. Zech. i. 16. ii, 1.

But to firetch the line of confusion, and shores of emptiness on a place, is to render it altogether waste, Is. xxxiv. 11.

17. Judgements laid on according to mens deferts, and which lay cities razed on the ground, are called a line, Lami. 8.; and the line of Samaria, and plummet of the house of Ahab, is such ruin as Samaria and the family of Ahab met with, 2 Kings xxi. 13: and to lay judgement to the line, and righteousness to the plummet, is to punish people according to the due defert of their deeds, If. xxviii. 17.

LINEN. The three Hebrew words for it, are BAD, SHESH, and PUTZ. Calmet thinks, the first ought to be rendered linen ; and of this the priefts garments confifted; the fecond cotton, of which the curtains of the tabernacle confifted; and the third, the filk growing on the shell-fish called pinna: but it is certain, that the priests coats and mitre are fometimes faid to be of BAD, and fometimes of shesh, which ininfers that both words fignify the fame thing, Exod. xxviii. 39. Lev. xvi. 4. Solomon too uses Butz, to express the fluff of the facred vails, for which shesh . is put at other times, 2 Chron. iii. 14. Nor can I believe a manufacture of fishfilk existed so early at Beersheba, that lay at a confiderable diffance from the fea, I Chron. iv. 21. The best linen was anciently made in Egypt, as their country afforded the fineil flax; but, it is faid, the most of their linen was coarfe; and Solomon, it feems, bought linen-yarn in Egypt, and established a factory for weaving it in Judea, Prov. vii. 16. 1 Kings x. 28. It feems that linen was anciently used for writing on, and the letters formed with a pencil. Christ, and the angels who destroy Antichrift, are reprefented as clothed in pure and white linen, to mark the equity and holiness of their conduct, Ezek. ix. 2. Rev. xv. 6. The rightcoufness of the faints, their holiness of nature and life, but chiefly the righteoufnefs of Jefus imputed to them, is called fine linen clean and white; how glorious, pure, and ornamenting! Rev. xix. 8. 14.

A 1 ION is the strongest and sier-

In fize, he is larger ceil of beafts. than a mastiff; his head is big, his breast broad, his legs thick and strong, his claws long and thick; he is of a yellowish tawny colour, and has a large mane on his neck; the want of which makes the lionefs appear as if of another species. Lions sleep little, and with their eyes not wholly covered: they are exceedingly fierce, and their roaring is terrible. When provoked, almost nothing can withstand them: when they fee their prey, they terrify it with roaring, that it cannot flee away. They are extremely kind to their young ones, who, it is faid, fleep fome days after their birth, till the roaring of the lion awaken them. They readily spare such as submit to their mercy, and throw themselves at their feet; but cannot endure to be looked upon a-fquint: they are exceedingly mindful of favours done them, and grateful to their benefactors. Lions abounded not only in Lebauon, but also in the thickets of Jordan, and in other places of Canaan, where there were woods. Samfon tore a lion to pieces with his hands, Judg. xiv. David killed both a lion and a bear, I Sam. xvii. 24. Benaiah flew a lion in a pit, 2 Sam. xxiii. 20. A lion killed the man of God from Judah, who prophefied the ruin of the idolatrous altar at Bethel, and, contrary to nature, spared his als, I Kings xiii. 24.—26. Daniel was caft into a den full of hungry lions, but received no hurt, Dan. vi. 27. The Heathen perfecutors often exposed the Christians to be torn of lions and other wild beafts. God is compared to a lion: how ftrong and terrible! how he tears his enemies, and protects his friends! how fearful the voice of his threatenings and judgements! how great the terror of his chastifements! Hof. v. 14. Amos i. 2. iii. 8. Christ is the lion of the tribe of Judah, descending from Judah in respect of his manhood, he is the almighty awakener and conqueror of fouls; he deftroys his and his people's enemies, Rev. v. 5. The church is likened to a lion strengthened of God; she evercomes, and is terrible to all that oppose her, Mic. v. 8.; her ministers, especially in the primitive ages, were like lions, bold, courageous, and active in their work, and conquered multitudes to Christ, Rev. iv. 7. The faints are represented as LIONS. because of their boldness and activity in the cause of God, Prov. xxviii. 1. The tribes of Judah and Dan are likened to lions, to denote their courage, activity, and bravery, and conquests: the tribe of Judah had kings courageous and terrible, who attacked and fubdued their enemies. In Samfon, the Danites, as lions, mightily mauled their enemies, the Philistines, Gen. xlix. 9. Deut. xxxiii. 22. The devil is a roaring lion; he furiously goes about to terrify the faints, and deftroy mankind, 1 Pet. v. 8. Tyrants, oppressors, such as the Affyrian, Chaldean, and Perfian conquerors; and the four last kings of Judah are called lions: how cruelly ac former prevailed, and ruined the nations around! and how the last murdered their own subjects! Amos iii. 8. Nah. ii. 12. Jer. iv. 7. v. 6. If. xxi. 8. Ezek. xix. Men outrageous in wickednefs, perfecution, oppression, are likened to lions, as they terrify, tear, and murder others around, If. xi. 7. Ezek. xxii. 25. The Chaldean monarchy was as a lion: what a proud, powerful, courageous, and cruel terror to and destroyer of nations! Dan. vii. 4. Pretended difficulties are likened to a lion in the way and streets: they as effectually deter the flothful from his proper work of nature or duty, as if they were real lions, ready to tear him to pieces, if he proceeded in his course, Prov. ii. 13. xxvi. 13. Job and his fons reprefented as tyrannical oppreffors, feem to be the lion and whelps, pointed at as ruined, Job iv. 10. 11. Will a lion roar when he hath no prey?—Can a bird fall in a snare where no gin is for him? Shall one take up a fnare, and have taken nothing? God and his prophets do not threaten men but when destruction is a-coming, and fin has made them a fit prey for his wrath. Judgements do not happen without God's providential direction; nor are they removed till they they answer his end, Amos iii. 4. 5. The threatening words and providences of God, and the wrath of a king, and the furious noise of the Assyrian and other invaders of Judah, are very terrible, as the roaring of lions, and are an awful presage of ruin to such as they rore against, Jer. xxv. 30. Amos i. 2. iii. 8. Prov. xix. 12. If. v. 29.

LIP [103] LIV

LIP. See Mouth.

LIST; to think fit, Mat. xvii. 12. LISTEN; to hear attentively, 1f.

zlix. 1.

LITTERS; a kind of close waggons. Their Hebrew name almost tempts us to think their form had been copied from the tortoise-shell, If. lxvi. 20. But perhaps Markaboth never signifies chariots but in cases of war, but ought to be rendered either litters or counes, i. e. a kind of hand-some creels, somewhat like chairs, one on each side of the camel.

LITTLE, SMALL; (1.) Small in quantity, Exod. xvi. 18. (2.) Few in number, Exod. xii. 4. (3.) Short in measure or time, 2 Sam. xvi. 1. Job x. 20. (4.) Low in stature, Luke xix. 3. (5.) Young in age, Esth. iii. 13. (6.) Weak in strength, Luke xii. 28. (7.) Small in value or importance, Josh. xxii. 17. (8.) Poor, contemptible, and afflicted, 1 Sam. xv. 17. Rev. xx. 12. Psal. cxix. 41. Zech. iv. 10.

LIVE; (1.) To have a power of motion and action, Gen. xlv. 3. (2.) To recover from dangerous fickness, John iv. 50. 51. (3.) To have food, and other things proper for the maintenance of life, I Cor. ix. 13. (4.) To be inwardly quickened, nourished, and actuated by the influence of God, Gal. ii. 20. (5.) To be greatly refreshed and comforted, Psal. xxii. 16. 1 Thess. iii. 8. (6.) To have the continued poffession of grace here, and glory hereafter, John xiv. 19. God lives in and of himfelf, he has incomprehenfible and everlafting activity and happiness, Numb. xiv. 21. Christ now lives, possessed of all happiness for himfelf, Rev. i. 18. He lives for his people, perpetually interceding for them, and conveying to them his purchased bleffings, Heb. vii. 25.: and he live in them, as a quickening Spirit; he dwells in their heart by faith, and is the life-giving principle, from which their spiritual activity and comfort doth proceed; and they live on him by faith, drawing virtue from his word, person, righteoufnefs, and fulnefs, for their quickening, activity, and comfort, Gal. ii. 20. Men live not by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God. Even when there are no apparent means of fubfiftence, we are to trust to the power and promise of God for our support in life, Matth. iv. 4. Men live not to themselves, but unto God, or Christ, when they make, not their carnal eafe, profit, or honour, their great end, but his glory, and the edification of his church, Rom. xiv. 7.8. 2 Cor. v. 14. 15. To live in God's fight, is to be preferved by his favour, live under his special care, and in the exercife of fearing and honouring him, Hof. vi. 2. Gen. xvii. 18. Men live by the fword, when they fupport themselves and families by plunder and war, Gen. xxvii. 40. Peter lived after the manner of the Gentiles, when he used clean provision, without regard to the ceremonial law, Gal. ii. 14. LIVING, is either (1.) that which has life; and even water that runs, is called living, I Kings iii. 22. Numb. xix. + 17. Or, (2.) A man's fubstance whereby his life is maintained, Luke xv. 12. Mark xii. 44. Christ is a living flone, and living evay: he has life in himself, and quickens, and brings to life eternal, fuch as come to unite with, and walk in him, 1 Pet.ii.4. Heb.x.20. The influences of his Spirit are called living water, as they constantly issue forth fresh virtue, to beget, prescrve, restore, and perfect, our spiritual life. Song iv. 15. John iv. 10. Rev. xxii. 17. The living, are either fuch as live in this world, Ezek. xxvi. 20.; or fuch as live in the eternal state, Matth. xxii. The faints religious fervice is called a living and reafonable facrifice, to diffinguish it from the ancient factifices of beatts; and because proceeding from a foul foiritually quickened, it is r afirmai performed in a lively and active manner, Rom. xii. 1.

LIVELY; full of life; strong and relive, Exod. i. 19. Pfal. xxxviii. 19. God's oracles are lively, proceed from, and resemble the living God, and quicken and comfort our foul, Acts vii. 38. Saints are lively flones, quickened by the Spirit, and active in holines. Pet. ii. 7.; and their hope is lively, as it proceeds from spiritual life, and powerfully excites to holiness, 1 Pet. i. 3.

LIFE; (1.) A natural power of acting, Jobiii. 20. Eech. ii. 17. (2.) Spiritual life, confifting in our being instated in the favour of God, quickened by his Spirit, and conformed to his image; in confequence whereof, we, by fupernatural influence, live on God's fulnels of grace, enjoy fellowthip with him, and act to his glory, Rom. viii. 6. Col. iii. 3. (3.) That eternal holiness and happiness which the faints policies in beaven, Rom. v. 17. Jefus Christ is the life and our life; he is the fource, and maintainer of life to all creatures; he purchased eternal life for his people; he boftows it on them; he, dwelling in their heart, quickens them, comforts them, and will raife them from the dead, and give them eternal bleffedness, John xi. 25. xiv. 6. 1 John i. 2. Col. iii. 4. his life, that is, by his refurrection and intercession, we are faved, in confequence of our reconcilement unto God by his death, Rom. v. 10. His life is manifested, in his people's cheerful enduring of fuffering for his fake: thereby ore clearly evidenced his eternal life in heaven, his intercession for them, and his living in them, as their quickening and comforting head, 2 Cor. iv. 10 .: his words are life, as they, through the Spirit, quicken dead fouls, and preferve and reftor spiritual life in the faints, John vi. 63. The life of God, from which the wicked are alienated, is that life of grace and holinefs, whereby he, as it were, lives in his people, and of which he is the author, director, supporter, and end, Eph. iv. 18. Wildom, understanding, or knowledge of God, is life, or eternal life. To have true knowledge and wifdom, is to have the matter and means of spiritual life, and the means and pledge of eternal life. And to possess Jesus, the Wisdom of God, is to have the true fountain of life in us, Prov. iv. 13. John xvii. 3. A found heart is the life of the flesh; inward holiness and candour promote the comforts of natural life, and issue in eternal life, Prov. xiv. 30. To be fpiritually minded, is life and peace; it implies an interest in the lifegiving covenant of peace, and union, and communion, with Jefus, the life and the peace; it begets a lively and peaceful frame in our foul, and prepares for eternal life and peace in heaven, Rom. viii. 6. To lose life, is to forego it, or have it taken away, Judg. xviii. 25. He that findeth his life, shall lose it; and he that loses it for Christ, shall find it. He that preferves his life, and outward comforts, at the expence of denying Christ and his truth, shall but hurt himself, and forfeit eternal life; and he that hazards his life for Christ, shall be rewarded with eternal happiness, Matth. x. 39. xviii. 25. Life is in the light of the king's counter nance; the king with a fmile may give the countenance, or the outward comfort of life to men, Prov. xvi. 15. Life and death are in the power of the tongue; by our words we do much to premote, or to hurt and undo our own life, and the life of others, Prov. xviii. 21. Blood is called the life of an animal, as its motion is the immediate means of it; and the stomach is called the life, as it receives what supports it; and food that enters into the flomach, is called life, because the means of it, Gen. ix. 4. Job xxxiii. 20. Deut. xx. 19. The time in which we live is called life, as it is the measure of its duration, Prov. iii. 2. Comforts and bleffings are called life, as they render it truly happy and useful, I Tim. iv. 10. Our acts and employ are called life, as they manifest it, and are the improvement that renders it ufeful or wicked, Acts xxvi. 4.

LIVER; an inward part of an animal; and which was one of the entrails of beafts.

LIZ [105] LOC

beafts, infpected by the Chaldeans, and other Heathens, in their DIVINATION, Ezek. xxi. 21. To have the liver poured out, is expressive of great grief and inward vexation, Lam. ii. 11. To be flruck through the liver, import painful wasting of the inwards, and complete ruin by means thereof, Prov. vii. 23.

LIZARDS, are animals that live partly in water, and partly on land: their body is oblong and roundish: they have four legs, and hinder parts terminated by a tapering tail, as may be feen in the common esk. Lizards are of many different kinds, as newts, crocodiles, guanas, &c. In Arabia there are newts of about a yard long, and in India, it is faid, fome of them are eight yards in length. One of the American guanas is faid to be a fufficient diet for four men. About Kairo in Egypt, many poor people feed on lizards, or perhaps camelions, a particular kind of them. Lizards were unclean under the law, and might reprefent men, whose minds are earthly and covetous, and their appearance in their conversation, unholy and disagreeable, Lev. xi. 30.

LO; the same as BEHOLD; it is oft used to point to a person or thing in sight; and sometimes it expresses cheerful readiness, Gen. xxix. 7. Pfal.

xl. 7.

LOAD; to put as much upon a perfon or beaft as they can bear. God loads men with benefits, when he gives them in great number and abundance, Pfal. lxviii. 19.

LOAVES of bread were anciently fent in prefents, even to perfons of confiderable note, I Sam. xvii. 17. xxv. 18. I Kings xiv. 3. 2 Kings iv. 42. They were commonly very fmall; and those of barley for fach as were very poor.

LOCK; (1.) An influment for flutting a door. In the east, they are often of wood and wire, and may be easily opened with a stick, or one's singer. Unbelief is the principal cock of the heart, that shuts out Josus and his Spirit; and lukewarmness and stoth are the bandles of it, Song v. 3. (2.) Vol. II.

A bunch of hair on the fide of a perfon's head. Samfon, it feems, tied up his buir into feven bunches or locks, Jud. xvi. 13. Jefus's locks black and bushy as a raven, are his ever mysterious, and unfuding, and well-connected purpofes, his ever fresh appearance, and the wife administration of his government, Song v. 11.; but the filling of his head with dew, and locks with the drops of the night, imports his fearful and numerous fufferings. and his receiving fad contempt and neglect from men, Song v. 2. The church's having beautiful eves, cheeks, or temples within her locks, imports the modesty and felf-denial of her true members. Her locks, too, may denote the well-connected affemblies of faints, and numbers of good works, all fixed in, or proceeding from, Jesus Christ her head, Song iv. 1. 3. vi. 7. The uncovering of locks, is expressive of great shame, difgrace, and grief, Is. xlvii. 2.

LO-AMMI, i. e. not my people. See

Hose 1.

LOCUSTS; flying infects, most destructive to the fruits of the ground, particularly vines, and the corn after it is in the ear: they are of divers kinds; are very fruitful, and go forth by bands. The great green locusts, with a fword-formed tail, are near two inches long, and about the thickness of a man's finger. In A. D. 1556, there appeared locusts at Milan in Italy, of a span long; and Pliny speaks of locusts in India, about a yard long. Locusts hatch about the beginning of April, and in May fet off on their ravaging courses, and continue about five months in the fummer-feafon, and are very numerous in Afia and Africa; but in cold countries, their eggs are often ruined in the winter. In cold days, they shelter themselves in hedges; but the warmth of the fun cheers and strengthens them, Nah. iii. 17. Sometimes they fall like a cloud on a country, and in their flight, fo intercept the rays of the fun, as to darken the day, and fill the people with ter-ror, left they should light on their fields; and if trenches be dug, or fires kindled, to stop their progress, they press on, regardless of danger, till they fill the trenches and quench the fires. Hot fouth winds carry them remarkably forward, and where they light, they readily eat up every green thing they meet with. Their very touch and moisture are infectious. When they die in great numbers, they are endy to infect the air, and product postilence: but Providence often carries them into some sea at last. Locusts were one of the plagues of Lgypt. These were, by a strong wind, carried into the Red fea, Exod. y, 14.-19. It feems, a wind drove into the fea, those terrible fwarms that wasted Canaan, and occasioned a famine in the days of Joel; and the fea driving them ashore in heaps, the Hebrews buried them, Joel ii. If. xxxiii. 4. 5. The locusts were ceremonially clean, John Baptift, and many others, particularly in Abiffynia, cat them; and being falted and fried, they tafte like river cray fish, Lev. xi. 22. The Affyrians were like locusts, for their number, and their destructive influence, in the kingdoms of Ifrael and Judah, If. xxxiii. a. 5, Nah. iii. 15. 17.; and they ruined them, after they had been terribly mowed by the Syrians, Amos vii. 1. The Saracens and Popish clergy were like terrible locusts issuing out of the smoke of the bottomless pit, and for five months ravaging all around. Animated with the stupid and infernal delusion of Mahomet, the Saracens for about 150 years, made terrible progress in washing the countries, from the well of Africa and Spain, to almost the western borders of China. From the fmoke of ignorance and superstition, sprung the Romille bands of Cardinals, Bilhops, Monks, &c. with the Pope at their head, and for the time appointed of God, have, or shall spiritually waste the nations, Rev. ix. 1.—11.

To LODGE; (1.) To continue for a night or more, Gen. xxviii. 11. Pfal. xix. † 12. (2.) To make nefts for lodging in, Mark iv. 32. Righteoufnefs bidged in Jerusalem, when it was much practifed and esteemed by the inhabitants, H. i. 21. Prepare me a lodging, i. c. every thing proper to accommodate a stranger, Publicia, 22.

LOFT; a flory of a house, Acts xx. 9. Lofty; very high. God is the lofty One, his excellency and authority are infinitely superior to that of any other, Is. lvii. x5. Lofty applied to men, denotes their pride and acrogance, manifested in their haughty looks, speeches, or behaviour, Prov. xxx. A lofty city, is one wealthy and honourable, Isa. xxvi. 5.

LOG; a measure for things liquid, containing about 24. folid inches, which is near a wine pint English.

Lev. xiv. 10.

LOINS; the lower parts of the back, whereabout the feminal veffels are lodged, Exod. xxviii. 42. I Kings viii. 19.; and fornetimes they are put for the whole man, Pfd. lxvi II.

LONG; of great extent or duration, Pfal. exxix. 3. cii. 6. To Long, is to defire very carneftly, as a lover doth for his beloved; or one hungry or thirsty defires refreshment, Genxxxiv. 8. 2 Sam. xxiii. 15.; fo perfons grievoufly afflicted, long for death, Job iii. 21. David's foul lenged for his banished fon Absalom, 2 Sum. xiii. 39. Exiles long to fee their native country, Gen. xxxi. 30. Faithful ministers, fick or imprisoned, long to visit their people. Phil. ii. 26. Saints long for the experience of God's prefence and power in his ordinances, and for his falvation from the guilt, power, and pollution of fin, to perfect holine's and happinefs, Pfal. Ixxxiv. 2. caix. 40. 174. God's Long sufficing, is his patient bearing with manifold affronts, while he forbears to execute deferved wrath upon men, and waits to be gracious to them, Rom. ii. 4. The faints longfuffering, is their unwearied firmness of mind under manifold trouble, their constant hope of the performance of God's promifes, and their patient bearing with others to promote their reformation, Col. iii. 12.

LOOK; (1.) To behold; fee, Deut. xxviii. 32. (2.) To take a careful view of, Lev. xiii. 5. (3.) Fully to understand and reveal, Rev. v. 5. (4.) To choose, Acts vi. 3. (5.) To care for, Jer. xl. 4. (6.) To expect; wait for, Matth. xi. 3. (7.) To believe and truft in, If. xlv. 22. xvii. 8. God's looking on men, imports, his perfect knowledge of their conduct; his care of, and kindness to them, Phil. liii. 2. Lam. iii. 50.; his de ghtful contemplation of their grace, Sing vi. 13.; or his apparent unconcern about them, as if he was a more by-flander, Hab. i. 13. Pfal. xxxv. 17.; or his terrifying, and punithing there, Exod. xiv. 24. Mens looking to God or Christ, imports, their viewing him by faith, in his excellencies and new-covenant relations, defining direction, support, and every bleding of falvation from him, and their eyeing him as their pattern, Pfal. xxxiv. 5. If. xlv. 22. xvii. 7. Heb. xii. 2. Look not upon me, for I am black, for the fun hath looked upon me: Look not upon me with contempt or angry frowns; look not upon me, fo as to obfe ve merely or chiefly my fins and troubles, and fo flumble at religion for my fake; for fiery troubles and temptations have fearfully fcorched and afflicted me, Song i. 5. The finful looking of the Edomites on the lews, was their taking pleafure to fee them murdered, and their cities burnt with fire, and their infligating the Chaldeans to cruelty, Obad. 12.

understand

LOO [107] LOR

LOOSE; (1.) To unbind, John xi. 44. (2.) To open, Rev. v. 2. (3.) To put off shoes, Josh. v. 15. (4.) To free from church-centure, Matth. xvi. 16. (5.) To fet at liberty, Pfal. cii. 20. cv. 20. (6.) To let fail, Acts xiii. 13. xxvii. 21. God loofes the loins, bond, or girdle of men, when he weakens them, and takes away their power and authority, If. xlv. 1. Job xii. 18. † 21. His loofing of the Turkish four angels, imports his permitting and enabling them to execute his judgements on the nations wellward of the Euphrates, Rev. ix. 15. God loofes Satan, when he permits him to exercife his power, Rev. xx. 7. He loofeth the prisoners, when, in his providence, he brings men out of common goals; but chiefly, when he powerfully brings the bond-flaves of Satan out of their finful and iniferable flate; or brings his faints out of great trouble, fpiritual or temporal, and fills their heart with gladinefs, Pfal. cxlvi. 7. cxvi. 16. Jefus loofing the feven feals of his Father's book, and reading and looking thereon, imports his perfect knowledge and actual discovery of his most hidden purposes, in the due order thereof, Rev. v. vi.

LOP; to cut off the top or BRAN-CHES of a tree. See Bough.

LORD; one that has rule and authority; fuch as a husband, Gen. xviii. 12.; a master, John xv. 15.; a prophet, I Kings xviii. 7.; a prince, or noted perfon, Gen. xxiv. 18. And the wives or daughters of fuch great men are called ladies, Judg. v. 29. When, in the Old Testament, LORD is printed in capitals, it is ordinarily the translation of Febovah. In leffer characters, it is the translation of Adon, which fignifies a connecting and supporting ruler. God, Father, Son, and Holy Ghost, is often called LORD, to denote his felfexistence, his giving being to, and his fupporting and ruling every creature, Pful. cx. 1. 2 Theff. iii. 5. He is called Lord of hofts, or Lord of Sabbaoth; as he made, owns, supports, and rules all the armies of angels, men, and other creatures, Pfal. xxiv. 10. James v. 4. When Lord, in the New Teltament, is the translation of kyrios, it very often fignifies Christ, Rev. xiv. 13; but Lord, the translation of defpores, or mafter, is perhaps never aferibed to Christ, but to God essentially. Sce Acts iv. 24. Luke ii. 29. Jude 4. Rev. vi. 10. 2 Pet. ii. 1. Jesus Christ is called Lord of lords, and Lord of all; he fupports and governs all kings, mafters, and other rulers, nay, all persons and things in heaven and earth, Rev. xix. 16. Acts x. 36. He is the Lord of glory; he possesseth infinite glory in himself; purchaseth everlasting glory for, and bestows it upon his people, 1 Cor. ii. 8.

He is the Lord of the church, and especially of faints, her true members;

he planned, he erected the church, he institutes every ordinance in her, and and flands in a peculiar relation to church-members, as their husband, fupreme teacher, and ruler, and he is the fpiritual hufband, director, and governor, and fource of endless happiness to the faints, Rom. v. 1. To say unto Jefus, Lord, Lord, is to make a public profession of subjection to him, Matth. vii. 21. To call Jefus Lord, in a proper manner, is heartily to believe in, submit to, and witness for him, as the Son of God and true Meffiah, I Cor. xii. 3. Men think themfelies lords, when filled with felf-conceit of their wealth, honour, and wifdom, Jer. ii. 31. Babylon was a lady of kingdoms; an honoured ruler of nations, If. xlvii. 5. 7.

LO-RUHAMAH, not obtaining mercy; as Ruhamah fignifies, having obtained mercy. See Hosea.

LOSE; to fusser to perish, John vi. 29. Christ loses none of his elect; suffers none of them to be eternally ruined, John xvii. 12. Cattle or money is lost, when the owner knows not what is become thereof, Exod. xxix. 9. Men are lost, when in a state of sin and misery, wherein they have no happiness, and are of no spiritual good use; or when they go on in a course of open wickedness, or of noted wandering from God, Luke xix. 10. xv. 6. 9. 32. Pfal. cxix. 176. Matth. xviii. 11.

LOT, the fon of HARAN, and nephew of Abraham, and, as we suppose, brother of Sarah. After the death of his father, he lived and travelled with Abraham. After their return from Egypt, the number of their flocks, and strife of their herdrach, obliged them to separate. On Abraham's humble and peaceful offer, Lot too proudly took his choice, preferring himself to his uncle. Charmed with the fertile appearances of the country about Sodom, he, perhaps without confulting his Maker, chofe that for his place of fojourning. His pride and carnal mindedness were severely punished. The wicked behaviour of the Sodomites made his life a continual burden to him. Nor had he been long there, when he, if not also the most of what he had, was carried captive by Chedorlaomer. He was recovered by Abraham; and had it not been for Abraham's intercession with God in his behalf, he had, about 16 years after, perished in the overthrow of Sodom. On the evening before that fatal event, two of the angels, who had just feasted with Abraham, appeared to Lot, at the gate of Sodom, as travellers. Lot humbly begged they would lodge in his house. At first they, to try his hospitality, spake as if they inclined to lodge all night in the street; but, on his farther intreaty, they entered his house, and supped with him, in a manner we do not understand. was scarce finished, when a multitude of the men of the city came and demanded from Lot the two strangers, that they might abuse them in a manner shocking to chastity. Lot, in his confusion, begged they would rather take his two virgin-daughters, than fo horridly abuse the strangers who had committed themselves to his protection. They upbraided him as a faucy impertinent fellow, who, though but lately come to fojourn among them, would act the part of a judge, and dictate to them, who were natives of the place; and they threatened to use him worse than they had intended to do with the strangers. Hereon they furiously rushed forward to break up the door, which Lot had thut behind him. The angels pulled Lot in, and bolted the door, and imote the Sodomites about it with fuch blindness and stupidity, that they could not perceive where it was; and being wearied with groping, they at last went home. Meanwhile, the angels informed Lot of their intentions to destroy Sodom and the cities adjacent, for the wickedness thereof, and warned him and all his relations to leave the place immediately. He fent and warned his fons-in-law, and begged them to flee; but they contemned his message. About break of day, Lot, his wife, and two unmarried daughters, unwilling to leave their fubflance, or waiting waiting for the other daughters, continued to put off the time. The angels took them by the hand, and hafted them out of their house, and from the city; and leaving them, warned them to run with all their might, to a neighbouring mountain; and that they fhould be confumed if they fo much as looked back. At Lot's interceffion, who was afraid of the wild beatls of the mountain, the angels, directed of God, promised to spare Zoar, the least of the five cities marked for ruin, as a place of refuge to him and his family. Through carnal affection to her country and wealth, or a vain curiofity to fee the vengeance of God, Lot's wife looked behind her. The flames of divine vengeance feized her immediately, and transformed her into a flatue of petrified falt; thus making her a flanding monument of the danger of incredulity, imprudence, love to the world, apostasy from, and disobedience to God. How long this pillar continued, we know not. Josephus fays, it remained in his time, which was near 2000 years after it was formed. Ireneus and Tertullian fay, it was flanding about A. D. 200. Benjamin of Tudela, the Jewish traveller, avers, that it was standing near 1000 years after; which would make its duration above 3000 years. Some modern travellers pretend to have feen it; but their relations feem fo fabulous, and differ fo widely, that we cannot credit them. It is certain, that Maundrel, Shaw, and Thomson, and other travellers of known veracity, do not pretend that there are now the least remains of this noted statue. Shocked with the death of his wife and the ruin of his country, Lot was afraid to dwell in Zoar; but he and his daughters retired to the adjacent mountain. Lot's daughters, whom he but lately offered as proftitutes to the unclean Sodomites, decoyed himfelf into drunkennels and incest. Anxious of posterity, and perhaps defirous to be mother of the Meisiah, and fearing there was never a man left on the earth befides then father, or at least none to whom they could have accefs, they refolved to have children by him. On two different nights they intoxicated him with wine, and lay with him, the one after the other. They both fell with child by him. The eldest daughter impudently called her fon Moab, to mark that he was begotten by her The younger called her fon Benammi, the fon of my people. From thefe two fpring the Moabites and Ammonites, on whom the curse of Heaven remarkably lay, Gen. xi. 31. xiii. xiv. xix. 2 Pct. ii. 6.—8. Luke xvii. 32. Some think Baal-peor, the immodest deity worst ipped by the Ammonites and Moablites, was a reprefentation of Lot in his shameful drunkenness and incest.

LOT LOT 100

Lot; any thing cast or drawn in order to determine a point in debate. It is a folemn appeal to God, for an immediate interpolal of his directive power, for determining the affair; and, on that account, ought to be used in nothing but what is important, and cannot otherwife be peacefully determined in; and it is to be used with reverence and prayer, Prov. xvi. 33. xviii. 18. Acts i. 24. 25. 26. I Sam. xiv. 41. By lot, it was determined, which of the expiatory goats should be offered, and which difmiffed, Lev. xvi. 8. -10. By let, the land of Canaan was divided to the Hebrew tribes, and the Levites had their cities assigned, and their order of facred fervice determined, Numb. xxvi. 55. 56. xxxiii. 54. xxxiv. Josh. xiv.—xxi. I Chron. vi. 54. 61. xxiv. xxv. By lot, the Hebrews pitched on the men that should demand for punishment the delinquents of Gibeah; and discovered who had taken the accurfed fpoil of Jericho, Judg. xx. 9. Jofh. vii. 14.—18. By lot, Saul was marked out for the Hebrew kingdom; and his fon Jonathan discovered to have tasted the honey, 1 Sam. x. 19.—21. xiv. 41. 42. By lot was Jonah discovered to be the cause of the storm; and Matthias marked for the apostleship, Jon. i. 7. Acts i. 24.—26. By lot, the Heathens divided their thares of the spoil; and the profane profane foldiers determined who should have Christ's vesture, Obad. i. 11. Nah. iii. 10. Pfal. xxii. 19. That chance, which is but the want of defign, determines in any lot, is too abfurd for rational beings to pretend. God, or the devil, must therefore be the arbitrator, to whose determination The matter is, by lot, referred. challenges it as his property, to direct lots, Prov. xvi. 33. Nor, I suppose, will great numbers be found, even of players at cards and diee, that will avow Satan as their Referee. base then, and how finful, to use lottery in trifles, or in sports or games; or to direct in finful attempts! Ezek. xxi. 18. 19. Efth. iii. Whatever falls to one's share, by casting of the lot, or the providence of God, is called his LOT, Josh. xv. 1. Pfal. cxxv. 3. xvi. 5. If. xvii. 14. Acts viii. 21. Luke i. 9.

LOT I 110] LOV

LOTHE; to diflike; ABHOR; as the stomach does lukewarm water. God latter men, when, on account of fin, he is angry with them, hides himfelf from them, and refuses to regard or help them, Jer. xiv. 19. Zech. xi. 8. Men latte and abhor themselves, when they are deeply ashamed of, and grieved for their finfulness in heart and life, Ezek. vi. 9. xx. 43. xxxvi. 31. Men are loathsome, when silled with tin, that abominable thing which God hates, Prov. xiii. 1.

LOUD; that can be far heard. A Joud cry, noife, or voice, is expressive of great danger, earnest desire, or great joy. A whorish woman is loud and stubborn; she is given to scold and trouble her husband; and is talkative, and obstinate in seducing men, Prov. vii. 11.

LOVE; CHARITY; (1.) A natural affection of rational creatures, inclining them to fnew kindnefs to, or defire fellowship with, or close possession of some person or things, on account of some excellency apprehended therein. This is good, according to its object, manner, or degree. To love relations and neighbours, and one's felf, in subordination to God, is good, Psal. exceiv. 12. Eph. v. 25. Love to idols, fins, or to wicked perfons, as fuch, or in order to carnal lust, is unlawful, Jer. ii. 25. John xii. 25. 2 Tim. iii. 2. 2 Sam. xiii. 4. Prov. vii. 18. (2.) A gracious habit, principle, or diffication, wrought in our foul by the Spirit of God, whereby we esteem, defire, and delight in God in Christ, as our chief good, and sum of all perfection and excellency, and the fountain of all bleffings, and take pleafure to obey his laws; and whereby we are inclined and enabled to effect. defire, and delight in spiritual fellowfhip with fuch as bear his image, and to do good to all men, even our enemies, I John iv. 19. 21. This love or CHARITY is of great importance; without it, no gifts can be truly valuable; where it is not, there can be no true faith. Love for ever continues, when once implanted; and it renders us patient under trouble, flow to anger, ready to forgive injuries, and make us straiten ourselves to help our neighbour, makes us mourn for his faults and afflictions, and kindly bear with his infirmities, and is the bond of perfection; and in fine, if pure and fervent, tends to render our life a very heaven upon earth, Gal. vi. 5. 1 Cor. (3.) Divine love; which is either God's natural delight in that which is good, If. lxi. 8.; or that gracious affection which he manifests to men, in giving his Son for them, as their furety and random, and in giving him, and all his fulness of bleflings to them, as their portion, Rom. v. 8. 1 Johniv. 19. The love of God, or Christ, is either the love they bear to us, or our love, of which they are the objects, Rom. v. 5. Jude 20. John xv. 9. (4.) The object beloved, Song ii. 2. 7. God and Christ are called LOVE; contain whatever is lovely; deferve the highest love and esteem; their love is the greatest motive of all they do; and to aftonishment, is displayed in all the works of nature, but chiefly of grace, John iv. 8. 16. Song ii. 7. tove hath a breadth, lenger, depth, and keight: it is like a mighty ocean, it reaches over all the world, covers every fin, and somprehends every bleffing to ning: it reaches from eternity to eternity: it condescends to the lowest finner and case; brought Jesus to the lowest plunge of fusfering, and faves from the lowest hell, to the most inconceivable heights of holiness and happiness, Eph. iii. 18. 19. To be directed into the love of God, is to be inflructed, excited, and enabled to believe his redeeming love to us; and to live in the exercise of fervent love towards him, 2 Theff. iii. 5. To give Christ our loves, or lovely flowers, is to exert our various graces, of faith, love, hope, repentance, relatively to him, and to pour out our hearts in prayer and praise before him, Song vii. 12. Not to leve our lives une the death, is to prefer the honour of Christ, and the interests of his truth to our outward enjoyments, and even to natural life itself, Rev. xii. 11. Christ is altogether buely, is in every respect and degree, precious, ufeful, agreeable, and attracting, in his person, office, relation, flates, and work, Song v. 16.; and his ordinances are lovely or amiable, as he is their author, fubstance, and end, Pfal. lxxxiv. 1.

LOW LUD III

LOW. Men are low, or fit in a were place, when they are poor, debafed, and overlooked, Deut. xxviii. 43. Eccl. x. 6. During the hail-storm, the zity is low in a low place. Amidtl Sennachcrib's ravages, Jerufalem was protected; and amid florms of perfecution, the church is preferved, If. xxxii. 19. Let the rich Christian rejoice in that he is made low; humble in the temper of his mind; or even that he hath his outward wealth and honour taken from him, as that tends to his real good, James i. 10. Christ was made for a little while, or in a little degree, lower than the angels, in his state of humiliation, Pfol. viii. 5. Heb. ii. 7. 9. The lower parts of the earth are, (i.) The earth itfelf, which is the lower region of this world, Eph. iv. 9. (2.) The vallies and their irnabitants, or rather, the Gentile world, II. xliv. 23. (3.) The womb of a mother, where one is hid as in a deep pit, Pfal. exxxix. 15. (4.) The grave, or state of the dead, Pfal. laiii. 9. To he lowly, is to be meek and humble, Pfal. exxxviii. 6. Zech. ix. 9.

LOUR; to look fad, Mat. xvi. 3. LUBIM. Sec LIBYA. LUCIFER. Sec STAR.

LUCRE; gain. See FILTH.

LUD, the fon of Shem. If he was the father of the Lydians in Leffer Afia, which fome very learned men think he was not, it is probable his posterity took up their first residence near the Euphrates, and then moved westward, and fettled among the children of Iaplieth. It is more certain that Lydia, was fituated on the east of Ionia, fouth of Mytia, well of greater Phrygia, and north of Caria, and lay between the 37th and a9th degree of north latitude: but in the more flourishing times of their last kings, Alyattes and Cræfus. the Lydian territories were far more extensive. The principal cities of Lydia were Sardie. Philadelphia, Thyatire, Magneña. &c. The Lydians had kings of three different races, who, we suppose, governed them about 600 or 700 years. After the country had been ever-run by the Gemerian or Cimmerians, about A. M. 3368, and had not long after warred furioully with the Medes, Milefians, and others, and juff after Cræfus had extended his empire from the Egean for to the river Halys, he having entered into an alliance with the Chaldeans against the Medes and Persians, Cyrus conquered the kingdom of Lydia. Since which it has, by turns, been subject to the Persians, Greeks, Romans, Sameens, or Turks. The Lydians were extremely wicked; their women had to earn their portion for marriage by whoredom; and after the fall of their monarchy, they generally became a most idle and esseminate race: the gospel, however, was early planted here; and a Christian church hath never fince been wholly extirpated, Gen. x. 22. If. lxvi. 19. (2.) Lup, the fon of Mizreim, and father of the Ludim in Africa. Thefe we fuppose the same as the Nubians, or fome Ethiopians on the fouth or west of Egypt. They were famed archers, and affilted Pharach-necho againfe the Chaldeans :

LUH [112] LUS

Chaldeans; but foon after, by the ravage of their country, paid dear for their pains, Jer. xlvi. 9. Ezek. xxx. 5. The gospel was here preached very early by so ne of the Jews, Is. lxvi. 19.; but in Nubin, we scarce know of the smallest vestiges of Christianity at present.

LUHITH; a town in the land of Moab, probably built en a hill, and between Ar and Zour; and certainly ravaged by the Affyrians and Chal-deans, If. xv. 5. Jer. xlviii. 5.

LUKE or LUCAS, the evangelift; a native of Antioch in Syria, and a phyfician to his bufinefs. Whether he was a lew or Gentile, or whether he was the fame as Lucius the kinfman of Paul, Rom. xvi. 21.; or whether he was converted by Paul at Antioch, or did at first meet with him at Troat, we know not. His mention of himself as Paul's companion begins at Troas; and after that he often mentions himself as along with him, Acts xvi. &c. compare Col. iv. 14. Philem. 23. 2 Tim. iv. 11. Luke wrote the history of Christ's life, and the hiftory of the Acrs of the Apostles, and directed them both to one Theophilus, who it feems was one of his godly friends. In his history of Christ, he relates a great many circumstances of his, and his harbinger John Baptift's birth and private life, which are not mentioned by Matthew and Mark, who are generally, though uncertainly, thought to have written their gospels before him. He also records a variety of incidents and parables of Jefus's public life omitted by them. Nor is his order always the fame with theirs: the reason of which is, either that Jesus repeated or reacted fimilar things on different occafions; or that the Holy Gholt, in these histories, doth not always intend to inform us of the order, but of the facts that were really done. In his A is of the Apostles, Luke principally gives us the history of Paul, whom he fo much attended. Nothing in the New Teltament is purer Greek than the lauguage of Luke, and it is admirably adapted to history.

LUKEWARM; neither cold nor het: the professed Christians of Landi-

cca are fo called, because they neither wholly difregarded Christ and his cause, nor were they zealous in loving him and promoting his honour; and so were loathsome to him, Rev. iii. 16.

LUMP; a piece of clay, dough, or bunch of figs, 2 Kings xx. 7. To it are likened, (1.) All mankind, who have all the fame earthly and finful nature, Rom. ix. 21. (2.) The Jews descending from holy parents, Rom. xi. 16. (3.) A particular congregation or church, I Cor. v. 6.

LUNATIC; perfors affected with fome diftemper influenced by the moon, fuch as the falling-fickness, melancholy, madness, &c. They are often worst at the new and full moon. Perhaps Satan rendered the persons he possessed worst at these times, that the moon might be reckoned the cause of the malady. Our Saviour healed divers lunatics, Matth. iv. 24. xvii. 5.

LURK; to hide one's felf. Wicked men lurk to do mischief, when they use fecret and crafty methods to oppress and ruin the righteous, poor, or innocent, Prov. i. 11. Pfal. x. 8.

To LUST, is earnestly to desire, Deut. xii. 15. The Spirit lusteth against the flesh, and the flesh against the Spirit. The Holy Ghost, and his grace implanted in the faints, earnestly oppose and defire the ruin of our indwelling corruption; and indwelling fin earnestly opposes every inclination proceeding from them. Corruption of nature is called luft, as it strongly inclines us to evil, James i. 14. 15. 2 Pet. i. 4. Rom. vii. 7. This general luft is diftinguithed, into the lasts of the flesh, such as, unclean defire of carnal pleafure, intemperate defire of liquor or food, Gal. v. 17. 1 Pet. ii. 11. 2 Pet. ii. 10. Pfal. lunville 18.; and the lufts of the mind, fuch as paide, covetoulness, unbelief, attachment to the law of works, Eph. ii. 3. 1 Pet. iv. 2. Thefe lufts are ungod'y, unlike God, and mightily tending to diffionour him, Jude 18.; are devilib, of Satan's implantation, inftigated by him, and render men like him, John viii. 44.; are warring against the Holy Ghoft and his grace, and even among themselves, James iv. 1. i Pet. ii. 11.; are deceitful lusts, imposing on ourfelves, and making us to deceive others, Eph. iv. 22.; are infatiable, as the more one fulfils them, they require the more, If. lvii. 10. Eccl. i. 8.; are worldly, as they reign in worldly men, and relate to the things of the world, Tit. ii. 12.; are jorner lufts to the faints, as they have begun to mortify them, I Pet. i. 14. They are hurtful, as they pierce men through with many forrows, outrageoufly burn in them, and waite their conflictation, and drozon them in perdition, 1 Tim. vi. 9. 10. Rom. i. 27.

LUZ LYS 113

LUZ. The most ancient Luz was called Bernet; but a Canaanitish inhabitant of it, being faved alive for difcovering to the Hebrews a fecret entrance into the city, he and his family retired into the land of the Hittites, and built another city, called Luz. But whether this was the Luza near Sherhem, or the Louffa or Lyfa in Arabia, which was perhaps the Lasha where the Canaanites had their foutheast border, and feems to have shood near the fouth point of the Dead fea, we know not. Judg. i. 25. 26. Gen. X. 19.

LYBIA. See Libya.

LYCAONIA; a province of Leffer Afia, having Cappadocia on the cart, Galatia on the north; Phrygia on the west, and Pisidia on the fouth. Lyftra, Derbe, and Iconium, were cities of this province. They feem to have had a corrupt Greek for their language. Christian charches were here planted by Paul and Barnabas, which continued of fome note till the country was over-run by the Saracens, Acts xiv. 6. 11. 18.

LYCIA; a province of Leffer Afia, having Caria on the west, the Mediterranean fea northward of Syria on the foath, and Pamphylia on the northeast. It anciently contained about 23 cities, and fundry other large towns; the chief were, Telmessus, Patara, Myra, Olympus, and Phafelis. The Lyciars were a colony of the Cretians, and were famed for equity in more ancient times; but about 60 years before our Saciona's birth, many of them on the fea-coast exercifed piracy. Acts xxvii. 5.

LYDDA, or Lop, was built by Shamed the four of Elpaal, and stood about 14 miles north-east from Joppa, and 32 well-ward from Jerufalem. It belonged to the Ephraimites; but after the Chaldean captivity the Benjamites inhabited it, I Chron. viii. 12. Neh. xi. 35. In the time of the Maccabees, the country of Lydda was taken from Samaria and added to Judea. At Lydda Peter miraculoufly healed Eneas of a palfy, that had for eight years confined him to his bed; which was a bleffed means of turning many to the Christian faith: and here a church continued till the Saraceas mined it. There was a college of the Jews at Lydda, which produced many celebrated doctors.

LYDIA; (1.) A woman who had been born in Thyatira, but was a feller of purple-dye or purple-filks in Philippi. Whether the was a Jewess or Gentile we know not; but the and her family being converted to and baptifed in the Christian faith, Paul, upon her intreaty, lodged in her houfe, Acts xvi. 14. 15. 40. (2.) A country in Afia, and another in Africa. See Lup.

LYSTRA was a city of Lycaonia; but fome think it rather pertained to Isauria. Here Timothy was born; here Paul and Barnabas healed a man who had been lame from his birth, and were taken for Mercury and Jupiter; here Paul fome years after confirmed the Carittians, Acts xiv. 6. 18. xvi. 1.

M

M A A/TAACHAH, the fon of Nahor, √¹ by his concubine Reumah, Gen. xxii. 24. Some will have him the father of the Mokati, in Arabia Vol. II.

M A A

the Happy; and imagine the city Maca near the straits of Ormus on the east, or Mocha on the fouth coall, may have been called by his name. I rather rather think he was the father of the Maachathites, who inhabited a fmall tract on the east of the springs of Jordan, called Maachah, Maachathi, or Bethmaachah, as this country was not far distant from Nahor's country of Padan-aram; and hereabouts the rest of Nahor's posterity dwelt. was, perhaps, regard to kindred, that made the Hebrews spare the Maachathites and Geshurites, Deut. iii. 14 Josh. xii. 5. As the Maachathites asfisted the Ammonites against David, he no doubt subdued their country. 2 Sam. x. 8. 9. (2.) Maachah, or Michaiah: she is called the daughter of Abishalom, and of Uriel, which perhaps were but different names for the fame person; or she might be the daughter of Uriel, who married Tamar, the daughter of Abfalom. She was the wife of Rehoboam, and grandmother of King Afa. As she was a noted idolater, and perhaps debased herself to be the priesters of the obscene idol Priapus, Asa stript her of what authority fhe had, and broke to pieces her idol, and stamped it under foot, and burnt it at the brook Kidron, I Kings xv. 2. 2 Chron. xiii. 2. xv. 16.

MAA [114] MAC

MAALEH ACRABBIM; i.e. the afcent of Acrabbim; fo called from the multitude of Jerpents and feorpions that frequented that place. Acrabbim is probably the fame as Acrabatene in the land of Edom, which I fuppose was a part of mount Hor, and is now called Accaba, and hangs over Elath, and was the black mountain of Ptolemy. Over this mountain there is a steep rugged path. Numb. xxxiv. 4.

Josh. xv. 3.

MACEDONIA; a large country, on the north-east of Greece, anciently called Æmathia, from one of its kings. It had the mountains Scodrus and Hæmus on the north and northeast, the Ægean sea or Archipelago, with part of Thrace, on the east, Thessay on the fouth, Epirus on the fouth-west, and Albania on the west. It was peopled by a vast number of tribes, which, we think, were mostly descended from Chittim, the fon of Javan. The monarchy of the Macedonians had flood about 400 years, when King Philip added Thef-faly, with part of Epirus and Albania, to his territories. His fon Alexander, it is faid, subdued 150 nations. It is certain he made himfelf mafter of Greece, and of the Perfian empire, and of part of India. His empire was quickly broken to pieces: and Macedonia, after having continued a kingdom about 646 years, fell into the hands of the Romans, A. M. 3856. When the Roman empire was divided, Macedonia fell to the share of the Emperor of the east. After it had continued fubject to the Romans almost 1600 years, it fell under the power of the Ottoman Turks, who are the present masters thereof. Some of its principal citics were Thessalonica, Amphipolis, Philippi, Berea, Pella, &c. A vision directed Paul to preach the gospel in this country; he did it with great fuccess; many believed and turned to the Lord. The Macedonian Christians were very forward in charity to the poor faints at Jerufalem, and in liberal fupply of the Apostle Paul, and in zealous dedication of themselves to the service of Christ, Acts xvi. 9.—40. xvii. 1.— 14. 2 Cor. viii. 1.-5. xi. 8.9. Notwithstanding the ravages of the Goths, Bulgars, and others, and the terrible oppression of the Ottoman Turks, Christianity, though in a poor condition, remains here till this day.

MACHIR, the fon of Manasseh, grandion of Joseph, and chief of the family of the Machirites. His fons were Gilead, Peresh, and Sheresh: he had alfo a daughter married to one Hezron of the tribe of Judah, who bare Segub, the father of Jair, who had 23 cities in the land of Gilead, and took Geshuri, Aram, &c. from the ancient inhabitants, Numb. xxvi. 29. I Chron. vii. 16. ii. 21. 22. Not to Machir himfelf, but to his feed, did Moses give the land of Gilead, Numb. xxxii. 40. Some of them appear to have commanded in the Hebrew army under Dieborahand Burak. Judg. v. 14. MACH-

MAC 115 MAD

MACHPELAH, where Abraham and fundry of his family were buried in a cave, was near Hebron, Gen. xxiii. xxv. 9. xlix. 31. l. 13.

MAD; (1.) Destitute of reason. Such a one David feigned himself to be at the court of Achish, I Sam. xxi. 13. 14- 1 Cor. xiv. 23. (2.) Furious and outrageous in perfecuting men; fo Paul was exceedingly mad against the Christians, Acts xxvi. 11. (3.) Exceedingly diffreffed and perplexed, that one knows not what he doth, or what to do; fo the terrors or judgements of God render men mad or distracted, Deut. xxviii. 34. If. xliv. 25. Pfal. lxxxviii. 15. (4.) Outrageoufly violent in defire, or action, notwithstanding strong reasons to the contrary; fo the Chaldeans were mad on their idols and vanities, Jer. l. 18. teachers are mad; they foolishly vent falsehoods of their own invention, instead of the truths of God, and at last God's judgements demonstrate the folly and falsehood of what they fay; and men reckon them to have been out of their wits, Hof. ix. 7. He that deceiveth his neighbour in fport, is like a madman, casting firebrands, arrows, and death. Contrary to reason, he fpreads hurt, and even everlasting destruction, all around him, Prov. xxvi. 18.

MADAI, the third fon of Japheth, Some will have him the Gen. x. 2. father of the Macedonians, and observe, that Æmathia, the ancient name of Macedonia, is the fame as Ai or Aia Madai, the ifle, country, or land of Madai. In Macedonia there was an ancient king called Medus, or Madai; and near to it was a tribe called Mædi, or Madi. The name of Media they derive from Medea a famed forcerefs, that lived in Colchis, near the north-west corner of it, about the time of Afa. But as Macedonia is too remote for a fon of Japheth to come to, and as Media both in name and fituation answers so well for Madai, we cannot but reckon him the father of the Medes. Media, now called Aiderbeitzan, is a pretty mountainous country, on the fouth-west of the Caf-pian sea, east of Armenia, north of Persia, and west of Parthia and Hyrcania. Its principal cities in uncient times were Echatan, Rages, &c. The Medes were fubdued by Pul, or Tiglathpilefer, king of Assyria; and into Media Shalmancfer carried his Jewish and Syrian captives. As the Medes were excellent warriors, part of them, of the city or county of Kir, assisted Sennacherib in his invasion of Judea, If. xxii. 6. After Sennacherib's army was destroyed at Jerusalem, the Medes fhook off the Affyrian yoke. Arbaces feems to have begun the work. bout the 20th year of Hezekiah, and A. M. 3298, or perhaps three years fooner, Dejoces, or Arphaxad, by fair means, got himself settled on the throne. After building Echatan, he invaded Affyria, but Efarhaddon gave him a terrible defeat in the plain of His fon Phraortes, whom fome think Arphaxad, fucceeded him, A. M. 3348. He fubdued the neighbouring nations of Upper Asia, and invaded Affyria; but was flain at the fiege of Nineveh. Cyaxares his fon fucceeded him, A. M. 3370. He conquered Persia; and to avenge his father's death, and the ruin of Ecbatan the capital of Media, he invaded Affyria, and laid fiege to Nineveh. invasion of the Tartars under Madyes, or Oguz-kan, diverted him: they remained 28 years in Media. the Medes had massacred the Tartars, and a peace had been made with the Lydians, who, in a war of five years, attempted to revenge the murder of the Tartars, Cyaxares and Nebuchadnezzar joined their forces and besieged Nineveh; took and razed it, about A. M. 3403; and then Nebuchadnezzarmarched againft, and reduced Hollow-Syria Judea, and most of Phenicia: Cyaxares reduced Armenia, Pontus, and Cappadocia; and he and Nebuchadnezzar conquered Persia. About A. M. 3409, Aftyages, or Ahafuerus his fon, succeeded him: his fifter Amyite was the wife of Nebuchadnezzar; his do ther Nitocris was married to Evn-merodach, the fon of Nebuchad nezzar, and Mandane to Cambyfes the father of Cyrus. His fon Cyaxares, or Darius, fucceeded him, A. M. 3444. After a war of 20 years, and terrible murder of the people, he, affifted by Cyrus his fon-in-law and nephew, made himfelf mafter of Babylon, and the whole empire of Chaldea: If. xxi. 2. xiv. 17. 18. Jer. h. 11. 27. 28. Pan. v. 31. vi. ix. 1. Cyrus, by his wife, fell heir to the Median kingdom, and unlted it with that of Pirsia, A. M. 3470, or 3468.

 P_2

MADMANNAH, or MADMEN; a-city of Judah, near their well border, and not far from Ziklag, and inhabited by the pollerity of Shaaph, was deferted for fear of the ravaging Affyrians, John xv. 31. 1 Chron. ii. 49.

H. x. 31.

MAGDALA. Sce Dalmanutha.
MAGICIANS. Sce Divination.
MAGISTRATES; civil Rulers; particularly fuch as rule over particular cities, Judg. xviii. 7. Ezra vii. 25.
MAGNIFY; to make great, or declare to be great. God magnifies his own mercy or name, when, by the fulfilment or powerful application of his word, he discovers the unbounded nature of his mercy and other perfections, Gen. xix. 10. Acts xix. 7. He magnifies his word above all his name, when he clearly discovers his mercy and faithfulness therein contained and pledged, Pial. exxxviii. 2. Isfus magnified the law, and inade it honourable; his subjection to it who was the great Lawgiver, highly demonstrated the honour and infallible obligation of it; and he rendered to it an infinitely more valuable obedience than ever it could have received of men, Il. xlii. 21. God magnifies men, when he renders them honourable, wealthy, or powerful, Joh. iii. 7. iv. 4. 1 Chron. xxix. 15. 2 Chron. xxxii. 23.; or even when, by afflicting them, he shows that he takes much notice of them, Job vii. 17. Men marnify God or his work, when they publish and declare his greatness and glory, Pfal. xxxiv. 2. Job xxxvi. 24. Men magnify themselves, when they boast of their power and wealth, and behave arrogantly to others, Lam. i. 9. MAGOG. See Gog.

MAHANAIM; a city on the east of Jordan, given by the tribe of Gad to the Levites of Merari's family, Josh. xxi. 38. It received its name from Jacob's feeing near this spot two camps of angels, Gen. xxxii. 1. 2. Here Ishbosheth fixed his residence during his short reign, 2 Sam. ii. 9. Hither David retired from the sury of Absalom; and near to it his army defeated the troops of that usurper, 2 Sam. xvii. xviii.

MAHANE-DAN; i. c. the camp of Dan; a place near Kirjath-jearim, where the 600 Danites encamped in their way to Laifh, Judg. xviii. 12.

MAID; (1.) A young woman, particularly one in fervice, 2 Kings v. 4. Gen xvi. 2. (2.) A virgin, as young women generally are. or ought to be, Deut. xxii. 14. Judg. xix. 24.

MAJESTY; the royal greatness of God, or men, which commands reverence and awe, Jude 25. Esth. i. 4.

MAIMED, properly fignifies, fuch as want members of their body, Matth. xviii. 8.: but those maimed, whom Christ healed, appear to be such as had legs, but, by the palfy or otherwise, had lost the use of them; for we never read of his giving people new members, Matth. xv. 30.

MAINTAIN. See Urhold.

MAKE; (1.) To cause a thing to be that did not before exist: so God at first made all things, Gen. i. 31. (2.) To put perfors or things into fuch à form, office, or condition, as they were not before, H. xlv. 9. God is our Maker; Makers, or Creators; by joint operation, the three divine Perfons give us our being and condition, as they fee most, If. liv. 5. God makes persons of such an office, when he calls them to, and qualifies them for it, Mat. iv. 19. Acts xxvi. 16. Amid ficknefs, God makes the bed of him who wifely confidereth the cafe of the poor; by mitigating and delivering from trouble, he, as it were, refreshes, and makes his bed eafy to him, Pfal. xli. 3. The Word was made flesh, not by any change change of the Son of God's divine nature into flesh or manhood; but by his affuming a manhood into perfonal union with his divine nature, John i. 14.: Lut water was made wine, by turning the fubflance of the one into the other, John ii. 9.

MAK MAM 117

MAKKEDAH; a city of the tribe of Judah, about two miles east from Libnah, and 10 or 14 west of lerufalem. Near this place Joshua defeated and hanged Adonizedek and his four allied kings: he then deftroyed the place, and marched westward to Libnah, Josh. x. 10.—28.

MAKTESH; a street rufalem; but whether that of the valley of Shiloah, which almost furrounded the temple, and was shaped fomewhat like a mortar; or that of the cheefe-mongers between the hills of Acra and Zion; or any other street of the city, where they used mortars for bruifing the fpice which they fold, The merchants I cannot determine. that dwelt in it had reason to howl, when by the Chaldean invafion their trade was stopped, and their shops rifled, Zeph. i. 1.

MALACHI; the 12th of the leffer prophets. In vain it has been pretended, that he was Zerubbabel, Ezra, Mordecai, or Nehemiah; none of thefe are ever called prophets; nor had they any cause to change their name: nor is it a whit more certain, that he was of the tribe of Zebulun, and a native of the city of Sepheris, and died young. It is plain, that he prophefied after the building of the fecond temple; and, we suppose, about A. M. 3607, about fixteen years after the death of Nehemiah. After mentioning the diffinguished favours of God to Jacob and his feed, -above what had been shown to Esau, whose land was by this time configned to barrennefs and drought; he reproves the Jews for their ungrateful and unbecoming deportment towards their Cod; he hints, that the Gentiles should be called to the church in their room: he charges the Jews with profanation and weariness of the worship of God, and with offering him facrifices blemished. and corrupt, chap. i. He reprehends the priefts neglect of instructing the people; reproves their marriage of ftrange wives, and their frequent and groundlefs divorces, chap. ii. informing them of the Messiah's near approach, to try and refine them to purpose, he rebukes the Jews for their facrilege and blafphemy, and declares the Lord's diffinguished regard for fuch as feared him, and in a time of general corruption, walked in his way, chap, iii. He concludes with a prediction of terrible judgements on fuch Jews and others as should reject the incarnate Meffiah, and of figual mercy to fuch as should believe on him; and adds a hint of John Baptift's miffion, to prepare the Jewish nation to receive the Meffiah, chap. iv.

MAMMON; a Syriac word, fignifying multitude, or worldly riches. No man can ferve God and mammon; nonc can, at the fame time, love and ferve God with his heart, while his great aim and defire is to heap up, enjoy, and retain worldly wealth, Matth. vii. 24. Make to your felves friends of the mammon of unrighteoufuefs, that when thefe riches fail, they may receive you into everlasting habitations: fpend worldig riches, which fo many get unjuftly, and use as infiruments of dishonetly and . ickedness, in a pious and charitable manner, that the poor faints, benefited thereby, may be thirred up to pray for you; and that when your riches are no more retained by you, ye ma, btain the gra-cious reward of your charity in heaven; and those poor faints whom you have supported, may with pleasure welcome you into the celetial abodes, Luke xvi. 13.

MAMRE: the brother of Aner and Ethcol: these Amorites affilled Abraham againd Chedorlacmer, Gen. tiv. Mamre communicated his name to a plain near Hebron, where he lived. Some think, that inflead of the plain of Mamre, we should read the oak of Maure. Sozomen, the ecclefiaftic hiftorian, favs, that this oak was standing about 300 years after our Savious's death, about fix miles from Hebron, and was mightily honoured by pilgrimages to it, and annual feafts at it; and adds, that near it was Abraham's well, much reforted to by heathens and Christians, for the fake of devotion or trade. Gen. xiii. 18. xxiii. 17.

MAL [118] MAN

MALES. The male or he-animals offered in facrifice, figured out the fuperior dignity, strength, and usefulness of our Redeemer. Thrice in the year, at the passover, pentecost, and feast of tabernacles, all the Hebrew males able to travel were to attend at the tabernacle or temple, each with his gifts. Did this figure the gathering of the elect to Christ in the apostolic and millennial period, and of all the faints to him at the last day? Exod. xxiii. 17. None but the males of Aaron's family were allowed to eat of fin-offerings or trespals offerings, Lev. vi. 18. 29.

MALICE; deep-rooted and violent hatred, disposing us to render evil for good. Wicked men are filled with, and live in it, Rom. i. 29. Tit. iii. 3. It is exceedingly unbecoming the faints, and unsits them for fellowship with Christ at his table, or otherwise, 1 Pet. ii. 1. I Cor. v. 8. We ought to be children in malice, quite unacquainted with it; but in understanding men, having a large measure of solid knowledge, 1 Cor. xiv. 20.

MALIGNITY; a perverse temper of mind, disposing one to delight in, and endeavour by all means to effect the destruction of others, doing mischief for mischief's sake, Rom. i. 29.

MALLOWS; a kind of plant, whose flower confills of one leaf, and is very open at the top, and divided into feveral fegments. From the bottom of the flower there arises a tube, thaped like a pyramid; and from the cup arifes a piftil, which is fixed like a nail to the lower part of the flower: this ripens into a flat roundish fruit, which contains the feed, which is usually formed as a kidney. There are about 50 or 60 kinds of mallows. Mallows are very ufeful in medicine. leaves are useful in foftening fomentations, and cataplasms. A decoction of the roots is a good drink in pleurifies, peripneumonies, gravel, inflammation of the kidneys, and in stranguries, and all kinds of suppressions of the urine. Plutarch and Horace represent mallows as eaten for food by the poor: but perhaps the malluchim are some kind of bramble, whose tops and leaves are eaten by poor people, and are still called mallochia by the Moors, Job xxx. 4.

MAN, or MANKIND. In man, the animal and angelic natures are as it were conjoined. An animal body is endowed with a rational and immortal foul. first, man was created male and female, after the image of God, in knowledge, righteoufness, and holiness, with dominion over the creatures; and quickly after, they were admitted into a federal relation with God. Adam their common father, and whom, had they been all in being, they could not but have centered in by their choice, was divinely constituted their covenant-head. Though he had fufficient strength to have fulfilled the condition of perfect obedience, and fo for ever fecured his and their eternal happiness, he was so far from doing it, that on the first temptation he broke the covenant, violating the express law thereof, relative to the forbidden fruit. His difobedience involved himself and all his natural offspring in a finful and miferable state. What offence he committed in their name, being chargeable and justly charged on them, in the very commencement of their relation to him, the curse condemning to death fpiritual, as well as temporal and eternal, prevents God's infufing into their fouls, in the creation thereof, any fanctity of nature; and lays them under the strength of fin. Hence every one is shapen in iniquity and conceived in fin, Gen. i. ii. iii. Rom. v. 12.—19. Eph. ii. 1.—3. Job xiv. 4. John iii. 6. Pfal. li. 5. In this fallen state, every imagination of man's heart is only evil from his youth, and that continually. They are transgressors from the womb, and go aftray, fpeaking lies;

their

MAN [119] MAN

their heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked, and their carnal mind enmity against God; out of their corrupt heart proceed cyil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false witness, blasphemies; they are filled with all unrighteoufness, fornication, wickedness, covetousness, maliciousness, envy, murder, debate, deceit, malignity; they are whifperers, backbiters, haters of God, despiteful, proud, inventors of evil things, difobedient to parents, without understanding, covenant-breakers, without natural affection, implacable, unmerciful; they are lovers of themselves, boasters, blasphemers, unthankful, unholy, false accusers, incontinent, fierce, despifers of every thing good, traitors, heady, high-minded, lovers of pleasures more than lovers of God; -foolish, disobedient, deceived, ferving divers lufts, living in malice and envy, hateful, and hating one another. There is none in their natural state righteous, no not one; there is none that understandeth, and feeketh after God; they are altogether corrupt and abominable, drinking up iniquity as the ox drinketh up the water; with their tongues they use deceit; their mouth is full of curfing and bitterness; their feet are swift to flied blood; deftruction and mifery are in all their ways, and the way of peace have they not known: there is no fear of God before their eyes: Gen. vi. 5. viii. 21. Jer. xvii. 9. Rom. viii. 7. Matth. xv. 9. Rom. i. 29.—31. 2 Tim. iii. 2.—4. Tit. iii. 3. Pial. xiv. Rom. iii. 9.—18. By reason of fin men are rendered miferable; the frame of this lower world is much altered; fields are blafted with the curfe; the air infected with peftilential vapours; winds and feas are calculated to fwallow up the guilty. Every man is by nature destitute of happy interest in, or fellowship with God; they are under his wrath and curfe; they are exposed to famine, war, peftilence, poverty, reproach, fickness, disappointment, toil, and to judicial blindness of mind, hardness of heart, vile affections, fearedness and horror of conscience a reprobate fense, and slavery of Satan; and at the end to be in death driven away in their wickedness, and to be in hell for ever tormented; punished with everlatting destruction, from the prefence of the Lord, and the glory of his power: Gen. iii. 18. 19. Eph. ii. 12. Pfal. v. 4. 5. vii. 10.—16. Deut. xxviii. 16.—68. 2 Cor. iv. 4. 2 Thess. ii. 11. 12. Rom. i. 26. 28. Prov. xiv. 32. Rev. xiv. 10. 11. 2 Thess. i. 8. 9.

Man being utterly unconcerned and incapable to recover himself from this finful and miferable state, our fin and mifery had eternally continued and increased, had not a three-one God graciously provided for our relief. electing and covenanting love of the Father, the mediation of the Son, in his person, office, and state, and the Spirit's almighty application to our foul, of what his mediation purchases and procures, are the means of our redemption. Union with Jefus Christ, as our righteoufness and strength; juftification of our persons, through his obedience and fuffering imputed to us; adoption into his family; regeneration, and fanctification, whereby we are renewed after his image, in heart and life; comfort in his friendship and fulness; and endless felicity in his immediate prefence; are the fummary bleffings therein contained. By faith in Christ as offered in the gospel, we must receive them; by repentance and new obedience to all the precepts of his law, and by walking with him in all the ordinances of his grace, must we mark our gratitude to God for his kindness: Hof. xiii. 9. Rom. iii. v. Eph. i. ii. iii. Gal. iii. iv. Tit. iii. 3.—6. Rom. vi. xii.-xv. Eph. iv.-vi. Matth. v. 48. xxviii. 20.

Notwithstanding this prepared and published redemption, the wickedness of man has still been great in the earth. As men multiplied, their immoralities increased: Cain and his feed introduced a deluge of profaneness, and by intermarriages with them were the posterity of Seth corrupted. God, who has ordinarily all along feverely punished the first introducers of wickedness, was provoked to drown them all, but Noah and other feven porfors. Not long after the flood, had those preferved from it begun to repeople the earth, when wickedness revived in all its horrors; proudly they conspired against the Lord, to establish their own fame and prevent their dispersion. Scattered by the just vengeance of Heaven, they generally cast off all proper fear and reverence of God. For near 2000 years the true worship of God, or true religion, was almost wholly confined to the stock of Abraham; and for about 1520 years, to the Hebrew part of it. Whilst the rest of the world were plunged in the groffest ignorance, the most absurd superstition, and the vileft idolatry, and lived in the most unnatural luft, oppression, and murder, how oft did the Hebrews madly apostatize from their Maker, and lived as the heathens! The refurrection of our Saviour iffued in the spread of the gofpel: multitudes both of Jews and Gen-*iles, especially of the latter, were turned to the Lord. These functified ones, their malicious brethren of mankind, tor almost 300 years, barbarously perfecuted and murdered. - Delivered from heathen perfecution, the profeffed Christians indulged themselves in ignorance, pride, funcrilition, contention, idolatry; and many of them embracing the Arian or other herefies, furioufly perfecuted and murdered the adherents to truth. During the 1260 years of Antichrift's reign, most of the nominal Christians have or shall fearce differ from Heathens in ignorance, fuperflition, idolatry, and profanenes. At present, of 30 parts of mankind, about 19 are mere heathens, without Christ, strangers to the covenants of promife, without God, and without hope in the world. About five parts are adherents to the abominable delutions of Mahomet; and only fix are left to comprehend all that wear the Christian name. Of this fifth part of mankind, comprehending the eaftern Christians of various denominations, and the Papils and Protestants In Europe and America, it is hard to fay, if the 100th person gives any proper evidence of his having the true knowledge and fear of God as in Christ, reconciling the world to himfelf.—Nor is God's leaving fuch multitudes to walk after their own lufts, a whit more inconfiftent with his goodnefs, than his fuffering the angels that fell to continue unredeemed: Rom. ix. It is remarkable, that as God erected this world chiefly for the execution of his redemption-work, he hath alway disposed of men as best served to anfwer the defigns of it. When the multitude of the wicked threatened to bury all knowledge of the redemptionscheme, he drowned them by a general flood; when they afterwards threatened the fame, he established the knowledge thereof in the one family of Jacob, and by fuch multitudes of miraeles and laws rendered it almost impossible for them to forget it. By the most of the typical honours beginning to decay as foon as they arrived at their glory, he taught them to expect the things thereby typified. By means of the Afyrian, Chaldean, Perfian, Grecian, and Roman empires, which Satan expected to be bulwarks of wickedness, he fpread the Jews and part of the Bible among the Gentiles, and marvelloufly prepared them for the more peaceable farcad of the gospel.

MAN [120] MAN

No government, laws, covenants, ties of nature, or gratitude, have been able to check the wickedness of men. Governments and punishments of different forms have been tried for the preventing of particular kinds of wickedness; but all has been in vain, while the hearts of men continued unrenewed. Nor have the external instructions of God or men repressed the torrent of crimes, though they have femetimes occasioned a change in their form. By horrible murder, the most of the extentive kingdoms, the Egyptian, Affyrian, Lydian, Chaldean, Perfian, Grecian, Roman, Saracen, Turkifh, Tustar, German, Spanish, French, and other kingdoms or empires, have been crected; and most have already shared of murder and flavery in their turns

And.

MAN [121] MAN

And, shocking to think! the most noted murderers, and robbers of mankind, as Sefostris, Sennacherib, Nebuchadnezzar, Alexander, Cefar, Pompey, Lewis XIV. of France, and multitudes of fuch like, have been extolled, as perfons of diffinguithed merit. Paffing the various distinctions of men, founded in their different degrees of wealth or authority; their different endowments of mind or behaviour in life; their different occupations, &c.; it is proper to observe, that before God, they fland diffinguished into the righteous and the wicked, faints and finners. The wicked are fuch as are still in their natural state, under the law as a broken covenant, under the dominion of fin, and heirs of wrath; though in respect of their outward appearance, they may be under the difpensation of the gofpel: the righteous are fuch as, united to Jefus, are instated in the favour of God, delivered from the reign of fin, heirs of falvation, and are, by fanctification, making meet to be partakers of the inheritance of the faints in light. Permit me further to observe, that of the five words used by the Hebrews to fignify man, ADAM denotes him earthly; IsH denotes him strong and courageous; GEBER denotes strength and prevailing excellency; Enosh repretents him frail, difeafed, and wretched; and METH denotes his mortality, or rather fociality. When Adam and Ish are joined in contrast, Adam denotes a mean man, and It a rich or honourable one, Pfal. xlix. 2. Ifa. ii. 9. that man is oft put for the males of the human kind, as for a fon, Gen. iv. 1. Jer. xxxvii. 17. 18.; an husband, 1 Cor. xi. 3.; a magistrate; by man shall his blood be fled, Gen. ix. 6. And mankind fignifies males, Lev. xviii. 22. xx. 13. 1 Cor. vi. 9. 1 Tim. i. 10. God is oft compared to a man; to denote his excellency, wifdom, prudence, compassion; and almost every thing ahout men, members, adjuncts, relations, acts, &c. are constituted emblems of his properties, relations, and works. He is a man of war; he is minite in Arength and courage, and he manages Vol. II.

all the war in the world, and in the heart of his people, to the honour of himself, Exod. xv. 3. Christ is called a man; he oft appeared to the Old-Testament saints in form of a man; in the fulness of time he assumed, and for ever retains our nature; and the various members, adjuncts, relations, and acts of men, are used in scripture to reprefent his excellencies, office, and conduct, Gen. xxxii. 24. Josh. v. 13. He is the man of God's right hand; the perfon whom God has installed in his mediatory office, with his folemn oath, and whom he peculiarly upholds and affifts, and whom he raifeth up to the most dignified station, Pfal.lxxx. 17. He is the man among the myrtle-trees, as he walks among, and acts among his people, Zech. i. 10. Angels are called men, because they oft appeared in the form of men, Gen. xix. Men of God, are prophets, or ministers, if not alfo faints, holy as God is holy, and devoted to the fervice of God, Deut. xxxiii. 1. 1 Tim. vi. 11. 2 Tim. iii. 175 Antichrift is called a man of fin. Most of the popes are very moniters of whoredom, deceit, profaneness, and the like. The Papal fystem confists of sinful and erroneous tenets, finful and filthy practices of fuperstition and idolatry, and finful offices, and wicked officers; and, in fine, its whole tendency is to promote wickedness, 2 Theff. ii. 3. A man of the earth, is one that either cultivates the earth, a husbandman, Gen. ix. † 20.; or men that have carnal principles reigning in them, and choose earthly things for their chief possion, Pfal. x. 18. A man or fon of Belial, is one extremely wicked and worthlefs, a true child of the devil, 1 Kings xxi. 13. A natural man, is one, who whatever way his faculties or life may be improven, yet he hath no special and faving grace; -and a fpiritual man, is one renewed by the Holy Ghost dwelling in him, and who is disposed to perceive and relish spiritual things, I Cor. ii. 14. 15. The principle of grace in our foul, is a new, an inward and hidden man, confifting of various particular graces, aniwering to the various members of the human body; it fecretly rules and acts in our invisible part, our foul, and conforms it to its own likeness, Eph. iv. 24. Rom. vii. 22. Inner or hidden man, may also denote the foul. Though our outward man perith, our inward man is renewed day by day. Though our body waste, and its health and flrength decay, our foul, and in al principle of grace, are daily quie ed, and frengthened, 2 Cos iv. 16. To come to a perfell man, to the Inture of the fulness of Christ, is to arrive at the full perfection of spiritual knowledge, holinefs, and righteoulitels, Eph. iv. 13. The inward principle of corruption is called the old man: it confifts of various lusts, which unfwer to the members of the human body; it craftily rules and reigns in men, and conforms them to ittelf; and as it is very early and always before grace in men, fo in the fainted it is in a decrying and dving condition, Colni. 10. Men know them: lees to be but men, when they are made to feel and understand their own folly and weakness, Pfal. ix. 20. To quit ourfelves like men, is to act with the utmost courage and activity, natural or fairttual, I Sam. iv. o. I Cor. xvi. 13. To speak as a man, or offer the monner of men, is to draw a comparison or argument from the cuftoms of men. in their civil affairs, Cal. iii. 15. The gospel is not of, or after man; it is not of human invention, nor does it depend on human authority, Gal. i. 11. Christ nakes of treath one net may, when he joins Jews and Grutiles, formuly at variance, into one new goiph church, and in one new way of spiritual worthip, Eph. ii. 15. Men of one's fecret, tabernacle, or feace, are familiar intimate mem'err of our family, or in apparent agree heat or covenant with us. Job xis. 19. xxxi. 31. Jer. xx. to. The define of a man is his kindness; he, if when the mercy and kindness of Coloral has ability and opportupitier is therong kindness to others, rad this disposition renders him agreeable and beloved, Prev. xix. 22.

Woman was, lab or all creatures,

formed to be an affilhant to man. Womens comelinefs, fond affection, weaknels, and infirmities, ordinarily exceed those of men. Before the fall, the woman feems to have been more on a level of authority with the man; but to pulish the introduction of sin by a woman, the fex was subjected to further degrees of inequality with their limiband, and to manifold pains, in the conception and birth of their children. In most places of the world, they are used as flaves or beafts. Canaan they were generally fan-burnt, as in their youth they attended flocks and herds, and fetched water and fuel. After they were married, they were much confined, and those of confiderable rank laboured in the kitchen. In Africa, and many parts of America. they are absolutely miserable. Some mothers murder their infant daughters. to prevent their future milery. Till the McSich came, and rettored all things, the ordinances of Heaven marked a standing frown upon them. one of the reals of the new covenant they had no access. Nor had they any divine call to attend the three folann feaths. Their natural infirmities brought on them a number of burdentome perifications, Lev. xii. xv. With the Jews, they were subjected to divorce; or to find by the waters of curfur; and to floning, if they violated the marriage-vow after betrothing, out their tokens of virginity were not tound, Numb. v. Deut. axii. axiv. A priefl's daughter was to be burnt, it the was godiy of farmeallon: and a flare was feourged, if the was guilty of it with her mafter. Lev. xxi. 9. xix. 20.-22. In the Christian church, women have equal access as men to all the privilege. If private members; but are not allowed to officiate as rulers, Col.iii. 11. Gal. iii. 28. 1 Cor. xiv. 34.; and are required to have their heads covered in public worthipping aftemblies, I Cor. xi.; and to fludy the utmost modesty, and to shun all vain apparel; by the finful use of which, they have fometimes brought God's judgements on nations, 1 Pet. iii. 1.-3.

MAN

II. iii. 16.-26. But perhaps, in a way of triumph over Satan, the female converts to Christ are more numerous, and many of them more lively in their religion, then men. To preferve the chaffity of their young women till they were lawfully admitted to their hufbands, the Jews and other caftern nations kept theer in a manuer that up, if their circu allowed it; and the very pame of virgin among the Hebrews fignification that up and bidden: this made it to difficult for Amnon to defile his fifter Tumar, 2 Sam. xiii. 2. Perhaps young women are called vivgins, in fome text; though they were not properly to, Joel 1.8. To keep one's virgin, is to retain a daughter, or allow a beloved young woman to continue unmarried, and in a flate of virginity, 1 Cor. vii. 37. The true church, and her true members, are likened to soomen, to mark their spiritual comelinefs, tender affection to Christ, and to one another; the church's 'fruitfulnefs of faints, and faints fruitfulnefs in good works; together with the weakness of both, and their frequent exposure to trouble, If. iv. 6. Song i. 8. In the patriarchial age, this woman looked forth fresh as the morning: in the Mofaic age, the looked fair as the moon, with a multitude of changeable and moon-ruled ceremonies: and under the gospel, is clear as the fun, terrible as an army with banners; and in every age, is far fuperior to every other fociety, Song vi. 10. 11. She is clothed with the unchanging fan, Jofus and his rightcoufnefs, and crowned with the far-like doctrines of the 12 apostles, and now has the moon of the world, and of Jewish ceremonies, under her feet; and by carnell prayer and patient endurance of perfecution, file travailed till delivered by Contlantine, and after that, was carried into a wildernels of diffrefs, Rev. mi. She and her true members are likened to virging, to mark their integrity and pucity of profession, heart and life, chatte affection to Christ, particularly their freedom from the whorish abominations of Antichrift, Song i. 3. vi. 8. Piel. vh. 14. 2 Cor. xi. 2. Rev. xiv. 4: and to a mark Jefus's connection with them in this character, the Jewith high-prieft was only to marry a pure virgin, Lev. xui. 13. Professor Christianity in general are called virgins, five wife and has for Ma, "coaufe, while they proform pure religion, and lead a practice formulated blameless, some wifely receive Chulk into their heart, and others foliably reject him, and are content with a more profession, Matth. xxv. 1.-10. The Jews, Chaldeans, and other nations, together with the Papiths, are called swomen, to mark their. case to fet forth their own glory, their readincfs to entice or be enticed into alliances, and their numerous progeny, and their weakness when God punishes them, Ezek xxiii. Zech v. 7. If. xlvii. Rev. xvii. Nations or cities, especially if never subdued by the enemy, are called virgins, 2 Kings xix. 21. II. xxiii. 12. xlvii. 1. Jer. xlvi. 11. Lam. i. 15. Amos v. 2. The virtuous woman, Prov. xxxi. 10 .- 31. may represent the faints. Persons weak, and unfit for government, are reprefented as women, If. iii. 12. Harlots are called flrange avonica, and avomen whose heart is fuares, and their hands as bands, to entice and retain men to uncleanness and ruin, Prov. ii. 16. Eccl. vII. 26.

123 - MAN

MANASSEH, the eldest fon of Joseph: but, according as Jacob his grandfather had predicted, his tribe was lefs numerous and honoured than that of Ephraim, his younger brother, Gen. xli. 50. 51. xlviii. Manaffch feems to have had but two fons, Ashriel and Machir. When the Manuffites came out of Egypt, their fighting men amounted to but 32,200, under the command of Gamuliel the fon of Pedahzur; but in the wildernefs they increased to 52,700, 1 Chron. vii. 14. Numb. i. 30. 31. 35. xxvi. 28 .- 34. They pitched in the cump of Ephraim, and marched next after that tribe, Numb. ii. x. Their fpy to fearch the promifed land, was Gaddi the fon of Suff; and their prince to divide it, was Hanniel the fon of Ehod. Namb. xiii. 11, xxxiv. 23. Q 2

MAN [124] MAN

The one half of this tribe received their inheritance on the east and northeast of the sea of Tiberias; the other half received their inheritance on the west of Jordan, on the north of the tribe of Ephraim, Numb. xxxii. 33. -42. Josh. xiv. 29.-31. xvi. xviii. Though Joshua advised the western Minaffites to enlarge their territory by expelling the Canaanites, yet they fuffered them to remain in Bethshan, Taanach, Dor, Ibleam, and Megiddo, Indg. i. 27. Four of the Hebrew judges, Gideon, Abimelech, Jair, and Jephthah, together with Barzillai, and Elijah the prophet, were of this tribe. Adnah, Jozabad, Jediael, Michael, Jozabad, Elihu, and Zilthai, valiant captains of this tribe, joined with David as he retired from the host of the Philistines near Gilboah, and helped him against the Amalekites, who had fmitten Ziklag. About 18,000 of the western Manassites, and many of the eastern, attended at his coronation to be king over Ifrael, I Chron. xii. 19.-21. 31. 37. The whole tribe revolted from the family of David along with the other nine; but many of them, in the reign of Asa, left their country, and dwelt in the kingdom of Judah, that they might enjoy the pure worship of God, 2 Chron. xv. 9. After the death of Pekah, there feems to have been a civil war between this tribe and that of Ephraim, If. ix. 21. A part of the Manassites that remained in the land joined in King Hezekiah's folemn paffover, and their country was purged of idols by him and Jofiah, 2 Chron. xxx. xxxi. xxxiv. Part of this tribe returned to Canaan, and dwelt in Jerusalem, after the captivity, I Chron. ix. 3.

2. Manasseh, the fon of Hezekiah, by his wife Hephzibah. At the age of 12 years he succeeded his father in the kingdom of Judah, and reigned 55 years. He was impious to an uncommon degree. He rebuilt the high places which his father had defired the re-established the worship of Baal, and planted groves in honour of his idols: he worshipped the sun moon, and stars, and reared to them altars in the court of the temple: one of his idols he fet up in the temple itself: he burnt one of his sons in a facrifice to Molech. He had familiar intercourse with devils, and practifed forcery and witchcraft. By causing his subjects to follow these impious courses, he rendered them more wicked than ever the Canaanites had been. by murdering fuch as refused compliance, or warned him of his danger, he made the streets of Jerusalem run with innocent blood: and it is faid, he fawed the Prophet Isaiah afunder with a wooden faw. About the 22d year of his reign, Efarhaddon, king of Affyria and Babylon, invaded his kingdom, routed his troops, caught himfelf hid among thorns, and carried him prifoner to Babylon. In his affliction, God gave him grace to repent of his wickedness. He was restored to his throne, perhaps by Saofduchin the fucceffor of Efarhaddon. After his return to Judea, he abolished many of the veftiges of his former idolatry; but the high places were permitted to con-He fortified Jerusalem, and added a kind of new city on the west fide. He put garrifons into all the fenced cities of Judah. He died A. M. 3361, and was buried in his own garden, and left his fon Amon for his fucceffor. A larger history of his life was written by Hozai, or the feers, but it is now loft, 2 Kings xxi. 2 Chron. xxxiii. God forgave him his fin with respect to the eternal punishment thereof; but the temporal punishment of the Jewish nation, for their compliance therewith, was never forgiven, Jer. xv. 4. · · · ·

MANDRAKES, are a kind of the pentandria monogynia class of plants, the corolla of which confifts of a fingle erect hollow petal, growing gradually wider from the base. A little beyond the middle, it is divided into five parts, somewhat formed in the manner of spears. The fruit is a big roundish berry, containing two cells, and a great number of seeds. The male mandrake has a large, long, and thick root, which gradually diminishes as it goes

MAN : [125] MAN

goes downward, and is frequently divided into two, three, or more parts. From this root fpring a number of leaves, narrow at the base, and obtuse at the end. These are about a foot in length, and five inches in breadth, and are of a dufky difagreeable green colour, and a flinking fmell. female mandrake has longer and narrower leaves, and is of a darker colour. It has been groundlefsly imagined, that mandrakes conciliate affection, or cure barrenness: but they are a soporisic of confiderable virtue: fmall dofes of its bark have done good in hyfteric dif-orders; but if ufed in larger quantities, it brings on convultions, and other mischievous symptoms. According to our English translation, Reuben having found mandrakes in the field, Rachel coveted them, and Leah, Reuben's mother, allowed her to have them at the rate of Jacob's fleeping with herfelf on the night which belonged to Rachel. But what were the dudaim, which Reuben found, whether mandrakes, jessamine, violets, lilies, pleafant flowers, mushrooms, or citron apples, we cannot determine. Diofcorides, Lemnius, and Augustine, affirm that mandrakes have a fweet fmell: but then these must have been different from ours. Some tell us, that though the leaves of the female mandrake have a very difagreeable fcent, yet those of the male ones have a pleafant one. It is faid, that in the province of Pekin in China, there is a kind of manda kes fo valuable, that a pound of its root is worth three pounds weight of filver. It fo powerfully reftores finking fpirits, as to reflore to vivacity and health those whose condition was otherwise reckoned desperate. To denote their comelinefs, fragrance, and delightfulnefs to Christ, the faints, and their graces and good works, are likened to mandrakes, or dudaim, Song vii. 13.

MANEH; the 50th part of a talent. To conflitute a maneh, it took a piece of 15 shekels, another of 20, and a third of 25, which are in all 60; but though it required 60 shekels to constitute a maneh in weight, it is faid that it required but 50 to constitute one in reckoning of money, Ezek. xlv. 12. The mina, or pound, mentioned in the New Testament, consisted but of an hundred drams, or 25 shekels, or not much more; and there was a leffer mina of 75 drams, which was about 19 shickels.

MANIFEST; to flew a thing clearly, and render it visible, Eccl. iii. 18. I Tim. iii. 16. The fon of God was manifest, when he appeared visibly in our nature, I John iii. 5. The apostles were manifelt, when it fully appeared, by their behaviour, doctrine, and fuccefs, that they were fent of The faints and God, 2 Cor. xi. 6. the wicked are manifest, when the difference between their character and ftate is clearly discovered, I John iii. 10. The manifestation of the Spirit, is either that which the Holy Ghost fliews to men, the doctrines of the gofpel, the love of God, and our interest in it, and the things of another world; or, his gifts and graces, whereby his power and refidence in us are plainly evinced, I Cor. xii. 7. The manifeftation of the fous of God, is the public display of their station and happiness, in their being openly acknowledged and honoured by Christ at the last day. Rom. viii. 19.

MANIFOLD. God's wisdom. mercy, and grace, are manifold; unbounded in their nature, shewed forth in a variety of ways, and numerous in their fruits, Eph. iii. 10. Neh. ix. 19. I Pet. iv. 10. Temptations and trials are manifold, when very numerous, and in many different forms, and from various sources, I Pet. i. 6. Transgrefiont are manifold, when many in number, and of many different forms, and in many various degrees of aggravation, Amos v. 12.

MANNA. To this day, there is a kind of manna produced in Poland, Calabria, Dauphine, Lebanon, and Arabia. That of Calabria in Italy, is a juice proceeding from afh-trees about the dog-days: but that in Arabia is found on leaves of trees, or herbs, or even on the fand: but its quality is rather

MAN [126] MAN

Tather purgative than nourithing; and for that effect is now used in medicine. Befides the nourlibing virtue of the ananna that fuftained the Hebrews in the defert, it was altogether miraculous on other accounts. It fell on fix days of every week, not on the 7th. It fell in fuch predigious quantities around the Hebrew camp, as to fulfain almost three millions of men, women, and children. According to Scheuchzer, they confumed 94,466 buffels in a day, and 1,379,203,600 m 40 years. It fell in double quantities on the 6t's day, that there might be enough for the 7th. It fell and about their rents. It remained fresh all the 7th day, but at any liber time bred worms and flunk if kept over night. It confantly continued for 40 years, and ceased as foon as the Hebrews had accels to cat of the old corn of Cannau. Since these circumstances must be allowed to be miraculous, how foolish must it be to dispute the supernatural origin of the whole? When the finall quantity of provision which the Hebrews had brought out of Egypt was spent, they outrageously enclosised a-gainst Motes and Auron for bringing then into the defert. God, who had been their infraculous guid., was highly displeated; but for his name a rike, he promifed and gave them this wonderial provision, and taught them how to gather and prepare it. It confifted of fmall grains, white as the hoar-frost, and about the biguess of coriander feed. In the morning it fell along with the dew, and when that was exhaled the manna was ready for gathering. Every perion capable was to gather it early, before the fun had waxed hot to melt it. When they had gathered it into one common heap, an omer was measured out for each cater as his daily provision. This was bruited in a mortar, or ground in a mill, and then baken into bread, which was exceeding wholesome, and suited to every app.tite. To denote its divine original. perhaps by the in nillry of angels, and is excellence, it is colled corn of beaven, and argets food, Plal. lxxviii. 25. 26.

When the Hebrews first faw it he as round their tents, they crice out, manhu, i. e. What is this? for v wift not what it was; and from the outery, as well as to murk it bre I prepared of God for them, it was calbed manna. Contrary to the divine prohibition, forme Hebrews referved part of their there of it over night; it bred worms, probably of the we will kind, and flank. Others went out to gather it on the Sabbath, but found none. Oftener than once they defoifed and lothed this minical ous providen, and were punished with destruction, by the fieth which they defired, and by the bites of fiery ferplats. To commemorate the Hebrews hving on omers or tenth deals of maina, one omer of it was put into a golden pot, and there preferved for many generations, by the fide of the ark; and the meatofferings were adjusted by tenth deals, and the facred fhares by tenths or tithes, Exed. xvi. Numb. xi. 15. xxi.

Was not this manna a figure of Christ? Amidst our infolent rebellion. he is the free gift of God to us, when we are ready to be starved into eterna? death. He comes from above; and, in the camp of the vill-le church, he comes down in the dewy offers and ordimmises of the gospel, early, daily and plentifully. However fmall and unknown to most, and even to faints, and however contemned by many that hear of him; yet what divinely-prepared, myslerious, pure, glorious, fweet, wholeforne, nutritive, all-fublicient, and all-fuiting provision for fouls! How necessary to retire from the hurry of this world, and early embrace him, before the wrath of God, waxing hot against us, deprive us of the offers of him, and give us up to judicial plagues! How liberally and conflantly God distributes him to men! And with what care ought we daily to receive him; and the more fo, as we draw near to the eternal Sabbath, when no more offers of him shall be had! As he was bruiled and ground in the morfor and mill of his fufferings, and as it wor baken in the own of his Father's wrath; fo we must receive him into a wounded confcience, and with a broken heart. As the honoured memorial of his coming down from heaven, the golden pot of gospel-ordinances shall for ages contain his fulnels for men, and the heavens shall contain his holy humanity. To fuch as receive him, he is food that never needs feafoning; and till they retire to the Canaan above, to feed on Cod's ancient love, shall he, as given in the gospel, be the fole support of cer foul, never withdrawn, notwithstanding ten thousand provocations: but how dreadful the case of those who hoard up his gespel-truth in vain speculation, and make it the sayour of death unto death! how God eu is outward enjoyments to fuch as defpuc him! how he gives them up to be flinged by Satan, and by deflructive judgements!-Christ, and his fulnefs, as enjoyed in the heavenly flate, are hidden manna, quite unknown to earnal men, and but very darkly apprehended by faints here on earth, Rev.

wrath:

MAN 127 MAR

ii. 17.

MANNER; (1.) Custom; fashion; practice; behaviour, Ezek. xi. 12. 2 Cor. xv. 33. (2.) Way; method, t Kings xxii. 20. (3.) Sort; kind, Gen. xxv. 23. Matth. v. 11. viii. 27. Cod spake unto the sathers under the Old Testament, in divers manners; not fully, and all at once, but by little and little, fometimes more, and foncetimes less clearly, and by the different means of angels, prophets, villens, dreams, voices from heaven, Urim and Thummim, &c. Heb. i. 1. God faffered the manners of the Hebrews in the defert; he patiently bore with their continued course of wickedness; their rebellion, murmuring, and unbelief, and did not destroy them, Acts xiii. 18. The Samaritans did not know the manner of the God of Ifrael, i. c. the true method of ferving and worthipping him, 2 Kings xvii. 26. 27. Samuel shewed the Hebrews the manner of a king; not what he ought to be, but who the Heathen kings around were, at whit they might fear theirs would be, I bam. viii. 9. To fay, the more ner of Beersheba liveth, was to fwear 37 the idol there worshipped, Amos viii.

MANOAH. See Samson.

MANSIONS; fixed dwelling-places; thefe are in heaven, as there the faints for ever relide in the most delightful and orderly manner, John xiv. 2. MANSLAYER. See MURDER.

MANTLE; a kind of cloak that hung loofe about one, Judg. iv. 18. 🦡

MANY: (1.) A great number. Judg. ix. 40. (2.) All men: thus many were made maners by Adam's difobedience, Rom. v. 19. (3.) All the elect, Matth. xxvi. 28.; and thus many are made rigideous by Christ's obedience, Rom. v. 19. (4.) All the wicked, Matth. vii. 13. Thou fhair abide for me many days, is es till death. -Ifracl feall alide many days without a. king, prince, facrifice, ephod, teraphim-For about 2600, or 2700 years, the ten tribes of Ifrael have been, or shall be without the true religion, and without civil government of their own; and for about 1800, or 1900 years, the Jews have been, or shall be, scattered. and enflaved among the nations, neither practifing their arcient religion, nor the Christian, nor the Heathen, Hof.

MAON; a city on the fouth-eaff, or fouth frontiers of Judah, where Nabal dwelt, and near to which was a wilderness where David lurked. haps one Maon, the father of the inhabitants of Bethrur, gave it this name, Josh. nv. 55. a Sana uniii. 24. 25. The Maon-4xv. 2. 1 Chron. ii. 47. Trus were a tribe of Arabians, which perhaps had anciently dwelt about Maon; they oppressed the Hebrews in the time of the Judges, Judg. 7. 12. We suppose them the same with the Meamonim, which our translation renders others befides the Ammonites, who came against Jehoshaphat, 2 Chronux. 1. and with the Mehunim, whom King Uzziah fubdued, 2 Chron. xxvi. 7.

MAR; (1.) To cut off; render uncomely; distigure, Lev. xix. 27 (2.) To Ipoil; render disagre . or ufelefe. z Kings iii. 19. Marz – 2.

MAR [128] MAR

God marred the pride of Jerusalem, when he ruined their temple and kingdom, and what else they were proud of, and brought them to ruin by fword, samine, pestilence, and captivity, Jer. xiii. 9. Job's friends and neighbours marred bis path, when they hindered him from the worship of God, and duties of holiness; or when they reproached his religion as hypocrify, and poured contempt on godliness, because of his trouble, Job xxx. 13.

MARAH, or bitterness; a place on the east fide of the western gulf of the Red fea, where the Hebrews, after three days thirst, found the water fo bitter, that they could not drink it; but by casting a tree into it, which was divinely pointed out, Moses rendered it fweet. Did this figure out, that by Icfus the tree of life being under and fulfilling the covenant of works for us, the holy law of God is made fweet to our tatte; and by faith in his fufferings, afflictions are relished by us, and work for us an exceeding and eternal weight of glory? Exod. xv. 23 .- 25. Diodorus, Shaw, and others, mention springs of bitter water about this place.

MARANATHA; i. e. our Lord

rometh. See ACCURSED.

MARBLE; a hard stone, which takes on a fine polish. It is dug out of quarries in large maffes, and is much used in fine buildings, ornamental pillars, &c. It was used very early by the Egyptians, but not polifhed till about the time of Moles. fterwards the Jews used it, and then the Greeks. It is of different colours, black, white, &c. or streaked with different colours; but fearce any of it becomes transparent in thin polished slices but the white. Tables of marble were anciently used for writing on. Perhaps God wrote the ten commandments on tables of marble. On the tables of marble procured from the east by the Earl of Arundel, and now belonging to the University of Oxford, there is a chronology of Greece, from the earliest times of that nation to A. M. 3741. We suppose the stones of Solomon's rimple were all fine marble, I Chion.

xxix. 2. Ahafuerus king of Persia had the court of his garden surrounded with pillars of marble, to hang the curtains on by silver rings, and the pavement was of red, blue, white, and black marble, Esth. i. 6. Marble is an emblem of comelines, sirmness, and duration, Song v. 15.

MARCH; to go as foldiers or armies do to fields of battle, Jer. xlvi. 22. God's marching, denotes the motions of the pillar of cloud before the Hebrews in the defert, who, confidering their orderly arrangement, might, in an open country, march 12 or more miles a-day, Pfal. lxviii. 7. Judg. v. 4. or his difplay of his power, in gradually cutting off the Canaanites by the hand of Johua, Hab. iii. 12.

MARESHAH; a city of Judah, about 18 miles west from Jerusalem. Near to this place Asa routed the Ethiopians, 2 Chron. xiv. 9. Moresheth, where Micah the prophet was born, seems not to have been this place, but one near Gath, Mic. i. 1. 14.

MARINERS. See Sailors.

To MARK, is to notice with great care, fet a mark upon. God marks iniquity, when he brings men into judgement, and punishes them for their fin, Pfal. cxxx. 3. Job x. 14. Men mark our steps, when they observe our conduct, in order to find whereof to accufe us, and thereby ruin us, Pfal. lvi. 6. A mark, fign, or token, is, (1.) That whereby a thing is pointed out, either as past, present, or future, and so is of use to commemorate things past, demonstrate things present, confirm things dubious, and affure of things to come: or, (2.) That which diftinguishes one thing from another, as land-marks diftinguish between the fields of one and of another. The mark of the beaft in the forehead or hand, required by Antichrift, is an open profession, solemn adherence to, or practice of Popilh abominations; fuch as fubjection to the Pope, belief of tranfubitantiation, worship of images, angels, faints, relies; without which people are often denied their civil privileges, Rev. niii. 16. 17. God fet a mark on Cain's person to dif-

tinguith

MAR [129] MAR

tinguish him from others, or only gave him fome token, as he did Gideon, that he would make him conquer the Midianites, and that he would preferve him, we know not, Gen. iv. 15. Suffering for the fake of Christ, is his marks; is a likeness to him in his suffering, and points out one to be his follower, Gal. v. 17. Paul's subscription was the mark or token an epille was his, 2 Theff. iii. 17. What one directs a shot or stroke at, is called his mark, I Sam. xx. 20.: and fo God fets up one as a mark, when he directs the peculiar strokes of his judgements against him, Job vii. 20. The stake to which one Lam. iii. 12. must point and run in a race, is called a mark; and in allufion thereto, Chriftians perfection in holiness is the mark they aim at, and run toward, in their race of duty, Phil. iii. 14 .- Jefus Christ and his people are signs and wonders: how much gazed at, spoken against, and exposed to injuries! Luke ii. 34. If. viii. 18. And how is Jesus set up in the gospel, that men may come to him! Is lxvi. 19. xi. 10. lix. 19. Prophets were figns, when their condition and behaviour pointed out what was coming on nations, If. xx. 3. Ezek. iv. 3. Wicked men are a fign, when the juftice and faithfulness of God are marked in their noted ruin, and others are warned to beware of like fins, Ezek. xiv. 8. The fun, moon, and flars are for figns and feafons; their position and appearance are general marks, to point out what feafon and weather shall be; and their uncommon appearances have often marked out approaching calamities, Gen. i. 14. The truelve figns of heaven, are 12 clusters of stars, in that part of the visible heaven through which the fun, moon, and other planets, have their motions. Those through which the fun moves in the fpring-quarter, are Aries, Taurus, Gemini; those through which he moves in our fummer, are Cancer, Leo, Virgo; those of the harvest-season, are Libra, Scorpio, Sagittarius; those of the winter, are Capricorn, Aquarius, and Pifces. feems thefe figns were known in the days of Job, Job xxxviii. 32. and wor-VOL. II.

shipped by the Jews under Manasseh and Amon, 2 Kings xxiii. 5. But the figns of heaven, and tokens of foothfaying liars, are the natural appearance of the fky, as a red and louring fun is a mark of the approach of foul weather, and the tokens which diviners give, as prefages of that happening which they foretold, Jer. x. 2. If. xliv. 25. The figns of Chiele's coming against the Jews, were the spread of the gospel, the perfecution of Christians, the rife of false prophets, uncommon appearances in the fky and about the temple, &c. thefe marked, that the rain of their nation fait approached, Matth. xxiv. 3.—29. But the fign of the Son of man, afterward appearing in heaven, was the plain evidence or mark of his Messiahship, in the punishment of the Jewish nation, who rejected him; or the awful appearances that shall precede his last manifestation in the clouds, Matth. xxiv. 30. The fun's going back was a fign or mark that Hezekiah should go up to the temple, 2 Kings xx. 8. The rainbow was a fign or token, that God had established his covenant with Noah and his feed. and a fure evidence, that he would no more overflow the earth with a flood, Gen. ix. 12. 13. Circumcifion, the Sabbath in its ceremonial observation, and other rites, were figns, fure tokens, that God had established his peculiar covenant with the Hebrews, and would give or had given them the land of Canaan for their possession, Gen. xvii. 11. Rom. iv. 11. Exod xxxi. 13. God's law was to be a fign, token, and memorial on the hands of the Hebrews; they were to have it continually before their eyes, and to be always obeying it, Exod. xiii. 9. 16. The blood of the pafchal lamb, fprinkled on the doors of the Hebrew houses, was a token, or mark, to the destroying angel, that God willed the prefervation of all within that house, Exod. xii. 13. In allusion to which, Christ is faid to fet a mark upon pious mourners for the fins of their country, when he fingularly preferves them, amid common ruin, from a furious enemy, Ezek. ix. 4. 6. God shews men a token for good, when he either shews them some noted discov ry of his love, or destroys their enemies, or gives them some certain evidence that he will do fo, Pial. lxxxvi. 17. The faints courage and patience under tribulation and perfecution, are an evident token of approaching perdition or ruin to their enemies, and of remarkable relief and eternal fulvation to themfelves, Phil. i. 28. 2 Theff. i. 5. The altar and pillar, the gospel-ordinances of a crucified Redeemer, and their churchstate, in the land of Egypt, shall be a fign and witness to the Lord; an evident mark and proof that God has shown fingular mercy to that people, and that they have choten him to be their God, If. xix. 19. 20. The tokens of fuch as went by the way, were either the inflances which common travellers could give of the hospitality and piety which prevailed in Job's family; or the inflances which they or any one in the course of life, could give of the prosperity of the wicked, and the affliction of the godly in this world, Job xxi. 29. Miracles or wonderful works are called figns or takens; they shew God's power, and prove the million of his fervants, Exod. iv. 17. Heb. ii. 4. Pfal. cxxxv. 9.

MAR [130] MAR

JOHN MARK, or MARCUS, the fon of one Mary, in whose house Peter found the Christians praying together for his deliverance from prison, Acts xii. 12.; and the coufin of Barnabas. Mark attended Paul and Barnabas as far as Perga in Leffer Asia; but finding they intended to carry the gospel into Pamphylia and places adjacent, he deferted them, and returned to Jerusalem. After the fynod was held at Jerufalem, Paul and Barnabas having preached for some time in Antioch of Syria, refolved to visit the places northward, where they had formerly preached. Barnabas intended to take his coufin with them; but as Paul was against taking one with them who had formerly deferted the work in thefe quarters, Barnabas and Mark went to Cyprus by themselves. Mark was afterwards reconciled to Paul, and was very ufeful to him at Rome, and, along with him, falutes the Coloffians and Philemon, Acts xv. 36.—40. Col. iv. 10. Philem. 24. It feems Paul afterward fent him into Asia, for he defires Timothy to bring him back to Rome, when himfelf should come, as an useful minister, 2 Tim. iv. 11. When Peter wrote his first epistle, Mark was with him in Chaldea. It is faid, that he afterwards preached in Egypt and Cyrene; and that the Alexandrians, feizing him in the pulpit, bound and dragged him through the streets that day and the day after, till he died. Calmet and fome others will have John Mark a different person from the evangelist; but I can see no force in their reasons. In his gofpel, Mark begins with the preaching of John Baptist. He often, as it were, abridges Matthew, but adds feveral particulars that further illustrate the fubject. He relates feveral miracles omitted by Matthew, as the cure of the demoniac, chap. i.; of a deaf man of Decapolis, and a blind man of Bethfaida, chap. vii. viii. In what Matthew has from chap. iv. 12. to xiv. 13. Mark does not generally follow his order, but that of Luke and John.

MARRIAGE; a folemn contract, whereby a man and woman, for their mutual benefit, and the production of children, engage to live together in a kind and affectionate manner. contract feems to partake also of the nature of a vow, and cannot, like civil contracts, be diffolved by the mutual confent of parties. In no cafe can marriage between parents and children be allowed. This is fo contrary to natural decency, as to fink the practifers below fome of the modester beasts. In cafe of absolute necessity, as in Adam's family, marriage between brothers and fifters was not unlawful; but as one end of marriage is to promote love, and fpread friendship, and to prevent all indecency between the fexes, when mankind increased, such marriages became improper. To us it appears that Abraham married his niece, and Amram married Jochebed his aunt. Perhaps this might be owing to the darkness of the times. It is certain, the law of Moles prohibits marriage between all that are more nearly related than coufins, Lev. xviii. xx. Only, by a particular law, which, it feems, had been more anciently revealed, the unmarried vounger brother of one who died childless, was to espouse his brother's widow, and raise up feed to him; and if he refused, the widow cited him before the judges, and spit in his face, and loofed his shoe, as a mark of contempt, to continue on him and his family. The defign of this law was to keep families distinct, and to point out the duty of Christ's apostles, ministers, and people, to raife up feed of new converts, and of good works, to the honour of Christ, their elder brother; and the dishonour that awaits fuch as do not, Gen. xxxviii. Deut. xxv. To keep the tribes diftinct, no Hebrew heirefs was allowed to marry out of her own tribe; only they might marry Levites or priests, as thefe had no inheritance to give them, and no inheritance could come into their tribe; and it was perhaps in confequence of fuch marriage with an heiress of the tribe of Judah, that the Maccabean priefts, who ruled the Jews for about 130 years before our Saviour's birth, may be reckoned to the tribe of Judah, Numb. xxxvi. Gen. xlix. 10. Priests were only to marry virgins, or priests widows of good report; and the high-priest was only to marry a virgin, Lev. xxi. 7 .- 14. Ezek. xliv. xxii. In times of perfecution, marriage is not convenient, as it is hard to carry about and shelter families, or to provide for them; but it is always better to marry, than to burn in lustful desires. Marriage is honourable in all persons capable of it, and the bed undefiled. is the Popish doctrine of devils, to forbid even clergy to marry, or to reproach the regular defire of women. But marriage is to be made only in the Lord, in a way agreeable to his law, and tending to his honour; and not in way of unequal yoking with fuch as have opposite stations, inconsistent tempers, or between professors of a true and a false religion, 1 Cor. vii. Heb. xiii. 4. 1 Tim. iv. q. Dan. zi. ap. 2 Cer. vi. 14. As unequal marriages tend fo effectually to lead professors of the true religion into apoltaly therefrom; Abraham and Ifaac were careful to prevent their children marrying with Canaanites, Gen. xxiv. 27. xxviii. God prohibited the Hebrews to marry with any Heathens, and especially with the Canaanites, Exod. xxiii. 32. xxxiv. 12.—16. Deut. vii. 2 .- 5. With the Hebrews, marriages with Heathen women were reckoned null in themselves; and so Ezra and Nehemiah caused the Jews put away their Heathenish wives, Ezra ix. x. Neh. xiii. Unequal marriages between the fons of Seth, who professed the true religion, and the beautiful women of Cain's progeny, were the original causes of the ancient flood, Gen. vi. The Hebrews intermarrying with the Canaanites brought fearful and repeated ruin on their nation, Judg. ii. Solomon's marriage of Heathenish women rent the kingdom of Israel into twain, and occasioned many civil wars, and an establishment of idolatry in the one for many generations. Ahab's marriage with Jezebel, and Jehoram's marriage with Ahab's daughter, brought not only their families, but the whole Hebrew nation, to the brink of ruin, 1 Kings xvii.—xxii. 2 Kings i.—xi.

MAR [131] MAR

Polygamy, or a state of marriage of different women at the same time, is evidently contrary to the law of God. At first, when there was the greatest need for a speedy increase of children to replenish the world, God provided but one wife for Adam, Gen. ii. expressly forbids to take one wife to another to vex her, in her lifetime, Lev. xviii. 18. The almost equality of males and females of the human species, in every age, especially if it is confidered, that the small balance that is, is on the fide of the males, strongly remonstrates against polygamy, as unnatural and adulterous. It tends to counteract the general law of the married ftate, to increase and multiply, and replenish the earth, as it hinders the procreation of children. How often hath a man, by one wife, had more children than Jacob by two wives, and as many

R 2 concubines ?

MAR [132] MAR

eoncubines? nay, as many as David had by a great many wives, and ten concubines? if not as many as Solomon had by his 1000 wives and concubines? Whereas, had these 1000 been married to as many hulbands, they might have produced 10,000 or 12,000 chil-Who knows not; that the unnatural practice of polygamy he h ordinarily the unnatural practices of caftration of males, or of abominable fodomy attending it, in the eaftern and other nations; even as fodomy, beftiality, and every thing horrid, are the attendants of the Popish prohibition of marriage to their clergy? Polygamy was introduced by Lamech, an abandoned descendant of Cain. What disorder and trouble it breeds in families, the cafe of Abraham, Jacob, Elkanah, and others, can attest. having concubines, or fecondary wives, was near a-kin to polygamy, and as little warranted of God. The example of some godly men can no more warrant either, than it can warrant us to commit drunkenness, incest, lying, idolatry, or murder. God's prohibition to make the fon of a beloved wife heir instead of the elder fon of one who was liated, no way approves polygamy, but, at most, was a provision against the bad confequences thereof: nay, it does not fo much as hint that this hated and beloved wife were alive at the fame time. Deat. xxi. 15 .- 17. Anciently wives were in a manner purchased, and in some places it is so still, which is perhaps one reason why their wives are so unnaturally used. Whenever Rebekah confented to be Isaac's wife, Eliezer gave many valuable prefents to the family. Jacob ferved 14 years for his two wives. Shechem offered Jacob what dowry or marriage-price he pleafed to ask for Dinah, Gen. xxiv. 59. xxix. xxxiv. 11. 12. David confeshing that he could not pay a dowry answerable to the flation of Saul's daughter, Saul acquitted him for 200 fereskins of the Philistines, I Sam. xviii. Hofea bought his fecond wife for 15 shekels of filver, and an homer and an half of barley, Hof. iii. 2. If any young man defiled a young woman, he was required to marry her: and if her father refused her, the young man was to give her a dowry, as he had robbed her of her honour and chastity, Exod. xxii. 16. 17.

As oelibacy and barrenness were reekoned reproachful in Ifrael, the Hebrews oft married very young, the men about thirteen, and the women at twelve years of age; which was an additional reason for the parents having almost the whole disposal of marriages in their hand. Betrothing, or what we call contracting, preceded the marriage, and oft took place ere the parties were capable of the marriage-state. Betrothing, was fometimes performed by the writing of a contract, legally attested by witnesses, wherein the intended hufband engaged to pay his bride a certain dowry on the marriageday, for the portion of her virginity, and pledged all he had for fecuring the payment; and the bride declared her acceptance of him on fuch conditions. Sometimes the betrothing was transacted by the bridegroom's giving the bride a piece of filver before witnesses, and faying, Receive this as a pledge you shall be my future spouse. After betrothing, the bridegroom and bride had access to visit one another, and if the bride admitted another to her embraces, fhe and her paramour were held adulterers, and stoned to death, Deut. xxiii. 24. On the marriage-day, another contract was drawn, wherein the bridegroom protested, that he gave his bride 200 zuzims, or 50 shekels of filver, as the price of her virginity, and engaged to maintain, and every way deal with her as a wife, and to take care of what the brought with her, and what he had given, or should give her; and gave bond on all he had, for fecuring the fame to her in his life, or at his death.

Anciently the Hebrews wore crowns on their marriage-day; and it feems, the bridegroom's was put on by his mother, Song iii. 11. The ceremonies of marriage continued three days for a widow, and feven for a virgin,

Gen.

MAR [133] MAR

Gen. xxix. 27. Judg. xiv. 17. 18. During this time, the young men and young women attended the bridegroom and bride in different apartments, and the former puzzled one another with riddles, Song v. 1. Pfal. xlv. 9. 14. 15. Judg. xiv. A friend of the bridegroom's governed the feast, that no drunkenness or disorder might be committed, John ii. 9. iii. 29. end of the feaft, the parties were, with lighted lamps, conducted to the bridegroom's house. The bridegroom leaving his apartment, called forth the bride and her attendants, who, it feems, were generally about ten, Matth. xxv. 1 .-- 10. The modern Jews retain the most of these ceremonies: only fince the ruin of their city and temple, the bridegrooms wear no crowns on the marriage-day. They generally marry widows on Thursday, and virgins on Friday. On the evening before, the bride is led to the bath by her companions, making a found with kitcheninstruments, as they go along. Being washed, she returns, and her friends fing the marriage-fong at the door of her father's house. On the marriageday, the bridegroom, and especially the bride dreffes herfelf as fine as poffible. A number of young men attend the bridegroom, and young women the bride. They are ordinarily married under the open air, on the bank of a river, or in a court, garden, &c. The parties, each covered with a black vail, and with another fquare vail, with four hanging tufts, on their head, are placed under a canopy. The rabbin of the place, the chantor of the fynagogue, or the nearest friend of the bridegroom, taking a cup full of wine, and having bleffed it, and thanked God for the creation and marriage of the fexes, causes the parties to taste the wine. Next, the bridegroom, by putting a golden ring on the hand of the bride, weds her to be his wife. The contract of marriage is then read, and the bridegroom delivers it into the hands of the bride's relations. Wine is brought in a brittle veffel, and being fix times bleffed, the married couple drink thereof, and the rest of it, in token of joy, is cast on the ground; and the bridegroom in memory of the ruin of their city and temple, with force dashes the vessel to the ground. When, at the end of the marriage-scast, they come into the bridegroom's house; and after a long bleffing fung over in Hebrew, they take supper; after which the men and women, at least sometimes, dance a little; not in our laseivious and mixed manner, but the men and the women in different apartments. After rehearfal of another long bleffing or prayer, the bride is led to her bed-chamber, and the bridegroom foon follows. Two perfons, the one a friend of the bridegroom, and another a friend of the bride, tarry all night in the next room. These next morning take and deliver the linen whereon the new married parties had flept, to be retained by the bride's mother. If afterward the man pretended his wife had not been a maid at her marriage, her parents, if they could, produced the proper tokens of her virginity; and if they did, the hufband paid 100 shekels of silver to her parents, as a fine for flandering their daughter, and was obliged to retain her as his wife, while the fived; but if these were not found, the woman was ftoned to death, as an adulteress, Deut. xxii. 13.—21. As the Jews were a cruel kind of people, God, to prevent their direct or indirect murder of their wives, permitted them in a folemn and deliberate manner, to put them away, by giving them a bill of divorce, if they found fome difagreeable discase on their body, or their temper fuch as they could not live together; but they were never after allowed to return to Under the gospel no one another. cause of divorce is sustained valid by God, except adultery and wilful defertion. On account of the first, the innocent party may difmifs the guilty: by the fecond, the guilty dismisses himself or herself. In both cases, the guilty person remains bound by the marriage-vow; and hence none can marry them, without committing aduMAR 134 1 MAR

tery, Matth. xix. 3.-9. 1 Cor. vii. 11. 15. If a master betrothed his bondmaid that had been fold to him, and did not marry her, he was to allow her to be redeemed. If he betrothed a bondmaid to his fon, the was to be ufed as an ordinary wife; and if she was not used well, she might go off as a free woman, Exod. xxi. 7.-11. If a Hebrew intended to marry a captive, she was first to tarry at his house a whole month, that he might have time to deliberate; and was to shave her head, and pair her nails, change her clothes, and for a month bewail the lofs of her parents, and then he might marry her; but if he did not retain her, the was to go out free, and not to be fold, Deut. xxi. 10 .- 14. By the laws of our country, it is required that perfons intending to marry, have their intentions proclaimed on three feveral Sabbaths, that all concerned may timeoufly offer their objections; and it is enacted, that all fuch as marry in a clandestine manner, or are witnesses thereof, be feverely fined, or otherwise punished; and that whosoever marries any perfon clandestinely be imprifoned and banished by the magistrates of the bounds, never to return, under pain of death. Is it not then shameful, that church and state so much overlook this pernicious course? How can the giving of an oath to a worthless fellow, having no authority, perhaps a vagabond, fail to be an horrid profanation of God's name? Is it not finful to trample on good order, established by both church and state? How wicked, to rush into marriage without a deliberate thought! How base, to enter that state, in a method calculated to rob parents of their power over children, and to cover lewdness, and to promote treacherous, adulterous, and even incestuous connections!

The feripture, all along, represents it as the right of parents to give their sons and daughters in marriage, Gen. xxi. 21. xxiv. 3. xxviii. 1.6. xxxiv. 4.6. xxviii. 18. 19. Josh. xv. 16. 17. Judg. xiv. 2. 3. Exod. xxii. 16. 17. xxxiv. 16. Deut. vii. 3. Jer xxix. 6.

I Cor. vii. 36. 38. No where is the least shadow of power given to children to marry without their parents confent. Nor do I know of a fingle instance of marriage in Scripture contracted without regard to the confent of parents, which was not followed with fome vifible judgement, temporal or fpiritual, fooner or later, Gen. vi. 2. xxvi. 34. xxviii. 9. xxxviii. 2. &c. Protestant divines generally hold marriage null and void, if the confent of parents be difregarded. The infamous Popish Council of Trent denounced a curfe upon them on this account. Papists generally hold the marriage of children valid without the confent of parents: But Bellarmine and others grant that it is not equally honourable. eafy reconcilement of parents to their children's contempt of that authority, which God hath given them over them in this point, tends not a little to the multiplication of fuch marriages in our times, to the manifest ruin of their feed in spirituals, and often also in temporals.

The duty of married persons, is tenderly to love one another, be faithful to one another, bear with one another's infirmities; and in their different flations fludy to pleafe, profit, and provide for one another, the hufband as the head, and the wife as fubject to him, Eph. v. Col. iii. 1 Pet. iii. The relation between God and the church, whether Jewish or Gentile, is represented as a marriage, wherein God is the Husband, who chooses, rules, and provides for them; and they are the spouse, who consent to be his, and accept of his ordinances and laws, and love and obey him, because he first loved them. With deliberation this relation is conflituted; and how firm, lafting, close, pleafant, honourable to Cod, and profitable to them! how folemn his promifes to blefs them, and their engagements to obey him! how fearfully the Jews, and many Christian churches, have been punished for their adulterous apoftafy from him! Jer. iii. Ezek. xvi. Hof. ii. The fpiritual relation between the faints and Christ, and God in him, is called a marriage, wherein Jefus and his Father are the Husband, and the faints the fpouse. From eternity they were loved, chosen, and betrothed in the covenant of peace. In time they are invited, and do confent to be his, and are united to him by the Spirit and faith. Hereby he and they have mutual interest in one another's person and concerns, and mutual love for one another; and have familiar intimacy, especially in the heavenly state; while he rules, protects, and provides for them, they obey him, and bring forth fruits of righteousness to the praise of his glory, Matth. xxii. 1.-14. Jer. liv. 5. Eph. v. 30.—32. 2 Cor. xi. 2. ners connection with the law as a broken covenant, is reprefented as a marriage; how close they cleave to it as their terms of life, and it to them! and how, in the breach thereof, they are ruined, along with its honour! Rom. vii. 1.-4. Gal. iii. 10. iv. 21.

MAR [135] MAR

MARISHES. See MIRE.

MARROW; a foft, fat, and very nourishing substance, contained in the hollow of fome animal bones, and which strengthens them, and mightily promotes the healing of them when broken. To marrow are likened, (1.) The most secret dispositions, thoughts, defigns, and defires of our foul, Heb. iv. 12. (2.) Christ and his fulness of righteoufness, grace, and glory, and all the fulness of God in him, which are the delightful nourishment and strength of churches, faints, and their holy difpositions, Pfal. lxiii. 5. If. xxv. 6. (3.) The fear of the Lord, and departing from evil, which mightily promote the health and true welfare of both foul and body, Prov. iii. 8.

MARS-HILL. See AREOPAGUS. MART; a place of great trade, to the nations around, II. xxiii. 3.

MARTYR. See WITHESS. MARVEL. See WONDER.

MARY, the virgin mother of our Lord. She was the daughter of Eli, or Joachim, of the royal but then debased family of David. That she vowed perpetual virginity, and remained alway a virgin, hath no proof but the idle fancies of men. It is certain the lived at Nazareth, and was betrothed to one Joseph of the same place and family. The Angel Gabriel appeared to her, and hailed her as one highly favoured of the Lord, as she should quickly conceive and bear the Messiah. She believed, and asked, how that could be, as the knew not a man? Gabriel told her, that the marvellous impression of the Holy Ghost should make her conceive, as nothing was impossible with God. Mary believed; and foon after, finding that she had conceived, the went to Hebron, which was about 90 miles fouthward of Nazareth, to visit her cousin Elisabeth, who was near her time with John Baptift. No fooner had Elifabeth heard Mary's voice, than her babe for joy leaped in her womb. After conference on their miraculous pregnancy, Elisabeth, under inspiration, uttered one fong of praife, and Mary another, still more exalted and rapturous. At Mary's return, the was on the point of being privately divorced, but an angel prevented it, Luke i. 26 .- 58. Mat. i. 18.-25. An edict of the Roman emperor, caufed Joseph and Mary repair to Bethlehem, at the time she was to bring forth her divine child. What Simeon and Anna faid of him, at their fight of him, Mary laid up in her mind, and deeply pondered in her heart; as the did also what Jesus said to her, when she found him disputing in the temple, at 12 years of age, Luke ii. About 18 years after, too rashly hinted to him, at the marriage of Cana in Galilee, that he should miraculously supply them with wine, John ii. 3.—5. Some time after, she fought to speak with him, Mark iii. 20. Joseph it feems being dead, our Saviour affectionately observing her from his crofs, recommended her to the care of the Apostle John, who provided for her till her death, John xix. 25.—27. After our Saviour's refurrection, the no doubt faw him. After his afcention, the attended the religious meetings of the difciples, Acts i. 14. The dispute among the Papin, whether she was tainted with original MAR [136] MAS

riginal fin, hath occasioned plenty of pretended miracles, and a prodigious number of volumes.

2. Mary, the wife of Cleophas, and mother of James, Jule, Joses, Simeon, and Salome their fifter, is supposed to have been the fifter of the virgin, and so her children are represented as the brothers of our Lord, John xix. 25. Matth. xxvii. 56. Mark xv. 41. Luke xxiv. 10. Mark vi. 5. Mit. xiii. 55. She early believed on our Saviour, attended his preaching, and ministered to him for his support. At a distance she with grief witnessed his crucifixion, Mark xv. 40. 41. was present at his burial, and prepared spices for embalming his dead body, Luke xxiii. 56.

MARY MAGDALENE. feems to have been an inhabitant of Magdala; and it is hinted by some, that she was a plaiter of hair to the harlots and vain women of her city. certain, the was possessed of seven devils, whom Jefus cast out. I suppose the was the feandalous finner, who, in the house of Simon the Pharifee, washelour Saviour's feet with her tears, and wiped them with her hair, and kiffed and anointed them with precious Simon thought, Jefus's ointment. admission of her to such familiarity, similar to that of affectionate daughters towards their father, was an evidence, he knew not her character, or was not fusficiently strict in his practice. Jefus, k lowing his thought, uttered a parable, of two debtors to whom their creditor had forgiven very different accounts, asked Simon, which of the two would love him most? Simon replied, that he thought it would be the debtor to whom the greatest sum had been forgiven: Jesus approved his judgement, and, after observing how far fuperior this woman's kindness was to that of Simon, who had neither faluted him with a kifs, nor given him water for his feet, nor oil for his head, hinted, that her great love was an evidence that her multiplied transgressions were forgiven; and just then declared to the woman, that they were fo. As fome murmured within themselves, that Jefus took upon him to forgive fins, he faid to her, Thy faith hath faved thee. Soon after, the is mentioned as one of his ministering attendants, Luke vii. 36.—50. viii. 1. 2. 3. She attended him in his last journey from Gulilee to Jerufalem, and forrowfully witneffed his crucifixion, and affifted in preparing spices for his embalment, John xix. 25. Luke xxiii. 55. 56. Early on the 3d day, she, and Mary the wife of Cleophas, went to his fepulchre; but miffing his body, an angel informed them he was rifen. As they were going to inform the disciples, Mary Magdalene returned and stood weeping at the grave. There Jefus met her; she supposed he was the gardener, and asked him, if he knew what was become of the dead body, that she might take care of it? With his known air of speech, Jesus called her by her name. Knowing him immediately, fhe cried out in a rapture of joy, Rabboni, which fignifies, my great Master, and fell at his feet to embrace them; but he bade her forbear, and go inform his disciples, he was rifen. As the went and overtook the other Mary, and other women, Jefus appeared to them: they held him by the feet, and worshipped him, but were directed to go inform his apoftles and followers, and particularly Peter, that he was rifen. as he directed; but their information was not duly credited, Matth. xxviii. 9. 10. John xx. 1.—18.

MARY. See LAZARUS; PETER. MASH, or MESHECH; the 4th fon of Aram, and grandfon of Shem. He was probably the father of the Moscheni, or Masians, who resided about the south parts of Armenia: and from him the mount Masius, and the river Mazecha, or Mozecha, in these quarters, seem to have had their name. Gen.

x. 23. 1 Chron. i. 17.,

MASONS. From the history of the temple, and the ruins of Baalbeck, Tadmor, Persepolis, and other places, it appears that their art was in as great persection long ago as at pre-icut.

MAS [137] MAT

fent. Those of Tyre were among the first noted; and David hired them to build his palace. 2 Sam. v. 11.

MASTS for thips. The Tyrians made theirs of cedar, Ezek. xxvii. 5. As it is dangerous to lie down in the fea, or on the top of a maft of a thip, as the fails; to he who indulges himself in drunkenness, is in danger of death and damnation, Prov. xxiii. 34. See ship.

MASTER; one who rules, or teacheth. It is a title applied, (1.) To Jesus Christ, who is our great lawgiver and teacher, and who alone can inwardly and powerfully instruct our foul; and in matters of faith and worfhip, is only to be followed, Matth. xxiii. 8. 10. (2.) To preachers and ministers who, to affembled congregations, declare and explain the oracles of God, Eccl. xii. 11. (3.) To such as more privately teach scholars or difciples, Luke vi. 40. (4.) To fuch as have, and rule over fervants, Eph. vi. 5. (5.) To fuch as proudly affect vain applause, and a superiority above others, Matth. xxiii. 10. (6.) To fuch as judge, condemn, cenfure, and reprove others; or do it beyond the merits of the cause; uncharitably wresting things to the worst meaning; or aggravating real faults; or who do it from a spirit of pride and contradiction; or who affect to be many teachers, in-Read of the one teacher Christ, Jam. iii. 1.

MATTHEW, or LEVI, the fon of Alpheus, we suppose one different from Cleophas, was a Galilean by birth, al Jew by religion, and a publican by office. His ordinary residence was at Capernaum, and he had his house for gathering his toll, or tax, on the fide of the fea of Tiberias. Jefus called him to be one of his apostles. directly obeyed, without taking time to fettle his affairs. At his request, Jefus, perhaps some time after, took an entertainment at his house, along with some other publicans. As the Pharifees railed at him, for eating with publicans, and other like notorious finners; he told them, that it was finfick fouls that needed the divine Phyfician; and that God loved mercy move than facrifice, and pretensions to strictness. He told them, he was come into the world, not to have fellowship with persons without sin, but to call sinners to repentance, Matth. ix. 9.—13. Mark ii. 14.—17. Grotius thinks Matthew and Levi were two different persons; the former the clerk or servant, and the latter the master. Whether Matthew suffered martyrdom in Persia, or died in Abyssinia, after he had preached there, we know not.

It is faid he began to write his gofpel about A. D. 41; but in what language, is controverted. There was, very early, a copy of it in Hebrew or Syriac, to which the judaizing pretenders to Christianity added so many interpolations of their own, that it was generally condemned. As early as Origen's time, it was despised; and Epiphanius reckons it spurious. The Hebrew copies published by Munster and Tillet, are but modern translations from the Latin or Greek. It is certain, a Greek copy of this gospel exifted in the apostolic age; and not long after, it was translated into Latin. We cannot therefore accede to the fentiment of the Christian fathers, who will have its original to have been the Hebrew: for why might it not be as eafily translated from Greek into Hebrew, as from Hebrew into Greek? About A. D. 184, a Greek copy of it was found in the East Indies, which, it is supposed, was carried thither by Bartholomew. In 488, a Greek copy was found at Cyprus, which was inferibed on hard wood, and supposed to have been most ancient. Moreover, if Matthew had wrote in Hebrew, with what fenfe could he have given us a literal interpretation of Hebrew names, Emmanuel? &c. Matthew has exhibited to us the royal descent of our Saviour, and the obvious parts of his conduct and fufferings. His order is fometimes different from that of the other Evangelists; as the Holy Ghost did not intend to exhibit the facts in their order of time, but in the truth of their performance. He is grave, withour formal stiffness, plain with dignity, dignity, copious and full in his rehearfal of our Lord's divine discourses and wonderful works. Whatever other works were once ascribed to him, every body capable of judging, believes now to be but a forgery.

Vol. II.

MAT [138] MEA

MATTHIAS; a disciple of Jesus Christ, perhaps one of the seventy. After our Saviour's ascension, Peter proposed, that one who had been a constant witness of his marvellous sufferings and conduct, should be chosen to fill the room of Judas, who, after betraying his Lord, had hanged him-The disciples chose Barsabas and Matthias for the candidates. office was extraordinary, and perhaps the votes equal, the final determination, which of the two should be the apostle, was left to the decision of God by the lot. After prayer, the lots were cast, and it fell upon Matthias: he was therefore numbered with the eleven apostles, Acts i. 15.—26. is probable, he preached the gospel fomewhere in the east; but whether he died a violent or natural death, we know not.

MATTOCK; an iron inftrument for digging stones, roots, and fand; or for breaking down walls, I Sam. xiii. 20. 21. If. vii. 25. 2 Chron. xxxiv. + 6.

MAUL; a hammer, such as coppersmiths use. A false witness, is like a maul, a sword, or an arrow; he wounds the reputation, he ruins the health, and takes away the life of his neighbour, Prov. xxv. 18.

MAZZAROTH: whether they be the 12 figns, see MARK, or the chambers of the fouth, or the Mazzerim, stars scattered about the north pole, we know not, Job xxxviii. 32. ix. 9.

xxxvii. 9.

MEADOW; fat and well watered ground for feeding cattle, or producing hay, Gen. xli. 2.

MEAL; (1.) That substance whereof bread, or like eatables, are formed, Is. xlvii. 2. (2.) A particular diet; a dinner, supper, or the like, Ruth ii. 14.

MEASURE; (1.) That whereby the quantity, length, or breadth of any thing is adjusted. Tables of meafure follow.

Scripture-measures of Length reduced to English measure.

									Engl	ish feet.	ineh. dec.
Digit		•					-		Property.	0	0.912
4	Palm			Procedure.		-		-		0	3.648
I 2	3	Span			-					O	10.944
24	6	3	Cubit	:	•				bename	1	9.888
96	24	6	2	Fath	onı			-	-	7	3.552
144	36	I 2	6	I 1/2	Ezeki	el's reed		-	-	10	11.328
192	48	16	8	2	1 5 2	Arabian	pole	-		14	7.104
1920	480	160	86	20	131	o Scl	ıœnus's	, or m	eaf. line	145	11.04

MEA [139] MEA

The longer Scripture-measures.

			A 11.0 1	ionger D	erpeare-m	arares.
					-	Eiglish n	riles, p	aces,	feet, dec.
Cubit			-	-	-	-	0	0	1.824
400	Stadi	ium, o	or furlong		rondomin	providen.	0	145	4.6
2000	5	Sab.	day's jour	iey	Agentagions	_	0	729	3.0
4200	10	2	Eaftern mi	ile	-	Acrosson,	1	403	1.0
12000	30	6	3 Parafan	g	pagents		4	153	3.0
96000	240	48	24 8 A	– day's joi	irne y	Protect	33	172	4.0

Scripture-measures of Capacity for Liquids, reduced to English Wine-measure.

								fol. inch.
Caph			-		Bed-nills	0	ဝွန္	0.177
I Log					decement the	٥	O ₂	0.211
5 1 4	Саь	rosena			,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,	0	3 ^t	0.844
16 12	3	Hin	pundrodia	Antonia	anales.	1	2	2.533
32, 24	6	2 Seah			any-dende)	2	4	5.067
96, 72	18	6 31	Bath, or Ep	ha		7	4	15.2
960 720	180	60 20	10 Coron,	Chomer	-	75	5	7.625

Scripture-measures of Capacity for things Dry, reduced to English Corn-measure.

~ ·								Peck	s. g 1	pi es, fe	lincs. lec.
Gach	al		-	~	•	-		0	0	OTIS	0.031
20	Cab			*				0	0	25	0.073
36	I 4	Gom	or, or	omer			-	0	0	5 ਜੰਤ	1.211
120	6	3 3	Seah		p-19415		pulmers of	I	0	I	4.036
360	18	10	3 E _I	ha	,		-	3	0	3	12.107
1800	90	50	15	Letech		-		16	0	0	26.500
				ola Cho			1 —	32	0	I	18.969

N. B. A Scotch pint contains three English of Corn-measure, and almost four of Wine-measure.

A measure, in 2 Kings vii. 1. signifies almost 50 solid inches, which is not quite the half of our pint; and this signifies but a chenix, which contained being sold for a penny, or 73 pence S 2 Sterling,

MEA [140] MEA

Sterling, imports, that the famine would be so fevere, that a man would fcarce be able to work for enough to keep him in life. (2.) The length, breadth, or quantity to be measured, Ezek. xl. 10. (3.) Measure signifies the determined length, boundary, or degree of any thing, as of life, Pfal. xxxix. 4.; of fin, Jer. li. 13.; or of grace, Eph. iv. 11. The measure of the apostles, was the extent of their power and office, 2 Cor. x. 13.-15. The Jews filled up the measure of their fathers, by adding to their fin, and fo hastening on the judgements of God, Matth. xxiii. 32. In measure, is moderately, sparingly, If. xxvii. 8. Jer. xxx. 11. Ezek. iv. 11. 15. Without measure, is very largely, If. v. 14. John iii. 34. the measure of a man is fix feet, so the new Jerusalem being measured with the measure of a man, that is of the angel, may import, how exact and heavenly faints shall be, during the Millennium and the eternal state.

To measure, or mete; (1.) To take the dimensions or quantity of things, Numb. xxxv. 5. Ruth iii. 15. (2.) To take possession of, especially in order to build, Zech. ii. 2. (3.) To repay, reward, If. lxv. 7. God's meafuring the dust or waters in the hollow of his hand, imports, his full knowledge of, his absolute power over, and eafy management thereof, Job xxviii. 25. If. xl. 12. The angel's visionary measuring of the temple and city in Ezekiel and John's vision, imports, that every thing in the gospel-church ought to correspond with the line and reed of God's word, and in the Millennium shall do so, Ezek. xl. xli. xlii. xivii. Rev. xxi. The measuring of the temple, altar, and of them that worship therein, under Antichrist, may denote the trials of Christ's witnesses; but chiefly their enjoying the fingular care and protection of God, while others are abandoned to delufion, Rev. xi. 1. 2. Mens measuring themselves by themselves, and comparing themselves among them-selves, is foolishly to imagine themselves flandards of true excellency; and reckoning every thing good that is their own, while they overlook the superior excellencies of others, 2 Cor. x. 12.

MEAT. The food of the Hebrews was regulated by the appointment of God. What animals they might eat, and what they ought not, was particularly marked, Lev. xi. Deut. xiv. No blood, nor flesh with the blood, nor the fat of animals offered in facrifice, was to be eaten. What the Hebrews reckoned high living, may appear from what Solomon had at his table: his daily provision was 20 cors or measures of fine flour, with 60 cors of coarfer meal; in all about 58,320 pounds weight of meal, with 10 fed oxen, 20 pasture oxen, 100 sheep, befide venifon, deer, roebuck, does, wild fowl, &c. The Jews fay, 60,000 were maintained in his court: but it is more probable they were not above the half, I Kings iv. xxii. 23. It does not appear they were very nice in the feafoning or dreffing of their food. Salt was the only feafoning of what was prepared in the temple; if we do not add the oil wherewith meat-offerings were baken. The paschal lamb was eaten with bitter herbs, falt, honey, butter, oil; and perhaps fometimes aromatic herbs were used in their common ragouts. Anciently, it feems, every one of the guests used to have a table-by himself: the Chinese, and other eastern nations, we are told, still use this fashion; and the greatest honour done a guest, was to give him a large share, 1 Sam. i. 4. 5. Gen. xviii. 6.—8. xliii. 43. Nations were fometimes fly of eating with one another. The Egyptians hated to eat with thepherds, Gen. xliii. 31. The Jews shunned to eat with Heathens, particularly the Samaritans, John iv. 9.: they reproached our Saviour for eating with publicans, Matth. ix. 11. Luke xv. 2. The Jews washed their hands before they took their meals, Mark vii. Anciently they fat at tables, Prov. xxiii. 1.; but in after ages, they copied after the Persian, Chaldean, and Roman manner of lying at it on beds; and hence John leaned on Jesus's bosom at his last supper, John xiii. The different fexes MEA [141] MED feasted in different apartments, as was the common manner in fome places of the East, and still prevails in Italy and Spain. Perfumes on their hair, or on their beds, together with mufic and dancing, were common at their feasts, Luke vii. 37. xv. John xii. Among the modern Jews, the mafter of the house or the chief person prefent, bleffes the bread, and afterwards bleffes the wine. fuft before they take their last glass, he recites a pretty long prayer and thankfgiving, and the company recite the 9th and 10th verfes of the xxxivth Pfalm. They are fo superstitions of nice, that they will have no meat dreffed by Christians or Hea-They never mix any milk-meat with flesh; nor will they take milk, butter, or cheefe, immediately after flesh; they will not even use the same instruments or veffels in drefling or holding milk-meat, which they use for flesh-meat.

The abolishment of the ceremonial law, by the death of Jesus Christ, took away the legal distinction of meats; but to avoid offence of the weak Tews who turned Christians, and were hard to wean from their ancient cuftoms, the fynod of Jerusalem required their Christian brethren to abstain from meats offered to idols, and from things firangled, and from blood. This matter, especially that of eating things offered to idols, and which were fometimes, after the oblation, fold in the public markets, occasioned no fmall disturbance. Paul determines, that all food was clean and indifferent in itself; and that whatever was bought in the public market, might be eaten without any scruple of conscience; but warmly inculcates the forbearance of flesh offered to idols, or of any thing indifferent, if it tended to lay a stumbling-block before any person, or grieved any tender conscience; and charges fuch as did otherwife, with being murderers of their Christian brethren, for whom Christ died, Tit. i. 15. Rom. xiv. 1 Cor. vi. 11.-13. viii. x.

Jefus's mediatorial work is reprefented as his meat: it was more delightful to him than his necessary food,

John iv. 32. 34. He, in his person, righteousness, and fulness, and God in him, are represented as meat, as true and fatisfying food, the receiving and enjoyment of which delightfully nourishes up mens souls to eternal life. John vi. 55. Gal. ii. 20. Pfal. xxxiv. 8. The truths of God in the scripture are meat; they refresh and nourish mens fouls; and the more deep mysteries are strong meat, that can only edify and nourish strong Christians, Jer. xv. 16. Heb. v. 12. 14. Ceremonial ordinances are called meats and drinks; much of them related to entables, Heb. xiii.g. Col. ii. 16. The kingdom of God confifts not in meat and drink, but in righteoufness, peace, and joy in the Holy Chost: the gospel-dispensation does not relate to meats and drinks; nor does true inward religion confift in observances about these, but in applying Jefus's righteousness, and studying to have fellowship with, and conformity to God, Rom. xiv. 17. The fruit of the faints is for meat and medicine; their godly inftructions, and holy examples, are most edifying, Ezek. xlvii-11. Men are meat to others, when they are given up to be destroyed by them, Pfal. xliv. 11. liii. 4. Numbxiv. 9. xxiv. 8. Sin is meat to men; they delight in it, and promife themfelves nourishment from it; but it becomes the gall of asps within them, Job xx. 14. Sorrowful meat, is coarse provision, which mourners did eat, Job vi. 7. Tears are meat, when forrow renders one without appetite for meat, Pfal. xlii. 3. The year of release was meat for the Hebrews; they did eat what grew of its own accord on it, Luke xxv. 6. Ifrael's ordinary food, which God diminished, was their wonted prosperity, Ezek. xvi. 27. EAT ; BREAD.

MEDDLE; (1.) To provoke to anger, 2 Kings xiv. 10. (2.) To attack in war, Deut. xxv. 19. (3.) To be familiar with, Prov. xx. 19. xxiv. 21. (4.) To interfere; feek to have to do with, Prov. xxvi. 17.

MEDEBA; a city, a confiderable way eastward of Jordan, and not far from

MED [142] MEL

irom Heshbon. it from the Moabites, or Ammonites, Numb. xxi. 30. It is certain it fell to the share of the Reubenites, and was one of those on their fouth-east border. Near to it there was a delightful plain, I suppose along the river Arnon, Josh. xiii. 16. In David's time, it was in the hands of the Ammonites; and here their army encamped under the walls, and afterwards fled into the city, 2 Sam. x. It afterwards pertained to the Moabites, and was ravaged by the Affyrians and Chaldeans, If. xv. 2. Jer. xlviii. It was however rebuilt and inhabited by the Arabs, with whom the poor remains of the Moabites were blended. It continued fome ages after Christ, and is called Medava by Ptolemy.

MEDIA; See MADAI.

MEDIATOR: one who transacts between parties at variance, in order to bring them to an agreement, Gal. iii. 20. Jesus Christ is the one Mediator. He alone, by fatisfaction to God, and intercession with him, and by powerful and gracious instruction and influence on finful men, brings both together into a new-covenant state of agreement, 2 Tim. ii. 5. He is the Mediator of the better, or new covenant: according to the tenor of the new covenant of grace, he fatisfies and intercedes for us, and bestows upon us all necessary grace, Heb. viii. 6. ix. 15. xii. 24. Moses was a typical mediator, interposing between God and the Hebrew nation, he received the law for them, and declared it to them, and interceded with God for them, Gal. iii. 19. Deut. v. 5.

MEDICINE; whatever tends to heal or prevent difeases of soul and body: so the fear of God promotes the real health of both soul and body, and a merry heart, or good conscience, doth good like a medicine. As natural cheerfulness promotes the health of the body, so a conscience sprinkled with Jesus's blood, and directed by his word, and ruled by his Spirit, greatly promotes the strength and comfort of the soul, Prov. iii. 8. xvii. 22. Spiritual medi-

It feems, Sihon took cines are fuch as tend to remove ignorabites, or Ammonites, It is certain it fell to Reubenites, and was their fouth-east border. was a delightful plain, the river Arnon, Josh. David's time, it was in the Ammonites; and cines are fuch as tend to remove ignorance, profaneness, and introduce true life, strength, and comfort into mens fouls, Ezek. xlvii. 12. Medicines for nations, are either Jesus's truths preached among them for the redemption of their soul, Rev. xxii. 2.; or means of relief and deliverance, Jer. xxx. 13.

MEDITATION; (1.) Thinking in a fixed manner, Pfal. civ. 34. (2.) Prayer is called meditation; because what is prayed for, ought first to be deliberately thought of, Pfal. v. 1.

MEEKNESS; a temper of spirit humble and submiffive to the will of God, and not easily provoked with injuries. Moses was very meck, Numb. xii. 3.; but Jesus Christ is infinitely more so, and is to be our pattern, Matth. xi. 29.

Perfons, or things, MEET together, either by accident or defign; and either in a way f wrath, to light against and destroy, Hos. xiii. 8. Lake xiv. 21.; or in a way of friend ap, Gen. xiv. 17.; or in assembling to worship God, Is. i. 13.

MEET. See fit, Answerable, READY, Col. i. 12. 2 Tim. b. 21.

MEGIDDO, or MEGIDDON; a city of the weitern Manathtes, faid to have been 44 miles north of Jerufalem; but I fuppose it was more. The Canaunites retained it; and near to it, Jabin's army was routed by Deborah and Barak, Judg. 1. 27. v. 19. Solcmon rebuilt it, I Kings ix. 15. Ahaziah fled to it, when purfued by Jehu's orders, and died there, 2 Kings ix. 27. Josiah was slain near to it, 2 Chron. xxxv. 22. It was a place of great mourning to the Canaanites when Jabin's army was destroyed, and to the Jews when Josiah was slain, Zech. xii. 11.

MELCHIZEDEK, king of Salem, and prieft of the Most High God. Who he was, hath afforded much dispute: some will have him to be Christ, or the Holy Chost; but Paul distinguishes between him and our Saviour, and says, he was but made like unto the Eon of God. Both Moses and Paul

reprefent

MEL MEL 143

represent him as a mere man, who ry and honour. He, with his flesh than reigned at Salem in Canaan. But what man he was, is as little agreed. The Jews and Samaritans will have him to be Shem, their ancestor. Arabians will have him the grandfon of Shem by the father's fide, and the great grandson of Japheth by his mother's; and pretend to give us the names of his ancestors. Jurieu will have him to be Ham. Dr Owen would have him to be a descendant of Japheth, and a pledge of the offspring of Japheth's becoming the principal church of God. But how a descendant of Japheth came to be king of the Canaanites, we know not. Why may we not rather, with Suidas, suppose him a descendant of Ham, sprung of a curfed family, and ruling over fubjects curfed in their progenitor? Would he be thereby one whit more diffimilar to Jefus Chrift? But why all this enquiry after a genealogy which God hath concealed; and to render him a diftinguished type of our Saviour, hath brought him before us, as if dropt from heaven, and after his work returning thereto? His bleffing of Abraham, the great heir of promise, and receiving tithes from him, marks him fuperior to Levi and Aaron, who were then in his loins. When Abraham returned from the rout of Chedorlaomer, and his allies, Melchizedek met him in the valley of Shaveh, afterwards called the King's Dale, and tendered to him a prefent of bread and wine, for the refreshment of himself and his wearied troops. He also bleffed Abraham, and thanked God for giving him the victory. Abraham acknowledged him prieft of the Most High God, and gave him a tenth part of the spoil, Gen. xiv. 17.-20. Heb. vii. 1.-11. Jefus is a priest after the order of Melchizedek; as God, he was without beginning, without mother: as man, his origin was miraculous, without father: he was installed in his office only by God, and is therein fuperior to all the Aaronic and ranfomed priefts. communicates all bleffings to them, and ought to receive from them proper glo-is meat indeed, and his blood that is drink indeed, refreshes his people, when like to faint in their spiritual warfare; he has no fucceffor, but is possessed of an unchangeable priesthood, Pfal. ex. 4. Heb. vii. 1.--11. vi. 20. v. 10.

MELITA, or MALTA, is a fmall island of the Mediterranean Sea, about 54 miles fouth of Sicily, and 150 north of Africa. It is about 18 miles long, and 12 broad, and 60 in circumference. It feems to have had its name from its being Melet, or a place of refuge to the ancient Tyrians in their voyages to Carthage and Spain. The Carthaginians took this ifle from Battus, a prince of Cyrene. The Romans took it from them. About A.D. 63, Paul and his companions were shipwrecked on this island, and kindly entertained by the natives, who, it is probable, were most descended from the Tyrians. They imagined Paul a god, because he shook a viper off his hand, without receiving any hurt from it. Publius the governor's father was cured of his bloody flux; and others informed hereof. brought their fick to Paul, and they were healed. When Paul and his com. panions departed for Italy, the Maltefe cheerfully furnished them with necesfary provisions, Acts xxviii. 1.—11. It is faid, that no venomous beafts can fince live in that country; and that earth is carried from it, to expel venomous animals, and to cure the bites of ferpents. It is more certain, that ever fince there has been fome remainsof Christianity in this place; though for many ages past little more than the name. About A. D. 828, the Mahomedan Saracens feized on it. About 1000, Roger of Sicily took it from them. About 1530, Charles V. Emperor of Germany and King of Spain. gave it to the military knights, whom the Turks had about feven years before, with terrible bloodfled, driven from Rhodes. When they came there, the inhabitants were about 12,000, wretched enough, and foil exceeding barren. It is now quite the reverfe: the foil bears excellent fruit, melons, MEL [144] MEM cotton, &c. The inhabitants are between 40,000 and 50,000, and the natives still retain a great deal of the ancient Phenician or Carthaginian language. The knights are still masters of it, and are in a kind of perpetual war with the Turks, using their ships in much the same manner the Algerines do those of Italy and Spain; and have on various occasions performed wonders of bravery, defending the island against huge armies of insidels.

MELODY; a fweet musical found, Amos v. 23. To make melody in the heart to the Lord, is, from a joyful and thankful disposition, to please him, with the praising ascription of glory and homour to him, Col. iii. 16. Eph. v. 19.

MELONS; a kind of pompion of a good smell, but cooling to the blood, and tending to promote urine; and so are useful in severs and stranguries, but of small use for food. Tournesort mentions seven kinds of melons. The Egyptian are the worst; but the Hebrews wickedly preserved these, with coarse cucumbers, sit only for beasts, and leeks and onions, to the manna,

Numb. xi. 5.

MELT; (1.) To render metal, or hard bodies, liquid, Ezek. xxii. 22. And a molten image is one made by casting the metal in a mould, Exod. xxxii. 4. (2.) To be diminished, and waste away, as snow in a thaw, I Sam. xiv. 16. (3.) To faint, or be difcouraged, Pfal. cxix. 28. John ii. 11. Exod. xv. 15. The earth or mountains melted before, or at the voice of God. The ore on the top of Sinai was melted by the terrible fire on it; hills or earth are depressed by earthquakes or thunder; and his oppofers, however ftrong and fixed, are eafily fubdued, Judg. v. 5. Pial. xlvi. 6. xcvii. 5. If. lxiv. 1. 2.

MEMBER; (1.) A part of an animal body, legs, hands, ears, eyes, &c. Pfal. exxxix. 16. Because our whole man, soul and body, is united into one system, the faculties of the soul, as well as the parts of the body, are called members, Rom. vi. 13. 19. Christ and his people being considered as a lody, the faints are called his members, and members one of another; they are closely united to him as their head, and joined to one another, as his, by having the fame Spirit, engagements, profession, and practice, Eph. iv. 25. v. 30. Our inward principle of corruption being likened to a body, the various affections and lusts thereto belonging, are called members, and members on the earth, that are inclined to earthly things, and much excited and acted by the earthly body, Rom. vii. 23. Col. iii. 5.

MEMORY; (1.) That power of the mind, whereby we retain or can recollect ideas of things formerly feen, imagined, or understood, I Cor. xv. 2. The best way to strengthen it, is to exercife it much, and get many things distinctly by heart. (2.) Memorial; name; report, Prov. x. 7. If. xxvi. 14. Memorial, is what tends to bring a person or thing to remembrance. God's name Jehovah is his memorial in all generations; the name whereby he shall be remembered, called upon, and thought and spoken of, Exod. iii. 15. The foul ranfom-money, the part of the meat-offering burnt on the altar, and the frankingense set on the shew-bread, are called a memorial: they as it were put God in mind of his covenant with, and of the mercies necessary to be shown to the Hebrews: and they put the Hebrews in mind of Jefus as a ranfom, offering, and interceffor, for us, Exod. xxx. 16. Lev. ii. 2. xxiv. 7. The stones of the high-priest's breastplate, and shoulder-piece, were for a memorial; they tended to put him in mind to pray earnestly for the Hebrew tribes; and as it were called down mercies from God upon them, Exod. xxviii. 12.29. MEMPHIS, Moff, or Noff; a famous city of middle Egypt, about 15 miles above the parting of the Nile; and on the fouth-west of which stood the famed pyramids. It is thought to have been built by Menes, or Mizraim, and before Alexander's time was long the royal city. Here was kept their bull-deity, in a stately temple. The princes of it were trepanned or conquered by Psammitichus, their rival, and the country terribly ravaged, that he might obtain the kingdom, If. xix. 13. Much about the fame time, a multitude of the Ifraelites fled from the Affyrians into Egypt, and being cut off by the fword and peffilence, were buried about Memphis, Hof. ix. 6. The princes or kings of Memphis often deceived the Jews with empty promifes of help, and occasioned the ruin of their state by the Chaldeans, Jer. ii. 16. Terrible was the distress it fuffered from the Chaldeaus and Perfians, Jer. xlvi. 14. 19. Ezek. xxx. 13. 16. It was however rebuilt, and the Greck kings of Egypt mightily adorned it. About the time of our Saviour's birth, it was, next to Alexandria, the principal city of Egypt. Notwithstanding manifold disasters, it continued to make fome figure, till about A. D. 640, when the Saracens destroyed it, and built another almost opposite to it, on the east side of the Nile; and which, with the additions made to it by the Fathemite Caliphs, is now called Grand Cairo, or Al-kahir. There fearce remains the least veftige of Memphis to point out where it flood; probably the Nile runs over its foundations.

MEN [145] MEP

MENSTRUOUS; monthly. To approach a woman under her natural infirmity, is wicked and abominable; and if done wittingly, was punished with the death of both parties, by the Hebrew law, Ezek. xviii. 6. Lev. xx. 18. Jerufalem was like a nunftruous avoman, when rendered weak and deteflable to the neighbouring nations, Lam. i. 17. To cast away idols as a menstruous cloth, is to reject them as siltly and deteflable, 1s. xxx. 22.

MENAHEM, the fon of Gadi, feems to have been general to Zachariah, the fon of Jeroboam the II. No fooner he heard that his matter was murdered by Shallam the fon of Jabeth, in Samaria, than he marched from Tirzah, and cut off Shallum, and feized the crown for himfelf. Provoked that the citizens of Tiphfah did not readily acknowledge him, and open their gates to him, he mardeted most Vol. II.

of the people, ripped up the women with child, and dashed the infants to pieces. Pul the king of Astyria soon after invaded his kingdom; but with a thousand talents of silver, or 342,187 l. 100s. Seerling, Menahem procured his striendhip. This money Menahem exacted of his people, at the rate of 50 sheeks from all such as were able to bear it. After a reign of ten years, Menahem died, d. Ml. 2341; and Pekahiah his son, after a reign of two years, was nauraered by Pekah, 2 Kings xv. 14.—26.

To MENTION, or make mention, is, (1.) To name, speak of, especially with pleasure, Exod. xxiii. 13. (2.) To pray for, or recommend one, Rom. i. 9. Gen. x!. 14. To make mention of the God of Israel, but not in truth, is hypocritically to profess to be worthippers of him, and members of his church, 1f. xlviii. 1.

MEPHIBOSHETH; (1.) A fen of King Saul by RIZPAH, 2 Sam. xxi. 8.9. (2.) Merhibosheth, the for of Jonathan, and grandchild of Saul. When his father and friends were killed at the battle of Gilboa, his nurse was ftruck with fuch terror at the news, that the let Mephibotheth fall: this fall rendered him ever after lame of both his feet, 2 Sam. iv. In his childhood he was fecretly brought up in the family of one Machir of Lodebar, in the land of Gilead. When David was ettabliffied on the throne of Ifrael, and had avenged himself of the Philistines and Moabites, he examined Ziba, who had been one of Saul's principal fervants, whether any of the house of Saul yet lived, that he might shew them kindnefs for the fake of Jonathan. Ziba told him of Mephibotheth: with great caracitness David feat and brought him to his house, and told him he must cat Lical continually at his table. Mephibotheth accepted the favour with the utmost humility and complaifance. David ordered Ziba, and his family of 15 form and 20 fervants, to cultivate for Mephibotheth, and his calld Micah's behoof, the whole inheritance of Saul,

T

2 Sam, ix-

MEP [146] MER

Some years after, when Abfalom's rebellion forced David to quit his capital, Mephibosheth desired Ziba to faddle him his afs, that he might ride off with his benefactor, as he could not walk on foot. Ziba, instead of obeying him, refolved to trick him out of his whole estate. He went after David, with a prefent of two ass-loads of provision, and told him that Mephibotheth waited at Jerusalem, in hopes that the Hebrews, who were in arms against David, would now restore him to the throne of his grandfather and uncle. Hereon David too rashly made a grant of all Mephibosheth's estate to his villanous fervant. When, after the defeat of Absalom, David returned to Jerusalem, Mephibosheth met him in deep mourning, his feet never washed, nor his beard trimmed, fince David had gone off from his capital. David asked him, why he had not gone along with him? Mephibosheth told him, how Ziba his fervant had deceived him, and had flandered him; but added, that David might do with himself as he pleafed; and that fince, while his father's whole family were all obnoxious to death at his hand, he had made him his table-companion, he had no reason to complain of the disposal of his lands to Ziba; nor was it proper the king should trouble himself to provide for him. David told him he needed fay no more, as he ordered him and Ziba to share the land between them in equal portions. Mephibosheth replied, that he was content Ziba should take it all, as the king had fafely returned to his throne. By his fon Micah, whofe fons were Pithon, Melech, Tahrea, and Ahaz, he had a numerous pofterity, 2 Sam. xvi. 1 .-- 4. xix. 24 .--30. I Chron. viii. 34.—40.

MERARI, the third fon of Levi, and father of Mahli and Mushi. When the Hebrews came out of Egypt, the Merarite males, from a month old and upward, were 6200; and those fit for service, between 30 and 50 years of age, were 3200. To them it pertained, to bear in their waggons, and to fix, the pillars, bars, and boards of the tabernacle. They went first of all the Levites in their march through the wilderness, that the pillars might be set up, and boards sastened before the hangings came forward to be laid on; as these last were spread ere the facred furniture came up, Numb. iii. 33.—37. iv. 29.—45. Some of his posterity were facred porters, I Chron. xxvi. 10. Their cities were Jokneam, Kartah, Dimnah, Nahalal, Bezer, Kedemoth, Jahazah, Mephaath, Ranoth-gilead, Mahanaim, Heshbon, Jazer, Josh. xxi. 34.—40. I Chron. vi. 63. 77.—81.

MERATHAIM; a province of Chaldea, on both fides of the Tigris; and it feems Pekod, Koa, and Shoa, were places near it; Pekod, it is faid, lay near Nineveh, Jer. l. 21. Ezek.

xxiii. 23.

MERCHANTS. Those of Midian, and other parts of Arabia, were the most ancient, Gen. xxxvii. 28. Those of Nineveh and Jerusalem were numerous and wealthy, Nah. iii. 16. Ezek. xvii. 4. Christ is likened to a merchant; having all fulness of grace and glory in his hand, he earnefty calls and invites finful men deliberately to buy, that is, receive freely from him, according to their need, and flate themfelves debtors to his account: and faints are merchants, because, sensible of their manifold needs, and perfuaded of their having infinite advantage, they trade with him on these terms, and reckon themselves everlashing debtors to the riches of his free grace, Song iii. 6. Rev. iii. 18. Matth. xiii. 45.

MERCURY, the fon of Jupiter and Maia, was one of the fabulous deities of the Heathen, and meffenger to the reft. His Greek name Hermes, denotes him the interpreter of their will. He was worshipped as the god of learning, eloquence, and trade, and famous for lying and deceit. Perhaps he was an ancient king of the Gauls; or what if he was the Egyptian philosopher Hermes Trismegistus, or the very great interpreter, worshipped after his death? Or what if the exploits of Mercury be but those of Moles and Aaron, quite disguised with fable? At Lystra, Paul was taken for Mercury, because of his fine manner of speaking, Acts xiv. 8.

MER [147] MER

MERCY; (1.) A Tectionate pity to fuch as are in mifery and diffres, and readiness to do them good, Tit. iii. 5. Phil. ii. 1. Col. iii. 12. (2.) Kind acts proceeding from inward compassion, and defire to relieve such as are in mifery and want, I Tim. i. 13. Pfal. cxlv. 9. All God's paths are mercy and truth to fuch as keep his covenant: all his dealings with them, are the effects of mercy and kindness to them, and are the accomplishment of his promifes to them, Pfal. xxv. 10. To shew, have, or give mercy, is to difcover inward pity and compassion, by acts of kindness to the distressed, Gen. xxxix. 21. Exod. xx. 6. Pfal. iv. 1. 2 Tim. i. 18. To find or obtain mercy, is to receive acts of kindness, and valuable bleffings, proceeding from pity and compassion, Heb. iv. 16. Mat. v. 7. To keep mercy, is to be in a conflant readiness to do good freely to the distressed and miserable, Dan. ix. 4. To remember mercy, is to pass injuries unrefented, and do acts of undeferved kindness, Hab. iii. 2. To love mercy, is to love Jefus, the mercy promifed to the fathers, and love to receive the free gifts of God through him; and to take a pleafure in doing undeferved good to fuch as are in mifery and want, Mic. vi. 8. To follow mercy, is earnestly to feek after a fliare in the bleffings of the new covenant, and fludy to exercife acts of pity towards those in misery, Prov. xxi. 21. One is followed by mercy, when every day he receives multitudes of new bleffings, proceeding from the love of God, and fuited to his need, Pfal. xxiii. 6. To forfake one's own mercy, is to neglect or refuse to accept of Jefus, and his everlafting falvation, fuited to their case, and tendered to them in the offers of the golvel, Jon. ii. 8. God will have mercy, and not faerifice, and the knowledge of God, rather than burnt-offering. Charitable compassion and kindness towards others, attending and flowing from a spiritual knowledge of and faith in God as our

God, is more highly valued of him than any legal facrifice, Hof. vi. 6. Matth. ix. 10. Mercy rejoiceth against judgement, as God takes peculiar delight in flewing mercy and kindness to men: and as there is more real pleafure for us, to be employed in afts of kinda fs, than in a is of feverity; fo those merciful men, who, from a principle of true affestion, have shown pity and kindness to the faints, need not fear damnation, but may and ought to rejoice in the hopes of a future judgement, and a gracious God will take pleafure in their eternal redemption, James ii. 13.—God's mercy and truth meet together, righteoufness and peace kifs each other. In the work of our redemption, mercy is shown in full confistence with every promife, nay with every threatening as executed on Christ; and justice being fully satisfied, through the finished and law-magnifying righteousnefs of our Redeemer, accords with, and promotes the peace and reconciliation of finful men with God, Pfal. lxxxv. 10. God's mercy is multiplied to his people, when it is more fully and clearly discovered in greater or more numerous acts of kindness, Jude 2. Christ is the mercy promised to the fathers; he is the free gift of God to finful and miserable men, suited to supply all their miseries and wants, Luke i. 72. Mic. vii. 20. Eternal life, and the bleffings of the new covenant, are called mercies, and fure mercies of David; they proceed from the infinite compassion of God, are purchased by the blood, lodged in the hand, and communicated to undeferring and miferable men, by Jefus our antitypical David, and are in him fecured by the love, the power, the promife, and newcovenant relations of God in him, 2 Tim. i. 18. If. lv. 3. With the merciful, God will shew hinself merciful. To those disposed by his grace to shew undeferved kindness to their distressed brethren on earth, God will fignally manifest his pity, in granting them undeferved help and comfort in their diftrefs, and a proper deliverance therefrom, Pfal. xviii. 25. MERCY-

MERCY-SEAT. See ARK. MERODACH, or BERODACH-BA-LADAN, or MARDOKEMPAD, was the fon of Baladan king of Babylon. bout A. M. 3292, he fent messengers to congratulate Hezekiah on his miraculous recovery, and the deliverance of his capital from the Affyrians, and to inquire concerning thefe facts, and the retrograde motion of the fun, and perhaps to form an alliance against the now-reduced Affyrians, If. xxxix. 2 Kings xx. It feems Merodach was a great king, and was worshipped after his death in Babylon: when Cyrus took that city, Merodach's image was broken to pieces, Jer. l. 2. Nebuchadnezzar, it feems, expected his fon would be another great Merodach, but he turned out a fool, i. e. Evil-merodach, or foolish Merodach.

MEROM. The waters of Merom are generally supposed to be the Samachon, or upper lake of Jordan. Merom in Hebrew, and Samachon in Arabic, fignify high. Near these waters Joshua defeated the allied army of Jabin. Others think these Canaanites would not abandon fo much of their country to the conqueror, and wait for him at the lake of Samachon: and will have the waters of Merom to have been fituated near mount Tabor. and the river Kishon, at some important pass, where Barak defeated the army of Jabin II. It is certain, what we render high places, is in the Hebrew MEROZ; a city in the neighbour-hood of the river Kithon, the inhabitants of which refused to assist Barak against the army of Jabin. At the direction of an angel, Deborah and Barak denounced a grievous curse upon them, Judg. v. 23.; but what effect it had, and whether this be the Merrus of Eusebius and Frome, about 12 miles north from Sebaste, we know not.

Merome, Judg. v. 18.

ATASHA; a place where the posterity of Joktan had their west border. Calmet will have it to be mount Massin Armenia; but as all the oriental writers agree, that Joktan's posterior rity peopled Arabia the Happy, wa cannot believe him. We must therefore feek Mesha in the west parts of Arabia. But whether it was Muza, a fea-port town on the Red sea, or the famed Mecca, to which multitudes of Mahometans now travel in prarimage, and which was anciently called Mesha, we cannot determine, Gen. x. 30.

Mesha; the king of Moab. ter the death of Ahab, he revolted from the yoke of the ten tribes, and denied his yearly tribute of 100,000 lambs, and as many rams, with the Provoked herewith, Joram king of Ifrael, affifted by the Jews and Edomites, invaded his kingdom, and routed his army, before they could put themselves into battle-array. Mesha thut up himfelf in Ar his capital, and finding that he could not decoy the king of Edom, nor break through his troops, whom he reckoned the weakeft of the befiegers, he, filled with rage against the Israelites, took his eldest fon and heir to the crown, and offered him for a burnt-facrifice on the wall, as the last and most effectual means to procure the favour and affiftance of his idol-god. The enemy feeing this token of his desperation, went home with their booty. Whether it was this outrageous king who afterward invaded the land of Edom, and having apprehended the king of it, dead or alive, burnt his body to lime, is not altogether certain, 2 Kings ii. iii. Amos ii. 1.

MESHECH; the 6th fon of Japheth. We suppose him the father of the Moscheni, who inhabited the Moschic mountains on the north-east of Cappadocia; and that the Muscovites are partly his detection. Before the Chaldean conquests, the Moscheni traded with the Tyrians, in vessels of brass and in slaves. But whether they brought them by land, or whether the Tyrians failed up to the Euxine or Black sea, and got them there, we know not, Ezek. xxvii. 13. The Meschet-Tubal, and their multitude, whose graves were round about their prince, we suppose were those Scythians that were massacred in Media about the end of Josiah's reign, or perhaps also the Gauls and Scythians cut off by the kings of Lydia, Ezek. xxxii. 26. Meshech's posterity will assist the Turks against the Jews at the beginning of the Millennium; but shall perish in their attempt, Ezek. xxxviii. 23. xxxix. 1.

MES [149] MES

MESOPOTAMIA; a famous province between the rivers Tigris and Euphrates. The Hebrews called it Padan-aram, or the field of Aram; and the north-west of it, if not the whole of it, was called Aram-naharaim, or Syria of the two rivers. Taking this country at large, it was the first residence of mankind, both before and after the flood. Here were Eden, Shinar, Babylon. Here Abraham, Nahor, Sarah, Rebekah, Leah, Rachel, and all the children of Jacob, fave Benjamin, were born, Acts vii. 2. Gen. xi. 31. xxix. xxx. Neh. ix. 7. From this country came Balaam to curfe Ifrael, Deut. xxiii. 4. Cushanrishathaim, who was the first oppressor of the Hebrews after their settlement, reigned, Judg. iii. 8. Great numbers of the Syrians of Melopotamia affished the Ammonites against David; and it feems terrified his troops, if they did not gain fome victory over them, which occasioned his penning of the 60th Pialm. In after-times, Mefopotamia was reduced by the Affyrians, and afterwards by the Chaldeans. After these, it fell under the voke of the Perfians, Greeks, Romans, Parthians, Saracens, Seljukian Turks, Tartars, Turkmans, and Ottoman Turks in their turn. No place, that I know of, in the universe, has been more deluged with human blood. According to Ptolemy, it anciently contained 20 cities on the east bank of the Euphrates, 14 on the west bank of the Tigris, and 35 in the inland country. At prefent, after Chaldea is added to it, it contains no places of note that wi know of, fave Karahmet, Rakka, Meuful, Orfa, Nifibia, Dir, Gezir, Merdin, Amad, Carafara, Felujah, and Kornah .-- Great numbers of low remained in this country, after Cyrus gave them liberty to return to their own land. Many of the Mefopetamian Jews attended Peter's fermon at Pentecoil, and believed on Christ. Christianity has never fince been wholly extirpated from the country, Acts ii. 9.

MESSAGE. The meffage from God to Eglon by Ehud, was a divinely-appointed death, Judg. iii. 20. The Jewish citizens of our Saviour fent a meffage after him, that they would not have him to reign over them; after his afcention, they openly and contemptuously rejected his person, office, grace, and law, Luke xix. 14. .

MESSENGER; one fent on au errand, to carry a meffage or the like. Christ is called the meffenger of the covenant. In his Father's name he came to fulfil the condition of the new covenant, and to publish and apply its contents to men by his word and Spirit. Mal. iii. 1. Job xxxiii. 23. John Baptilt, and other prophets and teachers, are Christ's messengers; they were fent by God to declare his will, and publish the approach of his Son into our world, and into his public ministry, or into mens hearts, Mal. iii. 1. ii. 7. Miniflers are meffengers of the churches; they bring messages from God for the salvation of men; they act in the church's work and errands; and by them the churches, as it were, return answer to. or prefent their requells before God, 2 Cor. viii. 23. Angels, Affyrians, or other inflruments of God's wrath, who quickly execute his just judgements, are facift meffengers, It. xvin. 2. The meffengers of the nations, to be informed that the Lord had founded Zion, are those who came from the Heathen around, to inquire concerning Hezekiah's marvallous recovery, the going back of the fun, and the overthrow of Sennacherib's host, If. xiv. 32. Satan, and the judgements of God, are the evil and eruel meffenger, fent against men obstinately wicked, or the unmerciful officer who carries him to prifon, or takes away his lif , Pfal. lynvill. + 49. Prov. xvii. 11. Evil angels, outrageons men, horrid temptations, fore afflictions, strongly-excited corruptions, are the meffingers of Satan, 2 Cor. xii. 7. The king's wrath is a meffenger of death; it threatens death or ruin to the objects of it, and has fometimes frighted perfons out of their life, Prov. xvi. 14.

MESS; a share of meat at table,

Gen. xliii. 34.

MESSIAH. See CHAIST; JEWS. METHEG-AMMAII, was either Gath, or fome other city near it, by which, as a bridle of bondage, the Philiftines were enabled to keep the Hebrews of the country adjacent in flavery. David took it from the Philiftines, 2 Sam. viii. 1.

MICAH; an Ephraimite of mount Ephraim, near Shiloh, the fon of a rich, but fuperstitious widow. ftole from her 1100 shekels of filver, or about L. 125, 10s. Sterling. She pronounced the heaviest curses against the thief who had stolen her money. fraid of her curfes, or unwilling to have her living in fo bad humour, Micah told her that he had taken her money, or had recovered it. Overloyed with the news of her money, she blessed him, and bade him keep it to himfelf; he however restored it. She told him, it had been dedicated to the fervice of God, to make images of it, for their family-worship. The images, one graven and another molten, were made, and an ephod for their idolatrous prieft: Micah placed them in a chamber, and confecrated one of his fons to be their prieft. As Jonathan the fon of Gershom, the son of Manasseh or Mofes, a vagrant Levite, paffed that way, Micah imagined it would be more lucky to have him his prieft, and more effectual to procure the bleffing of heaven upon the family, and hired him, at the low rate of his victuals, a fuit of cloaths, and 10 shekels, or 22 s. 10 d. 2-year. Ab bow base are abandoned clergymen! Soon after he gave Micah the flip, and carrying his idols with him, went along with 600 Danites to Poor Micah, almost out of his wits with grief for the lofs of his deity, affembled his neighbours, and overtaking the Danites, complained that they had rendered him superlatively wretched, by carrying off his gods. They were so far from pitying him, that they threatened his life, unless he made quickly off with himself and his attendants, Judg. xvii. xviii.

MICAH, the Morasthite, or inhabitant of Moresheth near Gath, one of the leffer prophets, was contemporary with Isaiah, has a somewhat similar style, and even fundry of his expresfions, If. i. 1. ii. 1.-4. xli. 15. Mic. i. 1. iv. 1 .-- 4. 13. He continued prophefying about 50 years, in the reigns of Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, and feems to have had a plentiful share of contempt and affliction, Mic. i. 1. vii. 1.—10. In the first three chapters of his prophecy, he exclaims against the wickedness of the ten tribes, but chiefly of the rulers, priefts, and false prophets of Judah; foretels the Affyrian invasion, and the destruction of the city and temple of Jerufalem, by the Chaldeans and Romans. In the 4th and 5th, he foretels their deliverance from the Affyrian and Chaldean captivity, and their after-flourishing estate, but chiefly the birth of the Messiah, his fpread of the gospel, and spiritual conquest of the nations to himself, and the fpiritual peace and prosperity of the New-Testament church. In the two last, he reproves Israel and Judah for their ingratitude, their oppression, fraud, lying, continued observance of the idolatrous laws of Omri and Ahab: and for their want of natural affection, and their treachery, and mocking of the pious; he predicts the Assyrian ravages and ruin; remarks the aftonishing mercy and faithfulness of God; and concludes with a prediction of God's re-establishment of the Jews, as in the days of old.

MICAIAH, the fon of Imlah, an Ephraimite, a faithful prophet, who used to reprove Ahab very freely for his wickedness. Whether it was he who foretold to Ahab his repeated victories over the Syrians, we know not: but we suppose it was he who in difguise met Ahab as he returned from Aphek to Samaria. He had just before,

MIC 151 MIC

before, in the name of the Lord, de- returning from the war without a king fired his neighbour to fmite him: his neighbour declined it; and, as the prophet declared, a lion foon after met him and killed him. The prophet bade another who came by fmite him; the fellow did fo, and wounded him. The prophet then looking like a wounded foldier, covered himfelf with ashes, as one come from a hot battle. When Ahab came up, he, in his difguife, called out to him, and ftopped him. He parabolically reprefented, that having been at the battle, one had committed to him a prisoner to be kept under pain of death, or of paying a talent of filver, and that while he was busied in other matters, the prisoner had escaped. Ahab told him, he must stand to the agreement, and underly the penalty. The prophet immediately undifguifed himfelf, and Ahab knew who he was. told Ahab, that fince he had fuffered to escape, with life and honour, Benhadad, a vile blatphemer, whom God had providentially delivered into his hands, his life, and that of his fubjects, fhould go for that of Benhadad and his people, I Kings xx. When Ahab intended to take Ramoth-gilead from the Syrians, he, not willingly, but to gratify Jehoshaphat his ally, fent for Micaiah, who he faid always prophefied evil concerning him, that he might confult him, whether he should go besiege Ramoth-gilead or not. As Micaiah was introduced to the king's presence, some courtiers told him, how the prophets of Baal had unanimously affured the king of fuccess in the war, and begged he would do fo too. He told them, he would fay what the Lord directed him. When he was come into Ahab's prefence, and interrogated on the affair, he, with an ironical air, bid him go up to Ramoth-gilead, and expect the Lord would deliver it into his hand. Ahab observing his ridiculous manner of pronunciation, adjured him by God to tell him nothing but the truth. Micaiah then feriously told him, that in a vision he had seen the army of Israel to head them, and had it reprefented to him, that God had permitted Satan, as a lying spirit, to enter into his prophets of Baal, that they might entice him to go up and fall at Ramoth-gilead. Zedekiah the fon of Chenaanah, who had made himfelf horns of iron, and told Ahab, that with these he should push the Syrians till he had confumed them, fmote Micaiah on the cheek, and asked him, Which way the spirit of the Lord had come from him to fpeak with him? Micaiah replied, he would know that, when, for fear of the Syrians, he would run into an inner chamber to hide himfelf. Ahab then ordered Micaiah to be carried to the prison of Samaria, and there maintained on bread and water till he returned in peace. Micaiah took all the affembly to witness, that if ever Ahab returned fafe, himfelf should be held as a false prophet. But the event fully justified his prediction, I Kings xxii. 7.--28. · · · ·

MICHAEL, the archangel, at least fometimes, fignifies Jesus Christ. He is the person who is as God, and which this name fignifies: against him and his angels, his ministers and followers, the devil, and the heathen empire of Rome, and their agents, fought in the way of reproach, laws, perfecutions, &c. Rev. xii. 7. He is the great Prince of the Jewish nation, who, in the Millennium, shall recover them from their prefent mifery, and shall raife the dead, Dan. xii. 1. 2. 3. But, perhaps, when Michael is called one of the chief princes, i. e. principal angels, or is faid to difpute with the devil about the body of Mofes, and durst not, that is, thought it not becoming his dignity to bring a railing accutation against the devil, but rebuked him in the name of the Lord, it may fignify a created angel, Dan. x. 13. Jude 9.

MICHAL, the daughter of Saul. Her father, after his deceitful dispofal of Merab, her elder fister, to Adriel the Mcholathite, when she ought to have been given to David, being informed.

MIC 152 MID

informed, that Michal had a strong affection to David, promifed her to him in marriage; but in order to ruin him, required an hundred foreskins of the Philistines as her dowry. Two hundred were given, and Michal was married. Not long after, her father defigning to murder David in her house, she got notice of it, and let him down from a window in the night. and begged him to escape for his life. To amuse her father's messengers, The put an image and teraphin, which it feems the kept for her private idolatries, and laid it in the bed, with a pillow of goats-hair for the bolter, and pretended it was David lying fick. When next morning, new meffengers came to apprehend David, fick as he was thought, the bed was fearched, and the trick discovered. Michal pretended to her father, that David threatened to kill her, if she did not thus affift him to make his escape, I Sam. xix. 11.-17. Not many years after, when David was in a ftate of exile, Saul married Michal to Phalti or Phaltiel the fon of Laish, a Benfamite of Gallim, 1 Sam. xxv. 44. When about eight or nine years after, Abner proposed to render David king of all Ifrael, David required the restoration of Michal his wife, as one of the preliminaries of any fuch treaty. Ishboshetli her brother sent her on David's demand. Phalti her last, but adulterous husband, to whom perhaps the had children, attended her weeping, till they came to Bahurim, where Abner ordered him back. Her upbraiding of David with his joyful attendance of the ark to Jerufalem, as if too base for one of his station, was divinely punished with her perpetual barrenness; but it feems she took and educated the five children which her fifter Merab bore to Adriel: or Michal is put for the fifter of Michal. 2 Sam. iii. 12.-16. vi. 16.-23. xxi.

MICHMASH; a city of the Benjamites, about nine miles north-east of Jerusalem, and perhaps four south-east of Bethel. Here the huge host of the Philistines encamped; and near to it was a high rock, with two fharp fides, or two sharp rocks, viz. Seneh and Bozez, the one fronting Michmash on the north, and the other Gibeah on the fouth; one of which Jonathan and his armour-bearer climbed up, and began the rout of the Philistines army: here too was a strait passage, 1 Sam. xiii. 5. 23. xiv. 1.—16. Here Sennacherib laid up his heavy carriages and provision, and perhaps mustered his army, when he invaded Judea, If. x. 28. Michmash was rebuilt after the captivity, Neh. xi. 37.; and was a village of fome note about A.D.

400.

MIDIAN, the 4th fon of Abraham by Keturah, and father of the Midianites, who inhabited the land of Midian, Gen. xxv. 2. In fcripture, two different places are reprefented as the land of Midian, the one about the north-east point of the Red fea, where Abulfeda places the city of Midian or Madian, and where Jethro dwelt. These western or fouthern Midianites were also called Cufaites, because they dwelt in the country originally pertaining to Cush. They retained the true religion, when it feems to have been loft by the eastern or northern Midianites, Exod. ii. Numb. xii. 1. The northern Midianites dwelt on the east of the Dead fea, and were neighbours to the The Midianites confifted Moabites. of five principal tribes, descended from Ephah, Epher, Hanoch, Abidah, and Eldaah, each of which feem to have had their own kings. Very early the Midianites applied themselves to traffic, particularly to Egypt, in spices, balm, and the like; fome of them were concerned in the buying and felling of Joseph into Egypt; and it seems, fome ages after, they had a war with the Edomites under King Hadad, Gen. xxv. 2. 4. xxxvii. 28. 36. xxxvi. The Midianites were mightily alarmed at the Hebrews passage through the Red sea, and the marvellous appearances on Sinai, and in the wilderness, Hab. iii. 7. Possibly the most of the fouthern Midianites removed from the Red fea on that occasion, and fettled with their brethren on the borders of Moab. It feems, Sihon had conquered their country; for their five kings are called dukes of Sihon, Josh. xiii. 21. Some of the clders of Midian attended those of Moab, to bring Balaam to curfe Ifrael. At his advice, a multitude of the Midianitish women poured themselves into the Hebrew camp, which was at Abel-Ihittim, on their north border, and enticed the I sebrews to whoredom and idolatry. This brought a plague from the Lord upon the Hebrews, in which 24,000 were cut off. To revenge this, the Lord directed Mofes to fend 12,000 Hebrews into the country of Midian, and cut off every body they could find, virgins except-The Hebrews did fo, and killed Evi, Rekem, Zur, Hur, and Reba, kings of Midian, together with Balaam, and multitudes more. They burnt their cities, and carried off a rich booty of 32,000 virgins, 675,000 sheep, 72,000 beeves, 61,000 asses, which were equally divided betwixt the 12,000 warriors and the rest of the Hebrews. The 50th part of the congregation's half, and the 500th part of the warriors half, was afligned to the Lord, Numb. xxii. xxv. xxxi. Josh. xiii. Some ages after, the Midianites who had escaped this destruction were mightily increased, and for feven years grievously oppresfed the Hebrews; but were at last miraculously routed by Gideon, and their kings Oreb and Zeeb, Zebah and Zalmunnah, with about 135,000, fell by the fword, Judg. vi. vii. viii. If. ix. 4. x. 26. Pial. lxxxiii. 9 .- 12. The fmall remains of the Midianites feem to have incorporated with the Moabites and Arabians. Some of their descendants, or the inhabitants of their tountry, did, in the apostolic age, and shall in the Millennium, embrace the Christian faith, Is. lx. 6.

wildernefs,

MID MIL 153

MIDST; (1.) In the inmost part, which is equally distant from both extremities, Numb.xxxv. 5. Ezek. xlviii. 15. (2.) Among, Deut. xviii. 15. Mark x. 16. (3.) The thickest throng, Luke iv. 30. (4.) The most convenient place, Deut. xix. 2. God walked in the midst of the Hebrew camp; his tabernacle was fettled and carried about in the midst of them, Deut. xxiii. 14. He is in the midst of his church, and Jefus in the midst of the golden candletticks: he is among them by his ordinances, he is in their heart by faith, and is equally near to, prefent with, and ready to help the churches, and their true members, Zeph. iii. 17. Rev. i. 13. Chrift is in the midft of the throne: he is the middle perfon in the adorable Trinity: he is the Mediator between God and men: he is equally accessible by all finners that come to him, or are worshippers of him; and is infallibly established in his glory and exaltation, Rev. vii. 17.

MIGDOL, or Magdolum; a place near the north-west point of the Red fea, and not far from Sin. On the east or south-east of it, the Hebrews encamped before they paffed through the sea, Exod. xiv. 2. Here Johanan the fon of Kareah, and his rebellious Jews, took up their refidence, Jer. xliv. 1. The ravage of Egypt from Migdol to Syene, imported a ravage of the whole country, by the Chaldeans and Persians in their turn, Ezek. xxix. 10.

MIGHTILY; (1.) Greatly, Deut. vi. 3. (2.) With great force,

Rev. xviii. 2.

MIGHTY; (1.) Of great power and activity, Jer. ix. 23. (2.) Very great and a gravated, Amos v. 12. MILCOM. See Molech.

MILDEW; a fatty juice, which falls on grass, corns, and leaves, in the form of dew, and when dried on them by the heat of the fun, hinders them to spread themselves, but they shrink and foon wither. Shaking of the leaves, corns, or grafs, just after it falls, be o e it be dried, may do some good; Lu the only effectual cure is wind and rain quickly after, which at once wash and shake it off, Deut. xxviii. 22. Amos iv. 9. Hag. ii. 17.

MIL [154] MIL

MILE. The ancient Hebrews had no miles, furlongs, or feet, in their reckonings of measure, but measured by cubits, reeds, and lines, Ezek. xl. -xlviii. The Greeks measured by stadia, or furlongs. The Romans meafured by miles, each of which was equal to eight of the Greek furlongs, and contained 5000 feet. The miles of the modern nations are very differ-Reckoning by the Roman or Rhinland foot, which is very near four tenth-parts of an inch lefs than ours, or is to ours as 967 is to 1000, the Russian mile consists of 3750 feet, the Italian of 5000, the English of 5454, the Scotch of 6130, the French mile, or league, of 15,750; the mile of Burgundy, of 18,000; the Lithuanian, of 18,500; the Persian mile, or parafanga, of 18,750; the Polish mile, of 19,850; the Flandrian, of 20,000; the German, of 20,000, 22,500, or 25,000; the Spanish, of 21,270; the Dutch, of 24,000; the Egyptian of 25,000 feet .- We may observe, that the Italian mile contains but 4835 English feet; the English mile 5280; the Scottish, 5920. Travellers into the east often count their way by hours, one of which is about a French league, or rather lefs.

MILETUS, or MILETUM; a feaport city of Caria, in Leffer Afia, and the capital city of both Caria and Ionia. It is faid to have been built by Miletus, the fon of the idol god Apollo. Here were four harbours fufficient to hold all the Pertian fleet. Here was a magnificent temple of Apollo. Here Thales and Anaximenes, the famed philosophers, were born, and Timotheus the famous mufician. The place was also famed for its milote, or milate, a foft kind of wool, of which they made fine carpets. The Milefians had anciently kings of their own. The Perfians ruined their city, and transplanted the inhabitants. They returned and rebuilt it; but were quickly made flaves by the Perfians. When they fell under the power of the Greeks and the Romans, they were kindly used. They anciently sent out colonies to Spain, and other places; some think, even to Ireland. It lay about 36 miles southwest of Ephesus; and here Paul sent for, and gave solemn charges to the elders of that church, Acts xx. 15.—38. For about 300 years after Christ, we find no marks of a church at Miletus; but in the 5th, 6th, 7th, and 8th centuries of the Christian æra, there were bishops in this place. Since the Saracens ravaged these parts, it has gone to ruin, that nothing is to be seen but rubbish, and a few cottages for shepherds.

MILK is a well-known fubstance, in the dugs of females, for the nourishment of their young; and has sometimes been produced in males. It confifts of three different substances, whence butter, cheefe, and whey are formed. To the corruption of milk in the stomachs of infants, are owing most of their diseases. The milk of goats, affes, mares, and cows, is often used as a medicine in consumptive cases: but where the juices of the stomach are sharp and sourish, milk isreadily turned into curd, and hurts the health. A land flowing with milk and honey, is one abounding with these, and other delightful provision, Josh. v. 6. To milk are compared, (1.) The foul-nourishing, restoring, and comforting bleffings of redemption, If. lv. 1. (2.) The pure word of God, cipecially the more eafy and plain truths of the gospel, whereby the faints, even in their fpiritual infancy and weakness, are delighted, nourished, healed, and restored, I Pet. ii. 1. (3.) Edifying converse on gofpel truth, which mightily delights and refreihes the proper hearers thereof, Song iv. 11. See WINE.

MILL; MILLSTONE. See GRIND-MILLET; a coarfe kind of grain, which was given to beafts, and little used by riea, except in times of great searcity: but whether the DOHHAN appointed of God for Ezekiel, as part of his provision, was millet, we dare not determine, Ezek. iv. 9.

MILLO;

MIL MIN 155

MILLO; a noted person, or a place near Shechem, whose family, or inhabitants, affifted the Shechemites in making Abimelech king; and were ruined by him at last, Judg. ix. 6. 20. (2.) A place in Jerufalem, adjacent to the city of David; but whether it was a citadel between the city of David and old Jebus, or if it was the filling up of the valley between the two, we know not. David began to build about Millo, and gave the command of the place to Joab, 2 Sam. v. 9. I Chron. xi. 8. At great expense, Solomon carried on the buildings of Millo; and perhaps here was erected the palace for Pharaoh's daughter. This building occasioned some disgust to Jeroboam the fon of Nebat, I Kings ix. 15. 4. xi. 27. King Joafh was murdered in the house of Millo, in the going down to the Silla, or causey, that led to the palace, 2 Kings xii. 20.

MILLION; a thousand thousand,

Gen. xii v. 60.

MINGE; to walk nicely, If. iii. 16. MIND, properly fignifies the conceiving, judging, and reasoning power of the soul; but it is also put for, (1.) The heart, or foul in general, Gen. xxvi. 35. (2.) The will and affection; and hence we read of readiness of min.', t Pet. v. 2. Acts xvii. II. (3.) The memory, which retains what passes in, or is adverted to, by our understanding, Pfal. xxxi. 12. If. xlvi. 8. (4.) The implanted habit, or principle of grace in the foul. which rules the understanding, and other powers thereof, Rom. vii. 23. 25. (5.) The thoughts and fentiments formed in the understanding, Judg. xix. 30. If. xxvi. 3. God is of one mind, his thoughts and purpofes are ever the fame, Job xxiii. 13. None knows his mind; that is, his purpofes are unfearchable to creatures, Rom. xi. 34. What carnal man bath known the mind of the Lord, his countels, and the mysteries of our redemption, that he may instruct the spiritual man? but spiritual men have the mind of Christ, are experimentally acquainted with the mysteries of the gospel, I Cor. ii. 16.

To have the fame mind that was in Christ Fesus, is to have like views of created enjoyments, like humility and low ites of disposition, and the like inciliation to faffer rather than fin, like love to fouls, and like contentment to obtain glory through fuffering, Phil. ii. 5. A Spiritual mind, is one that is renewed by the Holy Ghost dwelling in it, and which chiefly thinks of, and delights in divine and fpiritual things, Rom. viii. 6. found mind, is one endued with the faving knowledge of God in Christ, and the things which concern our everlasting peace, I Tim. i. 7. A pure mind, is one cleanfed by the blood of Christ, and filled with his Spirit and grace, 2 Pet. iii. 1. A fervent mind, or ready mind, is one filled with strong and lively affection, 1 Pet. v. 2. fober mind, is one humble, and averfe to all vanity or intemperance, Tit. ii. 6. A right mind, is one capable of exercifing reason, without any delirium, Mark v. 15. To have the fame mind, or be of one mind, is to agree in sentiment and affection, I Pet. iii. 8. Rom. xii. 16. 1 Cor. i. 10. A feeble mind, is one of small underflanding, and ready to despond at every hardship, felt or feared, I Thest. v. 14. A carnal, flefbly, or defiled mind, is one wherein fin reigns, and attaches it to vile and earthly thoughts, defires, and delights, Rom. viii. 7. C.J. ii. 18. Tit. i. 15. A corrupt mind, is one full of errors and finful inclinations, 2 Tim. iii. 8. A double mind, is one inconstant, and even felf-inconsistent in thoughts, fentiments, and appearances, Jam. i. 8. A kigh mind, is one proud and felf-conceited, I Tim. vi. 17. A reprobate mind, is one given up of God, to entertain and delight in the most absurd error and implicty, Rom. i. 28. A wicked mine', is one full of malicious, or other finful ends and defigns, Prov. xxi. 27. To MIND, is to think of; purpose; care for, Rom. xii. 16. Acts xx. 13. Phil. iii. 16.

MINGLE; MIX. God mingled the Jews adverfaries, when he raifed up U 2 fundry

MIN [156] MIN

fundry at once, If. ix. + 11. His mingling the Egyptians with the Egyptians, and mingling a perverse spirit among them, imports his kindling of civil wars among them, by Pfammitichus, and his eleven rivals, and between Amasis and Pharaoh-hophra, &c. If. xix. 2. 14. The Romans mingled themselves with the feed of men, but did not cleave to them: they dwelt in the same countries with the Goths, Huns, and other invaders of the empire; but they never had an heartiness of affection, or unity of defign with them, Dan. ii. 43. Mingled people, are fuch as belonged to different tribes in their original, Jer. xxv. 20. 24. l. 37. Ezek. xxx. 5. The mixed multitude, that attended the Hebrews in their departure from Egypt, were Arabs, Egyptians, Lybians, &c. They first tempted the Hebrews to despise the manna, Numb. xi. 4. They generally either died in the wilderness, returned to Egypt, or fettled in Ara-The mixed multitude, which Nehemiali feparated from the Jews, were the Philistines, Ammonites, Moabites, and others, who had come and intermarried among them, Neh. xiii. 3 .--God's word is mixed with faith, when by faith it is received into the heart, Heb. iv. 2. God's cup of wrath is full of mixture; like strong wine, his wrath is most powerful and penetrating, and comprehends judgements unnumbered, Pfal. lxxv. 8. It is without mixture, as no mercy or comfort is mingled therewith, Rev. xiv. 10.

To MINISTER; (1.) To ferve, Exod. xxviii. 1. 4. 41. 43. (2.) To execute an office, Deut. xviii. 5. (3.) To give charitable fupply, Matth. xxv. 41. (4.) To effect; produce,

Eph. iv. 29.

MINISTER; one who attends upon, and ferves another, Exod. xxiv. 13. Jefus Christ was the minister of the circumciston, as he exercised his public ministry almost solely among the Jews, Rom. xv. 8. He is called the minister of the fanduary, and true tabernacle; he exercised his office in his holy human nature; and in heaven he still executes it, interceding for us, and pouring down bleffings on us, Heb. viii. 2. Angels are God's ministers; they attend his throne, are always ready to execute his commandments, and to help and comfort his people, Pfal. civ. 4.; and they are called ministering spirits to the elect, as they instruct, direct, guard, provide for, comfort, protect, or deliver them, as God appoints, Heb. i. 14. Apostles, evangelists, pastors, and teachers, are ministers; they attend the fervice of God and his church, and did, or do faithfully and wifely difpenfe Christ's word, facraments, and cenfures to his people, 1 Cor. iv. 1. Magistrates are God's ministers; their office is to ferve him and their country, in promoting true religion, punishing evil-doers, and in protecting and encouraging fuch as do well, Rom. xiii. 4. 6. A minister of sin, is one who encourages and affifts in committing of fin, Gal. ii. 17.

MINISTRY; (1.) The office of a minister in the church, Acts i. 17. (2.) The discharge of such an office, Hos. xii. 10. (3.) The service belonging to deacons, Rom. xii. 7. The ministry of reconciliation, is either the gospel itself, which declares, offers, and effectuates peace between God and men, or the office of preaching it,

2 Cor. v. 8.

MINISTRATION; (1.) Service in the work of any minister, Luke i. 23. (2.) Distribution of alms, Acts vi. 1. 2 Cor. ix. 13. The law of Moses was the ministration of death and condemnation. It convinces men of their being guilty of death spiritual, and condemns them to death eternal; and for many of the breaches of it did God require men to be cut off by a temporal and violent death. The gospel is the ministration of the Spirit that giveth life; it proceeds from the Holy Ghost; is confirmed and applied by him; and by means of it, he conveys life, and all spiritual graces and benefits, to the fouls of men, 2 Cor. iii. 7. 8.

MINSTREL; a mufician or piper. Perhaps the minftrel which Elisha called for, to allay his rufiled spirit with a tune, might be one of the singers of the temple, who played to him one of David's Pfalms, 2 Kings iii. 15. From minstrels playing at the death of Jairus's daughter, it seems, that the Jews had introduced the heathenish custom of diverting themselves on occasion of mortality; and which still appears in our foolish light-wakes and revelling dirges, invented no doubt by Satan, to prevent all serious thoughts of, or concern about death, that might then be excited, Matth. ix. 23.

the

MIN 1 157 | MIR

MINNI; an ancient kingdom, whose king and troops affisted the Medes and Persians to destroy Eabylon. Probably it was the same with Minias, Jer.

li. 27.

MINNITH; a city about four miles from Heshbon, on the road to Rabbah. In the days of Jephthah, Minnith pertained to the Ammonites; and to this place Jephthah pursued them, Judg. xi. 33. It was famed for its sine wheat, Ezek. xxvii. 17.

MINT; a well known herb. flower is a fingle leaf, and its feeds are at the bottom of the cup. It generally yields three crops a-year: and is very useful for the cure of the head and stomach. Its water, its oil, and decoction, are well known. Tournefort mentions 23 kinds of mint. mint grow in a glass, and a glass of falt water be fet near it, it will contract a faltishness; or if a glass full of ink be fet near it, it will become blackifh, and tafte of copperas; or if a little of the decoction of garlic-feeds be put into the water in which mint grows, it will quickly wither, and have the tafte of garlic, Matth. xxiii. 23.

MIRACLE; a wonderful effect, fuperior, or contrary to the laws of nature. To pretend, that there can be no miracles, as the laws of nature are fixed by the divine will, and fovery good, is flupidly and blafphemoufly to chain down the Almighty, as a flave to the order of fecond caufes. To pretend, that no miracles ought to be credited, becaufe they are contrary to the common observation of mankind, is flupid in a superlative degree. If miracles were not contrary to the common observation of mankind, they could be no miracles at all, nor have any effect as fuch. The negative testimony of millions unnumbered as to an event. which they are allowed to be absent from the place of, at the time of its happening, is of no force at all. Miracles are never a whit more real difcoveries of the power of God, than the common prefervation and government of things; but are an exertion of his power in an uncommon manner, to alarm the world, and answer some important end. As we are not capable to understand how far the powers of fecond causes may go, or the power of evil angels may extend, God has not allowed us to rest the proof of a revelation upon miracles alone, but to examine also the doctrine confirmed thereby, whether it be worthy of God. Nor are the miracles, whereby he has confirmed the mission of the principal publishers of his revelation, a few, or any way doubtful, but multitudes, all of the uncontrouled kind, neither wrought to confirm any thing trifling or base, nor contradicted by a superior power; and most of them in the openest manner, before friends and foes. Many of them were often repeated: they concurred to establish a system of religion, honourable to God, and unspeakably useful to men, calculated to render them happy in this, and in a future estate. the workers thereof, mark any proud boasting of these wondrous exploits. The miracles, pretended to have been wrought by Apollonius and Vefpafian, were neither evidently fuperior to the power of fecond causes, nor have we any proper evidence of the facts, but the mere report of zealous partizans, or flatterers. The miracles pretended by the Papifts, either relate to trifles, unworthy of the divine interpofal, or they have been wrought before perfons drowned in gress ignorance, and incabable to try them; or before perfons refolved at any rate to believe them. Nothing of the delufive kind, ever exceeded the exploits of the Egyptian magicians, but the miracles of Mofes controuled them; his rod, when turnMIR [158] MIS

ed into a ferpent, swallowed up their rods, which were transformed in like manner. He produced many miraculous plagues, which they could not. Our Saviour's miracles were fo tranfcendent in their nature, fo benevolent in their tendency, fo divine in the manner, by a touch or a word, fo full in their evidence, before thousands of friends and foes, and fo correspondent to the ancient prophecies concerning the Messiah, and so directed to confirm the most exalted and benevolent system of doctrines and laws, and the hiftory thereof fo plain and fimple, and expofed to the trial of his worst enemies, that nothing but want of capacity to examine and perceive them, or hearty hatred of him and his way, can hinder us to believe them, and the gospel confirmed thereby. When the form of true religion is once established in the world, there is no need of the continuance of miracles for its confirmation; as men have been already fufficiently alarmed to confider it, and the million of its publishers fufficiently attested; and the prevalence of the true religion in oppofition to the inclinations and endeavours of men, with fulfilment of prophecies, fucceed in their room. miracles of Moses were similar to his fiery law, mostly ruinous and destructive; the miracles of Jesus, like his gospel, were almost wholly of the benevolent kind.

MIRE; (1.) Mud, dirt, 2 Sam. xxii. 43. (2.) A fenny moist place, Job viii. 11. Reprobates are likened to marishes and miry places; how four and corrupting their nature! how entangling their practice! and how, notwithstanding what fair pretences they may have, they fink towards hell! Ezek. xlvii. 11. Wicked courses are likened to mire and dirt; how base and polluting! how entangling, and finking of men towards hell! and how often, after a feeming escape therefrom, do men return thereto! 2 Pet. ii. 22. Sore afflictions are likened to mire, and miry clay; how base, contemptible, and disa reeable, in the view of a carnal world, they render men! and how hard it is to get out of them, or avoid finking deeper and deeper in them! Job xxx. 19. Pfal. lxix. 2. 14.

MIRIAM, the fifter of Moses, who, at the defire of Pharaoh's daughter, called his own mother to nurse him. It is said, she was married to Hur. She directed the Hebrew women in their songs of praise, after their safe passage through the Red sea. For her railing at Moses, she was smitten with a leprosy, but cured by his prayers; and died, and was buried at Kadesh, A. M. 2552. Exod. ii. xv. 21. 22. Numb. xii. xx. 1.

MIRTH. See Joy.

MISCHIEF; hurt, injury. conceive, devife, imagine, or have mifchief in one's heart, and to practife it, is to contrive, refolve on, and put in execution, the hurting of others, Job xv. 35. Pfal. xxxvi. 4. xxviii. 3. 1 Sam. xxiii. 9. To frame mischief by a law, is to enact laws tending to mens hart and ruin, Pfal. xciv. 20. To imagine mischief agand God, is to contrive methods of diffunduring him, Hof. vii. 15. Wicked men have mifchief under their tongue, in their heart, and are in readinels to utter words tending to their own or others hurt, Pfal. x. 7. They fleep not, except they have done missbief, and caused fome to fall; they daily hurt fomebody, and are never more delighted than when fo employed, Prov. iv. 16. vi. 18. x. 23. xxiv. 2. Their mischief returns on their own head, and the mischief of their lips confumes them, when their purposes, endeavours, and speeches, designed for the hurt of others, turn to their own ruin, as happened in the cafe of Haman, Pial. vii. 16. xli. 9. Mischievous, is what tends or intends to hurt, Pfal. xxi. 11. Prov. xxiv. 8.

MISERY, is whatever tends to diftress and render one wretched, Judg. x. 16. Job's friends were miserable comforters, who, instead of comforting and encouraging him, much added to his diffress, by their uncharitable speeches, Job xvi. 2. If the dead should not be raised, gospel-ministers and faints would be of all men the most miserable; as through their endeavours to follow and serve Christ, they are deprived of many pleasures of this life, and exposed to the hatred and persecution of men, I Cor. xv. 19.

MIS 1 159 MIZ

MISREPHOTH-MAIM, or the burnings of waters, was either hot baths, or a glafs-work, near Zidon, or rather hot baths in the north of Gilead. To this place Joshua's troops pursued that part of Jabin's army that sled to the westward, Josh. xi. 8.

MISS; (1.) To fail of hitting an intended mark, Judg. xx. 16. (2.) To be wanting, 1 Sam. xxv. 15. (3.) To take notice of one's absence, 1 Sam.

xx. 18.

MIST; (1.) A moist duskiness of the air, that waters and refreshes the earth; it chiefly hovers over hills and moist places, Gen. ii. 6. (2.) A dusky blindness, Acts xiii. 11. Eternal mifery is the mist of darkness! how perplexing and uncomfortable! and how impossible to get out of it! 2 Pet. ii. 17.

MISTRESS. Nineveh was a miftrefs of witchcraft, that fold nations through her whoredoms and witchcrafts. The Affyrians were famed for inchantments and other diabolic arts, and by their flattery, carnal policy, and charms of wealth and luxury, decoyed nations into flavery and idolatry, Nah. iii. 4.

MISUSE; to contemn, perfecute, murder, 2 Chron. iii. 16.

MITE. See FARTHING. But fome make the mite much less than we have there done, and 14 of them are reckoned at little more than a farthing, and one fourth of a farthing of English money, Mark xii. 16.

MITRE. See BONNET.

MITYLENE; the capital city of the island of Lesbos, in the east end of the Mediterranean sea, and about seven or eight miles from the continent of Lesser Asia. It was handsome in its form and buildings, but unwholesome as to the air, when the fouth or southwest winds blew. It was famous for the birth of Pittacus the wise Grecian, Theophanes the historian, Alexeus the poet, and Diophanes the rheterician.

Paul touched here as he failed from Corinth to Jerusalem, Acts xx. 14.; but we find no appearance of a Christian church, except in the 5th, 6th, 7th, and 8th centuries. It is now a place of little or no consequence.

MIX. See Mingle.

MIZPAH, or MIZPEH; (1.) A city of Judah, about 18 miles west of Jerufalem, in the large plain, Joth. xv. 38.; but it feems to have been given to the Benjamites, Josh. xviii. 26.; or perhaps that of Benjamin was a different place. Here the Hebrews held their meeting about the affair of the Levite's concubine, who was bafely murdered by the men of Gibeah, Judg. xx. 1. Here Samuel dwelt, and the Hebrews under his direction observed a folemn fast, to obtain deliverance from the Philistines, I Sam. vii. 5. 6. Here Saul was anointed to be king, I Sam. x. 17. Afa built a great part of it with the stones he transported from Ramah, 1 Kings xv. 22. Gedaliah dwelt, and for a short time ruled the remnant of the Jews, Jer. xl. Ezer and Shallum, rulers, and some other inhabitants of this place, were very active in repairing the wall of Jerufalem, under the direction of Nehemiah, Neh. iii. 7. 15. 19. (2.) A city in the mountains of Gilead, and near mount Hermon; the place was fo called, because here Jacob, having made a covenant with Laban, wished the Lord might watch between them, that the one might never pass it to hurt the other, Gen. xxxi. 49. Thus far, it feems, Joshua's troops purfued such of Jabin's army as fled to the castward, Josh. xi. 3. 8. Here was the city in which Jephthah dwelt, and where he mustered his army against the Ammonites, Judg. xi. 3. 11. 29. 34. Whether this be the Mezpeh of Moab, where David for a while fojourned, I cannot certainly fay: but I rather think Mizpeh of Moab was farther fouth, as I know not how the Moabites could have come by Mizpeh of Gilead; though otherwife this fituation would fuit very well with his being in the land of the Hermonites, and near the hill Mizaz, which which stood near Hermon, if it was not a part of it, I Sam. xxii. 3. Psal. xiii. 6.

MIZ [160] MOA

MIZRAIM, or Mezer, the fon of Ham, and father of Ludim, Anamim, Lehabim, Naphtuhim, Pathrusim, and Cassuhim, from which last sprung the Philistines and Caphtorim. These deicendants of his, and the tribes called from their names, had no doubt their original refidence in Egypt; but fome of them moved towards the west; and as Cassuhim feems to have dwelt in the east of Egypt, his posterity partly fettled in the fouth-west of Canaan. Some learned men have imagined, that these names ending in im, a plural termination in the Hebrew, must fignify tribes, not particular persons; but we know not of fufficient reasons to support this inference, Gen. x. 6. 13. 14. The Arabs still call Egypt Mefr; and they called Memphis, and now call Grand Cairo, Mesr, from Misraim.

MOAB, the fon of Lor, by his eldest daughter, was born about the fame time as Ifaac, in A. M. 2108. He and his posterity dwelt in the land called by his name, eastward of the Dead fea, and about the river Arnon, with the Ammonites on the north-east. and the Midianites on the fouth-west of them. They expelled the Emims, and feized on their country. They had not been long a nation, when they became idolaters, and worshipped Chemosh and Baal-peor, Numb. xxi. 29. xxv. 1. 3. Sihon king of the Amorites, took from them all their territory northward of the river Arnon. Not long after, Balak the fon of Zippor was king of Moab. He, but in vain, hired Balaam to curse the Hebrews, who encamped on his borders, Numb. xxi.—xxiv. To revenge this, no Moabite or Ammonite were allowed to enter the Hebrew congregation of the Lord, to their 10th generation, Deut. xxii. 3.—6. About A. M. 2661, the Moabites under Eglon reduced the Hebrews under their yoke, and mightily oppreffed them for 18 years; but Ehud killed their king, and his troops killed 10,000 of the most valiant Moabites, and recovered to the Hebrews their liberty, Judg. iii. - Some time after, Elimelech and Naomi, on account of a famine, left Canaan, and sojourned in the land of Moab; his fons Mahlon and Chilion married two Moabitish women, fome fay of the royal family, Ruth i. Saul fuccefsfully waged war with the Moabites, I Sam. xiv. 47. When David was perfecuted by Saul, he fled to the land of Moab, whence Ruth his great-grandmother had come, and committed his parents to the protection of the king of Moab, I Sam. xxii. 3. 4. Provoked with the Moabites, perhaps for the murder of his parents, David, about 12 years after, terribly ravaged their country, and reduced them to the basest servitude; fuch of them, at least of the foldiery, as he took prifoners, he caused lie or fland close together, and measuring over them with lines, to mark them for death or life, he killed the half, if not two thirds of them, 2 Sam. viii. 1. 2. Pfal. lx. 8. For about 150 years, they continued subject to Israel, and Saraph a Jew was one of their governors, and one Ithmah a Moabite was one of David's mighties, I Chron. iv. 22. xi. 46. Solomon married fome Moabitish women, and established the worship of Chemosh their idol at Jerufalem, 1 Kings xi. 1. 7. 33. After the division of the Hebrew kingdom, the Moabites fell to the share of the ten tribes, as their territories were contiguous to the Reubenites; but after the death of Ahab, Mesha their king, a noted theep-mafter, refused to pay his tribute. This occasioned a terrible defeat of the Moabites, by Joram king of Ifrael, and his allies, and a furious ravage of their country, 2 Kings iii. Not long after, or perhaps before, they entered into a league with the Edomites, Amalekites, Ishmaelites, Philiftines, Ammonites, Hagarenes, Athurites, Gebalites, and Tyrians, to destroy the whole race of Ifrael; but their army that came against Jehoshaphat was miraculously destroyed, 2 Chron. xx. Pfal. lxxxiii. Some time after, the Moabites feem to have invaded the land of Edom, and burnt the bones of the king of it into lime, Amos ii. 1. About the time of Elisha's death, straggling bands of the Moabites ravaged the country of the ten tribes, 2 Kings xiii. 20. During the decline of the kingdom of the ten tribes, or after their begun captivity by Tiglath-pilefer, the Moabites feized on a great part of what pertained to the Reubenites, if not more of the land of Gilead. The Affyrians, under Shalmanefer, ravaged their country, and rendered it almost defolate, If. xv. xvi. xxv. 10. Amos ii. 1. 2. They however recovered this shock, and again became a slourishing nation. Their principal cities were, Nebo, Kirjathaim, Kir, Mifgab, Helhbon, Madmen, Horonaim, Ar, Dibon, Aroer, Diblath or Beth-diblathaim, Holon, Jahazah, Mephaath, Beth gamul, Beth meon, Kerioth, Bozrah, Medeba, Elealeh, Jazer, and Sibmah, the most of which had once pertained to the Hebrews .- It feems they early fided with the Chaldeans, and bands of them haraffed the Jews under Jehoiakim; but as they formed a league with Zedekiah, for shaking off the Chaldean yoke, Nebuchadnezzar, about 4 or 5 years after he had destroyed Jerufalem, invaded their country, and reduced it to an almost defert, and carried multitudes of them captive into his eastern dominions, 2 Kings xxiv. 2. Jer. xlviii. q. 26. xxv. 21. Ezek. xxv. Zeph. ii. 8. I find no evidence that ever they much recovered this overthrow. Some of their women were married to the Jews, who had come back to their own land, and were put away by Nehemiah's orders, Neh. xiii. 23. The poor remains of them were fubject to the Perfians and Greeks, in their turns, and to the Jews under Alexander, Janucus, and Horod, and finally to the Romans. Long ago their name is loft, as they incorporated with the Jews or Arabians, and their country is almost quite defolate, and is not properly subject to the Turks, but to the wild Arabs of Hejaz, Zeph. ii. 8, 9, 10. If. xxv. 10. xi. 14. Dan. xi. 41.; but in If. xxv. 10. Moab may Vol. II.

MOA [161] MOI

be understood of the enemies of the church in general.

MOCK; (1.) To deride; fcoff; largh at, 2 Chron. xxxvi. 16. (2.) Merrily to make a jest; for fools make a mock at fin, Prov. xiv. 9. (3.) To dictive one with words, Judg. xvi. 10. 13. (4.) To ravish or abuse a woman, Gen. nxnix. 17. God mocks at mens fear, when, without picy, he brings his fearful strokes of judgement upon them, Prov. i. 26. God is not mocked; he will not b. deceived or jelled with. If men live in tin, they thall certainly be for ever punished, Gal. vi. 7. Men mock God, when in words or behaviour they jest at his being, his purpofes, words, works, ordinances, ministers, or people, Job xiii. q. Wine is a mocker, and strong drink is raging: it, if drunk to excess, deceives men, and renders them dishonoured. unhappy, and outrageous, Prov. xx. 1.

Mockers, are fuch as habitually give themfelves to fooff and jeft at fpiritual and divine things, and to beguile men with deceitful words, If. xxviii. 22.

lude 18.

MODERATE; to abate; to keep in due bounds. To moderate threatening, is to reftrain it within due bounds, Eph. vi. † 9. Our moderation should be known to all men, because the Lord is at hant: we should exercise softeness and tenderness towards all men; interpret their words and behaviour in the best sense; use inseriors with kindness and respect; and bear injuries, because the Lord observes our conduct, and will quickly judge us, and resent the injuries done us, while iv. 5.

MODEST; humble; chaite. Modest apparel, is such as becomes an humble, sober, and modest person, 1 Tim. ii. 9.

MOISTURE; sap; wetness, Luke viii. 6. My majoure is turned into the drought of fumeur; my body is parched, and its natural moithure exhausted; my foul is bereaved of prosperity, gracious influence, and comfort, by the impressions and fears of thy fatherly wrath, Pfal. xxxii. 4.

MOStater

MOL [162] MON

MOLE: a fmall four-footed animal which ferrets in the earth, hath its feet formed for digging; its eyes very fmall, and hence believed by the vulgar to be blind. It lives on roots, toads, and worms; but that the Hebrew Tin/hemeth fignifies a mole, we dare not affirm, though the Jewish rabbins, and the Chaldee paraphrases, fo interpret it. Bochart will have it a chameleon; Castalio a toad; and others a weafel. It is certain it was legally unclean, and that the fame word is translated a fwan, Lev. xi. 18. 30. To cast idols to the moles and to the bats, is to leave them to ignorant, hateful, and worldly men; or rather to throw them away with the utmost contempt, If. ii. 20.

MOMENT; a very short space of time, in comparison of eternal duration. God hides himself from, is angry with, and afflicts his people, but for a moment, Is. liv. 7. 8. Pfal. xxx. 5. 2 Cor. iv. 17. And the joy of hypocrites is but for a moment, is quickly changed into eternal forrow, Job xx. 5. A lying tongue is but for a moment, as truth will quickly be discovered to the liars shame, Prov. xii. 19.

MOLECH, Moloch, Milcom, MALCHAM; the principal idol of the Ammonites: he had the face of an ox; his hands were stretched out, as if ready to receive prefents. He was hollow within, and there the fire was placed to heat the image, that it might burn the offerings. There were feven different apartments for receiving the different oblations of meal, turtles, ewes, rams, calves, oxen, and children. It is faid the unhappy parent who offered his child to Molech, put him into the burning arms of the idol, where he expired amidst terrible pain, and while drums were beat to drown his cries. Whatever some talk of caufing children pass between two fires, in honour of this idol, it is pretty plain that the actual burning of them in facritice is intended, Pfal. cvi. 37. Ezek. The facrificed xvi. 20. xxiii. 37. 39. child was burnt in order to obtain a bleffing on the rest of the family. That Molech was derived from the Egyptians, and is the same as Rephan, Remphan, Chiun, or Serapis, and worshipped under the form of a bull, and with the Anammelech and Adrammelech, to which the inhabitants of Sepharvaim burnt their children, we believe; but whether he was the fame with Saturn, to whom human facrifices were offered, or with Mercury, or Mars, or Venus, or Mithra, or the fun, we shall not now determine. It is certain, Molech was very early worthipped among the Ammonites: and perhaps it was the crown of Molech, not of the Ammonitish king, that David took at Rabbah, and which weighed a talent, 2 Sam. xii. 30. God very early prohibited the worship of Molech to his people, Lev. xviii. 21. xx. 2. 3. 4. They, however, were often guilty of it: they carried the tabernacle of their Molech, in the worthip of the golden calf, which was a kind of reprefentation of the Egyptian Serapis, Acts vii. Solomon built a temple to Molech on the mount of Olives, I Kings xi. 7. Ahaz, Manasseh, and other Jews, burnt their children in honour to this idol, particularly in TOPHET, 2 Kings xvi. 3. xxi. 3. 4. Jer. xix. 5. 6.

MONEY. The most ancient method of trade was by barter, exchanging one thing for another: in after times the more precious metals were used as the price in merchandise. The gold and filver, however, were long weighed, not coined. Abraham weighed the four hundred shekels which he gave for his burying-place, Gen. xxiii. 15.16. Joseph was fold for 20 shekels weight of filver; and his brethren carried back to Egypt the fame weight of money that had been returned in their facks, Gen. xxxvii. 28. xliii. 21. Jeremiah weighed the feventeen shekels of filver which he gave for his coufin's field, Jer. xxxii. 10. Shekels and talents whereby money was estimated, were weights, not coins, 2 Sam. xii. 30. xiv. 26. We are not certain of any coined money in the world till about A. M. 3460, when Cræfus King of Lydia coined his Cræfi, and Darius the Mede his Daries, or

Darkmons.

MON [163] MON

Darkmons. Nor do we know of the Jews coining any till about 400 years after, when Antiochus Sidetus gave Simon the Maccabee a privilege for that purpofe. The Romans began to coin filver about A. M. 3735, and gold in A. M. 3797. The ancient Britons used rings or plates of iron for money. The Lacedemonians used bars of iron. Anciently, and in fraitening circumstances, leather, wood, pasteboard, &c. have been coined for money. To this day the Chinese do not coin, but cut and weigh their gold and sivler for trade: and in some nations they trade with shells and fruits instead of money. In the East, money is sometimes given in presents to persons of rank; and is paid by bags sealed up. Job xiv. 17.—Christ's blessings are without money and without price; altogether free, neither price, nor promise of price, being required from us, If. lv. 1.

The V	Value	and	Proporti	o' of	the	Grecian	Coins,
-------	-------	-----	----------	-------	-----	---------	--------

Lept	on or	mite							•					٥ ٢٠	d . o	$0^{\frac{1}{3}\frac{1}{4}}$
7	Chal	cos					-					•		0	0	0 3 r
1.4	2	Dich	alc	os				,	-			-		Đ	0	1 -
28	4	2	H	emi	iob	olic	n			-			·	О	0	2 7
56	8	4	2	Oł	olo	os.			-				parent	0	I	$1\frac{r}{6}$
I 1 2	16	8	4	2	Di	obo	olo	n		-		-		0	2	2 x
224	32	16	8	4	2	Те	tro	bol	on			p. compg		0	5	0%
336	48	24	I 2	6	3	I 1/2	Dr	ach	ıme			*		0	7	3
672	96	48	24	I 2	6	3	2	Die	draci	nmon	[Sta	ater	والمساق	1	3	2
1324	192	96	48	24	I 2	6	4	2	Tetr	adrac	chmo	n		2	7	0
1655	240	120	.60	30	15	7 1	5	2 1	I +	Pen	tadra	chm.		3	2	3

Note 1. Of these, the Drachm, Didrachm, &c. were of filver, the rest, for the most part, of brass; the other parts, as Tridachm, Triobolus, &c. were sometimes coined.

Note 2. I have supposed, with the generality of authors, that the Drachma and Denarius were equal, though there is reason to believe the Drachma was somewhat the weightier.

The Grecian Gold Coin was,

The golden Stater, weighing two Attic Drachms, or half	l.	5.	d.
of the filver Stater, and exchanging usually for 25 Attic }	0	16	1.75
Drachms of filver, in our money,
According to our proportion of gold to filver,	I	0	9
There were likewise the Stater Cyzicenus, exchanging for 28 Attic Drachms, or,	0	18	I Stater Philippicus, and Stater Alexandrinus, of the same value.

X. 2

Stater

$M \cap N$		164]		M O	N
(I) T) 1	, ,	,	. 1		4 . 3	1.	5.	đo
Stater Daricus, according to Drachms, or,	Joic	phus, w	orth -	50	Attic	1	12	3.5
States Combine of the fame re					,

		٠.	The Valu	ie and Pi	roportion o	of the R	oman Coi	ns :
Tera	hcius		 	-	-		-		d .	q . 0.775
2	Seml	oella		www	_		,		0	1.55
-		1	lla, As				, and and		0	3.I
10			Seftertiu							5
	5		\		1.0					3.75
20	10	!			i&oriatus		gerhann		3	3.5
40	20	10	1 2 1	Denarius	3		garina.		7	2

Note, Of these the Denarius, Victoriatus, Sestertius, and sometimes the As, were of filver, the real of brais.

There were fometimes also coined of brass, the Triens, Sextans, Uncia, Sextula, and Dupondius.

The Roman gold-coin was the Aureus, which weighed generally double the Denavius.

	1.	s. d.
The Aureus, according to the first proportion of coinage, mentioned by Pliny, Lib. xxxiii. cap. 3. was worth,	1	4 3.75
According to the proportion that obtains now amongst us, worth,	1	0 9
According to the Decuple proportion, mentioned by Livy and Julius Pollux, worth,	0	12 11
According to the proportion mentioned by Tacitus, and which afterwards obtained, whereby the Aureus exchanged for 25 Denarii, its value,	0	16 1.75

Jewish Money reduced to the English Standard.

	3	-		0
Gerah	Marketon.	Silver	Money.		l .	s. O	d. q. 1, 5 5
10	Bekah	(n-windly)	Difference	spended	0	I.	I 1 3
20	2 Shekel	philipsoning		cylended	0	2	3 3
1200	120 50 Mane	h, Mina Heb	raica	-	5	14	04
60000	6000 3000 60	Talent	-	project	342	3	9
		Cold	money.
		Gold	money.		1.	5.	d.
Solidus	Aureus or Sexti	ila, worth		-			$O_{\frac{1}{2}}$
	el of gold, worth		-	General	1	16	6
	t of gold, worth		•	State HRI	5475	0	d
	-					M (ONEY.

MON = [165]MOR

· MONEY-CHANGERS, were fuch, as, at a certain rate of profit, gave leffer pieces of money for greater, or greater for leffer, to accommodate fuch as came to the folemn featls, or other worship at Jerusalem. These Jefus twice drove from the flations which they had taken in the courts of the temple, John ii. 14. 15. XXI. 12.

MONSTERS; huge and unfhapely animals, fuch as whales, &c. Lam.

MONTH. See YEAR.

MONUMENTS. Those in which idolaters lodged, were either tombs, idol-temples, defert places, or any where with idols, or their supposed refident devils, by fleeping in which, they expected fellowship with their falfe gods, in dreams, vitions, or the like, If. lxv. 4.

MOON; a fecondary planet always attendant on our earth. Many aftronomers draw her face, as if diversified with hills, valleys, continents, and feas; but we doubt of all this, and if she has fo much as an atmosphere to produce clouds, rain, fnow, or other like meteors. The diameter of the moon is reckoned 2175 miles; her furface 14,000,000 of fquare miles; and her diffance from the earth 240,000 miles. She performs her revolution, from a fixed ftar to the fame again, in 27 days, 7 hours, 40 minutes; but as the fun is still advancing in the ecliptic circle, the time from one conjunction with the fun to another, is 20 days, 12 hours, 44 minutes, and 3 feconds. She moves about her own axis in the fame time that she moves about the earth, and hence shews always the fame face to us. The moon is of herfelf a dark body, but reflects the light of the fun to us; and perhaps our earth reflects as much light, if not more, towards the moon. When, at her change, she comes directly between us and the fun, the fun is eclipfed to us; when, at her full, the earth is directly between her and the fun, the is eclipfed to us. The moon was formed to give light in, and rule the night, and to distinguish times and seafons, Gen. i. 14. She has a mighty influence on the ebbing and flowing of the fea; and was the great marker of the time of the Jewish FEASTS. The Heathens have generally worshipped the moon, under the names of queen of heaven, Venus - Urania, Succoth - benoth, Ashtaroth, Diana, Hecate, or perhaps Meni, &c. Job xxxi. 26. 27. Deut. iv. 19. xvii. 3. The orientals regulate their journies by the moon, and fet off foon after her change. The church is likened to the moon; how comely, ufeful, and illuminating to the world in the dark night of time! how only illuminated by Jefus the Sun of righteoufness shining on her! and how changing her militant flate and condition! Song vi. 10. The world and ceremonial dispensation, are likened to the moon; both are very unfettled and changeable; and the time of the ceremonies was much ruled by the moon, Rev. xii. 1. Outward prosperity, and fubjective grace, are likened to a moon; they borrow all their glory and ufefulness from Jesus the Sun of righteoufnefs, If. lx. 20.

MORDECAI, the fon of Jair, grandfon of Kish, and descendant of the family of Saul, was carried to Babylon along with Jehoiachin king of Judah, when he was very young. he was one of the chiefs who conducted the Jews from Babylon to Judea, he must have returned to Shushan in Perfia. When Esther his cousin, whom he had trained up, was married to Ahafuerus, Mordecai waited about the palace-gate, that he might have information concerning her from time to Here having got information of Bigthan and Terifle's intention to murder the king, he informed Efther of it, and the traitors were hanged, and it was marked in the annals of the kingdom, that Mordecai had given the information against them. When Haman was made prime minifter of Perfia, all the fervants were ordered to bow the knee to him as he paffed by them. Mordecai conceiving this an approach towards divine honour, or reckoning it finful to revere an Amalekite, declined compliance. Scorning to punish Mordecai alone, Haman procured a royal edict for an universal massacre of the Jewish nation. Informed hereof, Mordecai informed Efther, and earneftly begged, she would interpose with the king for the life of her people. At her defire, Mordecai caused all the Jews in Shushan fast three days, for fuccess from God to her attempt, Neh. vii. 7. Esth. ii. 5 .- iv. Meanwhile, Providence directed to be read to Ahafuerus, one night as he could not fleep, that part of the royal annals which mentioned Mordecai's difcovery of the treacherous cunuchs. Ahafuerus finding that he had received no reward, asked Haman, who was just come to obtain the king's permission to hang Mordecai on his lofty gallows, what should be done to honour the king's great favourite? As Haman imagined it could be none other than himfelf, he proposed the highest honours he could think of. According to the tenor of his own propofal, he was ordered to array Mordecai in the king's ordinary robes, fet him on the king's own horfe, and lead the horse with Mordecai on it, through all the city of Shuthan, and proclaim before him, Thus shall it be done to the man whom the king delighteth to honour. In a fimilar manner, profelytes to the Mahometan religion are carried thro' the streets at their conversion. No way inflated with these extraordinary honours, Mordecai returned to the king's gate; but Haman being hanged that very day, he was advanced to his office. After he and Esther had by letters to the various provinces flopt the massacre of their nation, he for fome time continued to discharge his high trust with great sidelity and usefulness, Esth, vi.-x.

MORIAH, a hill on the north-east part of Jerusalem, and which is sometimes reckoned as a part of Zion. Here it is supposed, Isaac was intentionally offered; and here Arauna had his threshing-sloor; and hereon the temple was built, 2 Chron. iii. 1. The whole place whereabouts Jerusalem stood, was anciently called the land of Moriah. Gen. xxii. 2.; but the plain of Moreh lay a good way north, between Gerizzim and Ebal, Gen. xii. 6. Deut. xi. 29. 30.; and the hill of Moreh was perhaps a top of Gilboa, Judg. vii. 1.

MORNING; (1.) That part of the day before or about the rifing of the fun, Mark xvi. 2. (2.) The light, which by its spread forms the morning, Joel ii. 2. The morning is represented as having eye-lids, to reprefent the first appearance of the rising light in the reddish sky, Job xli. 18.; as having wings to denote the quick fpread of light, Pfal. cxxxix. 9.; and as having a womb from which the dew is produced, Pfal. cx. 3. Every morning, is daily; often, Pfal. lxxiii. 14. In the morning, is early; feafonably; earnestly; fuddenly, Pfal. v. 3. xxx. 5. To execute judgement in the morning, is to do it readily, and as feafonably and speedily as possible, Jer. xxi. 12. Pfal. ci. 8. To eat in the morning, denotes unfeafonable and intemperate eating and drinking; luxury, Eccl. x. 16. Jer. v. 8. The church is likened to the morning. In the patriarchal age, her light was but fmall, but gradually increafed. After the night of ceremonies, how glorious a morning of gofpel-light! In her militant state, her light is but partial, and growing to the noon-tide blaze of glory: and how delightful her appearance! what a bleffed prefage of future happiness! Song vi. 10. A state of grace is called a It comes after a fad night of fin and mifery; and how happily one is awakened, enlightened, and refreshed, by the gradual increase of its spiritual discoveries, and application of heart-warming love, till it iffue in the high day of eternal happiness! Is. viii. 20. A feafon of prosperity, or gospel-opportunity, is called a morning: it comes after a night of diffress, or dark ignorance; and how delightful and refreshing! Is. xxi. 12. The general refurrection is called a morning: after a night of darkness and deathful sleep, fleep, how shall men be awakened by the last trumpet, enlightened by the glory of, and manifold discoveries made by the Son of man! and into what an everlasting day it ushers the faints! Pfal. xlix. 14. Fearful judgements are likened to the morning; they overtake transgressors in their spiritual sleep, and carnal security, and oft suddenly, and always seasonably, when their sins richly deserve them, Ezek. vii. 7. 10.—To-morrow; next day; or in a short time, Luke xiii. 32. 33.

MOR [167] MOS

MORSEL; (1.) A fmall piece of bread, Pfal. exlvii. 17. (2.) A meal of meat, Heb. xii. 16. Better is a dry morfel with quietness, than a house full of facrifices with strife. Better is the meanest fare, in a state of peace with God, and in the enjoyment of peace of confcience, and of true peace with men, than the most abundant and delicate provision without it, Prov. xvii. 1.

MORTAR; an hollow veffel for braying things in with a peftil. In mortars did fome of the Hebrews grind the manna to prepare it for being baken into bread, Numb. xi. 8. To bray a fool with a peftil in a mortar, is to punish him severely for his folly, Prov.

xxvii. 22.

MORTAR; a well known material used to connect stones in building; and it was anciently made, by the treading of the feet of men or beafts: fo the Ninevites are bid go into the clays and tread the mortar; that is, prepare materials for repairing the breaches of their walls, Nah. iii. 14. By mingling three parts of lime with two of ashes, and beating them incessantly for about 70 hours, the orientals make an exceedingly durable mortar, If. xli. 25. Nah. iii. 14. Mal. iv. 3. To come upon princes as upon mortar, is easily to fubdue, enflave, and oppress them, Is. xli. 25. Flattering and false doctrines, and predictions, are likened to a daubing with untempered mortar; however they may for a while feem to strengthen, yet in the end they but ruin nations, churches, and perfons, thereby encouraged.—One built a wall, and another daubed it with untempered mortar;

one false prophet said, Jerusalem would stand the Chaldean siege, and another to no purpose salsely confirmed his word. So one legal preacher encourages his hearers to hope for acceptance with God through their own righteousness, and another confirms them therein, till they be eternally ruined, Ezek. xiii. 10. 11.

To MORTGAGE land, is to confign it over to a creditor to be his property, if it be not redeemed by the payment of the debt, within a time limited, Neh. v. 3.

MORTIFY; to put to death. To mortify the deeds of the body, and our members which are on the earth; is, by the Spirit, and through the word of God, to apply the blood and influence of Jesus Christ, for the weakening and destroying of our finful corruptions, Rom. viii. 13. Col. iii. 5.

MOSES, the brother of AARON and MIRIAM, and younger than either, was born A. M. 2433. Before his birth, Pharaoh king of Egypt had iffued forth orders to murder every male infant of the Hebrews. His parents however perceiving fome things about him which they reckoned prefages of his future greatness, they hid him three months. When they could hide him no longer, his mother Jochebed made an ark of bulrushes, and having pitched it, that it might draw no water, fhe put Moses therein, and laid it near the banks of the Nile, where the princes, and other noble Egyptians used to walk. He had not lain long in this condition, when Pharaoh's daughter, Thermutis, coming to wash herself, or fome of her linens, observed the ark, and caused one of her maids fetch it, and opening it, found the child. Moved with the beauty and weeping of the babe, she, knowing it to be one of the Hebrew children, refolved to bring it up for herfelf, as a child of her own. Miriam his fifter, a girl of perhaps 10 or 12 years of age, who waited hard by, asked leave to call a nurse: being allowed, the called Jochebed his mother. Pharaoh's daughter called him Mosheli, because she drew kim out of the water. She took care to have him instructed in all the sciences then known in Egypt. In his carlieft years, Jochebed and Amram, no doubt, took care to instruct him in the Hebrew language, and in the principles of the true religion, and in the knowledge of the promites that God had made concerning Ifrael. Affected with thefe, and endowed with the grace of God, he, when grown up, refused to be called the for of Pharaoh's daughter, and chofe rather to fuller affliction with the people of God, than enjoy the shortlived pleasures of sin. Traffing in the invisible God, and encouraged by the hopes of an everlatting reward, he feared not the wrath of the Egyptian king, nor whatever ridicule, threatening, or perfecution, he had to endure. It is scarce to our purpose, to relate the perhaps fabulous (tory of his fuecelsful expedition against the Ethiopians, who about this time emigrated from Arabia to Abyssinia fouthward of Egypt,—at the head of the Egyptian forces. It is certain, that being 40 years of age, and divinely instructed that he was to be the deliverer of Ifrael, he went to vifit his brethren, at their hard labour. Observing an Egyptian cruelly abuse an Hebrew, and going to murder him, he haftened to them, affifted the Hebrew, and killed the Egyptian, and hid his body in the fand. Next day he observed two Hebrews at variance, and begged the faulty person not to hurt his brother. The fellow fancily replied, Who made you a ruler or judge over us? will you kill me, as you did the Egyptian yefterday? Finding that his flaughter of the Egyptian was divulged, he fled into the country of Midian, on the Red fea. Sitting down by a well, the feven daughters of Jethro came up to it, with their flocks: they had fcarce filled the troughs with the water which they drew, when fome barbarous fellows came up, and would have the water to their flocks. Mofes affilled the damiels, and drove away the injurious fliepherds. Jethro had no fooner heard of his kindness to his daughters, than he ordered him to be called in, and get a refreshment. Moses hired himfelf to feed Jethro's flock, and reecived his daughter Zipporah in marriage, by whom he had two fons. The first he called Gershom, to denote his being a flranger in that place; the other he called Eliever, to denote that his God was his help, Exod. ii. Acts vii. 20.—29. Heb. xi. 24. 25. 26. About the beginning of A. M. 2513, the king of Egypt, by whose daughter or fifter Mofes had been educated, was dead; but the bondage of the riebrews full continued under their the forms. As Mofes one day led may be as a form as the north or west fide of Smar, the Lord appeared to him in a bulk that burnt, but was not confumed. Moles attonithed, went near to fee the miracle. The Lord fpoke to him out of the bush, and bid him put off his shoes ere he came any nearer, as the fpot was facred to the honour of God. He declared himfelf the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob; and that, from regard to his promife, and to the groans of his oppressed people, he now intended to deliver them, and bring them into Canaan, by him as the instrument. Mofes began to excuse himself, as if the Hebrews would not believe that he had a mission. God promised him his prefence, and bid him tell the Hebrews, that the great I AM, who is being itself, and gives being to his creatures, and fulfils every promife, had fent him to inform them of their approaching deliverance; and affured him, that they would believe him. He ordered him to go to Pharaoh, and in God's name, require him to let the Hebrews go three days journey into the Arabian defert, to offer a folemn facrifice to their God. Meanwhile he told him, that Pharaoh would not grant this fmall request, till he and his country should be almost ruined by fearful plagues. Moses still excusing himself, God encouraged him by a fourfold fign. His rod was turned into a ferpent, to fignify what plagues it would bring on the Egyptians. It was returned to a rod, to mark mark how useful it would prove for the fupport of the Hebrews. To mark how eafily God could weaken the power of the Egyptians, and strengthen the Ifraelites, Mofes's hand, being put into his bosom, became leprous white as fnow; and again returned into his bosom, became found as the other. These miracles he was ordered to repeat before the Hebrews, for the confirmation of his mission; and if necesfary, to add the taking of water out of the river, and it should become blood. Mofes pretended, that he had not a ready utterance in his speech, and begged to be excused, and wished the Lord would fend fome proper per-Provoked with his unbelief, God told him, that he could qualify him with speech; and that Aaron, who was just coming to meet him, should be his affiftant and spokesman. Moses being at last persuaded, went and obtained the leave of his father-in-law to go and visit his brethren in Egypt. He took his wife and children along with him. As they were in an inn by the way, an angel threatened to flay Mofes, it is supposed on account of his neglect to circumcife his child or children. To prevent his death, Zipporali took a sharp stone, cut off her child's foreskin, cast or laid it at the feet, either of her husband or of the child, and faid, that now she had preferved his life by bloodshed, and he or his fon was now her bloody bridegroom. Zipporah and her children returned to her father; and Moses pursued his courfe into Egypt, and was met by Aaron his brother; they told the Hebrews what God had faid, and shewed them the figns: the people believed, and were glad, Exod. iii. iv.

MOS [169] MOS

Moses and Aaron went to Pharaoh, and in the name of the God of the Hebrews, demanded his allowance for that people to go three days journey into the Arabian desert, to serve their God. He replied, that he neither knew, nor would pay the least regard to the Hebrew God; nor suffer them to stir a foot out of his dominions. He increased their misery, by requiring them to

He thought hard labour would put religion out of their heads. Beaten by the Egyptian talk-malters, for not fulfilling what was impossible for them, the Hebrews complained to Pharaoh, but he gave them no hopes of relief; but told them, that their idleness had filled their heads with whims of devo-The Hebrews bitterly reflected on Mofes and Aaron, as the cause of this additional mifery; Mofes cried to the Lord, and was answered, that Pharaoh would not let them go, till terrible plagues on his land should force him to it. God affured him, that he was Jehovah, a promife-performing God, and would speedily deliver the Hebrews, and bring them to Canaan. Moses told this to the Hebrews; but their grievous servitude made them difregard what he faid. Mofes and Aaron again demanded Pharoah's permission for the people to go into the defert. To verify their commission, Aaron slung down his rod, and it became a serpent. The magicians of Egypt were brought to confront this miracle; they cast down their rods, and they became ferpents, at least in appearance; but whether Satan indifcernibly flipt away their rods, and put ferpents in their place, or whether himself actuated the rods, or only deceived the eyes of the spectators, it is certain, that Aaron's rod fwallowed up theirs, as a mark of fuperior authority and influence.—Just after this, the Lord, by Mofes, fmote the Egyptians with ten plagues, within the space of less than a month. bout the 18th day of Adar, the waters of Nile, where so many Hebrew children had been drowned, were turned into blood, and for continued for feven days. About the 25th day, the river produced fuch fwarms of frogs, as fpread through the country, and entering into houses and every where, were a terrible nuifance. These two plagues the magicians a little imitated; but could imitate no more. The plague of lice happened about the 27th; and that of flies, on the 29th day of Adar.

provide straw for themselves, and yet

furnish out the daily tale of their bricks.

MOS M O S170

On the fecond day of Abib, there happened a grievous murrain among their cattle; on the third and fourth, the plugue of boils; on the fifth, the plague of hail, thunder, and lightning; on the eighth, that of locusts and grasshoppers: on the tenth, eleventh, and twelfth, that of the darkness: on the fourteenth, the death of their first-born. None of these affected the Hebrews. While fome of these plagues continued, Pharaoh feemed willing to let the Hebrews go; but whenever they were removed, he was as obstinate as ever, or refused to let their flocks go with them, and of these Moses refused to leave so much as one; but when the first-born were flain, Pharaoh's fervants urged him to give the Hebrews their difinif-By the fprinkling of the blood of the paffover-lambs on their doorposts and upper lintels, they had their families protected from the destroying angel, Exod. v.—xii. Deut. iv. 34. xi. 3. Heb. xi. 23.—29.

The Hebrews having begun their departure from Egypt in great haste, and having carried along with them a good part of the wealth of the Egyptians, took their journey to the fouthcast. Pharaoh and his people repented their letting them go, and a mighty army purfued them, and almost overtook them on the west of the Red sea. The Hebrews murmured against Mofes for bringing them out of Egypt. Mofes prayed to the Lord for an out-At God's direction, he stretchgate. ed his rod over the Red fea, and it, where perhaps about 18 miles broad, parted afunder, and gave the Hebrews an eafy passage. By taking off the wheels of their chariots, and darkening their way, the Lord retarded the march of the Egyptians; and when the Hebrews were all over, and the Egyptians all in the channel, Moses, at God's direction, stretched his rod to the fea, and it, moved by a ftrong wind, fuddenly returned, and drowned the whole of them. On the east side of the sea, Mofes and the men, and Miriam and the women of Israel, sung a song of praife for their miraculous deliverance.

Directing their courfe to the fouth-east, the Hebrews were three days without water; and when they found fome in Marah, it was so bitter they could not drink it. They murmured against Mofes, as if he had brought them into the wilderness to kill them with thirst. Mofes cried to God for their relief; God shewed him a tree, perhaps the bitter Ardiphne, and he cast it into the waters, and they became fweet. Marching thence, they came to Elim, where were 12 fountains of excellent water, and 70 palm-trees. On the 15th day of the fecond month, which was the 31st from their departure, they came to the wilderness of Sin: their food was quite fpent, and now they murmured that Mofes had brought them into the wilderness, to kill them with hunger. Moses cried to the Lord. That very night, a multitude of quails fell about their tents; and next morning the manna, which continued with them 40 years, began to fall. they came to Rephidim, Mofes, by God's direction, fmote a rock with his rod, and thence came water, whose ftreams feem to have followed them about 39 years. Here, chiefly by Mofes's interceffion, and by his holding up the rod of God in his hand, the Amalekites were defeated: and to commemorate the victory, Moses reared up an altar, and called it Jehovah-nissi, that is, the Lord is my banner. While they tarried here, Jethro brought Mofes his wife and children; and to cafe him of his great burden in judging the people, advised him to appoint heads of thousands, hundreds, fifties, and tens; and let these judge all the lesser causes. This measure being approven of God, was immediately put in execution, Exod. xiii.—xviii. Deut. xi. 4. Josh. xxiv. 5, 6, 7. Neh. ix. 9.—15. Pfal. lxxviii. 11.—29. cv. 26.—43. cvi. 7.—14. cxxxv. 8, 9. cxxxvi. 11. -I 5.

On the first day of the third sacred month, the Hebrews came to Sinai: on this mount, God had told Moses the Hebrews would ferve him. Mofes first ascended the mount, God told told him his intention to enter into a covenant with the people. When Mofes rehearfed this to the people, they professed their readiness to do whatfoever the Lord should command them. When Mofes returned to the mount, and reprefented their ready compliance with the divine will, God ordered him down to direct the people to fanctify themselves, and with their clothes, as on the third day God would defeend on the mountain, and enter into covenant with them. After they had purified themselves, fiery flames on the top of the mount, and terrible claps of thunder, made all the congregation, Mofes not excepted, to tremble and quake; and all the country about shook, and was illuminated. Boundaries were fixed along the mount, that neither man nor beath might touch it; and all were discharged to gaze, as if curious to behold any corporeal fimilitude of God amidst the fire. With an audible voice, that all Ifrael might hear, God proclaimed the covenantrelation between him and them, and the ten fummary precepts of the moral law, in a manner adapted to every particular person. The terrible thunders fo frighted the Hebrew affembly, that they begged the Lord would fpeak his mind only to Mofes, and Mofes declare it to them. Mofes returned to the mount, and there received a variety of political and ceremonial laws. Defeending, he erected 12 pillars for the twelve tribes, and offered by the hands of fome young men, burnt-offerings and peace-offerings on an altar, erected of rough itones. The half of the blood he fprinkled on the altar. With the other half he fprinkled the book, in which he had written the laws he had received, and the people. After which, he and Aaron, and his fons, and 70 of the elders of Ifrael, went a little way up the mount, and featled before the fymbols of the prefence of God. Thus was the covenant folemnly ratified, Exod. xix .- xxiv. Deut. iv. v.

MOS [171] MOS

Leaving Aaron and Hur, and the 70 elders, to govern the people, Mofes, taking Joshua along with him at least part of his way, went up to the mount, where they continued without any food for the space of 40 days. God gave Mofes directions concerning the formation of the ark, altars, vails, curtains, candleflick, and other things pertaining to the tabernacle; and concerning the prieffs garments, and their confectation, and concerning burnt-offerings, incense, and perfume, and concerning the Sabbath; and ordered Bezaleel and Aholiab to frame the work of the tabernacle. After giving to him the two tables of itone, probably of marble, wherein the ten commandments had been divinely inscribed, he bid him go down hastily, as the Hebrews had already broke their engagements, and were worthipping a golden calf. He offered to make Mofes's family increase into a great nation, if he would but forbear interceding for his guilty brethren. Moses fell on his face before the Lord, and begged he would not destroy them, as they were his covenant-people. When he came down from the mount, and observed their idolatry, his holy zeal was fo excited, that he threw down the tables of the law, and broke them to pieces before them, as a token of their breaking God's covenant, and exposing themfelves to be broken in his wrath. took their idol-calf, and reduced it to powder, and caufed the idolaters drink the water strawed with the dust, as a token their guilt should be punished. After sharply rebuking Aaron his brother for his hand in their fin, he placed himself at the door of a tent which he erected without the camp, and bid all that detefted this idolatry come to him. Three thousand Levites quickly joined him. These he ordered to go through the camp, and flay every man his friend or near kinfman who had been active in the idolatry. After reprefenting to the people the greatness of their sin, he returned to the mount, and fasted and prayed for the space of 40 days. He begged, that if God would not forgive the Hebrews fin, himfelf might he blotted out of the book of providential prefervation, and not live to fee them

MOS [172] MOS

them ruined, or have the honour of his family established on their ruin. God replied, he would only cut off from life in that quarrel fuch as had offended; that though they could not expect himfelf to go with them, he would fend his angel to guide them in the way. The Hebrews were extremely afflicted to hear of God's refusal to go with them; but Moses continued his intercession, till God promised his presence; promifed, and gave him a fignal manifestation of his mercy, goodness, and equity. Hereon Mofes begged that God would glorify the exceeding riches of his grace in going up with them, who were a most rebellious and stiffnecked people. After hewing two new tables of stone, Moses returned again to the mount, and having continued there 40 days, came down with the moral law divinely infcribed on the tables. His face shone with the reflection of the divine glory. When he came to know it, he covered his face with a vail, that the Hebrews might converse with him, Exod. xxv, xxxiv, Deat. ix x. The tabernacle was now to be reared by a voluntary contribu-Moses restrained them. Every male paid balf a shekel, as the ransom-money of his foul. After fix months work, the tabernacle was finished, every thing exactly according to the direction of Cod by Mofes. After divine directions issued therefrom concerning the various offerings, Aaron and his fons were confecrated to the fervice of it, and then a number of other ceremonial laws were by God uttered therefrom. See Leviticus. An account of the Hebrews was then taken, and all were directed in their station and march, and their princes offered their oblations for the dedication of the tabernacle. After this, the Levites were confecrated, and a fecond paffover was kept. Now Hobab, the brother-in-law of Moses, who had perhaps tarried about ten months, intended to have returned home; but Mofes begged he would go along with them, and receive his share of the bleffings that awaited them, Exod.

xxxv.—xl. Lev. i.—xxvii. Numb. i.

Scarce had the Hebrews departed from Sinai, when they, chiefly the mixed multitude, fell a murmuring at the manna, and lusted for slesh. A burning pestilence began in the outside of the camp, which made the fpot receive the name of Taberah or burning. It was stopt by Moses's prayer; but the murmuring was not. Moses himfelf became peevish, and doubted how God could give them a month's flesh, as he had engaged; and complained that himself could not govern so unruly a mob; and that it was unreasonable to require him to do it, as he was not their common parent. To eafe him, God ordered 70 or 72 elders to be added for his affiftance; and by the effusion of a proplictic spirit on them, the men were marked out and qualified for their work. Soon after, quails were brought in fuch plenty, that the Hebrews eat of them a whole month, till the flesh, cursed of God to them, came out at their nostrils, and occasioned a pestilence, which cut off many of them; and the place was called Kibroth-Hattaavah, the graves of lust. At Hazeroth, Aaron and Miriam quarrelled with Moses, as if he now managed matters by the advice of Zipporah his wife, and had not confulted them in the affair of the elders. Miriam was fmitten with a leprofy, to punish her infolence; but at Mofes's request, the Lord healed it after a few days. When they came to Kadesh-barnea, on the fouth border of Canaan, Mofes, excited by the people, and permitted of God, fent twelve spies to view the land of Canaan. After they had spent 40 days in this fearch, and had gone to the northern borders thereof, they returned, and two of them, perhaps Calcb and Joshua, brought a large bunch or grapes, carried on a rod between them, to show the fertility thereof. fpies acknowledged the land to be fertile; but ten of them maintained that it was unwholesome, and the cities and people were fo ftrong, that they could not hope to conquer it. Caleb and Joshua

MOS [173] MOS

Joshua with great concern remonstrated, that as the land was exceeding good, fo, with God's affiftance, they could as eafily conquer the inhabitants as a man eats his food. The congregation crediting the ten, were on the point of stoning the two last, and called to be directly led back into Egypt. Provoked with their outrageous contempt of his promifed land, God had destroyed them on the spot, had not Moles interceded for them. He denounced, that none of them able to bear arms, but Caleb and Joshua, should ever enter it; but they should wander in the wilderness till the end of 40 years, till all the rest were confumed by death, and their children should enter in. To confirm his threatening, the ten fpies, who had occasioned this uproar, were struck dead on the spot. Contrary to God's declaration, and Mofes's prohibition, the congregation, now turned furiously bent to invade Canaan, and immediately attempted it; but the Amalekites and Canaanites eafily drove them back, with confiderable lofs. The Hebrews continued long at Kadesh-barnea; but whether the affair of Korah, and of Aaron's budding-rod, and his making atonement for the congregation at Moses's orders, or the giving of the laws relative to meat-offerings, breach of Sabbath, Levites portion, and red heifer, happened here, we know not, Numb. xii.-xix.

After the Hebrews had long encamped at Kadesh, they, at God's direction, moved fouthward, by 17 different marches. Sundry of which might be hither and thither, to Ezion-geber on the eastern gulf of the Red fea. They then returned to Kadesh-barnea, by much the fame route. Here, after the death Miriam, their water failed; the people murmured, and God bid Mofes speak to a rock in that place. Neither Mofes nor Aaron marked their proper confidence in God; and Moses, with an angry address to the Hebrews, ftruck the rock, instead of speaking to For this offence, both of them were excluded from the promifed land.

The Hebrews were not yet allowed to enter Canaan, but were ordered to take a long circuit to the eastward. From Kadesh Moses sent to the king of Edom, and begged a free passage through his territories, which was at first refufed, but it feems was afterwards permitted. Soon after Aaron's death in mount Hor, the Hebrews were haraffed by Arad king of Hormah, but they quickly prevailed against him. Fiery ferpents too, bit them for despifing the manna; but they were miraculoufly healed, by looking at a brazen serpent, lifted up on a pole. God did not permit Moses to attack the Moabites or Ammonites; but when they came to the borders of the eastern Canaanites, ruled by Sihon and Og, these kings came against the Israelites in battle; their troops were routed, themselves killed, and their country feized .- After winding to the west for fome time, the Hebrews encamped in Shittim, on the east of Jordan. Here Balaam in vain attempted to curfe them; here the Midianitish women seduced many of them to whoredom and idolatry. Moses ordered 1000 of the idolaters to be put to death; and a plague cut off 23,000 more. Mofes then numbered the people, and found that none of those capable of war when they came out of Egypt, but Caleb and Joshua, were alive. Here too, Mofes received fome new laws, concerning offerings, feafts, vows, and the marriage of daughters falling heirs to their father, and cities of refuge. He punished the Midianites with almost utter extinction; divided the territories he had taken from the Amorites, to the tribes of Reuben, Gad, and part of Manasseh, on condition they should go over Jordan, and affift their brethren to conquer the rest of Canaan; and he appointed three of their cities for refuge. God pointed out to him the borders of Canaan wellward of Jordan, and directed, that Eleazar the high-prieft, and Jofhua, who had already been marked out for his fucceffor, and ten princes pertaining to the tribes concerned, should divide it acMOS [174] MOS cording to the proportion of the tribes, and their families, Numb. xx.—xxxvi.

The eleventh month of the 40th year of the Hebrew travels was now begun. Mofes finding that no interceffion could procure God's admission of him into the promifed land, and knowing that his end drew near, rehearfed to the Hebrews a fummary of what God had done for them, and a number of the laws he had given them, with fome additional ones, and caused them renew their folemn covenant with God; and fet before them the manifold bleffings which would attend their obedience, and curses that would follow on their wickedness. He left a written copy of his law, to be placed at the fide of the ark, and ordered the reading of it to the people at their public meetings, efpecially on the year of releafe. giving Joshua a folemn charge with refpect to his behaviour, he composed an elegant hymn, that reprefented the excellency of God, and their duty to him, and their danger if they apostatized from it. He then bleffed the tribes of Ifrael, that of Simcon, perhaps because chief compliers with the Midianitish whoredom and idolatry, only excepted; and concluded with a lofty commendation of God, as the fource of their happiness. This finished, he went up to the top of Pifgah, where God strengthened his eyes to take a clear view of the whole of the western Canaan. His natural strength was no way abated, but, perhaps in a trance of wonder at the goodness of God, he breathed out his lait; and to mark the future divine burial of his ceremonies. and to hinder the Hebrews from idolizing his relics, the Lord buried him in the valley over against Beth-peor; but his grave could never be found. Satan, it feems, thought to have difcovered his body; but Michael the archangel prevented it, and folemnly charged Satan to give up his attempt. -Mofes and Elias appeared to our Saviour on the holy mount: and if Mofes then refumed his natural body, we can hardly forbear thinking he must now wear it, as glorified in heaven, Deut.

i.—xxxiv. Matth. xvii. 1.—6. fides the five books afcribed to him, Mofes also wrote the 90th Pfalm. has been pretended, that thefe five books were not written by him; but as the Holy Ghoft always afcribes them to him, and fometimes calls them by his name, the pretence is abfurd, Jofh. viii. 34. 1 Kings ii. 3. 2 Chron. xxiii. 18. xxv. 4. xxxiv. 14. Luke xvi. 29. The Jews, too, have unanimously ascribed them to him as the penman thereof; and fo have feveral of the Heathens. In the character of Mofes, every thing is opposite to that of an impostor: his narratives are faithful and difinterested: he is every where the reverfe of flattery: his miracles were wrought before multitudes, and in things wherein they could not be deceived. Notwithstanding his loading them with ceremonies, and representing them in a shameful light, the Jews extol him as almost a deity. The Mahometaus extol him as next to Jefus and Mahomet. bers of the ancient Heathen spread his renown; and much of what they aferibe to their God Bacchus, is perhaps but the history of Moses blended with fable.

Was not Mofes a distinguished type of our Saviour? What a proper, nay divine Child was he! but how early and oft exposed to danger! To what exile, reproach, contradiction of finners, and murder, was he expofed! but how divinely supported in his numerous trials! How anviable his qualities, his contempt of the pleafures, honour, and wealth of this world! his compassion towards his injurious brethren! his amazing meeknefs! his noted fidelity, boldness, prudence, and zeal! -How folemn and particular his call to his work; and by what multitudes of miracles in favour of his people; and by what ruin on his Jewish, Antichriftian, and other enemies, is it confirmed! How extensive his office! What a marvellous deliverer, that frees us from the worse than Egyptian tyranny of sin, Satan, the world, and of Heathenism and Popery! What a marvellous provider of spiritual food, hidden manna,

and

MOT [175] MOV

and living water, and unwasting robes of righteoufness, for his people! What a glorious leader, who opens a fafe paffage through every difficulty; and by power and prayer fubdues every enemy, and brings his people, not merely to the border, but to the enjoyment of their promifed reft! Nor can murmuring, unbelief, or other bafe usage, make him leave them or forfake them. What a renowned Mediator between God and men, with whom God entered into covenant, and who confirms the new covenant by the shedding and fprinkling of his blood! He had his Father's law written on the tables of his heart, fulfilled it as a covenant for us, and gives it to us as a rule. did not only fast and pray, but die for a rebellious and stiff-necked race, and is our infallible fecurity against our experiencing the breach of God's promife, and for our everlatting enjoyment of his prefence. What an illuminated and incomparable Prophet, that knows the whole mind of God, and can teach us to profit? He is the brightness of his Father's glory; but we behold his countenance as vailed with our nature, and fo can have familiar intercourfe with him. What a glorious Priest, who fheds and fprinkles his blood, on the altar, to fatisfy his Father, -- on the book of the law, fulfilling it, and on the people, purging their conscience from dead works to ferve the living God; and who fends all the ministers of the church, and confecrates all the faints, these spiritual priests, to the fervice of God! He is King in Jeshurun, among his upright ones, his true Ifrael, and fettles the whole frame, and every ordinance of his church, and has the whole government thereof committed to him.—Voluntary was his death; his grave was divinely assigned him; but in it he faw no corruption, and with him was buried the law of Moses, and the fins of his people.

MOTE. Small fins are likened to motes in the eye; they are very trouble-fome to an awakened and tender confcience, and greatly marr our comfortable looking on God as our fun and shield, Matth. vii. 3.

MOTH; a kind of infect, that infenfibly confumes that in which it takes up its lodging. Some moths lodge in, and cat clothes; others lodge in, and eat flowers and leaves, and it is faid, perhaps without ground, that fome neftle in, and eat the very fubstance of walls. Some moths wrap up themselves in a kind of filk, which they fpin out of their own bowels. Secret curses or judgements, that infenfibly confume mens character or estate, are likened to a moth, If. l. 9. li. 8. God likens himself to a moth and rottenness, because by his judgements he gradually and infenfibly weakened the Jews, and rendered them contemptible, Hof. v. 12. The wicked man buildeth his house as a moth; he builds it by covetousness and anxious care; imagines his lot agreeable, but how eafily do the judgements of God burn or shake him out of it! Job xxvii. 18. Man's beauty, glory, and wealth, waste like a moth, are fecretly and infenfibly, but quickly confumed, Pfal. xxxix. 11.

MOTHER. See FATHER.

MOVE; (1.) To stir out of a place, 2 Kings xxi. 8. (2.) To stir up; provoke, Deut. xxxii. 21. (3.) To persuade, Josh. xv. 18. (4.) To stir up, and strengthen, Judg. xiii. 25. (5.) To affith in bearing; or to practife, Matth. xxiii. 4. (6.) To tremble; shake out of its place, Psal. xviii. 7. (7.) To raife up; move to and fro, Job xl. 17. (8.) To terrify and discourage from doing any thing, Acts xx. 24. (9.) To be all in a stir, Matth. xxi. 10. Acts xxi. 30. (10.) To be exceedingly affected with wonder and pity, Ruth i. 19. The Holy Spirit moved or fat brooding on the waters, when his creative influence prepared the waters for producing fishes and fowls, and the earthy particles therewith mixed to produce herbs, grafs, and trees, Gen. i. 2. The moving of my lips should assuage my grief; a free bewailing of my cafe should give me eafe, Job xvi. 5. The ways of a harlot are moveable; the goes from place to place, that her character may not be known; she uses a thousand different different arts to entice men to whoredom, and is quite inconstant in her temper and pretended affection, Prov. v. 6. The motions of sin in our members, are the inward activity of it, slirring us up to actual sin; and they are by the law, as its curse binds us under the power of sin, as our punishment; and the corruptions of our nature is irritated and stirred up occasionally, by the precepts and threatenings of the law, Rom. vii. 5.

MOU [176] MOU

To MOUNT; (1.) To grow great, Job xx. 6. (2.) To go upward, If. xv. 5. The faints mount up, when they are exercifed in holy and heavenly defires, thoughts, meditations, hopes, conversation, If. x. 31. The Jews mounted up, went into dust, or walked proudly, as the lifting up of smoke; i. e. however proud they were, they should quickly be scattered, and fall into ruin, If. ix. 18.

Mount, Mountain, Hill. there were mountains before the flood, is manifest; for the waters are faid to have covered the highest mountains, Gen. vii. 20. It is probable, however, that the flood made great alterations in the existence or form of mountains. Some have been fince cast up by earthquakes; and fome are mere heaps of fand collected by the wind. Mountains are useful to produce mineral and herbage not found elsewhere; and to keep off the east or north winds; and to prevent the vapours deferting of the hot countries, and leaving them parched; and to emit prodigious numbers of excellent fprings; and are fometimes places of thelter, but are generally cold on their tops, Gen. xiv. 10. Upon a careful infpection, the mountains will in general appear regularly difposed, as various links in a chain that goes quite round the earth. A chain of them begins in Iceland, if not Greenland, and runs with fome interruption through Britain, Italy, Sicily, and through Africa to the mountains of the Moon. Another chain runs from the north of Tartary to the Cape of Comorin, in the East Indies. One of these is continued on the other fide of the globe, in the mountains that run from the fouth to the north of America. Another chain of mountains runs cross the above mentioned from east to west, beginning near the east of China, and running westward through Tartary, Media, Macedonia, Switzerland, France, &c.

Canaan abounded with mountains and hills. In the middle of the country, to the west of Jordan, there was, the plain of Jezreel excepted, little elfe than a beautiful arrangement of hills, from the north to the fouth. The east part of the country beyond Jordan was also one continued arrangement of hills from north to fouth. On the north of Canaan were the mountains Lebanon and Amana. On the east of Jordan, going fouthward, were mount Hermon, Zion or Mizar, Gilead, Abarim, Nebo, Pifgah. On the fouth of Canaan, in Arabia, were mount Sinai, and Horeb, Paran, Hor, Seir, Halak; in the fouth part of Canaan we find the hill of Hahilah, and Engedi, Ziz; and at Jerusalem we find the mounts of Olives, Calvary, Zion, Moriah, and Careb. middle of the country north of Jerufalem, we find the hills of Quarantana, Ephraim, Ebal, Gerizzim, Gaash, Samaria, Tzemaraim, Zalmon, and Amalek, Moreh, and Gilboa. In the northern parts were Carmel, Tabor, and the Ladder of Tyre. The mountains of Samaria, are those about Samaria; or at least in the territories of the ten tribes, Jer. xxxi. 5.: but what mount Ifrael was, whether fome hill anciently denominated from Jacob, or Jerusalem, or the hill of Samaria, or rather the mountainous part of the land of Ifrael, we hardly know, Josh. xi. 16. Heaps of earth raifed for taking of cities, are called mounts, Ezek. xvii. 17. Jer. xxxiii. 4. Mountains have been fometimes absorbed, or funk into the earth. Long ago the mountains Cymhotus and Sypelus, and the vast promontory of Phlegium in Ethiopia, thus difappeared. The burning mountains of Vefuvius and Strongylus have loft half of their former height.

MOU [177] MOU

In later times, Picus, an exceeding lofty mountain in one of the Molucca islands, was fwallowed up in an inflant, and a lake left in its stead. In A. D. 1556, a mountainous province of China sunk into an immense lake. In the terrible earthquake of Chili in America, A. D. 1646, several whole mountains of the losty Andes sunk into the earth one after another. In A. D. 1618, a mountain in the northcast of Switzerland, fell upon an adjacent town, and quite baried it, with near 2000 persons in it.

Mountains and hills are used to reprefent, (1.) The people that dwell in a mountainous and hill country, Ezek. vi. 2. 3. (2.) The temple, which was built on the top of a hill, If. xxx. 29. Jer. xvii. 3. 12. (3.) The church of God typified by mount Zion, and which is firmly fettled, confpicuous, and useful in the world, Pfal. ii. 6. If. ii. 2.; and which, as a great mountain, shall fill the whole earth, when all nations shall be gathered to Christ, Dan. ii. 35. 44. (4.) The ordinances of Christ, which elevate his people heavenward, and afford them much rich and medicinal provision for their foul, Joel iii. 18. Song ii. 8. iv. 6. (5.) Men high in flation, power, and authority, as magistrates in the state, and apostles and ministers in the church, Pfal. lxxii. 3. If. xliv. 23. lv. 12. (6.) Powerful hindrances and provocations, and enemies of gospel-influence, and of the people of Christ, Is. xl. 4. xlix. 11. xli. 15. (7.) The places where idols were worshipped, which were often in hills and high places, Ezek. xviii. 6. 11. (8.) Idols worldsipped in thefe places, or any thing we trust in instead of God, Jer. iii. 23. (9.) The heavens, which are higher than mountains, Pfal: cxxi. 1. God is likened to the mountains round about Jerufalem, as he is the fure defence and protector of his people, and the fource of all their confolation, Pfal. cxxv. 2. The mountain of myrrh, and hill of frankincense, that Christ frequents, is either the church, where aints, precious gospel-truths and or-Vol. II.

dinances, and acceptable prayers and praifes are to be found; or heaven, where every thing delightful is found, Song iv. 6. viii. 4. Samaria is called a mountain, because built on a hill, Amos iv. 1. vi. 1. Babylon is called a mountain, because of her lofty building, and great power; a destroying mountain, because it overwhelmed and destroyed the nations around; and a burning mountain, because at last burnt with fire, and the rubbith looked like a burnt mountain, Jer. li. 25. Under the feeond Apocalyptic trumpet, a great mountain burning with fire was cast into the sea; the Arian herefy, denying the Godhead of Chrift, and of his Spirit, was foread in the church, fupported by authority, and attended with perfecution and ruin to multitudes. Rome was taken and burnt, and terrible was the ravage of the Goths. Huns, Vandals, Suevi, &c. in almost every part of the empire, Rev. viii. 8. At Antichrift's destruction, the islands are removed, and the mountains are not found; monasteries, and every thing stable and apparently beyond danger, are ruined, Rev. xvi. 20.

MOURN; LAMENT; WEEP; WAIL. When gates, walls, ramparts, Lebanon, and high ways, new wine, or a country, are faid to lament, mourn, or weep, it denotes their being in a most doleful and wretched condition, deferted of inhabitants or travellers, or ruinous, If. iii. 6. xxiv. 4. Lam. i. 4. ii. 8. Ezek. xxxi. 5. Mourning, hamentation, weeping, wailing, denotes, (1.) GRIEF, and the expref-fion thereof, whether godly, Matth. v. If. lxvi. 10.; professedly religious and folemn, Ezra x. 6.; or natural, Gen. xxiii. 2. l. 3.; or desperate, as in hell, Matth. xxii. 13. xxiv., 30. (2.) Judgements and afflictions that cause grief and forrow, Ezek. ii. 10. Lamentation also signifies an oration, wherein is bewailed fome mifery or lofs, 2 Chron. xxxv. 25. At the death of their friends, the Hebrews gave all possible demonstration of grief; they fometimes mourned feveral weeks; as 30 days for Aaron, and as much for Mofes: but the ordinary term of mourning was feven days: so long the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead mourned for Saul, Numb. xx. 29. Deut. xxxiv. 1 Sam. xxxi. 13. During this time of mourning, they rent their cloaths, smote their breasts, fasted, and lay on the ground, and went barefoot; they did eat on the ground, and whatever food they took was reckoned unclean, and polluted every partaker, Hof, ix. 4. They neither dreffed themfelves, nor flaved themselves, nor paired their nails, nor faluted any body: their faces and heads were covered: they had mourners for the purpose, both men and women, that made a trade of it, and could raise the most doleful outcries and howling; and were used to curse the days whereon some eminent difaster had happened, Amos v. 16. Jer. ix. 17. Job iii. 8. They mourned excetfively for an only fon, and for a first-born, as his death cut off the remembrance, or at least the honour of their family, Zech, xii. 10. The priefts mourned only for near relations, and the high priest for none, Lev. xxi. 1.—12. After the death of fuch as had no friends left to bewail them, fome persons of character of the place, acted the part of mourning friends, and were in like manner comforted. It was reckoned a very pious work to comfort mourners; and when they came to the mourners, they flood around them, ten in a row, and approaching towards them, one by one, wished them comfort from heaven. If they fat, it was on the ground, and the mourner had the chief feat. friends came not to comfort them, till after the interment, and not many, till the third or fourth day after the deccase, John xi. 19. 39. They sometimes went to the graves to lament their dead, and so the Turkish women do to this day. The Jews had a kind of prayer, or rather benediction of God, as the raifer of the dead, which they repeated, as they mourned, or even palled the graves of their dead. The Jews in Chaldea did not mourn and weep, but mourned one towards another;

MOU [178] MOU

durst not openly bewail their misery, but did it secretly, Ezek. xxiv. 23.

MOUSE; a fmall, but well-known animal, whose fore-teeth are sharp, its feet divided, and its ears naked of Mice are extremely fertile, efpecially in wet harvests. As they can feed on dung and fwines flesh, it is no wonder they were declared unclean by the Mofaic law, but they were part of food to the ancient Romans, Lev. xi. If. lxvi. 17. In some parts of Palestine, they were so plentiful, that had it not been for birds which devoured them, they had destroyed the whole feed or crop of corn; and it feems they had exceedingly marred the Philiftines crop that year in which the ark of God was a captive in the country,

1 Sam. vi. 5. MOUTH, LIPS, and TONGUE, are well known in their natural fignification; only mouth is fometimes put for a particular part of it, as the throat, roof of the mouth, Sc. and in figurative language, have in many things the fame meaning. As mouth fignifies any door or entrance, outward or inward, of a thing; lip fignifies the brim or edge of it, Dan. iii. 26. 2 Kings ii. 13.; and the tongue, the uttermost part of it, If. xi. 15. Mouth fometimes fignifies the defire or appetite, as the natural appetite is fatiated by the mouth, Pfal. ciii. 5. All the three words very frequently denote language or speech, Job xix. 16. ii. 10. Prov. xii. 18.: and fometimes tongue fignifies a particular language, I Cor. xiv. 5.; or even the pertons that fpcak in various languages, Rev. vii. 9. x. 11. Mouth or lips, aferibed to God or Christ, denote his will, authority, word, or promife, If. 1/20. Job xi. 5. Song i. 2. Christ's lips are like lilies, dropping freet finelling myrrh; and his mouth is most sweet: how delightful, refreshing, healing, and fructifying, to our foul, are his ordinances, words, promifes, and manifestations of his love! Song v. 13. 16. To have God's law in our mouth or tongue, is to delight in, and converse much on it, Exod. xiji. 9. Josh. i. 8. 2 Sam. xxiii. 2. To draw near to God with the mouth, and honour him with the lips, is to make an outward appearance of devotion, of prayer and praise, while there is no regard to him in the heart, If. xxix. 13. Matth. xv. 8. A deceitful or double tongue, is that which utters things falfe, deceiving, and inconfiftent, Zeph. iii. 13. 1 Tim. iii. 8. wholesome tongue, is speech that shews a fincere heart, and tends to the edification of others, Prov. xv. 4. A bridled tongue, or watched mouth, is one restrained from finful, reproachful, or passionate language, James i. 26. Psal. xxxix. 1. cxli. 3. A tamed tongue, is one restrained from evil language, and applied to good, James iii. S. A foft tongue, is kind and courteous speech, Prov. xxv. 15. The tongue of the learned, is ability to speak to the conviction, edification, and comfort of mens fouls, If. l. 4. A froward mouth, is one full of outrageous contradictions, and difobedient speech, Prov. iv. 24. A smooth mouth, is one full of foft and flattering language, Prov. v. 3. Unclean lips, are fuch as are polluted with finful words, If. vi. 5. Burning lips, denote fine and handsome language, or talk apparently full of love, Prov. xxvi. 23. The mouth of the foolish is a rod of pride, is near destruction, and is its owner's defirution; wicked and foolish speeches proudly afflict neighbours, and ruin the speakers themselves, Prov. x. 14. xiv. 3. xviii. 7. To open the mouth, is to cause one speak, Numb. xxii. 28.; or to speak, Is. liii. 7.; or to speak with full freedom and boldness, Plal. cix. 2. Job iii. 1.; or to listen attentively, as deaf people open their mouth to help their hearing, and to defire earnestly, Pfal. cxix. 131. To open the mouth or lips wide, is to talk rashly, boaftingly, reproachfully, Pfal. xxxv.21. Prov. xiii. 3.; or to liften with the utmost attention, earnestly desiring instruction, Job xxix. 23.; or earnestly to defire fatisfaction and bleffings to our foul, Pfal. lxxxi. 10. The earth opened her mouth, when rent afunder, and a gulf was made, Numb. xvi. 32. Hell opens her mouth, when multitudes go into it, M. v. 14. Stopping or Shutting of the mouth, or keeping the doors of the mount, imports fense of guilt, shame, silence, rethraint of speech, or inability to speak, Rom. iii. 19. Pfal. lxiii. 11. Mic. vii. 5. Eccl. xii. 4. Iniquity flops its mouth, when wicked men are restrained from the exercise of their power, and are afliamed to fin openly, Pfal. evii. 42. To lay the hand on the mouth, and have the ears deaf, is to be struck filent with shame and terror, Mic. vii. 16. have the mouth or lips covered, imports shame and grief, Lev. xiii. 45. Ezek. xxiv. 17. 20. Mic. iii. 7. To refrain the lips, is to speak little and seasonably; as the talk of the lips, vain and idle speech. and empty boafting without practice, tends only to poverty, Prov. x. 19. xiv. 23. To fet the mouth against the beavens, is to speak arrogantly and blafphemously, without fear of God or men, Psal lxxiii. 9. To whet the tongue, is, with great diligence and activity, to backbite, flander, and revile, Pfal. lxiv. 4. To gnaw the tongue, or gnash the teeth, is expressive of great torment, rage, and despair, Rev. xvi. 10. Under the tongue or lips, or in the mouth, fometimes denotes in the heart, but fo as it is ready to be uttered by the tongue orlips, Pfal. x. 7. cxl. 3. Sometimes the tongue is put for the heart, Pfal. lii. 2.

MOU [179] MOU

God divides mens tongues, when he hinders their joint plots against, and perfecutions of his people, Pfal. lv. 9. The church's lips are like a thread of fearlet; drop as an honey-comb; and honey and milk are under her tongue: her ministers, who utter divine truth, are washed in, and chiefly speak of Jesus's bleeding love, and difpense precious and fweet gospel-truths, to the edification of fouls: the faints prayer, praife, and mutual converse, and brotherly reproof, are performed by faith in a crucified Redeemer, and much tend to the edification and comfort of others, Song iv. 3. 11. Their mouth delivers, and fatisfies; their prayers and godly instructions are means of the falvation and comfort of others, Prov. xii. 6. xiv. 7. Out of the mouth of Christ's witnesles proceeds fire to devour their Z 2 enemies; MUF [180] MUL

" is; according to their prayers, log is, and declarations, divine wrath is recented on Antichrift, Rev. xi. 5. The month of the dragen, and beagl, and fille proplet, is the arthority, influence, or doctrine of Satan, the heathen Romith empire, Antichrift, and Mahoriet, Rev. Mi. 16. XII. 2. Xvi. 13. The Turks have power in their month, and in their tails; in their terrible fireone, and numerous infantiv, or in their foldlers and false teachers, Rev. 17. 17. 18. 19. God will divide the togged of the Egyptian fea, in remo-Ving every hindrance of the conversion of the Gentiles, or impediment of the secalling of the fews to their own land, and to a church-flate, If. xi. 15.

MUFFLERS; womens valls or mails, which covered the whole face, except the eyes; fuch pieces of apparel were common among the Avals and Jews, If. iii. 19.

MULBERRY-TREES have their flowers of the amentageous kind, contifling of a great number of flamina, with points rifing from a four-leaved cup; the berries contain roundish feeds, and are fost and full of juice. There are five kinds of mulberry-trees. The fruit when unripe, is of a very binding quality; but when ripe, it is rather purgative, and is most cooling, delicious, and good for quenching thirth. The fyrup made of it also is very pleafant. The Romans preferred mulberryapples to every kind of foreign fruit. At prefent, the leaves of this tree are. much used to feed filk-worms, and the leaves, fruit, julee, bark, and root, are used in medicine. Multitudes of mulberry-trees, or perhaps rather weeping willows, grew in the drier foils of Canaan, as in the valley of Rephaim, Baca, &c. By a found made, no doubt, by angels, on the tops of thefe trees, in the valley of Rephaim, was David warned when to attack the Philittines, 2 Sam. v. 23. 24.

MULE; a mongrel animal, produced by a horse and an ass, or by a mare and he-ass. Neither males, nor any other mongrel animals, are capable of procreation, God having wifely so ordered, to prevent the filling of the world with monflers. The Jewish law expressly prohibited every attempt to confound the species of animals. Some have pretended, that Anah the Horite was inventor of the unnatural manner of gendering mules; but we have fupposed the text to have another meaning. It is certain there were plenty of mules in the time of David. and his fons rode on mules, 2 Sam. xiii. 29. xviii. 9. Solomon rode upon one at his coronation, and procured a confiderable number of them, I Kings iv. 28. x. 25. Ahab had vaft numbers of them, 1 Kings xviii. 5. Naaman had feveral of them in his train, 2 Kings v. 17. The people of Togarmali fold numbers of them to the Tyrians, Ezek. xxvii. 14. The Jews had 245 of them, to bear their furniture from Babylon, Ezra ii. Perfians used them for their posts to ride on, Efth. viii. 10. They are ftill much used in feveral countries, where the ways are hard and rocky. Great numbers of them are kept about the Alps, on the north of Italy, and the Pyrencan mountains, between France and Spain. Thefe mules are generally black, well limbed, and mostly bred of Spanish mares. Some of them are 15 or 16 hands high. They are much ftronger, hardier, and furer footed than a horfe, and will live and work the double of their age: they are light, and fit for riding, but gallop rough.

MULTIPLY, to increase in number or quantity. In multiplying God multiplied Abraham, when his posterity and their blessings were rendered exceeding numerous and great, Gen. xxii. 17. Heb. vi. 14. God's mercy is multiplied, not by increase in him, but by the increase of its fruits to men, and their being more abundantly assured of his favour, Jude 2. His word is multiplied, when it is more abundantly and successfully preached for the conversion and edification of men, Acts

xii. 24.

MULTITUDE; (1.) A great company of perfons or things, Gen. xxx. 30. alviii. 4. (2.) The common people, which are more numerous, Matth. xiv. 5. (3.) The whole affembly, both fenators and common people, Acts xxii. 7. (4.) A great company of professed Christians, Acts xxi. 22. (5.) Great store and variety, Jer. x. 13. Eccl. v. 3. 7. The horses that remain, are as the multitude of Israel; they are as lean and starving as the people are; and so it will be no great matter, suppose they fall into the hands of the Syrians, 2 Kings vii. 13.

MUN [181] MUS

MUNITION; FORT, Nah. ii. I. Christ and God in him, is the munition of rocks to his people; in him they are lafely protected from curfes and condemnation, and from the guilt and dominion of fin, and from Satan and his agents, If. xxxiii. 16.

MURDER; (1.) The unlawful taking away of a person's life, Mark xv. (2.) Hatred of, and cruelty to, our neighbour, in thought, word, or deed, Matth. xix. 18. 1 John iii. 15. The voluntary killing of any person, except in lawful war, execution of public juffice, or necessary felf-defence, hath been peculiarly marked out by the vengeance of God. Cain, the first murderer, was preferved as a monument of the divine indignation, Gen. iv. 15.; but in ordinary cases, God requires that murderers be put to death by the magistrate. No facrifice was accepted for this fin: no money was to ranfom the life of the guilty. Suppose he fled to God's altar for protection, he was to be dragged thence and executed, Gen. ix. 6. Pfal. li. 16. Numb. xxxv. 27.—31. If a man had ever fo involuntarily and accidentally flain his neighbour, God, to mark his abhorrence of murder, ordered that involuntary man-flayer to be banished his native abode, and confined to a city of refuge till the death of the high priest; and if found without it by the flain person's friend, might be put to death, Numb. xxxv. Deut. xix. If a body was found murdered in the field, and the murderer unknown, the rulers of the next city flew an heifer, and with washing of hands, folemnly proteiled their innocence of the crime, and their ignorance of the actor; and with the priefts or Levites prefent, begged that the Lord would not lay the fin to the charge of the land, Deut. xxi. 1.—8.

MURMUR; to repine, and angrily complain of a perfon or thing as injurious, John vi. 41. 61. Habitual murmuring is a token of a wicked heart, Jude 16. Terribly did the Lord punish the murmuring so often repeated by the Hebrews in the defert; and yet where sin abounded, there did grace much more abound. See Mosss. Exod. v. xiv. xvi. xvii. Numb. xi. xiv. xvi. xxi. Pfal. lxxviii. cvi.

MURRAIN; a kind of peftilence that killed a great many of the E-gyptian cattle, Exod ix. 3. Pfal.

Ixxviii. 50.

MUSE; to think; to consider, Psal.

exliii. 5.

MUSIC is of a very ancient origin. Tubal, a descendant of Cain, long before the flood, taught men to play on the harp and organ. Laban complained, that Jacob deprived him of an opportunity of fending off his daughters with music, Gen. iv. 21. xxxi. 27. The ancient Hebrews had a very great tafte for music: when they had passed the Red fea, both men and women fung their respective hymns to the praise of God, their miraculous deliverer, Exod. xv. Silver trumpets were divinely ordered to be made for founding over their facrifices, especially at folemn feafts, Numb. x. With music Jephthah's daughter welcomed him home from his victory, Judg. xi. 34.; and with mulic the Hebrew women welcomed David back from the flaughter of Goliath, 1 Sam. xviii. 6. David himfelf was an excellent mufician, and it feems had plenty of finging men and finging women in his court, 1 Sam. xvi. 2 Sam. vi. xix. 21. Solomon had them perhaps in far greater number, Eccl. ii. 8. In the time of Jeroboani the fon of Joath, the Ifraelites valued themselves upon inventing new musical instruments, Amos vi. 5. At his idolatrous festival, Nebuchadnezzar had a large concert of music; and music was the ordinary recreation of the Median king, Dan. iii. vi. 18. The templemufic makes the chief figure in fcripture. David in his own time composed a variety of Pfaims, and caufed his skilful players fet them to mufic, as appears by their inferiptions to Jeduthun, Afaph, or the fons of Korah, I Chron. xv. xvi. As now the Levites were eafed of a great part of the burdenfome work of their charge, by the tabernacle and ark being fixed in a place, David, before his death, distributed the 4000 facred fingers into 24 classes, who should ferve at the temple in their turns. The three chief muficians were Afaph, Heman, and Jeduthun. The four fons of Afaph, fix of Jeduthun, and 14 of Heman, were constituted the chiefs of the 24 classes. It is probable, that they all, or most of them, attended at the folemn festivals. They were thus arranged, the Gershonites on the fouth of the brazen altar, the Merarites on the north, and the Kohathites between them, possibly on the east and west of it, I Chron. xxv. The Jews, or their fingers, were mocked with their facred fongs at Babylon, Pfal. cxxxvii. 2. Two hundred finging men and finging women returned from the Chaldean captivity along with Zerubbabel, Ezra ii. 65. From the Heathens the Jews adopted music into their funeral rites, Matth. ix. 23. Their NEGINOTH, or stringed instruments, were the pfaltery and harp, to which may perhaps be added, the sheminith, shushan or shushanim, and the alamoth, and dulcimer, and fackbut; and the NEHILOTH, or windinstruments, were the organ, cornet, flute, pipe, and trumpet: their DRUM instruments were timbrels, cymbals, and bells. But neither can our ancient information, nor our comparison of these instruments with such as are now used in Arabia and places about, afford us a certain knowledge of their particular forms.

MUST, denotes that a thing is necessary, either as an event to be fulfilled, for answering the predictions, purposes, or ends of God, Acts i. 16. John iii. 7. Matth. xviii. 7. Rev. xx.

3.; or as a duty to be done, 2 Tim.

MUSTARD; a plant, whose flower confifts of four leaves, and is formed like a crofs. The pittil arifes from the cup, and finally becomes a long pod, divided by an intermediate membrane, into two cells, containing roundish feeds. The pod also usually terminates in a fungole horn, with fome feeds in There are 11 or 12 kinds of mustard. The feeds are of a hot, sharp, and biting talte. The multard in Canaan grew much larger than ours. The Jewish Talmud mentions a stalk of it that was fufficient to bear a man climbing up on it; and another whose principal branch bore three barrels of mustard-feed. Our Saviour reprefents its flem, as growing to the height of a tree fufficient to lodge birds among its branches. The kingdom of heaven is compared to it, to reprefent what is the finall beginning, and yet the wonderful increase, of the gospel-church, and of the work of grace in mens heart, Matth. xiii. 31.

MUSTER; to array; to put an army into proper rank and order, 2 Kings xxv. 19. The Lord mußerelb the host; by his providence he collects, and ranks into order, the armies which execute his vengeance, Is. xiii. 4.

MUTTER; to speak softly. It seems wizards muttered and peeped to their familiar spirits, Is. viii. 19.

MUTUAL; belonging to both parties, Rom. i. 12.

MUZZLE; to put any thing in or on the mouth of a beast to restrain it from eating, Deut. xxv. 4.

MYRA; a city of Lycia, where Paul embarked in an Alexandrian ship, bound for Rome, Acts xxvii. 5. Whether he founded a church here, we are uncertain; but from the fourth to the ninth century, when the Saracens seized it, there were bishops in this place.

MYRRH; a kind of gum issuing from the trunk and larger branches of the myrrh-tree, which is common in Arabia, Egypt, and Abyssinia. Sometimes it issues spontaneously; but chiefly slows out by means of incision. The

incifiens

MYR [183] MYS

incifions are made twice a-year, and the gum or rofin is received on rushmats spread below. It comes to Europe in loofe grains, from the fize of a pepper corn to that of a walnut; but mottly about the fize of peafe or horfe beans, and but feldom roundish. Myrrh is of a reddish brown colour, with somewhat of a mixture of yellow. diffolvable in common water, and its purest pieces are somewhat transparent. Its tafte is disagreeable, bitter, and acrid, with a peculiar flavour. fmell is strong, but not disagreeable. The best myrrh is that which is clear, light, eatily broken, and of the bitterest taste. Myrrh is of a purifying and prefervative nature, and was used by the ancients in embalming their dead, and perfuming garments, beds, and women, John xix. 39. Pfal. xlv. 8. Prov. vii. 17. Esth. ii. 12. Being valuable, it was often given in prefents, Gen. xliii. 11. Matth. ii. 11. It was an ingredient in the facred perfume or incense of the Jews, Exod. xxx. 23. Christ is a bundle of myrrb, that lies all night between his peoples breafts: how precious, delightful, purifying, and perfuming is he, in his perfon, righteoufnefs, and influence, to the fouls of his people, while the night of time continues! and how delightful to them are his garments of mediatory office, his human nature, his word and ordinances! Song i. 13. Pfal. xlv. 8. His influences, and the graces that flow from him to his people, are like myrrh: how precious, purifying, and preferving to their fouls! and how they endear them to him, and render them as myrrh, for the purification and prefervation of others! Song v. 1. 5. 13. iii. 6. iv. 14.

MYRTLE; a comely and fragrant tree, ever green, and which grows best in low and well watered vallies. The slower is of the rofy kind, and is composed of several petals, arranged in a circular form. The fruit is a berry shaped as an olive, and contains kidney-shaped seeds. The berries are cooling and astringent. Tournefort mentions 12 kinds of myrtles. Saints are likened to myrtles, for their spiritual comeliness, their delightful savour, theirperseverance in grace, their peculiar growth in trouble, and when humble and well watered by Christ, Is. xli. 19. lv. 13. Zech. i. 8. But in the last text, myrtle-trees with a man among them, may denote the Jews in their low and enslaved condition in Babylon, with Christ, and God in him, among them as their preserver.

MYSIA. There was a Myfia in Europe, on the cast of Dalmatia and north of Macedonia; but the Myfia mentioned in scripture is that in Lesser Asia, which had the Hellespont sea on the north-west, Bithynia on the north-east, and Phrygia on the south. The inhabitants were stupid and contemptible to a proverb; but here Paul preached the gospel, and ever since there have been some vestiges of a Christian church, Acts xvi. 7. 8.

MYSTERY; what is wonderful, and above our reason to comprehend. Upon accurate inspection, every work of nature will be found mysterious; but the method of our redemption, and the gospel that discovers it, and the person and appearances of our incarnate God, are mysteries of an higher kind, Col. i. 26. 27. 1 Tim. iii. 16. Eph. v. 32. They are the nuffery of faith, as by faith they are believed, I Tim. iii. 9.; the mystery of godliness, as the faith thereof promotes godliness, I Tim. iii. 16. They are the my/scries of the kingdom; pertain to, and are difcovered in God's kingdom of grace and glory; and the faith thereof renders men heirs of the kingdom which God hath promifed to them that love him, Matth. xiii. 11.: and the hidden mystery, which was long vailed under types and shadows, was gradually revealed under the Old Testament, and is still unknown to most, and is comprehended by no creature, Col. i. 26. 27. 1 Cor. ii. 7. The mystery of God will be finished, when all the dark prophecies relative to the church, and all the wonderful providences in the fulfilment thereof, shall be fully accomplished, Rev. x. 7. Antichrift is called a mystery, or mystery of iniquity; marvellous was the craft and ported; and horrid are the scenes of wickedness wherewith the Popish con- feeret impicties therein perpetrated, stitution was formed, and has been sup- Rev. xvii. 5. 2 Thess. ii. 7.

iniquity;

N

NAAMAN, the general of Ben-N A Awas highly effeemed by his mafter, because he had saved Syria from ruin, probably in the battle where Ahab gave Benhadad his last defeat, or at the fiege of Ramoth-gilead, when Ahab was flain: but he was fore afflicted with a leprofy. An Hebrew captive, who ferved in his family, happened to fay to her mistress, that if Naaman would apply to Elisha the prophet in Ifrael, he would quickly cure him. On this hint, Naaman refolved to make a trial; and Benhadad, imagining that Jehoram king of Ifrael had the prophets under his direction, wrote him a letter, to fee that he got his general cured of his diftemper. Elisha foon eafed Jehoram of his perplexity, by hidding him fend Naaman to him, and the power of the God of Israel should be discovered in his cure. Naaman, with his chariots and train, prefented himself at the door of Elisha. Elistia might maintain a due distance from lepers, and might mortify Naaman's pride, and manifest that the cure was wholly of God, he only fent him forth orders to go wash himself seven times in Jordan. Enraged that Elisha marked fo little regard for him, and that he came not forth, and by prayer and stroking of his body cured him, Azaman intended to pour contempt on his orders; and the rather, that he thought Abana and Pharpar, rivers of Damafeus, were preferable to all the rivers of Ifrael. His fervants begged him to think, how cheerfully he would have done or undergone the most difficult operation, to get rid of his difeafe, had the prophet commanded it; and why fhould he then flick at a thing fo very fimple and eafy! Naaman was perfuaded, and in conformity to the fevenfold fprinkling of the leper, washed himfelf feven times in Jordan, and was perfectly cured. He returned to Elitha, and offered him a prefent; but it was not accepted. He then professed his faith in the God of Israel, as the only true God, and craved two mules burden of Hraelitish earth, to build an altar for facrificing to him alone; and asked the forgiveness of his bowing of himfelf in the house of Rimmon, the idol of Syria, as he attended his matter to the temple. Elisha granted him his defired quantity of earth, and bid him go in peace. Some imagine, he asked indulgence in future idolatry, which he thought his office of supporting the king obliged him to act; but it is, perhaps, as just to underitand the text, of forgiveness of what he had done; for it may be read, When my master went to the house of Rimmon, he leaned on my hand, and I bowed down myfelf in the house of Rimmon,—the Lord pardon thy fervant concerning this

NAA

Naaman went off very joyful; but Gchazi, Elisha's servant, displeased with his master for refusing his present, soon overtook him. Naaman humbly alighted from his chariot, and affeed him what was his defire. He falfely told him, that two young prophets from mount Ephraim were just come to his master, who were in necessitous circumstances, and needed each a fuit of cloaths and fome money. Naaman was fo touched with gratitude, that he never once confidered how unlikely it was, that Elisha would ask a talent of filver for two young scholars, urged Gehazi to take two talents, instead of one, which were L.684:7:6 Sterling, and fent his fervants to carry them as far as Gehazi would permit. Whenever Gehazi had laid this prefent up as fecretly as he could, he presented himself before Elitha, who asked him where he had been. He denied that he had been any where out of the way. Elisha told him, that by the discoveries of God's Spirit he faw him when Naaman turned back to meet him: and added, you, at this feafon, fo very improper, intend to buy fields, vineyards, and oliveyards, with the money you got; but to punish your covetoulness, falfehood, and treachery, the leprofy of Naaman shall cleave to you and your posterity. We suppose Naaman soon after either died, or quitted his post in the Syrian army, that he might not lead it against the Hebrews, and Hazael became general in his room, 2 Kings v. Luke iv. 27. · · · ·

 $could_s$

NAB [185] NAH

NABAL, a rich, but very churlish man, of the tribe of Judah, and race of Caleb: he had numerous flocks, which had their pasture about south Carmel, near Maon. David, in his exile, lurked in the neighbouring wilderness of Paran. He and his men, not only did no hurt to Nabal's flocks, but protected them from the Arabs, and from wild beafts, and affilled the herdsmen in every thing they could. When Nabal held his shearing-feast, David, in the most discreet manner, fent to defire a prefent of what part of the provision he pleased. Nabal, in the most harsh and furly manner, told David's messengers, that he knew better things, than to give his fervants provision to a contemptible fellow, who had run away from his mafter, and to his partifans. Informed of this rudeness, David rashly resolved immediately to put Nabal, and all that he had, to the fword, as a means of deterring others from using him in like manner. Abigail, by her prudent behaviour, difarmed David's rage, and won his affection. As foon as Nabal her hufband was fober, she told him into what danger his conduct had brought himfelf and family. The poor creature was fo terrified, that he fell fick, and in ten days after died, as flupidly as he had lived; and not long after, Abigail was espoused to David, I Sam. xxv. Vol. II.

NABOTH, an Israelite of the city of Jezreel. He had a fine garden, hard by Ahab's palace; Ahab required him either to fell it to him, or to exchange it with another. Naboth, attentive to the divine law, which prohibited the alienation of inheritances without necessity, or to fell them irredeemably, refused to fell or exchange the inheritance of his fathers. having taken the refufal extremely ill, Jezebel his wife bade him make himfelf eafy, and the would get him the vineyard: she wrote letters in Ahab's name, and fealed them with his ring, requiring the magistrates of Jezreel to hold a fait, or perhaps rather a general court, and to fuborn two or three wretched fellows, to bear false witness against Naboth, that he had blasphemed God and the king, and thus condemn, and put him to death. The abandoned magistrates directly executed her orders. Naboth was stoned to death as a blasphemer, and Ahab took possession of the vineyard; but the vengeance of Heaven purfued him and his family, for the covetoufness, hypocrify, perjury, and murder committed in this affair, I Kings xxi. 2 Kings ix. 10.

NADAB. See Aaron; Jero-

NAHASH. See Ammon; Ja-

NAHOR, the fon of Terah, grandfon of another Nahor, and brother of Abraham. He fixed his refidence at Haran in Mefopotamia, which was fometimes called by his name. He married Mileah, the daughter of his brother Haran, who was already dead. By her he had eight fons, viz. Huz or Uz, the father of the Ausites, on the west of the Euphrates, in the land of Uz; Buz, the father of the Buzites, of whom Elihu was descended; Kemuel, the father of the Camelites, and the Arameans or Syrians; Chefed, the father of at least one tribe of the Chaldeans; Hazo, whom fome carry into Persia, and make the father of the Hazoye, or Huzeans in Chufiftan, or the Chosseans; Pildash, whom Dr Hyde feens fond of making the father of the

Au

Perfians;

NAH [186] NAK

Ferfians; Jidlaph; and Bethuel, the father of Laban and Rebekah. By a concubine called Reumah, Nahor had other four fons, viz. Tebah, Gaham, Thahash, and Maachah, Gen. xi. 22. 24. 26. xxii. 20. 21. 22. xxiv. 10.

NAHUM; a prophet of the city of Elkosh, or Elkoshai, in Galilee. As he speaks of the Assyrian ravages of Egypt, and the destruction of No, as a thing path, and reprefents the Affyrian king as imagining an evil thing against the Lord, it is probable he prophefied just as either Sennacherib or Efarhaddon was returning from the rarage of Egypt, with an intention to deftroy the kingdom of Judah: Nah. ii. 8. 9. 10. i. 9. 11. After a lofty description of God, the great subject of his short prophecy is the ruin of N1-NEVEH and the Affyrian empire. This he describes in a manner so pathetic and picturefque, and yet so plain, as is not to be exceeded by the greatest masters of oratory. Had Herodotus written his history of the Assyrians, or had it come to our hands, with what pleafure should we have seen the exact fulfilment of these predictions.

NAIL; (1.) A horny substance on the point of mens fingers or toes, Deut. xxi. 12. (2.) A nail of iron, brafs, or the like, for fixing boards together, or hanging things on, Judg. iv. 21. Eliakim, and Jefus Chrift, as prefigured by him, are likened to a nail in a fure place, for hanging of veffels on. God made Eliakim the Jewish minister of state, and on him did the subordinate rulers and the people depend. God established Jesus in the office of Mediator, and on him do all the perfons of the elect, and all their privileges, graces, and duties, and all the oracles of God, and ordinances and government of the church depend, If. xxii. 23. 24. 25. The nail that came forth of Judah, is either Zerubbabel, Nehemiah, or the Maccabees, who established the Jewish state; or rather Jefus Christ, who connects and establishes his church, and bears her and all her concerns, Zech. x. 4. The words of the wife are as nails fastened; the truths of God fixed in the heart remain there perpetually, and make the foul cleave to Jefus, and his church and ordinances, Eccl. xii. 14. The nails of brafs which Daniel's fourth beaft had, denotes the covetous robbery and ravage of the Romans, and their power to retain their conquered provinces, Dan. vii. 19. Christ's nailing of the ceremonial law to his crofs, imports, that by his death he fulfilled the fignification thereof, and has abolished its binding force, Col. ii. 14.

NAIN, or NAIM; a city where our Saviour restored the fon of a widow to life, as they were carrying him out to his burial. It is generally said, that this place was near Endor, and about two miles south of Tabor; but Maundrell seems to think it was situated near the foot of mount Hermon, Luke vii. 8.—II.

NAIOTH. See RAMAH.

NAKED; (1.) Altogether unclothed or uncovered, Gen. ii. 25. (2.) Having few clothes on, 1 Sam. xix. 24. John xxi. 7. (3.) Clearly feen and fully known, Job xxvi. 6. Heb. iv. 13. (4.) Destitute of worldly good things, Job i. 21. (5.) Destitute of innocency, holinefs, and righteoufnefs, inherent or imputed, and hence exposed to shame and misery, Rev. iii. 17. 18. (6.) Deprived of the divine favour and protection, and ready to be a prey to their enemies, Exod. xxxii. 25. 2 Chron. xxviii. 19. Before the fall, there was no finful, shameful, or hurtful nakednefs; as there were no finful dispositions, no part of the human body was improper for view: but fin entering, they knew they were naked, that they were become unholy and unrighteous; and that they needed a covering for those parts of their body, afterwards called nakedness, Gen. iii. 7. 10. 11. ix. 22. The nakedness of the foul, lies in being without holinefs and righteousness, imputed and inherent, but corrupt and guilty before God, Rev. iii. 18. The nakedness of a land, is the poverty, weakness, and ruinous condition thereof; or its shameful wickedness, Ezek. xvi. 8. 36. 37. --Going Going naked, or almost fo, was an emblem of distress, and of deprivation of comfort, Is. xx. 3. Mic. i. 8.

NAM [187] NAM

NAME is properly that whereby a person or thing is called, to distinguish it from another. A great many of the names of persons and places mentioned in the scripture, were founded on, and express some particular Those that begin or end in reafon. EL, or begin with JE, JEHO, or end in 1AH, bear a relation to God. As multitudes of perfons and things had different names, it is no wonder to find them fometimes called by one name, and fometimes by the other. So Mofes's father-in-law was called Reuel and Jethro; Isaac's younger fon, Jacob and Ifrael; Jehoshaphat's grandson, Jehoahaz, Ahaziah, and Azariah, &c. &c. Some letters too, especially vowels, E for A, &c. are altered in the spelling of the same name, as Gashmu or Geshem, Achan or Achar, &c. It is still common for the Arabs to change their names upon any remarkable change of their condition.

Name, when ascribed to God or Christ, comprehends whatever he makes himself known by. The name of God fignifies, (1.) Himfelf, Pfal. xxix. 2. xxxiv. 3. lxi. 5. (2.) His titles, Exod. iii. 13. 14. vi. 3. (3.) His attributes or properties, Exod. xxxiii. 19. xxxiv. 6. 7. (4.) His word, Pfal. v. 11. Acts ix. 15. (5.) His worship and fervice, 1 Kings v. 5. Mal. i. 6. (6.) His will and purpose concerning our falvation, and his grace and mercy therein displayed, Psal. xxii. 22. John xvii. 6. 26. (7.) His power, help, and favourable affiftance, I Sam. xvii. 45. Pfal. xx. 1. 7. (8.) His wifdom, power, and goodness, displayed in the works of creation and providence, Pfal. viii. 1. 9. (9.) His authority; commission, Mic. v. 4. (10.) His honour, glory, and renown, Pfal. lxxvi. 1. The name of Christ denotes, (1.) Himself, what he really is, Wonderful; mighty God; God with us, If. ix. 6. vii. 14. (2.) His titles, as Saviour, Prophet, Priest, King, &c. Matth. i. 21. Rev. xix. 14. (3.)

His authority and commission, Matth. vii. 22. Acts iv. 7. (4.) His word and gospel, and the profession thereof, Acts ix. 15. Matth. x. 22. xix. 29. Rev. ii. 13. (5.) His exaltation to the highest honour, power, and glory, as our Mediator, Phil. ii. 9. 10.—— The name of men denotes, (1.) That particular defignation by which they are usually called. (2.) The persons themfelves, Luke x. 20. Rev. iii. 4. xi. + 11. (3.) Reputation, good or evil, Prov. xxii. 1. Deut. xxii. 14. (4.) Honour, glory, renown, Deut. xxvi. 19. Zepli. iii. 20. 2 Chron. xxvi. 8. 15. (5.) Memory or remembrance, Deut. xxix. 20. (6.) Posterity, which keeps up one's name or renown, Deut. xxv. 7. If. lxvi. 22.

God's name is in Christ; his nature and authority are in him; he hath fent him to be our Redeemer; and by his execution of his office, is his honour chiefly exalted, Exod. xxiii. 21. To be baptized in the name of the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost, or of Jefus, is to be baptized by the warrant and authority, and into the profession, faith, and obedience of these divine persons, as one God, Matth. xxviii. 19. Acts xix. 5. To trust or believe in the name of God or Christ, is to credit his word, and rely on his perfections, titles, and relations, as a certain ground of our receiving all bleffings and falvation from him, John iii. To name the name of Christ, is openly to profess that we are his, and to regard his honour and fervice, 2 Tim. ii. 19. The new name that Christ gives, and writes on his people, is the redeemed of the Lord, the righteoufness of God in him, &c. which anfwers to their new-covenant state, and their new nature; and in heaven their character is made gloriously to appear, Rev. ii. 17. This is better than of fons and daughters, as it is more honourable to be the children of God, and spouse of Christ, than to be parents of finful men, If. lvi. 4. 5. God's changing the name of his church, de notes his changing her condition from distress and grief, to happiness and Aaz jov, joy, 1f. lxii. 3. 4. The faints pray and do all in the name of Christ, when they do it in the faith of his promife, in obedience to his command, and with a total dependence on his righteoufness and intercession for acceptance, John xiv. 13. Col. iii. 17. To take the name of God in vain, is to make an unholy and irreverent use of any thing whereby he maketh himfelf known, whether titles, attributes, ordinances, words, or works; and particularly by ignorant, rash, irreverent, and false swearing, Exod. xx. 7. The Hebrews were forbidden to mention the names of the heathen idols, except when it was necessary to warn against, or mark deteftation of them, Exod. xxiii. 15.; and fo a thing not named, is what is not mentioned with pleafure, or what is fearee known or heard of, or is not practifed, but abhorred, I Cor. v. I. Eph. v. 3. To know one by name, is to have a peculiar favour for, and familiarity with To give one, Exod. xxxiii. 12. names to perfons or animals, imports dominion over them, Gen. 2. 19. To have a name to live, and yet be dead, is to have a profession and appearance of faintship, and yet be under the reign of spiritual death, Rev. iii. 1. The names of the 12 tribes of Ifrael, being on the 12 gates of the new Ferufalem, imports, that the Jews shall be brought into the church in the Millennium, and all the elect enter into the church here, and the heavenly glory hereafter, Rev. xxi. 12. The names of the 12 apostles being in the 12 foundazions, imports, that it is Jefus, as represented in the doctrine of the 12 apostles, that is the foundation of the church, and of our everlasting happinefs, Rev. xxi. 14. To have the mark, name, or number of the name of Antichrift, is to believe, profess, and practife, according to the errors, idolatry, and fuperitition of the church of Rome:——it is names of blasphemy; the doctrines of the Pope's fupremacy, and of mens perfecting Christ's facrifice, with their oblations and good works, &c. are a reproach to Christ and his Father, Rev. xiii, 1. 17.

N A O N A M188

NAOMI, and her husband Elimelech, retired to the country of Moab on account of a famine that happened in Canaan. There their two fons Mahlon and Chilion married two Moabitish girls, Orpah and Ruth. They had been about ten years in the country of Moab, when Elimelech and his fons died, without leaving any iffue. Naomi refolving to return to her country, her daughters-in-law were intent on attending her. She remonstrated to them, what difficulties they might expect in fo doing; and begged they would return home; and added, that she was grieved on account of their affliction. At last Orpah was prevailed with to return; but Ruth continued refolute to go with her, and to embrace the Jewish religion. When they arrived at Bethlehem, the place of Naomi's former abode, the people erowded about them, and fome in pity, and others perhaps in contempt, asked if this was Naomi? She begged they would not call her Naomi, my pleafant one; but Marah, because the Lord had dealt very bitterly with her, infomuch, that having gone off full, with a husband, children, and some wealth, the had returned a poor deftitute widow. It being the harvest-seafon, Ruth went forth to glean, and Providence conducted her to the field of Boaz, a near kinfman of her deceased husband. Informed who she was, he commended her for her kindnefs to her mother-in-law, and bade her continue gleaning on his field, and take her diet with his reapers, who, by his orders, let fall handfuls of the corn for her use. Ruth most humbly and discreetly thanked him for his kinducis to a poor stranger. Informed of all this at night, Naomi told Ruth, that Boaz was their near kinfman.

When harvest was ended, and Boaz one night watched his corn on the threshing-sloor, Naomi directed Ruth to go and lie down at his feet, and to bid him cast his skirt over her, or marry her, as he was her near kinfman. The known modefly of both prevented all fuspicion of unfeemly conduct.

NAP [189] NAP

conduct. When Boaz awaked, he obferved a woman at his feet, and asked who fhe was? She told him, and begged he would fpread his fkirt over her, as a token of his after espousing her. Boaz bleffed her, for fo closely adhering to the Hebrew law in the affair of her marriage; and in the morning fent her home loaded with corn for herfelf and Naomi; and promifed he fhould fpeedily effectuate her marriage either with himfelf, or with a nearer kinfman. Naomi hearing of this, affured Ruth, that Boaz would without fail be as good as his word. It was fcaree clear day, when Boaz convened the elders of the city at the gate, and called Elimelech's nearest kinfman to declare whether he would redeem the inheritance of Elimelech, and marry Ruth the widow of Chilion, or not. The kinfman, after his offering to redeem the inheritance, recalled his word, and bid Boaz do it; and by plucking off his shoe, resigned his right to Boaz. Boaz at the same time espoused Ruth, and foon after had by her a fon called Obed, in hopes he would be a fervant of the Lord, and would be ferviceable to his family. The neighbours mightily congratulated Naomi, as having now got an heir, and restorer of her old age. With great tenderness the nurfed the child, Ruth i .- iv. Who wrote the fhort history of Ruth, whether Samuel or not, is not quite certain. The ancient fathers confidered it as an appendix to Judges. The affair happened about the time of DEBORAH.

NAPHTALI, the fixth fon of Jacob, and by Bilhah the handmaid of Rachel. His fons were Jahzcel, Guni, Jezer, and Shillem, all of them parents of a numerous progeny. In his bleffing of Naphtali, Jacob faid, Naphtali is a hind let loofe, he giveth goodly words. This might express the activity and courtefy of that tribe; or the activity of Jefus and his apottles, who refided much in the territories of that tribe, in their preaching of the glad tidings of falvation to loit finners; but fome prefer the transfa-tion of the feventy, which reads the passage, Naphtali is a tree shot out, bringing forth goodly branches; and fo would import the fertility and increase of that tribe; but neither do the Licbrew accents countenance this reading, nor is it different from the bleffing of Joseph, in the very next verse. When this tribe came out of Egypt, it confifted of 53,400 fighting men, under the command of Ahira, the fon of Enan; but they decreased in the wilderness to 45,400. They encamped on the north of the tabernacle, and marched in the rear of the Hebrew hoft, in the camp of Dan. Their fpy to fearch Canaan, was Nahbi the fon of Vophfi, and their agent to divide it was Pedahel, the fon of Ammihud. Their inheritance was the fea, and the fouth, along the fouth of Lebanon, and the west of the seas of Merom and Tiberias, and was extremely fertile, Gen. xlvi. 24. xlix. 21. Numb. xxvi. 48.—51. i. 15. 42. 43. ii. 25. 30. x. 27. xiii. 14. xxxiv. 28. Deut. xxxiii. 23. Joth. xix. 32.—39. But they permitted the Canaanites to retain Bethanath, and Bethshemesh, two of their cities, on condition of their paying them tribute, Judg. i. 33. Under Barak their general, they and the Zebulunites fought with diftinguished bravery against the army of Jabin the younger, and at the defire of Gideon they purfued the Midianites, Judg. iv. 10. v. 18. vii. 23. A thousand of their captains, with 37,000 of their troops, affisted at David's coronation, and brought great quantities of provision with them, 1 Chron. xii. 34. 40. We find no person of distinguished note among them, fave Barak, and Hiram the artificer. Infligated by Aía, Benhadad the elder, king of Syria, terribly ravaged the land of Naphtali; and what it fuffered in after invafions by the Syrians we are not told, I Kings xv. 20. The Naphtalites were many, if not most of them carried captive by Tiglath-pilefer king of Affyria, 2 Kings xv. 29. Joliah purged their country from idols.. Our Saviour and his disciples, during his public miniflry, much resided and preached in the land of Naphtali, Is. is. 1. Matth. iv.

NAP 1 190 7 NAT

13. 15.

NAPHTUHIM, the fourth fon of Mizraim. Calmet thinks he peopled that part of African Ethiopia between Syene and Meroe, and of which Nepata was the capital: but we rather think with Bochart, that his posterity peopled Marmarica west of Egypt, and on the fouth shore of the Mediterranean fea. Hereabouts we find the temple of the god Aptuchus; nor is it unlikely that Naphtuhim may be the Neptune of the Heathens, who was originally a Lybian, and had his temples ordinarily built on fea-shores, Gen. x. 13.

NARCISSUS. If he was the wicked but famous freedman of the Emperor Claudius, he was dead before Paul wrote his epitle to the Romans; but the Christians of his family are faluted, Rom. xvi. 11.

NARROW. God looked narrowly to Job's ways; observed his crimes in order to punish him, and carefully prevented every possible way of his escape from trouble, Job xiii. 27. The nations looked narrowly upon Babylon, when ruined; with great attention and amazement, thought how quickly an empire, lately so strong and powerful, had come to ruin, Is. xiv. 6.

NATHAN; a famed prophet, and a confident of King David. Not long after David's advancement to the throne of Ifrael, he intended to build a temple for the Lord. Nathan, without waiting the divine direction, encouraged him to do it; but foon after, was directed of God to forbid him, and tell him, that that work was divinely allotted to his fon and fucceffor. Some years after, when David had defiled Bathsheba, and murdered her husband, Nathan, directed of God, reproved him. He told him a parable, of a man who had a great many flocks and herds of his own, and yet when his friend came to vifit him, he by force took from a poor neighbour his only lamb, which was very dear to him, to entertain his friend. With great indignation, David replied, that fuch a person should be obliged to restore fourfold to the poor man, and then be put to death. Nathan told him, that he himself was the guilty criminal; for God had made him ruler over the whole Hebrew nation, had providentially put into his power all the wives and concubines of Saul, and was about to bestow on him other favours; and yet he had defiled Bathsheba, the only wife of Uriah, and had murdered himself. On which accounts, Nathan told him, he and his family should be feverely punished with lewdness and death.—David was fo well pleased with this plainnefs of Nathau's rebuke, that, it feems, he named one of Bathsheba's When Adonijah atfons after him. tempted to fettle himfelf on the throne, Nathan, and Bathsheba by his direction, prevented it; and he and Benaiah, and others, were immediately appointed to crown Solomon, 2 Sam. vii. xii. I Kings i. Nathan and Gad wrote the history of David, probably the fecond book of Samuel, and last part of the first. He and Abijah wrote the history of Solomon, I Chron. xxix. 29. 2 Chron. ix. 27.; but whether this Nathan was the father of Azariah and Zabud, who were officers of confide. rable dignity under Solomon, we know not, I Kings iv. 5. · · · ·

NATHĂNAÉL. See BARTHO-

LOMEW. · · · · ·

NATION. See Prople.

NATIVITY; (1.) The birth of a person, Gen. xi. 28. (2.) The original rise of nations, Ezek. xvi. 3. 4.

NATURE; (1.) The ordinary course of things which God hath settled in the world, Rom. i. 26. 27. (2.) The light of reason naturally implanted in our mind, Rom. ii. 14. (3.) Common sense, or the general consent of nations, I Cor. xi. 14. (4.) The substance or essential parts and properties, Heb. ii. 16. (5.) Birth, or natural descent, Gal. ii. 15. We are by nature children of wrath: we are born under the guilt of Adam's first sin, and with a corrupt principle inclining us to all evil, and so must be detested of God, and condemned to everlasting punishment, Eph. ii. 3. Through the gofpel-promifes, we are made partakers of a divine nature; we have fellowship with the divine nature, and have divinely implanted in our foul a principle or habit of grace, conform to God, in spiritual knowledge, righteoufnets, and holiness, 2 Pet. i. 4. Idols are by nature no gods; they have no felf-existence; nothing of the effential perfections of godhead in them, Gal. iv. 8. NATURAL, is, (1.) What proceeds from birth and natural causes, 1 Cor. xv. 44. (2.) What is agreeable to natural defign, form, or inclination, Rom. i. 26. 27.

NAV [191] NAZ

NAVEL; that part of the belly, by which nourishment is conveyed to children in the womb, and which is cut and fastened at their birth. hemoth hath his strength in his navel, belly, or trunk of his body, Job xl. 16. It is put for the whole man, foul and body. Godliness is health to the navel, and marrow to the bones; it produceth and fecures the welfare of both foul and body, arifing from an inward fource of a conscience washed in Jesus's blood, and a heart renewed by his grace, Prov. iii. 8. The navel of the Hebrews not being cut, imported, that their finful nature was not corrected or changed; and that in Egypt they, as a nation, were in a most forlorn and dangerous condition. See GOBLET.

NAUGHT; (1.) What is worth nothing, Prov. xx. 14. (2.) What is unwholefome and hurtful, 2 Kings ii. 19. Naughty perfons, are fuch as are ufelefs for good, and active in doing mifchief, Jer. xxiv. 2. Prov. vi. 12. Naughtiness is base wickedness; and thus men are taken in, when punished for it, Prov. xi. 6.

NAVY; a fleet of ships, 1 Kings ix. 26. 27.

NAZARETH; a finall city of the Zebulunites in Galilee, about 70 or 75 miles north of Jerusalem, to the west of mount Tabor and east of Ptolemais. It was built on a hill, and noted for the wickedness of its inhabitants, Mark i. 9. Luke iv. 29. John i. 46. Here our Saviour was conceived, and laboured the most part of the thirty years of his private life: but their contempt of his ministry, and early attempt to murder him, by casting him from the brow of the hill whereon their city was built, occasioned his refiding little afterwards, and working few miracles among them, Luke iv. 16 .- 29. Matth. xiv. 57. It was a place of fome note for about 1200 years after Christ; but is at present of fmall confequence. It is unworthy of this work to mention the various curiofities collected and imagined here, by fantastic superstition, and shown to travellers; and far lefs to relate the Papifts ridiculous fable of the angels tranfporting the house of the blessed Virgin from hence to Dalmatia, and after fome more removes, to Loretto in Italy. Jefus's dwelling at Nazareth, occasioned his being called a NAZARENE; and by means of it, the prophecies that reprefented him as a Nazir, typified by Jofeph and the Nazarites, or as the Net-ZER, or branch, or the Notzer, or preserver of men, were in some sense fulfilled, Gen. xlix. 26. Numb. vi. If. xi. 1. lx. 21. Job vii. 20. Mat. ii. 24. The Jews called his followers Nazarenes, Acts xxiv. 5 .: but those mongrel professors who were for mingling Christianity with Judaism, came afterwards to be called Nazarenes, or Naziraans. It is faid they detefted the traditions of the Pharifees.

NAZARITES, were persons devoted to the peculiar fervice of God for a week, a month, a year, or for life. Some of them devoted themselves; and fome, as Samfon and John Baptist, were expressly claimed by God. During their vow, they were never to cut their hair, or drink any wine or ftrong drink; and it was extremely wicked to offer them any, Amos ii. 12. Nor were they to attend a funeral, or enter a house defiled by the dead. If they accidentally contracted any defilement, or any wife broke their vow, they had the time and duty of Nazariteship to begin again. They shaved off all their hair on the feventh day, and offered unto the Lord two turtle-doves, or pigeons, the one for a fin-offering and the other for a burnt-offering, and a lamb for a trespass-offering. their vow was finished, Nazarites prefented themselves at the door of the tabernacle or temple, with an he-lamb for a burnt-offering, a she-lamb for a fin-offering, and a ram for a peace-offering, with their respective meat-offerings and drink-offerings, and a basket full of cakes of unleavened bread, and wafers anointed with oil. After these, were offered, the Nazarite shaved his bair at the door of the fanctuary, and burnt it under the pot in which the tleth of his peace-offering was boiled. The priests then put into his hand the realted faculder of the ram of peaceoffering, with a cake and wafer of un-Leavened bread. These he returned to the priest, who waved them to and fro, dedicating them to the all-prefent God of every end of the earth; and so the vow was finished. As the oblations at the breach of the vow atoned for the fame, the offerings at the finishing of it were defigned to expiate the unknown breaches of it, and to render God thanks for enabling to fulfil it fo much, Numb. vi. Such as, like Samuel, Samfon, and John Baptist, were dedicated for life, had no occasion for these offerings. Such as lived out of Canaan, cut their hair in the places where the days of their vow were finished; but deferred the offerings till they got to the fanctuary: fo Paul shaved off his hair at Cenchrea, but deferred his oblation till he came to Jerusalem, Acts wiii. 18. xxi. 23. 24. Some who had not opportunity to perform the duties of the Nazarite themselves, contributed to bear the expences of fuch as had taken the vow.

hair

NAZ [192] NEA

Were not these Nazarites typical of Jesus Christ? Altogether holy, he was solemnly devoted to the service of God. Never was he desiled with carnal comforts and pleasures, nor intoxicated with finful lusts or earthly cares: never was he desiled by irregular affections towards his nearest relations, nor polluted by his gracious connections with men, in whom spiritual death or deadness do work. Instead of hair, his graces and good works increased more and more, and his people rooted in him, grow up and flourish in God's holy place. Never did he break his vow, but finished it in giving himself for an all-comprehensive offering for us; and in his refurrection, laid afide every token of continued fubjection to an angry God or broken law, and purges and inflames the hearts of his people, by his bleeding love .- Were not these Nazarites emblems of ministers and faints, who, denying themselves, and mortifying the deeds of the body, confecrate themselves to God; renounce this world, and the pleafures of fin; and by every breach of their vow, thro' inadvertent fellowship with dead works, ought to be excited to an application of Jefus's atonement to their conscience; and after they have done all, to trust only in his all-comprehending facrifice of himfelf!

NEAPOLIS, now called Christopolis; a city on the east of Macedonia. Since ever Paul was here, it seems there has been less or more of Christianity in it; and in the 6th and 7th centuries of the Christian æra, we find bishops here, Acts xvi. 11.

NEAR; at hand. God is near; he is every where prefent, and is ready to help his people in every case; or when he offers to fave, uphold, and comfort, Jer. xxiii. 23. If. lv. 6. xli. 5. Deut. iv. 7. 1 Kings ii. 7. Pfal. lxix. 18. lxxv. 1. cxix. 151. xxxii. 9. Lam. iii. 57. He is near in peoples mouth, but far from Vir reins, when they are oft talking of him, but are far from loving, defiring, and delighting in him, Jer. xii. 2. God's name is near; he is clofely related to his people, and intimate is their fellowship with him. His work is near exerted in upholding, protecting, and comforting them. His word is nigh, in their mouth and in their heart, preached to their ear, spoken by their lips, conceived by their mind, and powerfully applied to and believed by their heart. His Son is near; of old

NEB [193] NEB

sold was quickly to be, and now is in our nature, and is closely connected with us as our Surety, Mediator, and Redeemer, Pfal. 1xxv. 1. Rom. x. 8. God's righteousness is near, when he offers Jefus's righteoufnefs, in his word, to guilty finners, applies it by his Spirit, and when he shews the righteoufness of his nature, in justifying the ungodly through it, If. xlvi. 13. li. 5. Salvation is near, when it is to be wrought without delay; when in a very little we shall enter the state of perfect holiness and happiness, Rom. xiii. 11. Ifrael was a people near to God; while the Gentiles were far off, they were closely related to him, as his peculiar people; they had his ordinances and fymbols of his prefence among them; and he was ready to support and defend them, Pfal. exlviii. 14. If. lvii. 19. We draw near to God, when we worfhip him, and by faith, prayer, &c. have intimate fellowship with him, Lev. xvi. 1. 1 Sam. xiv. 36. Pf. lxxiii. 28. Is. lviii. 2. Zeph. iii. 2. Prayer comes near, when it is graciously heard and accepted, 1 Kings viii. 59. Pfal. exix. 169. In courts there is a drawing near, as a judge, witness, defendant, or advocate, Mal. iii. 5. Job xxxi. 37. If. xli. 1. l. 8. Trouble is near, when it is actually inflicted, and pierces even to the foul, or is just going to do fo, Pfal. xxii. 11.

NEBAIOTH, the eldest fon of Ishmael, the father of the Nabatheans, who appear to have been one of the most civilized tribes of the Arabians, and the most friendly to the Jews, and part of whom were converted to Christ,

Gen. xxv. 13. If. lx. 7.

NEBO, or ANAMBO; an idol of the Chaldeans; perhaps they borrowed him from the Moabites, who had a hill called Nebo, and a city near it of the fame name, about eight miles fouth of Heshbon, and which was taken both by the Assyrians and Chaldeans, Is. xlvi. 1. Deut. xxxiv. 4. Numb. xxxii. 38. Is. xv. 2. Jer. xlviii. 11. Or Nebo might be the same as Chemosh, or as Beltis the queen of Belus; and so might represent the moon. The Seventry of the same as the same a venty call this idol Dagon, and Calmet will have it Bel; but we suppose both these opinions are groundless. It is certain, Nebo is by Isaiah represented as different from Bel, and that the name thereof is compounded with many of the Chaldean names, as Nabonassar, Nabocolassar, Nabopolassar, Nebuchadnezzar, Nebuzaradan, Nebushasban, &c.

NEBUCHADNEZZAR, Nebu-CHADREZZAR, OF NABOPOLASSAR, the most famed king of Babylon. When Pharaoh-necho had taken Carchemish, a city on the Euphrates, the Phenicians, and part of the Syrians, revolted from the Chaldeans, who it feems had just before reduced them. Nabopolaffar, being then stricken in years, fent Nebuchadnezzar his fon with an army to recover them. He gained a complete victory over the Egyptinns at Carchemith, retook the place, and put the garrison to the sword. He then, with an army of 180,000 foot, 120,000 horse, and 10,000 chariots, according to Eupolemus, ravaged Phenicia and Canaan, took Jerufalem, and bound Jehoiakim, the tributary of the Egyptians, in chains, to carry him to Babylon; but afterwards allowed him to retain his kingdom, as a vaffal of the Chaldeans. He carried to Babylon, Daniel, Hananiah, Mithael, and Azariah, and others of the princes of Judah. To the above four young men he gave new names, importing connection with his idol-gods, calling them Belteshazzar, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego. Thefe, and other young captives, he caused train up in all the learning of the Chaldeans, that they might ferve in the court, 2 Kings xxiv. Dan. i.

About A. M. 3399 his father died, and he was fole king of Babylon: In the feeond year of his reign, he had a furprifing dream, but entirely forgot it. He affembled his diviners, and charged them to tell him his dream, and the interpretation thereof. They told him, that though they could interpret dreams, yet none but the gods could tell a man what he had dreamed; and that never a king had demanded any fuch thing from his diviners. Being outrageously provoked, he ordered Arioch the captain of his guard to put every wife man of Babylon to death .-Daniel, however, obtained leave to tell the king his dream, and the interpretation thereof. He was fo fatisfied with the account and interpretation, that he fell on his face before Daniel, as if an inferior deity, and ordered an oblation of spices to be presented to him, and acknowledged his God, the God of gods, and Lord of kings. He made Daniel chief of the wife men, and governor of the province of Babylon; and made Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, fubordinate governors in the same place, Dan. ii.

ВЬ

NEB [194] NEB

Meanwhile, a peace being concluded between the Medes and Lydians, by the mediation of Nebuchadnezzar, and of Syennesis king of Cilicia, Cyaxares king of Media, gave his daughter Amyite in marriage to Nebuchadnezzar; and they two marched their troops against Nineveh, and levelled it to the ground. Some of Nebuchadnezzar's troops had already ravaged Judea; but the Aflyrian war being finished, he fent his army into that country, and laid it waste, far and near. ter, he, upon what provocation we know not, marched his army against Jehoiachin; but that young monarch, with his whole family, furrendered themselves to his mercy, and were made prisoners, and carried to Babylon. He carried off a part of the facred furniture of the temple, and a multitude of captives. The Moabites, Ammouites, and Phenicians, together with the Egyptians, encouraged Zedekiah king of Judah to revolt from the Chaldeans. Nebuchaduezzar, with great fury, marched to chastife them. On the fouth-east of Syria, he was in doubt whether to begin with the Ammonites or the Jews: he referred the matter to the decision of divination; the divination directed him, first to march against the Jews. This war took him up near two years: himfelf retired to Riblah, and left his generals, Nebuzar-adan, Nergaltharezer, Samgar-nebo, Sarfychim, Rabfaris, and Rab-mag, to carry it on. They, after raising the slege of Jerufalem, to march against the Egyptians, returned to it, and took the city; and they left the poor of the land under the charge of Gedaliah, a prince who had early furrendered himfelf. According to Nebuchadnezzar's express orders, they took special care of Jeremiah; but the prisoners of distinction, which were carried to him at Riblah, Seraiah and Zephaniah, the two principal priests, Zedekiah's children and general, and 68 others, were all put to death, Zedekiah had his eyes put out, and was carried captive to Babylon, 2 Kings xxiv. xxv. 2 Chron. xxxvi. Ez. xxi. 19, - 24. Jer. vi. - xl. lii. It was perhaps at this time, about the 20th year of his reign, that he, with the gold which he had amaffed in his western expedition, erected the monftrous image to his god Belus, in the plain of Dura, in the province of Babylon. It was at least 90 feet high, and 9 broad; and having convened his princes, governors, captains, judges, and other officers under him, to the dedication of this idol, he issued a proclamation, that whenever the concert of mufic by cornet, flute, harp, fackbut, pfaltery, dulcimer, &c. should begin to play, every body should fall down on his knees or face, and adore this monftrous image, under pain of being cast into a siery furnace. Daniel either was abfeut, or, for fear of his great power, was not informed against; but Shadrach, Mcshach, and Abednego, were accused of resuling to worship the idol. Nebuchadnezzar called them before him, and interrogated them They told him, they if it was fo. would not worthip his image, and were confident their God was able to deliver them from his burning fiery furnace. Infuriate with rage, he ordered the furnace to be heated to a fevenfold degree, and them to be cast into it bound. The flames feized on those that cash them in, and burnt them to ashes. The Son of God appearing in human shape amidst the fire, caused it burn their bonds, but net fo much as to finge , their their cloaths, or an hair of their head, and walked with them up and down the furnace. Nebuchadnezzar obferving this, hinted it to his people about, and called to Shadrach, Mefhach, and Abednego, to come forth out of the furnace. They were quite unhurt, and not fo much as the finell of fire about them. Nebuchadnezzar extolled the power of the Hebrew God, and ordered, that whofoever fhould fpeak reproachfully of him, fhould be put to death, and his houfe made a daughill; and promoted thefe three Hebrews to higher governments in the province of Babylon, Dan. ix. 3.

NEB [195] NEB

About the 22d year of his reign, he marched his troops into Phenicia, and laid fiege to Tyre. Meanwhile, by detached parties, he reduced the Ammonites, Moabites, Edomites, and northern Arabians; and Nebuzar-adan carried off 745 Jews, whom he found in their land. After he had befieged Tyre 13 years, till his army was almost ruined with fatigue, and at the end obtained nothing but a deferted place, inhabitants having transported themselves and their effects to a neighbouring island, he caused reduce the city to ashes, and cast the rubbish into the adjacent fea. With fury, he then marched against the Egyptians, who had fupplied the Tyrians during the fiege; and after ravaging their country, and murdering the inhabitants, and particularly the Jews, who had fled thither after the murder of Gedaliah his deputy, he and his army returned to Babylon, laden with rich fpoils. alfo fubdued Perfia; and Media was in a kind of subjection. But when this happened, we know not, Jer. xxv. xxvii. xliii. xlvi.-xlix. If. xxiii. Ezek. xxv .--- xxxii. xxxv.

By this time, in the 35th year of his reign, his altonishing structures at Eabylon were almost finished. He dreamed of a tall and flourishing tree, laden with fruit, and a place of refuge to birds and beasts unnumbered, and yet all of a sudden, orders given by an angel to hew it down, shake off its leaves and fruit, but to fasten its root in the earth, as if with a band of iron and brafs, for feven years, that it might be wet with the dew of heaven, and have its portion with the beafts of the field. None of his diviners could interpret it. Daniel came, and being encouraged by the king to tell him the interpretation, be what it would, he told him, that it meant, that for feven years he should be reduced to the condition of a beaft, and driven from the fociety of men, and after his acknowledgement of the divine fupremacy, should be restored to his throne. Daniel intreated him to break off from his finful and unjust courfes, and shew mercy to the poor, captives, or others. Regardless of Daniel's admonition, Nebuchadnezzar continued as proud as ever. One day, as he walked on the top of his palace, perhaps in his hanging gardens, and looking on his august city, he faid, either to himfelf or fome companions, Is not this great Babylon, that I have built for my metropolis, and by the might of my power, and for the honour of my majesty? A voice from heaven replied to him, that he should be immediately driven from human fociety, and reduced to the condition of a brute beast. He was immediately struck with fome strange distemper, of a kin to what we call a lycanthropy, under which a person fancies himself a dog. cat, &c. and howls, bites, and eats in their manner, and shuns human society. Nebuchadnezzar fancied he was an ox, and imitated the manner of one. doubt his aftonished friends bound him as a madman; but he escaped out of their hands, fled to the fields, and there lived feven years on the grafs, and went naked, till his hair grew like eagles feathers, and his nails like birds claws. At the end of feven years, God restored him the use of his reason: he humbled himfelf, and glorified God, and ordered an account of his dream, and the fulfilment thereof, to be publithed to all his subjects. It is said, that after he was reflored to his government, he cast his son Evil-merodach into prison, perhaps that in which Jeboiachin had lain about 36 years, either B b 2 for the follies he had been guilty of during his father's diffemper, or to fecure the peace of the kingdom, Dan. iv. About a year after, Nebuchadnezzar died, in the 43d or 44th year of his reign. It is faid, that just before his death, he, feized with some supernatural impression, got up to the top of his palace, and cried to the Babylonians, That a muse, assisted by a Mede, i. e. Cyrus, whose father was a Persian and his mother a Mede, assisted by his uncle Darius the Mede, should ruin their empire, and reduce them to slavery.

NEB [196] NEH

NEBUZAR-ADAN. See Nebu-

CHADNEZZAR.

NECESSARY; NEEDEUL; what must be or ought to be, I Cor. xii. 22. One thing is needful; an interest in Jesus Christ, as our righteousness and strength, must be had; without it, we cannot live but under a curse; we cannot die without going into everlasting punishment; we cannot honour God, prosit ourselves, or be truly useful to our neighbours, Luke x. 42.

NECESSITY; (1.) The flate of a thing, that must needs be, Heb. ix. (2.) Poverty, or want of temporal good things, Rom. xii. 13. (3.) Force, or outward constraint: thus alms are not to be given out of necessity, 2 Cor. ix. 7. Of necessity he must release one unto them at the seast; that is, according to the wonted custom, it behoved Pilate, for the peace and welfare of the city, to release a prisoner, whom they pleafed, Luke xxiii. 17. A necessity was laid on Paul to preach the gospel; he could not execute his office, fulfil his duty, or have peace in his own mind, without preaching it, 1 Cor. ix. 16.

NECHO. See PHARAOH.

NECK; (1.) That part of an animal body between the head and shoulders, Judg. v. 30. (2.) Both head and neck, Deut. xxi. 4. (3.) The heart; and so a hard, fliff, or iron neck, imports mens obstinacy in, their love to, and practice of sin, Neh. ix. 29. Pfal. lxxv. 5. If. xlviii. 4. (4.) The whole man; and so to have a soke or bands on the neck, imports being in flavery and bondage, Deut. xxviii. 48. If. lii. 2. Jer. xxvii. 2. The neck of the church is like a tower of ivory, or the tower of David builded for an armoury, whereon hang a thousand skields of mighty men. How beautiful, itraight, comely, fixed, strong, adorning, and well furnished with spiritual armour, are the feriptures, ordinances, and minifters, which connect the church! and faith which connects every particular faint with Christ the head, and are so exceeding ufeful in their receiving nourishment from him, or breathing forth prayer and praise to him! Song iv. 4. 9. vii. 4. Transgressions come upon, or are wreathed about the neck, when they are punished with bondage and slavery, Lam. i. 14. The Assyrians reached even to the neck; they almost totally overslowed and ruined Judah, taking all the cities thereof, but Jerufalem the capital, If. viii. 8. xxx. The Ammonites came upon the necks of the flain Jews, when they were murdered in like manner by the Chaldeans, Ezek. xxi. 29. To lay down the neck, is to be ready to fuffer flavery or death, Rom. xvi. 4. God discovers the foundations unto the neck, when he utterly unfettles, and almost utterly deftroys his enemies, Hab. iii. 13.

NECROMANCER. See DIVINA-

TION.

NEGLECT; (1.) To take no care of, Acts vi. 1. (2.) To despise; resuse; make no proper improvement of, Matth. xviii. 17. 1 Tim. iv. 14. Heb. ii. 3.

NEGLIGENT; careles; inactive,

2 Chron. xxix. 11.

NEHEMIAH, the fon of Hachaliah, was perhaps of the royal family of David. Perhaps his being the royal cup-bearer in the Perfian court, and his fucceeding Zerubbabel in the government of the Jews, tends to confirm this opinion. About A. M. 3558 or 3560, ninety years after their return from Chaldea, he was informed by Hanani, that Jerusalem still remained in rubbish, and was a reproach or object of derision to all the nations around.

NEH [197] NEH

Deeply affected with this narrative, Nehemiah failed and prayed, that the Lord would profper his intention to ask the king's permission to go and rebuild it. He indeed attended to the bearing of the royal cup, but his countenance marked him fad and dejected. King Artaxerxes observing it, asked him the cause, probably suspecting he had fome bad defign in hand. Nchemiah was afraid, but lifting up his heart to God, he represented his gricf to the king, as the queen, fome fay Efther, fat by him. Upon his request, Artaxerxes, in the 20th year of his reign, empowered him to go and rebuild the walls of Jerufalem. He gave him letters of fafe conveyance to the governors on the west of the Euphrates, and one to Afaph the keeper of the forest of Lebanon, ordering him to furnish Nehemiah with timber, and every other thing necessary for the repairs of Jerufalem, and for Nehemiah's own house.

Arrived at Jerufalem with the king's commission, he and his fervant went round the wall of the city in the night, and found it wholly in ruins. Hereon he assembled the chief men among the Jews, informed them of his powers and intention, and encouraged them to begin the work. They readily agreed to his proposal, and different pieces of the wall were affigned to the various principal men. Thirty-two of thefe, together with the companies of the priefts, Levites, Nethinims, and the goldfiniths, and merchants, exerted themselves in this good work. Some repaired over against their own house, and some, as the inhabitants of Tekoah, Gibeon, and Mizpeh, generoutly repaired a part of it, though they lived in other cities. Sanballat the Horonite, and Tobiah the Ammonite, originally a fervant, but now a governor, and Gashimu the Arabian, were extremely vexed to hear of Nehemiah's arrival, to help and encourage the Jews, and to fee the repairs of the wall of Jerusalem carried on with fo much ardour. They first scoffed at the Jews and their work; but feeing it go on, they and their countrymen made feveral attempts to furnishe and murder the Jews at it. To frultime their intentions, Nehemiah placed a guard on the outfide of the builders, and caused every builder to keep his fword by him as he builded: they never out off their cloaths, either day or night, except for washing; and the trumpeter went along with Nehemiah, ready to found the alarm, in cafe of danger. Finding that they could do nothing by open violence, Sanballat and Tobiah had recourse to stra-Tobiah having married the daughter of Shechaniah, a prince of Judah, had a powerful part of the Jews in his interest. These, with the Jews that lived in the country about, did what they could to dispirit Nehemiah and his friends, as if it were impossible to withstand fo many enemies, who would of a fudden attack them from every quarter. Sanballat and his companions wrote four letters, inviting Nehemiah to a friendly conference in the plain of Ono: but they caused a party lie in wait to murder him by the way. He returned them answer, that the great and important work which he was about requiring his constant attendance, he could not come. Sanballat then wrote him an open letter, importing, that a report was spread, and was affirmed by Gashmu, a man of credit and influence, that he and the Jews rebuilded Jerusalem with a design to revolt, and that he had fuborned the prophets to flir up the people to choofe him for their king; and that, as king Artaxerxes could not but hear this report, it was necessary they should confult together how to confute it. Nehemiah, confcious of his innocency, trusting in his God, and, perfuaded of the king's favour, returned no other answer, but that the whole report was falfe, and had been forged by Sanballat himself. Sanballat and Tobiah then bribed over the prophet Shemaiah, and the prophetess Noadiah, to endeavour the murder of Nehemiah and the hindrance of the work. Shemaiah shut up himfelf in his chamber, as if habitually given to meditation, failing, and prayer.

NEH [198] NEH

This imposed on Nehemiah a little, and made him think him remarkably pious, and a real friend. One time, as Nehemiah was in his house, he told him that he would be flain that very night, unless they two should shut up themselves in a secret place of the temple. Nehemiah replied, that it was quite improper he, whose conduct was fo innocent, and his prefence and bold influence to necessary, should hide himfelf any where. Thus, notwithstanding all that Sanballat, Tobiah, Gefhem, and their partizans of treacherous Jews could do, the wall was finished in 52 days after they began to repair it; and almost a year after, it was dedicated with folemn facrifices and thankfgiving, Neh. i.—iv. vi. xii. 27.—43.

Meanwhile' Nehemiah applied himfelf to rectify diforders. He curbed the inhumanity of the nobles and rich men, who retained the lands of their poor brethren in mortgage, and held their children in flavery. To flew himfelf a distinguished pattern of generofity, he never demanded the falary prescribed him by the Persian king, but maintained his family on the product of his own fields, and on the falary which he received as the king's cup-bearer. He fettled the genealogies by an old register which he found. The feaths of trumpets and of tabernaeles were observed with more exactness than had ever been done fince the time of Joshua the son of Nun; and Ezra, affished with 13 others, did on both occasions read and explain the book of the law to the people. Immediately after, he caused the Jews who had married heathenish women put them away:-and after folemn failing and confession of fins, they renewed their covenant with God, and folemuly vowed obedience to his law. They particularly vowed to espouse no heathen women; to buy no goods on the Sahbath; to observe the year of release; to give their first-fruits and firstlings to the Levites, with more exactness than had been done for fome time past; and to allow the third part of a shekel extraordinary every year for the fervice of the temple: 22 priests, 17 Levites, and 44 chief men of the people, fubfcribed this covenant, and all the rest of the people who understood it declared their adherence. As Jerufalem was poorly inhabited, the tenth man was chosen by lot to dwell in it. and Nehemiah bleffed fuch as offered themfelves willingly to dwell in it; and the charge of the city was given to Hanani, the brother of Nehemiah, and to Hananiah, the fon of Zerubbabel, one eminently faithful and pious; and a guard was placed at every gate, to prevent the enemies from cutering The order of the Levites, priefts, fingers, and porters, was rectified and established, Neh. v. vii.—xii.

After Nehemiah had governed the Jews 12 years, he returned to King Artaxerxes, and after fome flay in Perfia, returned to Judea. Jews, contrary to their covenant, had married strange wives: they profaned the Sabbath, by bearing of burdens, and buying of fish, and other wares, from the Tyrians, thereon; they had with-held the dues of the Levites, and obliged them to defert the fervice of the temple; all these disorders, partly by expostulation, for convincing them of the iinfulness thereof, and partly by force, Nehemiah quickly rectified. Tobiah had fixed his refidence at Jerufalem, and Manassch, the grandson of Eliashib the high priest, who had married the daughter of Sanballat, had procured him a lodging in the court of the temple. Nehemiah drove Tobiah from his lodging, and cast out his furniture, and banished Manasseh the priest from the city. Sanballat, his fatherin-law, obtaining the confent, not of Alexander, as Josephus fays, but of Darius Nothus, built a temple for him on mount Gerizzim, where he, and perhaps his descendants, officiated as priests to the Samaritans. After Nehemiah had governed the Jewish state about 36 years, he died. Probably he wrote his own history; for as he died about A. M. 3595, Jaddua, who officiated as high priest when Alexander passed that way, A. M. 3670, might NEI [199] NET

he a boy of 10 or 12 years of age, Neh. xii. 11. As from Ezra's commission to rectify the affairs of Judea, to the year in which Nehemiah is here fupposed to die, is 49 years; this may correspond to the feven weeks of Daniel, in which the city and wall of Jerufalem was built in troublesome times, Dan. ix. 25. The NEHEMIAH that returned from Babylon with Zerubbabel, was a different person from him who is the fubject of this article; as he had occafion to fee the ruins of Jerusalem, and could fearce have been below 110 years of age, and fo not very proper for a cup-bearer, in the 20th year of Artaxerxes.

NEIGH; to cry as a horse, particularly a stallion. Whoremongers enticement of women to unchastity, is called a neighing, because brutish and thameless, Jer. v. 8. xiii. 27.

NEIGHBOUR; (1.) One that dwells near us, Exod. iii. 22. (2.) A fellow labourer, Acts vii. 27. One that stands in need of our help, and to whom we have an opportunity of doing good, Prov. iii. 28. Matth. xxii. 39. (4.) One that pities and relieves us in diftress, Luke x. 36. Job xvi. + 21. In our Saviour's time, the Jews generally imagined, that only those of their own nation were their neighbours, who ought to be loved, and that they might hate every body elfe; but he shewed them, that all men living, even fuch as hated them, were their neighbours, to whom love and beneficence ought to be extended, Matth. v. 43.—48. Luke x. 29.—37. evil neighbours whom God would pluck out of their land, were the Egyptians, Philiftines, Moabites, Ammonites, Syrians, and Phenicians, who dwelt near to, and oft haraffed the Jews, who were his people, Jer. xii. 14.

NEPHEWS; (1.) Grandchildren, Judg. xii. 14. 1 Tim. v. 4. (2.) Pofterity in general, Job xviii. 9. II.

xiv. 22.

NERGAL; an idol of the Cuthites, who were a tribe of the Chaldeans or Perfians. The Jews represent it in the form of a cock; but as the word fig-mifies the revealing or rolling lamp, it is more probable that it fignifies the fire or the fun. 'Two of Nebuchadnezzar's generals were, in honour of it, called Nergal-sharezer, 2 Kings xvii. 30. Jer. xxxix. 3.

NERO; an infamous emperor of Rome, who ruled from A. D. 54, to 67 or 68. In the first part of his reign he behaved with fome decency and justice, pretending to copy after Augustus. In the end of it he turned one of the most tyrannical wretches that ever breathed. He murdered his mother, and almost all his friends, and principal subjects. He mightily encouraged stage-plays, and every thing lewd and foolish. About A. D. 65, he caused burn the city of Rome, and fung one of his poems at the view of the flames. To appeale the senate, he transferred the blame on the innocent Christians. Multitudes of them were apprehended; fome were fewed up in the skins of wild beasts, and torn to pieces by dogs; others were crucified; others were burnt in Nero's gardens, as nocturnal illuminations to the city; while he, with great pleafure, beheld the fpectacle from his window. Perhaps he was the more enraged, that fome of his own family, and, it is faid, one of his darling concubines, were turned to the Lord, Phil. iv. 23. In this perfecution, perhaps most of the apostles were cut off. After his tyranny and murder had rendered him quite intolerable, the fenate declared him the enemy of the state, and he, in despair, sled; and being fought for to be killed, murdered himfelf, with the affiftance of Epaphroditus his freed-man.

NEST; (1.) A fmall lodgement, where fowls hatch their young, Deut xxii. 6. (2.) The eggs or young birds in a neft, If. x. 14. Deut, xxxii. 11. (3.) An habitation feemingly very fecure and undiffurbed, Jer. xlix. 16. Obad. 4. Hab. ii. 9. A neft in cedars, is houses built of cedar-wood, Jer. xxii. 23.

NET; DRAC; (1.) An inftrument for catching fish, birds, or wild beafts, Matth. iv. 18. If. li. 20. (2.) Artificial work, wrought or woven in the form of a net, I Kings vii. 17. God's net, is the entangling afflictions wherewith he chastises or punishes men, Job xix. 6.; or the church; or the dispensation of the gospel, whereby many are drawn to Christ. This is cast into the sea of this world, and many are either really, or in appearance, drawn by it. last it will be emptied into the eternal state, all the good rendered happy, and the bad cast into everlasting fire, Matth. xiii. 47.-50. The net of wicked men, wherewith they enfnare others, and draw wealth and power to themselves, is their crafty plots, and vigoroufly-executed purpofes of mischief, Psal. ix. 15. Mic. vii. 2. Pfal. cxl. 5. Hab. i. 16. The Jewish rulers and priests were a net, a means of drawing others into fin and ruin, Hos. v. 1. In vain the net is spread in the fight of any bird: without cause, traps are laid to enfnare and defroy innocent perfons; and to no purpose are sinners warned by the mifery and destruction that happened to their fellow-criminals before them, Prov. i. 17.

tificial

NET [200] NIC

NETOPHAH, or NETOPHATHI; a city of Judah between Bethlehem and Anathoth, and peopled by the posterity of Salma, the father of Bethleem. It is faid to have been noted for olives and artichokes, I Chron. ii. 51. 54. Whether it be the same as Nephtoah, I know not; but Maharai, one of David's mighties, and Ephai, a captain that submitted to Gedaliah, were natives of this place, 2 Sam. xxiii. 28. Jer. xl. 8.

NEW; (1.) What was but lately formed, appointed, or begun to be used, Josh. ix. 13. I Kings xi. 29. (2.) Strange; extraordinary, Numb. xvi. 30. (3.) What is different from, or more excellent than what went before. Thus the saints are new neatures, and have a new spirit, a new heart, and all things new: instead of the old corrupt and carnal views, and dispositions, and manner of life, they have spiritual knowledge, holy dispositions, and pious lives, springing from a conscience purified by the blood of Christ, and a heart actuated by his Spirit, excited by his love, and directed to his glory, Gal. vi. 15. 2 Cor. v. 17. Ezek. xi. 19. xxxvi. 26. Rev. xxi. 7. God created a new thing in the earth, when he made the bleffed Virgin conceive, and bring forth his Son, in our nature, Jer. xxxi. 22. Christ's blood opens a new and living way; one not afforded by the old covenant of works, but one more excellent, in which life is given to dead finners, Heb. x. 20. Chrift's new name is Redeemer, Lord our righteousness, King of kings, and Lord of lords, Rev. iii. 12. The covenant of grace is called new; it fucceeds to the old broken covenant of works; it is ever fresh, flourishing, and excellent; and under the gospel, it is dispensed in a more clear, spiritual, extensive, and powerful manner, than of old, Jer. xxxi. 33. The glorious state of the church during the Millennium and eternal state, is called a new Jerusa-lem, as much more glorious or lasting than the old Jerufalem, Rev. iii. 12. xxi. 1. The faints fongs are called new; they are most sweet, hearty, and excellent, proceeding from new hearts, and for God's mercies, that are new, fresh, and ever repeated, every morning, Pfal. xl. 3. cxlix. Lam. iii. 23. There is nothing new under the fun; the same kind of events return from age to age; and, except in the case of miracles, there is rarely or never any event but had its like in former times, Eccl. i. 9. 10. iii. 15.

NIBHAZ, the sceing barker; the idol-god of the Avites, who, it is said, was worshipped in the likeness of a dog. Possibly he is the same with the Egyptian Anubis: or, what if he is the same with Nebo, and his name signify the all-seeing Nebo, 2 Kings

xvii. 31.

NICODEMUS, a follower of Jefus Christ. He was a Jewish Pharifee, and a ruler among his people. At first, though he conceived some esteem for our Saviour, yet he was ashamed to profess it, and so came to him by night for instruction. When he had complimented our Saviour with fome honorary titles, as an excellent teacher, and hinted his defire to learn fomewhat, Jesus told him, he could not become a true member of his church, except he was born again, and his nature wholly renewed. Grofsly ignorant of regeneration, of the Old-Testament oracles relative thereto, Nicodemus asked, How one could re-enter into his mother's womb, and be born again? Jefus afked, If he was a teacher in Ifrael, and knew not thefe things? and told him, that the new birth he fpoke of, was effected by spiritual influence; and that, if he could not believe what was fo often experienced on earth, how would he believe information concerning heavenly and eternal things, known only to the Son of man, prefently in heaven as to his divine nature, while his human was upon earth? He informed him, that as the brazen ferpent was lifted up in the wilderness, for the general means of cure to the ferpentbitten Hebrews, so himself should be quickly lifted up on the crofs, and in the gospel, for the falvation of all the ends of the earth :- that God, in infinite kindnefs, had given him to be the Saviour of the world :- that whofoever believed on him, should not perish, but have everlasting life; and whoever believed not, should be damned:-and added, that the reason why many believed not his instructions, was because their deeds were evil, and ready to be discovered by means thereof, John iii. 1.—21. After this conference, we hope Nicodemus was a real disciple of Jesus Christ, and attended his ministrations as he had opportunity. When afterwards he fat in the fanhedrim, and heard the members raging at their officers for not apprehending our Saviour, and deriding the people who believed on him, as ignorant and accurfed, he asked, If it was according to the law, which they pretended to know fo well, to condemn a man before they heard him? These furious bigots asked Nicodemus, If he too was a Galilean? and bid him read VOL. II.

he

his Bible, and he would find, that never a prophet came out of Galilee.--Poor ignorants! both Jonah and Nahum came out of it.—When our Saviour was crucified, Nicodemus still more openly avowed himfelf a Chriftian, and affifted Joseph of Arimathea to inter the facred corpfe, John vii. 45.-52. xix. 39. 40. It is faid, that when the other members of the fanhedrim heard of Nicodemus's baptifm, they deposed him from his office of fenator, and excommunicated him from their fynagogue; but Gamaliel, his coufin, took him to his country-house, where he lived the rest of his time. and was honourably buried near to Stephen the deacon. A fpurious gospel, called by fome, The Acts of Pilate, is afcribed to Nicodemus; but it is plainly marked with forgery.

NICOLAS, one of the first seven deacons; he was a native of Antioch, a profelyte to the Jewish religion, and lastly, a convert to the Christian faith. He was much diftinguished for holiness and zeal, Acts vi. Whether by fome imprudent or finful conduct, he gave any occasion to the rife of the abandoned fect of the NICOLAITANS; or whether they, knowing his fame for fanctity, fcreened themselves under his name; or whether the Nicolas that founded that fect was a different person, is not agreed. Perhaps this feet was a part of, or the very fame with the Gnostics. It is faid, they used their women in common, reckoned adultery, and the use of meats offered to idols, indifferent things; they imputed their wickedness to God as the cause; they held a multitude of fables concerning the generation of angels, and the creation of the world by fubor-They had a confiderdinate powers. able fpread in Afia for a time. Ephefus they were detefted; but at Pergamos and Thyatira they were finfully tolerated by the Christians, Rev. It does not appear that they continued long under the name of Nicolaitans; but perhaps they in reality continued under the character of Cainites. \mathbf{C} c

NICO

NIC 202 NIL

NICOPOLIS; a city where Paul informs Titus he determined to winter; but whether it was Nicopolis in Epirus, on the Ambracian gulf, or if it was Nicopolis in Thracia, on the east of Macedonia, and near the river Nessus, we cannot positively determine, though we chiefly incline to the latter, Tit. iii. 12.

NIGH. See NEAR.

NIGHT; (1.) The time when the fun is below our horizon, Ex. xii. 30. (2.) The time of heathenith ignorance and profaneness, in which, what spiricual darknefs, danger, floth, and flumbling into fin abound! Rom. xiii. 12. (3.) Advertity, which, as night, is perplexing, comfortless, and difagreable; or the bafon of it, If. xxi. 12. Song v. 2. (4.) Death, wherein we are laid affeep, and are quite imactive, John is 4. (5.) The feafor in which any long comes fuddenly and unexpectedin upon us, I Theff. v. 2. If. xv. 1. Luke xii. 20. (6.) The whole time of our life on earth, due which, dark ignorance, danger, and finful stambling, much prevail, Song i. 13. Rom. xiii. 12. (7.) A very fhort while, Pfal. xxx. 6. The day is made dark with night; the fun goes down at noon; and the earth is darkened in the clear day; night is unto men, and the day dark over the prophets. when all of a fudden prosperity is turned into mifery, and even teachers are under the power of delufion, or are fo perplexed that they know not what to think or fay, Amos v. 8. viii. q. Mic. iii. 6. There inall be no night in the new Jerufalem : during the Millennium there shall not be such ignorance, diffrefs, or wickedness in the church, as at prefent; and in heaven, there shall be no ignorance, no sin or diffrefs, Rev. xxi. 25. By night on my bed I fought him whom my foul loweth: amidit diffrefs, ignorance, and floth, I fought to have fellowship with him, Song iii. 1.

NILE; SIHOR; the noted river of Egypt. It has its fource in Upper Ethiopia. Father Pars fays, it fprings from two wells about 20 paces diffant, the one about 25, and the other about 16 palms or handbreadths deep; but Thevenot fays it iprings from one. About three days journey from its fource, this river is pretty wide, and fusficient to bear boats. After receiving a river called Jama, it purfues its courfe westward about 90 miles; it then winds to the east, and falls into the large lake of Zaire or Dambea; from hence it winds about to the fouth-east, and then to the north-west, till it come within about twenty miles of its fource. It then runs northward: not without feveral windings, till at last it falls into Egypt. Perhaps, about Sennar, a long way fouth of Egypt, it is parted into two branches, the one of which runs westward thro' Africa, and is called the Niger, Nigir, or Senega river, and the other runs northward through Egypt, and is called the Nile, i. e. Nabal, or Necl. river, and called the Sihor, or Shihor, for its blackness, by reason of the black mud which it carries along with it; and the river of Egypt, as there is none elfe in that country that deferves the name. It hath feven remarkable falls, or cataracts. At one of them the water falls as a white sheet from a rock 200 feet high, and with fuch violence, that it makes an arch, leaving a broad way for travellers to pass below at the bottom of the rock, without being wet, and with a noise louder than thunder, which is heard at the distance of 9 or 10 miles. Though it runs about 1500 miles, and receives a great many rivers, especially before it enter Egypt, its stream on ordinary occasions, is not fo great as might be expected. Villamont indeed fays its width at Cairo is about three miles; but others, of no lefs credit, make it much lefs. About 60 or 80 miles before it fall into the Mediterranean fea, it divides into two streams, which leave the Delta between them; and thefe two currents divide into others. It appears from the feripture and ancient writers, that it then had feven flreams, If. xi. 15. How many are at present, is not agreed; some have reckoned NIL [203] NIM reckoned nine, others eleven, others fourteen; but it feems there are but four, or rather three, of any account, viz. the Pelufiac on the cast, the Canopic on the west, and the Pathmetic in the middle. In the end of June, July, and August, the excessive rains in Abvífinia caufe an annual fwell of this river till it overflow the country. In August, twenty miles on either side are covered with water, and nothing feen except the houses and trees; but travellers do not agree in the height of its rife. It is certain, that, as the foil is now much higher, by the yearly increase of mud, perhaps at the rate of a foot in 100 years, according to Shaw, it requires a much higher rife to fertilife the country than it did of old. Some travellers will have the rife of 29 feet perpendicular to be best; but others will have one about 36 or 40 feet to be the best, which last, I suppose, comes nearest the truth. the rife of the water be too fmall, the country is not duly fattened with the mud. If its rife be too great, it deluges the country, and it goes off too late for the fowing of the feed. The overflow is less remarkable in Lower Egypt, than in the fouthern part of that kingdom, perhaps on account of the multitudes of ditches and canals, and partly because there is less need of it, on account of the frequent rains. In Upper Egypt, where they have almost no rain, they retain the water in large cifterns or canals, that they may therewith laboriously water their fields at pleafure. To prevent excessive inundations of the country, they digged the immenfe lake of Mæris; and from it they water the country on proper occafions; and other lakes are formed of the waters of the Nile, for the defence of the country from the Arabs, and other ravagers or enemies. They too employ about 200,000 oxen in drawing water out of deep pits and wells, to water their fields and gardens. After the waters of the Nile are withdrawn, the Egyptians, in October and November, fow their feed among the mud, which being trampled down by the fwine, which they allow to range ar mong it, or covered by other like carelefs methods, brings forth a plentiful crop. The water of the wells digged in Egypt is very unpleafant and unwholefome; but that of the Mile, though thick and muddy, is, when purified by filtration, the most delicious in the world, and is to falutary, as never to hurt the drinker, shough taken in great quantities. In the month of June, when the river begins to oze low. the water turns reddish or green, and is very unwholehe e, and violently vergative; and the fore the Egyp - s. for about 20, 10, or 40 days, and k of that which they had preferred it sifterns under their he ifes and molinics

NIMRAH, or BETH-NIMRAH, relaty of the Gadden, fomewhere al cut the head of the river Arlon, Numbers, and a little north-ead of Zoar, it must have been a different place from Nimrah. These places feem to have had their names from the place from the head to leopards about them. The waters of Nimrin were defolate, when the fishers therein, or the inhabitants on the banks thereof, were cut off, or carried into captivity, by the Assyrians and Chaldeans, Is. xv. 6. Jer.

xlviii. 34.

NIMROD, the fon of Cush. was a mighty hunter before the Lord; and either rendering himfelf ufeful by the killing of wild beafts, or by violent oppressing of his neighbours, he procured himself a kingdom. He first fet up for king at Babylon, and then extended his dominion to Erech, Accad, and Calneh, in the land of Shi-He was, no doubt, a mighty promoter of the building of Babel; and it feems his tyranny had obliged Ashur, the fon of Shem, to leave the country, and retire eastward to the other fide of the Hiddekel or Tigris. There is no proper evidence that Nimrod was the Ninus who founded Nineveh, though he may be one of the Belufes concerned in the building of

C c 2 Babylon.

NIN [204] NIT

Babylon- Part of his history dressed up in fable is contained in the Grecian history of Bacchus, Gen. x. 8.—11.

hittory of Bacchus, Gen. x. 8.—11. NINEVEH; the capital of Affyria, and built by Ashur the fon of Shem, Gen. x. 11. Without doubt Nineveh was built on the bank of the river Tigris; but whether on the western or eaftern is not agreed. We suppose it flood on the eastern, almost opposite to the present Mosul. It was one of the largest cities in the world. In Jonah's time it was a city of three days journey about, or would require him three days to go through it, proclaiming its overthrow. It then had above 120,000 infants in it, whom we cannot suppose above the 8th or 10th part of the inhabitants. Diodorus fays, it was 60 miles in circumference; and Strabo fays it was larger than Babylon. Its wall was 200 feet high, and fo thick, that three chariots a-breast might have been driven along the top. On the wall were built 1500 towers, each 200 feet higher than the wall. This city was early very noted for wealth, idolatry, and whoredom. When Jonah the prophet, about A. M. 3142, warned the inhabitants, that if they did not repent they should be destroyed within 40 days, they were mightily affected: a fast of three days both for man and beaft was appointed, and they cried mightily to God for the preventing of this stroke. He heard their prayers, and long delayed their min. Some fay it was destroyed about an hundred years after Jonah, under Sardanapalus, or Sardan-pul; but, for the reafons given in the article Assyria, we cannot believe it; and the rather, that the feripture expressly declares, that Nineveh's ruin would be so complete as to need no repetition. The kings of Affyria had collected into it the most of the wealth of the east, Nah. ii. c. 12. Nahum defcribes the ruin of Nineveh in the most graphical manner, that the rivers should break through the walls, chap. i. 8. ii. 6. that their troops and inhabitants should be quite dispirited, chap. iii. 13. and feized in their drunknness, chap. i. 10. iii. 11. 18.; their allies should defert them, or their merchants forfake the city, chap. iii. 16.; and their own officers, through drunkenness or stupidity, defert their station, chap. iii. 17.; and the Medes and Chaldeans ride with torches through the city in the night, chap. ii. 3.4. The Medes and Perfians had feveral times laid fiege to this city, and were diverted by various accidents; but after the massacre of the Tartars in Media, they repeated the fiege, Cyaxares and Nebuchadnezzar being the commanders. After they had lain before it three years, the river Tigris or Lycus, exceedingly fwollen, broke down two miles and a half of the wall. Whenever the waters affuaged, the befiegers rushed into the city, and murdered the inhabitants, who lay buried in their drunkennefs, occasioned by an advantage which they had just before gained over the enemy. When the king, whose name we fuppofe was Sardanapalus, heard the city was taken, he shut up himself and his family, and wealth, it is faid to the value of about 25,000 millions Sterling, in the palace, and then fet fire to it, and destroyed all that was in it. It is faid it was 15 days before the flames were quenched. This happened about A. M. 3403. This city was never rebuilt; but another Niueveh or Ninus was built near it, which continued till the first ages of Christianity; but at present there is fearce a veftige to be difeerned either of the one or the other, Nah. i. ii. iii. Zeph. ii. 13.—15.

NISROCH; an idol of the Affyrians. What he was, or how reprefented, is hard to determine. Perhaps Vitringa is in the right, who thinks he was Belus, worshipped under the habit of a Mars or god of war, 2 Kings

xix. 37.

NITRE; that which we now call fo, is faltpetre, a well known fubstance, whitish in colour, and of a sharp bitterish taste. In its crude state, it seems to have no acidity at all, but affords an acid spirit, capable of dissolving almost any substance. Saltpetre is naturally blended with particles of earth, as the ore thereof. Nay, any kind of earth well moistened by the dung or urine of animals, will yield it in confiderable quantities. The nitre of the ancients feems to have been quite different from ours, being a genuine, native, and pure falt, and a fixed alkali, and being diffolved in vinegar, washed out fpots from peoples cloaths or fkin. There were mines of it fouthward of Memphis in Egypt, Prov. xxv. 20. Though thou wash thee with nitre, and take thee much foap, thine iniquity is mark! ed before me: thy guilt is so great, that no prefences to reformation can turn' away thy punithment, Jer. ii. 22.

NO [205] NOA

NO, a populos. Fty of Egypt; but where, is not a way. It con toot be Alexandria, a start was and built when No was ruined. Calmet will have it to be Diospolis, in the Delta, which had Bufiris on the fouth, and Mendefium on the north. But we can fee no reason why this should be called populous in 'an eminent degree. Vitringa inclines to think it Noph or Memphis; but we rather think it was Thebes or Diofpolis, which is much the fame as No-ammon, the habitation of Jupiterammon, as that idol had a famous temple here. It was the capital of Upper Egypt, and was built chiefly on the east of the Nile. In its glory, it is faid to have had an hundred gates, each capable to iffue forth 20,000 men, and that 700,000 foldiers had their refidence in it; but these accounts are too pompous to be credible. It is certain that it was very populous, and No-ammon may fignify the dwelling of multitudes. Under Sennacherib, or his fon, the Affyrians took Thebes, and reduced it to a defolation, while Egypt and Ethiopia were under one king, Nah. iii. 8. -10. It was rebuilt; but Cambyfes the Persian destroyed it, when it was about 52 miles in circumference, or, as fome fay, in length. The wealth they found in it was immenfe. again rebuilt, but far lefs in extent, and was destroyed by Cornelius Gallus the Roman general. The ruins of the four noted temples that were here, were long very discernible, if they are not so itill. The city Said, or perhaps Luxxor, is built near to where the ancient Thebes flood.

NOAH, Nor; the fon of that Lamech that was defeended of Seth. He was the ninth in defeent from Adam, and it feems the eighth preacher of righteousness, 2 Pet. ii. 5. At his birth, his father Lamech expressed his hopes that he would be a figual comfort to him and his family, and fo gave him a name fignifying reft and comfort. In his time wickedness univerfally prevailed. Noah not only walled pioufly himself, but admonished his neighbours to do fo. To reward his flrick piety amid fo many temptations to the contrary, God preferved him and his family from the universal deluge. effect this, he, at God's direction, built an ark fufficient to accommodate him, and a fample of all the animals that could not live in the water. Perhaps he fpent 120 years in building it, that the corrupt antediluvians might have the more time to repent of their fins, ere the flood should be fent. In A. M. 1656, and when Noah was 600 years of age, he, his wife, and his three fons, Shem, Ham, and Japheth, and their wives, and feven pair of all clean animals, male and female, and two pair of unclean animals, entered the ark, and were shut up in it by the Lord. When Noah, almost a year after, found that the waters were mightily decreafed, he fent out a raven to fee if the earth was dry. It lived on the floating carrion, and never returned to him. He next fent a dove, which finding no dry place to rest on, returned, and Noah put out his hand, and brought her into the ark: after feven days, he fent her out a fecond time, and she returned with a fresh olive-leaf in her mouth. When he fent her out a third time, she returned not. After he and his family, and the other animals, had lodged a year and ten days in the ark, they came out. Noah offered a facrifice of thankfgiving for his prefervation, and the Lord accepted it, and promifed, that no wickedness of men should hereafter provoke him to defiroy the earth, er animals thereof, or to deny the regular return of the feafons. The Lord alfo charged Noah and his fons to multiply and replenish the earth; he allowed them to eat the flesh of clean animals, providing they did not eat them with the blood, raw, in the manner of beafts, or having the blood run through the flesh; and he ordered that every murderer of men should be put to death. To mark the establishment of his covenant for the prefervation of the world, he promifed to fet his rainbow in the cloud, in wet weather, as a token the waters should no more cover the earth. Soon after the flood, Noah commenced an hutbandman, and cultivated the vine; and it feems, infenfible of the intoxicating virtue thereof, took of the wine, till he was drunk, and lay uncovered in his tent. his younger fon, perhaps informed by Canaan, went and faw him in this condition; and in a sportive manner told his two brethren thereof. They took a mantle, and going backward, that they might not behold their father's thaine, fpread it over him. When Noah awakened, and was quite fober, he, understanding the behaviour of his fons, and inspired of God, denounced a curse of fervitude upon the posterity of Ham, chiefly the descendants of Canaan. These he predicted should be slaves to the offspring of the two brothers who had covered him; and be oppressed by the Hebrews, Affyrians, Chaldeans, Perfians, Saracens, and by the Greeks. Romans, Vandals, and Turks: that of Shem's posterity should be early and long the peculiar church of God, and the Meffiah proceed; and that the poffcrity of Japheth should be exeeeding numerous, and at last seize on the territories of Shem, and enter into a state of church-sellowship with God. At last he died, aged 950 years, a little before the birth of Abraham.

NOA206 N O B

Whether Noah confented to the building of Babel, or whether, before his death, he affigued to his three fons their different shares of the then known world, we know not. Nor after perufal of the arguments on both fides, dare we fay, but after the building of Babel, he might have removed eaftward to China, and been their Fohi, or founder of that kingdom, though we cannot apprehend the arguments of Shuckford and others, in favour of this journey, to be really conclusive. It is faid that Noah is the Saturn, or old god of the Heathen; and that Ham is their Jupiter, god of heaven; Japheth their Neptune, or god of the fea; and Shem, Pluto, or god of hell. Perhaps their Ouranus or Cælus, their Ogyges, Deucalion, Janus, Proteus, Prometheus, Gr. are no other than

Noah dreffed up in fable.

Did not this patriarch prefigure our Jesus! His name is a bed of rest, and fource of confolation. Amidst a crooked and perverfe generation he was fingularly upright and holy, and preached righteoufnefs in the great congregation. Through him, how the patience of God is difplayed towards men! By him the ark of the church is gradually reared, and in it, and chiefly in himself, are his chosen few, Jews or Gentiles, faved from eternal ruin. His fweet-fmelling facrifice removes the curfe and vengeance of God. With him and his feed is the new covenant established, and on them is the true heirship of all things bestowed. As by him, the church, the vineyard of the Lord of hofts, is planted and cultivated, the future state of his professed feed is declared in his facred testaments. Such as despite him, and turn his grace into licentioufnefs, or the infirmities of the faints into ridicule, he condemns to endless slavery and wo; such as love his perfon, and hide the infirmities of his faints, he bleffes with high advancement. and delightful fellowship with God.

NOB; a small city not far from Jerufalem. Here the tabernacle for fome time continued. Here Doeg, by Saul's order, murdered all the families of the 84 priests who were flain with Abimelech, 1 Sam. xxii. Here Sennacherib halted in his march to the flege of Ierusalem, Is. x. 32. The children of Benjamin dwelt here after the captivity, Neh. xi. 32.

NOBLE:

NOB [207] NO

NOBLE; (1.) Of a very honourable and high birth or flation, Neh. vi. 17. Acts xxiv. 3. (2.) Of a very commendable and excellent disposition, so as to receive nothing in religion, but as founded in the word of God, Acts xvii. 11. (3.) Of the best kind, Jer. ii. 21. Christ is a noble man; a noble governor, that proceeded from among the Jews. How divine his generation, as the Son of God! how royal his defect, as man! how high and honoured his office, as our Mediator, Prince, and King! Luke xix. 12. Jer. xxx. 21.

NOISE; the thunder that roars above us in the air or heaven, is called the noise of God's talernacle, Job xxxvi. 29.

NOON; (1.) The middle of the day, when the fun is at its highest in our hemisphere, and his heat and light about their strongest, Pial. lv. 17. As in the hot months it is difagreeable to labour from eleven to three o'clock atternoon, the Arabs and others often fleep in their beds during that time, 2 Sam. iv. 5.—7. (2.) A time of clear light, Job v. 14. So to shine as the noon-day, is to appear in a clear and glorious manner, Pial. xxxvii. 6. waste, war, spoil, at noon, is to do it fearlefsly and fuddenly, after great profperity, Pfal. xci. 6. Jer. vi. 4. xv. 8. Zeph. ii. 4. A time of profperity is called noon, because of its glory, pleafantness, and brightness; how men delight to enjoy it! how pleafed with the flining fmiles of Providence! and yet, how common a prefage of an approaching night of advertity! Amos viii. o. If. lviii. 10. A time of affliction, perfecution, or temptation, is called noon, because men are diffressed with the feorehing neat of Providence, fiery trials, and fiery darts of Satan, If. xvi. 3. Song i. 8.

NOPH. See Memphis.

NOR I'H and SOUTH are represented relatively to Canaan; or the way of entrance to it; or to some other place spoken of in the text: so Syria was north from Canaan, and Egypt was fouth of it, Dan. xi. t.—43. Affyria and Babylon were north of Judea, either in fituation, or that their armies invaded Canaan from the north, Jer. iii. 12. vi. 1. and Media lay north-east of Babylon, Jer. l. 3. The north of Europe. and north-east of Tartary, are north of the Ottoman Turks, Dan. xi. 44. The one raifed from the north to be a mighty conqueror, is either Nebuchadnezzar. or rather Cyrus; or Conflantine the Great, who was raifed from Britain to deliver the Christian church, If. xli. 25. I will fay to the north, Give up; and to the fouth, Keep not back; bring my ions from afar, and my daughters from the ends of the earth. I will bring the Hebrews from all the countries, whether north or fouth of Canaan, and fettle them in their own land; and from countries on both fides of Canaan, as from Leffer Afia, Europe, and Tartary, &c. on the north, and from Egypt and Abyffinia, Gr. on the fouth, shall multitudes be converted to Christ, If. xliii. 6. Perhaps Ezekiel's vifionary chambers on the north, may respect the Protestant churches in Europe and North America, Ezek. xlii. 1. 11. 13. The order to go out by the fouth gate. if entering by the north gate; and to go out at the north gate, if entering by the fouth gate; may import, that Christians should go straight forward in their course of holiness, whether they meet with prosperity or adversity therein, Ezek. xlvi. 9.

NOSE, NOSTRILS. The eaftern women commonly wear rings in their nose. Those of high rank have them of gold, adorned with a pearl or ruby, on each fide of the noffell. Those of low degree have them, as well as their ear-rings, of other metal, or of wood or horn, If. iii. 21. Ezek. xvi. 12. Prov. xi. 22. Camels and oxen were managed by iron rings in their noftrils, and thereto the allufion is made, 2 Kings xix. 28. As the Hebrews placed anger in the nofe, and the fame word fignified both; nofe and nofirils afcribed to God, denote his differnment of provocation, and his wrath to be executed on account thereof, If. lxv. 5. Exod.

xv. 8. Pfal. xviii. 8.

NO, NOT, always figuifies denial.

NOT [208] NUM

(1.) Sometimes it imports it absolutely, i. e. not at all, in any respect or circumstance, Exod. xx. 3.—17. (2.) Sometimes it imports a conditional denial; those that are guilty of envy, murder, &c. shall not inherit the kingdom of God, i.e. unless they repent of their fin, Gal. v. 21. Pharaoh did not let the Hebrews go, no not by a strong hand; no not, unless constrained thereto by the mighty and deftructive plagues of God: or, perhaps, no not after some plagues inflicted on his kingdom, Exod. iv. 19 (3.) Sometimes it imports a comparative denial. Christ fent me, not to baptize, that is, not chiefly to baptize, but to preach the gospel, 1 Cor. i. 17. I defired mercy, and not facrifice, i. e. mercifulness in temper and behaviour, rather than facrifice, Hos. vi. 6. Matth. xii. 7. I came not to fend peace, but a fword: perfecution and division, especially to the Jews, rather than carnal peace and prosperity, are the confequents of my coming in the flesh, Matth. x. 34. Luke xii. When NOT is in precepts or promifes, it is ordinarily to be understood as importing the contrary of what is prohibited or forbidden. Thus, when God faith, Thou shalt not kill, it means that we should not merely abstain from killing, but should use all lawful endeavours to preferve and promote our own life, temporal, spiritual, and eternal, and that of others, Exod. xx. 13. Or when he promifeth, I will not fail thee nor forfake thee, it means, I will abide with, and encourage, and strengthen thee, Josh i. 5. God desired not facrifices or offerings, in order to merit, or in the cafe of capital crimes, Psal. xl. 5. li. 16.

NOTABLE, or of NOTE; very remarkable; more than ordinary, Dan.

viii. 5. Rom. xvi. 7.

NOTHING, NOUGHT; (1.) Not any thing at all, Gen. xix. 8. (2.) For no good purpose or end, Matth. w. 13. (3.) No works truly good and acceptable to God, John xv. 5. (4.) Of no binding force, Matth. xxiii. 16. 18. (5.) Entirely false, and without ground, Acts xxi. 24. (6.) No other means, Mark ix. 29. (7.) No reward or wages, 3 John 7. (8.) No new doctrine relative to mens falvation; no new knowledge or authority, Gal. ii. 6. (9.) No guilt or corruption to work upon, John xiv. 30. Nothing is sometimes taken comparatively: thus our age is nothing before God, bears no proportion to his eternal duration, Pfal. xxxix. 5. All nations are nothing, and lefs than nothing, and vanity; bear no proportion to his unbounded excellency and greatness, Is. xl. 17. Sometimes it is taken relatively: fo Paul was nothing valuable in his own estimation of himself, 2 Cor. xii. 11. Circumcision, or uncircumcifion, is nothing; is of no avail to render us accepted before God, 1 Cor. vii. 19. To come to nought, is to be ruined, turn out to no good purpose, Job viii. 22. Is. viii. 10. bring to nought, is to render unfuccefsful, bafe, and contemptible, Pfal. xxxiii. To fet at nought, is 10. 1 Cor. i. 28. to undervalue, despise, Prov. i. 25.

NOVICE; one newly planted in the church; one newly converted to the Christian faith. Such an one was not to be made a bishop, lest, being pussed up with pride, he should fall under such condemnation and punishment as the devil did, I Tim. iii. 6.

NOURISH; (1.) To furnish with food, Gen. xlvii. 12. Acts xii. 20. (2.) Kindly to bring up, Acts vii. 21. (3.) To cause, or use all proper means to make to grow, If. xliv. 14. To cherish; comfort, James v. 5. Ruth iv. 15. (5.) To instruct; and to be nourished in the word of faith and good doctrine, is to be kindly and carefully instructed in the true principles of the gospel, and well experienced in the power thereof, for the edification, progress in holiness, and spiritual comfort of our foul, 1 Tim. iv. 6. Jefus Christ and his fulness, as exhibited in the doctrines and promifes of the gospel, and applied by the Holy Ghost, are the nourishment, whereby the faints are delightfully instructed, comforted, and strengthened to every good word and work, Col. ii. 19.

NUMBER; (1.) A reckoning of

perions

NUM [209] NUM

persons or things, whether they be few or many, Gen. xxxiv. 30. (2.) A fociety or company, Luke xxii. 3. Acts i. 17.: and fo Matthias was numbered, i.e. by virtue of fuffrages, added to the fociety of the apostles, Acts i. 26. The number of the Antichriftian beath is fix bundred and fixty-fix. The numeral letters contained in his Greek name Lactinos, or in his Hebrew one Romitto, Latin or Romith; or in Sethur, which fignifies MYSTERY, when added together, amount to just 666. It was perhaps in $\Delta l. D. 666$, that Pope Vitalian reflricted their public liturgy to the Latin language, and fo marked the church with an implicit subjection to Rome. From the time that John had his visions in Patmos, to A. D. 756, when the Pope became a civil prince, was perhaps precifely 666 years. This number, too, may denote a vast number of offices, errors, and corruptions, which, to carnal view, have a regular, well-connected, and beautiful appearance; as 666 has a more regular-like gradation and appearance than 144,000, the number of the Lamb's followers. Moreover, if the fquare-root of 656 be extracted, it will turn out 25, with a finall fraction. Now multitudes of things in the Popish svitem are precisely two n'y-five. They have 25 articles of faith. The council of Trent that established them, had 25 fessions. was begun with 25 prelates; and its acts were subscribed by 25 archbishops. Rome has 25 gates. There were originally 25 parithes in Rome. The college of cardinals confifted of 25 perfons. The crofs in St Peter's church is 25 hand-breadths in height. In this church are 25 altars, and 25 marks of Christ's wounds are imprinted on each The celebration of their jubilee was reduced to every 25th year. The 25th day of months is peculiarly marked with their fuperstition, Rev. xiii. 18. -God numbered Belfhazzar's kingdom, and finished it; allowed it to continue for the years he had determined, and not one day more, Dan. v. 26. He numbers men to the flaughter, when he Sets them apart by his providence to Vol. II.

destruction and death, as a shepherd does his sheep to be slain, If, lxv. 12. We number our days, when we seriously consider how frail, and short, and uncertain our life is; how great the necessity and butiness of our foul; and what hindrances of it are in our way, Pful, xc. 12.

The inspired book of NUMBERS is fo called, becauft it relates fo much to the numbering of the warriors, and journeys of the Hebrows in the defert. It is an history of about 39 years. It relates the history of the numbers, slation, and marching order of the various tribes of Ifrael, and of the offerings of their princes at the dedication of the tabernacle; the confectation of the Levites; the observation of the second passover; the institution of the 70 elders; the defirmation of the people by a flery placene, and by the quails they lufted for; Miriam's leprofy; the fearely and contempt of Canaan, and the begun punithment thereof; the praishment of Korah and his companions, and the plague among the people for quarrelling thereat; the budding of Aaron's rod; Mofes and Aaron's mifbehaviour, when the people murmured at Kadesh: the death of Miriam and Aaron; the plague and cure of the bites of fiery ferpents; the conquell and division of the kingdom of Sihon and Og; the oft-defeated attempts of Balak and Balaam to curfe Ifrael; the Hebrews enticement to whoredom and idolatry by the Midianitish women, and the revenge thereof in the death of 24,000 Hebrews, and the almost total ruin of the Midianitish nation; a delineation of the borders of Canaan, and an appointment of twelve persons to divide it. With these narratives are mixed a variety of laws, concerning futpicion of adultery, Nazariteship, bleffing of the people, chap. v. vi.: concerning the lighting of the lamps, observance of the passover in the second month, blowing of the filver trumpets, chap, viii, ix, x,: concerning meat-offerings, drink-offerings, heave-offerings, fin-offerings, floning for breach of Sabbath, and fringes on the borders of D 4 their their garments, chap. xv.: concerning the office and portion of the priests and Levites, and the purification from the uncleanness of dead bodies, by the ashes of the red heifer, chap. xviii. xix.: concerning the offerings at festivals; and concerning vows, manslayers, cities of refuge, chap. xxviii.xxix.xxx.xxxv.: and concerning the marriage of heiresses, chap. xxviii. xxxvi.

NUT [210] NUT

NUTS; that kind of fruit which is included in a hard shell, such as hazlenuts, chesnuts, walnuts, nutmegs, Sc. Those called the semale nutmegs are, for ought we know, the most valuable of all nuts, and the Dutch have the fole trade thereof in their hands. They have four different coverings. Tournefort mentions nine kinds of walnuts; and no doubt there are fundry kinds of the other nuts. The faints are likened to nuts; their outward appearance on earth is despicable and mean; but they are safely protected, and covered with Jesus's righteousness and grace, and are all precious and glorious within, Song vi. 11.

0

Or OH, is expressive of earnestness in lamentation, Luke xiii. 34.; in prayer, I Kings viii. 26.; in admiration, Rom. xi. 33.; in reproving or exposulating, Gal. iii. 1.; or in calling and inviting, Psal. xev. 6.

OAK-TRFES have male flowers that are barren; but the embryo fruit appears in other parts of the tree, which grows into acorns, the kernels of which readily fplit into two parts. There are about twenty kinds of oak; but the holm oaks, of which there are fix Linds, differ confiderably from the others. Oaks are shadowy in their Leaves, flow in their growth, and very firm and durable in their wood, and will continue fresh for many ages, if kept always wit or always dry. Oaks were very plentiful in Canaan; and those of Bashan were the best. Perhaps the Hebrew words elab, allah, and elon, fignify the Yewish turpentine, and only the word ALLON an oak. It was common to fit under the shadow of oaks, 1 Kings xiii. 14.; and to bury under them, Gen. xxxv. 8. I Chron. x. 12.; and to make idolatrous statues of them, If. xliv. 14.; and to worthip idols under them, Ezek. vi. 13. Is. i. 29. Hos. iv. 13. If. lvii. + 5. The Tyrians made their oars for rowing their ships of the fine oaks of Bashan, Ezek. xxvii. 6. The Hebrews were like an oak whose leaf fadeth; stript of their confidence in themselves and others, and bereaved of their honour, wealth, prosperity, and pleasure, Is. i. 30.; yet like an oak or tyel-tree, whose substance is in it, could never be utterly destroyed by the Assyrians, Chaldeans, or Romans, Is. vi. 13. Governors, and great and valiant men, are likened to the tall and strong oaks of Baskan, to mark their apparent power, strength, and sirmness, and their fitness to protect others, Is.

ОАТ

ii. 13. Zech. xi. 2.

An OATH, is a folemn act, wherein we fwear by God, or call him to witness the truth of what we affert or promife; and to avenge us in time and eternity, if we fwear what is false or unknown to us, or if we do not perform what we engage. An oath must never be taken but in matters of importance, nor fworn by the name of any but the true God, as it is an act of folemn worship, Josh. xxiii. 7. Jam. v. 12. Deut. vi. 13. Matth. v. 34. 35. Jer. v. 7.; Nor irreverently, without godly fear and awe of the Most High : and he is represented as a wicked man who is not deeply impressed with an oath, Eccl. ix. 2.; nor rashly, without due cantion, Lev. v. 4. Matth. xiv. 7. Gen. xxiv. 5. 8.; nor falfely or deceitfully affirming what is false, or without a candid intention and due care to perform our folemn engagements, Lev. vi. 3. xix. 12. Jer. xlii. 5. But every oath ought to be fworn in truth, the thing fworn being true in itfelf.

felf, and we having certain evidence and perfuation that it is truth, and fwearing it without fraud or deceit; and in judgement, with understanding of the nature of an oath, and of the thing we fwear; and with an heartawing knowledge of him by whom we fwear; and in righteoufnefs, fwearing only things that are good, and which we certainly know to be lawful and good; and fwearing for a good end, to glorify God, and do real good to ourfelves and others, by clearing the innocent, and ending a controversy, Jer. iv. 2. 1 Cor. x. 31. Heb. vi. 18. The phrases expressive of caths or folemn affirmations, are, as the Lord liveth, Judg. viii. 19. God is my witnefs or record, Rom. i. 9. 2 Theff. ii. 5. 10. Phil. i. 8. God knoweth, 2 Cor. xi. 11. 31. Behold before God I lie not, Rom. ix. 1. I fay the truth in Christ, and lie not, I Tim. ii. 7. As the truth of Christ is in me, 2 Cor. iv. 10. Verily, verily I say unto you, John i. 51. Sometimes the patriarchs used the putting of the hand under the thigh of him to whom the oath was given, which perhaps fignified their faith in the Meffish, who was to proceed out of that person's loins, Gen. xxiv. 2. 3. xlvii. 29.; but lifting up of the hand towards heaven, was the most common gesture used in swearing, Gen. xiv. 22. Dan. xii. 7. Rev. x. 5. 6. The danger of fwearing unnecessarily, ignorantly, irreverently, fallely, is, that God will not hold him guiltlefs that taketh his name in vair, Exod. xx. 7.; he will make their plagues wonderful, Deut. xxviii. 58. 59.; and his extensive curse fixes on them, to confume them, and what belongs to them, Zech. v. 3. 4. The Jews, however, in latter times, were much given to profane swearing; on account of which, God terribly threatened and punished them, Jer. xxiii. 10. Hof. iv. 2. They fware by various creatures, by heaven, by Jerusalem, by their head, &c. They pretended, that if a man fwore only by the altar, his oath was not binding; but if he fwore by the gift presented on it, it was obligatory, Matth. xxiii. 16.—20.

Scarce any thing can more evidently mark mens hatred against their Maker, than the most universal spread of profanc fwearing, particularly in common converfation. It is not to mens honour; it renders their language abfurd and incoherent: it marks their inward confcioufness that they are liars; or why do they add an oath, when the fimple affirmation of any honest man, that regards truth and honour in his words, is fufficient? It procures them neither pleafure nor profit, as whoredom, drunkenness, and theft, in some What then mult profane fwearers be, but volunteers of Satan: and mad rushers on the vengeance of him who will not fuffer them to escape his righteous judgement? Multitudes, who, it feems, blush at the open tearing of their Maker's name, at once commit idolatry and profane fwearing, in fwearing by their truth, their faith, their configuree, foul, or the devil.—It is abundantly plain, that fuch as Iwear profanely, without any temptation, will make no feruple, if they have a proper temptation, to fwear falsehood. Partly, by means of this profane swearing; partly by the great irreverence used in magiftrates taking of oaths; partly by the frequent repetition of the same oath, or one of the very fame import; partly by imposing oaths, finful, dubious, or dark in their meaning; and partly by the easy admission of multitudes to fwear on the occasion of civil elections, who understand neither what they fwear, nor even the general nature of an oath; oaths in our country are almost become of no use with many, but to enfnare their fouls, and to dishonour God. Our state-oaths have plainly no usefulness to mark the loyalty of the ſubjects. None are readier to take them, than fuch as intend to break them on the first opportunity. Our oaths refpecting trade and cultom are fo exceedingly and unnecessarily multiplied, that they are of little use but to tempt multitudes to perjury. And yet, what elfe can we expect from rulers, the most of whom are habitual profaners of God's name, and D d 2 feem to have no fear of him before their eves? Shall not God vifit for thefe things! Shall not his foul be avenged on fuch a nation as this! How can he hold us guiltlefs, where taking of his name in vain fo mightily prevails! God's favearing, or giving his eath, denotes his folemn declaration of a truth, threatening, or promife, in order to perfuade of the infinite importance and absolute certainty thereof, Ezek. xxxiii. 11. Pfal, xev. 11. Gen. xxii. 16. 17. Thus his reaking Christ priest with an outh, denotes the infinite importance, and the certainty, though wonderful nature of that office in the Son of God, Pfal. ex. 4. Heb. vii. 20. 21. God fwears by himfelf or foul, as there is none greater, Heb. vi. 13. Jer. li. 14-; by his life, If. xlix. 18.; by his great name or perfections, Jer. xliv. 26.; by his excellency, Amos viii. 7.; by his holiness, Pfal. lxxxix. 35.; by his right hand or firength, If. Ixii. 8. Mens fwearing is either to one another, in order to end controversics, or to fecure the performance of what is engaged, I Sam. xxx. 15.; or to God, in engaging to forbear fomething finful, or to perform fomething lawful or indifferent, Pfal. exix. 106. This is often called a vow; and a folemn promife to God, without the formality of an oath, is also called a vow.

OAT | 212 | OAT

That we may conceive more exactly of the nature and importance of promifes, sovenants, promiffory oaths, and vows, it may not be amifs to observe, 1. That all authority which can bind men to any thing as their duty, is naturally, necessarily, independently, and originally in God himfelf. He alone, as the Most High, hath a most sovereign dominion over all, working in, by, and upon them, and disposing of them as he pleafeth. He alone is Lord of mens confciences, to whose mere will declared, without any other reason perceived, they ought to fubmit, under pain of eternal damnation; and he hath left them free from the doctrines or commandments of men which are in any thing contrary to his word, or befide it, in matters of faith or worship, Pfal.

lxxxiii. 18. Dan. iv. 35. Rom. xi. 36. Is. xxxiii. 22. xlii. 8. Jam. iv. 12. 2. That while God necessarily retains the supreme authority, and legislation attending it, in himself, or in his own hand, he, for the better promoting of obedience to his own laws, and of their own order and happiness, in their state of imperfection in this world, hath communicated to fome men a deputed and fubordinate authority, whereby they, as huibands, parents, maiters, minifters, or magistrates, may, in his name, enact rules for their inferiors, precifely answerable to their different stations or departments, and govern them thereby:—and to every adult perfon a power of felf-government, to rule their own fpirit and body; and, for that end, to bind, engage, or oblige themselves, by promifes, covenants, oaths, or vorus, correspondent to their stations and circumstances, Prov. xvi. 32. xxv. 28. I Cor. ix. 27. Jam. iii. 2. This whole authority taking rife from the will of God, it can in nothing extend further than his grant, and must be wholly fubordinated to his own authority manifested in his law. It can extend no further than the flation in correspondence to which it is granted. It cannot possibly interfere with, or oppose God's authority in his law. As it contains no power against the truth, but for the truth, no power for destruction, but for edification, 2 Cor. xiii. 8. x. 8.; no command requiring, or bond engaging, to any thing finful, can include in it any real and valid obligation; nor can fubordinate authority bind in opposition to the supreme authority of God. But if the deputed authority be regularly exercifed, God's fupreme authority, manifested in his law, necessarily ratifies the commands and engagements thereby constituted, and enforces obedience and fulfilment, under pain of damnation. The manner of exercifing or fubjecting ourselves to this subordinate authority, is therefore a matter of very high importance, that we may not act unworthily as God's deputies, and may not pour contempt on God, by undervaluing his deputed authority, and the obligations arifing from it. 3. As no deputed authority, derived from G i, can increase that supreme, that infinite authority, which he hath in himfelf; to no human command or engagement can increase that infinite obligation to duty which his law bath in itfelf; but, if lawful, they have in them a real obligation, diffinel, though not figurated or figurable from that of the obligation of Gol's law. To pretend with Bellarmine and other Papills, that our promifes or vows do not bind us in moral duties commanded by the law of God, because our yow cannot add any obligation to the law of God, is manifelly ab-Self-binding, felf-obligation, felfengagement, is so much the effectial form of vows, and of all covenants, promifes, or promiffory oaths, whether of God or man, that they cannot exist at all, or even be conceived of without it, any more than a man without a foul, or an angel without an understanding and will. Nothing can be more manifest, than that we may bind ourfelves to what is just and lawful, to necessary duties; and that though a promise, oath, or vow, cannot lind to fin, yet in cay thing not finful being taken, it binds to performance. Admit once this Ponish dostrine, it must naturally follow, that all human commands of superiors, as well as numan promifes, caths, yows, and covenants, are in themselves destitute of all binding force, except in for far a. . ney relate to fuch trilling things, as the law of God doth not require of men in fuch particular circumflances. Commands of fuperiors mult be mere declarations of the will of God in his law; and promifes, oathe, vows, and covenants, must be more acknowledgements, that God's law requires fach things from us, in so far as relating to moral duties. The authority which God hath in himself, and that with which he hath invefted men as his deputies, must be so inconsistent and mutually destructive, that the same thing cannot be bound to Ly both. The law of God muit be held deltructive of the being of an ordinance appointed by itlelf, in to far as that ordinant, binds to a confeientious and ellipeat obedience to that law. To imagine, that bunnar laws or engagements cannot bind to moral duties, is at once highly abfurd in itself, and contrary to the common fenfe of mankind, in every age, who have all along confidered mens promifes, covenants, vows, and oaths, as binding them to pry their just debt, perform their just duties of allegiance, and to deliver the truth, and nothing but the truth, in cases of witness-bearing, Gr. It is contrary to feripture, which reprefent promifes, covenants, promiffory oaths, or vows, as things which are to be fulfilled, performed, or paid; and which may poffibly be transgreffed and broken, Matth. v. 33. Deut. xxiii. 21. 22. 23. Eccl. v. 4. Pf. xxii. 25. l. 14. lxi. 8. lxvi. 13. lxxvi. 11. exvi. 13.—18. exix. 106. If. xix. 21. Judg. xi. 36. If. xxiv. 5. Jer. xxxiv. 18.;—and which, in one of the plainest and least figurative chapters of the Bible, reprefents a vow, as constituted by our binding ourselves, binding our own fouls with a bend, and reprefents a vow as a bond or obligation, Hebrew issan, a very fast binding bond or olligation, as our own bond, that fands upon or against us, Numb. xxx. To reprefent vowing, as a placing ourfalves more directly under the new of Cod, or any commandment of it, or as a placing ourselves in a new relation to the law, is but an attempt to render unintelligible, what the bioly Ghoth, in that chapter, hath laboured to render plain; if it doth not also import, that we can place ourselves more directly under the moral law than God hath or can do. To pretend, that meas commands or engagements derive their whole obligation from the law of God's requiring us to obey the one, and pay, or fulfil, or perform the other, is no lefs ablurd. These divine commands suppose an intrinsic obligation in the human law or engagement, and enforce it. But no lew of God can require me to over a buman law, or ectric an engagement, which hath no obligation in lifelf, any more than the laws of Britain

Britain can oblige me to pay a bill, or fulfil a bond, confishing of nothing but mere cyphers .- While intrinfic obligation is of the very effence of every promife, covenant, vow, or promiffory oath, as well as of every just human law, this obligation is totally and manifeftly diffinct from the obligation of the law of God. (1.) In his law, God, by the declaration of his will, as our fupreme ruler, binds us, Deut. xii. 32. In promifes, vows, covenants, and promiffory oaths, we, as his deputy-governors over ourselves, by a declaration of our will, bind ourselves with a bond; bind our fouls with our own bond, Num. xxx. 2.—14. Pfal. lxvi. 13. 14. cxix. 106. Ge.: and hence they are generally reprefented, in feripture, as our vows, oaths, &c. (2.) The obligation of our promises, vows, Gc. as well as of human laws, is always fubject to an examination by the standard of God's law, as both its matter and manner, 1 Theff. v. 21. But it would be prefumption, blafphemous prefumption, to examine whether, what we know to be the law of God, be right or not, Jam. iv. 11. (3.) The law of God binds all men to abjolute perfection in holinefs, be they as incapable of it as they will, Matth. v. 48. 1 Pct. i. 15. 16. But no man can, without mockers and tempting God, bind himfelf, by eath, to any thing but what he is able to perform. No man may wow to do any thing which is not in his own power; and for the performance of which he hath no promite of ability from God. But no mere man, fince the fall, is able, in this life, either of himfelf, or by any grace received from God, perfectly to keep the commandments of God, Eccl. vii. 20. Jam. iii. 2. I John i. 9. While God remains God, his law can demand no lefs than absolute perfection in holineis. While his word remains true, no mere mon, fince the fall, in this life, can possibly attain to it, and therefore must never vow it. The least imperfection in holinefs, however involuntary, breaks the law of God. But it is only by what is in some respect voluntary finfulness that we break our vows, Pful. xliv. 17. Nothing can more clearly mark the diffinction of the two obligations than this particular. There is no evading the force of it, but either by adopting the Arminian new law of fincere obedience, or adopting the Popish perfection of faints in this life. (4.) The law of God binds all men for ever, Pfal. exi. 7. 8. No human law or felfengagement binds men but in this life, in which they remain imperfect, and are encompassed with temptations to feduce them from their duty. ven they have no need of fuch helps to duty, and in hell they can have no profit by them. But in heaven and hell all are for ever bound by the authority of God manifested in his law. 4. The obligation of human promifes, covenants, vows, and promiffory oaths, as well as of human laws, relating to things lawful, is not feparable from, but many ways connected with the law of God, and its obligation. In binding ourfelves to necessary duties, and to other things, so long and so far as is conducive thereto, God's law is made the rule of our engagement. Our vow is no new rule of duty, but a new bond, to make the law of God our rule. Even Adam's engagement to prefent obedience in the covenant of works was nothing elfe. It is in God's law that all our deputed authority to command others or bind ourselves is allotted to us. The demand of duties by the law of God, requires the use of all lawful means to promote the performance of them; and hence it requires human laws and felfengagements, and the observance thereof, as far as conducive thereto. Nay, they are exprefsly required in his law, as his ordinances, for means of helping and hedging us in to our duty. In making lawful vows, as well as human laws, we exert the deputed authority of the lawgiver, granted to us in his law, in the manner his law prescribes, and precifely in obedience to its prefcription. In the vow, we, accoording to the prescription of his own law, solemnly constitute the divine Lawgiver the witnefrof our engagement, and the guarantee of it, graciously to reward our evangelic fulfilment of it, and to punish our perfidious violation of it. The more punctual observation of God's law, notwithstanding manifold infirmities and temptations, and of his glory therein, is the end of our felf-engagements, as well as of human laws; and, by a due regard to their binding force, is this end promoted, as hereby the obligation of God's law is more deeply impressed on our minds, and we are thut up to obedience, and deterred from the contrary.—On all which accounts, the law of God necessarily fuftains, as valid, the obligation of our felf-engagements, as well as of human laws, which are lawful, and ratifies the fame in all the folemnities thereof, as an ordinance appointed by itself, and as it were, adopts the fame, requiring, under the most awful pains, that the human laws be obeyed, as things that bind by authority, and the felf-engagements be paid and fulfilled, as having in them a real obligation to performance; and whoever doth not, in his attempts to observe them, view thefe laws and felf-engagements as baving that binding force which the law of God allows them, pours contempt on them as ordinances of God, and on the law of God, for allowing them a binding force. Thus, through maintaining the superadded or subordinate obligation of human laws and of felf-engagements to moral duties, we do not make void, but establish the obligation of God's law. 5. In no respect can we disobey the lawful command of a superior, or violate a lawful promife, covenant, oath, or vow, without want of conformity to, and transgression of the law of God. In violating our vows, for instance, we manifest a contempt of that law which regulated the matter and making thereof. We rebel against that divine authority from which, through his law, we derived our power to bind ourfelves to duty, and so strike against the foundation of the whole law. We profane the vow, as it is a binding ordinance of God, appointed in his law. By trampling on a noted means of promoting obedience to all the commandments, we mark our hatred of them, and prepare ourfelves to tranfgrefs them, and endeavour to remove the awe of God's authority, or terror of his judgements from our confeiences: we represent the divine Lawgiver as a willing withels of treachery and fraud. We pour contempt on him, as the guarantee of the vow, as if he did not incline, or durft not avenge our villany. Contrary to the truth required in the law, we plunge ourselves into the most criminal deceit and falfehood. Contrary to equit;, we rob God and his church of what we have folemnly devoted to their fervice. Contrary to devotion, we banish serious impressions of God's adorable perfec-Contrary to good neighbourhood, we render ourfelves a plague and curfe, and encourage others to the most enormous wickedness. Contrary to the end of our creation and prefervation, we reject the glory of God, and obedience to his law, from being our end. Meanwhile we trample under foot the divine laws, ratification of our vow, in all its awful folemnities, and manifold connections with itself, and requirement to pay it.

In all vows and promiffory oaths, the matter must be both lawful and expedient, and in our power to perform, and the end must be to giorify God. The vows of wives and children, with respect to indifferent things. were not binding, except their hufbands and parents confinted thereto when they knew thereof, as they had nothing of their own to give to the Lord, and he hates robbery for burntoffering, Numb. xxx. When yows or promiffory oaths are once made, the utmost care ought to be taken to fulfil them, otherwife the breaker entails on himfelf the terrible vengeance of God, Pfal. lxxvi. 11. Eccl. v. 5. Prov. xx. 25. To deter the Hebrews from rash vows, even in dedicating things to the Lord, nothing devoted was to be got back but at a fifth part more than the priest esteemed it worth; and if it was devoted under the form of a curse, it was not to be redcemed at all: nor was any thing belonging to the Lord by a former claim, as the tithes or first fruits, to be devoted by a fingular vow, because these were not the man's own to dispose of, Lev. xxvii. Keep the king's commandment, and that in regard of the oath of God: obey Jefus the King of kings, and even civil rulers, because thy oath to, or by God, binds thee to it: and God has fworn to punish such as are disobedient, Eccl. viii. 2. Mens favearing to God or Christ, or vowing to him, denotes not only their entering into a covenant of duty to him, but their subjection to, homage, worship, and service of him in general, 2 Chron. xv. 14. If. xix. 18. xv. 23. Rom. xiv. 11. Phil. ii. 10. 11.

OBADIAH; (1.) A godly man, who was one of the governors in the family of wicked Ahab. When Jezebel fought out the Lord's prophets to have them all murdered, Obadiah hid 100 of them in two caves, and notwithstanding of the then famishing dearth, fed them with bread and water. With fome difficulty Elijah perfunded him to inform Ahab that he wanted to fee him, I Kings xviii. (2.) One of the leffer prophets, and whose prophecy confiles but of one fingle chapter, wherein he severely inveighs against the Edomites, for their rejoicing over and helping forward the dethruction of the Jews, and foretels their own fpeedy and utter ruin, and the deliverance of the Hebrews from all the places, whither they were, or thould be feattered. When he lived, is not agreed. Lightfoot thinks his prophecy refers to the behaviour of the Edomites at the facking of Jerufalem by Shithak, or by the Arabians in the reign of Jehoram, or by the Syrians or Israelites in the time of Joash or Amaziah: and he is generally thought to have been cotemporary with Hofea, Amos, and Joel. But when we compare his predictions with those of Jeremiah, chap. xlix. of Ezekiel xxv. and of Pfalm exxxvii. and find how fimilar they are thereto, we cannot forbear thinking with the great Ufher, that he prophefied within a year or two after the destruction of Jerufalem

by the Chaldeans. • • • •

OBED-EDOM, the fon of Jeduthun, not the facred mufician, and father of Shemaiah, Jozabad, Joah, Sacar, Nathaniel, Ammiel, Uzza, and Peulthai. When Uzza the driver was ftruck dead for touching the ark of the Lord on the cart, David was fo terrified that he was glad to defer bringing it to Jerufalem. As Obededom's house was hard by, they carried it thither. Obed-edom kindly received it, and gave it a place in his house. His family not only suffered no detriment, but were mightily increafed in their number, health, and otherwife, fo that when fome years after, they were appointed porters of the temple, they amounted to 62 ald todied men, 1 Chron. xvi. 28. --- 14. xv. 24. xxvi. 4.—8. Ched-edom is called a Gittite, a staufe he was a native of Gath-rimmon, or had fojourned a while in Gath of the Philittines, 2 Sam. vi. 10. . . .

OBEDIENCE; the fulfilme a fuperior's command from regard to his authority. Christ's obvilience, is his perfect fulfilment of the precepts, and his fatisfaction of the penalty, of the broken covenant of works in our flead, Rom. v. 19. Heb. v. 8. Angels obey God, in cheerfully and perfectly fulfilling his law, and executing whatever he commands, Pfal. ciii. 20. The faints obedience, lies in their believing the truths of the gospel, and therein receiving Jefus and his fulnefs, as the free gift of God; and, in confequence thereof, fincerely fludying conformity to his image, and cheerful fulfilment of his whole law, Rom. vi. 16. is called obedience to the faith, because it begins in embracing the truths of the gospel, and is a fulfilment of the divine law as revealed in the fcripture, Rom. i. 5. Acts vi. 7. It is an obedience of faith; it corresponds with the principles received by faith in the feripture, and it proceeds from, and marks a living and actuating principle or habit of faith in the heart, Rom. xvi. 26. It is an obedience of Christ; it flows from his dwelling in, and actuating our heart; it corresponds with his law, is influenced by his authority and love, and tends to his honour, 2 Cor. x. 5. It is an obedience unto righteousness; it manifelts the functifying virtue of Jefus's righteoufacfs imputed, and conflitutes a personal righteoufnefs, whereby we glorify God, and profit ourfelves and others, Rom. vi. 16. To confeitute our conformity to the law an obelience of the gospel, it must be built on a gospel-foundation; the truths relative to a free and cternal falvation, from the free grace of God, reigning through the imputed righteoutness of Jesus Christ, and the law, as through his fulfilment of it, turned into a law of liberty to direct us, received into our heart, John viii. 32. xiii. 17. It must proceed from gospel-principles in the heart, a mind enlightened in the knowledge of Christ as our Saviour, Portion, and Lord; a confeience fprinkled with his blood; and a heart renewed, and astuated by his indwelling Spirit, Matth. vii. 13. Gal. i. 16. Heb. ix. 14. 1 Tim. i. 5. Ezek. xxxvi. 26. 27. It must be influenced by gospel-motives, the redeeming love of Christ shed abroad in the heart, and impressing it; the authority of God, as our God in Christ, manifested in the law, as a rule of duty; the example of Christ, and of God in him, as our Father and Friend; and the well-grounded hope of eternal life, as the free gift of God through Christ, 2 Cor. v. 14. 15. 1 John iv. 19. 1 Theff. v. 4. Eph. v. 1. 2. Heb. xii. 2. 3. 1 John iii. 2. 3. 1 Cor. xv. 58. It must be performed in a gofpel-manner, in the exercise of faith on Christ, as our righteousness and strength; in the exercise of grateful love to him, as dying for us; and with great humility, as reckoning ourfelves infinite debtors to his grace, and after all we do, lefs than the least of his mercies, 1 Tim. i. 5. Phil. iv. 13. Zech. x. 12. Pfal. cxvi. 16. Mic. vi. 8. Luke xvii. 10. It must be per-Vol. II.

OBE [217] OBS

formed to a gospel-end, to render us like God our Saviour; to glorify God, our Maker and Redeemer; to profit our neighbour, and bring him to God in Christ; and to prepare us for the free and full enjoyment of God in Christ, Luke vi. 27.—36. 1 Cor. vi. 19. 20. 1 Pet. ii. 1. If. lxiv. 5. This obeying of the truth purities the heart, as it receives Jesus's grace into the foul, and tends to weaken pride, malice, and every other indwelling talt, 1 Pet. i. 22.

Obedience is feigned, when what is commanded is done, or professed to be done, not from love to our superior, or real regard to his authority, but from hope of fome temporal reward, or fear of punishment: fuch is to obedience of hypocrites to Christ, and was of David's enemies to him, 2 Sam. xxii. 45. If. xxix. 13. Sometimes the mere execution of the will of a fuperior, is called an obe; ing him; to wicked men, devils, and feas and winds, obeyed Christ, when they were made to do what he pleafed, Mark i. 27. Luke iv. 36. Exod. xi. 1. xii. 31. Not in this manner, but in love, ought children to obey their parents, wives their husbands, fervants their masters, subjects their magistrates, and people their pastors, Eph. vi. 1.5. Tit. ii. 5. Rom. xiii. 1. Heb. xiii. 17. Men obey the lufts of indwelling corruption, when they confent to, and practife the evil inclinations of our heart, Rom. vi.

OBEISANCE; a civil reverence to a fuperior, by bowing the body or knee, &c. Gen. xxxvii. 7. 9.

OBJECT; to lay to one's charge; fay against a thing, Acts xxiv. 19.
OBLATION. See OFFERING.

OBSCURE; what is darkish, little known: and so obscure darkness, may denote a base condition, and everlasting misery, Prov. xx. 20. Obscurity, is much the same as darkness, and denotes what is opposite to the light of knowledge or prosperity, viz. ignorance and distressal calamities, II. lix. 9. The blink second of obscurity, and of darkness, when their the contest of the same and distressal calamities, II. lix. 9. The blink second of obscurity, and of darkness, when their the contest of the same and the sa ratural fight is miraculously given 24 them, or rather when their ignorant minds are calightened in the spiritual knowledge of Christ, and his truth, II. xxix. 18. Light rifes in obscurity and darkness, and is made as the noonday, when great ignorance and diffrefs are put away, and knowledge, prosperity, and joy, come in their room; or when the faints amidit their debafement and outward diffress, have eminent fellowship with, and joy in their God; and the church thrives mightily smidst perfecution, If. lviii. 10.

O F

OBSERVE; (1.) To take special notice of; take good heed, Gen. xxxvii. 11. Deut. xi. 32. (2.) To put in practice; thus rules are observed, when one acts up to them, I Tim. v. 21. To observe the wind, is to take notice whence and in what degree it blows, in order to refrain business till it answer our wish, Eccl. xi. 4. To observe times finfully, is to reckon fome days lucky and others not, and transact or forbear business accordingly, Deut. xviii. 10. 14. But to observe the ceremonial feasts and their times, was to keep thefe fealts in their proper feafon, and according to all the rites and ordinances thereof, Exod. xii. 7. Deut. xvi. 1.

OBSTINATE; fo fixed to a bad inclination in courfe, as to regard no reasons to the contrary, Deut. ii. 30.

If. xlviii.

OBTAIN; (1.) To get possession, James iv. 2. (2.) To receive as the free gift of God, I Cor. ix. 24.

OCCUPY; (1.) To labour; do bufn in merchandise, &c. Ezek. xxv.27.; and hence a trade is callel, an occupation, Acts Aviii. 3. And we are to occupy till Christ come, by a continued, a laborious course of glorifying God, andedifying our neighbour, and promoting our own falvation, till Christ come to judge us, Luke xix. 13. (2.) To make use of, Exod. xxxviii. 24. And to occupy the room of the unlearned, is to be really weak and ignorant, 1 Cor. xiv. 16.

OCCASION; (1.) A featon, or opportunity, Gen. xliii. 18. Jer. ii.

(2.) A ground, or cause; what directly or indirectly tempts to a thing, Deut. xxii. 14. An occasion of stumbling, is what tends to make one offend God, and stumble out of his way, I John ii. 10. Rom. xiv. 13.

To OCCUR; to happen. Occur-rent; happening, 1 Kings v. 4.

ODED, a prophet, who remonstrated to the Ifraelites, who under Pckah had flain 120,000 of the Jews and made 200,000 prisoners, that they had done wickedly in so outrageously murdering their brethren, when for their fin delivered into their hand; and that their retaining their captives for flaves would effectually draw the wrath of God upon themselves. Moved by his remoultrances, the princes were perfuaded to fend home the prifoners in a kindly and affectionate manner. 2 Chron. xxviii. See Ahaz. · · · ·

ODIOUS; hateful, I Chron. xix.

6. Prov. xxx. 23. ODOUR; (1.) The fragrant scent that flows from spices, herbs, ointment, John xii. 3. (2.) The spices and ointments that produce this feent, 2 Chron. Jer. xxxiv. 5. Dan. ii. 46. xvi. 14. The faints prayers and praifes, and their cheerful presents to ministers and fellow-Christians in need, are likened to odours, to reprefent how delightful and acceptable they are to God, Rev. v. 8. Phil. iv. 18. The odours and frankincense of Antichrift, may denote the Popith pater-notters, Ave-maries, prayers for the dead, &c. which the people hire the clergy to fay for them, Rev. xviii. 13.

OF denotes, (1.) The matter of which a thing is made, I Kings xxii. (2.) The cause, Matth. v. 18. (3.) The object, Gal. ii. 16. (4.) The proprietor to which a person or thing belongs, as his property, posseffion, or party, 1 Cor. i. 12. iii. 4. Of God, and by him, and to him, are all things; he made them; by him they are preferved; and to his glory, as their end, is their creation, prefervation, and government directed, Rom. xi. 36. Chairt could do nothing of himself, i. e. without his Father's will and commission, John v. 19. The faints are of God; are redeemed, regenerated by him, belong to him, and affect to be like him, I John iv. 4. They are of faith, as, by- God's truth applied, their state and nature are changed; and by a principle or habit of faith are they acted in the tenor of their life, Gal. iii. To them is given of God's Spirit; he dwells in and excites and directs them, I John iv. 13. Wicked men are of the devil; are his children and flaves, and like to him, John viii. 44. are of the world, as their affections are finful and carnal, and they take worldly things to be their portion, worldly men to be their companions, and worldly courfes to be their pattern, I John iv. 5. They are of the works of the law, as they feek justification and happiness by them, Gal. iii. 10. Satan speaks of himfelf, i. e. what proceeds from his own corrupt nature, John viii. 44.

OFF 1 219 7 OFF

To OFFEND, or give offence, or feandal; (1.) To commit a fault; break a law of God, or men, James iii. 2. Acts xxv. 8. 11. Rom. iv. 25. (2.) To difplease; grieve, Prov. xviii. 19. 1 Sam. xxv. 31. Eccl. x. 4. Matth. xvi. 23. (3.) To draw one to fin, or hinder him from duty, Matth. v. 29. 30.; and an offence, is what causes or occasions one's being led into fin, or hindered from duty, whether by feduction, or by gricf and vexation of mind, Matth. xviii. 7. And we cause a brother to offend, when we do what leads him into a difagreeable temper, or evil courfe, I Cor. viii. 13. To offend in Baal, is to break God's law, by the worthipping of Baal, Hof. xii. 1. 10. I will not offend any more; through fefus's working for and in me, I will watch and strive against offending of God and men, as I have done, Job xxxiv. 31. To offend the generation of the righteous, is to do what tends to grieve their fpirits, or lead them into fin, Pfal. Ixxiii. 15. Sometimes offence is taken when none is given; fo men are offended in, or because of Christ; and he is to them a rock of offence, when they take occasion, from his deep debasement, or from his despited followers, or from his dostrines or laws, to thew difregard and contempt of him, Matth. xiii. 57. xi. 6. xv. 12. xvii. 31. viii. 14. If Paul had preched circumcition as necessary to falvation, the ffence of the cross had crasted; the doctrine of redemption, through the debasement and death of the Messiah, at which the fews took offence, must have been laid afide, and fo the Jews hatred and perfecution of him had ceafed, Gal. v. 11. vi. 12. The giving of offence, especially to weak Christians, is, for his own ends, permitted of God; but dreadful is his fin and punishment, that indulges himfelf in giving it, even in dubious things, or by things in themfelves lawful, but not necessarily required by the divine law. He is guilty of express breach of the divine law, which no command of earthly fovereigns, no outward hurt or danger, can pollibly enervate, 1 Cor. x. 32. In God's account, he fins against Christ, and deflroys his brother, for whom Christ died, Rom. xiv. 13. 15. 20. 21. 1 Cor. viii. 9.—13. He draws the heavy vo and curse of God upon himself; and it had been better for him that a millitone had been hanged about his neck, and he cast into the depths of the sea, Matth. xviii. 6. 7. How terrible this to the professors of our times, who, inflead of always exercifing themselves to keep a confeience void of offence to God and men, Acls xxiv. 16. difdain to deny themselves the most trisling gratification, for the fake of any weak brother!

When one receives a private offence, he fhould, in a ferious and calm manner, reprove the offender by himfelf, and if he get not fatisfaction, he ought to reprove him before one or two more; and if he can get no fatisfaction in this manner, he ought to lay it before the church-judicatories; and if the offender still continue impenitent, and the scandal be plainly finful and evidently proven, he is to be excommunicated from the fociety of church-members: but all dealing with offending brethren fhould be managed with the utmost meekness, plainnefs, and tender affection; and with E e 2 with the utmost care to avoid all unnecessary blazing abroad of their fault, Marth xviii, 15.—18. Lev. xix. 17.

OFFERING, OBLATION, chiefly denotes what is given to God. Offerings were in general of two kinds, viz. gifes, where no life was deftroyed, and facrifices, wherein the life of the thing offered was taken away, Heb. v. I. The defign of all offerings was either to make atonement for fin, thank God for mercy received, or procure fome new favour; and all pointed out our Redeemer, who by one offering, for ever perfected them that are fauctified; and his people furrendering themselves and their fervice to God through him, Heb. x. 1. Col. ii. 17. Rom. xii. 1. Immediately after the fall, God inftructed Adam and Eve to offer facrifice; and it feems their first robes were the skins of facrificed animals, Gen. iii. 21. When Abel was grown up, he, by faith in the divine appointment, and in the prefigured Messiah, offered not the milk, as fome think, but facrificed the best of his slock; for his oblation is called thyfia, i. e. a flain facrifice, Gen. iv. 4. 10. Heb. xi. 4. When Noah went forth from his ark, he offered an acceptable facrifice to God, Gen. viii. 20. At different places, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, built altars, and facrificed to the Lord, Gen. xii. xiii. xxvi xxviii. xxxiii. &c. Job offered facrifice for his children and friends, Job i. 5. xlii. 8. From the injunction of facrilices to the ancient patriarchs before and after the flood, the cuflom of facrificing spread into the world. The very Heathens retained the vite, and loaded it with vain ceremonies, but loft the view of its fignification. As their natural confeience dictated to them the infufficiency of animal facrifices to atone for the fins of men, it is not to be wondered at, that the murderous oblation of human facrifices was fo generally infligated to by Satan, and practifed by them.

Before the Hebrew tabernacle was creeted, there was no limitation as to the place of offering facrifices; and we suppose those offered in faith were generally confumed by fire from heaven; and most of them feem to have been of the form of burnt-offerings. The ceremonial law, given by God to Mofes, added various diffinctions and rites of oblations. The facrifices, properly fo called, wherein animals were slain, and offered to God on an altar, by priests of his appointment, were distinguished into burnt-offerings, peace-offerings, sin-offerings, and trespass-offerings.

1. The burnt-offering confifted of a bullock, a he-lamb, or kid; or, if the offerer was poor, a turtle or pigeon. The animal deftined for facrifice was led to the east end of the tabernacle or temple: the offerer laid his hands on its head, confelling his guilt, and transferring his defert of death on the animal. The priest then slew it on the north fide of the brazen altar, and fprinkled its blood round about the altar. The skin was then taken off, and the prieft had it for his share. The inwards and legs were washed, and the whole flesh falted, and burnt on the altar with facred fire. If the offering was a turtle or pigeon, the priest pinched off its head with his nails: the blood was wrung out at the fide of the altar, and the body was freed from the garbage and feathers; and being almost, but not wholly cleft, was burnt on the The priest ar yed himself in common apparel, and carried the ashes and excrements of the bullock, sheep, or goat, and the ashes, feathers, and garbage of the fowl, into a clean place without the camp. Every burnt-offering, except that of the turtle and pigeon, was attended with a meat-offering and drink-offering. The burnt-offering was the chief of all the oblations. And befides what was voluntary, the law required burnt-offerings on nine stated occasions, viz. at all the daily, weekly, monthly, or annual TEASTS; and in the different occasional cases of confecration of profils, defilement of a Nuzarite, or expiration of his vow; and in purification from child-birth, leprofles, iffues, &c. Lev. i. ii. 13. vi. 8. -13. vii. 8. wii. 19.-24. Numb. OFF 221 OFF

xv. 1.—16. Exod. xxviii. xxix. Numb. xxviii. xxix. Lev. xii. xiv. 15.

Did not this prefigure the all-excellent, focial, patient, peaceful Jesus, as brought into the world, having our fus imputed to him, and offered by himfelf a fwect-fmclling facrifice, without fpot to God, to atone and honour his perfections, and expiate our fin? How willingly he prefented himfelf! how dolorous and painful his fufferings in the fire of his Father's wrath! how he expired on the crofs, to the north-west of Jerusalem; and hitherto hath chiefly extended the virtue of his death to the northern part of the world! how, fer us poor criminals, his foul and body were divided afunder, but neither feparated from his Godhead! How he, after lying in a clean grave, put off every badge of mortality and guilt! and of what bleffed provision for our fonl is his facrifice productive!

2. By the peace-offering, the offerer thanked God for mercies received, paid vows, or fought to obtain favours. At the confecration of a prieft, for we reckon this a peace-offering; at the expiration of a Nazarite's vow, it was to be a ram. At Pentecost too, perhaps the two lambs were to be males; but in other cases the offered animals might be either male or female: only here, as in every other oblation, they behaved to be unblemished; and their number might be few or many, as the offerer pleafed. Perhaps it was common for almost every Hebrew who was the head of a family, to offer peaceofferings at the three folemn feafts. After the offerer had laid his hand on this victim, it was killed at the north fide of the altar, and its blood fprinkled round about the altar; the fat that cocored the rump, and the inwards and kidneys, and the caul above the liver, was falted, and burnt on the brazen altar above the burnt-offering; the right breast and shoulder, with the cheeks and the maw, being heaved and wared, together with a portion of the attendant meat-offering, were given to the priefls, that they, and their fons and daughters, might feed thereon, in any clean place. The reft of the flesh, and the rest of the meat-offering, was returned to the offerer, that he and his friends might feast on it. If it was a thank-offering, the flesh was to be eaten that very day: if it was a voor or voluntary offering, it was to be eaten that day and the next; and if anglet remained, after the appointed time, it was to be burnt with fire, Lov. iii. vii. 11.-34. xix. 5.-8. xxiii. 19. 20. Deut. xviii. 3. Did it represent Jesus, as at once the Son of God, and the feed of the woman, offering himself to pay our debt, procure our peace with God, and lay the foundation of his and our mutual and delightful feafting for everon his work of redemption?——Do not this and the burnt-offering teach us cheerfully to devote our whole man to God; to mortify every inward luft, and be all inflamed with love to our dear Redeemer; and to be early and active in our gratitude, having every finful delay of duty prevented by the ftrength of our inward love to him?

3. The fin-offering was divertified in its matter, to point out the different degrees of the crime, or to answer the ability of the offerer. For the fin of a priefl, or the occasional fin of the whole congregation, or for the Levites at their confecration, it was a bullock, Exod. xxix. 10.—14. Lev. iv. 3.— 21. xvi. 6. Numb. viii. 12. A male kid was the stated fin-offering for the whole nation at their folemn feafts, and for the occasional sins of a ruler, Numb. xv. 24. xxviii. 29. vii. Lev. iv. 22.— 26. A female kid, or lamb, for the occasional fins of a private person; or if a man was so peor that he could not afford a female kid, he gave two turtledoves or two young pigeons, the one for a fin-offering, and the other for a burnt-offering; or if he could not afford these, he gave an homer of fine flour, without either oil or frankiacense, Lev. iv. 28 .- 35. v. 9. 10. 11. A ewe-lamb was the fin-offering for a Nazarite at the expiration of his vow; and for a woman's purification after child-birth; or for a leper, and for the breach of a Nazarite's vow, or for a running issue: or in case of inability OFF [222] OFF to offer a ewe-lamb, in the former cases, it was a pair of turtle doves, or two young pigeons, Numb. vi. Lev. xii. xiv. 22. xv. 14. 15. 29. 30. animal fin-offering was brought to the brazen altar: the offender transferred his guilt thereon, by laying his hand on its head. Except the blood of the prieft's bullock and of the peoples goat, which was carried into the fanctuary, the blood of fin-offerings was poured out at the fide or at the bottom of the brazen altar; and the fat being falted, was burnt on the altar to the Lord; and the rest of the oblations was the prieft's; on the flesh thereof, he and his fons feafted in the holy place. The very pots in which the flesh was boiled were rendered unclean: and, if of earth, were broken to pieces; but, if of metal, were to be rinfed in water. When the blood was carried into the fanctuary, the fleth and skin were carried into the place assigned for the ashes of the burnt-offerings, and there burnt; fo the priests had no share at all of their own fin-offerings, and he who burnt the flesh and skin was rendered unclean. As the fin-offering of fowls had no fat, two were necessary, that the one might be used instead of the fat, in form of a burnt - offering; and the other, after its blood was poured at the altar, might, as the fin-offering, be given to the priest. No blood of a fin-offering was to be carried out of the facred courts, fo much as in a fpot on the prieft's garment, but was to be washed out before he went forth. If the finoffering was of meal, an handful of it was burnt on the altar instead of the fat, and the refidue belonged to the prieft, Lev. iv. v. vi.

4. That the trespass-offering was really different from the fin-offering, is evident in the case of the leper, where both were conjoined, Lev. xiv. 10.—20.; but it is not easy to state the difference between them. Some think sin-offerings respected sins of omission; trespass-offerings, sins of commission; others think the former atoned for sins committed through ignorance of the law, and the latter for sins which one committed through inattention to his con-Neither of these agree with Mofes's laws. Perhaps Dr Owen is right in thinking, that the trespass-offerings related only to fome particular cases not comprised in the general rules for finofferings. If one, when called, did not declare the truth against a perjured perfon, or profane fwearer; if he inadvertently defiled himself by touching unclean bodies; if he fwore rashly, a fhe-lamb or kid was to be his trefpafsoffering; or a pair of turtles or pigeons, if he was poor; or an omer of fine flour, if he was very poor; but if the trefpass was facrilege, or other dishonesty, he was first to make restitution to the value of what he had unjustly taken, and a fifth part more; and then to offer a ram for his trefpass-offering. The leper's trespass-offering was an he-lamb. Except in the cafe of the leper, the trespass-offering was ordered precifely in the manner of the fin-offering, Lev. v. Did not both reprefent Jefus as bearing our fins, and enduring the punishment thereof in dolorous fufferings, that he might remove them from us, as far as east is from the west.

5. The meat-offerings, and fuch as follow, were not facrifices, but gifts. Meat-offerings were always to attend burnt - offerings and peace - offerings, and the fin-offering and trefpass-offering of the leper; but whether they attended other fin-offerings and trefpals-offerings, we can hardly deter-In cases wherein the meat-offering was flated, three omers or tenth deals of fine flour attended the facrifice of a bullock; two, that of a ram; and one that of a lamb or kid. a hin of oil attended the three omers, to fry it with; and one third of a hin attended the two omers; and a fourth part attended the one omer. Frankincense was also an ingredient in this offering, and falt was added to it. When meat-offerings were presented by themselves, and voluntary, the quantity was not stated. Sometimes the materials were baken into unleavened cakes, and fometimes were offered unbaken. In thank-offerings, fome cakes of leavened bread were to be offered along with it; and to this the two leavened loaves offered at Pentecost may be reduced: but no leaven was laid on the altar. When a meatoffering was prefented, the prieft took part of the meal, or of the bread crumbled down; and having poured oil, falt, wine, and frankincense on it, burnt it on the altar, and the prieft had the refidue for himfelf and his fons, to be eaten in the facred court: but a meat-offering for the priefts was wholly burnt. The offering of the fheaf, or omer of barley at the paffover, and of the loaves at Pentecoft, and of the first-fruits of oil, barley, or flour, was a-kin to the meat-offering; but the suspected wife's offering of an omer of barley, was a-kin to the meal fin-offering. Did not these meat-offerings represent Jesus as the sruit of the earth, prepared by the Holy Ghoft, and by dolorous fufferings, and powerful intercession, to be, as Mediator, the eternal delight of JE-HOVAH, and the delicate provision of his people, in a flate of holy fellowfhip with him? Were they not emblems of the faints, and their holy fervices prefented to, and accepted by God through Christ? Lev. ii. vi. 15. -23. vii. 9. 10. 13. 14. Numb. xv. 1.-16. xviii. q. 10.

cakes

OFF [223] OFF

6. Drink-offerings were never, that I know of, offered by themfelves, but were an attendant of the meat-offering. The proportion of wine was to be the fame with that of oil. Part of the wine was poured on the meat-offering, and that was burnt, and the rest was the priests; and if the whole meat-offering was burnt, no doubt the wine went along with it. Did this oblation represent the Holy Ghost, as plentifully poured on our Redeemer and his people, for their support under sufferings, and for their endless consolation? Numb. xv. 1.—16.

7. The half shekel of money, which every Jew come to manhood was to give, it seems yearly, for the ransom of his foul, to the service of the tabernacle or temple. No man, however rich, was to give more, or however poor, to give lefs. Did not this represent Jefus laying down his life a ranfom, equally necessary for, and suited to the case of both poor and rich, Exod. xxx. 12.—16. xxxviii. 25.—28.

Tithes; first-born; first-lings; first-fruits; considerated things, and the facred oil; and incense, also pertained to the offered gifts. See under these articles.

Sometimes the offerings were complex, as at the FEASTS; FAST of expiation, and purification of LEPERS, confectation of PRIESTS, dedication of TABERNACLE OF TEMPLE. See also BULL. The heave and wave offerings were not different in their matter from what have been already mentioned, but were so called, because they were heaved or lifted up towards heaven. and waved towards the four airths of the world, as a token they belonged to him, whose throne is in heaven, and is Creator and Governor of all the ends of the earth. The Levites, at their confecration, were fuch an offering, being lifted up or chosen from among the congregation, and perhaps walking to and fro, towards every The fat, kidneys, caul, breaft, and right shoulder of the priests confecration-offering, together with a loaf and wafer of unleavened bread, and a cake of oiled bread, was heaved and waved, and all burnt on the altar, except the breath, Lev. viii. 11.-19. Exod. xxix. 22.—26. The breaft. right shoulder, and perhaps the fat of all peace-offerings, and leavened cake of the thank-offerings, Lev. vii. 13. 14. 30. x. 15.; the leper's trespassoffering, with its log of oil, Lev. xiv. 12. 14.; the jealoufy-offering, Numb. vi. 20.; the theaf or omer of ripe cars, Lev. xxiii. 15.; the two lambs of Pentecost, with their attendant peaceoffering, Lev. xxiii. 19. 20.; the oblation of dough, Numb. xv. 19. 21.; the tithes of the Levites and priefts, Numb. xviii. 24. 28. 30.; the Lord's tribute of the spoil of Midian, Numb. xxxi. 29. 41.; were waved, and, I fuppose, also heaved. Did this heaving and cuaving of their oblations reprefent the folemn dedication of Jefus and his people to the spiritual, supernatural, and univerfal fervice of God?

God never required these oblations as good in themselves, nor as the effeetual means of the real atonement or purgation of fin; he never required thera, as equally necessary with moral duties; nor did he regard them at all, when offered in a wicked manner; and after the death of our Saviour, he detefted them, Pfal. xl. 6. li. 16. Jer. vii. 22. 1 Sam. xv. 15. 22. Hof. vi. 6. Pfal. lxix. 30. 31. l. 9.—14. II. i. 11. 12. 13. lxvi. 3. Sacrifices of rightcoufnefs, are either fuch as are juilly gotten; or spiritual facrifices of one's felf, prayers, and holy fervices, Plal. iv. 5. li. 19. The oblition facrifly, and pure offering of righteoufnels offered by the Egyptians and others, under the New Testament, is their dedication of themselves, and their broken hearts, prayers, proifes, and holy services, and alms, presented to God through Jefus as their altar, for the advancement of his honour and glory, Mal. i. 11. Pfal. li. 17. Rom. xii. 1. xv. 16. Heb. xiii. 16.; and they are falted with hery troubles and bitter repentance, Mark ix. 49.; or the decent maintenance of ministers, Ezek. xliv. 30. The damned in hell are represented as facrifices salted in the fire of God's wrath; for ever tormented for the latisfaction of his juftice and punishment of their fin, Mark ix. 49.

OFFICE; (1.) A relation to any particular kind of work, whereby one has a standing title to perform it, as he has opportunity, Pfal. cix. 18. (2.) The work pertaining to an office, Exod. i. 16. (3.) The place where men employ then filves together in their work, 2 Chron. xxiv. 11. An officer is one who hath an office under Christ in the church, or under the king, or other rulers in the flate, 2 Chron. xix. 15. Elth. ix. 3. John vii. 32, 45. Expd. v. 6, 10, 15. OFFSCOURING; (1.) The most befor the relate and drote, Lam. iii.

45. (2.) What as the basest is appointed to ruin, for the fake of others, 1 Cor. iv. 13.

OFFSPRING; (1.) Crop; product of the earth, Job xxxi. 8. (2.) Posteriry, children, grand-children, &c. Job xxxi. 8. If. xlviii. 19. respect of his manhood, Christ is the of pring and descendant of David, Rev. xxii. 16. We are Gods offspring; in respect of our natural and gracious existence, we are produced by the agency of his power, wildom, and goodness, Acts xvii. 28.

OG, the king of Bashan, was one of the GIANTS. His beditead was of iron, and was nine cubits long and four broad, which, according to our reckoning, is 16 feet and near five inches long, and feven feet and more than three inches broad; but Calmet makes it only 15 feet and four inches long, and fix feet and ten inches Wolfius will have Og to have broad. been more than 13 feet high. To relate the rabbinic fables of his living before the flood, hanging on the fide of the ark, and receiving food from Noah during the time of it, is unworthy of this work: but it is certain, that when he heard of the overthrow of Sihon by Mofes, he collected all his fubjects able to bear arms, to attack the Hebrews at Edrei. His host was routed, himself killed, and his country feized: but the Ammonites fome time after carried off his iron bed-flead, and kept it in Rabbah, their capital, as a curiofity, Num. xxi. Deut. iii. 1.—14. Pfal. cxxxv. 20. 21. 33.—35.

OIL; OINTMENT; is now extracted from the fat of fishes, from linfeed, and a multitude of other materials: perhaps the time may come, when it will be extracted from almost every kind of vegetable, mineral, or animal. The most ancient kind of oil, is that extracted from olives. Oil is eafily inflammable, burns fiercely, and is hurtful to the growth of many vegetables; but very beneficial to mankind, for feafoning of food, for fuppling of weary joints, for healing of wounds,

wounds, for embalming of dead bodies, for purifying of virgins, and rendering comely the countenance, for making friendship by presents, and for marking out one fet apart to the office of prophet, prieft, or king. was exceeding plenteous in the country of Job; hence we read of rivers of it, Job xxix. 6. It was no less plentiful in Canaan, particularly in the lot of Asher: they sucked oil out of the slinty rock, obtained it from olives planted on rocks; and, as it were, dipt their feet in the plenty of it, Deut. xxxii. 13. xxxiii. 24. Bread dipped in oil of olives is reckoned a delicate regale. It is only burnt by people of high rank. An infusion of some flowers makes it very fragrant for anointing, Matth. xxvi. 7. Gen. xxvii. 27. Pfal. xcii. 10. The Hebrews used common oil in their meat-offerings, in their facred lamps, and in their common use; but there was an ointment very precious and facred, compounded of olive-oil, fweet cinnamon, calamus, cassia, and pure myrrh. There was twice as much of the cassia and myrrh, as was of the cinnamon and calamus. This was used in the anointing of the priefts, and the tabernacle and furniture. None of it was to be applied to any other use: nor was any for common use to be made like to it. Did not this represent the Holy Ghost's precious and diversified operations and graces, whereby Jefus and his people, and none other, are anointed to the fervice of God, Exod. xxx. 23.-33. Song i. 3. iv. 10. Perfons receive the oil of joy for mourning, when, by the comforting gifts and graces of the Holy Ghost, their hearts are healed, purified, invigorated, and honoured, If. lxi. 3.; but Jefus is anointed with the oil of gladness above them, having an unmeafurable fulness of the graces and comforts of the Holy Ghoft, Pfal. xlv. 7. And his name, character, office, and works, are like ointment poured forth, most healing, refreshful, invigorating, and adorning to our foul, Song i. 3. The golden oil emptied out of the two olive trees which stand be-Vol. II.

fore the Lord, is not chiefly the comfort arifing to the Hebrews, from the management of Zerubbabel and Jofhua, or of Ezra and Nehemiah; but the gracious endowments of the faints. proceeding from Jefus's two natures, or execution of his prophetic and king. ly office on and in them, Zech. iv. 12.; this poured into their wounds, heals them, Luke x. 3.4. The oil which true faints have in their lamps, is real grace, which abides in them, and makes them shine as lights in the world, Matth. xxv. 4. Prosperity, spiritual or temporal, is likened to oil; it comforts, invigorates, and renders men noted and useful, Psal. xxiii. 5. Christian reproof is like oil; it tends to heal spiritual diseases, restore the character, and render men who regard it honoured and agreeable, Pfal. cxli. Unity among brethren, is like ointment; it procures delight, honour, cheerfulness, and activity to all concerned, Pfal. cxxxiii. 2. God made the river of Egypt run like oil, i. e. very flowly, as in mourning; and when it was fo dried up, that it did not fructify the country, Ezek. xxxii. 14. The Hebrews went to the king with ointments, and increased their perfumes; they dreffed out their affairs as well as they could, and fent prefents to the kings of Affyria or Egypt, to procure their friendship and aisistance, Is. lvii. 9. Hof. xii. 1. Antichrift's ointments, are the chrism they use in baptifm, or their pretending to anoint kings, Rev. xviii. 13. A contentious wife is like ointment in her hutband's right hand: she will quickly discover her naughtiness, do her husband what he can to conceal it, Prov. xxvii. 16.

OLD; (1.) Far gone in years, Gen. xviii. 11. (2.) What was first, or before the present time, Deut. ii. 20. (3.) What is in a decaying condition, 11. 1. 9. The covenant of works and the Jewish dispensation are called old, as the one is in execution before the covenant of grace, and the other took place before the gospel-dispensation. Heb. viii. 13. Satan is cld; hath long existed, and is much experienced and crafty in doing mifchief, Rev. xii. 9. Indwelling fin is old; is in the heart before grace, and is fubtle and crafty, and, in the faints, is in decaying condition, Rom. vi. 6.; and in the oldness of the letter, is according to the principles of corrupt nature, and in a mere external performance of ceremonial, and other duties, Rom. vii. 6. Even unto old age, I am be; when you shall become weak, peevith, poor, and defpifed, I will continue to you fuch a God and Saviour as ye have experienced me, and what I have promifed, and ye have hoped, and wish I would be, If. xlvi. 4.

OLI [226] OLI

OLIVES, trees full of a fat fubflance, which produces plenty of oil. Tournefort mentions eighteen kinds of olives; but in the fcripture we only read of the cultivated and wild olive. The cultivated olive is of a moderate height, thrives best in a sunny and warm foil. Its trunk is knotty; its bark smooth, and of an ash colour; its wood folid, and yellowish; its leaves oblong, and almost like those of the willow, of a dark green colour on the upper fide, and whitish below: perhaps instead of green olive, we should read flourishing olive, Pfal. lii. 8. Jer. xi. 16. In the month of June it puts forth white flowers, growing in bunches, each of one piece, and widening toward the top, and dividing into four parts. After this flower succeeds the fruit, which is oblong and plump. It is first green, then pale, and when quite ripe, becomes black. Within it is inclosed a hard stone, filled with oblong feeds. The wild olives were of a leffer kind. Canaan much abounded with excellent olives, Deut. xxviii. 40. vi. 11. viii. † 8. It feems almost εvery proprietor, kings or fub, its, had their dive-yards, 1 Chron. xxvii. 28. I Sam. viii. 14. Nol. v. 11. As olives were emblems of peace, the oliveleaf brought to Noul by his dove, might mark God's being reconciled to men, and the intimation thereof by the Holy Ghost, Gen. viii. 11. To figure out Jefus as the peaceful means of our access to God, and supporter of the church, the door and posts of the entrance to the holy of holies, and the posts of the door of the temple were of olive-wood: and to mark the peaceful illuminating ministration of angels and ministers to the church, Solomon made his two large cherubims, for covering the ark, of olivetrees, 1 Kings vi. 23. 31. 33. The two avointed olive-trees before the Lord, may denote Jefus in his, two natures, or in his offices of prophet and priefl; or him and his spirit, Zech. iv. 3. 12. 14. Saints and ministers are like olive-trees; how full of gracious fap! how they thrive under the warming influence of Jesus's love! how constant their gracious flourish! how fure a token of God's reconciliation to men! and how useful for the enlightening, beautifying, foftening, and healing of others! Judg. ix. 8. 9. Pfal. lii. 8. Rev. xi. 4. The Jews are likened to green, flourishing, and cultivated olives: how beautiful and prosperous their condition under the fmiles of Providence! and what glory to God, and good to men, they might have promoted, had they improved their privilege! Jer. xi. 16. Hof. xiv. 6. The Gentiles were wild olives, graffed upon the root of a cultivated olive-tree, while the natural branches were broken off: while the Jews were ejected from the church, they who had for many ages been wicked and useless, were brought into it, partook of the promifes made to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and were edified by the doctrines of the Jewish prophets and apostles, Rom. xi. 17. 24. Wicked men are like olives, which cast their leaves before their feafon, and fo bear no fruit; their apparent piety and their prosperity came quickly to an end, Job xv. 32. Children are like olive-plants about their parents table; how quick their growth! how delightful and fresh their beauty! and what an extensive prospect of their usefulness! Psal. exxviii. 3.

OLIVET, or MOUNT OF OLIVES, about 625 paces east of Jerusalem, and feparated from it by the valley of Iehoshaphat and brook Kidron. had three tops; the most northern was the highest, and, as it were, hung over the city, and, it is faid, was called Galilee. The fouthern top, which was called the mount of Corruption, because of Solomon's idolatrous temple built thereon, was the lowest; and it is said our Saviour afcended to heaven from the middle top, Luke xix. 40.-44. Matth. xxiv. 3. Acts i. 12. From the mount of Olives the Hebrews were furnished with olive-branches at the feast of tabernacles, Neh. viii. 15. In the time of King Uzziah, an earthquake rent this mount, and rolled the one half of it to about half a mile westward upon the highway and royal gardens; but its removing half towards the fouth, and half towards the north, may fignify the marvellous removal of all impediments of the gospel; and the apostles, after receiving their commission in mount Olivet, separating into the different quarters of the world; or, perhaps fome fuch event may take place at the Turkish siege of the city, in the beginning of the Millennium, Zech. xiv. 4. At present, travellers are shown, in this mount, a great many arched vaults, or grottos under ground, which are pretended to have been the sepulchres of the prophets, or the cells of the apostles.

OMNIPOTENT. See Almigh-

OMER; the tenth part of an ephah, containing $174\frac{2}{3}$ folid inches, which is near one pint and three mutchkins of Scots measure, Exod. xvi. 36.

OMRI was general of the forces to Elah king of Ifrael. Informed, as he befieged Gibbehon, that Zimri had murdered his mafter and his whole family, and ufurped the throne at Tirzah, he hafted thither, and laid fiege to the place. When Zimri found himfelf unable to defend the city against Omri, he, in the seventh day of his reign, burnt the palace on himself and his family. For about four years there ensued a civil war between Omri and Tibni, the son of Ginath. At last, Tibni being dead, Omri obtained the throne, and reigned about eight years alone, and twelve in all. Having purchased a hill from one Shemer, he built a fine city thereon, and called it Samaria, and made it the capital of his kingdom. He was more wicked than Jeroboam, or any of his predecessors. He enacted a number of idolatrous laws, which were but too well observed many ages afterwards. He died at Samaria A. M. 3086, and was succeeded by Ahab, I Kings xvi. 15.—29. Mic. vi. 16.

ON. See Aven; Korah. ONAN. See Judah.

ONCE; not once or twice, or once, yea twice; i. e. frequently, 2 Kings vi. 10. Job xxxiii. 14. God's fpeaking once, yea twice, may fignify his declaring of his nature and will in the works of creation and providence, and in the revelation of his word, Pfal. lxii. 11.

ONE; (1.) One only, besides which there is none other of the kind; fo God is one, and Christ is the one Mediator and Master: but in the phrase God is one, it may denote one of the parties to be reconciled, 1 Tim. ii. 5. Eccl. xii. 11. Gal. iii. 20. (2.) The fame, either in fubstance; fo the divine perfons are one, I John v. 7. John x. 30.: or in number; thus all the world had one language after the flood, Gen. xi. 1.: or in kind; thus one plague was on the Philistines and their lords, I Sam. vi. 4.: or in office; fo Paul that planted the churches, and Apollos that watered them, were one in their general office and aim as ministers of Christ, I Cor. iii. 8. (3.) United together; fo Christ and his people are one; they are one by his reprefenting them in the covenant of grace, and are united to him by his Spirit dwelling in them, and by their faith and love to him, and by their intimate fellowship with him, and their likeness to him ;-and they are one among themselves. They are all members of his one mystical body; have one Lord, one Spirit, one faith, one baptism, one hope; love one another, possess the fame privileges, have the fame kind of Ff_2 views, aims, and works, John xvii. 21. 23. Rom. xii. 5 Eph. iv. 3.-6.: and they are of one heart, and mind, and mouth, when they ardently love one another as Christians, and have much the fame views of divine truth, and much the fame profession and manner of fpeech, Adsiv. 32. Rom. xv. 6. God made but one woman, though, having the refidue of the Spirit, he had power to create multitudes, that he might feek a godly feed, have children regularly produced and religiously educated, Mal. ii. 15. To have one lot and one purfe, is to be joined in the closest fellowship, Prov. i. 14.

ONE [228] OPE

ONESIMUS. See PHILEMON.

ONESIPHORUS, a native of Afia, perhaps of Ephefus. There he was extremely kind to the Apostle Paul. Coming to Rome when Paul was in prison, he fought him out, and to the utmost of his power comforted and affifted him. Paul begs that the Lord would graciously reward him and his family at the last day, 2 Tim. i. 16.

17. 18.

ONION; a well-known herb, of which Tournefort mentions 13 kinds, and to which what we call leeks are reducible. The Strafburg, the red, the Spanish, and the white onion, are propagated chiefly for their bulbous root. If eaten in moderation, they are very ufeful to thin the blood, cleanfe the flomach, excite appetite, &c.; but if they are too largely eaten, they breed windy diforders, affect the head, and disturb the sleep. Onions, whether boiled, roafted, or raw, are excellent for ripening peftilential boils. A plafter of roalled onions and butter is a good remedy for the piles. Onions inacerated in the spirit of wine is good for the headach. The juice of onions, mixed with the spirit of wine, is faid to cure deafnels. The Hebrews, and other poor people in Egypt, lived much on leeks and onions, Numb. xi. 5.; and indeed the onions of Egypt are confiderably fweet and delicious. foup, or with a bit roafted flesh, they are a fine dish; and travellers through deferts often carry them along with them.

ONYCHA. Jarchi, the Jewish interpreter, thinks it the root of a certain spice; others think it the same as laudanum; and others think it bdellium. Perhaps it was rather the shell of the onyx fith, which is very odoriferous, and is a principal ingredient in the Indian perfumes, as aloes are in their pills. The best onyx fish are caught in the Red fea, from whence Mofes might eafily obtain what onycha was necessary for his facred incense or perfume, Exod. xxx. 34.

ONYX; a precious jewel, fomewhat like a human nail, and which is thought by modern naturalists to be a kind of agate. It feems transparent, and has belts and veins of a different colour; perhaps it is a kind of crystal mingled with earth. We know of five kinds of it; (1.) The bluish white, with broad white streaks around it; this is very common in the East Indies, and is found in New Spain, Germany, and Italy. (2.) The onyx of a bluith white, with fnow-white veins fcattered through it. (3.) The onyx with red veins called the fardonyx, as if it were a mixture of the fardius and onyx. was the 5th foundation of the new Jerusalem, and might represent Jesus, as white and ruddy, the chief among ten thousands, Rev. xxi. 20. (4.) The onyx fimilar to the jafper. (5.) The brown onyx with bluish white veins around it. The first of these kinds was the onyx of the ancients; but whether the shoham of the Hebrews fignify that or the emerald we can hardly determine. It is certain there was plenty of flockam in the land of Havilah; and Pliny fays there were quarries of onyx-marble in Arabia, Gen. ii. 12. It was the 11th stone in the highpriest's breastplate, Exod. xxviii. 20.

OPEN; what every one has accefs to enter into, or to behold, Nah. iii. 13. Gen. i. 20. And to open, is, (1.) To fet open a door, that any body may enter in cr go out, Acts xvi. 26. (2.) To uncover; render visible or manifest, Exod. xxi. 33. (3.) To declare; unfold; explain, Luke xxiv. 32. (4.) To cause bring forth, Is.

xli. 18. God's eyes and ears being open, denotes his exact observation of mens conduct, his regard to his peoples cafe, and his readiness to answer their prayers, Neh. i. 6. Jer. xxxii. 19. 1 Pet. iii. 12. His hands and treafures are opened, when, by his power and goodness, he liberally confers his favours on his creatures, Pfal. civ. 28. Deut. xxviii. 12. God opens his armoury, when, in his Providence, he raifes armics, and furnishes them with weapons of war, to execute his just wrath on finners, Jer. 1. 25. He opens his lips against men, when, by his word and providence, he, in a plain and powerful manner, convinces them of their guilt, Job xi. 5. He opens the hearts, when he enlightens the eyes of the understanding to discern revealed truths, and thereby determines the will to receive Jesus and his fulness into the foul, Luke xxiv. 32. 45. Acts xxvi. 18. xvi. 14. His opening, boring, and digging of Christ's ears, may denote his taking him for a perpetual fervant, and furnithing him with an obedient manhood, Pfal. xl. 6. He opens mens ears, when he renders them attentive to his word and providence, Job xxxvi. 10. 15. He opens their lips, when he gives them encouragement to pray, and ground to praise him; and by his Spirit gives an holy freedom therein, Pfal. li. 15. God opens to men, when he grants them his prefents and bleffings, Matth. vii. 7. He opened the fide of Moab, when he gave the enemy an eafy entrance into their country or cities, Ezek. xxv. 9. In this fenfe, too, the gates of Assyria, and of Nineveh, and Babylon, are faid to be opened by him, Nah. iii. 13. ii. 6. If. xlv. 1. Chrift opens, and none fluts, and fluts, and none opens; he bestows the gospel, faving grace, or other privileges, or withholds them, as he pleafeth, Rev. iii. 7. Men open or reveal their cause to God, when they, in the prayer of faith, represent it to him, and commit it to him to redrefs their wrongs, Jer. xi. 20. xx. 12. To open prisons, is to dismiss prisoners to their liberty: this the Chaldeans did not, but retained them in bonds till they died, If. lxi. 1. xiv. 17. M us opening their doors to travellers, imports their cheerful inviting of flrangers to entertainment and lodging, Job xxxi. 32. Their opining their heart, gates, or doors, to Christ, imports their ready receiving of him by faith and love, Song v. 2. 6. Rev. iii. 20. Pfal. xxiv. 8. 9. 10. Heaven, the temple, or tabernacle, or the church of God, is open, before the rife, and after the ruin of Antichrift, when there is free access to gospel-worship; when gospel-myileries are clearly explained and understood; and when God's providences in her favour are clear and manifest, Rev. iv. 1. xi. 19. xv. 5. xix. 11. Perhaps this is the open door fet before the Philadelphian church, Rev. iii. 8. Under the gospel, men with open face behold the glory of the Lord,—fee divine truths clearly, and stripped of ceremonial vails, even as the fight of any thing in a glass is much more distinct and clear than to fee them only by their fhadows, 2 Cor. iii. 18. Perhaps, instead of having his eyes open, we should rather read, having his eyes flut, Numb. xxiv. 3. 15.

OPERATION, work.

OPHEL; a wall and tower of Jerusalem, which seems to have been near the temple, and is rendered strong-hold, Mic. iv. 8. King Jotham erected several structures on the wall of Ophel: Manasseh built a well to the west of Jerusalem, and the fountain of Gibon beyond the city of David, from the fish-gate as far as Ophel. After the captivity, the Nethinims, that they might be near their temple-service, dwelt at Ophel. These things incline me to think it was about the south-east corner of Jerusalem, 2 Chron. xxvii. 3. xxxiii. 14. Neh. iii. 26. xi. 21.

OPHIR, the fon of Joktan. Whether he gave name to the country famous for gold, or where that country was, we can hardly determine. It is certain that its gold was renowned in the time of Job, Job xxii. 24. xxviii. 16.; and that from the time of David to the time of Jehoshaphat, the Hebrews traded with it, and that Uzziah revived this trade when he made himfelf master of Elath, a noted port on the Red fea. In Solomou's time, the Hebrew fleet took up three years in their voyage to Ophir, and brought home gold, apes, peacocks, fpices, ivory, ebony, and almug-trees, I Kings ix. 28. x. 11. xxii. 48. 2 Chron. xxvi. viii. 18. ix. 10. Some have placed it at Urphe, an island in the Red fea; others justly reckoning this too near, have placed it at Sophala, or in Zanguebar, on the fouth-east of Africa; others have placed it about Guinea, on the west of Africa; and some at Carthage, on the north of Africa; others have still more fancifully removed it to Peru, or fome other place in America; Reland and Calmet place it in Armenia, where Ptolemy mentions Oupara or Sophara: but to what purpose the Tews should carry on a trade with Armenia by the round-about way of the Red fea, we cannot conceive; nor can we believe, that ships fit for coursing around Arabia, could have failed up the Tigris or Euphrates. Some will have Ophir to have been fomewhere in East India, either on the west of it near Goa, or at the fouth-east part of it, or at Malabar, &c. Bochart, with great industry, labours to fix it at Taprobane, or Ceylon, an East-Indian Perhaps there was an Ophir in the fouth or east of Arabia Felix, whose fine gold was known to Job and David; and another more diffant place in the East Indies, in Malacca or Ceylon, and whither Solomon's mariners pushed their trade, and called it Ophir, because they found gold in it as good as that in Arabia; or if there was no other than that in Arabia, the East Indians must have brought thither their apes, &c.

OPPORTUNITY; (1.) A fit time, Matth. xxvi. 16. (2.) Fit circumftances, Phil. iv. 10.

OPPOSE; RESIST; to strive by word or deed against a person or thing. Men oppose themselves, when they hold opinions and follow courses contrary to their own profession, or contrary to the scriptures, which they acknowledge their only standard and rule of faith and practice, 2 Tim. ii. 25. Antichrist opposeth all that is called God; sets up himself against or above the Heathen gods; nay, the angels and magistrates; nay, Jesus Christ and his Father, by enacting contrary laws, offices, &c. 2 Theff. ii. 4. Oppositions of science, falfely so called, are the erroneous principles of the Heathen philosophy, as that a virgin could not possibly conceive a fon; or the dead be raifed; or the vain notions, whereby the Gnosticks, under pretence of great knowledge, opposed the simplicity of the gospel, I Tim. vi. 20. God refisteth the proud, by baffling their purpofes and endeavours, disappointing their hopes, and punishing their wickedness, James iv. 6. I Pet. v. 5. Satan refiss men, when he accufeth them to God, and by haraffing and tempting them, hinders them to do good, Zech. iii. 1. Good men refift not their wicked perfecutors, by outrageous fighting against them, and rendering evil for evil, James v. 6. Matth. v. 39.; but they refift unto blood, striving against sin, choosing rather to lose their life, than yield to any wicked law or custom, Heb. xii. 4. They refift Satan, by watching, praying, and striving against his temptations, James iv. 7. I Pet. v. 9. Wicked men refist the Holy Ghost, when they oppose his convictions, and contemn his miraculous operations, Acts vi. 10. vii. 51. They refift the truth, when they dispute against it, and act contrary to it, 2 Tim. iii. 8. They refift magistrates, when they rebel against their persons or authority, and difobey or contemn their laws, Rom. xiii. 2.

Men OPPRESS one another, when they fraudulently, or by force, take their property from them, Lev. xxv. 14. Mal. iii. 5. Job xx. 19. I Theff. iv. 6.; or when they grievously haras and enslave them, Deut. xxviii. 29. Exod. iii. 9. Satan oppressed men, when, by temptation or possession, he terribly torments them, Acts x. 38.

ORACLE; (1.) A divine declaration of God's will; and fo the whole of his infpired revelations are called, 1 Sam. xvi. 23. 1 Pet. iv. 11. (2.)

The

ORA [231] ORD

The Holy of holies, from whence God uttered his ceremonial laws to the Hebrew nation, in the time of Moses, and declared his mind on other occasions, Exod. xxv. 22. 1 Kings vi. 16. viii. 6. Pfal. xxviii. 2. God uttered his oracles in various manners, (1.) Sometimes by forming a voice, and converfing with the person informed: thus he spake to Mofes and to Samuel as a man to his (2.) By predictory dreams, as of Joseph, Pharaoh, Nebuchadnezzar, &c. (3.) By vifions, wherein his declaration of his mind was attended with fome apparition, as to Abraham, Jacob, Solomon. (4.) By the Urim and Thummim, by means whereof the highprieft was qualified infallibly to declare the will of God. This was a common method from the death of Mofes till after the building of Solomon's temple. (5.) By prophets, to whom, either by dreams, visions, voices, or inspiration, he in an infallible manner communicated the knowledge of his will. On fome particular occasions he made wicked men, as Balaam, Caiaphas, and the false prophets of Beth-el, the channels of communicating his mind. (6.) By his Son appearing in our nature, and preaching in Canaan. (7.) By inspiring his apostles and evangelists with the knowledge of his mind, and by them communicating it to others, Heb. i. 1. ii. 3. 4.

daughter of the voice, which they boast to have had after the death of Malachi, feems to have been a piece of mere foolery, fimilar to that wicked practice which fome have of taking the first word of the Bible they look upon at opening to be fuited to their cafe. The Heathen oracles were partly the illusions of Satan; he, in the likeness of Samuel, predicted, that on the morrow Saul and his fons should be with him, I Sam. xxviii.; and inspired Ahab's prophets to promife him victory at Ramoth-gilead, I Kings xxii; but it is like enough that many of the oracles among the Heathens were merely the devices of the villanous priests and priesteffes, who generally prophefied as they were paid, and favourable oracles made a man's friends or armies rush through every thing to accomplish them. Boyle, Van Dale, and Fontenelle, have strongly maintained, that all the Heathen oracles were but the impostures of men ; and the two latter have pretended that they did not ceafe by the death of Christ or pread of the gospel, but by means of peoples despissing to consuit them. Mæbius, a Protestant professor of Leipfic, and Balthus, a learned Jefuit, have attempted a refutation of this opinion. We think there was both devilry and villany in the affair of thefe oracles, though perhaps most of the latter: nor can we, with Eufebius, believe that these oracles entirely ceased at the death of our Saviour; for we find them confulted fome ages after; but the fpread of the gospel made multitudes contemn them, and the priefts were afraid to rifk their oracles among fuch as were willing to discover the cheat. No doubt Satan was alfo divinely restrained. Be the authors of these oracles who will, they were generally delivered in fuch dark and equivocal expressions as might answer the event, be what it would; much like the pitiful stuff that passes in our own country, for the prophecies of Merlin, Thomas de Rymer, &c.

The Jewish oracle of Bathcol, or

ORATION; a fine speech, Acts xii. 21. An ORATOR was one that composed and pronounced fine speeches, like our advocates, Acts xxiv. 1. Where a place was under popular government, as Athens, &c. oratory was much studied, and the orators were often capable to carry the populace to what side they pleased. This occasioned their being often the hired tools of such great men as were intent on their selfish defigns.

ORCHARD; a fruit-garden, Eccl. ii. 5. The faints are compared to one,

Song iv. 15. See GARDEN.

ORDAIN; the fame as APPOINT. ORDINANCES of God are, (1.) His fixed purposes and appointments concerning the state and motions of irrational creatures, whether the luminaries of heaven, &c. Ps. exix. 91. Job xxxviii. 33. Jer. xxxi. 33. (2.) His commandments in general, Lev. xviii. 4. (3.)His rules and directions relative to his worship, Heb. ix. 10. I Cor. xi. 2. (4.) An office appointed by him, Rom. xiii. 2. Forms of magiltracy, or their laws for regulating the commonwealth, are called an ordinance of man, I Pet.

OSTORD 232

ii. 13. 1 Sam. xxx. 25.

ORDER; (1.) To command, Judg. vi. 26. (2.) To rank every person or thing in proper order, Prov. iv. 26. The various chiffes or bands into which the priefts and fingers were ranked, were called their orders, I Kings xxiii. 4. God fets mens fins in order before them: he prefents them as fo many witnesses, or as a well-stated charge against them, Pfal.l. 21. Men order their cause before God, and fill their mouth with arguments, when they reprefent it to him truly as it is, and produce and plead mamifold reasons for his shewing them fayour, Job xxiii. 4. To walk orderly, or order one's conversation aright, is to endeavour carneilly to do every duty relative to God or men, in the proper place, time, and manner thereof, Acts xxi. 24. Pfal. 1. 23.

ORGAN; a wind-instrument of mufic, invented by Jubal, the fixth in defcent from Cain; but perhaps Jubal's was very different from ours, which are composed of various pipes, and some of them are 30 or 40 feet long; and whose form we do not know to be more than 800 years old, Gen. iv. 21. Pfal. cl. 4.

ORNAMENT; what tends to deck out perfons cloaths or body, as jewels, rings, bracelets, ribbands, &c. The Hebrew women, especially their maidens, were extremely fond of them; and in the days of Saul, they became more fo than before, Jer. ii. 32. 2 Sam. i. 24. In Ifaiah's time, they were finfully mad upon them, and even burdened their bodies with their weight, though we do not certainly know the precise form of feveral of them, If. iii. 16.-26. The laws, religion, and prosperity, which God gave the Hebrews, are called exrellent ornaments; they rendered their nation diffinguished from, and more glorious than others, Ezek. xvi. 7. 11. Jefus's righteoufnef. imputed, his grace implanted, and an holy conversation fpringing from both, are an ornament, or ornament of grace to the faints; how glorious and comely they render them! how high in favour with God, good angels, and men! If. lxi. 10. Prov. iv. 9. 1 Pet. iii. 4. Useful instruction, and faithful reproof, are an ornament; they ought to be highly prized, readily received and complied with, and fo will render one truly honourable and refpected, Prov. i. 9. xxv. 12.

ORION; a conftellation just before the fign Taurus. It confifts of about 80 flars; appears about the middle of November; and its rife is often accompanied with storms, and its bands are the cold and frost, which only God can remove, Job xxxviii. 31. ix. 9. ORNAN. See Araunay.

ORPHANS; perfons very early deprived of their parents, and fo in a most destitute condition. We are orphans, our mothers are avidous; our governors and fathers being almost wholly cut off by the fword, Lam. iii. 5.

OSPREY and ossifrage.

EAGLE.

OSTRICH; the tallest of all the fowl kind, being 7 or 8 feet high when it stands erect. Its neck is about 4 or 5 fpans in length: its legs are long and naked; and it has only two toes on a foot, both turned forward: but its wings are fhort, and rather ferve for fails than for flight. Affisted with these, it will outrun the swiftest horse, and meanwhile throws stones behind it against its purfuers. Its feathers are goodly, and used as ornaments for hats, beds, canopies, and are of different colours, and formed into pretty tufts. It is very foolish, and easily deceived. It is faid, that if it can hide its head in a thicket, it imagines all is quite fafe. If a man put on an offrich's fkin, and hold out fruits or feeds to it, it will receive them, and fo be taken. Oftriches make a most doleful and hideous noise, are very careless of their young, lay their eggs in the fand, and leave them there to be hatched by the fun, perhaps forgetting where they were laid, Job xxxix. 13.-13. Lam. iv. 3. Its eggs, of which it lays from 10 to 20, or even from 30 to 50 in a course, are so large, that the Ethiopians make drinking cups of the shells. It is faid, that though the offriches do not fit on their eggs to hatch them, yet the male and female watch them by turns; and when driven away, they cannot find them out again; and often their young are found half flarved. They chiefly haunt defolate places, If. xiii. + 21.; they were pretty common in Arabia, and mightily abound in Ethiopia, and are used for food; but their flesh is said to be dry. Some of them are fo flrong, that the Arabs ride upon their backs. The yaanah, rendered oftriches in Lam. iv. 3. is rendered owls, Lev. xi. 16. Deut. xiv. 15. Job xxx. 29. If. xiii. 20.; and reckoned among unclean beafts. Owls too are cruel; they eat their own eggs, or even their young, as the women did their children in the flege of Jerusalem.

OTH [233] OVE

OTHNIEL, the fon of Kenaz, of the tribe of Judah, and first judge of Israel. By taking of Debir from the Canaanitish giants, he purchased Achsan, the daughter of Caleb his uncle, to wife, Josh. xv. 16.—19. When Cushan-rishathaim had oppressed Israel eight years, God stirred up Othniel to levy an army against him. With these he routed the Mesopotamian troops, and delivered Israel; after which the Hebrews land enjoyed rest 40 years, or till the 40th year of their settlement, Judg. iii. 8.—11.

Vol. II.

OUCHES; beazils or fockets for fastening the precious stones in the shoulder-pieces of the high priest's ephod. These ouches, with their stones, served for buttons to fasten the golden chains whereby the breastplate was hung, Exod. xxviii. 11. 25.

OVEN; a place for baking of bread, Lev. ii. 4. The orientals had them of different conftructions; fome of them moveable ones of metal or flone. They fometimes heated them with the withered flalks of flowers, Matth. vi. 30. In fome of them whole floop as well as lambs were roafted. Nebuchadnezour's fiery furnace, into which he did cait

Shadrah, Meshach, and Abednego, feems to have been of this form, Dan. iii. 21.-26. God makes his enemies a fiery oven, and his judgements burn as an oven. In what quick and terrible manner he confumed the Jews after our Saviour's death, as withered grafs, or fuel in a fiery oven! How dreadful the eafe of his focs, when the earth, and the works thereof, shall be burnt up! and when they shall be cast into the lake that burns with fire and brimftone! Pfal. xxi. q. Mal. iv. 1. Whorith perfons are likened to an oven; by their yielding to temptations and lufts, their foul and body are inflamed with unclean defires, and the diforders that proceed therefrom, as an oven is heated by a continued supply of fuel, Hos. vii. 4.

OVER; (1.) On the whole outfide, Gen. xxv. 25. (2.) Above, Gen. xxvii. 29. Pfal. lxv. 13. (3.) More than measure, Exod. xxii. 18. Pfal. xxiii. 5. (4.) From one fide, or hand, or proprietor, to another, Pfal. xxvii. 12. cxviii. 18. (5.) Passed by, Song ii. 11. (6.) On account of, Hos. x. 5.

OVERCHARGE; to burden too much. Thus, exceifive forrow, immoderate eating and drinking, or carnal care, overload mens foul, that it cannot defire or attain heavenly things,

2 Cor. ii. 5. Luke xxi. 34.

OVERFLOW. Liquor overflows in a veffel, when it runs over the brim: rivers overflow, when they fwell, and run over their banks, Josh. iii. 15. The inhabitants of the old world had their foundation overflowed with a flood, when the deluge covered them and all their dwellings, Job xxii. 16. Armies and calamities being compared to floods or waters, are faid to overflow, when they bear down all before them, If. viii. 8. Jer. xlvii. 2. Dan. xi. 10. H. x. 22. xxviii. 15. 17. xliii. 2. Profperity, and the truths and bleffings of the gofpel, being compared to wine or oil, the fats overflowing therewith, import a great prosperity, and a great spread and prevalence of the truth and grace of God in the world, Joel ii. 24. The futs overflowing with the wine of God's wrath, imports its spread, and making xv. 9. (2.) To seize upon, Psal. xviii. fearful havock among the nations, Joel 37. One is overtaken in a fault, when temptations come up with him, and OVERLAY; (1.) To cover, Exod. xxvi. 32. (2.) To cover too close or heavily, 1 Kings iii. 19.

G g wrath,

OVE [234] OUT

OVERMUCH. To be overmuch righteous, is to make an uncommon shew of strictness, pretending more holiness than one hath; rigoroufly exacting the extremity of juffice; and doing many things under pretence of piety, which God's law doth not require.—To be over-wife, is to pretend great degrees of knowledge; and to be ready to quarrel with the best conduct of others, and even of God himfelf; to attempt knowledge above our reach and station; this tends to deftroy a man's felf, rendering him foppish, stupid, or contemptible. -To be overmuch wicked, is to add fin to fin; to fatigue one's felf in doing evil, and to run into riot and wickednefs of every fort; this tends to haften one's death, Eccl. vii. 16. 17.

OVERPASS. Professors of the true religion overpass the deeds of the wicked, when they do worse than Heathens and profligates; and judges do it, when they allow themselves to be worse than the criminals they condemn at their bar, Jer. v. 28.

OVERPLUS; the difference of value between things exchanged, Lev. xxv. 27.

OVERSEE. See BISHOP. OVER-SIGHT; (1.) The office of overfeeing, and taking care that things be right done; and the difcharge of this office, by performing the duties belonging thereto, Numb. iii. 32. I Pet. v. 2. (2.) A mistake, Gen. xliii. 12.

OVERSHADOW; to cover with a shadow. The cloud from which the Father declared our Saviour his well-beloved Son, overshadowed the three disciples on the mount, Matth. xvii. 5. To mark the mysterious and incomprehensible work of the Holy Ghost, in forming our Saviour's manhood in the womb of the virgin, it is called an overshadowing of her, Luke i. 35.

OVERTAKE; (1.) To come up with fuch as had before gone off, Exod.

37. One is overtaken in a fault, when temptations come up with him, and draw him into fome finful word or deed, before he is aware, Gal. vi. 1. fword overtakes men, when the enemy comes upon them, and they are killed, wounded, taken captives, or otherwife reduced to mifery, Jer. xlii. 16. Bleffings overtake men, when they are bestowed on them; and justice, evil, or curses, overtake them, when their due and threatened punishment comes upon them, Deut. xxviii. 2. 15. Is. The day of judgement overtakes men, when, notwithstanding all their unthoughtfulness of it, and their defire and study to escape it, it comes upon them, I Theff. v. 4. The battle in Gibeah did not overtake the children of iniquity. The Hebrews did not attack the fodomitical Benjamites at Gibeah with a due and holy zeal; nor took they like care to cut off the criminals of that or like fort, whereever they were found, Hof. x. q.

OVERTHROW; a turning of things upfide down; an utter destruction, Gen. xix. 29.

OVERWHELM; to fwallow up one, as a drowning flood, Job vi. 27. Pfal. exxiv. 4. One's heart or fpirit is overwhelmed, when griet, fear, perplexity, and care, fo burden and afflict him, that he knows not what to do, Pfal. lxi. 2. lxxvii. 3.

OUGHT, imports necessity; thus Christ ought to fuffer, that he might fulfil his engagements, and fave our foul, Luke xxiv. 26. (2.) Duty; thus men ought always to pray without fainting, Luke xviii. 1. Ought, or Aught, also fignifies any thing at all,

Gen. xxxix. 6.

OUTCASTS; fuch as are driven from their house and country. The outcasts of Israel and Judah needed shelter and pity in the land of Moab, when they were driven out of their country by the Assyrian ravages, Is. xvi. 3. 4. The outcasts of the Persians wandered far and wide, when they were carried or driven from their country by the Chaldeans, Jer. xlix. 36.

God

OUT OX235

God gathereth the outcasts of Israel; he gathered the Jews after Sennacherib and Efarhaddon had feattered them; he brought them back from their Chaldean captivity; he will bring them from their present dispersion; he gathers the outcast Gentiles, and joins them unto his church, with all the true Ifrael of God, If. lvi. 8. xi. 12.

OUTGOINGS; outmost borders, Josh. xvii. 9. 18. God makes the outgoings of the morning and evening to rejoice, when he bestows and renders agreeable the earliest and latest parts of the day; or when he gives heartchearing bleffings to the inhabitants of the remoteit east and west, Psal.

lxv. 8.

OUTLANDISH; pertaining to another country or nation, Neh. xiii. 26.

OWE; (1.) To own; have a right to, Lev. xiv. 35. Acts xxi. 11. (2.) To be indebted, Rom. xiii. 8. Matth.

xviii. 28.

OWL; a fowl of the hawk kind. Its beak is hooked; its head and claws are fomewhat like those of a cat; its legs are hairy to the very claws; its eyes are black, large, and sparkling, but cannot abide the light of the fun; its voice is very difagreeable and mournful. There are a great many kinds of owls; viz. the fmall owl, the great owl, the horned owl, 땅c. The large horned owl is almost as big as an eagle, and has feathers ash-coloured and whitish; the fmall horned owl is of a more dun and rufty colour: the fmall unhorned owl is about the bulk of a pigeon; the larger one has a crown of fine foft feathers around its whole face, and has no visible ears; its back is of a lead colour, marked with white fpots; its breast and belly are whitish, marked with black fpots; its body is fcarce bigger than a chicken, but its multitude of feathers render it as big in appearance as a capon. All at once it will fwallow a moufe or bird, and after digesting the slesh, vomits up the hair and the bones. Owls go little abroad in the day; and if they do, are a gazing flock to the rest of the birds. They are faid to be enemies to the crows, and that the two are mutual destroyers of one another's eggs. They generally haunt defolate places, as ruined cities or houses, If. xiii. 21. xxxiv. 11.—15. Jer. l. 39.; and make a most doleful and despondent-like mourning, Mic. i. 8. Perhaps Yahhhanah denotes not the owl, but the female oftrich, Job xxx. 29. If. xiii. 21. xxxiv. 13. xliii. 20. Jer. l. 39. Mic. i. 8. Lev. xi. 16. Deut. xiv. 15. Lam. iv. 3. and the kippoz a most poisonous serpent, If. xxxiv. 15. Saints become like owls, when, forfaken of God and their friends, they are left to mourn in a most forlorn and heartless manner, Job xxx. 29. Pfal. cii. 6. Wicked men are like owls; how unfightly to God and good men! how inclined to distance from him and his people! what haters of the Sun of righteoufness, and of the light of God's word! and how hurtful to others! If. xliii. 20.

OX. See Byll. They are much used for carrying burdens in the east, as well as for drawing ploughs and treading out corn. Where no oxen are, the crib is clean; there is neither food for men nor beafts. But the words the crib, &c. might be rendered, there is no wheat or corn on the threshing-floor, Prov. xiv. 4.

P

PAC PACE; a measure of five feet in length; but perhaps it fignifies no more than a step, in 2 Sam. vi. 13.

PADAN-ARAM. See MESOPO-TAMIA; but perhaps Padan-aram was but the north-west part of Mesopotamia.

PAH

PADDLE; a fmall iron inftrument for digging holes in the earth, Deut. xxii. 13.

PAHATH-MOAB, I fuppofe was a city built near to the place where Ehud routed the Moabites. and Joab were two of its ancient princes; 2812 belonging to Pahath-moab returned from Babylon with Zerubbabel; and 200 more with Ezra, Ezra ii. 6. viii. 4. Some would have Pahath-moab to be the name of a man; and it is certain, one of that name fealed Nehemiah's covenant of reformation, Neh. x. 14.

Gg2 ces; PAI | 236 | PAL

PAIN, or PANG, denotes the uneafiness arising to body or mind from what hurts it. When it is very violent, it is called TORMENT, Job XXXIII. 19. Pfal. xxv. 18. lv. 4. Ezek. xxx. 4. Jer. xxii. 23. Matth. iv. 24. To travel in fain all one's days, is to live in fore trouble, inward difquiet, and terror of mind, Job xv. 20. The wicked man's flesh upon him hath pain; in his dying moments he is in fore trouble; in the grave the worms eat him up; in hell he is for ever tormented, Job xiv. 22. Be in pain, and labour to bring forth; Bear thy troubles with patience, hoping for a merciful and joyful deliverance: or, Thou thalt be in fore trouble before the deliverance from Babylon, or the gospel, or the millennial deliverance come, Mic. iv. 10. Pains of death, or hell, are fuch violent torments as cut of life, or render one most miserable, Acts ii. 24. Psal. exvi. 3. The terrible calamities of Antichrift when ruined, and the inconceivable miferies of the damned, are called torment, Rev. xviii. 7. 10. xx. 10. Christ's witnesses torment the carnal Antichriftians; they preach the truths which they detest; they practise the good works which they abhor; and are the innocent occasions of God's executing his fearful judgements on them, Rev. xi. 10. The tormentors to which God delivers the wicked, are the lashes of his wrath, the tortures of an awakened conscience, and malicious and enraged devils and men, Matth. xviii. 34. -Painful; what is very hard and difficult, and cannot without great fa-. tigue and pain be effected, Pfal. lxxiii. 16. Painfulness, denotes labour, joined with great care and grief, 2 Cor. Xi. 27.

PAINT. Women, especially harlots, painted their faces, 2 Kings ix.

30. The Jews painting of their eyes, and rending their faces with pouk, or lead ore, may denote their fetting off themselves to their neighbouring nations, in all the shews of idolatry and salie grandeur they could, Ezek. xxiii. 40. Jer. iv. 30.

PALACE; a stately and magnificent house, fit for kings or princes to dwell in, 2 Chron. xxxvi. 19. mos iii. 9. 10. 11. 1 Kings xvi. 18. The Jewish temple is called a palace: it was extremely magnificent and grand, and there the Lord, as King of Ifrael, dwelt in the fymbols of his prefence, 1 Chron. xxix. 1. 19. New-Testament church is called a palace of filver, to mark its excellency and duration, as the refidence of God, Father, Son, and Holy Ghost, and of the faints, who are made kings and priefts unto God; and the fulness of his ordinances and graces therein, Song viii. 9. Heaven is the palace of God and Christ; how glorious its structure! how rich its furniture! and there God. angels, and redeemed men, for ever refide, Pfal. xlv. 15.

PALE. Jacob's face waxing pale, imports the shame, contempt, and ruin of his posterity, Is. xxix. 22. The paleness of John's visionary horse, may denote the inactivity and spiritual deadness of ministers and others in the church, and the great destruction of men, by pessilence, famine, and other calamities, between A. D. 235 and See PHILISTIA.

PALESTINE.

The PALM-TREE is found in a variety of the warm countries in the north of Africa, and in the fouth of Africa, &c. Many palms grew on the banks of Jordan; but the beft were those about Jericho and Engedi; which last is, for that reason, called Hazazon-tamor, the cutting of the palm-tree. Palms grow very tall and upright; and their leaves retain their greenness through the whole year. The more they bask in the sun, their growth is the better; nor is it any worse of burdens being hung on them.

They produce little fruit fill they be about thirty years old; after which, while their juice continues, the older they become, they are the more fruitful; and will bear three or four hundred pounds of dates every year; but it is faid the female bears no fruit, except it be planted along with the male. This tree produces dates, a most sweet and luscious kind of fruit. They also extract from it a kind of wine, which is perhaps what the feripture calls flickar, or flrong drink. It likewife yields a kind of honey. As its fap is chiefly in the top, when they intend to extract a liquor from it, they cut off the top, where there is always a tuft of spiring leaves about four feet long, and scoop the trunk into the shape of a bason. Here the fap afcending, lodges itfelf, at the rate of three or four English pints a-day, for the first week or fortnight; after which it gradually decreases; and in fix weeks or two months the whole juice will be extracted. As palm-trees were accounted fymbols of victory, branches of palm were carried before conquerors in their triumphs: and, in allusion hereto, the faints are said to have palms in their hands, to denote their victory over fin, Satan, the world, the perfecutions of Antichrift, Uc. Rev. vii. 9. To mark their conflant perfeverance, heavenly and upright disposition, their necessity of fellowship with Christ, their spiritual comelinefs, and fruitfulnefs in good works, and their certain victory over all enemies, they are compared to palm-trees, Pfal. xcii. 12. Song vii. 7. To represent them in their connection with angels and ministers, there were figures of palm-trees and cherubins alternately mingled in Solomon's temple, and in Ezekiel's vifionary one, 1 Kings vi. 29. Ezek. xl. 16. Idols were upright as the palm-tree; they could make no motion; but merely fland, like fo many erect logs of wood, Jer. x. 5.

PAL [237] PAP

PALSY; a pretty common disease, wherein the body, or some part of it, loses its power of motion, and sometimes also its feeling. It is occasioned by some hindrance of the nervous fpirits from flowing into the villi, or the muscles, or of the arterious blood from flowing into its veffels; which may happen from fome fault in the brain, the nerves, the mufcles, or their veffels. Unctions of the backbone with fpiritous and penetrating medicines; and white multard, mercury, fudorifics, &c. inwardly taken, and perhaps electrification, may be helpful, when the disease is not fixed; but when it is fixed we know not if any thing lefs than fuch miraculous cures as were effected by Jefus and his apostles, can avail, Matth. viii. 6. iv. 4. John v. Acts ix. 13.

PAMPHYLIA; a province of Leffer Asia, having the Mediterrancan fea on the fouth, Lycia on the west, Pisidia on the north, and Cilicia on the east. Attalia and Perga were the principal cities of it. A number of the Jewish inhabitants of this place heard Peter's fermon at Pentecost; and, perhaps, first carried the gospel thither. Paul and Barnabas afterwards preached the gofpel here, fince which Christianity has never been wholly extinct; though, fince the ravages of the Saracens, it has made but a poor appearance, Acts ii. 10. The country is at prefent under the Turks, and is of almost no importance.

PANNAG. Whether this fignifies Phenicia, or a place near Minnith; or whether it fignifies oil or balfam, I really know not; but either in Pannag, or in fine wheat of Pannag, the Jews traded with the Tyrians, Ezek, xxvii. 17.

PANT; to gasp for breath, as one dying or over-burdened. It is expressive of killing grief, Is. xxi. 4. Psal. xxxviii. 10.; or eager defire, Psal. xlii. 1. exix. 131. Amos ii. 7.

PAPER-REEDS; a kind of bulrushes that grow in Egypt, along the banks of the Nile, Is. xix. 7. Of these the Egyptians made baskets, shoes, cloaths, and small boats, for failing on the Nile, Exod. ii. 3. Is. xviii. 2. To make paper of this bulrush they peeled off the different skins or films thereof,

P A P [238] P A R

thereof, one after another; these they ftretched on a table, to the intended length or breadth of the paper, and overlaid them with a kind of thin paste, or the muddy water of the Nile a little warmed; above which they spread a crofs layer of other films or leaves, and then dried it in the fun. films nearest the heart of the plant made the finest paper. When Ptolemy king of Egypt denied Attalus king of Pergamus this kind of paper for writing his library, he invented, or mightily improved, the making of parchment, or paper of fkins. After which, books of note were ordinarily written on parchment for almost 1300 years. The parchiments that Paul left at Troas, and orders Timothy to bring with him, were probably either the original draughts of some of his epittles, or a noted copy of the Old Teitament, 2 Tim. iv. 13. For about 550 years back, paper of linen-rags hath been in use.

PAPHOS. There were two cities of this name, about feven miles diffant the one from the other, on the west end of the ifle of Cyprus; in both of which Venus the goddefs of luft had a temple. The old Paphos was built by Agapenor foon after the destruction of Troy. At Paphos Paul preached the gospel, converted Sergius the Roman governor of the island, and ftruck Elymas the forcerer blind, Acts xiii. 16. The idolatry of Venus continued about 400 years after. vertheless, we find here a Christian church about the fame time; and Paphos still continues a feat of one of the bishops of the Greek church.

PARABLE; a figurative reprefentation of truth. It was anciently common for the men of wisdom to utter their fentiments in parables; but it was reckoned very inconfistent for fools to utter parables, Prov. xxvi. 7. By a parable of the trees choosing a king, Jotham shewed the Shechemites their folly in choosing his baftard brother Abimelech. By a kind of parables or riddles, Samson entertained his companions during his marriage feaft, Judg. ix. xiv. By a parable Nathan introduced his reproof of David for his adultery and murder; and the widow of Tekoah perfuaded him to recal Abfalom, 2 Sam. xii. xiv. Not only did the prophets often ufe parabolic language, reprefenting idolaters and adulterers, &c.; but fometimes added parabolic actions, as when Ifaiah walked almost naked and barefoot for three years; Jeremiah hid his girdle by the Euphrates; Ezekiel lay before his iron pan, shaved and divided his hair, carried out his household stuff, ೮c. If. xx. Jer. xiii. Ezek. iv. v. xii. A number of their visions were alfo a kind of parables: as Jeremiah's boiling pot, baskets of figs, &c. Jer. i. xxiv. In our Saviour's time, the manner of instruction by parables was quite common. He carried it to the height of excellency and ufefulnefs. As parables very often reprefent truth as if by a kind of short history; so in them, especially those of our Saviour, there may be oft an allufion to real facts, which adds no fmall decorum to the parable. His parable of the travels of the unclean spirit, and of the fower; the tares; the growth of corns; the mustard-feed; the leaven; the hid treafure; the pearl; the net; the two debtors; the Samaritan; the rich glutton; the fervants waiting for their Lord; the barren fig-tree; the loft sheep; the lost piece of silver; the prodigal fon; the dishonest steward; Lazarus and the rich man; the unjust judge; the Pharifee and publican; the two fervants that were debtors; the labourers; the pounds; the two fons; the vineyard let out to husbandmen; the marriage feaft; the ten virgins; the talents; the sheep and goats; are drawn from obvious and common things: and yet how exalted the inftruction they convey! To understand parables, it is proper to observe, (1.) It is not necessary that the representation of natural things in a parable should be strictly matter of fact, because the defign is not to inform concerning thefe, but concerning fome more momentous truth: nor is it necessary that all the actions in a parable be strictly just, 2 Sam. xiv. Luke xvi. 1 .- 8. (2.) We must chiefly attend to the scope of the parable, which is to be gathered from the inspired explication thereof; or from the introduction to it, or the conclution of it. (3.) Hence it follows, that we are not to expect that every circumstance in the parable should be answered by something in the explication; for feveral circumflances may be added for the fake of decorum, or mere allufion to that whence the figure of the parable is taken. (4.) Yet a parable may inform us of feveral truths, befides the fcope of it.

all

PAR [239] PAR

PARADISE, or GARDEN OF E-DEN. Vain minds have fancied it almost every where. Their opinion who place it in Syria, near the head of the Jordan, or rather further fouth; and theirs that place it in Armenia, whence run the rivers of Euphrates and Hiddekel, which run fouth, and of Araxes, which runs eaft, hath no proof on its fide. The first of these hath no marks of the Mosaic paradife at all: no four rivers; no river parted into four heads. Nor indeed is that in Armenia much better founded; the fprings of Euphrates, Tigris, and Araxes, are too distant to be faid to proceed out of the fame garden; and the Phasis, which they call Pifon, has its head much more distant in the mountain Caucafus. We suppose, that paradife stood in Eden in Chaldea, at the conflux of the Tigris, or Hiddekel, and the Euphrates, or a little below it. Here we find two of Mofes's rivers by name; and below, we find the stream was parted into two large divisions, the eaftern one of which may have been the Gihon, and the western the Pison. may be proper to observe, that when fome of these rivers are faid to con pass fuch lands, the word may be rendered runs along, i. e. along the fide; and Hiddekel went not to the east of Asfyria, but ran from Affyria eastward, or run before Affyria; that is between Mofes and Affyria, Gen. ii. 11.—14. It is probable the Heathens derived their fancy of fortunate islands and E-lysian fields, and drew their taste for gardens of perfumes, from the ancient paradife. Heaven is called a paradife, because of the complete happyings, manifold delights, and is timate rellowship with God, that are there enjoyed, Luke xxiii. 44. 2 Cor. xii. 4. Rev. ii. 7.

PARAMOURS; whorish gallants. The Heathen nations on whom the Jews depended for relief instead of their God, and whose idolatries they followed, are called their paramours, Ezek.

xxiii. 20.

PARAN, or EL-PARAN; a tract in Arabic the Stony, between the fouth of Canaan and the eaftern gulf of the Red fea; or rather it extended, when taken at large, as far as Sinai, Deut. xxxiii. 2. Hab. iii. 3. It is faid that part of it next Sinai abounded with bushes; but on the main, it was, and still is, a frightful defert. It is faid the houses in it were generally holes dug in the earth : but there was a city called Paran in 🚉 whence Hadad took his guides to conduct him to Egypt, I Kings xi. 18. Dr Shaw thinks its extent from Kadesh-barnea on the north, to Sinai, was about 110 miles: but it feems to have extended to the north-east of Kadesh, as David lurked in it when he was near Maon and fouth Carmel, I Sam. xxv. 2.; and perhaps it was the inhabitants of this part of it that Chedorlaomer ravaged before he attacked the Sodomites, Gen. xiv. 6. In the wilderness of Paran, I suppose to the fouth-west of Beer-sheba, Ishmael and his mother Hagar took up their refidence, Gen. xxi. 21.; and hence the Ishmaelites dispersed themselves into the regions about. There feems to have been another place called Paran on the east of Jordan, Deut. i. 1.

PARCHED; exceedingly dried: fo parched ground is what is burnt up with exceffive drought, Jer. xvii. 6. Parched corn is what hath been roafted in the fire, that it may be eaten, 2 Sam. xvii. 28. To inhabit parched places, is to be in a most wretched and destitute condition, Jer. xvii. 6. The Gentile world.

world, and unregenerate men, are likened to parched ground; how deflitute of the fap of divine truth, and gracious habits and influences! how barren of good works! how feorehed with the power of temptation, with corrupt inclinations and cuftoms, and with divine judgements! Jer. xxxv. 7.

PARCHMENT. See PAPER. PARDON. See FORGIVE. PARENTS. See FATHER.

PARLOUR; a cooling chamber,

Judg. iii. 20.

PART; (1.) A piece, Ruth ii. 3. (2.) A share, Josh. xix. 9. (3.) Duty; business, Ruth iii. 13. 1 Sam. xxiii. 20. (4.) Side; party, Mark ix. 40. The inward or hidden part, is the soul and heart, Psal. v. 9. li. 6. God smote the Philistines in the hinder parts, and put them to a perpetual reproach, when he plagued them with the emerods, Psal. Ixxviii. 66. A third or fourth part, is often used to signify a great deal, a great many, Ezek. v. 2. 12. Zech. xiii. 8. 9. Rev. vi. 8. iii. 7.—12. ix. 18.

To part; (1.) To feparate; go ofunder, 2 Kings ii. 11. (2.) To divide, Gen. ii. 10. (3.) To determine a controverfy, giving each his share, Prov. xviii. 8.

PARTAKE; to receive a share. The faints are partakers of Christ and heavenly calling; by receiving Jefus Christ and his Spirit into our heart, we poffefs them, and their bleffings and influences, as our own, and are effectually called to the heavenly glory, Heb. iii. 1. 14. vi. 4. They are partakers of God's promife and benefit; they have an interest in all the promises, and shall receive every bleffing therein contained, Eph. iii. 6. 1 Tim. vi. 2. They are partakers of the divine nature, and of Christ's holiness, when, through union to Christ, and fellowship with him in his righteoufnefs and Spirit, their nature is conformed to a God in Christ, 2 Pet. i. 4. They partake of Christ's fufferings, and of the afflictions of the gospel, when they are perfecuted for adherence to the truths and ways of Christ, 1 Pet. iv. 13. 2 Cor. i. 7. a Tim. i. 8. They partake of the grace of Paul and other ministers, when they receive spiritual edification from their ministry, Phil. i. 7. Hypocrites are partakers of the Holy Ghoil; fome of them in the apostolic age enjoyed his distinguished influences and operations: and in every age they receive fuch convictions or other influences as are feparable from a state of grace, Heb. vi. 4. We are partakers in other mens fins, by contriving, confenting, inclining to, rejoicing in, affifting to commit, or sharing the profits or pleafures of their fin; or by occasioning them, by an evil example or offensive use of things indifferent; by provoking or tempting to, or not doing all we can to hinder their fin; or by commanding, exciting, or hiring men to fin; or by defending. extenuating, or commending their fin; by neglecting to reprove for, and promote the proper punishment of sin: and by not mourning over, and praying against fin, Rev. xviii. 4. Eph. v. 11.

PARTHIA, had Media on the west, Hyrcania on the north, Aria or Ariana on the east, and the defert of Caramania, now Kerman, on the fouth. I am inclined to believe the Parthians were chiefly the offspring of those Gauls that broke into Afia, and part of whom peopled Galatia; but others, perhaps on grounds equally strong, suppose them of a Perfian original. It is certain, that about A. M. 3754, Arfaces, a noble Parthian, revolted from Antiochus Theos of Syria, and erected a kingdom for himself. This, in process of time, became very powerful, and a terror to the Romans themselves. It sometimes extended from the head of the Euphrates; nay, from the Hellespont, to beyond the river Indus in Asia, together with Egypt and Lybia, in Africa. About A. D. 232, this monarchy, at least the family of Arfaces, was ruined by Artaxerxes the Persian. About A. D. 640 Parthia was over-run by the Saracens. The ancient Parthia is now the Perfian Irak, and is in the heart of the Persian empire. It is about 600 miles in length, and 450 broad. The country is fomewhat hilly; but the air is fine; and here we find Ispahan the capital, capital, with Cashan, Hamdan, and other cities of note. Probably fome of those Jews of Parthia who were prefent at Peter's fermon, carried thither the first hints of the Christian faith: but for many ages there have been fmall remains of Christianity here, except among the Armenians, who fettle here for the fake of trade, Acts ii. 9.

PAS PAR 24.I

PARTIAL; thewing an unjust regard or difregard to some persons or things, on account of fome carnal motives, Mal. ii. q. 1 Tim. v. 21.

PARTICULARLY; one by one. Paul could not in an epittle enlarge particularly, in explaining the fignification of every particular utenfil of the temple, Heb. ix. 5.

PARTITION; a wall or hanging that divides between two apartments,

1 Kings vi. 21.

Vol. II.

PARTRIDGE; a bird well known to our sportsmen. Their flesh is very good to eat, their flight is low, and of a finall compass; but they run well, almost as foon as they are hatched. The grey-brown partridges, with a naked fearlet mark behind their eyes, are the most common; but the red legged ones are the largest. In the Alps there are white partridges, with hairy feet. is faid female partridges have fuch inclination to hatch, that if their own eggs be taken away, they will steal fome of their neighbours; and that the young hatched from these eggs forsake their hatcher, and follow the call of their true dam. Partridges are faid to be contentious; and by purfuing the fowler's tame partridge, they will run into his net. Bochart and fome others think the KORE is not the partridge, but the woodcock or fnipe. The Arabs, observing that partridges become languid after they have been hastily put up twice or thrice, hunt them in this manner, and then running in upon them, knock them down with their bludgeons. In a like manner Saul hunted David, 1 Sam. xxvi. 20. As the partridge fitteth on eggs, and hatcheth them not, they being broken or carried away; fo is the covetous fool, who, after he has taken every method to amass wealth, has it taken from him amid his delight therein, Jer. xvii. 11.

PARVAIM; either Parbacia in the land of Havilah, or Ophir. Perhaps Taprobane is the fame as Taph-parvan, the thore of Parvain, Provan, or Parvaim. From Parvaim Solomoa had the gold wherewith he overlaid the infide of his temple, 2 Chron. iii. 6.

PASHUR. See JEREMIAH. A PASSAGE of a river is a ford or bridge, Judg. xii. t6. In a country a passage often fignifies a narrow way between mountains, lakes, 3c. fuch as the passages of Michmath and Abarim, that were rendered narrow by the hills or rocks on each fide, I Sam. xiii. 23. Jer. xxii. 20.

PASSION; (1.) Suffering and death, Acts i. 3. (2.) Affections; infirmities natural or finful, Acts xiv. 15.

Jam. v. 17.

PASSOVER. See FEAST. In the time of Jothua, Samuel, Hezekiah, and Josiah, and after the return from Babylon, it was kept with great care, Joth. v. 2 Chron. xxx. 2 Kings xxiii. Ezra vi. 19. Perhaps, after the blood of the paflover-lambs came to be fprinkled on the altar, they no more fprinkled it on their doors. It is certain, from the instance of our Saviour, that they did not that night confine themfelves to their houses. He no doubt kept it on the very night on which the other Jews observed it; otherwise his adverfaries, who fo cagerly fought for matter of accufation, would have fixed on this. Nor was the day of his death the day of preparation for eating the paschal lamb, but for the Sabbath, and the feast of unleavened bread, which is also called the paffover. As the blood of ten lambs or more might be in one bason, it is easy to see how the blood of 10,000 or 20,000 fuch basons of blood might in one afternoon be fprink. led by so many priests. The Jews still observe a kind of passover, mingling most of the ancient rites with many modern inventions.

PASTORS, or SHEPHERDS; fuch as watch over flocks of theep, Sc. directing them to their right patture, af-

Hhfording PAS [242] PAS

fording them water, gathering them, when proper, to their fold, and protecting them from hurt. It feems that their flocks often followed them, John x. 1.—27. As of old great mens wealth confifted chiefly in their flocks and herds, the office of feeding them was accounted very honourable. Abel, Abraham, Haac, Jacob, Moses, David, nay, the young ladies, as the daughters of Laban and Jethro, employed themselves therein; and why fliepherds were held as an ABOMINATION to the Egyptians, we have already hinted.—G at and Christ are called a Shepherd; with what tender care did he lead, provide for, protect, and govern the Hebrews, in the defert, and in Canaan! With what tender care he gathers, governs, protects, heals, and provides for the welfare of his church and people! Gen. xlix. 21. Pfal. lxxx. 1. xxiii. 1. If. xl. 11. Christ is God's Shepherd, because his Father hath given him his flock of chosen men, and appointed him to die for, call, and feed them, Zech. xiii. 7. He is called the one Shepherd, because he alone owns the fheep; and can, in every respect, anfwer and fupply all their wants, Ezek. xxxiv. 23. John x. 16. He is called the great and chief Shepherd; he is infinitely great in himself; he is highly exalted as our Mediator; he has the fupreme management of the church in his hand; and ministers and magistrates are but instruments subject to him, Heb. xiii. 20. 1 Pet. v. 4. He is the good Shepherd; in infinite kindness he redeemed his sheep from ruin by the price of his blood; kindly he lympathifes with them, and gives them his own flesh and blood for their provision; and nothing good will he with-hold from them, John x. 14. He is the Shepherd and Bishop of Souls; it is mens fouls he leads, reflores, and fatiates; and their spiritual and eternal interests are the great object of his care, I Pet. ii. 25. Pfal. xxiii. 2. 3. Jer. xxxi. 27. -Ministers are shepherds; it is their work to gather, lead, watch over, feed with found doctrine, and every way endeavour to promote the spiritual life, fafety, growth, health, and comfort of their people, Jer. xvii. 6. Eph. iv. 11, 1 Pet. v. 1.—4.

The pattoral or ministerial office and work is described in scripture as inexpreffibly important and folemn. It is at mens infinite hazard if they rush into it without being regenerated in the whole man after the image of God, the old things paffed away, and all things become new; -without having the Spirit of God dwelling in their heart, to fliew them the things of Christ, and enable them to know, win, and rejoice in him, and worship God in spirit and in truth, having no confidence in the flesh;—to make them experimentally know and believe what they declare to others;—and to render them apt to teach, capable to unfold and apply the mysteries of the gospel in a plain and conscience-affecting manner, Gal. i. 15. 16. 2 Cor. v. 17. John xiv. 16. 17. 26. xv. 26. 27. xvi. 13. 14. 15. xx. 22. Phil. iii. 3. 7.—14. 1 Cor. ii. 10.—16. 2 Cor. iv. 14. 1 John i. 3. They must have a real call and mission from Jesus Christ to their work, otherwife they cannot expect to have any true fuccefs therein, Jer. xxiii. 21. 22. 32. If. vi. 8. 9. xlix. 1. 2. Jer. i. Ezek. ii. iii. xxxiii. Matth. x. Luke x. John x. Acts i. xxvi. 17. 18. Rom. x. 15. Heb. v. 4. Their ends ought to be fingle and difinterefted, not feek-. ing great things to themselves, coveting no man's filver, gold, or apparel, but feeking to gain men to Christ, and falvation through him;—not looking or aiming at their own cafe, profit, or honour, but at the things of Christ and his people; not feeking glory of men, but the honour of Christ and his Father, in the eternal falvation of fouls, Jer. xlv. 5. 1 Sam. xii. 3. Acts xx. 33. 1 Cor. ix. 12. 16. 2 Cor. vii. 2. xi. 9. xii. 13. 14. Phil. ii. 21. 2 Cor. vi. 4. -10. 1 Theff. ii. 4.-9. John vii. 18. As ambaffadors for Christ, as flewards of the mysteries and manifold grace of God, it is required of them to be faithful;—to ferve the Lord with their spirit, and with much humility in the gofpel of his Son; to testify repentance towards towards God, and faith towards our Lord Jefus Christ, keeping back no part of the counfel of God, no profitable instruction, reproof, encouragement,—and not moved with any reproach, perfecution, hunger, or nakednefs, but ready, not only to be bound, but to die, for the name of Jefus, in order to finish their course with joy :-They must labour with much sear and trembling, determined to know, to glory in, and make known nothing but Jefus Christ, and him cracified ;preaching the gospel, not with enticing words of man's wildom, as menpleafers, but with great plainness of speech, in demonstration of the Spirit, and with power; - fpeaking the things freely given them by God, not in the words which man's wifdom teacheth, but in words which the Holy Ghost teacheth,-comparing fpiritual things with spiritual, as having the mind of Christ ;-always triumphing in HIM CHRIST, and making manifest the favour of his knowledge in every place, that they may be to God a fweet favour of Christ in them that are faved, and in them that perifh; -as of fincerity, as of God in the fight of God fpeaking in Christ, and through the mercy of God not fainting, but renouncing the hidden things of dishonesty;not walking in craftinefs, nor handling the word of God deceitfully, but manifesting the truth to every man's confcience in the fight of God; -not preaching themselves, but Christ Jesus the Lord, and themselves servants to the church, for his fake,-always bearing about his dying, that his life may be manifested in them .- Knowing the terror of the Lord, and deeply impressed with the account that themselves and hearers shall give to him in the day of judgement, awed with his authority, and conftrained by his love, they mult perfuade men, making themselves manifest to God and to their conscience ; must change their voice, and turn themfelves every way, and become all things to and for all men, in order to bring them to Christ;—jealous over them with a godly jealoufy, in order to efpoufe them to him as chafte virgins: -travailing in birth, till he be formed in their hearts, they must take heed to their ministry, which they have received in the Lord, that they may fulfil it;—giving themfelves wholly to reading, exhortation, and doctrine; -taking heed to themselves, and to what they preach, that they may fave themfelves and their hearers; --- watching for their fouls, as expecting to give an account for them ;-rightly dividing the word of truth, and giving every man his portion in due feafon; -faithfully warning every man, and teaching every man, and labouring to prefent every man perfect in Christ Jefus;—and warring, not after the flesh, nor with carnal weapons, but with fuch as are mighty through God, to the pulling down of strong holds, and casting down imaginations, as fubduing every thought and affection to the obedience of Christ. Having him for the end of their conversation, and holding fast the form of found words, in faith in and love to him, they must go forth without the camp, bearing his reproach, and, expofed as spectacles of fufferings to angels and men, feed the flock of God purchased with his blood, over which the Holy Ghost hath made them overfeers; -preaching found doctrine in faith and verity; -- preaching the word in feafon, and out of feafon; reproving, rebuking, and exhorting, with all long-fuffering and doctrine; -taking the overfight of their people, not by constraint, but willingly, not for filthy lucre, worldly gain, but of a ready mind; and not entangling themselves with the affairs of this life, neither as being lords over God's heritage, but as examples to the flock ;-exercised unto godliness, kindly affectioned, difinterested, holy, just, and unblameable; - prudent examples of the believers, in conversation, in charity, in faith, in purity ;—fleeing youthful lufts, and following after righteoufnefs, peace, faith, charity; -not ftriving, but being gentle unto all men ;in meekness instructing them that oppose themselves; -avoiding foolish and unlearned questions ;-fleeing from perPAS PAT verfe difputings and worldly-mindednefs, as most dangerous fnares, and following after righteoufnefs, godlinefs, faith, love, patience, mecknefs; -fighting the good fight of faith, and laying hold on eternal life; -keeping their trust of gospel-truth and office, and without partiality, &c. or precipitancy, committing the fame to faithful men, who may be able to teach others; and in fine, to try and confute false teachers, rebuke before all fuch as fin openly, - reftore fuch as have been overtaken in a fault, in the fpirit of meeknefs; -and, having compassion on them, to pull them out of the fire, hating the garment spotted by the flesh, and never conniving at or partaking with any in their lins. Alas! how few of the clerical order are answerable to this scriptural description of their character and work! Ezek. ii. 7. iii. 9. 17.—21. xxxiii. 7.-9. If.lviii. 1. Jer. i. 17. 18. xv. 19. 20. Mic. iii. 8. Mal. ii. 6. 7. Matth. x. 16.—39. xix. 28. 29. xx. 25.—28. xxiii. 3.—12. xxiv. 42.— 51. xxviii. 18.—20. Acts xviii. xx. 18.—35. xxiv. 16. xxvi. 16.—23. I Cor. ii.—iv. v. ix. xii. xiii. xiv. 2 Cor. ii.—vi. x.—xiii. Rom. i. 9. 16. ix. 12. x. 1. xii. xv. Gal. i. 8.—16. iv. 19. Eph. iii. 7. 8. 9. iv. 11.-15. Col. iv. 7. 17. I Theff. ii. iii. I Tim. iii .- vi. 2 Tim. ii. iii. iv. Tit. i.- iii. Heb. xiii. 7. 17. 1 Pet. iv. 10. 11. v. 1.—4. Rev. ii. iii. xi. 3.—7. xiv. 6.---11.

Political rulers in the flate, and captains in the army, are called paffors or shepherds: their office requires them to gather, lead, protect, and provide for the welfare of their subjects and armies, which are their flocks; but how oft do they act the contrary! If. xliv. 28. Ixiii. 14. Jer. xii. 10. xxv. 34. Nah. iii. 18. Jer. xxiii. Ezek. xxxiv. haps the skepherd and stone of Israel, fignifies not God, the fource of all bleffings, but Joshua, Gideon, and other rulers of Ifrael, sprung of the tribes of Ephraim or Manasseh, who, as shepherds, ruled, and, as a stone, established the Helirew nation, Gen. xlix. 24. The Chaldean princes and their armies were the shepherds and flocks that ruined Judah, Jer. vi. 3. xii. 10. thinks, the feven shepherds, and eight principal men, raised up to waste the land of Affyria and Nimrod, to be Darius and Hystaspes, and his fellows, who cut off the Magi from the Perfian throne: but we rather understand them of the eight inspired writers, and other feven apostles of Christ under the New Testament, by whom God marvellously brought down the kingdom of Satan in the world, Mic. v. 5. 6. God's cutting off three shetherds in one month, may denote his frequent difplacing from their flation the Jewish rulers of church and state, for a considerable time before the last destruction of Jerusalem, Zech. xi. 8. The foolifh shepherd, or idol shepherd, fet over the Jews, may denote either the Romans, who outrageously oppreffed them; or the heads of their various parties at the ruin of their city; or Barcocaba, and other false Messiahs, who have occasioned so much ruin to their nation, Zech. xi. 15. 16. 17.

PASTURE; a place for feeding of flocks, 1 Chron. iv. 40. Job xxxix. 8. The pasture-grounds in Canaan, Arabia, and even in Egypt, are still a kind of commons, in which strangers, as well as those of the adjacent cities or villages, at leaft for a fmall reward, may feed their flocks and herds. mouths of December, January, and February, when the meadows of Egypt are covered with rank grafs, about two millions of Bedouins or Arabs enter the country, and feed their cattle in them; and after eating them retire to other countries for pasturage. When men are likened to flocks or herds, their country, or what they enjoy in it, is called their paflure, Hof. xiii. 6. When faints are likened to flocks, the church, their new-covenant flate, the ordinances and word of God, and the bleffings thereby conveyed, are their good, green, fresh, and flourishing pafture, Pfal. lxxiv. 1. xxiii. 2. Ezek. xxxiv. 14.

PATE; the crown of the head, Pfal. vii. 16.

PATARA; a fea-port of Lycia.

Here

PAT [245] PAV

Here was a famous temple of Apollo, where oracles, equal in repute to those of Delphos, were given for fix months of the year. Paul touched here in his way from Macedonia to Jerufalem: but we hear nothing of Christianity fettled till the 4th century, and it continued till the 9th, when the Saracens wasted the country, Acts xxi. 1.

PATH. See WAY.

PATHROS; a city or canton of Egypt. Some will have it to be the Phaturis of Ptolemy and Pliny. Wells makes it a city in Upper Egypt, on the west of the Nile. Some will have it the Thebais in Upper Egypt. no doubt had its name from Pathrusim, the 5th fon of Mizraim, who built or peoples it, Gen. x. 14. When I confider, that the Jews under Johanau the fon of Kareah ded hither from Judea, and that the defolation of Egypt by Nebuchad lezzar and Cambyfes began with Pathros, Jer. xliv. 1. 15. Ezek. xxix. 14. xxx, 14. I am drougly inclined to think it was fome-where about the north-east of Egypt. From Pathros, God will recal the Jews to their own land; and has, or will, gather many to the gospel-church, If. xi. 11.

PATIENCE, or Long-suffer-ING. God's patience, is his bearing long with offenders without punishing them, Rom. ii. 4. Matth. xviii. 26. 29. The patience of the faints, is that grace, whereby they meekly endure injuries, and with a continued calmness of temper, and fubmission of spirit to the will of God, bear afflictions, and humbly wait for the accomplishment of his promifes, Rom. v. 3. viii. 25. It is called the patience of Jefus Christ, as he exemplifies it and beflows it: it is exereifed in the way of waiting, and honouring him, and in a patient waiting for his coming in the power of his Spirit, and to judge the world, 2 Theff. iii. 4. Rev. i. 9.: and the word of his patience, are those truths which are opposed, and we are called to maintain and fusser for, Rev. iii. 10. Herein is the patience and faith of the faints: in enduring Antichristian perfecution, and waiting for the revenging judgements of God, will their patience and faith be exceedingly exercised and tried, Rev. xiii, 10.

PATMOS; an island of the Egean fea, not far from Melitus, and about 40 miles weltward of Ephefus. It is about 25 or 30 miles in circumference, and is of a barren foil, and is now called Patmo, Patmol, or Palmofa. Hither John the apostle was banished, and here he had his revelations, Rev. i. 9.; and here you are still shewed his cell, and a number of other superstitious fooleries. During the Cretian or Candian war, about an hundred years ago. the most of the Venetian seet wintered in the harbours of this island. At prefent it is inhabited only by Christians of the Greek church, subject to the Turks. The males are reckoned about 300; but the females are much more numerous.

PATRIARCH; one of the principal fathers of mankind, particularly of the Jews: fo Abraham, Jacob and his fons, and David, are called, Heb. vii. 4. Acts vii. 8. 9. ii. 29.

PATRIMONY; the goods or in-

PATRIMONY; the goods or inheritance left by a father to his child, Deut. xviii. 8.

PATTERN; (1.) An example, or model, Exod. xxv. 9. Tit. ii. 7.

(2.) A type, Heb. ix. 23.

PAVEMENT; a floor of a court or fireet, laid with polished and precious stones, 2 Kings xvi. 17. 2 Chron. vii. 3. The Egyptians and other orientals pave the floors of their houses with painted tiles, or with marble. The pavement of the courts in Ezekiel's visionary temple, may denote the gofthe faints holy and beautiful gospel-truths, which are the foundation of the faints holy and beautiful gospel-walk, Ezek. xl. 17. 18. xlii. 3. See Gabbatha.

PAVILION; a tent, chiefly one for a king, general, or prince, I Kings xx. 12. Jer. xkiii. 10. God made darknefs his pavilion; he displayed his peculiar presence in the cloudy pillar that directed the Hebrews: he often effectuates his greatest works by dark and mysterious providences, Pfal. xviii.

lion ;

PAU [246] PAU

tion; in intimate followship with him, they are most safe, as prisoners are in the conquering general's tent; and by his providence he safely, but mysteriously protects them, Psal. xxvii. 5. xxxi. 20.

PAUL was of the tribe of Benjamin, and both his parents were Hebrews. He was born at Turfus in Cilicia, and so was by birth a free citizen of Rome. He was at first called Saul, and never Paul till the conversion of Surgius Paulos. Perhaps Saul was his Hebrew name, and Paul his Roman one, which he used among the Gentiles: or, perhaps Sergius honored him with his firmanc. His par ts fent him early to Jerufale, , to fludy the Jewish law, under the direction of Gamaliel, the most famed doctor of that age. He made great progress in his fludies, and lived a very blamelets life. He was of the feet of the Pharifees, and was, beyond many, a ftrict observer of the law of Moses. thought it his duty, by every way he could devife, to affront the name, and oppose the religion and followers of Jefus: he was zealous even to madness against them. When Stephen was murdered by the mob, he was a hearty consenter, and took care of their cloaths who floned him to death. He was most active in the perfecution that followed. He entered the houses of the Christians, and haled them to prifon, men and women. He entered the Synagogues where the Christians at any time were, and caused them to be beaten with rods; and compelled them to blaspheme our Saviour, as the condition of their escape. Not satisfied with the mischief he could do them at Jerusalem, he obtained credentials from Caiaphas, the high prieft, and the elders of the Jews, to the principal persons of Damascus, with power to bring to Jerusa-Iem fuch believing Jews as had fled thither, that they might be punished. He went off, breathing and threatening nothing lefs than cruelty and death against them. When he and his attendants had almost finished their journey to Damafous, they were all of a fudden furrounded by a furprifing light from heaven. Terrified almost out of their wits, they threw themselves on the ground. Saul alone heard our Saviour's voice, which in a maje tie manner faid to him, Saul, Saul, why perfecutest thou me? Saul trembling, asked him, Who art thou, Lord? He replied, that he was Jefus, whom he had perfecuted; and added, that it was very dangerous to frive against his power. In the utmost consternation, Saul asked him, what he would have him to do? Jefus bid him rife and stand on his feet; for he had chosen him to be a noted minister and apostle, to preach his doctrines among the Gentiles, for their conversion and falvation, He bid him go to Damascus, and there he should be farther informed of his will. As Saul was struck blind, his companions had to lead him by the way. He had formerly accounted himfelf one of the best of men, and a certain beir of cternal life; now the law of God, applied to his confcience, convinced him that he was a diffinguished tranfgreffor, dead in trefpaffes and fins, and condemned of God to endless ruin. After he had lodged three days in the house of one Judas, without either fight or food, Ananias, a Christian preacher, was directed of God, to go atk for him, and by laying on of hands, recover him to his fight. Saul had no fooner recovered his fight than he made a folemn profession of his faith, was baptized, and afterwards filled with the Holy Ghoft, Phil. iii. 5.—8. Gal. i. 13 —16. Acts viii. 1. ix. 1.—19. xxii. 1.—16. xxvi. 9.—18. Rom vii. 8.—13.

After eating, and recovering his ftrength, he, regardless of whatever poverty, reproach, or perfecution might await him, began to preach the gospel at Damascus, and many were converted. Such Jews as were not, were shocked, and knew not what to think or fay. To stifle the account of his conversion, and stop his usefulness, they resolved to murder him; obtained the governor's leave to do so, and watched the gates, night and day, to essentiate their purpose, and prevent his escape. Informed hereof, his friends let him down in a balket from a window of a house built on the wall of the city. After he had preached fome time in Arabia, fouth of Damafeus, he returned to that city. In the third year of his conversion, he went up to Jerusalem to fee Peter, who had begun the conversion of the Gentiles. It was not till Barnabas related the manner and confequences of his convertion, that the disciples at Jerusalem admitted him into their fociety: he faw none of the apostles at that time but Peter and James the Lefs, the reft, it feems, being in the country preaching the gofpel: nor did he receive any instruction At Jerufalem he preachfrom them. ed the Christian doctrine with such evidence and zeal as the Jews could not refift, but refolved to kill him. As he was praying in the temple, he fell into a trance, wherein he was caught up into the third heaven, and heard things improper to be mentioned on earth. The Lord warned him to leave Jerufalem, as the Jews had laid fnares for his life, and go preach among the Gentiles. Attended with fome Christian brethren, he went down to Cefarea, and there shipped off for Tarfus, Acts ix. 19.— 31. xxii. 17.—21. 2 Cor. xi. 31.—33. xii. Gal. i. 15.—21.

their

PAU [247] PAU

After he had preached about Cilicia near five years, Barnabas brought him fouth to Antioch in Syria, where the converts to Christianity exceedingly in-After he had preached here creafed. about a whole year, he and Barnabas carried up the collection for the poor faints to Jerufalem. They had not long returned to Antioch, when Simeon called Niger, Lucius, Manaen, and other preachers, directed of the Holy Ghost, fent them off to preach the gofpel in other places, recommending them to the Lord, by folemn falling and prayer. They went to Cyprus, and there preached every where in the Jewish synagogues. Sergius Paulus the Roman governor of the island, and many others, were converted to Christ; - and Bar-jefus the magician, who withstood them, was struck blind. From Cyprus they came to Perga in Pamphylia, where John Mark hearing of their intended progress to the northward, left them, and returned to Antrach in Syra. Paul and Barnabas went into Pilidia. Here, as they on the Subbath were in a Jewish fynagogue, the ruler of it defired them to give a word of exhortation, after the reading of the law. In a long oration, Paul rehearfed the marvellous providences of God towards the Hebrew nation, and evinced, that Jefus was the true Meffiah, whom the prophets and Baptift had foretold; and called them to believe on his name. He was heard with great attention, and intreated to discourse next Sabbath on the same fubject. When the day came, almost all the people of the city affembled to hear him. Offended at this concourse of the Gentiles, many of the Jews outrageously contradicted and blasphemed what was fpoken. Paul and Barnabas told them, that it was necessiary, in respect of the purpose of God, that the gospel should be first preached to them; but fince they had rejected it, they would now preach it to the Gen-The Gentiles were extremely glad to hear this; and multitudes, fuch as had been elected to everlasting life, believed. But as the Jews stirred up fome honourable devotees of the heathenish party, and raised a persecution against them, Paul and Barnabas were driven out, and shook off the dust of their feet as a testimony against them, Acts xiii.

They came to Iconium, and preached in the fynagogues. Many miracles were wrought, and multitudes were turned to the Lord; but the Jews stirred up the Heathens against them. Being in danger of stoning, they retired to Lystra and Derbe, cities of Lycaonia. Having at Lystra healed a man with a word, who had been lame from his birth, the people took them for gods in the likeness of men; Barnabas for Jupiter, and Paul for Mercury. The priest of Jupiter brought oxen adorned with garlands for a facri-

PAU [248] PAU

Are to them. Paul and Barnabas thrust themselves among the mob; and told them they were but men like themselves, and begged them to turn from there vanities, to ferve the only true God. With no imall difficulty they got the facrifice flopped. Soon after, forme Tews of Antioch in Pitidia, and of Iconium, came here, and thired up the people against the apostles. Paul was thined, and dragged out of the city apparently dead; but as the Chriftians gathered about him, and no doubt prayed over him, he recovered, and having lodged that night in the city, fet all next morning for Derbe. After preaching there some time, they returned to Iconium and Antioch in Pi-In all these places, they, with prayer and fafting, and laying on of hands, ordained fuch to be presbyters or elders as had been chosen to that office by the church. After preaching fome time in Perga and Attalia, cities of Pamphylia, they returned to Antioch in Syria, where they rehearfed what God had wrought by their means.— After they had continued here a confiderable time, the churches of Syria and Cilicia were exceedingly peftered with false teachers, who, pretending a committion from the apostles and elders at Jerufalem, taught, that circumcifion and the observance of the ceremonial law were necessary to falvation. After much disputing, it was resolved to appeal this matter to a general decision of the aposles and ciders at Jerusalem. · Paul and Barnabas were fent commiffioners from ntioch. After the apostles and elders had met together, with the deputies from Syria and Cilicia, Paul and Barunhas rehearfed to them, and to the private Christians prefent, what things the Lord had done by their means. The cause was then reasoned on, and judged in. It was determined, that the Gentile converts were under no moral obligation to obferve the ceremonial law; but for avoiding the offence of the Jewish Christians, they were required to abitain from blood, and from things thrangled, and meats offered to idols, as well as from fornication. Paul, Barnabas, Barfabas, and Silas, were feat to Antioch and the churches adjacent, with the letter and deed of the council. The churches were exceedingly pleafed with the decree, as, at once, it fecured to the Gentiles their liberty, and bore with the weakness of the Jewish converts. When Paul was at Jerusalem, he both publicly and privately declared what doctrines he had taught. Neither Peter, nor James, nor John, nor any other apostle, found the least fault therewith, but cordially acknowledged him the apostle of the Gentiles, and defired him to make collections for the poor, as he himfelf inclined to do, Acts xiv. xv. Gal. ii. 1.—10.

When Paul and Barnabas had continued fome time at Antioch of Syria. Peter came thither: at the first he cheerfully eat with the believing Gentiles; but when fome I with converts foon followed him, he forbore eating with the Gentiles, and Barnabas was like to have been drawn by him into the fame courfe. Paul sharply rebuked Peter for this diffinulation, as a thing quite contrary to Christian liberty, and contrary to the late decision of their council at Jerusalem. Paul afterwards proposed to Barnabas, that they should visit the churches they had planted. Barnabas readily agreed; but as he infilted to have MARK his coufin with them, and Paul as warmly infifted to the contrary, they parted, and Barnabas and Mark went to Cyprus, while Paul and Silas took their rout northward through Syria and Cilicia. They came to Derbe and Lystra. Here Paul found Timothy, and intending to take him for his companion, he caused him to be circumcifed, in order to render him the more acceptable to the Jews. They travelled through Lycaonia, Phrygia, and Galatia; but the Holy Ghost prohibited them to preach in Proconfular Ana. They went to Myria, and came to Troas. Here an angel, in the drefs of a man of Macedonia, appeared in a vision to Paul, and defired him to come and help their country, preaching the gospel to them.

Thev

PAU [249] PAU

They took ship at Troas, sailed to the ifle of Samothracia, and thence to Neapolis. They foon after travelled thence to Philippi. Here they reforted to the river-fide, where was a place of Jewish devotion. Lydia, and her fainily, and many others, were turned to the Lord. As they went from their lodging in the house of Lydia, a maid, possessed with a spirit of divination, followed them feveral days, crying out, that they were the fervants of the Most High God, who shewed to men the way of falvation. Detefling an atteftation which tended to render them Juspected as diviners, Paul, in the name of Jefus, ordered the evil fpirit to leave her. Enraged hereat, her matters, who had made much gain by her foothfaying, carried Paul and Silas before the magiltrates, as introducers of a new religion. They were whipped with rods, and committed to prison. As about midnight Paul and Silas fung praifes to God, an earthquake shook the prison: all the doors burst open, and the chains of the pijfoners fell off them. Awakened with the noise, the jailor, feeing the doors open, suppofed the prifoners had fled, and was just going to murder himself, to prevent what he apprehended would be worfe. Paul, with an outcry, begged him to do himself no hurt, as all the prifeaers were in their places. ving got a light, he fprang in trembling, and asked Paul and Silas concerning the way of falvation to his foul. Paul having informed him of the Chriftian principles, and that the fole way of falvation was by believing in Jefus as the only Saviour, he and his whole family were baptifed. He brought water, and washed the wounds of Paul and Silas, and gave them fome food. On the morrow, the magistrates, by their ferjeants or messengers, ordered him to give Paul and Silas their liberty. Paul returned answer, that fince the magistrates had beaten and imprifoned Roman citizens uncondemned, it was proper they should come and difmifs them themselves. On hearing of their being citizens of Rome, the Vol. II.

magistrates were not a little affrighted. and came and begged their pardon, and bringing them out from the prison, defired them to leave the place; which they did, after they had comforted the disciples in the house of Lydia, Acts xvi. Having paffed fouthward through Amphipolis and Apollonia, cities of Macedonia, they came to Theffalonica the capital. Here Paul preached three Sabbaths in a Jewish fynagogue, and many believed; but the Jews, raining a mob, belet the house of Jason where Paul lodged; but as neither Paul por his brethren were found there, they dragged Jason before the magistrates, and accused him as an barbourer of rebels against the emperor, and preachers of one King letus. After Jason had found security for his loyalty, he was difmiffed. That very night the Christians conducted Paul and Silas out of the place. Notwithstanding of the wealth of Thessalonica, Paul was here in confiderable flraits for his daily bread. He and Silas went next to Berea, where both Jews and Gentiles heard the gospel with great readiness of mind, and carefully compared what they heard with the writings of the prophets; and not a few perfons of note believed. It was not long when the malicious Jews of The falonica came, and raifed the mob against them. Paul was obliged to withdraw; but Silas and Timothy abode behind, to instruct the new converts. Paul's guides brought him to Athens, whence he feet back word to his two companions to follow him. The excellive idolatry and vanity of this place, fo famed for wifdom, was extremely grieyous to Paul. He preached in the Jewish fynagogues; and on various occasions he disputed with the Epicurean and Stoic philosophers. Atter no finall derifion, they accused him to the court of Areopagus, as an introducer of a new religion. Multitudes of vain persons attended his trial. his defence, he observed, that among their too numerous fuperstitions, he had observed an altar to the unknown God; and that this unknown God, I i Whom PAU [250] PAU whom they ignorantly worshipped, was the Jesus whom he preached to them. He hinted, how abfurd it was for men that believed themselves the offspring or children of God, to imagine that the Deity refembled filver, gold, or any pictures or statues made by men; and that God had appointed a day for judging the world by Jefus Christ, whom he had raised from the dead. He had fcarce mentioned the refurrection, when fome mocked him, and others faid, they would hear him afterwards of that matter. Dionyfius, however, one of the judges, and Damaris, perhaps his lady, and fome others, believed. Timothy having come up to him, and informed him of the fuffering state of the Christians of Thessalonica, he fent him back to comfort them, Acts xvii. Leaving Athens, Paul Theff. ii. preached at Corinth with confiderable That he might shew how averse he was to occasion the least infinuation of his feeking wealth, he lodged with Aquila and Prifcilla, and wrought at their bufiness of tent-making, which it feems he had learned in his youth. Every day, or at least every Sabbath, he preached in the Jewish synagogues. Numbers were converted, particularly Stephanas and his family, with Crifpus and Gaius. He had not been long here, when Silas and Timothy came up, and informed him of the flourishing state of the Christians at Thessalonica. Hereon he wrote them his first epistle. As fome took occasion from it to disturb their minds, as if the day of judgement were at hand, he foon after wrote them the fecond, to correct their mistakes.—Affished by Silas and Timothy, he went on with his work at Corinth. Jews opposed him with rage and blatphemy: he shook his lap at them, and told them, that their blood was on their own head, and that now he would turn to the Gentiles. He removed his lodging to the house of one Justus, a person of some note: and being encouraged by a vision, bearing that the Lord would support, and mightily succeed him in his work, he continued here about 18 months. The Jews profecuted him before Gallio the deputy. as an enemy to the Roman governor; hut the deputy was too wife to give them any encouragement. Nay, Softhenes the ruler of their fynagogue, was beaten by the mob, before the tri-At last, Paul set out for Jerusalem, intending to be there against Pentecost, when there would be a multitude affembled; but before he took ship at Cenchrea, a sea-port belonging to Corinth, he cut his hair, and having finished his Nazaritic vow. Aquila and Priscilla attended him to Ephefus, whence he failed to Cefarea. and then went up to Jerusalem, Acts xviii. 1 Cor. xvi.

Returning northward, he vifited the churches of Syria, Galatia, Phrygia, and other places of Asia, confirming the disciples. Arriving at Ephesus, he found fome who had been initiated into the Christian faith by Apollos, and baptifed with the baptifm of John. These, to the number of 12, he instructed in the truths of the gospel; and by laying on of his hands, conferred on them the miraculous influence of the Holy Ghost, the gift of prophecy, and of speaking with tongues. For three months Paul preached to the Jews in their fynagogues; but finding them obstinate, he separated from them, and taught daily in the school of one Tyrannus a Gentile; or perhaps a converted Jew, who kept a kind of divinity school there. Many miracles were wrought: when the linen that had touched his body was applied to the diffrefled, their maladies were cured, and the devils dislodged. Multitudes, too, who had used divination and other black arts, believed the gospel, and burnt their magical books. During the three years which Paul preached at Ephefus, he was cast to wild beasts in the theatre; or had to do with men as outrageous as wild beafts, when Demetrius the filversmith raised the mob against him. Some time before he left Ephefus, he was informed of the fad diforders of the church of Corinth, PAU [251] PAU by those of the family of Chloe, and perhaps more fully by Stephanas, Fortunatus, and Achaicus, who, it feems, brought him fome fupply. He wrote them his first epistle, and therein fends them the falutation of the Christians in Asia. Calmet thinks it was from hence too that he wrote his epiffle to the Galatians. He had fent Timotheus to Greece; but it feems he was returned, and was left at Ephefus to fettle the affairs of that church. Paul, meanwhile, went off for Greece. His not meeting with Titus at Troas, whom he expected from Corinth, gave him great uneafiness; but at last he found him in Macedonia, and was by him informed of the good effect of his first epiftle on the Corinthians. He thereon wrote his fecond letter to that church, for their comfort, establishment, and further direction; and hinted what danger he had often been in, from Jews, pretended Christians, robbers, or the fea; and what hunger, thirst, nakedness, cold, fasting, and watching, he had fuffered; how five times the Jews had beaten him, to the utmost rigour of their law; twice the Heathen magistrates had caused him be beaten with rods; thrice he had fuffered shipwreck, and, it feems, had once, for a whole night and day, flruggled with the waves in the open fea. About this time, it is probable, he wrote his first epistle to Timothy. Perhaps he went westward from Macedonia, and preached the gospel in Illyricum. Returning fouthward, he vifited the faithful at Corinth, and wrote his epiftle to the Romans. Having received the collection which those of Macedonia and Achaia had made for the poor Christians of Judea, he took his rout for Jerufalem, through Macedonia, whence, either from Philippi or Nicopolis, he feems to have written his epiftle to Titus. Departing from Macedonia, he landed at Troas in five days. There Sopater of Berea, Ariftarchus and Secundus of Thessalonica, Timothy, and Gaius of Derbe, with Tychicus and Trophimus, who were probably of Ephefus, waited till he came up. After resting a whole week, he, on the Lord's day, dispensed the Lord's fupper to the Christians there, and preached till midnight. One Eutyches, who fat in a window, did, in a manner shamefully common in our times, and without the half of his temptation, fall affeep at the fermon, and falling from the third storey, was taken up dead: but Paul, by a miracle, restored him to life. He taught the disciples till break of day, and then fet off on his journey. Paul's companions took ship, but he travelled a-foot to Affos, and embarked with them at Thence he came to Mile-Mitylene. tus, and fending for the elders of the church of Ephelus, warned them of his own fuffering at Jerufalem, and of their danger from falfe teachers; and having exhorted them to patience and faithfulnefs, he prayed with them, and to their great grief, took his last farewel of them in time, Acts xix. xx. I Cor. xv. 32. xvi. 8. 9. 19. 2 Cor. vii. 5. 6. xi. 23.—28. Rom. xv. 19.—26.

From Miletus Paul failed to Coos: thence to Rhodes; thence to Patara; and thence to Tyre. After stopping here a week, he and his companions proceeded to Ptolemais, and thence to Here they found Pailip, the deacon and evangelift. Here too Agabus met them, and binding his hands and feet with Paul's girdle, fignified that Paul should be bound by the Jews at Jerufalem, and delivered Paul's friends up to the Gentiles. hereon diffuaded him from going up to Jerusalem, but could not prevail, as he told them his life was not dear to him, if he might but finish his course with joy, and that he was ready to fuffer imprisonment and death for the honour of Jefus. When he came to Jerufalem, the Christians joyfully welcomed him thither, and the elders of the church meeting at the house of James the apostle, did, with great pleafure, hear him report his travels and fuccess. James represented to him, that as many of the myriads of believers at Jerufalem had believed the report, that he had taught the Jews among the Gentiles to undervalue circumcifion and other ceremonies, it would be proper, for the removal of the offence which they had conceived, to inform them of the contrary; and to confirm their belief of his due regard to the ceremonies, it would be fit he thould join himfelf to the four men who were to offer their oblations for their finished Nazariteship. Paul, perhaps too complaifant in this particular, went up to the temple, and fignified to the priests, that he and these Nazarites would in feven days be ready with their offerings. He had scarce appeared in the court of the temple with his offering, when some Jews of Lesser Asia cried for help to apprehend him, as one who had every where taught the abolishment of the ceremonial law, and had brought Greeks into the temple to He was directly feized; pollute it. and the gates of the facred court were He had been beaten to death, had not Lysias the tribune come with his Roman guard to refcue him. along to the castle Antonia the enraged mob followed him. As he entered the castle, he begged the captain to hear him a word. Lyfias asked him, if he could speak Greek, and whether he was the Egyptian who had infested the country with 4000 affaffins? Paul replied, that he was a Jew, born in the famed city of Tarfus. He was then allowed to fpeak to the mob. Upon his affectionately addressing them in the Hebrew language, they liftened the more quietly. He rehearfed to them his former rage against the Christians, his manner of convertion, and his mission to preach among the Gentiles. He had fcarce mentioned this last, when the Jews, in the most outrageous manner, cried out, that he ought not to live. To prevent a general infurrection, Lyfias ordered Paul into the castle, and groundlessly suppofing that he was certainly guilty of fome horrible crime, he ordered him to be fourged, till he confessed it.

Liz hever

PAU [252] PAU

As they bound him to the pillar to be fcourged, Paul asked the centurion, if it was according to law, to fcourge a citizen of Rome, without hearing his defence? The centurion run to the tribune, and begged him to take heed, as Paul was a freeman of Rome. Lysias finding he had been born fuch, gave orders to loofe him. Next day, Lyfias called a council of the Jewish priefts and elders to Itave Paul deliberately tried. He had fearce begun his fpeech, affirming, that he had always ftudied to live blamelefs before God and men, when Ananias ordered fuch as stood next him to smite him on the mouth. Paul directing his speech to Ananias, faid, God would finite him, who hypocritically pretended to judge him according to law; and yet order-ed him to be finitten contrary to it. Some prefent asked him, how he durst revile God's high priest? Paul replied; that he did not know, at least did not acknowledge him to be high prieft. Looking around on the affembly, and observing by their badges, that they confifted of an almost equal number of Pharifees and Sadducees, he cried out that he was a Pharifee, and was called in question touching the refurrection of the dead. Hereon the Pharifees took his part, and fell into a diffention with the Sadducees. fearing that he should be torn to pieces between the two parties, ordered him back to the caftle. That very night, God encouraged Paul, and affured him, that he should live, and bear witness of his truths also at Rome. Next day, above forty of the Jews bound themfelves under a terrible curfe, that they should neither eat nor drink till they had killed Paul; and that they might have an opportunity, the Jewish priests and rulers agreed to defire Lytias to bring him back to the council to be farther examined. Informed of this plot, by his fifter's fon, who perhaps was no Christian, Paul procured him access to relate the matter to Lyias, who thereon, next night, fent off Paul to Felix, the governor at Cefarea, with an account of his case, attended with a strong guard, Acts xxii. xxiii.

PAU [253] PAU

Within five days after, Ananias the high prieft, and others of the Jewish rulers, went down to Cefarea to carry on a profecution against Paul. Tertullus their orator, after a flattering addrefs to Felix, one of the bafeft of men, accused Paul as a notorious disturber of the public peace, and a profaner of the temple. When Paul had liberty to fpeak, he refuted the charge, and defied them to prove any thing against him, except that he professed his faith of the refurrection of the dead, and worshipped God in the Christian manner, believing every thing Felix put off faid by the prophets. further trial, till Lyfias should come and give him more full information;and meanwhile made Paul's impriforment pretty eafy, giving him full liberty to receive the visits of his friends. Some days after, Felix and Drufilla his wife fent for Paul. He discourfed to them of righteoulness, temperance, and judgement, till Felix, who was extremely guilty on these points, fell a trembling, and difmiffed him. As Felix expected Paul's friends would ranfom him, he often fent for him, and talked with him. Having received nothing for his liberty, Felix, to pleafe the Jews at the last, whom he had so often offended with his oppressive methods, left Paul bound. Scarce had Festus entered on his government, when the Jewish rulers accused Paul, who had now been a prisoner two years to him, and intending to have him murdered by the way, requested that he would bring him up to Jerusalem for Festus ordered them to come to trial. Cefarea. They came, but could prove nothing which the Roman law made criminal. To gratify them as far as possible, Festus asked Paul, if he would go up and be tried at Jerusalem. Convinced of the murderous defigns of the Jews, Paul, to prevent them, appealed to Nero, the emperor, who, as yet, behaved with fome moderation.

After conferring with his council, Feltus told Paul, that he admitted his appeal, and would fend him to Rome. Not long after, King Agrippa, and his fifter Bernice, came to pay Festus Festus told them the affair of Paul. Agrippa defired to hear him-Paul being required to fpeak for himfelf, he, after a fine address to Agrippa, rehearfed his cafe, his convertion, and call to the ministry. When Feftus, quite ignorant of thefe matters, faid, learning had rendered him mad, Paul, with the most genteel address, told him, he was not mad, but fpake the words of truth and fobernefs. When Agrippa faid, he had almost perfuaded him to be a Christian; Paul, in the handfomest manner, expressed his wish, that Agrippa, and all prefent, were fuch as himfelf, except as to his troubles. Agrippa gave his opinion, that Paul might have been fet at liberty had he not appealed to Cefar, Acts xxiv. xxv. xxvi. Paul and other prisoners were shipped off for Rome, in a ship of Adramyttium, urder the care of Julius, a centurion of the Augustan band of soldiers. lius was very kind to Paul, and at Sidon allowed him to go ashore and vifit his friends. After they had failed along the coast of Phænicia, a contrary wind obliged them to fail by the east end of Cyprus. When they came to Myra, a lea-port of Lycia, they were put into a thip of Alexandria, bound for Rome. As the Jewish fath of expiation was past, and the winter beginning, the weather began to be flormy; and it was with no imall difficulty they arrived at the fair havens, on the east of Crete. Paul advised them to winter there; but others infifted they should go to Phenice, on the west of that island, where they would have a more commodious harbour. For fome time they failed flowly, but fafely, along the fouth fide of Crete; but at last a terrible storm. from the east drove them on a small island called Clauda. To prevent their being dashed on the rock, the mariners lowered their fails, and committed themselves to the sea. After three days they cast out part of their cargo. For fourteen days they neither faw fun, moon, nor stars. Informed by God, Paul affured them, that none of their lives should be lost, but only the ship. The mariners, finding by their line that the water was not very deep, judged they drew near to fome land, and let down their boat that they might escape in it. Paul, directed by God, defired the centurion to retain them, as the passengers could not otherwife be preferved. The foldiers cut off the boat, and let her drive by the fea. After they had almost fasted fourteen days, Paul begged they would take some meat, as they might affure themselves they should not be lost. but be cast on some island. Observing land, the mariners attempted to thrust the ship into a creek. She struck aground upon a neck of land, and was broken to pieces. The foldiers advifed to kill the prifoners, that they might not escape; but Julius, from regard to Paul, prevented it. All that were in the ship, to the number of 276, fome by fwimming, and others on planks and broken boards, got fafe to land on the ifle of Malta. Here the Heathens shewed them the utmost kindness. Here a viper, from among a bundle of flicks which they had gathered to warm them with, fastened on Paul's hand. The Barbarians feeing it, concluded that certainly he had been a murderer, and that though he had escaped the sea, yet divine vengeance fuffered him not to live; but when they faw Paul shake off the viper into the fire, and receive no harm from it, they changed their mind, and thought him a god. Here Paul miraculously healed the father of Publius the governor, of his bloody flux, and the other diseased people that were in At the end of three the island. months, they re-imbarked, and arrived first at Syracuse, in the south-east of Sicily, then at Rhegium, on the fouth of Italy. They coasted to the northward, till they came to Puteoli, where they landed. After Paul had continued here feven days with his Christian friends, he fet out for Rome. The Christians of that city met him at Appli-forum, and the Three Taverns: this mightily encouraged him, Whether the Jews did not profecute their appeal, or whether it was at this time that no body affished the apostle to plead his cause, we know not. is certain he was permitted to live two years in his own hired houfe, with a foldier that kept him, and to preach the gospel to them that pleased to hear him. He fent for the principal Jews of the place, and related his cafe to them, to prevent their being impofed on by their brethren of Judea. They told him they had received no particular information concerning him, only they knew the Christians were every where spoken against, and they would be glad to hear an account of their doctrines from himself. morning to night he explained to them the things concerning Jesus, out of Mofes and the prophets. Observing that many of them believed not, he hinted, that according to Isaiah's prediction, they had heard the gospel, and hardened themselves by means thereof, and therefore it was fent to the Gentiles, who were willing to receive it. Whether after this two years of imprisonment at large, he was dismiffed, and went to Spain or Macedonia, and afterwards returned to Rome, or whether he was made a close prifoner, we know not; but it is certain his imprisonment turned out to the glory of Christ, and the spread of the gospel. Several of Nero's own family were converted. Many of the Christians in Leffer Asia were much alienated from him, by means of their falfe teachers, Phygellus, Hermogenes, &c.; yet fome out of mere spite at Paul, became more diligent in preaching the gospel. Providence, however, stirred him up friends. One fiphorus fought him out, and ministered to him. nesimus, a runaway thief and slave from Philemon, was converted, and very ufeful to him. The Philippians fent. PAW [255] PEA

PAU 1254 7 PAU

Ent Epaphroditus to comfort him, and with fome money to supply his wants. About this time he wrote his epistle to the Colossians and to Philemon; both which, it feems, he fent by Onefimus. Soon after, Demas forfook him, and he wrote his epiftle to the Philippians, probably by Epaphroditus; that to the Galatians, by Crefcens; and that to the Ephefians, by Tychicus. Much about the fame time, he wrote his fecond to Timothy, wherein he defires him to come to Rome. After Timothy had come to Rome, and had been imprisoned and liberated, he wrote his epiftle to the Hebrews. At last, it is said, his preaching converted one of Nero's darling concubines: Enraged for the loss of his harlot, Nero caused Paul to be beheaded, Acts xxvii. xxviii. Phil. i. 12.-19. iv. 22. 2 Tim. i. 15.-18. Philem. 10.—14. Col. iv. 14. 2 Tim. iv. 9. 21. As before his conversion he was an outrageous enemy of Christ; after it, he was one of the most holy and humble men, and laborious preachers, that ever breathed; nor is his magnifying of his office and labour, in opposition to the false teachers, any evidence to the contrary, as he therein confutes them upon their own pretences, and at every proper turn, afcribes all he was, and had done in the fervice of Christ, to the grace of God, Gal. i. ii. 2 Cor. x. xi. xii. I Cor. xv. 8.—10.

PAW; the fore foot of lions, bears, or fuch wild beafts, by which they catch and hold their prey, I Sam. xvii. 37. The horse paweth in the valley, when he stamps, and as it were, tears up the ground with his fore feet, Job xxxix. 21.

PAY; (1.) To give the price for a thing, Exod. xxii. 7. (2.) To give what a fuperior requires as his due, 2 Chron. viii. 8. Heb. vii. 9. (3.) To perform fully what one has vowed or promifed, Eccl. v. 4. Deut. xxiii. 21. 23. Pfal. l. 14. lxi. 9. lxxvi. 11. xxxvii. 21. (4.) To give full fatisfaction for every offence, is to pay the utmost farthing, Matth. v. 26.

PEACE, fometimes fignifies profperity of every kind, Gen. xli. 16. Numb. vi. 26. Particularly, there is, (1.) Peace with God, or that happy privilege, whereby he, in Christ, is our reconciled Father and friend, difposed and sworn to promote our real welfare, and do us no hurt, but good, in time and eternity. This is founded on our union to Christ, as the Lord our righteoufness; but the comfortable enjoyment of it is obtained in the way of fanctification by his Spirit, Eph. ii. 14. 1 John iii. 19. 20. (2.) Peace of conscience, which is not that sleep and stupidity of conscience common with wicked men; but an holy quiet of mind, arifing from the faith and fense of our reconciliation with God, and of our being, by his grace, enabled to walk in an univerfal gofpelholinefs, Rom. iv. 14. 17. Phil. iv. 7. 2 Cor. i. 12. (3.) Peace or mutual agreement among men, whereby they forbear warring against, and hurting one another, Pfal. xxxiv. 14. cxxii. 6. vi. 4. 2 Kings xx. 19. Prov. xvi. 7. The ftate of heavenly bleffednefs, is called peace; there is the most perfect rest and felicity; there is the most perfect friendship between God, angels, and men, and no enemy has access to disturb, or molest, Is. lvii. 2. God speaks peace, when he promises, proclaims, intimates, and works it for his people, If. lvii. 19. Pfal. lxxxv. The peace of God, which rules in the faints, is peace with God, with their conscience, and with one another, that disposes them to live holily and peaceably, Col. iii. 15. The peace that Paul wishes to the churches, comprehends the friendship of God discovered to their soul; an inward quiet of confcience, as fprinkled with Jefus's blood, and directed by his law; mutual harmony with one another; and freedom from the molestation of the world, as far as can tend to the glory of God, Rom. i. 7. 1 Cor. i. 3.—PEACE-MAKERS, are fuch : s. from love to God, are active in 1cconciling men, one to another, in every thing good, Matth. v. 9.

PEACOCKS

PEA [256] PEK

PEACOCKS are of various kinds. They have their head ornamented with a crest of feathers. The male peacock of the common kind, is perhaps the gaudiest fowl in nature. His tail, in its various colours, and the forms into which he fpreads it, is fufficiently known and admired. He is extremely proud, but hath a difagreeable voice, ugly feet, and foft pace. They caft their feathers along with the trees; but their flesh can hardly either rot, or be boiled. Peacocks are numerous in the East Indies. There Alexander prohibited his army to kill them. Our translation of Job mentions peacecks; but probably the word ought to be rendered offriches, as the feathers of their wings are more valuable than those of the wings of peacocks. Nor do we know whether the Touchim, which Solomon's fleet brought from Ophir, be peacocks or parrots, Job xxxix. 13. I Kings x. 22. There is also a fish, with most beautiful fins, called the peacock-filb.

PEARL: a hard white shining body, found in some shell-fishes. It proceeds from a difease in the animal. The matter proper to enlarge the shell, buriting from the veffels that convey i to the outfide, forms into a pearl. Common oysters, the pinna-marina, and Leveral other fish, form pearls; but the pearl-oyster of the East Indies, and of the gulph of Mexico in America, generally produce the bell. The chief fisheries for pearl are at Bahrein, in the Perfian gulf, and near the ifle of Cey-Ion, in the East Indies. The next to thefe, are the five pearl-fisheries in the gulf of Mexico. The pearls fished on the coasts of Japan and Tartary are fir less valuable. The finest European pearls are chiefly fished up on the coalts of Scotland, or in the river of Bavaria in Germany. In 50 years pearls generally lofe their beauty; and in 100 they are fcarce worth any thing at all. Cleopatra queen of Egypt, had a pearl valued at L. 80,000 Sterling. The Perfian emperor had one worth L. 110,000 Sterling; and Philip the 2d of Spain, had one as big as-a pi-geon's egg, and valued at 144,000 ducats. What our ladies wear in their necklaces, are ordinarily but false pearls, made of fish-scales, bruised, and inclosed in glass .- What is very excellent, as Chrift, and the mysteries of the gospel, is likened to pearls: how mysterious their generation! how precious! how hard to be come at in a proper manner! how truly ornamental! and how apt are men to form base counterfeits of them! Matth. xiii. 46. Rev. xxi. 21. 22. The pauls of Antichrift, are the relics of faints, pretended wood of the cross, and the like, Rev. xviii. 16. To cast pearls before swine, is to preach the gospel to perfecutors; apply the promifes and privileges proper to faints, to men really wicked; to dispense sacraments to persons notourly profane; or to administer reproofs to obstinate scoffers, Matth. vii. 6.

PECULIAR; what is separated to one's special use. God's people are called peculiar; they are separated from the rest of the world, to his honour and service; they share of special privileges, and are carefully preserved and highly regarded by him, Exed. xix. 5. I Petali. 9.

PEDIGREE; defcent by parent-age, Numb. i. 18.

PEELED; ftripped of bark, fkin, cloaths, or hair. The shoulders of the Chaldean besiegers of Tyre were peeled; the cloaths, hair, and even the skin, were worn off them, by bearing so many burdens, Ezek, xxix, 18. The Ethiopians were a people peeled; the feorch ng heat hindered the hair of their head as body to grow; and the Adyrians stripped them of their wealth, If, xviii, 2, 7.

PEEP; to fpeak foftly, as a bird when it comes first out of its shell; to fpeak with a hollow voice, and, as it were, out of the belly, without opening of the lips, If. viii. 19.

PEKAH, the fon of Kemaliah, was general of Pekahiah king of Ifrael's army. Together with Argob and Arich, and 50 Gileadites, he murdered his mafter in the fecond year of his reign, and reigned 20 years in his itead. Entering into a league with Rezin king of Syria, they intended to dethrone AHAZ, and the whole family of David, and let up the fon of one Tabeel to govern Judea, as their tributary. To the no fmall offence of God, Pekah's army cut off 120,000 of Judah, and took 200,000 prisoners; but they foon returned the latter with great humanity. Infligated by Ahaz, Tiglathpilefer king of Affyria invaded the kingdom of Pekah, and murdered and carried off into captivity a great part of the Naphtalites, ertlern Manashtes, Reubenites, and Gadites. At last Hofliea murdered Pekah, and reigned in his stead, If. vii. 1 .- 7. 2 Kings xv. 25.-30. 2 Chron. xxviii. 6.-10.

PECOD. See MEROTHAIM.

PELATIAH. See Zudekiah. ... PELEG, or PHALEC, the fon of Eber, and brother of Joktan. He had this name given him, because in his days the language of men was confounded, and they were divided. he was born but an hundred years after the flood, fome can hardly believe the division of men at Babel could be so early as his birth; but as it is certain, men might increase so fast as to afford a fufficient number of hands to build the tower of Babel at the time of his birth, fo it is possible his father might give him this name by the spirit of prophecy, because the earth would be divided just before his death, which was 239 years later, Gen. x. 25. Luke iii. 35.

PELICAN; a fowl of the goofe kind, with a long crooked beak, and the fore part of the head towards the throat naked. Cormorants and shags are of the pelican kind: but pelicans, properly to called, are about twice as hig as a fwan, and have a bag at their throat fufficient to hold two human They haunt deferts, and are heads. extremely careful of their young. is faid they fometimes feed them with their own blood, and will flap their wings over their kindled nest, to blow out the fire, till themselves be burnt, Deut. xiv. 17. David, in his diffrefs, was like a pelican or bittern of the wilder-VOL. IL n/k, in a very lonely and mountal coadition. Pfal. cii. 6.

PEN: an inflrument for writing with. It is probable that the ancient Yews and others used a kind of pencil, of reed, wood, or the like, for writing on linen, Judg. v. 14. Ifaiah wrote with a man's pen; in characters eafy to be read, not like those written by the angel on Belfhanzar's wall, If. viii. t. The faints tongue is like the pen of a ready writer, when their heart promptly conceives, and their mouth in an agreeable manner proclaims, the praifes of Jefus Chrift, Pfal. xlv. 1. Mens fins are written with a pea of iron, and point of a dia rond, when they are for fixed in their heart, that they flill remember, hold fast, and practife them, Jer. xvii. 1.

PENIET, or PENUEL; a place on the east of Jordan, near the brook Jabbok; fo called, because here Jacob, in his wreftling, faw the face of God, or enjoyed familiar fellowship with him, Gen. XEXII. 24.—28. Here the Gadites built a city; but for the inhabitants refusal of refreshment to Gideon's troops, many of them were killed, and their tower demolished, Judg. viii. 8. 9. 15. 17. Jeroboam the fon of Nebat rebuilt it, and perhaps reared a palace for himself in it, 1 Kings xii. 25.

PENINNAH. See HANNAH. PENTECOST. See FEAST.

PENNY; a Roman coin, equal to feven pence three farthings Sterling. It was the hire of a labourer for a day's work; and hence the reward of eternal life, which we prepare for, in our day of life, is likened to a penny, Matth. xx. 1.—15. The two fence, given by Jefas to his ministers who take care of his people in the church militant, are the two testaments of his word; or law and gofpel; or gifts and graces; or the reward of grace here, and glory hereafter, Luke x. 35.

PEOPLE; NATION; FOLK; (1.) The fathers of particular nations, Genaxiv. 13.: and fo one is made a great nation, when his feed are multiplied into one, Exod. xxxii. 10. (2.) The perfors that compose a kingdom or nation,

PEO P E R[258]

tion, whether poer or rich, I Sam. xv. 30. (3.) The vulgar or commons in a city or nation, Matth. xii. 37. Luke xxiii. 14. (4.) The Gentiles, Pfal. exvii. 1. Gen. xlix. 10. (5.) Both Jews and Gentiles, Luke ii. 10. (6.) A kind of animals, Prov. xxx. 25. 26. Ifrael and the church are called God's people; the Hebrews were feparated from other nations, to enter into his covenant, enjoy his favours, and observe his laws. Church-members in general are his by outward profesfion; and real faints are his people, chofen from eternity, purchased with his blood, united to his perfon, enriched with his bleffings, and employed in his fervice, Exod. vi. 7. Matth. i. 21. And they are the people of his holinefs, or holy people, or nation; separated by God to himfelf, fanctified by his Spirit, and qualified for his holy fervice, If. Ixiii. 18. Ixii. 12. 1 Pet. ii. 9. Thofe who are not God's people, are reprefented as no people, Hof. i. 10. ii. 23. Rom, x. 19. 1 Pet. ii. 10. The Jews were the rebellious people, that imagined a vain thing against Christ, and refused the offers of his grace, Pfal. ii. 1. If. lxv. 2. The people of Chemosh, are the Moabites, who worshipped that idol, Numb. xxi. 25. The Syrians, Moabites, Ammonites, &c. were the unknown people that ferved David, 2 Sam. xxii. 4.1. The people of the prince, that destroyed Jerufalem, were the Roman army, directed by Titus, the emperor's fon, Dan. ix. 26. The people inhaliting the wilderness, that had the heads of Pharaoh and his army drowned in the Red fea for food, are either the wild beafts about the shores, who sed on their carcafes; or the Hebrews, who mightily rejoiced at their overthrow, Pfal. lxxiv. 13. 14.

PEOR. See ABARIM; BAALPEOR. PERCEIVE; (1.) To take notice; have fure knowledge of, Gen. xix. 33. Acts x. 34. (2.) To difcover; find out, 2 Sam. xiv. 1. Jer. xxxviii. 27. (3.) Spiritually to confider things, in order to a right improvement thereof, Deut. xxix. 4. He paffeth on, and I perceive him not : God proceeds on in his courfe of providence towards me; but'I cannot understand the ground, manner, or end of his work, Job ix. 11.

PERDITION; destruction. Judas was a fon of perdition, i.e. one that richly deferved it, and was divinely appointed to it, John xvii. 12. Antichrist is a fon of perdition, a noted destroyer of others; and popes, and other chief agents, are divinely deflined to endlefs ruin, 2 Theff. ii. 3.

To PERFECT, is to finish a work, and render it full and complete, Pfal.

exxxviii. 8.

Perfect; (1.) That which is complete, and wants nothing, Deut. xxv. 15. (2.) That which is fully manifested in its perfection; fo Christ's ftrength is made perfe ∂ , by occasion of his peoples weakness, 2 Cor. xii. 9.; and faith is made perfect by works, Jam. ii. 22.—God is perfect; possesseth every possible excellency in an unbounded degree, Matth. v. 48. His work is perfeat; is altogether righteous and holy, and leaves nothing necessary undone, Deut. xxxii. 4. Christ is perfected, or made perfect, when his courfe of bondfervice in our room is finished, Luke xiii. 32. Heb. ii. 10. v. 9. Chrift, by one offering, hath perfected for ever them that are fanctified; hath paid the full price of their falvation, and infallibly fecured its perfection and eternal duration, Heb. x. 14. God's law is perfed; enjoins every duty by the highest authority, and enforced with the ftrongest motives, Pfal. xix. 7. Minifters are perfect, when they are thoroughly instructed and sitted for their office, 2 Tim. iii. 17. The faints are perfect, (1.) As they stand in Christ, having his righteoufnefs imputed to them, Col. i. 28. ii. 10. (2.) When fully functified, and no remains of fin left in them, Heb. xii. 23. (3.) As even in their imperfect condition, they have every particular grace, and aim at the highest degree of each; they want nothing absolutely necessary to a state of falvation; they have more excellent dispositions and behaviour than their neighbours, and are blamelefs in their holy holy conversation, Joh viii. 20. Gen. vi. 9. 2 Cor. xiii. 11. The love of ings, If. xiiv. 26. God is perfected, in their loving one another; God's love to them is manifested in drawing their heart to his, and theirs to God is manifelled in loving others for his fake, I John ii. 5. iv. 12. The Jewish teachers were perfect, i. e. blamelefs, and almost without error or fin, in their own conceit, If. xlii. 19. Though I were perfect, yet would I not know my foul, I would despite my life; though God should assoil me, I would not esteem nor request long life; or fuppose I had no fin, I would not plead upon that before God, but undervalue the holiness of my life, Job ix. 21.

PER [259] PER

Perfection, is, (1.) The full ripenefs of fruit, Luke viii. 14. (2.) The most excellent things on earth, as honour, wealth, pleafure, learning; and to fee an end of this, is to fee how infufficient it, or any thing but God himfelf, is, to fatisfy an immortal foul, Pfal. exix. 96. (3.) The more mytherious principles of the Christian faith, Heb. vi. 1. (4.) The full meafure and degree of excellency, holinefs, or happinefs, 2 Cor. xiii. 9. To find out the Almighty to perfection, is fully to know and comprehend all his unnumbered and unbounded excellencies, Job xi. 7. If perfection had been by the Levitical priesthood; fin had been truly and fully expiated, and the complete and endless holiness and happiness of men fecured, by the facrifices and other ceremonies of the Old Testament, Heb. The perfecting of the faints, is the rendering their graces more throng and active, till they become perfectly holy, without the least remains of sinful imperfection, Eph. iv. 11.

PERFORM; much the fame as to fulfil a promife, request, law, or work, Jer. xxviii. 6. Esth. v. 8. Jer. xxxiv. 18. Phil. i. 6. God performs all things for his people; whatever tends to their real good, whatever he hath promised, whatever they ask in faith, he does for and in them; and enables them to every good word and work, Pfal. lvii. 2. Job xxiii. 14. God performs the counsel of his messengers, when he executes those purposes declared by the prophets in promifes and threatenings. If Aliv. 26

PERFUME; what gives an agreeable fmell. In the east, perfumes were used to testify great respect, Dan. ii. 46.; and at visits, persuming of the guests is the token of bidding them adieu. The Hebrews had two facred persumes, one of incense, and the other an oil, Exod. xxx. 23.—38. They dealt much in persuming dead bodies, cloaths, beds, &c. Gen. xxvii. 27. Song iii. 6. Prov. vii. 17. Psal. xlv. 8. See embalming; spices.

PERGA; an inland city of Pamphylia, on the river Caystrus, near to which, on an eminence, stood a temple of Diana. It was famed for the birth of Apollonius, the renowned geometrician. Here Paul and Barnabas preached oftener than once, Acts xiii. 14-xiv. 25.; and to the end of the eighth century we find a Christian church here, fometimes not a little eminent. It is at present of little or no importance. There was another Perga in Epirus.

PERGAMOS; a city of proconfular Afia, on the river Caicus, about 40 miles north-west of Thyatira, and 64 northward of Smyrna, and in a country very fertile of corns. The place was famed for a temple to Esculapius the god of physic, and more so for the famed library of 200,000 volumes, collected by Attalus one of its kings. For about 150 years, from A. M. 3721 to 3870, Pergamos was the capital of a confiderable kingdom, which was generally in friendship with the Romans, and was begreathed by the laft king to them: but perhaps the Romans terged this testament, at least they emplamed it as they pleafed. A Christian church was very carly planted at Pergamos: but they quiedly degenerated from their purity, and telerated the Nicolaitans, and fuch as taught to commit fornication, and eat things facrificed to idols. For these things Jesus sharply reproves them in a letter by John. It is hoped this missive produced their reformation, Rev. ii. 12 .-- 17. For feven or eight hundred years the church here was of confiderable note; but at prefent the Christians Kkz

PER [260] PER

Christians are reduced to about 15 miferable families, and the Turks are Lutabout 2000 or 5000.

PERILOUS; full of danger, 2 Tim.

PERISH; (1.) To lofe natural life, Jon. i. 6. (2.) To be rooted out of honour, happiness, or life, 2 Kings i.e. 8. Mic. vii. 2. (3.) To be rendered useless. Jer. ix. 12. (4.) To coase to be, Jam. i. 11. (5.) To frarve for hunger, Lake xv. 17. (6.) To be tormented in fool, and hurt in practice, 1 Cor. viii. 11. (7.) To be damned and cast into hell, 2 Pet. ii. 12.

PERJURED; one that fwears fallehood, or breaks a lawful oath, r Tim.

PERIZZITES; a tribe of the ancient Canamites, so called, perhaps because they dwelt in unwalled villages. They seem to have been dispersed among the other tribes, as near Bethel, Gen. xiii. 7.; and in mount Ephraim, Josh. xvii. 15. Judg. iii. 5. The tribe of Judah expelled such as dwelt in their bounds, Judg. i. 4. Solemon laid the remains of them under tribute, 2 Chron. viii. 7. Some of them remained after the captivity, and intermarried with the Hebrews, Ezra ix. 1.

FERMIT; (1.) To cease hindering, 1 Cor. vii. 6. (2.) To allow,

1 Cor. xiv. 34.

PERNICIOUS; extremely hurtful and ruinous, 2 Pct. ii. 2.

PERPETUAL; (1.) Continual; uninterrupted, Ezek. xxxv. 5. The incense was perpetual, i.e. offered every evening and morning, Exod. xxx. 8. (2.) What continues for a long time, as to the death of Christ: so the ceremonial laws were perpetail, Exod. xxix. 9.; or to the end of the world, Jer. xxv. 9.

PERPLEXED; in such fear or distress as not to know what to do,

Efth. iii. 15.

PERSECUTE; to feek after and improve all occasions of doing one hart, especially on account of his fledfast cleaving to the truths and ways of God, Job Eix. 22. Matth. v. 11. Ishmael forfeened Isaac by mocking and reproaching him, Gal. iv. 29. Cod ferficiales men, when he purfues them with his judgements, in every place and condition they are in, Lam. iii. 66. Pfal. xxxv. 6. Christ is perfectled, when his people, who are united with and dear to him, are for his cause reproached, harossed, and murdered, Acts ix. 4. Though perfecution for conscience sake is contrary to the genius of Christianity, yet pretenders to it have very often, for their own carral ends, perfecuted their fellow-prosessors.

PERSEVERANCE: the continuance in a flate or in a course of action, notwithflanding of much opposition, Eph. ví. 18. Whatever partial decays of grace the faints really have; and though, if left to themfelves, they would lofe their whole stock of grace; and though the use of watchfulness, and of other means of stedfastness, is necessary to their perseverance in their gracious flate, nature, and course; yet their total or final fall from the fame is evidently inconfishent with a multitude of feriptures; inconfistent with the unchangeable love, the juffice, the wifdom, and faithfulness of God; inconfillent with his unchangeable purpoles, promifes, covenant, and oath; inconfiftent with the honour of the Father as their chooser, as the giver of them to Christ for his reward, and as their effablisher and keeper; inconsistent with the honour of the Son, as their purchafer, advocate, builder, shepherd, husband, life, and one body and fpirit with them; inconfistent with the honour of the Holy Ghoft, who is in them as a perpetual inhabitant, workcr, comforter, fountain springing up to everlafting life, feal of redemption, and carneft of glory, Job xvii. 9. Prov. iv. 18. x. 25. Pfal. ii. 8. cxxv. 2. cii. 28. It. xlvi. 10. lív. 8. 9. 10. lix. 20. 21. liii. 10. Jer. xxxii. 39.— 42. Hof. ii. 19. 20. Matth. xvi. 18. xxiv. 24. Luke xxii. 32. John iv. 14. vi. 27. 35. 39. 40. 54.—58. x. 10. 28. 29. xiii. 1. xiv. 16. 17. 19. xvii. 6. 12. 15. 20. 24. Acts xiii. 48. Rom. v. 21. viii. 28.-39. ix. 23. xi. 29. I Cor. i. 8. 9. vi. 15 .-- 19. x. 13. z Corz Cor. i. 21. 22. iii. 3. Gal. ii. 20. Eph. i. 13. 14. iv. 30. v. 25.—30. Phil. i. 6. ii. 13. Col. iii. 3. 1 Theff. v. 8. 9. 23. 24. 2 Theff. iii. 3. 2 Tim. ii. 19. Tit. ii. 14. Heb. iii. 3. vi. 17. 18. 19. 1 Pet. i. 5. ii. 9. 1 John ii. 19. iii. 9.

PERSIA, or Elam: an ancient kingdom in Middle Afia, on the fouth of Media, and fouth-east of Assvria and Chaldea. The Perfians were unciently called Elamites, and forung from Elam the eldest fon of Shem, and their original refidence was called Elymais. Chedorlaomer, one of their first kings, was a noted conqueror, Gen. xiv. About the time of Jehoshaphat, one Memnon the fon of Aurora feems to have been their king. The oriental hiftories tempt me to suppose, that their kingdom still continued with perhaps fome small interruptions. The Assyrians extended their conquelts over the Perfians: but, under Achmenides, they revolted, about the fame time with the Medes. The government continued in his family till the Chaldeans ravaged their country, Jev. xxv. 25. 27. xlix. 35.-39. After this the country was in a wretched condition, till Cyrus ap-He connected it with the peared. kingdom of Media, and fubdued the kingdoms of Affyria, Egypt, and Lybia; and by his great wildom, fettled the empire on fo very folid a foundation, that notwithstanding the folly of many of his fucceffors, it continued about 208 years. His fon Cambyfes, during the feven years of his reign, was famous for almost nothing besides mad murders, and the furious ravage of Egypt. Darius Hyftafpes foon killed the pretended Smerdis, and reigned 36 years. He took and demolished part of the walls of Babylon, but fupplied the inhabitants who furvived his critelties with 50,000 women, inflead of their wives, which therafelves had murdered during the flege. To revenge the Scythian invalion of Upper Afia about 120 years before, he invaded Scythia. He conquered Thrace in Europe, and part of East India; reduced the rebellious Ionians in Afia; but his expedition into Greece coft him the ruin of a great part of his army. Xerxes his fon having fallen heir to the kingdom and excessive wealth of his covetous father, reduced the rebellious Egyptians ; stirred up the Carthaginians to attack the Greeks in Sicily. while himfelf with an army of about 5,283,000 perfons, but not half of them warriors, invaded Greece. Thefe were mostly cut off by the Greeks at Thermopylæ, Platca, Salamis, and Mycale. After 12 years he was fucceeded by Artaxerxes Longimanus his fon, who fent Ezra and Nchemiah to promote the welfare of the Jews. He reduced the Egyptians to a still more grievous servitude. After a reign of 41 years, he was fucceeded by Xerkes his fon. He, after one year, was murdered by Sogdianus his baffard brother; and he, in other feven months, by Darius Nothus, or Ochus, another ballard brother. After a reign of 18 years, he was fucceeded by his fon Artaxerxes Mnemon. His defeating of his brother Cyrus, his victory over the Lacedemonians, his difficult reduction of Cyprus, and his struggles with the Egyptians, are the most noted events of his long reign of about 45 years. Artaxerxes Ochus his fon, after murdering his two elder brethren, fucceeded him. After a cruel reign of 23 years, in which he ravaged Egypt. Phenicia, and part of Judea, he, and foon after, Arles his fon, were murdered by Bagoas an eunuch, and Darius Codomannus, a very distant relation, was placed on the throne, in whose time the Persian empire was quite overturned by Alexander and the Greeks, Is. xlvi. 11. xli. 2. 3. 25. xlv. 1 .-- 5. 13. xliv. 28. Dan. ii. 32. vii. 4. 5. 12. x. 13. 20. viii. 2.—7. 20. 21. xi. 2. 3. Numb. xxiv. 24.

From A. Id. 3675 to 3754 Persia was wholly under the dominion of the Greeks; and Elymais, and others of the western parts, were so long afterwards; but the Parthians gradually rendered themselves masters of the whole of it. About A. M. 4236, or A. D. 232, Artaxerzes, a noble prince of the Perfians.

Perfians, feized the kingdom. Twenty-eight kings of his family reigned in fueceffion above 400 years. Some of them were noted perfecutors of the Christians. Many of them had violent struggles of war with the Roman em-perors. Hitherto a kind of Deism had been the established religion of Pertia. They had neither temples, nor statues, nor altars, nor did they believe there was need for any, as God was every where. They facrificed to the elements and heavenly luminaries, as fymbols of They learned not a little of idolatry from the Affyrians and Chaldeans; but Zoroaster or Zerdush, a crasty fellow, perhaps an apoltate difciple of the Prophet Ezekiel, about the time of Darius Hyflaipes, mightily reformed their religious fystem. His scheme continued as long as their kingdom: nay those who call themselves Perfece, and pretend to be the true Perfians, flill retain it. They hold one eternal God, and a good and evil principle under him: light they reckon the fymbol of the good, and darkness of the bad one. They maintain that the world was created in fix days, and one man and one woman made for the parents of mankind; and that the good principle of light withdrawing himfelf, the child of darkness will, at the last day, produce a diffolution of nature. About A. D. 634, the Saracens spread themfelves into Perfia, and established their Mahometan delution: but for the most part the Perfians have been of the feet of Ali, the fon-in-law of Mahomet; and are heartily detelled by the Turks, and others of the feet of Omar. After the Saracen Calipha had governed Perfia by their fultans about 420 years, the Turks, who, for fome ages before, had poured themselves into it while it was under the government of the Buides, Seized the fovereignty, A. D. 1055. Tangrolipix and his Seljukian fucceffors ruled it till about A. D. 1260, when Halon the fon of Jenghiz-kan, the famed Tartar, wrested it from them. After he and eight of his defeendants had fwayed the feeptre, Tamerlane, another Tartarian prince seized it, about A. D. 1400, and left it to Mirza his fon. Contention raged in his family, till they were all driven from the throne, and Usumcassan the Turkman, king of Armenia, scized on it, A. D. 1472. His male line quickly failed; but Ishmael his grandfon by his daughter, whom he had married to Sheik Eidar, the famed preacher, after his father had been murdered, struggled into the throne, A. D. 1499. The fovereignty continued in his family for eleven generations. Some of his fucceffors were abfolute infernals in cruelty and murder. Huffeyn, the last, and one of the best of them, was wickedly dethroned in 1723, and afterwards murdered by the wretch Myr-weis. Not long after his death, the famous Kuli-kan mounted the throne, fubdued the Moguls, chaftifed the Turks, and attempted to change the religion of his country into a conformity with that of other Mahometans; but he was murdered. With terrible struggling, Kerim-khan got himself enthroned about 1763, after the country had almost 40 years been a shocking scene of treachery and murder. Millions had perished in ways the most wretched. At prefent the Perfian empire is very large, bounded with the Turkish on the west, with the Russian on the north, and with that of the Mogul on the fouth, and with Tartary on the east. I know of few Christians in it, except the Armenians, who have 15 or 16 churches at Zulpha, the famed fuburb of Ifpahan the capital; and fome others on the fouth and west of the Caspian sea. who fearce deferve the name.

PERSON; (1.) A particular man, Gen. xiv. 21. Job xxii. 29. (2.) When joined with accept, person, or sace, it denotes external qualities, conditions, country, friends, wealth, poverty, or the like, Inke xx. 21. Acts x. 34. A person in the Godhead, denotes the Godhead itself, as substituting with some distinct and natural relation to another person possessing of the same nature: thus the first person stands related as a father to the fecond, and the fecond ftands related as a fon to him, Heb. i. 3.: but by the perfon of Christ is ordinarily meant the Son of God as our Mediator, clothed with our nature: and to forgive a thing in the person of Christ, is to absolve from censure in his name and authority; as he who acts in the stead or authority of another, suftains their person in a law-sense, 2 Cor. ii. 10.

father

PERSUADE; (1.) To convince; to make to believe, Luke xvi. 31. (2.) Effectually to advise or excite to the performance of fomething, 2 Chr. xxii. 11. 1 Kings xxxii. 20. Prov. xxii. 15. Acts xiv. 19. God perfuades Japheth, when he makes multitudes of his offspring believe the gospel, and become members of his church, Gen. ix. + 27. Men are perfuaded, when they are truly and fatisfyingly affured of a thing, Heb. vi. 9. xi. 13. Rom. viii. 38. xiv. 5. Do I perfuade men, or God? Do I preach the things of men, or of God? Is it for the fake of men, or of God, that I excite men to believe and obey the gospel? Gal. i. 10.

PERVERSENESS; FROWARD-NESS; a contrarious difpolition, ready to oppose what is reasonable and good, Prov. xi. 33. Men go on frowardly, when, contrary to the commands, invitations, threatenings, promises, corrections of God, and their own interest and conscience, they rush on in evil courses, Is. Ivii. 17. With the froward, God shews himself froward; with such as rebel against his word and providence, he shews himself their hearty opposer, and almighty resister and punisher, 2 Sam. xxii. 27.

PERVERT; to put out of order; turn things upfide down. To pervert perfons, is to feduce them into finful courses, Is. xlvii. 10. Luke xxiii. 2. To pervert one's way, is frowardly to do wickedness, Jer. iii. 21. Prov. xix. 3. To pervert the right ways of the Lord, is falsely to reproach and misrepresent the truths and ordinances of Jesus Christ, and his people's obedience thereto, Acts xiii. 10. To pervert the gospel or words of the living God, is to mix them with error, or use them to support wickedness, Gal. i. 7. Jer. xxiii. 36. To pervert judgement, is to dispense it unjustly, for the sake of gain, favour, or like carnal motive, Deut. xxvii. 19.

PESTILENCE. See PLAGUE. PETER, the fon of Jonas and brother of Andrew, was a native of Bethfaida; his original name was Simon, but Jefus called him Gephas or Peter, i. e. a flone or rock, to mark his need of steadiness in his faith and practice. He married a woman of Capernaum; and had his mother-in-law cured of a fever by our Saviour, Mark i. 29. Invited by Andrew his brother, he went and faw Jefus, and flaid with him a night. About a year after, Jefus found them washing their nets, as they left off fishing on the sea of Galilee. He defired the use of their boat to fit in, and teach the people. After he had done fo, to reward their kindness, and munifest his own power, he ordered them to cast their net into the sea for a draught. They had fished the whole night before, and caught nothing; but being obedient to our Saviour, they now caught fuch a multitude of fithes as loaded their own boat, and alfo that of James and John. Astonished at the draught, Peter begged our Saviour to depart, as he was too holy and great to stay in the company of one so finful. Instead of fulfilling his stupid request, Jefus called Peter and Andrew, James and John, to be his disciples, John i. 40. 41. 42. Luke v. 1.—11. Mat. iv. Peter and Andrew were the two first fent forth of the apostles, being, it is like, the eldest, Luke vi. 14. Matth. x. 2. Peter being extremely forward in his temper, when he faw our Saviour coming, walking on the fea, he defired his orders to meet him on the water. He had scarce entered the water, when doubting of his fafe prefervation, he cried for Jefus's help. Jefus preferved him, and rebuked him for the weakness of his faith, Mat. xiv. 28. -31. When afterwards Jesus asked his difciples if they would leave him, as many others had just done? Peter replied, they could go fafely no where elfe,

tife, as he alone had the words of, and power to give, eternal life, John vi. 66. 67. 68. When, at Cefarca Philippi, Tefas asked his disciples, whom they believed him to be? Peter replied, that they were firmly perfunded he was Christ the fon of the living God. Jefus bleffed him, and hinted, that fuch knowledge and faith had been given him by the Spirit of God; and affured him, that as certainly as he was Peter, he would fo build his church by his means, upon that perfon and truth he had confessed, that all the gates or powers of hell fhould not overthrow it. He added, that to him and his fellow apostles, and their successors in the ministry, he would give the power of founding, instructing, or governing his church; and that whatever condemnation or abiolution they should, according to his word, give, either in doctrine or discipline, should be ratified in heaven. When Jefus, almost immediately after, forctold his fufferings, Peter rebuked him, and bid him spare himself. Jefus fharply reproved him, and told him, Satan had tempted him to fay to; and that his speech savoured not of God, but of carnal indulgence. It was scarce eight days after, when Peter was admitted to witness our Saviour's transfiguration. He on the fight of Mofes and Elias, foolishly asked leave to erect three tabernacles, one for his Mafter, and one for each of the prophets, Mat. Kvi. 13 .- 23. Xvii. 1 .- 4.

As Peter and his Muster, some time after, entered into Capernaum, where it feems they were enrolled as residents, the collectors of the Roman tribute asked him, if his Master paid tribute? Jefus knowing it, ordered Peter to caft a line into the fea, and open the mouth of the fifth that came first up, and he would find a shekel of silver, to give as tribute for them two, Matth. xvii. 24.-27. When Jefus afterwards difcourfed of forgiveness of injuries, Peter asked him, if it was proper to forgive any oftener than feven times? Jefus told him, he must forgive as often as was necessary, though it were to feventy times feven, or 490 times, Mat.

xviii. 21. 22. When our Saviour difcourfed of riches hindering men from an entrance into the kingdom of God, Peter asked him, what reward he and his fellow-difciples should have, who had left their boats, nets, and all they had in the world, to follow him? Jefus replied, that fuch as, in the commencement of his gospel-church, truly followed him from an inward principle of grace, should have distinguished honour in the church, and at the laft day; and that every one who truly followed him amidst his perfecutions, should enjoy fellowship with him, an hundred times more excellent than all they could have in this world, Matth. xix. 27. - 30. On the Tuesday before our Saviour's passion, Peter pointed to him, how the fig-tree he had curfed was fo quickly withered; and was advifed to improve the event, as an excitement to faith and fervent prayer, Mat. xxi. 17 .- 22. Mark xi. 11 .- 21. Either on that, or the Thursday evening, Peter refused to allow Jefus to wash his feet; but being told, that unless he washed him, he could have no part in him, begged to have not only his feet, but also his hands and his head washed. Jesus told him, that fuch as had once been washed in his blood, needed no repeated justification, but only to have their daily blots of infirmity purged off, John xiii. 1.—17. At the one or other of these times, Peter instigated John to beg, that Jefus would point out which of them was to be the traitor, John xiii. 24. 25. 26. He, together with Andrew, James, and John, asked Jesus, when the temple should be destroyed, and he would return to judge the world, Matth. xxiv. 1. 2. 3. On Thursday, he and John, by their Mafter's order, found out an upperroom, and there prepared every thing necessary for the passover-feast,-Luke xxii. 8.—12.

When, after the facred fupper, Jefus warned his apostles of their being offended because of him that night, Peter, with his ordinary rashness, promised, that though every body should for sake his Master, he never would, but would

would follow him, and rather die with him, than in the leaft deny him. Jefus affured him, that before the cock thould crow twice, he would deny him thrice; and that Satan had defired to have permission to fift and tempt him and his fellow-difciples, but he had prayed for him, that his faith might not quite fail; and he admonished him to comfort and encourage his brethren, as foon as himfelf was recovered, John xiii. 36. — 38. Matth. xxvi. 31. — 35. Luke xxii. 31.-34. When Peter, James, and John, were taken along with our Saviour into the garden, to witness his bloody agony, they quickly fell afleep. Jefus, after his three different prayers, awakened them. He asked them, if they could not watch with him one hour; he kindly hinted, that their fpirit was willing, but their flesh was weak. When he awakened them, as Judas approached, he ironically bid them fleep on. When Judas came with his band, Peter being one of the two disciples that had fwords, drew his, and cut off the ear of Malchus the high-priest's servant. Jesus kindly rebuked him, and ordered him to put up his fword, otherwife it might occasion his death. Peter, at a diftance, followed our Saviour to the palace of Caiaphas; and by means of another disciple, got access into the hall, and waited among the high-prieft's fervants to fee the iffue. A maid looked at him, and faid, fhe had certainly feen him with Jefus of Nazareth. He denied that he fo much as knew him. Peter went out to the porch, and the cock crew for the first time. Soon after, another maid faid to those that flood by, that certainly he was one of Jefus's followers. He denied it with an oath. About an hour after, one of the company affirmed he was a difciple of Jefus; and others infifted that he certainly was, and that his very fpeech marked him a Galilean; and finally, a kinfman of Malchus faid, Did not I fee thee in the garden with him? To give them what he thought full evidence he was no follower of Tefus, he began to curfe and to fwear, Vol. II.

that he did not fo much as know fuch a man. At that very instant the cock crew for the fecond time, and Jefus gave Peter a look. He remembered his Master's prediction of his treachery, and went out, and wept bitterly, and, it is probable, continued his mourning till he heard our Saviour was rifen from the dead, Matth. xxvi. 40.—47. 69.— 75. John xviii. 10. 11. 15.—27. the morning of the refurrection-day, Peter and John, hearing that their Mafter's corpfe was removed from the grave, run to fee if it was fo. Peter went down into the fepulchre, and faw the grave-cloaths laid in good order, but the body was gone. Filled with perplexity, they returned to the reft. When Jefus appeared to the women, he ordered them in a particular manner to inform difconfolate Peter, that he was risen from the dead. It was not long after, when Peter had the pleafure to fee his Mafter once and again at Jerufalem, along with the other apostles. When, fome time after, Peter, and fundry other apostles, were fishing on the fea of Tiberias, Jefus appeared on the fhore. No fooner had Peter heard that it was their Lord, than from strong affection he flung himfelf into the fea, and fwam to the shore. After they had dined, Jefus thrice asked him, if he loved him above every other thing? Peter as oft, and at the third time with some vehemence and grief, appealed to him that he knew he did: Jefus as often charged him to feed his people, fleep, or lambs. Much about the fame time. Jefus told him, that he must endure bonds and imprisonment for his fake, in his old age. He afked Jefus, what then should become of John the beloved disciple? Jesus directed him to follow his own example, and cleave to his cause, and leave the fate of John to the government of Providence, Mark xvi. 6. 7. John xx. 1.—8. xxi. Very foon after our Saviour's afcention, Peter proposed to the Chalstians at Jerusalem. to elect another to fill up the room of Judas; and Matthias was chofen. On the 10th day, when the Hebrews, from every corner around, were gathered to celebrate the feast of Pentecost, Peter, and his fellow-apostles, endowed with the Holy Ghost, spake in a diversity of languages to the affembly. Jews from Parthia, Media, Perfia, Mefopotamia, Judea, Cappadocia, Pontus, Proconsular Asia, Phrygia, Pamphylia, Egypt, Lybia, Rome, Crete, and Arabia, heard them in the respective languages of their country. The people were aftonished, but some profane scoffers faid, they were drunk. standing up with the other eleven, shewed, that not wine, but the Holy Ghoff, which, according to the ancient promifes, had descended on them, enabled them thus to speak with tongues, and that it was a demonstrative proof that Jesus was rifen from the dead, and gone to his Father's right hand, and was conflituted the Sovereign and fole Saviour of men. Multitudes were deeply convicted of fin, and befought the apostles to inform them how they might be faved. Peter, as the mouth of the rest, directed them to believe the new-covenant promises, indorfed to them and their feed, and to repent and be baptized for the remission of their sins, through Jesus's That very day 3000 believed, and were added to the Christian church, Acts i. ii. When, fome days after, Peter and John went up to the temple about nine o'clock in the morning, which was the hour of prayer, a man who had been a cripple from his birth, fitting at the beautiful gate of the temple, aiked alms of them. told him, he had neither filver nor gold to give him; but in the name of Jefus, charged him to rife and walk. man was directly cured, and went along with them through the court of the temple, leaping and praising God. He held Peter and John, and told the affembling multitude, how they had healed him. Peter told the admiring crowd, that they had not made this man to walk by their own power, but by the influence of Jefus Christ, whom they had lately murdered, and who had rifen from the dead, and ascended to glory. He shewed them, that Jelus was the promifed Meffiah, which whosoever rejected should certainly perish; and that God having raised him from the dead, had fent him to them first, in the offer of the gospel, and power of his Spirit, to bless them, in turning them from their iniquities. This fermon was bleffed for the converfion of 5000. About even-tide, the priefts and Sadducees apprehended Peter and John, and put them in prifon. Next day they were brought before the council, and interrogated how they had cured the lame man. They replied, it was done by the authority and power of Chrift, whom the council had lately crucified, but God had raifed from the dead. As the council knew that Peter and John were men of no education, they were furprifed at their answers. charged them to preach no more concerning Jefus, or as authorifed by him. Peter and John bade them think, whether it was best to disobey God, or the council. After farther threatenings, they let them go. They went to their brethren the apostles and believers, and related what had happened. They all praifed God, and solemnly prayed for further strength for his work. The house shook, and the Holy Ghost fell upon them in a farther degree, Acts iii. iv. As the believers expected the approaching ruin of their country, according to their Master's prediction, or the loss of their estates by perfecution, many of them fold them, and gave the apostles the money, to be laid out for pious uses. Ananias, and Sapphira his wife, fold theirs; but deceitfully kept part of the price to themselves. Peter detected their fraud. Both of them were divinely cut off by a fudden death. This tended to increase the awe and character of the apostles. Multitudes believed the gospel, and vast numbers of diseased persons were miraculously healed. Peter and the other apostles were imprifoned; but an angel released them, and they returned directly to preach in the courts of the temple. Their escape furprifed the council; but they re-apprehended them, and reminded them of their former charge. Peter replied, that it behoved them to obey God rather ther than men; and told them, that God had highly exalted Jesus, whom they had murdered, to be a Prince and Saviour; and had testified this by the gifts and miracles of the Holy Ghott, fo notour among his followers. voked herewith, the council were for murdering them directly, had not Gamaliel prevented them with his more fober speech, Acts v. After the deacons were chosen, and Stephen, one of them, murdered, and a perfecution had scattered the Christian preachers, and the Samaritans received the gospel by Philip the deacon, Peter and John went thither, to confer the Holy Ghost, by laying on of their hands. Simon the forcerer, who had been lately baptized, offered them a fum of money for a share of their miraculous powers. Peter bid him and his money perish together, as he had imagined the gifts of God could be purchased therewith; and told him, that he had no title to the ministerial work, but appeared to be in the gall of bitterness, and bond of iniquity, under the reigning power of his corrupt lusts; and directed him to pray God, if perhaps the wickedness of his heart might be forgiven him. After preaching through most of Samaria, Peter and John returned to Jerusalem. conversion of Paul having stopped, or at least abated the Jewish persecution, Peter went to visit the believers in Judea, Samaria, and Galilee. At Lydda, he recovered Eneas, who had been ill of a palfy eight years. At Joppa he restored Tabitha to life, Acts viii. 1. -25. ix. 32.-43. While he lodged at Joppa, with one Simon a tanner, CORNELIUS, a Gentile centurion, directed of God, fent messengers for him, to instruct him and his friends in the way of the Lord. Meanwhile, God prepared Peter by a vision. About mid-day, as he was by himself on the top of the house, the roof being flat, and was very hungry, he fell into a trance, wherein he faw, as it were, a great sheet full of animals, clean and unclean, let down from heaven; and heard a voice calling him to rife, kill, and eat. He replied, that he never had eaten of any unclean animals; the voice replied, that it was improper he should think that unclean, which God had cleanfed. All this was thrice repeated: and then the sheet was apparently carried up into heaven. He had fcarce awakened out of his trance, when Cornelius's messengers were come to invite him to preach to these Gentiles. After hearing what had moved their master to call him, and considering the import of his vision, he went along with them, and instructed and baptized Cornelius and his friends. The Jewish converts at Jerusalem were at the first offended with his going to the Gentiles; but when they heard how Cornelius was divinely directed to call him; how he was by his vision directed to undervalue none whom God had regarded; and how the miraculous influences of the Holy Ghost fell on Cornelius and his friends as he preached to them; they were fatisfied, and bleffed God for granting unto the Gentiles repentance unto life, Acts x. xi. 1.—18.

PET [267] PET

While he continued at Jerusalem, Paul lodged with him two weeks, Gal. i. 18. To gratify the Jews, Herod Agrippa imprisoned him, intending to kill him, as he had done James the brother of John. The very night before his intended execution, and while his Christian friends were met in the house of one Mary, to pray for his deliverance, an angel came to him in the prison, as he flept between two foldiers, awakened him, took off his chains, opened the prison, and conducted him to the He went distreet, called straight. rectly to the house of Mary, and knocked at the door. Rhoda, a damfel who came to open the door, hearing his voice, run back in a transport of joy, and told the Christians that it was Peter. They believed her not; but imagining every good man had his attendant angel, they faid it would be Peter's angel that had knocked. Peter continuing to knock, was at last admitted, and to their great joy, informed them of what had befallen him. Whether after this he went to Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Llz

PET [268] PET

Cappadocia, Proconfular Afia, and Bithynia, to the feattered Jews of which places he writes his epiftles, we know not. It is certain, that about eight years after, he was at Jerufalem at the council, and there related, how God by him had first granted the gospel to the Gentiles; and fuggetted, that fince God had made no difference between Jews and Centiles, in his faving or extraordinary gifts, they ought to impose on them no yoke of ceremonial rites. About this time, he and James and John gave Paul the right hand of fellowship, and agreed that he should chiefly preach to the Gentiles. When Peter was travelling northward, perhaps to the places above mentioned, he came to Antioch. At first he joined in the utmost familiarity with the Gentile converts; but when fome sticklers for Judailm came down from Jerufalem, he forbore it, and was like to have feduced Barnabas into the same course. Knowing that this encouraged the imposition of the ceremonies upon the new converts, Paul sharply expostulated with Peter for his diffimulation, and practical contradicting of the very fpeech he had uttered in the council. Peter, it feems, received this rebuke with an humble concern. In his old age, it feems, Peter travelled from the fouth coasts of the Black sea, into Mesopotamia and Chaldea; for from Babylon, not the city, but the province, where there were multitudes of Jews, he writes his first epistle. After manifold fufferings for his Mafter, he died; but whether by crucifixion with his head downwards or not, we cannot determine. It is faid, he could never hear a cock crow, but it revived his grief for the denial of his Master, Acts xii. xv. Gal. ii. 1 Pet. i. 1. v. 13.

Of the two inspired missives which he wrote to the dispersed Jews, the first is designed to comfort and consum them in the truth, amidst the fiery trials and temptations to which they were exposed; and to direct them in their hearing of God's word, and in their diversified stations, civil or religious; and to caution them against the infurrections then fomented by their countrymen against the Roman government. In the fecond, which was written a little before his death, perhaps about A. D. 66, or 68, he inculcates their abounding in Christian virtues; their watching against false teachers, and apollary from truth; and to live in the holieft manner, as in the immediate views of the ruin of their nation, and of the last judgement. noble majetly and rapidity of ftyle, with a becoming freedom, is visible in his epiftles. A devont and judicious person can searce read them, without foleran attention and awful concern. The conflagration of the earth, and the future judgement, are so described. that we almost fee the flames ascending into the middle of heaven, feel the elements melting with fervent heat, and hear the groans of an expiring world, and the crashes of nature tumbling into univerfal ruin. Grotius pretends this fecond epiftle was the work of one Simon, bithop of Jerufalem; but where were his eyes, that he did not fee that. this was the fecond epiftle to the Jews, by one who had been with Christ, in the holy mount of transfiguration? 2 Pet. i. 18. iii. 1.; nor is the fivle for different from that of the first as is pretended, except where the subject requires it.

A number of spurious tracts, as a gospel, Acts, Revelation, with a treatife on preaching, and another on the last judgement, have been falsely aferi-bed to Peter. The Papists pretend he was about 24 or 25 years bishop of Rome, and thence wrote his epiftles; and was there crucified under Nero: and they pretend that he was possessed of a fupremacy over all the other apoftles, which from him is conveyed to all their Popes to the prefent time. But it is certain, that three years after Paul's conversion, he was at Jerusalem, and also when Herod died; and was there at the council; and was at Antioch in Syria fome time after, about A. D. 52. Never a word is of him at Rome, when Paul wrote his epiftle to the church there, and fends his falutaPET [269] PHA

tions to many of her members. Not a word of him at Rome, when Paul came there; for, at his first answer, no man food by kim. Nor a word of him in all the epiftles which Paul writes from Rome, though perfons of a far inferior character are oft mentioned. How possibly then could be be bishop of Rome, unlefs he exercifed his power below ground, where no body perceived him? Or fuppose he had been at Rome, that no more establishes the fupremacy there, than at Jerufalem, Joppa, and Antioch, where we are fure he was for a time. Or suppose he had lived 1000 years at Rome, how does that infer that he left his office to their Popes, Atheifts, adulterers, Sodomites, murderers, blasphemers, and incarnate devils not excepted. And in fine, what proof have we that he had a fupremacy over the other apostles? None at all, except that he was perhaps oldeft, most forward in his temper, and more marked with infirmities than any of his brethren, Judas excepted.

PETHOR, or PATHORA; the native place of Balaam, fituated in Mcfopotamia, about the east bank of the Euphrates, and not far from Thapfa-cus, Numb. xxii. 5.

PHARAOH, was long a common name of the kings of Egypt, and is often added to other names. Josephus fays, that in the old Egyptian language, it fignified king. It is certain, that in the Arabic language, it fignifies one that excels all the rest, and in the Hebrew, fignifies one that is free, or is a revenger. It is faid, the Egyptians had 60 kings of the name of Pharaoh, from Mizraim or Menes, to the ruin of their kingdom by Cambyles or Alexander. In feripture we have mentioned, (1.) That Pharaoh, who had his family fmitten with plagues, for taking Sarah the wife of Авклилм into it, Gen. xii. (2.) Pharaoh, who had the dream portending the noted plenty and famine of Egypt; who exalted Joseph, and kindly fettled Jaсов's family in Gofhen, Gen. xli.xlvii. (3.) Pharaoh, who began to oppress the Hebrews with hard labour; and finding that ineffectual to ftop their increase of number, ordered the midwives to kill every male child of theirs at the birth; and finding that they disobeyed him, ordered all his subjects to destroy the Hebrew male-infants wherever they could find them. His drughter faved and educated Moses, the Hebrew deliverer. Whether it. was this Pharaoh, or his fon, who fought to flay Mofes after he had flain the Egyptian, we know not, Exod. i. ii. (4.) Pharaoh, from whom Moses demanded for the Hebrews their liberty to go and ferve their God; and who, after ten plagues on his kingdom, and frequent changes in his refolution, was obliged to let them go, and afterwards following them, was drowned with his hoft in the Red fea, Exod. v.—xiv. (5.) Pharaoh, who protected, and gave his wife's fifter in marriage to Hadad, the fugitive Edomite. Whether he was the father-inlaw of Solomon, who took Gezer from the Canaanites, and gave it as a portion with his daughter, we know not, 1 Kings xi. iii. 1. ix. 16. (6.) Pharaoh-necho, the fon of Pfainmiticus, who fitted out great fleets in the Mediterranean fea, marched a prodigious army to the Euphrates; took Carchemith; defeated Josiah in his way thither, and made Jehoahaz his prisoner, and fet up Jehoiakim for king of Judea in his return home. In about four years after, his army at Carchemish were entirely routed, the city taken, and the garrison put to the sword, and the fugitives purfued to the border of Egypt, by the Chaldeans, 2 Kings xxiii. xxiv. 2 Chron. xxxv. Jer. xlvi. (7.) Pharaoh-hophra, the grandfon of the former, reigned 25 years, and was for a while reckoned one of the happiest of princes. He invaded Cyprus, and made himfelf mafter of almost all Phenicia. Depending on his affiftance, Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Pharaoh fent an army to Babylon. affift him against the Chaldeans, who were belieging his capital; but when the Chaldeans marched to attack them, the Egyptians retreated home with precipitation.

precipitation. About 16 years after, the Chaldeans furiously invaded his country, murdered the inhabitants, and carried off their wealth. Just before, Pharaoli had invaded Cyrene both by fea and land, and loft the bulk of his army in that attempt. His fubjects, enraged with his ill fuccess, took arms against him, alledging, that he had ruined his army, in order that he might rule in a tyrannical manner. He fent Amasis, one of his generals, to crush this rebellion. Whenever Amasis began to expostulate with the rebels, they clapped an helmet for a crown upon his head, and proclaimed him their king. Amasis then headed the rebels, and after various battles took King Pharaoh prifoner. He would have treated him with kindness, but the people forced him out of his hands, and strangled him, Jer. xliii. 9 .- 13. xliv. 30.

PHARISEES. See sect.

PHENICE; an harbour on the fouth-west of the isle of Crete. It lay chiefly to the south-west, but had a winding to the north-west, and so was a very safe harbour, Acts xxvii. 12.

PHENICIA; a country on the shore of the Mediterranean sea, on the north-west of Canaan and south-west of Syria, whose principal cities were Tripoli, Botrys, Byblus, Berytus, Ecdippa, Ptolemais, Dora, Tyre, and Zidon. This country was anciently flocked with inhabitants descended from Canaan. The Zidonians, Arvadites, Arkites, and perhaps the Zemarites and Sinites, dwelt here. No doubt, in the time of Joshua and Barak, others of their Canaanitish brethren poured in upon them. overstocking of their country made them apply to navigation and trade. They, especially the Tyrians and Zidonians, had almost all the trade of the then known world. There was fcarce a shore or isle of the Mediterranean fea, where they did not plant co-Ionies. The most noted of which was that of the Carthaginians, who once long contended with Rome. It is thought the Phenicians pushed their trade as far as Britain. It appears that they had fettlements on the Red fea and Perfian Gulf. Sir Ifaac Newton thinks vast numbers of Edomites fled hither in the days of David, and carried their arts along with them.

The ancient Phenicians were famed for learning, and are faid to have been the inventors of letters. Sanchoniathon, the most ancient historian except the inspired, was a Phenician; but his work is an heap of diforder and fable. The Phenicians were very noted for their idolatries, worshipping Baal, Ashtaroth, Hercules, Apollo, Tammuz, &c. Herodotus extends the boundaries of Phenicia along the feacoast, from the border of Egypt to almost the north of Syria. Some Greek writers call the whole of Canaan Phenicia; and the notitias of the church include in it a great part of the fouth of Syria.

The chief cities of Phenicia were Sidon and Tyre. Sidon, or Zidon, was built on the east shore of the Mediterranean fea, perhaps not long after the flood, by Zidon the eldest fon of Canaan; and the inhabitants thereof, fome ages after, built old Tyre, on a high hill on the same shore, about 25 miles to the south. The circumference of this old city was about three miles; but in process of time they built another on the adjacent island, and, joining the two by an ishmus or neck of land, the whole city in its chief fplendour is faid to have been about 19 miles in circumference, which I suppose included the fuburbs. Both Tyre and Sidon pertained to the tribe of Asher, * but were never taken from the Canaanites. The Zidonians very early oppressed the Israelites, Judg. x. 1. 2. Sometimes Tyre and Sidon had diftinct kings, and fometimes they had but one over both. Many of them make almost no figure in history. About the time of David, Cilix and Cadmus, the fons of Agenor king of Zidon, it feems, affrighted by David's victories, left their country, and fought out new feats for themselves. Hiram king of Tyre, who appears to have had the Sidonians under under him, affifted Solomon in building the temple and his other structures: and it feems there had been a brotherly covenant of atnity established between the two nations. Ethbaal, the father of IEZEBEL, was one of his fucceffors; but he probably lived at Zidon. haps Phalis, who reigned in the time of the Trojan war, was his fon. ring the reign of Pygmalion the greatgrandson of Ethbaal, Dido or Elisa, his fifter, with a multitude of others, fled from his oppression, and built Carthage, on the north of Africa, to the The Tyrians, fouth-west of Sicily. and perhaps other Phenicians, were in the league against the Ifraclites in the time of Jehoshaphat, Psal. lxxxiii. 7. About the time of Jotham, they feem to have been mafters of at least a part of the country of the Philistines; and it feems, in the days of Ahaz, they carried off numbers of the Jews, and fold them to the Greeks for flaves, Joel Soon after, Eulæus their king, attempting to reduce the revolted inhabitants of Gath, these supplicated the protection of Shalmanefer king of Affyria. He turned his arms against the Phenicians. The Zidonians quickly revolted from Tyre, and proclaimed him their king, and affifted him against the Tyrians. Five years he befreged Tyre, but 12 of their ships beating 60 of his, and death cutting him off, the fiege was raifed. The glory of Tyre quickly increased, and the most of Phenicia was fubject to them. They traded with the Egyptians, Eolians, Cilicians, Spaniards, Greeks, Cappadocians, Arabians, Syrians, Hebrews, Mefopotamians, Medes, Persians, Lydians, Africans, and islanders of the Mediterranean fea. Provoked with the Phenicians, for entering into a league with Zedekiah king of Judah, and affifting him in his rebellion, Nebuchadnezzar invaded the country. Zidon quickly furrendered. Tyre was belieged for 13 years, during which time, it feems, Ethbaal, their proud and politic prince, was flain. In A. M. 3432 Tyre was taken; but during the siege the inhabitants had transported themselves and their effects to the neighbouring island, about 70 paces from the shore. Missing their expected booty, the Chaldeans vented their rage on the few they found, and burnt the city, and cast the rubbish into the fea. The Tyrians, now pretty fafe in their island, afterwards fent their submission to the Chaldeans, and under whom, and their Perfian fucceffors, the cities of Tyre and Zidon had ftill kings of their own. Tetramnestes or Zidon affisted Xerxes of Persia with 300 gallies in his mad expedition against Greece. Provoked with the tyranny of Darius Ochus of Persia, they entered into a league against him with Nectanebus of Egypt. Ochus laid fiege to their city; Tennes their king, and Mentor a Greek general, betrayed it into his hands. Provoked herewith, and their ships being formerly burnt that none might leave the place, they, in desperation, burnt the city on themfelves, and perished to the number of 40,000. Ochus got a confiderable fum for the rubbish, as there was much gold and filver among it. The rest of the country readily fubmitted to him. Much about this time, it is faid, the flaves of Tyre, in one night, murdered all their masters, except one Strato, who was made king. About the fame time one Strato was king of Zidon, which was now rebuilt. Him Alexander the Great deposed, to make way for one Ballonymus, a very poor man, but of the ancient blood-royal. When Alexander approached towards Tyre, the governors fent him prefents; but, trusting to their walls of 150 feet built round their island, they refused to admit him into their city, to facrifice to Hercules. After a costly and terrible siege of seven months, he took the city by force; put 8000 of the inhabitants to the fword, crucified 2000, and fold 30,000 for flaves to the Jews and others. The city he repeopled from the continent, and made Azelmic the king, who had been abroad during the fiege, governor thereof. During the flege, the Tyrians had fent off their wives and children to Carthage; and about 15,000 others were fecretly carried off in the Zidonian ships. About 19 years after Antigonus again took it, after a fiege of 15 months. Never after Alexander did Phenicia recover its ancient glory, a great part of their trade being carried off to Alexandria, and themselves so oft changing their Syro-Grecian and Egypto-Grecian mafters. Having fallen into the hands of the Romans, Augustus, to punish their frequent riots and their fiding with Cashus, deprived Tyre and Zidon of their liberties. bout A. D. 194, Niger, the usurping emperor, burnt Tyre, and killed most of its inhabitants. In A. D. 636, the Saracens took Tyre and Zidon. After they and the Seljukian Turks had poffessed it 494 years, the Christian Croifades feized the country; but in A.D.1289, Alphix, fultan of Egypt, took it, and utterly destroyed Tyre and Zidon, and other strong places adjacent, that they might never more afford any shelter to the Christians. In 1516, Phenicia was taken by the Ottoman Turks; but the Drufes of Lebanon put in for a thare of it; and the famed I accardin blocked up the harbour of Zidon, that the Turkish gallies might not visit his coafts. The Phenicians in part became profelytes to the Jewish religion; many thereabouts attended our Saviour's instructions, and received his cures. A Syro-Phenician woman he extolled for her faith, Mark iii. 8. vii. 24.—31. The gospel was early preached here, Acts xi. 19. Paul tarried a while with the Christians at Tyre and Sidon, Acts xxi. 4. xxvii. 3.; and for many ages there were noted churches in these places. For a long time past Tyre has been a mere heap of ruins, inhabited by a few wretched fishermen; but Zidon in flill of fome note, having about 16,000 inhabitants, Christians, and others, not absolutely wretched, Gen. ix. 25. 26. 27. Ames i. 9. 10. Joel iii. 4.—8. Is. xxiii. Ezek. xxvii. xxvii. xxviii. fer, xxv. 11. 22. xxvii. 3 .- 7. Zech. ix. 1. -5. Pial. xlv. 12. Ixxii. 10. lxxxiv. 4. PHILADELPHIA, a city of My-

PHE [271] PHE

PIHILADELPHIA, a city of Myfia, or Lydia, at the north foot of mount Tmolus; was fo called, either from Attalus Philadelphus, who at lead mightily adorned, if he did not build it; or because there the Asian Greeks held their kind and brotherly scass. It stood about 24 miles east of Sardis, and 72 from Smyrna. Here was a Christian church very early planted, to which John was directed to write a consolutory and directive epithe, Rev. iii. 7.—13. This was the last city in these quarters that submitted to the Turks, after a terrible siege of six years. We can trace the history of Christianity in this country for about 800 years; nay, at present there are in it about 2000 Christians.

PHILEMON; a rich citizen of Coloffe. He and his wife were very early converted to the Christian faith, by Paul or Epaphras; and the Christians held their meetings in his house. His bond flave Onesimus having made an elopement from him, and come to Rome, was converted by Paul's ministry, and was very useful to him in his imprisonment. Paul fent him back with a recommendatory letter, instituing that Philemon would forgive him, and charge what he might have wronged him to Paul's own account, Philem.

PHILIP, the apolle, and brother of Andrew, was a native of Bethfaida. Having been by his brother introduced to Jefus, and invited by Jefus to his lodging, he afterwards brought Nathanael to him, John i. 43.—51. To try him, Jefus asked him how they could procure bread for the 5000 men, belides women and children? Philip replied, that 200 penny-worth, or L. 6, 9s. Sterling worth of bread, would not give each a feanty morfel, John vi. 5. 6. 7. He and his brother introduced the Greeks to Jefus, John xii. 21. 22. He, at our Saviour's last supper, J'ed for a fight of the Father's glory, as what would fuffice them. Jefus told him, that as he and his Father were mutually in one another, he that by faith had feen him, had feen the Father also, John xiv. 8.9. 10. It is faid that Philip preached the gofpel in Upper Afia, fouth of the Hellespont and Euxine fea, and died a martyr at HIERAPOLIS.

PHILIP, the 2d of the feven deacons, Acts vi. 5. He feems to have refided at Cefarea, on the west of Canaan. Endowed with the Holy Ghost for preaching the gospel, he, after the death of Stephen, went and preached in the country of Samaria, where he wrought miracles, and baptized not a few. Directed by an angel, he repaired to the fouth-west of Canaan, near Gaza. Here he met with an eunuch, treasurer to Candace, the queen of Ethiopia, who being a Jewish profelyte, had come to attend at some of the sacred feafts. Directed of God, he went close to the eunuch's chariot. He was .reading in the 53d of Isaiah, a passage relative to our Saviour's fufferings, and his meek submission thereto. asked him, if he understood what he was reading? The eunuch replied, that he could not, without a teacher. his defire Philip entered his chariot, and rode along with him, and from that paffage instructed him concerning Jesus, and the Christian faith. The eunuch received his instructions with the utmost readiness and affection; and seeing water by the way-fide, asked, if he might not be baptized? Philip told him he might, if he believed with his heart, He replied, that he believed Jesus Christ to be the Son of God. Philip and he went out of the chariet to the water. Immediately after the baptism the Lord carried Philip to Azotus, where he preached the gospel. He had four daughters who prophefied, Acts viii. xxi. 8.9. Whether Philip afterwards repaired to Tralleis, in Leser Afia, and there founded a church, we know not.

PHI [273] PHI

PHILIP. See HEROD.

PHILIPPI; a city of Macedonia, anciently called Datos; but being repaired by Philip the father of Alexander the Great, it received its name from him. It stood to the north-west of Neapolis, about 70 miles north-east of Thesialonica, and about 190 west of Constantinople. It was rendered famous by the defeat of Brutus and Cassius, two noble Roman strugglers for liberty, in the neighbourhood. Here there was a Roman colony. Here Paul preached about A. D. 52; and Lydia and many others Vel. II were converted. A perfecution foon obliged Paul to leave the place; but a notable church was founded in it. None fo readily supplied the apostle with neceffaries, even after he was gone from them. At Theffalonica they oftener than once supplied his necessity. They fent him a supply when prisoner at Rome, by Epaphroditus, one of their preachers, Acts xvi. Phil. iv. 15 .- 18. returned them a most affectionate epistle, wherein he declares his tender love of them, his care to prevent their stumbling at his fufferings, and his readinefs to glorify God, either by life or death. He exhorts them to a strict holiness of life; to constancy in well-doing; to imitation of Chrift in humility; to activity and feriousness in their Christian course; to adorn their profession with fuitable and mutual Christian graces. He recommends to them Timothy and Epaphroditus; warns them against false teachers and fellowship of wicked perfons; and propofes his own example as their pattern.

PHILISTIA, or PALESTINE, is, with fome writers, a name of the whole of Canaan; but in scripture it means only a narrow strip of land along the fea-coast, in the south-west of Canaan, about 40 miles long, and, except at the fouth part, scarce ever above 15 miles broad. Its cities were Gerar, Gaza, Majuma, Askelon, Ekron, Ashdod, and The Philistines, and the Caphtorim, descended from Casluhim, the son of Mizraim, who peopled Egypt; and their country is perhaps called the ifle or country of Caphtor, Jer. xlvii. 4. When they returned from Egypt, and fettled in Canaan, we know not. is certain their kingdom of Gerar was erected and governed by the ABIME-LECHS, in the days of ABRAHAM and ISAAC. Their territory was divided to the Hebrews; but they neglecting to take possession of it, the Philistines were made a fevere and lafting fcourge to them, Josh. xiii. 2. 3. xv. 45. 46. 47. Judg. iii. 1. 2. 3. In the days of Shamgar they ravaged the adjacent territories; but he mauled them, and killed 600 of them at once with an ox-goad,

M m

Judg.

PHI [274] PHI

In the days of Jephthah they also ravaged the Hebrew territories; but perhaps the terror of his arms made them defift, Judg. x. 6. In the days of Samfon and Eli, they, under their five lords or kings, for 40 years terribly tyrannized over the Hebrews. Samfon fearfully mauled them; but by fraud they got him made their prisoner, though not fo much to their profit at laft. At the time of Eli's death, by defeating the Hebrews in fundry battles, and taking captive the ark, they had reduced them to the very brink of ruin. The maining of their idol Dagon, and a plague of emerods, if not also of mice, attended the captive ark, and obliged them to fend it back, with a prefent of the images of the emerods and mice in gold. Some time after, Samuel defeated them at Ebenezer, the Lord affifting the Hebrews with thunder, I Sam. iv.—vii. Not long after the coronation of Saul, the Phistines, with a terrible host of perhaps 300,000 footmen, and 6000 horsemen, and 30,000 chariots for war or baggage, invaded the country of Ifrael. Newton thinks this hoft was fo exceedingly fwelled, especially in carriages, by the return of the Phenician shepherds from Egypt at that time. This huge army quite terrified the Hebrews, and at the fame time they had carried off all the fmiths from the land of Ifrael, that no arms might be forged; but by Jonathan, and his armour-bearer, was the rout of this mighty hoft begun; and the Hebrews purfued them to the very borders of their country. Not long after, the Philistines, along with Goliath, invaded the Hebrew territories; but he being flain, the rest sled home with the utmost precipitation, I Sam. xiii. xiv. xvii. As they continued the enemies of Saul, and made repeated inroads into his kingdom, David, after giving them feveral checks, for fome time sheltered himself among them, 1 Sam. xviii. xxiii. xxvii, xxix. About the end of Saul's reign they invaded the Hebrew territories, to the very heart of the country, killed Saul and his fons, and spread such terror among the Hebrews on the west of Jordan, that many of them left their dwellings, and took up their residence in Gilead, 1 Sam. xxix. xxxi. David having taught his fubjects the use of the bow, attacked the Philistines, and in fundry battles out off their giants, and rendered them his tributaries, 2 Sam. v. viii. 1. 12. xxi. xxiii. 10. 12. 16. For about 150 years they continued fubject to the Jews. Nadab the fon of Jeroboam, and fome of his fucceffors, carried on a war with the Philiftines for the city Gibbethon, I Kings xv. xvi. They formed a party in the combination against Jehoshaphat, Pfal. lxxxiii. 7. In the reign of Jehoram they formally revolted; nor, tho' haraffed by the Syrians under Hazael, were they reduced by the Jews till the reign of Uzziah, 2 Kings xii. 17. 2 Chron. viii. xxvi. In the days of Ahaz they again revolted; invaded the low or well country of Judah, and took Bethshemesh, Ajalon, Gederoth, Shocho, and Ginzo, and fold the Jews to the Tyrians for flaves, 2 Chr. xxviii. 18, If. ix. 12. Joel iii. 6. Hezekiah reduced them to the lowest ebb; and took all their country to Gaza; and by fword and famine vast multitudes of them were ruined, 2 Kings xviii. 8. If. xiv. 29. 30. Their country was seized by the Assyrians, and was on that account invaded by Pfammitieus king of Egypt, If. xx. It was afterwards feized by the Chaldeans, the Perfians, and Greeks, in their turn. Tryphon, the Greek usurper of Syria, gave it to Jonathan the Maccabee. Alexander Janneus reduced it entirely, and obliged the inhabitants to fubmit to the Jewish religion; and about 140 years after many of them became Chr. Itians, Amos i. 6. 7. 8. If. xiv. 27.--31. Jer. xxv. 20. 27. xlvii. Ezck. xxv. 15. 16. 17. Zeph. ii. 1.-7. Zech. ix. 5. 6. 7. Obad. 19. If. xi. 14. Pfal. lxxxvii. 4.

PHILOSOPHY, is the knowledge of things founded on reason and experience. At present, philosophy might be divided into logic, or the science of perception, judgement, reasoning, and method; ontology, or the knowledge of the general properties and relations of beings; natural philosophy, or the knowledge of material fub-Hances, earth, fea, air, fire, celeftial luminaries, &c. to which mathematics, optics, hydrostatics, medicine, astronomy, &c. may be reduced; pneumatics, or the knowledge of spirits; moral philosaphy, which directs men to act to a right end, and in a right manner, as rational beings subject to God: but from the beginning philosophy was not fo formal and diffinct. Solomon indeed was the greatest philosopher that ever existed : but his works of that kind are long ago loit. The most ancient philosophers of the Greeks, called their science, sophia, tvisdom. Pythagoras was more modest, and would have his only called philosophia, defire of wifdom. The Greek philosophers, partly through ignorance, and partly through vanity, foon split into a vast number of fects, of which the Epicureans, Stoics, and Academics, were the most noted, and to which the Jew-Ih fects of Sadducees, Pharifees, and Effence, were fomewhat fimilar. Till within these 200 years past, that men have more attended to experience and common fense, most of the philosophy that was for many ages in vogue, was but unmeaning jargon and nonfenfe. Then it was imagined, almost every thing was understood: now repeated discoveries manifest the wonderful and unfearchable nature of God's works; and how much more of himfelf!

phy

PHI [275] PHI

That the works of creation and providence, really manifelt the being, and part of the perfections of God, and of our duty to him, or to one another; or that the human mind, abstractly confidered, is capable of apprehending thefe matters, cannot justly be denied. But it is no less evident, that through the prevalence of mens lufts over their reason, there is little actual knowledge in the earth, but what owes its origin one way or other to revelation. Clemens Alexandrinus, Justin Martyr, Augustine, and most of the Christian fathers, believed the Heathens derived their proper fentiments from the oracles of God; and Celfus, the Heathen philosopher, acknowledges the similarity of Plato to Moses and the prophets. Theophilus Gale, in his Court of the Gentiles, has with great labour, shown the derivation of the fentible notions of the Heathen from the oracles of God. Nothing is more plain, than that the nations which have had no access to revelation are almost similar to brutes in ignorance and barbarity. Let the fouth of Africa, the east of Tartary, and various parts of America, bear witness. It is eafy to trace their access to revelation, wherever any fenfible philosophy, efpecially respecting morals and worship, was found. Might not a deal of traditional knowledge be derived from Noah? Who knows how little real wifdom the Egyptians might have, except what they owed to Joseph, Mofes, Solomon, or other Hebrews, they were converfant with, and highly regarded? What hindered the Chaldeans to learn not a little from Abraham, their countryman; or from Jewish captives, carried thither by the flyrians or Nebuchadnezzar; or from their countrymen, the most ancient Samaritans? What know we, but any thing fenfible in the ancient Persian religion, is owing to Zoroafter, who had accefs to learn it from the Jews, if he was not, as fome think, a renegade one himself? It is certain, that neither the ancient Chinese philosophy of Confucius, nor their modern, had half the fenfibleness that fome pretend; but though it had, how eafy to derive it from revelation? If Noah went this ther, and fettled their constitutions. they must have been originally good. Probably thousands of Jews removed eastward, when Oguz-kan the Tartar made his irruption into western Asia; and about the same time, founded a kingdom on the north-west of China: and from their apprehensions of the incarnation of God, and other things, we cannot but think that fome fuch thing happened. I find no evidence of any fentible philosophy in the East Indies, till after the time in which it is faid Nebuchadnezzar transported thither a colony of Jews: nay, nor all M m 3 steet PHI [276] PHI after they had access to converse with Jews in the empire of Darius, the hufband of Esther; and to whom Mordecai, a Jew, was for a while chief minister of state; and till after almost all the east founded with the wisdom of Daniel the Jew. To turn our eyes towards Europe, where was the learning of Greece, before Cadmus, a fugitive from the country of Ifrael, carried letters thither? How probable, that Orpheus, the reformer of their religion, or his father, was a Phenician, and his mother Calliope, perhaps a Jewish minstrel, carried northward by the conquering Shishak king of Egypt? What know I, but the Colchians on the east of the Euxine sea, with whom the Greeks had the earliest intercourse, and who used circumcifion, and had a language not a little fimilar to the Hebrew, were a colony of Jews and Egyptians, left there by Shishak, as he hasted home to check his rebellious brother? Who has not heard of the early intercourse between Egypt and Greece? Who knows not, that the Phenicians, who in a manner lived among the Hebrews, or at their fide, by their extensive sea-trade and numerous colonies, might propagate hints borrowed from revelation, far and wide, even to the Celtæ of Britain? Who may not observe in the Etruscan lucumonies of Italy, not a little refemblance to the early order of the Hebrew tribes? Were not Pherecydes the Syrian, and Thales the Milefian, the most ancient philosophers of the Greeks? and were they not born, especially the first, at no great distance from Ifrael? Did not Pythagoras, Solon, Plato, and other renowned philofophers, travel into Egypt and Chaldea, to collect wisdom? and could they do fo, without vifiting the Jewish valley of vifi in, which lay in their way from the one to the other? Did not the Romans derive their philosophy from the Greeks? and had they not plenty of access to the oracles of God in the Grecian language? Since it is fo extremely probable that almost every thing fenfible in the Pagan learning derives its original from revelation? how fuperlatively base and unmanly must it be for our modern insidels, to boast of their own or the Heathen science, in opposition to the gospel of Christ? Let us have a fensible system of natural religion from the Cafres. Hottentots, or Soldanians, in the fouth of frica; or from the Kamshatkans, in the east corner of Tartary, or Patagonians, in the fouth of merica: or from the islanders, in the most fouthern or northern parts of the ocean, whom we allow to owe very little of their knowledge to revelation; and then we shall esteem the religion and light of nature more than at prefent we can; though after all, the cafe of ancient Greece and Rome, and of modern Europe, would effectually prove, that philosophy is incapable to reform the world. The apostle decries not true, but vain philosophy, i. e. the vain fancies which the Heathens blended with truth, Col. ii. 8. Scripturemysteries transcend true philosophy, but never oppose it. Nay, philosophy, when used as an handmaid, is of great use to promote the knowledge of the fcripture; and indeed, in the book of Job, Proverbs, and Ecclefiastes, there is more true philosophy than in all the writings of the Heathen.

PHINEHAS, the fon of Eleazar. and third high priest of the Jews. His zeal for the honour of God was very remarkable. When the Midianitish women came into the Hebrew camp to feduce them to uncleanness and idolatry, Phinehas feeing one Zimri, a prince of the Simeonites, lead Cozbi, the daughter of Zur, a prince of Midian, into his tent, followed them into the tent, and with a javelin thrust them both through the belly, in their very act of whoredom. To reward his zeal, God immediately flopped the plague, which then raged among the Israelites, assigned the high-priesthood to him and his family for many generations, and appointed him to attend the 12,000 Ifraelites which punished the Midianites, Namb. xxv. xxxi. Pfal. cvi. 30. 31. He and other princes were fent to expostulate with the Reubenites and their brethren of Gilead, concerning their erection of the altar of ED, and hearing their reafons, were entirely fatisfied, Josh. xxii. He attended the army that cut off the Benjamites, in the affair of Gibeah, Judg. xx. 28. He died about A. M. 2590, and was fucceeded by Abishua, or Abiezer his fon. See PRIESTS. Did he not prefigure our bleffed Redeemer? How zeal for his Father's honour and his people's falvation eat him up! how he flaughtered fin, Satan, and an whorish world! how acceptable to God his fervice! how highly rewarded, and counted for an everlafting righteoufness! how it prevents an universal spread of divine wrath! establishes the new covenant of peace, and founds a perpetual priesthood to him and his feed! and in what honourable, but terrible manner, he punishes such as go a-whoring from him, or wallow in their lufts!

princes

PHI [277 1 PHY

PHINEHAS. See Eli.

PHRYGIA; a country of Leffer Asia, having the Mediterranean sea and Hellespont on the north-west, Galatia on the east, and Lydia on the fouth. It was divided into two parts, the leffer Phrygia on the west, and the greater on the east. The principal cities of the western were, Troas, Cyzicus, Lampfaeus, Abydos, Antandros, &c. Those of the greater were Hierapolis, Colosse, Gordium, Lyfias. Some Greek authors would have the Phrygians to have fprung from the Bryges, a tribe of Macedonians; but it is more probable they were the descendants of Gomer, by his son Askenaz, or Togarmah. The Phrygians had anciently fovereigns of their own. Those of Troy are not a little famous in the ancient fables. For about 2500 years past, they have been fubject to the Lydians, Perlians, Greeks, Romans, and Turks, in their The gofpel was very early preached in Phrygia, and a church fettled, which for many ages made a confiderable appearance, Acts xvi. 6. xviii. 23. Nor is Christianity yet quite abolished.

PHUT, the third fon of Ham. Calmet will have his posterity to have fettled in the canton of Ptemphis in Lower Egypt, or in Phthenotis, whofe capital was Buthus; but if they did fo, we are perfuaded they, in after times, removed westward to Mauritania, where we find the region Phute; and probably the Pythian Apollo is no other than PHUT deified by his pofterity. We suppose Shishak conquered all Mauritania as far as the straits of Gibraltar, and gave to his brother Atlas the government thereof. It is certain the Phuteans were in league with, or fubject to the Egyptians, about the times of Hezekiah, Gen. x. 6. Nah. iii. 6.

PHYGELLUS and HERMO-GENES, were professed Christians of Asia. It is said they were originally magicians; but it is more certain that they forsook Paul in the time of his distress, and imprisonment, 2 Tim. i. 15.

PHYLACTERIES. See FRONT-

PHYSICIAN; (1.) One who practifes the art of medicine, Mark v. 26. (2.) An embalmer of dead bodies, Gen. l. 2. (3.) Such as comfort and relieve from diffress by their advice and counfel, Job xiii. 4. Jefus Christ is called a Physician; by the application of his word, his blood, his Spirit, he removes the guilt, the filth, the ignorance, hardness, and other fpiritual plagues of mens foul, Matth. ix. 12. Prophets, teachers, and deliverers of nations are physicians; by their instructions and example, or by their wifdom and activity, they are ufeful for removing the corruptions of persons or churches, and redressing the grievances of states, Jer viii. 22.

As anciently difeases were often supposed the immediate strokes of divine vengeance, almost no use was made of medicine, except in outward fores, fractures, wounds, and the like: but when Asa was diseased in his seet, he depended too much on the skill of the physicians, 2 Chron. xvi. 12. Among the Asilyrians, Chaldeans, Egyptians,

Lybians,

Lybians, and Greeks, we have bluftering hints of skilful physicians; but till Hippocrates the Coan, about A. M. 3540, digested medicine into a kind of fystem, it was very little con-Aretœus, the Cappadocian, fidered. long after, further reformed it. Galen, who lived in the fecond century of the Christian æra, put the art into a still clearer order; but by pretending to found every thing on the four elements and the humours, and by his cardinal qualities, and the like, he embarraffed it with much unintelligible jargon. Detween the 6th and 9th centuries of Christianity the art of medicine was in a manner loft; but from that to the 13th, the Arabs cultivated it with a great deal of pomp. was not, however, till within thefe two centuries past, that it was handled in a proper manner; nor is it so even now, except among the Europeans of the Christian name. Perhaps it never was carried to higher perfection than it is at prefent in Edinburgh.

A PIECE of money, is a SHEKEL of gold or SILVER, 2 Kings v. 5. vi. 25. For a piece of bread, i. e. a very small advantage, that man will transgress, Prov. xxviii. 21. To be reduced to a piece of bread, is to be in extreme poverty, glad to eat any thing, Prov. vi. 26. 1 Sam. ii. 36.

PICTURE. The Hebrews were required to destroy every picture or image of the Canaanites false gods, Numb. xxxiii. 52. Deut. vii. 5. What Christianity there is then in adorning our orchards, or houses, or even our Bibles, with pictures of Heathenish or Popish idols, is easy to judge. The day of the Lord is on all pleasant pictures, when he brings to ruin Heathenish or Romish idolaters, with their idols and images, and destroys their sumptuous and gaudy furniture, Is. ii. 16.

PIERCE; (1.) To bore through, Judg. v. 26. (2.) To pain exceedingly, Job xxx. 17. I Tim. vi. 10. Christ's hands and feet were pierced, when, by nails driven through them, he was fixed to the cross; and he is pierced, when he is grieved and offended by our unbelief, Pfal. xxii. 16. Zeeh. xii. 10. Rev. i. 7. One fpeaketh like the piercings of a fword, when by passionate and reproachful speeches, or by false accusations, he wounds the character, hurts the outward estate, and endangers the life of his neighbour, Prov. xii. 18.

PIETY, or GODLINESS.

PIHAHIROTH; the pass thro' which the Hebrews marched to the west bank of the Red sea. Whether the rocks on either hand were called Hiroth, and so the name fignifies the gullet, or pass of Hiroth; or whether the name fignifies the mouth, or gullet of liberty, because here the Hebrews were delivered by the opening of the sea before them, we cannot determine. Probably the city Heroum, or Heroopolis, stood near to this place, Exod. xiv. 2.

PONTIUS PILATE was probably an Italian, and was the fucceffor of Gratus, in the government of Judea, A. D. 26 or 27. He was a most obstinate, passionate, covetous, cruel, and bloody wretch, tormenting even the innocent, and putting people to death without fo much as a form of Taking offence at fome Galileans, he murdered them in the court of the temple as they offered their facrifices. This, as our Saviour hinted, was a prelude of the Jews being shut up in their city, and murdered, when they affembled to eat the paffover, Luke xiii. 1. 2. Wicked as he was, his conviction of our Saviour's innocence caused him try several methods to preserve his life. His wife too sent him word to have nothing to do in condemning him, as she had a terrible dream about him. He was the more intent to preferve him. When the Jews accused our Saviour of calling himfelf the Son of God, Pilate was the more afraid, as he fuspected he might be so. They then cried out, he would be a traitor to Cesar if he dismissed Jesus. Dreading a charge of this nature, he washed his hands, and protested, that he was innocent of Jesus's death.

PIL 1 279 7 PIL

death, and then condemned him to be crucified. Guided by Providence, he, inflead of an abstract of the causes of condemnation, caused write on our Saviour's cross, This is Jofus of Navareth, the King of the Jews, which at once declared his innocence, royalty, and Meffiahthip: nor could all the intreaties of the Jews cause him in the least alter the inscription. He readily allowed Joseph the dead body to give it a decent interment. He as readily allowed the Jews to feal and guard the facred tomb; and fo our Saviour's refurrection became the more notour. About three years after, Pilate, for his cruelty and oppression, was depofed by Vitellus governor of Syria, and fent to Rome, to give an account of his conduct. Caligula the emperor, foon after banished him to Vienne in Gaul, where extreme poverty and diftrefs influenced him to put a wretched end to his own life. Justin Martyr, Tertullian, and Eufebius, and after them many others, inform us, that it was the custom of the Roman governors in the different provinces, to fend copies of all their judicial acts to the emperor; and that Pilate wrote fuch an account of our Saviour's miracles and death to the Emperor Tiberius, that he inclined to have him worshipped as a God, but the fenate being against it, the matter was dropt. We can scarce believe these authors would have published this in the midst of the Heathens, if it had not been true; and yet we know of no author that pretends to have feen the real acts of Pilate. See Christ.

PILE; an heap of wood for burning dead corpfes in. In allufion hereto, God is faid to make the pile for the fire great in Jerufalem, when multitudes were there cast as suel into the fire of his wrath, and a powerful army of Chaldeans executed his indignation, Ezek. xxiv. 9. See TOPHET.

PILGRIM; one that travels from one country or place to another; and pilgrimage, is a wandering or travelling from one place to another, Genzivi. 9. See TRAVEL.

PILLAR; (1.) A prop to support a house or building, Judg. xvi. 25. 26. 29. (2.) A monument raised to commemorate a person or deed, Gen. xxxv. 20. 2 Sam. xviii. 18. The pillars of the earth, are the foundations or rocks which support and strengthen it, Job ix. 6. The pillars of heaven, are the mountains, on whose tops the skies scem to rest, Job xxvi. 11. Might not the pillars or boards of the tabernacle, and the two pillars of the porch of Solomon's temple, adorned with net-work, and 200 pomegranates, reprefent Jefus in the flability of his person and office; and his supporting his church, and being the glorious means of our access to God, Exod. xxvi. 15.—30. 1 Kings vii. 18. 42. Christ's legs are like pillars of marble, and his feet like pillars of fire: how fufficient and firm to fupport his whole charge, is his power: and how terrible in chaftifing his people, and punishing his enemies, is his providential conduct! Song v. 15. Rev. x. 1. The church is called the pillar and ground of truth: in and by her are exhibited and maintained the truths of God, as the edicts of civil rulers were wont to be held up to public view, on the pillars to which they were affixed; or the pillar and ground of truth may be the mystery of godliness mentioned, ver. 16. I Tim. iii. 15. Saints and ministers, especially more noted ones, are like pillars; they are fixed on the foundations of divine truth; they have their affections bent heavenward; and they mightily tend to support the churches and nations where they live, Song iii. 10. Gal. ii. 9. Saints are like the pillars of smoke which towered from the brazen or golden altar: amidst manifold storms they afcend towards God in holy affections and exercifes, prayer, praife, and thankfgiving, Song iii. 6. They are as pillars in the temple of God; to the honour of his grace, they are fixed in his church and new-covenant state, and are at last unalterably fixed in their celestial happiness, Rev. iii. 12. Magistrates, and fundamental rules of government, PIL 7 280 7 PIS government, are pillars which connect and support the structure of a state; and which, when removed, the ruin of the kingdom or nation quickly enfues, Pial. lxxv. 3. The filver pillars of Christ's chariot, may denote the excellent graces of his manhood, the precious promifes of his covenant, the truths of his gospel, and the ministers of his church, Song iii. 10. ven pillars, hewn out by Christ for his house, is whatever tends to the complete support of his church in heaven or earth, as the grace and power of God, the office and righteoufness of Christ, the fundamental truths of the gospel, and a sufficiency of well furnithed ministers, for every period of time, Prov. ix. 1.

PILLOW; a cushion for one's head to rest on in sleep. The peace and prosperity which false prophets promise their hearers, to sooth and sleepen their spirits into carnal security, is likened to pillows sewed to their arm-holes, that they may be ever at hand, Ezek. xiii. 18. 20.

PILOT; one that directs a ship; he that steers the helm, Ezek. xxvii. 8.

The PINN CLE of the temple can hardly be supposed to have been a spire on the top of it, as the top was set thick with golden pikes, that no birds might light thereon, and defile it; but rather some battlement, that surrounded part, if not the whole of the roof, especially that towards the east, the height of which was dreadful, Mat. iv. 5.

PINE; to waste gradually, as in a consumption, Lam. iv. 9. A people pine away in their iniquity, when, for the punishment thereof, their number, wealth, power, and honour, gradually decrease, Lev. xxvi. 39. Ezek. xxiv. 3.

PINE-TREE, is fomewhat akin to the fir. It yields a rofin and pitch, and the heart of it, when fully lighted, will burn as a torch. It thrives best in mountains and fandy places; and if its under branches are cut, it grows the higher. It is the better it be often watered while young. It bears its fruit in the winter. Unless the bark be pulled off, its abundant moisture makes worms lurk between the bark and the wood. Sometimes its excess of fatness stifles its growth. If laid under water, or kept perfectly dry, the wood of it will last a long time. The Hebrews used branches of it to form their booths at the feast of tabernacles. Saints are likened to pinetrees: they, when planted in the soil of a moderate outward condition, and watered by the Holy Ghost, bring forth fruit even in winters of affliction: and how full of the grace of God, that makes them shine as lights in the world! If. xli. 19. lx. 15.

PIPE; (1.) A wind-inftrument of the mufical kind, 1 Sam. x. 5. (2.) An instrument somewhat of the same form, for the conveyance of liquids. The golden pipes which convey oil to the feven lamps, are the precious and divinely-instituted ordinances of the gofpel, whereby influences are conveyed from Jesus to his ministers and people, for their spiritual illumination, Zech. The Jews were like chiliv. 2. 12. dren in the streets, that would not dance when their fellows piped, nor lament when they mourned. Christ and his faithful prophets and apostles could, neither by foft nor fevere methods, gain their attention to eternal things: neither John with his mournful, nor Jefus with his winning airs and speeches, could have any effect on them, Matth. xi. 17.

PISGAH; the highest top of that chain of mountains called ABARIM, and a part of mount Nebo; and so Moses is sometimes said to view Canau from Nebo, and sometimes from Pisgah, Deut. iii. 27. xxxiv. There were sine springs of water at its bottom, called Alidoth-pisgah, Deut. iv. 9.

PISIDIA; a province of Lesser Afia, at the well end of mount Taurus, and on the fouth-west of Lycaonia, north of Pamphylia, and east of Caria and Ionia. It was anciently a populous country. Ptolemy mentions 18 cities in it, viz. Antioch, Seleucia, Telmessus, &c. Here Paul and Barnabas, amidst no small perfect ion, plante

PIS [281] PIT

planted a Christian church, which, we are told, increased till they had 20 Episcopal sees. This continued for seven or eight centuries. Now the country is in a most wretched condition; and any remains of Christians, so called, are oppressed by their Turkish masters, Acts xiii. 14.—49. xiv. 24.

PISON; the name of the first branch of the river of Eden. This Calmet and Reland will have to be the Phasis, which they fay runs northward thro' Colchis, (with them Havilah), from near the head of the Euphrates, till at last it falls into the Euxine sea: but thefe great men are egregiously miftaken; for Phasis, instead of taking its rife near the head of the Euphrates, and running north-west, has its fpring-head about 300 or 400 miles north of the head of the Euphrates, and runs fouth-west into the Euxine fea. We, with Bochart and many others, take Pifon to be the western branch of the divided stream of the Tigris and Euphrates, which runs along the fide of Havilah in Arabia, and in the best maps may be seen to compass a considerable territory, Gen. ii. 12. 13.

PISS; the phrase, every one that pisseth against the wall, might every where be read every male, or every living creature, not so much as a dog excepted, I Sam. xxv. 22. 34. I Kings xiv. 10. xvi. 11. xxi. 21. 2 Kings

ix. 8.

PIT; (1.) A natural or artificial hole in the ground, of fome confiderable extent. One is ready to fall into them; it is hard to get out of them; and miserable to be in them. Atiatic nations used to shut up their captives in pits all night; and the Africans ferve their flaves fo still, If. xxiv. 22. (2.) The grave, which is digged like a pit, Pfal. xxx. 3. Hell, where the damned for ever fink into defpair, perplexity, and ruin, Rev. xx. 1. (4.) Great distrefs and mifery, spiritual, temporal, or eternal, If. xxxviii. 17. Matth. xv. 14.; and to Jefus's fufferings are called an horvible pit; how dark, dismal, and un-Vat. II.

eafy to escape! Pfal. xl. 2. (5.) Whatever ensures men, and tends to render them miserable, and from which it is hard to escape: so an harlot, and her enticing language, are called a deep and narrow pit, Prov. xxii. 14. xxiii. 27.

PITCH; a kind of rofin for plaftering ships, and securing them against drawing water. That with which Noah overlaid his ark, was perhaps the same as slime, and has the same Hebrew name as propitiation, and might represent Jesus's atonoment, as the great means of securing the church, and the conscience of men against the stoods of divine wrath, Gen. vi. 14.

PITCHER; a veffel, commonly of earth, for carrying liquids, Gen. xxiv. 14. To mark the contempt and weakness of the Jews and their priests, these fons of Zion, they are likened to earthen pitchers, Lam. iv. 2. The blood-vessels, which convey the vital juice to the several parts of the body, and keep it in a perpetual circulation from the right ventricle of the heart to the left, is called a pitcher, and is broken at the sountain, when death renders it quite unserviceable for conveying the blood, Eccl. xii. 6.

PITHOM and RAMESES, were the two cities, for the building of which the Hebrews made brick. Whether they were erected for treafurecities, or for frontier-cities, for fecuring against the departure of the Hebrews and against the inroads of the Amalekites and Philittines, is not agreed. Nor is it agreed where thefe cities stood. Some would have Pithom to be Pelufium; but it is more probable it was Pathumos, which flood almost straight west of the north end of the Red fea; and Dr Shaw thinks, Ramefes flood where Cairo is now built, Gen. xlvii. 11. Exod. i. 11.

PITY is that tender fympathetic feeling which obtains and is expressed towards persons in distressul circumstances, Job vi. 14. Ezek. xxxvi. 21. To pity, is, (1.) To lament, Psal. lxxx. 20. (2.) To have compassion, Ezek. xvi. 5. (3.) To spare, (have mercy), Jer. xiii. 14. (4.) To spare, (pre-N n ferve).

PLA [282] PLA

Serve), Jonah iv. 10. The Lord pitieth those that fear him, Pfal. ciii. 13. i.e. 1/2, Shares with them in their afflictions, Acts ix. 4.; 2dly, Tenderly feels for, and powerfully supports under them, If. lxiii. 9.; 3dly, Richly comforts them under their distresses, Is. li. 12. lxvi. 13. 2 Cor. i. 4. vii. 6.; and 4thly, At length he delivers wholly out of them, Pfal. xxxiv. 17. 19. The Lord is faid to be very pitiful, James v. 11. πολυσ πλαγχνος, i. e. of many bowels, in allufion to a tender mother, all whose bowels are moved, and yearn within her, when her child fuffers, I Kings iii. 26. Luke i. 78. Christians, 1 Pet. iii. 8. are required to be pitiful, ευσπλαγχνος i.e. rightly bowelled, their feelings to be fuitably and proportionably attuned to fuch objects of diffress as prefent themselves before them.

PLACE; (1.) A space or room where one is, Gen. xl. 3. (2.) A city or dwelling, Gen xviii. 26. 33. A state or condition, Eccl. x. 4. (4.) An employment, Gen. xl. 13. A text of scripture, Acts viii. 32. To have place, is to receive welcome, room, or proper entertainment, John viii. 37. To give place, is to make way or room for one, Luke xiv. 9. We give place to the devil, when we encourage, or liften to his temptations, Eph. iv. 27. We give place to wrath, when we overlook the paffionate injuries done us, and render good for evil, Rom. xii. 19. The Romans took array the Jews place, when they destroyed their cities and country, John xi. 48. To be in the place of another, is to be his deputy, acting for, and accounting to him. Jofeph was in the place of God; as his deputy, he shewed kindness to his brethren, Gen. l. 19. The place of the holy, and the place where God's honour dwelleth, is the temple and ordinances of his grace, where he is represented to, and found by his people, Eccl. viii. 10. Psal. xxvi. 8. God returns to his place, when he hides himself, as if shut up in heaven, Hof. v. 15.; or when he, as it were, steps into his judgement-seat, and according to equity, delivers his friends and punishes his foes, Pfal. vii.

He comes out of his place, when he manifests his perfections, in the just display of his wrath, If. xxvi. 21. HIGH places denote, (1.) Tops of mountains, or any thing high and elevated, Amos iv. 1. (2.) Places where the true God or idols were worshipped, 1 Kings iii. 2. xii. 31. The high places that God fets his people on, are an high station in church or state; a prosperous and comfortable condition, 2 Sam. xxii. 34. Hab. iii. 19. high places, where spiritual wickednesses are stationed, is the air where evil spirits roam; the powers of the foul, where inward corruptions prevail; and the outward supports of heathenish idolatry and wickedness, Eph. vi. 12.

PLAGUE; any great diffress or calamity, Pfal. xci. 10. But the plague of the heart, is the inward corruptions thereof, 1 Kings viii. 38. The feven last plagues, are those that shall come on the Anti-christians, for their ruin, Rev. xxi. 9. Christ is the plague of death, and destruction of the grave; as by his death and interment, he removed the curse and sting of death and the grave from his people, and rendered them noted bleffings to them, Hof. xiii. 14. But the plague is oft taken for the pestilence, Numb. xiv. 37-What is the cause of this terrible diftemper, is not univerfally agreed. Some will have a kind of vermin carried through the air to occasion it. Boyle and others attribute it to the poisonous exhalations from minerals, as orpiment, fandarac, white arfenic, &c.; which in fome places, lying near the furface, yield their exhalations every fummer, as in Egypt, where they are alfo fuddenly checked by the rife of the Nile; and in other places lie deeper in the earth, and fo cannot emit their effluvia, except when the earth is shaken by an earthquake. The poisoning of the air, with the stench of unburied carcases, at the fiege of cities, if in warm weather, tends to promote a pestilence. There have been plagues, which preyed only on young men or on young women; or which attacked only fuch perfons as were of a particular nation. According to Sydenham, the plague usually begins with a chilness and thivering; then follows a vehement inclination to vomit, intense pain about the heart, and a burning fever, which preys on the perfon till he die, or the putrid matter -difcharge itself by fome burfling boils. Sometimes too it begins without any fever, and is marked by fwellings in the flesh. When purple spots suddenly appear, it is a fign of death being at hand. Juice of lemons, camphire, viperine falt, and fmonking of tobacco, are faid to be excellent medicines in the plague. It would be endless to narrate the plagues of particular nations. In A. D. 543, one rose in Egypt, and fpread over the world: in 558, it revived and continued 50 years: another in Asia and Europe of 3 years in 1006. In 589, 1010, 1062, 1125, 1239, 1315, and 1348, there happened most terrible plagues, and which spread far and wide. The plague of Italy, in 1350, and which, in some places, scarce 10 of 1000 survived, and innumerable others, were terrible. But the most dreadful pestilence that I read to have happened, was that which began A. D. 250, and continued 15 years, spreading through the whole Roman empire, from Ethiopia on the fouth, where it began, to Britain on the north. Nor perhaps was that lefs terrible which began in Eastern Tartary, in 1346, and moved gradually forward to the Atlantic ocean on both fides of the Mediterranean fea, and, returning by Britain, ravaged all the northern countries of Europe, Rev. vi. 8.

PLA PLA 283

Pestilences were, and still are, very common in Asia and Africa. kind of pestilence were the first-born of Egypt cut off, Pfel. lxxviii. 50. it were the Hebrew lufters for flesh, the murmurers at Korah and his party's destruction, and the joiners to Baal-peor, punished, Numb, xi. xvi. xxv. were multitudes of the Canaanites cut off, to prepare the country for Ifrael, Hab. iii. 5. By a kind of it were 70,000 of David's subjects destroyed, in perhaps a few hours; and 185,000 of the Affyrians cut off in one night, 2 Sam. xxiv. 15. If. xxxvii. 36. A pestilent fellow, is one fufficient to corrupt and ruin a multitude, Acts xxiv. 5.

PLAIN. A plain, or plain place, is what is fmooth and even, without hills, Gen. xi. 2. Plain words or fpeeches, are fuch as are eafily underflood, Mark vii. 35. A plain path or way, is one without hindrances, temptations, stumbling, inconfistency, Pfal. xxvii. 11. Prov. xv. 19. A plain man, is one candid, kind, and much difpofed to civil fociety, Gen. xxv. 27.

PLANETS. See STAR.

PLANT; an herb or tree, chiefly when young, Gen. ii. 5. I Chron. iv. Jefus Christ in his humiliation was a tender plant; his condition was low; he was compassed with infirmity, and exposed to manifold suffering, Is. liii. 2. He is a plant of renown; great is his excellency and fame, as our Mediator and elder brother, Ezek. xxxiv. To mark their pleafant growth and promifing ufefulnefs, children, and the inhabitants of a country, are called plants, Pfal, exliv. 12. Jer. xlviii. 32. The Jews were God's pleafant plants; he placed them in the vineyard of his church, that they might increase, and bring forth fruits of holy obedience, If. v. 7. They became degenerate plants of a firange vine, when they apostatized from God and his way, and became fruitful in idolatry and wickedness, Jer. ii. 21. They planted strange flips and plants; introduced foreign trees and herbs, and falfe and foreign doctrines and customs, idolatry, fupcrstition, profaneness, Is. xvii. 10. 11. Saints are plants, as an orchard of pomegranates, camphire, spikenard, saffron, calamus, cinnamon, trees of frankincense, myrrh, aloes, and all the chief spices: fixed by God in their new-covenant state, joined to Jefus as their root, and watered with influences of his blood and Spirit, and warmed with his love, how delightful their appearance, and how diverfified, ufeful, and precious their various graces! Song iv. 13. 14. But the plants not of God's planting, that shall be plucked up, are heretical and N n 2 wicked wicked professors, and their errors and cyil courses, Matth. xv. 13.

PLA [284 | PLE

TO PLANT; (I.) To fix trees or herbs in the ground, that they may grow, Gen. xxi. 33. (2.) To bring a people from one place, to settle them in another, that they may increase in number, honour, or wealth, Pfal. xliv. 2. lxxx. 8. (3.) To grant to a people increase of number, peace, and prosperity, Jer. xxxi. 28. xviii. 9. (4.) To foretel the fettlement and prosperity of a nation, Jer. i. 10. (5.) To found churches; preach the gof-pel to fuch as never before heard it; and be useful in converting men to Christ, I Cor. iii. 6. (6.) To unite men to Jesus Christ, and fix them in a flate of fellowship with him, that they may be useful members of his church, Pfal. xcii. 13.

PLATTER; a large veffel for the boiling of meat, or for bringing it to the table, Matth. xxiii. 5.

PLAY; (1.) To fport; dance; fhout; fing; thus the Hebrews played around the golden calf, Ex. xxxii. 6. (2.) To fight for the diversion of onlookers: thus Abner and Joab caufed 24 men play, till they were all unnaturally murdered, 2 Sam. ii. 14. (3.) To make melody on a musical instrument, Psal. xxxiii. 3. To play the man, the fool, the whore, is to act the part of such a one, 2 Sam. x. 12. Ezek. xvi. 28. 1 Sam. xxi. 15.

PLEA; difpute; what is faid for or against a caule, Deut. xvii. 18.; and to PLEAD, is to debate a contested point, Job. xvi. 21. God pleads with men, when, by his word, Spirit, and providence, he convinces them of, and reproves them for their fin; or when he chastises or punishes them by his judgements, If. xliii. iii. 13. pleads the cause of his people, when he manifests their righteousness, redresses their grievances, and punishes their enemies, Pfal. xxxv. 1. xliii. 1. Lam. 1iii. 38. Professors plead with their mother, when they lay out themselves by all humble and gaining methods to reform their church or nation, Hof.

To PLEASE one, is to do what is agreeable to him. It pleased God to bruife Christ; he did it of his own will, and with a delight in the tendency thereof to promote our falvation, If. liii. 10. He is well pleased with Christ, and for his righteousness fake; he delights in him as his own Son, and as our Mediator; he accepts his obe-1 dience and fuffering in our flead, and thereby is reconciled to, and ready to bless such as believe, Matth. iii. 17. John viii. 29. If. xlii. 21. He is pleafed with men and their works, when he accepts their perfons, approves their conduct as good, and rewards it for Christ's fake, Heb. xi. 5. xiii. 16. Christ and his people please not themselves when they forego their own eafe or honour, in order to do good to others, and bear with their infirmities, Rom. xv. 1. 2. The pleafing of men, is either lawful, when we comply with their humour in things indifferent, or in doing what tends to promote the real advantage of their foul, I Cor. x. 33.: thus Paul became all things to all men, in order to gain them to Christ, 1 Cor. ix. 19.-23: or it is finful, when we flatter them, fuit our conduct or doctrine to their carnal inclinations, and fludy to please, without profiting them, Gal. i. 10. Eph. vi. 6.

PLEASURE; (i.) Delight; joy, Pfal. cii. 14. (2.) What tends to give or occasion delight and joy, Eccl. ii. 1. Acts xxv. 9. (3.) Purpose; resolution, Ezra v. 17. (4.) The command of a superior, Pfal. ciii. 21. (5.) Sensual delights, or the pleasures of fin, Is. xlvii. 8. Luke viii. 14. 1 Tim. v. 6. Heb. xi. 25.

PLEDGE; a pawn which a lender takes from a borrower, to fecure the payment of his money. No milftone was ever to be taken in pledge; the widow's ox, or a perfon's cloathing for body or bed, was not at all to be taken, or at least to be restored that very night. No Hebrew was to take a pledge from a poor man of their own nation, nor to go into the borrower's house to take a pledge for himself; but the borrower was to bring out to him what could be best fpared,

PLE [285] POE

pared, Ex. xxii. 26. Deut. xxiv. 10.—17. Ezek. xviii. 7.—12. 16.: but in direct contradiction to these laws, we find the Hebrews, in the time of Amos, lying beside their altars on pledged cleaths, in order to obtain lucky dreams, Amos ii. 8. To take a pledge for a strange woman, imports, that no body is safe to depend on the honesty of an harlot, Prov. xx. 16.

PLÉIADES; that cluster of stars, which we call the seven stars, in the neck of the confediation Taurus. They appear about the end of March. Canst thou bind the savet influences of Pleiades or CHIMA? Canst thou hinder their rise in their season? or canst thou restrain the fresh wind and warmth which attend their rise, and render the earth open, fruitful and fragrant? Job xxxviii.

31.

PLENTEOUS; PLENTIFUL; very large and fruitful, Gen. xli. 34. God is plenteous in mercy, able and ready to exercife it, in faving men from great mifery, and to great happiness, notwithflanding of great and long provocations, Pfal. Ixxxvi. 5. 15. His redemption is pleateous, contains sufficiency of pardon, deliverance, and happinefs, for multitudes of the greatest transgreffors, Pfal. cxxx. 7. The harvest for preachers is plentrous, when multitudes are ready and fond to hear the gofpel, Matth. ix. 37. The rain of gofpel-doctrines and influences is plentiful, when frequently bestowed on many persons, and in different places, Pfal. Ixviii. 9.

PLOT; to form devices, especially to hurt others, Psal. xxxvii. 12.

PLOUGH; a well-known inftrument for tilling of ground. Those of the east are so light, that two cows or two assess, and often one, may draw them. To put one's hand to the plough and look back, signifies to engage in Christ's service, particularly that of the ministry, and afterwards turn away to a worldly or wicked course, Luke ix. 26. The ploughshare, is that part of it which cuts and turns up the tilled ground, Is. ii. 4. To plow, (1.) To till the ground. (2.) To labour in a calling or work,

1 Cor. ix. 10. Prov. xx. 4. Judah shall plow, and Jacob shall break his clods; the Hebrews were obliged to hard and fervile, though useful labour, in their Affyrian or Chaldean captivity; or shall be made active in the performance of good works, Hof. x. 11. Samfon's companions plowed with his heifer, when they dealt with his wife, to get the meaning of his riddle, Judg. xiv. 18. To plow wiskedness, and reap it, is to devife and practife it, and at last fuffer the punishment of it, Job iv. 8. Hof. x. 13. To plow on the back, is to fcourge feverely, till the lashes make as it were furrows in the flesh; to persecute and torment grievoully, Pf. cxxix. 3. Zion was placed as a field, when the temple was destroyed; and it is faid, Turnus Rufus, the Roman, caused plow up the foundations of it, Jer. xxvi. 18. Mic. iii. 12.

PLUCK; to tear or draw away with fome force, Lev. i. 16. Mic. iii. 2. To pluck up, or pluck down, is to demolifi, destroy, Ezek. xvii. 9. Prov. xiv. 1.; or to foretel and threaten the destruction of, Jer. i. 10.

PLUMB-LINE, that on which the plummet of masons and earpenters hangs, for discovering the exactness of their work. The Lord fets a plumb-line in the midst of his people, and lays judgement to the line, and righteoufnefs to the plummet, when he manifests how difagreeable their conduct is to the rule of his word, and executes just judgement upon them, Amos vii. 7. 8. If. xxviii. 17. The Jews face the plummet in the hand of Zerubbabel, when they beheld the fecond temple founded and built by his direction, Zech. iv. 10. But the plummet of the house of Ahab is terrible, and almost universal ruin, like that of the family of Ahab, 2 Kings xxi. 13.

POETS; fuch as compose son verses in metre, Acts xiv. 28. The art of composing verses has been esteemed in all civilized nations we know of. Homer, Pindar, Anacreon, and Sappho, excelled herein among the Greeks; Virgil and Horace among the Latins: Tasso among the Italians; Corneille, Moliere, Moliere, and Boileau, among the French; Milton, Cowley, Dryden, Addison, Watts, Pope, Thomson, &c. among the English; and Ossian, among the Gaels or ancient Scots. It is faid the Arabs have more poems in their language than all the world befide. fongs of Moses, Deborah, and Hannah, the prayer of Hezekiah and Habbakkuk, if not also of Mary and Zacharias, Exod. xv. Judg. v. 1 Sam. ii. If. xxxviii. Hab. iii. Luke. i. and the Pfalms, most of Job, Proverbs, Ecclefiastes, Song of Solomon, and Lamentations, appear to be of the poetic kind. But after all the pains of the learned, we cannot understand the rules of their metre; nor can we say if they attended to any fixed rules: and the truth is, no rules in the world will render a man a true poet, who has not a proper stock of imagery and fire in his own mind. Besides the unequalled fire and bold strokes of imagery in scripture-poems, their principal excellency is their being calculated to promote the honour of God, and the everlasting happiness of mankind; whereas many other poems ferve only to drefs up folly and vice, and render monsters of lust or other wich idness apparently amiable.

POINT; (1.) The sharp top of any thing, Jer. xvii. 1.; and fo when any thing is near to another, it is faid to be at the point of it, John iv. 47. (2.) A particular part or article, however fmall, Jam. ii. 10.

POISON, or VENOM. That there is a variety of vegetable and mineral poisons, as hemlock, arsenic, &c. is sufficiently known; but what the scripture calls poison, is that liquor which asps, ferpents, dragons, vipers, &c. convey by their sting and bite, for the killing of other animals. What is deathful and poisonous to some animals, is harmless and medicinal to others. Wickedness in false doctrine, wicked language, or evil courses, are likened to poison or nenom; how hurtful and deadly to mens fouls and bodies! how finners delight in it, and are fond of infecting others therewith! how they have it in or under their lips or tongue, in their heart, and ever ready to be vented! Deut. xxxii. 33. Psal. lviii. 4. Rom. iii. 13. Jam. iii. 8. The destructive judgements of God are likened to poison; how often they come infensibly on men! how they fpread, and torment, and destroy them, Job vi. 4. xx. 16.

A POLL; a HEAD, Numb. i. 2. Ezekiel's visionary priests polling or cutting short the hair of their heads, but not shaving them, imports their avoiding every mark of effeminacy on the one hand, and every Heathenish and monkish custom of superstition on the other, Ezek. xliv. 20.

POLLUTE: to defile. See PRO-

The POMEGRANATE-TREE is of the apple kind. Its breadth is greater than its height. Its wood is hard and knotty; its bark is reddish; its leaves are greenish, inclining to red, and fomewhat like those of myrrh. Its bloffoms are large, comely, and reddish; and the cup formed by them is of the form of a bell. When the flowers are double, no fruit follows. Wild pomegranate trees are more prickly than the cultivated kind. The pomegranateapple is extremely beautiful, reddiff both within and without. Its juice is like wine, mixed with little kernels; nay, wine is frequently made of it, or mixed with it, Song viii. 2. It appears to have been anciently used to give a flavour to meats and liquors, till the juice of lemons and oranges have almost fuperfeded it, Deut. viii. 7.8. Numb. xx. 5. The rind or shell is considerably large and hard; and it feems, in Peru, is sometimes used for a barrel. The high-prieft's long robe was hung round the lower hem with bells and pomegranates alternately, Exod. xxviii. 33. 34.; and on the net-work which covered the two pillars of the temple, Jachin and Boaz, there were 200 figures of pomegranates; 96 of which were feen on a fide, I Kings xvii. 18. 42. 2 Kings xxv. 17. Did these mark the glorious and fructifying nature and influence of Jefus's righteoufnefs, office, intercession, and gospel? The faints, and their graces, particularly their humility, are likened to pomegranates; how comely, various, delightful, and all deeply affected with Jesus's blood! Song iv. 13. vi. 11. vii. 12. iv. 3.

POMMEL; a kind of bowl, or roundish knob, 2 Chron. iv. 12.

POMP; noify or gaudy appearance, If. v. 14. Acts xxv. 23.

PONDER; (1.) To confider a thing, Luke ii. 19. (2.) To observe exactly, Prov. v. 21. iv. 26.

POND, or POOL. The Egyptians had many of them; partly for detaining the fish when the Nile decreased; and partly for keeping them fresh, Exod. vii. 19. When they are called ponds of foul, either foul is put for fifb, or it imports the ponds were for pleafure and diversion, If. xix. + 10. fith-pools of Heshbon were very noted, Song vii. 4. The upper pool of Jerufalem, was that of Gihon on the west of the city, and the lower was perhaps that of Siloam or Bethefda, If. vii. 3. 2 Kings xviii. 17. If. xxii. 9. Nineveh was, of old, like a pool of water; her bustling inhabitants swarmed in her, like multitudes of fift: nor for a long time was she troubled with distress and commotions, Nah. ii. 8. God dried up the herbs and pools, and made the rivers islands, when Cyrus diverted the stream of the Euphrates, and, marching his army along the channel, entered Babylon; or when he cuts off the common people and their supporters; or when he removed every hindrance of the Jews return to their own country, If. xlii. 15. Jer. l. 38. Babylon is made like a pool of water, when the very place where the city flood is partly turned into a fen or marsh, Is. xiv. 23. He makes the parched ground or wilderness pools of water, when the Gentile world, fo long barren of goodness, is abundantly bleffed with the doctrines and influences of the gospel, If. xxxv. 7. xli. 18.

POOR. Men are poor, (1.) In outward condition, having feareely whereupon to live. As these are ready to be overlooked, despised, and injured by men, God claims the peculiar inspection of them, Prov. xiv. 31. Under the Jewish dispensation, he accommodated almost every kind of or-FERING to the case of the poor; he charged to take special notice of them; he appointed the gleanings of fields and vineyards, and the increase of the seventh year, and part of the third tithe, to be theirs, Lev. xxv. 25 .- 47. xix. 10. Christians are also charged to provide for them; and a bleffing is promifed on fuch as wifely confider their cafe and help them, Gal. ii. 10. Pfal. xli. 1. 2. 3. Prov. xix. 7. Judges are charged to do them justice, but not unjustly to favour them for their poverty, Pfal. lxxxii. 4. Exod. xxiii. 3. Lev. xix. 15. In the East, people of rank never lay up what is left of their provision at their feasts, but the poor neighbours come in and eat it all up; nay, Arabian princes often dine at their door. and call all that pass by, beggars not excepted, to eat with them, Luke xiv. 13. 21. (2.) Poor in fpiritual estate, when, however full they may be of felf-conceit, and abounding in outward wealth and honour, they are destitute of Jefus's righteoufnefs and grace, have no faving interest in the favour of God, but are contemned of him, and are exposed to everlasting misery and want, Rev. iii. 17. (3.) Poor in fpirit, who, though poffeffed of an interest in the new covenant, and all its fulnefs, are fensible of their own finfulness and emptiness, and humbly supplicate every gracious fupply from our all-liberal Redeemer, Matth. v. 3. A Jew was poorer than the priest's estimation, when he could not pay the price at which the priest valued his redemption, Lev. xxvii. 8. The poor and rich, and the poor and deceitful creditor, meet together; God is equally their former, preserver, and judge; they will quickly be in the grave, and in the eternal flate, wheretheir poverty or wealth will be of no consequence, Prov. xxii. 2. xxix. 13.

The POPLAR-TREE is somewhat akin to the willow, takes root in the same easy manner, and will grow 12 or 14 feet in a year, and in sour or sive become a large tree. There are sour kinds of poplar; two whitish kinds, the black kind, and the aspen, with tremback kind, and the aspen, with trembling leaves. Sometimes the Hebrews made groves of it, where they burnt incense to their idols, Hos. iv. 13.

bling

POPULOUS; full of people, Deut.

xxvi. 5.

PORCH; an entrance to a lodging, Judg. iii. 23. The orientals receive vifits in them both in fummer and winter, and difpatch bufinefs; and great men admit few any farther, except on extraordinary occasions, Ezek. xxxii.

30. Esth. iv. 11.

PORTERS; fuch as keep the gates of a city or house, and shut or open the same when it is proper. David appointed 4000 of the Levites to be porters in the temple, each in their respective places, I Chron. xxiii. 5. xxvi. They refided at Jerusalem and its environs, and were a kind of military guards to the temple, Neh. vii. 73. It feems the Jews had fometimes porters to watch the doors of their fneep-fold; but the porter that openeth to Tefus, as our Shepherd, is his Father, who admitted him to his office, the Holy Ghost, who by the preaching of the gospel, introduces him into countries, and the hearts of his people; or the prophets and Baptist, who foretold his coming into the world, John x. 3.

PORTION; the fhare which belongeth to one, Gen. xiv. 24. God is the portion of his people; he freely gives himself to them to supply all their need, and enriches them with every thing great and useful, Pfal. lxxiii. 26. Jer. x. 16. The Jewish nation, the church, and her true members, are God's portion; he claimed or claims a fpecial right to them, and did or doth fliew a peculiar regard to them, Deut. xxxii. 9. Pfal. exxxv. 4. Christ hath a portion with the great, and divides the fpoil with the ftrong, when, notwithstanding of all opposition from sin, Satan, and the world, he obtains a glorious church, and great honour among men, If. liii. 12. The portion of adulterers, and other finners, from God, is fearful plagues here, and endlefs destruction hereafter, Job xxxi. 2. xx. 20. Pfal. xi. 6. The portion of goods given to prodigal finners, is their natural abilities and worldly enjoyments, which they confume in the fervice of fin, Luke xv. 12. Men give a portion to feven, and also to eight, when they abound more and more in relieving the necessities of the poor, Eccl. xi. 2. They have their portion among smooth shones, when they are wholly taken with idols formed out of stones or metal, or the like, and the worshipping of them, If. lvii. 6. God's portion of the lavgiture, was an inheritance assigned to that tribe by Moses, Deut. xxxiii. 21.

POŚSESS; to hold, or enjoy, as one's own property, Lev. xx. 24. One possesset his foul in patience, when, to the advantage of his foul, he exercifeth it in a calm and constant patience, Luke xxi. 26. To possels one's vessel in fanctification and honour, is to exercife our body, or whole man, in what is holy and pure, I Theff. iv. 4. Saints poffess all things; they have an interest in all the fulness of God; they have whatever is for their real advantage; all things work together for their good; and they are or ought to be content with fuch things as they have, 2 Cor. vi. 10. The Jews possessed the Chaldeans, Edomites, Moabites, and Ammonites; perhaps many Chaldeans came to Judea with them as their fervants: the Maccabees subdued the three last of these nations; and under the gospel they were joined to the true church, If. xiv. 2. Obad. 17 .- 20. Zeph. ii. 9.

Possession, is either, (1.) The actual enjoyment of things, I Kings xxi. 19.; or, (2.) The thing enjoyed, whether lands, houses, goods, servants, &c. Eccl. ii. 7. Matth. xix. 22. God is the poffession of Ezekiel's priest; faints have a right to, and derive their help and comfort from God; and on what is devoted to him ought ministers to live, Ezek. xliv. 28. The church, or heaven, is a purchased possession; the faints are redeemed by the blood of Christ, and God is united to, and delights in them; and the heavenly glory which the faints for ever enjoy, is the reward of Christ's obedience and suffering, Eph. i. 14. The Possessors, who flew the Jews, and held themfelves not guilty, were their rulers, feribes, and Pharifees, who ruined the common people by their erroneous doctrines, wicked laws, and bad example, Zech. xi. 5.

POSSIBLE; (1.) What may be got effected, Rom. xii. 18. (2.) What is profitable and necessary, Gal. iv. 15. (3.) What is agreeable to the will of God, and confistent with his purpose, Matth. xxvi. 39. Acts xx. 16.

POST; (1.) A pillar fuch as those which support the upper lintels of doors or gates, Exod. xii. 7. Judg. xvi. 3. The Jews fet up their pofts by God's posts, when they valued and observed their idolatries and traditions on a level with his statutes and worship, Ezek. xliii. 8. (2.) A courier or fwift meffenger, for riding or running with letters, or other intelligence. Some footposts in Barbary are said to run 150 miles in 24 hours. In many countries in Afia and Africa no posts like ours are established; but for a small price a messenger may be got to run express with a letter. To convey intelligence quickly, the Persian kings had centinels placed at proper diffances, who, by crying one to another, gave notice of public occurrences. This method, however, was quite improper for fe-Cyrus therefore fettled posts that rode night and day, in the manner of ours, Eith. iii. 13. The Afiatics and others had also pigeons who earried letters, especially from besieged eities. They had posts in Babylon, that run from one part of the city to another, Jer. li. 31. Man's life is swifter than a post; continually hurries on to an end, Job ix. 25.

POSTERITY. See offspring. POT. The Orientals put their earthen pots into holes in their houses or tents, about a foot and an half deep; by which means, a few thorns, a little dried dung, straw, &c. make them quickly boil, Eccl. vii. 6. Pfal. lviii. 9. Job xli. 31. Amos iv. 11. Zech. iii. 2. To lie among the pots, is to be exceedingly defiled, enflaved, and distressed, Psal. Ixviii. 13. The Hebrews were freed from pots and burdens, when delivered from their flavish making of bricks in Egypt, Psal. lxxxi. 6. Jerufalem is likened to a boiling pot, the fire of which faced the north; by means of the Chaldeans who marched from the north, was Jerufalem befieged and burnt, and the inhabitants tormented to death, as in boiling water, or as.in a dry but red-hot pot, Jer. i. 13. Ezek. xxiv. 3.-14. It, or the Jewith state, was like a pot marred in the hand of the potter; by God, the framer thereof. were they ruined and broken to pieces by means of the Chaldeans, Jer. xviii. 6. The golden pot, wherein the manna was laid up, may denote the precious ordinances of the everlafting gospel, wherein the fulness of Christ is laid up, before, and under the special inspection of God, Exod. xvi. 33. As the fining pot for filver, and the furnace for gold, i. e. for the trial and discovery of these metals, fo is a man to his praise; by the character of the perfons who commend. him, and by his behaviour under commendations, it will appear what fort of a perfon he is, Prov. xxvii. 21.

Vot. II.

A POTSHERD, is a piece of a broken earthen vessel, Jobii. 8. Christ's flrength was dried like a potsberd; the blood and moisture of his body was extracted by the fweat, the fcourging, the nailing to, and hanging on the crofs; the confolation of his foul was with-held, and he, tormented in his Father's wrath, was like a potsherd dried in a furnace, Pfal. xxii. 15. mark mens frailty and exposure to trouble, they are likened to potsberds, or broken pots, If. xlv. q. A potter, is one that makes pots, or earthen ware, Jer. xviii. 3. God is called the Potter; he forms our bodies of clay, and forms and disposes of us as he pleaseth, Rom.

ix. 21. If. lxiv. 8.

POTENTATE; a powerful ruler. God is the only Potentate, King of kings, and Lord of lords; he is the fole fupreme Ruler of all persons and things, 1 Tim. vi. 15.

POTIPHAR; an officer of Pharaoh, the fecond in our lift. Some will have him to be his general. or captain of his guard; others will have him the POT [290] POW the chief of his cooks or butchers. He bought Joseph from the Midianites, and finding every thing prosper in his hand, he conceived an affection for him, and committed to his care the whole management of his household-affairs; but he too easily credited his whorish wife, and east Joseph into prifon. Either this, or another captain of the guard, afterwards favoured Joseph, Gen. xxxvii. 36. xxxix, xl.

Whether POTIPHERAH, priest or prince of On, and father-in-law of Jofeph, was the fame as the above Potiphar, is controverted. We think him a different person. On was about 45 miles distant from Zoan, where Pharaoh and Potiphar dwelt. Potipherah appears to have been one of the greatest men in Egypt, which Potiphar does not. Nor can we believe Joseph-would have been fond of a whore's daughter for his wife, Gen. xli. 45.

POTTAGE, in the East, is made by boiling a little slesh cut into small pieces, along with rice; slour, parsley, &c. 2 Kings iv. 39. Prov. xv. 17. Notwithstanding their large slocks and herds, the Orientals eat but little slesh.

Prov. xxiii. xx.

POUND, the fame as the Manen. See TALENT.

To POUR, SHED. When it relates to things not material, fignifies, to beflow them plentifully, and with care: fo God sheds forth the Holy Ghost, pours out his Spirit, his wrath, Sc. Prov. i. 23. Ezek. vii. 8.: and we four out our beart, when we plentifully utter the lamentations and requests thereof, Lam. ii. 19. Pfal. lxii. 8. God's love is fibed abroad in our heart, when plentifully applied and believed, Rom. v. 5. Shedding of blood, denotes a violent death, Gen. ix. 6. Heb. ix. 22.

POURTRAY; to paint; draw a picture, Ezek. iv. 1.

POWDER; (1.) Small and dry dust, Exod. xxxii. 20. The rain of a land is powder and dust, when in exceffive drought the wind tosses about the dust, instead of the fall of refreshful dews or rain, Deut. xxviii. 24. Is. v. 24. (2.) Precious perfumes beaten very fmall; and to this the interceffion of Chrift, and the various graces which the faints receive from him, and their holy exercises of prayer, prade, and good works, are likened, Song iii. 6.

POWER; (1.) Ability or strength, Hof. xii. 3. (2.) Authority, and right to govern kingdoms, cities, or classes of men, Mat. iv. 6. ix. 6. (3.) Privilege, John i. + 12. (4.) Freedom; liberty, 1 Cor. ix. 4. 6. (5.) Force; violence, Ezra iv. † 23. God is called power, because of his unbounded flrength and authority, Matth. xxvi. 64 Jefus Christ crucified is called the power of God: in the constitution of his person God-man, and in his office, and the execution of it, in ranfoming, forgiving, and converting finners, are God's strength and authority marvelloufly displayed, I Cor. i. 24. Holy Ghost is called the power of the Highest, to denote the infinite authority and might by which he acted in the incarnation of Christ, and does act in the falvation of men, Luke i. 35. Angels, good or bad, are called powers; they, when authorifed, or permitted of God, are able to do great and marvellous exploits, Col. i. 16. Eph. vi. 12. Magistrates are powers; vefted with authority, they rule over others, and are able to do much, Rom. xiii. 1. Christ has all power and authority given him in heaven and in earth; he has an ever-prevalent intercession; he has power to fend the Holy Ghost to the church, and to make angels and every creature act in fubferviency to the calling, conversion, and fanctification of his people, Matth. xxviii. 18. He puts down all power and authority, when he causes the office of magistracy and ministry to cease at the end of the world, 1 Cor. xv. 24. Jacob had power with the angel, and prevailed; by the fervent prayer of faith, he obtained the bleffing he defired, and got the better of Laban and Efau, Gen. XXXII. 28. The powers of the world to come, are the mighty influences and miraculous operations of the Holy Ghost, Heb. vi. 5. The powers of beaven shaken before Cara's coming, may may denote the fearful tokens in the fky, and the overturning of the governors of the Jewish church and state; and the celettial luminaries of heaven shaken and darkened before the latt judgement, Matth. xxiv. 29. Satan hath the power of death; he introduced fin, the eaufe of death; he terrifies men with the fear of death; and he torments them in the Second death, Heb. ii. 14. Death and life are in the power of the tongue. their words, teachers, witnesses, judges, and others, have no finall hand in occasioning death or life, Prov. xviii. 21. A woman's vail, or head-covering, is called power, as it marks her fubjection to the power of her hufband, I Cor. xi. 10. At the refurrection, the faints shall be raifed in power: their body ihall be quite active, and able to attend their foul in all her operations; for ever freed from every infirmity and da iger, and able to bear their exceeding and eternal weight of glory, I Cor.

PRA 1 291 1 PRA

PRAISE; (1.) A confession of the worderful excellencies of God, Psal. exxxviii. 1. Rev. xix. 5. (2.) A declaring of the good qualifications of men, Psal. xxvii. 2.; and the fancied excellencies of idols, Dan. v. 14. (3.) The person or good deeds commended, Dent. x. 20. Psal. exviii. 14. evi. 2. So God is the praise of his people, i. e. the object whom they praise, Jer. xvii. 14. Magistrates are for the praise, commendation, and encouragement of them that do well, Rom. xiii. 3.

PRANCE; to tread the ground, as a galloping horse, Judg. v. 22. Nah. iii. 2.

PRATE; to bubble forth a great many words, Prov. x. 8.

To PRAY; to ASK. Our prayer to God, lies in offering our hearty requests to him, either with or without words, with confession of our fins, and thankful acknowledgement of his mercies. It is either private or public, and either relates to the bestowing of good things, or the preventing of evil things, Dan. ix. It is to be made for all forts of men living, but not for the dead, whose state cannot be changed, I Tim.

ii. 1. 2. It is to be for things agree. able to the will of God, revealed in his precept or promife, I John v. 14.; and is to be performed in Christ's name, with knowledge, faith, repentance, fincerity, fervency, and perfeverance, I John xv. 18. James v. 15. 16. Pfal. lxvi. 16. xvii. 1. Col. iv. 12. Nor, if perfons have the knowledge of God and themfelves, are forms necessary; nor is there any evidence of confinement to forms of words in prayer to be found in Scripture. Our Saviour's pattern is not expressed in the same words in both places where it is found; and where it is most full, he only requires us to pray after that manner: nor have we the least evidence of the apostles ever uling it as a form; but the contrary, in a variety of instances of their prayers mentioned in the Acts, or in their epiftles. To reprefent the nature of prayer, it is called an asking, John xv. 16.; a feeking and knocking, Matth. vii. 7.; a lifting up of the foul, pouring out the heart, Pfal. xxv. 1. lxii. 8.; a looking up to, and talking with God, Pfal. v. 3. Job xv. + 4.; a wreftling with God, Rom. xv. 30.; a taking hold of God, Is. lxiv. 7.; meditation, Pfal. v. 1.; enquiring, Gen. xxv. 22.; crying, 1 Sam. vii. 8.; fighing, mourning, groaning, weeping, Plal. xii. 5. lv. 2. vi. 6. Joel ii. 17.; breathing, Lam. iii. 56.; Supplication, entreaty, Zech. xii. 10. Exod. viii. 8. times prayer is expressed by the postures used in it, as standing, falling down, Deut. ix. 18.; bowing the knee, Eph. iii. 14.; fpreading, stretching forth, or lifting up the hands, Exod. ix. 29. xvii. 11. Job xi. 13.

If we confider the express law of God; if we confider him as our sovereign Lord, our supporting stay, the fountain of all our blessings; or as the gracious, all-seeing, and almighty Hearer of prayer, and the forgiver of our fins, and bestower of favours;—if we consider Jesus as the way to God, as the intercessor with him, as the purchaser of all necessary blessings, as our instructing prophet and lofty king;—if we consider the Holy Ghost as a Spirit of adoption and prayer; if we confider the faints as friends, fervants, children, and priefts unto God; if we confider our own necessities, and the duties incumbent on us; if we confider our relations to one another; if we confider the various directions, which God has given us for the right performance of prayer; it is evident, that we cannot, without great fin against the divine persons, and without great hurt to ourfelves, neglect this important duty .-We pray in faith, when we offer our requests to God, believing that in correspondence to his relations and promifes, he will, for the righteousness and intercession of his Son, grant them, James i. 6. We pray in the Spirit or Holy Ghost, when we perform it as directed and influenced by him, Jude 20.

O o 2 r

PRE [292] PRE

The pious Jews used to pray at three stated times in the day; at noon, and at the time of the morning and evening facrifices, Dan. vi. 10. Pfal. lv. 17. Acts ii. 1. 15. iii. 1. x. 3. 9. Ihose about Jerusalem often performed their prayers in the court of the temple; othere had recourse to the synagogues; fuch as had opportunity of neither, had proseucha, or places for prayer, which were open above, except when covered with the shadow of trees, in the form of groves. The modern Jews have 19 forms of prayer, one of which is a kind of curse against the Christians. have we proper certainty that any of these forms were compiled before our Saviour's time, though the Jewish rabbins fay otherwise. Nor are these 19 confidered as proper forms, but as the ground-work of their prayers, to which additional requests are added, as the occasion calls for. They often pray with their face towards Jerusalem. Their other rites of prayer are scarce worthy of a place here.

PREACH. See GOSPEL. To preach, is loudly to proclaim the will of God, as his appointed heralds, Eph. iii. 8. The gospel is preached to the dead, &c. to mortal men, that they, through the power of God attending it, may have their sinful lusts destroyed, while carnal men condemn and perfecute them, and may, by the quickening influence of the Holy Ghost, live conformably to the image and will of God, in fellowship with him, and to his glory, r Pet. iv. 6. To preach in a proper manner, requires no small attention, in order that no fault in the pronunciation, the gesture, the LANGUAGE, the order, or matter, tend to bring the truths of the gospel into contempt; or by feeding the carnal fancy of airy fops, divert them from the important subject. To speak with an overstrained voice, or with one fo low as fearce to be heard, or with a thick and cluttering voice, or in a hafty, or a heavy droning manner; or to have the voice rifing and falling by flarts, or to have a dull uniform pronunciation, without emphafis or cadence; or to have an awkward canting tone; or to hem, hawk, and cough, between periods, can hardly fail to mar the attention, and, hence, the edification of hearers. These ought therefore to be carefully laid aside; and a natural, eafy, and graceful variation of the voice, fuited to the ideas and passions represented in the discourse, to be studied. Vitiated habits must be corrected by a proper method of reading; and to obtain this, the utmost regard ought to be had, to the points, the emphasis, and cadence, of the difcourfe. The rough, violent, foft, or tender air of expressing the emphatic words, ought to correspond with, and, as it were, exhibit the ideas spoken of; fo love ought to be expressed by a soft and languishing air; anger, by one strong and vehement; joy, by one quick, clear, and fweet; forrow, by one flexible, interrupted, and low; fear, by one dejected, tremulous, and hefitating; courage, by one full, bold, and loud; perplexity, by one grave, steady, and earnest. Or, should I add, in the introduction, the voice should be low; in narration, distinct; in reafoning, flow; in perfuation, strong. An attention to emphasis ought also to point out the figures of the LAN-GUAGE.—As difagreeable appearances of the face, and violent or awkward motions of the hands or head, as well as a motionless stillness, tempt an audience to inattention, they ought to be carefully shunned; and instead thereof, an eafy and graceful action, correspondent to the ideas represented in the words, to be fludied; particularly in the countenance, boldness, terror, joy, grief, love, delight, and other passions, fuited to the subject, ought to appear. --- When one has got rid of vitiated hahits in pronunciation and action, he will almost of course fall into a right method, if he but carefully avoid mimicking of others, and study to copy nature, attending to his own natural disposition, and to the nature of his hearers, and what tends most to arrest their attention; and if he maintain a full composure of mind, being master of his subject, and conscious that he delivers nothing unworthy of immortal fouls, or to be taught in the name of God; and especially, if he have a thorough experience, and deep impreffion on his own foul, of the important truths of the gospel, and of the worth and danger of the immortal fouls he deals with, and of the folemn account he must quickly give unto God of his management. Nay, a firm perfuasion, and heartcaptivating impression of these delightful, dreadful, and eternal realities, will make one, not altogether awkward, pronounce with a natural energy and vehemence, more beautiful, and more effectual to arrest the attention of an audience, than all the strains of art. After all, as affectation of novelty, or of antiqueness in language and pronunciation, shews one foppish or whimsical, fo a preacher's attention to elocution or language, as if thefe were the principal things, and in order to gain himfelf honour, marks him but a profane fporter with matters of infinite confequence, and a refolute deftroyer of fouls, flarving them to death with found and gesture, instead of that which is meat indeed, and drink indeed. It is not every well-delivered discourse that is worthy of a pulpit. If a preacher descant of duties, of privileges, of marks of grace, and the like, without ever explaining their nature; if in an abstract manner, he merely explain, without endeavouring to apply them to his hearers conscience; if he run on with strings of particulars, without supporting them from the oracles of God; or quote his authorities in to profule and indiftinct a manner, as one hardly fees how they answer the point; if he preaches smooth things, relative to God's mercy and goodness, or Christ's dying for men; if he explain the divine law, as chiefly relating to external vices or virtues, and mark out wicked men folely by the characters of theft, murder, adultery, malice, blafphemy, drunkennefs, and perhaps, not by all thefe; or if he is much given to handle dry controverfies, especially where his humour or honour may be displayed; or if he deck his discourse with wild airy notions or bombast phrafes, or with impertinent illustrations and strong blustering affertions, confisting of words, and almost nothing elfe, what doth this general arguing reprove? how can the word of God herein, like a sharp two-edged sword, pierce to the dividing asunder of the joints and marrow, and be a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart? How can the preacher be cleared of prophefying deceits, and preaching himself, and not Christ Fesus the Lord? Is he not a founding brafs, and tinkling cymbal?—If the time is chiefly fpent in prefaces, premifes, and introductions, or in proving what was scarce ever denied, and which none of the audience have apparent temptations to doubt of; if, in the haranguing manner, he crowd together his matter, that only the learned can trace his method; if, in a confused way, he jumble together a multiplicity of purpofes in an improper order; if, in a blundering manner, he observe a doctrine from a text, that has none, or at least a very remote connection with it, or offer reasons and arguments quite foreign to the point, drag texts into his fervice which in their native fense give him no help; or if he skip from one head or particular to another, without any decent transition; or if he retail his impertinent fimiles or dry criticisms on the original, perhaps not understood by himself; if, through floth, he infift chiefly on fubjects or particular* PRE [204] PRE particulars eafiest to himself, not confulting the edification of his hearers, and perhaps at every turn repeat his old fermons; if his subjects correspond not with the circumstances in which they are preached, a rude ignorant people being entertained with abstrufe mysteries, wicked men have the privileges and duties of faints daily founded in their ears; or subjects quite foreign to the exercise called for, are infifted on, at fasts, thanksgivings, and sacramental occasions; or if, amidst great temptations, manifold outbreakings, terrible judgements, or noted deliverances, almost nothing relative thereto is touched; how possibly can the man appear an active, prudent, and faithful minister of Christ, who knows how to speak a word in season?

PRE [293] PRE

A preacher not inspired, ought to have his understanding dilated by an extensive knowledge of philosophy and history; but, above all, ought to be mighty in the scriptures, acquainted with their original language, and having them not only at his finger ends, in his memory, but deep impressed on his heart, that believing, he may therefore speak. Though the leading truths of the gofpel ought to be his grand theme, yet in a way of earnest asking of direction from God, and dependence thereon, he ought to choose his particular subjects according to the spiritual state of his hearers, according to their capacity, and the fins abounding, temptations apparent, or duties necessary a--mong them: and according to the providential events of affliction or deliverance, of striving or withdrawment of the divine Spirit, and the occasions of fasting, thanksgiving, communicating, &c. The subject being chosen, the method of handling it ought to be natural, diffinct, eafily taken up, and remembered, and having all its parts fuch, and fo placed, as they may beft concur for illustrating one another, and the common point in which they all meet. In lecturing, one is to point out, and still keep in view, the principal fcope of the book, or paffage; his division of the paragraph, or verse, ought to be distinct in its parts, and these not too numerous, to load the memory, or confound the mind; the explication ought to be just, clear, and brief, and may, at the end, be fummed up in a short paraphrase. The practical observes ought to be important and edifying, and to contain fuch hints as were neither plainly expressed in the text nor the explication, nor are so remote, as to have their foundation fcarce visible in the passage. Whether the galloping over a whole chapter in one lecture, be it as full of matter as it will, or the defcanting on a text, as if one was making a fermon, be the most improper method of lecturing, I know not. In fermons, after a short introduction, giving a view of the context, or fuggesting some striking hint, to quicken the attention of the audience, the sense of the text ought to be exhibited in a few words, and, if convenient, by a natural and eafy division; but by no means is it to be cruelly hacked into as many pieces as a luxuriant fancy can devife. No doctrinal observation ought to be deduced, but what is plain and fimple, and clearly founded in the text; and often the text itself is more plain or emphatic than any observation which can be deduced. In explaining the point, neither the general heads nor the particulars ought to be too numerous; and all subdivifion, if possible, ought to be shauned, that the mind and memory be not confounded therewith. In placing the heads and particulars in the most natural order, and where they may best fland for casting true light on the subject, and making the fermon one truc whole, the utmost attention and judgement are necessary to be exercised, in a way of dependence on the direction of God. No doubt, a fermon ought to be every where practical, and its language feriptural, and is nothing the worfe that it be enlivened with frequent addresses to the consciences of the hearers; but a close and well-studied application is, after all, proper to fmish it. Every inference ought to be natural and important; every mark of trial plain, and clearly founded on God's word. Reproofs ought to be plain, pointed, and convincing; addreffes very warm, awakening, and cngaging; directions clear, proper, feafonable, weighty, and well enforced. In fine, the excellency of a fermon lies, in its having the word of God for managed in it, as to enlighten the mind, imprefs the confcience, and engage the affections and heart. A preacher's life, too, must be correspondent with his instructions, otherwise he becomes guilty of attempting to make his hearers believe, that all he fays is but a cunningly-devised fable: nor can he deferve the name of a preacher, who does not, by frequent and effectual fervent prayer, cry for the bleffing of God on his labours; for Paul may plant and Apollos may water, but it is God alone that giveth the increase.

PRE PRE

PRECEPT. See LAW.

PRECIOUS; (1.) Much efteemed on account of its rarity, I Sam. iii. I. If. xiii. 12. (2.) Worthy of a great price, Matth. xxvi. 7.

PREDESTINATE; to appoint before hand to fome particular end: thus God's elect are from eternity fet alide from the rest of mankind, to receive eternal life for the obedience and death of Christ, and in the way of receiving and walking in him: thus they are predeftinated to be his children by adoption, and to be conformed to his image in grace and glory, Eph. i. 5. 11. Rom. viii. 29. 30. The Calvinists maintain God's fixed predeftination of fome men to everlasting life; while the Jesuits, Molinists, Pelagians, Arminians, and most of the Lutherans, represent this doctrine as pregnant with horror. See DECREE.

PRE-EMINENCE; higher power and honour. In all things, in nature, in person, in offices, work, power, and honour, Christ has the pre-eminence above angels and men, or any other creature, Col. i. 18. A man has no pre-eminence above a beaft; as to his body, he is liable to the fame difeafes and death, Eccl. iii. 19.

PREFER; to honour or effects one person or thing above another, Dan. vi. 3. Rom. xii. 10.

PREMEDITATE; to think of, and confider a matter before hand,

Mark xiii. 11.

PREPARE; (1.) To make ready, Josh. i. 11. (2.) To fit and qualify, Rom. ix. 23. (3.) To appoint, Matth. xx. 23. (4.) To direct; e-ftablish, 1 Chron. xxix. 18. God prepares mercy and truth for one, when he gracioully fulfils his promifes, and bleffes them, Pfal. lxi. 7. To prepare the way of the Lord Jesus, is to confider the predictions concerning him, lay afide every prejudice at him, and readily receive him, as the promifed Messiah and Saviour of the world, Is. xl. 3. To prepare the heart, is to mortify its various lusts, and put it into a frame of holy submission to, and earneft longing for a God in Christ, t Sam. vii. 3. I Chron. xxix. 18. The preparations of the heart, and the answer of the tongue is from the Lord; the marfhalling and fixing of the thoughts and inclinations of the heart about civil, and much more about spiritual things, and the giving of ability to fpeak readily, diffinctly, and to edification, is from the Lord, as his free gift, and effectual work, Prov. xvi. i. The belly of the wicked prepares deceit; his foul contrives how to execute it, Job xv. 35. The Chaldeans prepared the table, when they kept a fumptuous feast, as the Medes and Persians befleged their capital, If. xxi. 5. Hebrews prepared a table for that troop and number; they erected altars, and offered facrifices to their vast number of idols, the heavenly luminaries, and others, It. lxv. 11. The preparationday on which Christ suffered, was not the preparation of the passover, for that was the day before; but of the Sabbath of the week, Matth. xxvii. 62. John xix. 14. PRESBYTERY; a court of ceclefiaftic elders, for ordaining officers and governing the church, I Tim. iv.

PRESENT; (1.) At hand, and within view, as to place, I Sam. xiii. 15. (2.) Just now, as to time, I Cor. iv. 11. God is represented as present, when he utters his mind, displays his glory, favour, or wrath, or some symbol of his existence: so he is represented as present in heaven, Pfal. xvi. 11.; in Canaan, Jon. i. 3.; in the courts of the temple, Pfal. c. 2.; in the church, Gen. iv. 16.; in his noted providences, If. xix. 1. lxiv. 1.; and in his ordinances and fellowship with him, Luke xiii. 26. Pfal. li. 11. God and Christ are present with the saints, in the ordinances of the gospel, in the influences of his grace, and continued care of his outward providence, Pfal. xlvi. 1. Matth. xviii. 20. xxviii. 20. To be present with the Lord, is to be in heaven, enjoying the immediate views of his glory, and fruition of his love, 2 Cor. v. 8. To be present in spirit, is to be near in respect of direction, will, and inclination, I Cor. v. This present world, is one abounding with fleshly delights, and with troubles, temptations, and corruptions, Tit. ii. 12. The present truth, is that which is notably opposed, and so difficult, and yet much for the honour of Christ, to cleave to, in principle and practice, 2 Pet. i. 12.

To PRESENT; (1.) To flew; and to fift in the presence or view, I Sam. xvii. 16. Acts xxiii. 33. (2.) To offer, Matth. ii. 11.; and fo a prefent, is a gift tendered to testify regard or Subjection; or to procure or confirm friendship, 1 Kings iv. 21. 2 Kings xvii. 3. It would be reckoned uncivil to visit a great man in the east, without tendering him a prefent before, or as we approach him: and one in money or other things, which we would reckon mean and triffing, will be highly acceptable there to the greatest. Kings offer presents to Christ, when they give their hearts to him, believing in, and obeying him, and give up their people and wealth to his fervice, Pfal. Îxxii. 10. Ministers prefent their hearers as chaste virgins before Christ, when, by their means, they come to appear at his judgement-feat, found in principle, lively in faith, fingle in affection to Christ, and holy in their lives and conversation, 2 Cor. xi. 2. Col. i. 22. 28.

PRESERVE; (1.) To cause to continue, Pfal. xxxvi. 6. Gen. xix. 32. (2.) To keep fafe, Pfal. xvi. 1. God is the preferver, Saviour, or observer of men; he upholds and protects them; he exactly marks and judges every inclination, thought, word, and deed. How then can they profit him? how oppose him? how appease his anger? or how can they clear themselves before him? Job vii. 20. The eyes of the Lord preferve knowledge; his watchful providence keeps up the light of nature, of revelation, and of grace a-mong men, Prov. xxii. 12. Integrity and uprightness preserve the saints; are means of their prefervation from much fin and trouble, Pfal. xxv. 21.

PRESIDENTS; chief rulers under a king, who govern and direct fubordinate rulers, Dan. vi. 2.

To PRESS; (1.) To tread or fqueeze close together, Gen. xl. 11. And so the instrument for squeezing grapes for wine, or large trough in which the grapes were trodden, and the vessel into which the wine runs from the former, are called a prefs: the last was ordinarily a subterraneous ciftern, where the wine was received, and kept till it was put into other veffels, Is. xvi. 10. lxiii. 2. Lam. i. 15. Joel iii. 4. 13. Judg. vi. 11. Neh. xiii. 15. Matth. xxi. 33. Hag. ii. 16. Prov. iii. 10. (2.) To throng or crowd thick together, Luke viii. 45. xix. 3. (3.) To urge earnestly, Gen. xix. 3. (4.) Earnestly seek to get forward: and fo to prefs into the kingdom of heaven, or towards the mark, is, with great diligence and refolution, to feek after, and take hold of God's falvation, purchased by his Son, and offered in his word, Luke xvi. 16. Phil. iii. 14. (5.) To burden; afflict, Pfal. xxxviii. 2. God is pressed under men, as a laden cart is under sheaves, when he is greatly difhonoured and provoked by their fins, Amos ii. 13.

PRESUME:

PRE [297] PRI
[ME; to be too bold and xviii. 18.; or unhappily, when fnares

PRESUME; to be too bold and daring, Deut. xviii. 20. Presumptious persons, are such as boldly commit wickedness, as they have opportunity, 2 Pet. ii. 10. Presumptious sins, are such as are committed against knowledge, warning, conviction, reproof, chastistement, Psal. xix. 13. No facrifice was to be offered for sins evidently presumptious, Numb. xv. 30. Deut. xvii. 12.

PREVAIL; (1.) To have the advantage of, or power over, Judg. xvi. 5. (2.) To rise higher, Gen. vii. 18. 20. Jesus prevailed to open the sealed book of his Father's purpofes; he had fufficient knowledge and authority for that end, Rev. v. 5. The word of God prevails, when, by the Holy Ghost, it gains the attention of multitudes, converts them to Christ, and disposes them to lay aside their sinful practices, Acts xix. 20. Jacob's bleffings, particularly of Joseph, prevailed above the bleffings of his progenitors, in the extent, the plainness, and the nearness of accomplishment. None of his feed were excluded from the bleffing, as in the case of Abraham and In his bleffing, Canaan was particularly divided, and by the increase of his posterity, there was a near prospect of their inheriting it, Gen. xlix. 26. The dragon and his angels prevailed not: the Heathen emperors, and their supporters, instead of gaining the victory over Constantine, were defeated, and reduced to the most distressful condition, Rev. xii. Wicked men prevail, when permitted to act as they please, in dishonouring God and afflicting his people, Pfal. ix. 19. Iniquities prevail against a faint, when the apprehensions of his guilt greatly affright and diffrefs him, or his powerful corruptions lead him, contrary to inclination and conviction, to commit fin, Pfal. lxv. 3.

PREVENT; (1.) To come before one is expected or fought, Job xxx. 27. (2.) To go before, or be fooner, Pfal. cxix. 147. One is happily prevented, when diffrefs is hindered, and tayours come unafked, Job iii. 12. Pfal.

xviii. 18.; or unhappily, when finares and afflictions come unexpected, 2 Sam. xxii. 6.

PREY. See BOOTY.

PRICE; (1.) The rate of any thing bought or fold, 2 Chron. i. 16. (2.) Worth or value, Prov. xxxi. 10. The price of our redemption, is the righteougness of Jesus Christ, 1 Cor. vi. 20. The price in the hand of fools, is the valuable offers of salvation, which, through pride and sloth, they contemn and neglect, Prov. xvii. 16.

PRICK: to be pricked in heart and reins, is to be inwardly convinced and diffressed, Acts ii. 37. Pfal. lxxiii. 21.

PRIDE; (1.) The highness of a mind filled with felf-conceit, contempt of God, and difdain of men, I Sam. xvii. 28. (2.) What one is proud of, as power, wealth, church-ordinances, and relation to God, &c. If. xxiii. 9. Jer. xiii. 9. Zeph. iii. 11. (3.) Perfons who are very proud and haughty, as if much more excellent than their neighbours, Pfal. xxxvi. 11. (4.) The haughty looks and words, or wicked deeds, whereby they discover the pride of their heart, Hof. v. 5. The pride of Jordan is spoiled; the trees on the banks of it are cut down, to be employed in the fiege; the cities near it are ruined, and the glory and wealth of Judea is destroyed by the Romans, Zech. xi. 3.

PRIEST. The word Cohen, fignifies one that intercedes, or deals familiarly with a fovereign. When it relates to civil things, it denotes fuch as are chief and intimate rulers under a king, I Chron. xvii. 18. When it relates to religion, Cohen fignifies a priest, or one who, by virtue of a divine appointment, offers facrifices, and intercedes for guilty men. Before the confecration of Aaron, fathers, elder brothers, princes, or every man for himfelf, offered his facrifice, as is clear in the case of Abel, Cain, Noali, Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, Job. When God at Sinai ratified his covenant with the Hebrews, young men, perhaps the eldeft fons of their princes, officiated as priests, Exod. xxiv. 5.6. The whole

Vol. II

Pp Hebrew

PRI [298] PRI

Hebrew nation are called priefts, because they were devoted to God, and much employed in his fervice, Exod. xix. 6. In the confecration of Aeron and of the tabernacle, Moses acted as priest, Exod. xl. Lev. viii. After which, the priesthood, in ordinary cases, pertained folely to the family of Aeron; and Korah, Uzza, and King Azarah, were severely punished for interfering with their work: but some extraordinary persons, as Gideon, Samuel, and Elijah, in extraordinary cases, offered facrisce, Judg. vi. 1 Sam. vii. ix. xvi. 1 Kings xviii.

None of the Aaronic family were admitted priefts, except their genealogy was well attefted, and their body found, neither blind nor lame, flat-nofed, fuperfluous in any thing, broken-footed, broken-handed, crook-backed, dwarfish, blemished in the eye, scurvy, icalbed, &c. To prevent their acting without judgement, or being a dithonour to their office, they were to drink no wine or ftrong drink when they intend-They were never to ed to officiate. leave the holy place to mourn; nor were they to defile themselves for any deceafed perfons, but very near relations, fuch as parents, brothers, or virgin-fifters; nor were they to shave off their hair, or cut their flesh even for these. They were to marry no infamous or divorced woman, but either an Hebrew virgin, or the widow of another pricft. If any of their daughters played the harlot in her father's house, fhe was burnt with fire. Their facred robes were, a linen bonnet, coat, girdle, and breeches, without which, it was death for them to officiate at the altar of God. At least their first consecration was folemn: their bodies were washed in water; their facred robes were put on; a bullock was offered for a finoffering, a ram for a burnt-offering, another ram for a confectation, or kind of peace-offering, with their respective meat-offerings and drink-offerings; part of the blood of the ram of confecration was fprinkled about the altar; another part of it was put on the extremities of their bodies, their right toe, thumb, and ear, to fignify that atonement was made for the fins of their whole man, and to confecrate them to the fervice of God. Another part of the blood, mingled with anointing oil, was fprinkled on the above-mentioned extremities of their body, and on their garments. After these ceremonies, perhaps all of them, had been repeated feven days, during which the priefts remained at the tabernacle, a fin-offering to expiate former guilt, and a burnt-offering to procure acceptance, were offered for them. Being thus confecrated, their bufiness was to take the overlight of the tabernacle and temple, and all the furniture thereof: they flew, burnt, and poured out the blood of the facrifices; they put the fliew-bread on the golden table ; they offered the incenfe on the golden altar; they blew the filver trumpets; they fupplied with oil, and lighted and fnuffed the facred lamps; they unreared and fet up the tabernacle as was proper; they bleffed the people, encouraged them in their wars; they judged of the leprofy, and in other doubtful cases, and purified the unclean; and themfelves were always to be washed in holy water before they offered any They were maintained by oblations. the facred revenues: they had the tenth part of the tithes from the Levites; they had the skin of all the burnt-offerings of the herd or flocks; they had the skin and slesh of all fin and trespass offerings for rulers and private persons; they had the shew-bread after it was removed from the golden table; they had all the people's meat-offerings, except the handful that was burnt on the altar; they had the right shoulder, breaft, cheeks, and maw of the peaceofferings; they had all the poll-money, except what was spent in the purchase of the daily burnt-offerings, flew-bread, and oil for the lamps; they had a share of the first-fruits, and had all restitutions where the true owner was not found. Befides, they received the price of devoted persons and unclean beasts; and a great many gifts at the facred feasts; and had 13 cities for residence allowed them out of the tribes of Judah, Simeon, and Benjamin. All the unblemished males of Auron's family might eat of the fin-offering and timple meat-offering. None but priefts in actual fervice might eat of the shew-bread, or pentecostal peace-offering, and that in the holy place; their wives, children; and bought fervants, partook in any place of the peace-offerings, Heb. v. 1. Ezra ii. 62. 63. Lev. xxi. xxii. 1.-13. xxiv. 5.-9. i.-x. xiii. xiv. Exod. xxviii. 40.-43. xxix. Numb. x. 1.—10. ii. 3. iv. 5.—16. vi. 23.— 26. xvi. xvii. xviii. Deut. xvii. 8 .- 13. xviii. 1.-5. xx. 1.-4. They were divided by David into 24 classes, 16 of the family of Eleazer, and 8 of the family of Ithamar; thefe ferved in their turns at the temple, I Chron. xxiv. They were generally not very active in the reformation of Jehoiada, or of Hezekiah, 2 Chron. xxiv. xxix. xxx. It feems there returned only four of their orders from Bubylon, and of these were 4289, which were divided into 24 courfes, Neh. vii. 39 .- 42. Sometimes, it is faid, about 12,000 priests resided in Jerufalem. Seventeen of them put away their strange wives, at the direction of Ezra, Ezra x. 18 .- 22. Twentytwo of them fubscribed Nehemiah's covenant of reformation, Neh. x. 1.—8.

Did these priests typify our adored Priest of good things to come? How fully attested his divine generation, and his royal descent! How perfect is his person and nature! How free from every corruption, and every weaknefs, tending to disqualify him for his work! How folemn his call and confecration by the Holy Chost, and by his own blood! How facred his robes of manhood, mediatorial office, and complete righteoufness! How extensive his charge to atone for his people; to illuminate, nourish, order, judge, bless, encourage, and purify his church! How extensive his reward, on which he and his people for ever feast in the church here, or in the heavenly state! How terrible the punishment of fuch as oppose him, and by their felf-righteous attempts study to share in his proper work! How proper for fuch as appear married to him, to depart from iniquity! And shall not such as, profelling to be his children, indulge themfelves in whoredom and apostafy, depart from him into everlatting fire ? gofpel-ministers? They must be divinely called to their work, and qualified with gifts and grace for it, richly furnished with spiritual knowledge; and be blameless, fober, temperate, holv, and prudent, wholly given to their work, not entangling themselves with the deadening affairs of this life, nor joined in marriage with impious and infamous women, nor in ecclefialtical fellowship with whorish and Antichriftian churches. Always applying to themselves the blood and Spirit of Jefus, they mult preach the great atonement, and devote theinfelves and hearers to God; and of new every Sabbath exhibit Jefus on the gospel-table, as the fhew-bread of life; daily offer the incenfe of fervent prayers; blow the gofpel-trumpet, calling and befeeching finners to be reconciled to God; founding alarms of impending danger, and exciting to make war with fin, Satan, and the world. It is theirs to explain the oracles of God; to fauff off erroneous gloffes, and to cast out noisome professors. It is theirs to bless their people, folve their doubts, purge and reftore the feandalous; equally caring for the true happiness of the poor as of the rich; and, according to their faithfulness and diligence, ought to be their encouragement from their people, and fhall be their everlasting reward, Ezek. xliii. xliv. xlv .-- Were they not emblems of the faints? Their spiritual defeent from Jefus is certain, and ought to be evident; they are free from the reigning love of every vice; they defire foundness in their heart and life; nor are they flained with habitual fcandal; they are manued to the virgin law of faith, and ought not to be members of whorish churches, nor to bewail deceafed relations as those who have no hope, or indulge themselves in excessive grief, as if earthly enjoyments were their portion. Their facred robes are Jefus's P p 2 righteousness rightcoulness and grace, evidenced in a holy, humble, fober, chafte, and grave conversation. Being called of God, and confecrated in foul, body, and spirit, by the blood of Jesus, and the oil-like influence of the Holy Ghost, it is theirs daily to wash themselves therein, and fo worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness; theirs to offer to God the burnt-offering of their whole man, mortifying every luft, and furrendering their very life to the fervice and honour of Christ; to offer the peace-offering of praise and thankfgiving, the heave-offering of prayer and heavenly defires, the wave-offering of univerfal obedience, the meat-offering of charitable diffributions, and the drink-offering of godly forrow. An atoned God is the object of their worship; themselves are living temples; Christ is their altar, which fanctifies their gifts; his Spirit and love inflame, his blood and grace falt and powder their oblations; his interceffion perfumes them. It is theirs, daily to prefent the incense of prayer and praise, and to present their good works, as shew-bread accepted in Christ; and to grow in grace and spiritual knowledge, shine as lights in the world; fnuff off every miftake in principle and practice, and to blow the trumpet, inftruct the ignorant, warn the unruly, and excite the inactive; and by their intercessions for all men, to bring a bleffing on the places where they live; -and to try the spirits, and judge themselves, and promote purity in themfelves, their families, and all around them.—How rich their reward! they live on Jesus, our divine and all-comprehensive oblation; and to them angels and men do fervice; and even troubles and temptations work an exceeding and eternal weight of glory, 1 Pet. ii. 5. 9. Rev. i. 6.

Sometimes we read, as if there were several CHIEF PRIESTS at once; for the leaders of the 24 classes were so called: the second priest or sagan, who officiated instead of the high-priest, in case of his sickness or defilement, was also called a chief priest. About the time of our Saviour too, as the high priests were put in and out by the civil governors, there was fometimes a variety of persons in life who had been high priefts. But, according to order, there was but one HIGH PRIEST at He was the most honourable person of the sacerdotal family, and was allowed to marry none but a respectable virgin, nor to mouan or defile himfelf for any relation, however near. Befides his fuit of apparel common to him with his brethren, and which he wore on the day of expiation, he had other robes called the golden garments, and which he wore while attending his ordinary employment. This fuit confifted of breeches, and an embroidered coat of fine linen, with a girdle of filk and fine twined linen to fasten it. Over this was a blue robe, hanging down to his feet, and its lower hem hung round alternately with bells and embroidered pomegranates. Above this were put on the short robes of the ephod, with the breast-plate of judgement; and on his head was a golden mitre, inferibed with Holiness to the Lord. Every high priest had his head plentifully anointed with oil when he was confecrated. He had his lodging in an apartment of the tabernacle or temple, or near to it. fides his right to interfere with the work of the other prietls, he was the supreme judge of all controversies in the Jewish church, and directed all his brethren in their work. Perhaps he alone made atonement for other priests. It is certain he alone entered the Holy of holies, and performed the whole work of expiation for Ifrael on their annual FAST, Exod. XXVIII. XXIX. 6. Lev. XXI. 10. 11. 12. viii. ix. xvi.

From the death of Aaron to the last destruction of Jerusalem, the high priesthood, except for about 120 years, continued in the samily of Eleazar. Phinehas, Abishua, Bukki, and Uzzi, were of this line: but instead of Zerahiah, Meraioth, Amariah, and Abistub, their descendants; Eli, Ahitub, Ahiah, Ahimelech, and Abiathar, of the samily of Ithamar, had the office of high priesthood. When Abiathar was deposed, it reverted to the samily of Eleazar. Zadok,

PRI [301] PRI

Zadok, Ahimaaz, Azariah or Amariah, Johanan or Jehoiada, Azariah, perhaps the fame as the Zechariah murdered by Joath, Amariah or Azariali, who withflood King AZARIAII, Ahitub, Zadok, Urijah, who made the idolatrous altar for Ahab, Shallum, Azariah, Hilkiah, Seraiah, Jehozadak, Jeshua, Joiakim, Eliashib, Joiada, Jonathan, Jaddua, officiated from A. M. 2514 to 3682. To these succeeded Onias, Simon the Juft, Eleazar, Manaffeh, Onias, Simon, Onias, Jafon, Menelaus, Lyfimachus, Alcimus, the last four of whom were most abandoned wretches, and bought the office over one another's head, from the Heathen monarch of Syria. To them fucceeded, in the family of the Maccabees, Judas, Jonathan, Simon, Hircanus, Aristobulus, Janneus, Hircanus, Aristobulus his usurping brother, and Antigonus his usurping nephew: these were both high priests and civil rulers; but had not by birthright a claim to the office. them fucceeded, from A. M. 3964 to 4072, various others, noted for nothing but diforder in their entrance or wickednefs in their management, viz. Anancel, Ariflobulus, Jefus, Simon, Matthias, Boethus, Joazar, Eleazar, Jefus, Annas, Ishmael, Eleazar the fon of Annas, Simon, Caiaphas, Jonathan the fon of Annas, Theophilus, Simon, Matthias the fon of Annas, Elioneus, Ananias, Ishmael, Joseph, Ananias the son of Annas, Jefus, Matthias, and Phanias. Since the last, there has been no occafion for priefts, either supreme or subordinate, their city and temple having lain in ruins.

Were not the Hebrew high priests notable types of our Redeemer? He is the first-begotten, an elder brother of God's spiritual family of chosen priests. He directs his people; offers facrifice for them: and by his blood and Spirit consecrates them to God. How transcendent his unction to and preparation for his work! He wears his manhood and executes his office in the double estate of debasement and glory. How shining are his robes of righteousness, and garments of salvation! and how fixed for ever, as on his shoulder and heart, are all the Ifraelites indeed! As he espoused a pure and virgin nature into personal union with himself. none but virgin faints and churches are really his people. On his head are many crowns; and by him, as our righteoulnels and fanctification, are we fanctified, and made holinefs to the Lord. He is the great High Priest of our profession, and of good things to come. His person, God-man, is infinitely dignified, in the facrificing and interceffory work thereof; his pricithood is the great foundation and object of our gofpel-profession, and the cause of all the precious bleffings that come upon us in time and eternity, Heb. iii. 1. viii. 1. If Christ had remained on earth, he could not have been a priest; being defeended of the tribe of Judah, he had no right to officiate in the facerdotal work of the earthly tabernacle of temple; and if he had remained on earth after his oblation of himfelf, he could not have shewed himself the true Meffiah; nor by his intercession finished his work, and rendered the shedding of his blood effectual, Heb. viii.

Priesthood; (1.) The office of a prieft, Numb. xvi. 10. The apointing of Aaron and his fons, was an everlasting priesthood; it secured to them and their feed the office of priefts for many generations, Exod. xl. 15. Numb. xxv. 13. Christ's priesthood is unchangeable, as it never passeth from him to another, Heb. vii. 24. (2.) The execution of this office: and the iniquity of the priefthood, is what was committed in performing the work of that office, Numb. xviii. 1. (3.) A class of priefts: fo the faints are an holy and royal priesthood; a company of spiritual priefts, washed in Jesus's blood, fanctified by his word and Spirit, and all of them kings and priefts to God, 1 Pet. ii. 5. 9.

PRINCE; one who, whether as the fon of a king or otherwife, is poifessed of high rule and authority. When the Hebrews came out of Egypt, they had twelve princes, to govern their twelve tribes. These princes, on twelve feveral days, offered their oblations for the dedication of the tabernacle. The offering of each was one filver charger of 130 shekels weight, one filver bowl of 70 shekels, both of them full of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering; one golden spoon of ten shekels, full of incense; one bullock, one ram, and one lamb, for a meat-offering; one kid for a fin-offering; and two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, and as many lambs, for a peace-offering, Numb. i. 5 .- 16. vii. 12 .- 89. Ten princes of the congregation, along with Joshua and Eleazar, were appointed to divide the land of Canaan westwards of Jordan, Numb. xxxiv. 17. 18. 19. David had twelve princes, who commanded the flanding militia in their respective months; and Solomon had twelve princes, who provided for his family. Thefe perhaps reprefented the twelve apostles of our Saviour, who were the chief governors and providers of provision to the Christian church; perhaps also David's mighties, though not all princes, might represent the apostles and evangelists, fo noted for establishing of the Christian church, I Chron. xxvii. I Kings 2 Sam. xxiii. David's princes contributed largely towards the expences of building the temple. Jehoshaphat's were active in reforming the country; and those of Joash active in corrupting it with idolatry. kiah's princes were active in his reformation, and gave to the people for offerings at the folemn paffover, 1000 bullocks and 10,000 sheep. Josiah's princes did much the fame, I Chron. xxix. 6. 7. 8. 2 Chron. xvii. xix. xxiv. 17. 18. xxx. xxxiv. xxxv. After Jofiah's death, fome of the princes were furious perfecutors of Jeremiah and other prophets; and some of them were not, Jer. xxvi. xxxvi. -- xxxviii. Perfons of great excellency and worth, chief officers of an army, and counfeilors in a flate, are called princes, Eccl. x. 7. If. x. 8. xix. 11. For the transgression of a land, its princes are many; the pretenders to rovalty or high power, are numerous, and foon cut off, Prov. The princes and thousands of XXVIII. 2. Judah denote the fame thing, the governor being put for the governed, or whole body, Matth. ii. 6. Mic. v. 2. God is called the Prince of the hoft, and Prince of princes; he rules over all, and in a peculiar manner was the governor of the Jewish nation, Dan. viii. 11. 25. Jefus Christ is the Prince of the kings of the earth; in his person, he surpasseth every creature in excellency; and he bestows rule and authority on men as he fees meet, Rev. i. 5. He is the Prince of life; as God, he is the author and disposer of all life, temporal, spiritual, and eternal; as Mediator, he purchases, bestows, and brings men to everlasting happiness, Acts iii. 15. He is the Prince of peace; he is the God of peace; he purchased peace between God and men; he made peace between Jews and Gentiles; he left peace to his disciples and people; and he governs his church in the most peaceable manner, If. ix. 6. Angels are called chief princes, and principalities; how excellent their nature! how high their station! and how great their influence in ruling the world! Dan. x. 13. The devil is called a principality, the prince of this world, and of the power of the air; how great his power and dominion! most men are his subiécts, and he boaftsof disposing of earthly kingdoms: he is the head of fuch angels as rove about in the air to do mischief, John xii. 31. Eph. ii. 2. The apostles, ministers, and faints, are called princes; spiritually descended from, and authorifed by Jesus, the King of faints, and who is over his holy hill of Zion: how dignified their state, and how great their influence on the government of the world, especially in what relates to the church! Pfal. xlv. 16. The Hebrew priefts are called the princes of the fanctuary, because they ruled in, and managed the affairs of it, Is. xliii. 28. Titus or his father Vefpafian, both Roman emperors, is the prince, whose people came and destroyed Jerusalem, Dan. ix. 26. The prince of the covenant, whom Antiochus

twelve

PRI [303] PRI

Antiochus Epiphanes overthrew, is either Onias the Jewish high priest, whom he deposed, and sold the office to his brother; or Demetrius, to whom the kingdom of Syria belonged; or rather Ptolemy king of Egypt, with whom he had just before made a league, Dan. xi. 22. A PRINCESS, is the wife or daughter of a king. Jerusalem is so called, because the capital city of Judea, and a principal city in that part of the world, Lam. i. 1.

PRINCIPAL; chiefest; best, Ex. xxx. 25. The principal of the flock, are the chief men of a nation; their rulers and rich people, Jer. xxv. 34. The principal to be restored, is the thing stolen, or the value thereof, Lev. v. 5. Numb. v. 7. Principality, (1.) Royal state, or the attire of the head marking the same, Jer. xiii. 18. (2.) Chief rulers, Tit. iii. 1. (3.) Good angels, Eph. i. 21. iii. to. (4.) Bad angels, Eph. vi. 12. Col. ii. 15.

PRINCIPLE; a point of belief. The first principles of the oracles of Christ, are fuch truths as must be understood and believed, in order to introduce us into a further acquaintance with divine truth; fuch as, that in every thing we ought to make the glory of God and the enjoyment of him our chief end, and make his word the standard of all we believe and do in religion; that there is one God in three persons, who hath purposed, created, and does preferve and govern all things; that man having fallen from his happy state of holiness and covenant-friendship with God, is absolutely incapable to recover himfelf, but his falvation must be purchased with Jesus's blood, and gra-ciously applied by his holy Spirit; that being united to Christ, and justified, adopted, and fanctified, we must perfect holiness in the sear of God, walking in all the commandments and ordinances of the Lord blamcless, Heb.

PRINT; a deep and observable mark, Job. xx. 25. According to the Jews, the marks upon mens bodies, prohibited in the law, were made by cutting the flesh, and filling the incition with stibium, ink, or other collours, Lev. xix. 28. God fets a print on mens heels, when he angrily observes their fault, and takes care to prevent their escape from trouble, Job. xiii. 27.

PRISON; a place for confining mad people, or cvil-doers, Luke xxiii. In the east, magistrates ordinarily make their own house the prison for evil-doers, and make one of their own fervants jailor; to whom, if the prifoner give large fees, he, though however thockingly criminal, is fure to be treated with kindness. But if those who imprisoned one give the jailor greater prefents, the poor priloner, however virtuous, is fure to be treated with the greatest inhumanity, Jerxxxvii. 15. 16. 20. Pf. lxxix. 11. cii. 20. cvii. 10. 14. To it are compared, whatever tends to reftrict liberty, and render one difgraced and wretched, as (1.) A low, obscure, and afflicted condition, Eccl. iv. 14. (2.) The flate of restraint, wherein God keeps Satan from feducing mankind, Rev. xx. 7. (3.) The state of spiritual thraldom, in which finners are kept by the curse of the law, and by Satan, and their own lufts, If. xlii. 7. The grace, out of which men cannot move, and in which they are shut up as evil-doers, If. liii. 8. Perhaps in allusion to this, David calls the cave, in which he was as if one buried alive, a prison, Pfal. exlii. 7. (5.) Hell, where damned finners are shamefully and miferably, but firmly confined, I Pet. iii. 19. Such as are shut up in any of these, or are in a captive condition, are called PRISONERS, If. xlix. 9. Pial. lxix. 33. Job iii. 18. Paul was a priferer of Christ, in bonds and imprisonment for his adherence to Christ's truths, Eph. iii. 1. The lews in Babylon, and those finners invited to Jefus Christ, are prisoners of hope; the promise secured deliverance to the former; it offers deliverance to the latter, Zech. ix. 12.

PRIVATE; fecret; apart from others, Matth. xxiv. 3. No feripture is of private interpretation; it is not to be explained according to mens own particular particular fancy, but according to the analogy of faith, or common declaration of other fcriptures, and by the direction of the Holy Ghost: and these meet-helps he has openly granted to the church, 2 Pet. i. 20.

PRI [304] PRO

PRIVY; (1.) Secret; hidden, Deut. xxiii. 1. (2.) Confeious and confenting, Acts v. 2. To bring in damnable herefies privily, is to introduce them by little and little, or under a shew of knowledge, holiness, or gospel-liberty, hiding the real meaning and tendency thereof, 2 Pet. ii. 1.

The PRIZE in races, &c. is the reward given to him who outruns or does more than the rest, I Cor. ix. 24. The prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus, is everlashing happiness in heaven. It is the reward that God in Christ promises graciously to give to his people, to encourage them in their spiritual race and warfare; and which he for Jesus's sake gives them, after they have similarly desired.

ш. 14.

PROCEED; (1.) To go out from, If. vi. 10. (2.) To go forward in a journey, a speech, or course of actions, 2 Tim. iii. 9. Job xl. 5. Acts xii. 3. Christ proceeded from the Father; he was begotten by him as his Son, received from him his mediatorial commission, and came into the world by his appointment, John viii. 42. proceeding of the Holy Ghost from the Father and Son, denotes his inconceivable relation to these persons, as prior to himself, in order of subsistence, and his acting by commission from them in the application of redemption, John xvi. 26. Out of the mouth of the Most High proceedeth not evil and good? he commands and effects no evil of fin, but only good, Lam. iii. 38.

In PROCESS of time; after many days, Gen. xxxviii. 12.; perhaps on the Sabbath, the end of the week, Gen.

IV. 3.

PROCLAIM; to give public notice of a matter, that all may know it. The name of the Lord is proclaimed, when his excellencies and mighty works are openly and loudly declared, Exod.

XXXIII. 19. A PROCLAMATION, is the giving of public notice of the will of a fuperior, by an herald or crier, Dan. v. 29.

PROCURE; to get; bring on, Jer.

ii. 17. Prov. xi. 27.

PRODUCE; to bring forth. To produce our cause, and bring forth our strong reasons before God, is to say all we justly can, in defence of ourselves and our conduct. If the same our conduct the same out of the same out our conduct the same out of the same out and our conduct, If. xli. 21.

PROFANE; not holy, but allowed for common use, Ezek. xlii. 20. xlviii. 15. Profane fables or babblings, are notions and speeches, obscene, Heathenish, and tending to bring reproach on the true religion, I Tim. iv. 7. vi. Profane persons, are such as defile themselves, by shameful actions, particularly a contempt of things facred, Lev. xxi. 7. Ezek. xxi. 25. Esau rendered himself profane, by despising his birth-right, and the promife of the Messiah thereto annexed, Heb. xii. 16. To POLLUTE things, is to defile them; and to PROFANE, is to use them as base or common, Lev. xxii. 15. Ezek. xxiv. 21. God and his name are profaned or polluted, when any thing whereby he makes himself known, as his authority, ordinances, &c. are ufed in an irreverent manner, and to promote fome finful end of error or wickedness, Lev. xviii. 21. Ezek. xiii. 9. God's Sabbaths, fanctuary, ordinances, and statutes, are profaned, when not ufed in the manner he requires, but improven to promote carnal or idolatrous purpofes, Lev. xxi. 12. xxii. 7. Neh. xiii. 17. Pfal. lxxxix. † 31. Ezek. xx. 13. Zeph. iii. 4. Jer. vii. 30. God profuned the princes of his fanctuary, and polluted his people, when he gave up the Jewish priests and the people to the power of their enemies, and punished them with the most debasing distress, If. xliii. 28. xlvii. 6. The Jews profaned the holiness of the Lord, when they profituted themselves, who were his people, to finful courses; when they used his temple and altar in irreverent and idolatrous worship; and so poured contempt on the holiness of his nature. And they profuned his covenant, when they haughtily boafted of it, and, contrary to the obligations thereof, gave up themselves to wicked practices, Mal. ii. 10. The Chaldeans polluted God's fecret place, when they entered into, and burnt the temple, the Holy of holies not excepted, Ezek. vii. 21. Antiochus Epiphanes polluted the fanctuary of strength, when he fet up in the Jewish temple the image of Jupiter, and offered fwines flesh, made it a garrison for his foldiers, and fo a place of revelling and whoredom, Dan. xi. 31.; and fo Antichrift pollutes the church with idolatry, fuperstition, and every other wickedness.—The Jewish priests profaned the Sabbath, and were blamelefs; they killed their facrifices on it, as if it had been a common day, Matth. xii. The Jews profaned their fruit-trees, when on the fifth year, they eat their fruit as a common food, Deut. xx. + 6. Jer. xxxi. + 5. The high priest profaned himfelf, when, by defiling himfelf for his deceased relations, he disgraced his character, and made himfelf appear as a common person, Lev. xxi. A woman profaned herself, when, by turning whore, fhe rendered herfelf common, base, and contemptible, Lev. xix. 7. A priest's daughter profaned her father, when, by her whoredom, she brought a stain on his character, Lev. xxi. 9. The pollutions of this world, are the more grofs and foundalous fins which wicked men use to live in, 2 Pet. ii. 20.

PRO [305] PRO

PROFESS; to declare openly and folemnly, Deut. xxvi. 3. Matth. vii. 23. Profession is either, (1.) The truths of God, which we openly avow our belief of, and adherence to; or, (2.) Our act of boldly avowing these truths, Heb. iii. 1. iv. 14. x. 23. Timothy professed a good profession; in his baptism and ordination, and in his preaching of the gospel, he solemnly avowed his belief of, and resolved adherence to, the precious and useful truths of God, 1 Tim. vi. 12.

PROFIT; (1.) To grow better; to become more intelligent and strict; to improve in gifts or grace, Gal. i. 14. I'Tim. iv. 15. (2.) To make better, Heb. iv. 2. Our good works profit men, as they promote their conviction, convertion, holinefs, or comfort; but they cannot profit God, by rendering him better or happier, Tit. iii. 8. Job xxii. 2. xxxv. 8. Luke xvii. 10.

YOL. II.

PROFOUND, deep. To be profound to make flaughter, is to be firmly refolved, deeply engaged, thoroughly skilled, and earne flly industrious to commit murder, in the most subtle and secret manner, Hof. v. ii.

PROGENITORS; forefathers,

Gen. xlix. 26.

PROGNOSTICATORS; fuch as pretend to foretell the various events of the months of the year, If. xlvii. 13.

PROLONG; (1.) To make long, Deut. iv. 26. (2.) To ftay long in a place, Numb. ix. † 19. God's words are prolonged, when it is a long time before they be fulfilled, Ezek. xii. 25. 28. The fear of the Lord prolongeth life; an holy conversation prevents intemperance, and rash and sinful conduct, which tend to shorten mens life; and God, if it is for his honour, lengthens out the days of such as fear him, Prov. x. 27. Wicked men prolong not the perfection of riches; God cuts them offere they get their wealth brought to any considerable or intended pitch, Job xv. 20.

PROMISE; (1.) An engagement to bestow some benefit, 2 Pet. ii. 19. So God's promife is his declaration of his readiness to bestow his favours on men, 1 Kings viii. 56. (2.) The good thing promised: so the Holy Ghost, in his faving and miraculous operations, is the promife of the Father, Acts i. 4. Eternal life in heaven is called the promifes; it is the thing promifed in many of them, Heb. vi. 12. The promise to the Jews and their feed, and every one called by the gospel, is God's offer and engagement to be their God, and to render them his people, Acts ii. 39. Isaac was, by promise, procreated by God's fulfilment of his promife to his parents, not by their natural strength for generation, Gal. iv. 23. Promifes are given, when fet before us in the scripture, that we may believe them, and plead the fulfilment thereof:

 Q_q

PRO [306] PRO

and their being given, denotes their being granted to us freely, fovereignly, and irrevocably, 2 Pet. ii. 4. To obtain or receive promises, is to enjoy the fulfilment thereof, in receiving the good things promifed, Heb. vi. 15. xi. 39. The fifth commandment is the first with promise; it is the first of the second table, and is the first that has a promise of long life and prosperity to such as are obedient to itself, Eph. vi. 2. promifes of God are either absolute, whose fulfilment depends on no condition to be performed by us; and, to manifest the exceeding riches of God's grace, these are generally directed to men as finful, guilty, polluted, hardhearted, poor, godless, &c. 1 Tim. i. 15. If. i. 18. xliii. 25. lv. 6. 7. Zech. xiii. 1. 8. 9. Ezek. xxxvi. 25. - 29. If. xlvi. 12. 13. Pfal. lxxii. 12. 13. 14. Jer. xxx. 22. xxxi. 33.; and fome of them, as the promifes of Christ's incarnation and death, have properly no condition at all: or conditional, when the fulfilment thereof depends on fome act or quality in us, as if we believe, repent, pray, &c. Every one of these conditions required of us, is promifed in fome absolute promise; and thus at once free grace reigns in the whole of the gospel-scheme; and yet by making fuch duties conditions of connection with fome further privileges, holinefs is mightily encouraged. As the declarations of God's grace have in them an indirect representation of God's giving the objects which they respect, they are indirect promifes; and inspired prayers, and especially the prayers of Christ, are, as it were, promises actually pled.

Some promifes relate to outward things, as of health, strength, food, raiment, peace, comfort, success to men, and to their feed, Prov. iii. 7. 8. Pfal. ciii. 5. xxxvii. 3. 11. Deut. x. 18. Job v. 24. Pfal. xci. 10. cxxi. 8. Job xi. 18. 19. Prov. iii. 24. Pfal. cxxviii. 2. 3. Deut. xxviii. 4. 5. 12. Pfal. i. 3. ciii. 17. cii. 28. xlv. 16. xxxiv. 12. 13. If. lvii. 1. Prov. x. 7. 22. Pfal. xxiii. 5. 6. Job xxii. 24. 25. 26. Deut. viii. 10. Joel ii. 26. Gen. xii. 2. Deut.

xxvi. 11. Some promifes relate to God's preventing, moderating, and shortening mens affliction, supporting them under and delivering them from afflictions, and bringing good out of them, Pfal. exxi. 7. Job v. 19. If. xxvii. 8. Jer. xlvi. 28. Pfal. xxv. 3. Mark xiii. 19. 20. Gen. xv. 1. Ezek. xi. 16. Pfal. xxxvii. 24. 1 Cor. xii. 9. If. xliii. 2. Pfal. xli. 3. Deut. vii. 13. Exod. xxiii. 25. Matth. xix. 29. x. 39. v. 11. 12. 1 Pet. iv. 19. Pfal-xii, 5. lxviii. 5. Jer. xxxiii. 3. If. xxvii. 9. Pfal. xcvii. 11. Zech. xiii. 9. But the principal promifes relate to the spiritual good things; as of union to Christ, Hof. ii. 19. 20. If. liv. 5.; of the Spirit, Ezek. xxxvii. 27. Prov. i. 24.; justification, If. i. 18. xliii. 25. xliv. 22. xlv. 24. 25.; adoption, Jer. iii. 19. 2 Cor. vi. 18.; fanctification, change of nature and life, Ezek. xi. 19. 20. xxxvi. 26. 27. 3 of spiritual knowledge, Prov. ii. 3.—6. James i. 5.; of faith, John vi. 37. Eph. ii. 8.; of repentance, Rom. xi. 26. Ezek. xvi. 62. 63. xx. 43.; of love to God, 2 Theff. iii. 5. Deut. xxx. 6.; of filial fear of God, Hof. iii. 5. Jer. xxxii. 39. 40.; of new obedience, Deut. xxx. 8.; of hope, 2 Theff. ii. 16. Rom. xv. 4.; of peace and joy, If. lvii. 18. 19. xxvi. 3. Pfal. lxiv. 10. xevii. 11.12.; and of unfailing perseverance in a state of grace, Jer. xxxii. 39. 40. John iv. 11. xvi. 19. x. 27. 28.; of an happy death, Rev. xiv. 13.; and of eternal happiness, Is. xxxv. 10. 2 Tim. iv. 8. Some promifes are permanent, fulfilling in every age: and others are periodical, fulfilled in certain particular periods; and so are prophecies, as they foretell what is future: but promises, as they ascertain the bestowal of good.

PROMOTE; to raise to higher honour, Esth. v. 11. Shame is the promotion of fools, when, instead of being raised to higher honours, they fall into shame and disgrace, Prov. iii. 35. Promotion comes not from the east, west, north, or south; not by chance, or merely by human means, Psal. lxxv. 6.

PRONOUNCE; (1.) To declare plainly, as a judge doth a fentence,

PRO 1 307 7 PRO

Lev. v. 4. (2.) To express the found of a word, Judg. xii. 6.

PROOF; a clear token of the truth or excellency of things, 2 Cor. viii. 24. ii. 9. One makes full proof of his minifiry, when, by various effays, his hearers have fufficient evidence given them, that he is gifted and fent of God, 2 Tim. iv. 5.

PROPER; (1.) Belonging to one's felf, 1 Chron. xxix. 3. (2.) Handfome; agreeable, Heb. xi. 23.; and hence the qualities of a thing are call-ed its properties.

PROPHECY; (1.) A declaration of future things, Neh. vi. 12. (2.) A declaration of hidden, obscure, and important things, Prov. xxx. t. (3.) The preaching of the gaspel, I Tim. iv. 14. Rom. xii. 16. (4.) The gift of explaining obscure passages of scripture, or of foretelling things to come, I Cor. xii. 10. xiii. 8. (5.) To join in the public praises and worship of God, I Cor. xi. 5. The prophesying of Christ's two witnesses, denotes both the preaching and the open profession of his truths, in opposition to the delusions of Antichrist, Rev. xi. 3.

A Propher is, (1.) One who foretells future events, Amos iii. 6. (2.) One who explains obscure mysteries or passages of scripture, under a peculiar direction of the Holy Ghost, I Cor. xiv. 26. (3.) One who is under special influence of the Spirit, I Sam. xix. 24. (4.) A false pretender to Ipeak under inspiration, Jer. xxix. 15.: and fo the Heathen poets are called prophets, because they were supposed to speak under divine influence, Tit. i. 12. (5.) One who declares the mind of another to the people: fo Aaron was the prophet of Moses, Exod. vii. 1. (6.) The inspired books of the Old Testament are called the prophets, besides the books of Moses, or besides these and the Pfalms, Luke xvi. 31. xxiv. 27. 44. Anciently prophets were called feers, because they had more knowledge than others, I Sam. ix. q. Sometimes God revealed his mind to his prophets by dreams, voices, visions; or fometimes he did it by an efficacious impression of his will on their understanding, and an excitement of their will to declare Enoch, Noah, Abraham, it to others. Isaac, Jacob, Joseph, Moses, Aaron, Samuel, Gad, Nathan, David, Solomon, Iddo, Ahijah, Shemaiah, the man of God from Judah, Azariah, Hanani, Jehu, Elijah, Micaiah, Eleazar, Elisha, Jonah, Amos, Hosea, Joel, Isaiah, Micah, Oded, Nahum, Habakkuk, Ze-phaniah, Jeremiah, Urijah, Ezekiel, Obadiah, Daniel, Haggai, Zechariah, Malachi, Zacharias, Simeon, John Baptifl, and Agabus, are marked as true and pious prophets. A PROPHETESS, figuified not only the wife of a prophet, as If. viii. 3.; but also a woman that forctold future things. Among thefe we may reckon Miriam, Deborah, Hannah, Huldah, Elifabeth, the Virgin Mary, Anna, and the four daughters of Philip the deacon. Among wicked prophets, real or pretended, we may reckon Balaam, and the old prophet of Bethel, who, pretending a revelation, decoyed the man of God from Judah to return and eat bread with him, and then foretold his death by a lion, for disobeying the contrary orders from God, 1 Kinga xiii. Zedekiah the fon of Chenaanah, Hananiah, Shemaiah the Nebelamite, Ahab the fon of Kolaiah, Zedekiah the fon of Maaseiah, Caiáphas, &c. Noadiah, and Jezebel of Thyatira, were two pretended propheteffes, When the priefts, about the time of Samuel, neglected the instruction of the people, schools of prophets were formed, wherein young men were piously educated, to prepare them for receiving the gift of prophecy. schools we find at Bethel, Gilgal, Najoth, Jericho, and Jerufalem, &c. which were inspected by Samuel, Elijah, Elisha, &c.; but it does not appear that all thefe young men were ever infpired, 1 Sam. x. xi. xix. 2 Kings ii. Whether the most of the noted prophets were anointed at their entrance on their office, we know not. It is certain they generally lived in a very low and temperate manner. The prefents given. them were fuch as oil, bread, fruits, honey, 2 Kings iv. 42. 1 Sam. ix. 7. 8. Q q 2

PRO [308 | PRO

x. 3. Elijah had nothing but fimple provision provided him, at the brook Cherith, and in the widow's house, or in the wilderness of Judah. The 100 prophets whom Obasiah maintained in two caves, had no more but bread and water. The Shunamite provided nothing but mere necessaries for Elisha. As there were multitudes of true prophets, fo there were no fewer false ones. Ahab and his wife had 850 of them all at once; and it appears from the prophecies of Hofea, Micah, Jeremiah, and Ezekiel, that the country of Ifrael and Judah then fwarmed with The Hebrews were therefore required to try pretenders to prophecy in the most accurate manuer. None were to be held for true prophets, except their prophecies were fulfilled, and also their doctrines and lives tended to promote the honour and fervice of God, Deut. xiii. Jer. xxviii. xxix. Mofes was fuperior to the rest of the prophets. He appears to have been habitually difposed to receive the revelations of God; and to him, God, in a more familiar manner, utto d his mind, and revealed a complete fystem of rules for his worship, and which was but explained and inculcated by a great deal of what was faid by the rest, Deut. xxxiv. 10. John Baptist was more than a prophet, as he pointed out Josus Christ as already incarnate, Mitth. xi. 9. Paul, Peter, and John, may be called prophets, as there are in their writings a variety of predictions, 2 Theff. i. ii. I Tim. iv. 2 Tim. iii. iv. 1 Pct. iv. 2 Pct. ii. iii. I John ii. Rev. iv.—xxii.—But Jesus Christ is called that Prophet; he was infinitely fuperior to all the reft, in dignity of person, in extent of knowledge, in high authority, and efficacious instruction, John vi. 14. He was a Prophet like unto Moses: How noted his meekness, his intimacy with God, and his faithful discharge of his work! by him God revealed a whole fystem of gospel-worship; and at what infinite hazard do men defpife him! Deut. xviii. 15 .- 19. Acts iii. 22. The Romish clergy are called the false prophet; theypretend to peculiar intimacy with God, and infallibility in the knowledge of his will, and to rule in his church; but deceive the most part of the world called Christian: or the false prophet may denote Mahometans, whose original deluder pretended to receive a system of revelations from God, Rev. xvi. 13.

In order to understand the prophetic parts of feripture, the following rules may be useful: (1.) The emblematic language of prophecies must be carefully fludied, particularly the emblematic names given to Christ, the church, Antichrift, nations, armies, &c. * (2.) There ought to be an acquaintance with the method of falvation, and the nature of Christ's spiritual kingdom, that every interpretation may be clearly agreeable to the analogy or proportion of faith, Rom. xii. 6. (3.) There ought to be an acquaintance with the scriptures in general, in order that the various prophecies relating to the fame point may be compared together, for their mutual illustration. (4.) There ought to be an acquaintance with the events of Providence, in order to examine what events the predictions tally with. (5.) One must come with a mind unbiassed, and humbly dependent on, and earnestly looking up to the Spirit of God, for direction into all truth, and nothing elfe; as he alone fully understands the meaning of his own words. (6.) Tho' the fende of a prophecy be but simple and not manifold, yet it may be fulfilled in a variety of sleps or events. Thus the predictions of Moses, Lev. xxvi. Deut. xxviii. xxxii. and others like, have their fulfilment in every fimilar event happening to the Jews after that time; and prophecies often respect the type, in a lower, as well as the antitype, in a more exalted fenfe. what relates to David and Solomon in their typical appearances, have their more full accomplishment in Christ. Many of those relating at first hand to the Jewish nation, have their complete fulfilment on the gospel or heavenly church. Thus If. xxxv. 10. was accomplished in the deliverance from Sennacherib's army; in the deliverance from Babylon; in the spread of the gospel by the apostles; in the deliverance of the church by Constantine; and will have a more complete fulfilment in the millennial and eternal state. Many predictions relative to the church and the conversion of the nations, relate both to the apostolic and millennial period, as If. lx. Ezek. xl.—xlviii. &c.; and have fome expressions fo high, that their full accomplishment must be looked for only in heaven. But as no prophecy can look backward, that in Rev. xxi. xxii. must respect only the millennial and eternal state. (7.) Great care must be taken to know the time of every prediction as nearly as may be, that it may be applied only to things posterior to that date; and to know the fubject of which it treats, whether fimple or complex, and to know whether it speaks of its subject in a literal or in a figurative manner, Acts viii. 34.: -and in order to know the fubject of a prophecy, we must collect in our minds all, or the principal characters applied to it in that prophecy; nay, though it should be named, we are by these to find out, whether it is taken properly, or myffically, or partly in both ways. By this rule it is eafily known, that David, in Ezck. xxxiv. xxxvii. Hof. iii. 5. means Christ, and. that Pfal. lessis. xlv. lesii. have, at most, but a subordinate reference to David and Solomon, and the principal to Jesus Christ. (8.) When a subject is called by its own name, and the whole, or principal characters, agree to that subject, we must never depart from the literal fense; as in the predictions relative to the Canaanites, Edomites, Ammonites, Moabites, Philistines, Affyrians, Chaldeans, Perfians, Arabians, Greeks, and most of those relating to the Hebrews, &c.; but if the characters do not agree with the fubject expressed by name, we must feek for a fimilar fubject, to which they can agree; as in the case of Edom, Is. lxiii. 1. Elijah, Mal. iv. 5. David, Jer. xxx. 20. (9.) The order in which things stand in the prophetic books often direct us to the period and things to which the predictions belong. Thus, as the last 27 chapters of Isaiah are introduced with the preaching of John Baptift, it is proper to understand the most part of them as relating to Christ and the gospel-church; and what follows, chap. liii. which treats of Christ's fufferings, as relating to the establishment and glory of the Christian church: and in the book of Revelation, the events relating to the feals, trumpets, vials, and New Jerufalem, must be understood as fucceeding one another. This rule, however, must be attended to with proper caution; as the prophecies are often intermi ed with addresses to the people coeval with the prophets, and with different predictions or e plications of what had been before faid a fo Revelation xii.-xxii. contains an explication of much of what had been faid in chap. viii. ix. and xi. (10.) As whatever hints Jefus and his apostles have given us, are an infallible key for directing to the fense of prophetical passages; so it is plain from thence, that whatever, in Mofes, in the Pfalms, or the prophets, can be applied to Jefus Christ, his church, and spiritual things, without doing violence to the context, ought to be fo, especially if the characters are too high for other fubjects, as If. xlii. xlix. &c. This fense will most display the emphasis of the language and the wildom of the Holy Ghost, and his testifying of Christ, and will most fuit the nature of Christ's fpiritual kingdom; and as David was a type, his cafe reprefented in the Pfalms ntay be expected to be very often typical of Christ's. (11.) From an attempt I have made, I find that an arrangement of the various predictions, fo as all relating to a particular fubject. and event be orderly classed together, and by fetting over against the same what fimilar events we can find in fcripture or other history, is of no finall use; and I doubt not, but a person well acquainted with his Bible, and with the hiftory of nations and chure' es, should find that Providence is little elfe than a fulfilling commentary on the oracles of God; and that, though miracles fulfilment of prophecies in so circumfuntiated a manner, is no less strong a proof of divine inspiration than miracles could be.

* See Sacred Tropology, p 229 .- 289.

PRO [309] PRO

PRO 1 310 7 PRO

PROPITIATION; that which atones for and covers our guilt, as the mercy-feat did the tables of the law. Jefus Christ is called the propitiation or ATONEMENT, as his complete righteousness appeares his Father, and satisfies his law and justice for all our transgressions, Rom. iii. 25. I John ii. 2.

PROPORTION; the aufwerableness of one thing to another, I Kings vii. 36. Job xli. 12. The proportion or analogy of faith, is the aniwerableness of scripture-truths one to another; or mens measure of knowledge thereof, Rom. xii. 6.

PROSELYTE; one that turned from Heathenism to the Jewish religion, Acts ii. 10. According to most authors, fome were only profelytes of the gate, who, though they renounced the Heathen idolatries, observed what the rabbins call the feven precepts of Moah, and attended the Jewish instructions, vet were not circumcifed, nor partook of the paffover. To thefe the Jews admitted hopes of eternal life; and they allowed them to dwell in Canaan; and to them they reckoned themselves al-Lowed to fell the flesh of animals strangled or dying of themselves. Of this kind of profelytes we suppose Naaman, Cornelius, the Ethiopian eunuch, and Solomon's 153,600 fervants. Others were proselytes of righteousness, or of the covenant; obliged to fulfil the whole law of Moses. At their admission, their motives influencing them to change their zeligion were examined, and they were instructed in the principles of Judaism. Next, if males, they were circumcifed, and then baptized with water, by plunging them into a ciftern, and then prefented their oblation to the Lord. Their females were baptized, and then they offered their offering before God. No boys under 12 years of age, or girls under 13, were admitted, without the confent of their parents, or, if these refused, without the confent of the judges of the place. After admiffion, children or flaves were accounted free from the authority of their parents or mafter. Some think, no Edomites or Egyptians could be admitted profelytes till the third generation, and the Ammonites or Moabites not till the tenth. But we suppose this exclusion only debarred them from places of civil government, Deut. xxiii. 1.—8.

PROSPECT; view; fide for viewing the adjacent ground, Ezek. xl. 44.

PROSPERITY; (1.) Wealth; abundance of temporal good things, Pfal. lxxiii. 3. (2.) Apparently established rest, peace, and wealth, Pfal. xxx. 9. (3.) Success in what one does, as in going a journey, in outward life, or in trade, Rom. i. 10. Pfal. i. 3. 1 Cor. xxi. 3. One's foul prospereth, when knowledge of divine things, faith in the promises, and offers of the gospel, the quicting sense of reconciliation with God, and comfortable intimacy with him, and conformity to him in heart and life, do more and more increase, 3 John 2.

PROSTITUTE; to give up a perfon or thing to a base use, as when a woman gives up herself to be a whore, Lev. vi . + 29.

PROTECT and PROTECTION, are the fame as defend and Defence.

PROTEST; to declare a matter with great folemnity and concern, Jer.

xi. 7. I Sam. viii. 9.

PROVE: (1.) To try or examine one's state, sentiments, or cause, 2 Cor. xiii. 5. John vi. 6. Pfal. xxvi. 2. (2.) To find true by trial and experience, Eccl. vii. 23. Rom. xii. 2. (3.) To manifest the truth of a point by argument, or the testimony of proper witnesses, Acts ix. 22. xxiv. 13. To make manifest what is in mens heart, by afflicting them, or permitting them to be tempted: fo God proves men, Deut. viii. 2. xiii. 3. Men prove God, when, by their continued wickedness, they put his patience to a trial how much it can bear, Pfal. xcv. 7.; or by diligence in repentance and good works, make a trial how much God will countenance fuch conduct, Mal. žii. TO.

PRO 311

PROVENDER; grain for beafts to eat. The Hebrews provender feems to have been a mixture of chopped thraw and barley, or of oats, beans, and peafe, Gen. xxiv. 25. If. xxx. 24.

PROVERB; (1.) A short sentence, containing much fense in it, Eccl. xii. 9. (2.) A fhort taunting fpeech, If. xiv. 4. Perfons or things become a proverb or by-word, when often mentioned in a way of contempt and ridicule, 1 Kings ix. 7. 2 Chron. vii. 20. Proverbs were anciently very much in use, and were ordinarily a kind of short parables, Numb. xxi. 27. Solomon spoke 3000 proverbs; but many of these never being intended for a standard to the church, are now loft. Such as remain, are in the Hebrew called mishie, parables, well preffed or ruling sentences. In the book of Pro-VERBS, we have rules for every period and station of life; for kings, courtiers, tradesmen, maiters, servants, parents, children, &c. Probably Solomon collected the first 24 chapters, and left them in writing; Hezekiah appointed fome to copy out the rest, chap. xxv. 1. Probably Solomon wrote the Proverbs in his middle age, when his fon Rehoboam was young, and in danger of feduction by whorish women and bad companions, if not rather after he repented of his apollafy occasioned by his naughty wives. The latter part of chap. i. exhibits the gofpel-call, and the terrible calamities brought on the Jews or others by their rejecting the fame. The 8th and beginning of the oth contain a representation of Jesus Chrift, in his person, office, and bene-The rest of the book generally fits. relates to moral virtues, and their contrary vices. Young people may here learn much more relative to true behaviour, than in 10,000 tomances, novels, plays, & The Greek interpreter, and for a howwed him, have used intoler. I decidom with this book, adding a veriety of hints not in the original.

PROVIDE; to look out; prepare,

Acts Anini. 24.

PROVIDENCE; prudent forefight, and tender care in managing affairs, Acts xxiv. 2. God's providence. is his holy, wife, and powerful management of his creatures, supporting them in their being and form, and governing them in all their actions, natural, civil, virtuous, or finful, to the glory of his name, and the good of his people, Rom. xi. 36. Dan. iv. 34. 35. Providence extends to every creature, but is chiefly verfant about rational creatures, in giving them laws, enabling them to obey, and permitting of fin, and in rewarding or punishing in time and eternity, as is meet; and Christ and his church are the most peculiar objects thereof, Pfal. cvii. If. l. lii. liii. The events of Providence, are either common, wherein things are produced by fecond causes in an ordinary manner; or miraculous, wherein the powers of fecond caufes are exceeded or counteracted. To imagine that the purpofes of God are, in respect of their object and plan, different from the events of Providence, is blasphemously to suppose that God acts without defign, and is obliged to do things as he can, when he cannot as he would. A careful observation of Providence tends much to increase our knowledge of the scriptures and of the divine perfections, and to render our minds composed amidst the various conditions we may be in, Pfal. civ.cvii.

PROVINCE; a country, or para of a kingdom or empire, Ezra iv. 15. The Romans called those places provinces, which they had conquered and reduced under their form of civil go. verament, Acts xxv. 1.

PROVISION; victuals, and other things necessary for maintaining a perfon or thing. Zion's provision, is not chiefly the facred food of the Jewish priests; but God's word and ordinances, affigned for the spiritual food of the church, Pfal. cxxxii. 15. vision for the flesh, is what tends to strengthen our inward corruption, and to excite finful thoughts, words, and deeds, Rom. xiii. 14.

PROVOKE; to flir up, whether

PRU S 312 PSA

to anger, Pial. cvi. 26.; or to careful concern about falvation, Rom. xi. 18.; or to love and good works, Heb. x. 24. PROVOCATION, is what tends to make one angry, as fin does God, Neh. ix. 18.; and the idolatrous offerings of the Hebrews were fuch to him, Ezck. xy. 28. Jerusalem was a provocation to God, because of the much fin there committed, Jer. xxxii. 31. Job's eye continued in his friends provocation; he was wearied and angry with feeing and hearing them fnecr at him, and charge him of hypocrify; and even in the night, the grief thereat restrained his eyes from closing in fleep, Job xvii. 12.

PRUDENT; wife; skilful in finding out truth, or managing matters to the best advantage, 1 Sam. xvi. 18.

PRUNE; to cut off fuperfluous branches from trees and vines, that they may not wafte the fap, and so render the tree less fruitful, Lev. xxv. 3.

PSALM; a fong confifting of thort fentences, where every thing luxurious is lopt off, and the manner of compofure renders it fit to be fung. When pfalms, hymns, and spiritual jongs, are mentioned together, pfalms may denote fuch as were fung on inftruments; byinns, fuch as contain only matter of praise; and spiritual fongs, such as contain doctrines, history, and prophecy, for mens instruction, Eph. v. 19. The book of PSALMS, is one of the most extensive and useful in scripture, suiting every eafe of the faints; and indeed, like their condition, which is at first much mixed with complaints and forrows, and at last iffues in high and endless praife. That David composed the most of the Pfalms, is beyond doubt. Heman composed the 88th; Ethan the Soth; Mofes the goth. Whether those under the name of Afaph were penned by one of that name, or whether they were only affigued to be fung by him, as others were to the fons of Korali, we cannot politively determine. Some, as the 74th, 79th, and 137th, appear to have been composed after the begun captivity to Babylon. The reft, including their two marked with the name of Solomon, might be composed by David, who, on that account, is called the fweet pfalmift of Ifrael, 2 Sam. xxiii. 1. In their matter fome Psalms are doctrinal, as Psal, i.; fome hittorical, as Pfal. Ixxviii. cv. cvi.; fome prophetic, as Pfal. cx.; fome confift of prayer and complaints, as Pfal. vi. xxxviii. &c.; others confift of praise and thankfgiving, as Pfal. exly .- cl. In fome, most or all of these subjects are connected, Pfal. Whether the titles of the Pialms are of divine authority, is not agreed. The Hebrew words therein mentioned are by fome confidered as names of instruments of music; or first words of fome fong; or to denote the fubject-matter of the Pfalm. We think, Mafchil always fignities, that the pfalm is defigned for instruction, Pfal. xxxii.; that Michtam denotes the precious or golden nature of the Pfalm; and perhaps all the Pfalms fo marked relate to Jefus Chrift, as Guffetius observes, xvi. lvi.—lx. Al-tafehith may denote, that the scope of the Pfalm was to deprecate destruction, lvii. lviii. lix. Muthlabben may denote, that the Pfalm was composed on the occasion of the death of his fon, or of Goliath the dueller, ix. Aijeleth Shahar, that its subject is Jesus Christ, the hind of the morning, xxii. Jonath-elem-rechokim, that David is therein reprefented as a mute dove among foreigners, lvi. Shufbanim, Shofbannimeduth, or Shufban eduth, may either fignify, that the fubject of the Pfalm is Christ and his people, who are lilies, and lilies of the testimony or congregation; or may figurify a harp of fix strings, as Sheminith does one of eight, Pfal. xlv. lx. lxxx. xii. Mahalath, may either fignify the difeate, and Mahalath leannoth, the afflecting difeafe; or Mahalath, may fignify a wind instrument, Pfal. liii. lxxxviii. Neginoth or Neginath, figuilies stringed instruments, Pfal. iv. lxi. Achiloth, wind instruments, Pfal. v. Gittith, a kind of instrument, invented at Gath, viii. Alamoth, the virginals, or a fong to be tung by virgins, xlvi. Shiggaion or Shigionoth, may denote, that the Pfalm is to be fung with diverfified tunes, or has a very divertified matter, matter, vii. Hab: iii. 1. The 120th and 14 following, are entitled fongs of degrees, probably because they were fung on the flairs of the temple; or fung at certain halts, made by David and the Ifraelites, when they brought up the ark of God from Kirjath-jearim. The Hebrews divided the Pfalms into five books, ending with xli. Ixxii. lxxxix. cvi. and cl.: the four first of which are concluded with AMEX. joining the is, with the x.; and civ. with cv.; and again dividing the exvi. and t lvii. into two, the Greek verfion, and the Vulgate Latin, differ one or two in their reckoning from us. Some arrogant Greek, too, has added one at the end.

PUN 313

PSALTERY; a musical instrument much used by the Hebrews. It was made of wood, with strings fixed thereto. It is faid to have been of a triangular form, with a hollow belly, and with strings from top to bottom, which being touched with the finger or bow, gave a very agreeable found, and to have differed little from the harp; only it was played on below, and the harp above. In Josephus's time, the pfaltery or nablion had 12 ftrings. Our modern pfaltery is a flat inftrument of a triangular form, strung from £de to fide with iron or brais wire, and played on with a kind of bow.

PTOLEMAIS. See Accho.

PUBLICAN: an inferior collector of the Roman tribute. The principal farmers of this revenue were men of great credit and influence: but the under-farmers or publicans were accounted as oppressive thieves and pickpockets. As they were at once cruel oppressors and badges of slavery, the Jews detested them to the last degree. If either farmer or publicans were convicted of oppression, the Roman law ordered them to reflore fourfold, Luke xix. 8. Our Saviour shewed a compaffionate regard to the publicans, and told the Pharifees, who were enraged hereat, that publicans and harlots, being more ready to receive conviction, itood fairer to enter into the kingdom of God than themselves. Matthew, Zac-cheus, and perhaps other publicans, became his disciples, Luke xv. 2. Matth. xxi. 31. Luke xviii. 10. — 14. xix. I.--10.

PUBLIC; known to many, Mata

PUBLISH; to make known to many, Deut. xxxii. 3.

PUBLIUS. See MELITA.

To PUFF at one, is to hifs and make mouths at him, Pfal. xii. 5. To be puffed up, is to be filled with felfconceit, as a blown bladder is with wind, I Cor. v. 2. viii. I.

PUL; (1.) The first king of As-SYRIA, who invaded Canaan, and by a prefent of 1000 talents of filver, was prevailed on by Menahem to withdraw his troops, and recognize the title of that wicked usurper, 2 Kings xv. 19 .-But who he was, the learned are not agreed. Usher, Rollin, Calmet, and Prideaux, reckon him the father of Sardanapalis; and Patrick is no lefs confident that he was the fame with Baladan or Belefis the Chaldean. Isaac Newton, and the authors of the Universal history, reckon him the first founder of the Affyrian empire. His name is a pure Affyrian word, without the least tincture of the Chaldean idiom, and is plainly a part of the compound names of Tiglath-pul-affur, Nebo-pul-affur, and Sardan-pul, his fueceffors. It is probable he was worshipped under the name of the Allyrian (2.) A place where the gofpel was preached in the apostolic age. The vulgate version call this Africa; others will have it Lybia; but I fupnofe Bochart and Vitringa are more in the right, who reckon it the fame as Philas, an island of the Nile, on the north border of Abyffinia; only I think it is put for the whole country about, II. lxvi. 19.

Pull; to draw with force, Gen.

xix. 10.

PULSE; coarfe grain, as peafe, beans, and the like, Dan. i. 12.

PUNISHMENT, denotes what: ever difagreeable is inflicted upon one for his faults, whether in a way of proper wrath, or of kind correction; Lam

Vol. II.

Rr

PUN [314] PUN

Lam. iii. 39.; but properly taken, it denotes the infliction of deferved wrath. Matth. xxv. 46. It also denotes church-censure, for correcting and reforming offenders, 2 Cor. ii. 6. In fcripture, we find a variety of civil punishments, as, (1.) Retaliation, according to which, the offender was ierved as he had injured his neighbour, stripe for stripe, an eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth, &c.; but this might be changed into some other fatisfaction, as of money, &c. Exod. xxi. 23. 24. 25. Deut. xix. 21. (2.) Fining in a certain value or fum of money. He that hurt a woman with child, but not fo as to make her miscarry; he that reproached his wife with unchastity before marriage; and he that hurt his fervant or neighbour, was fined, Exodus xxi. Deut. xxii. 13.-19. To this may be reduced whatever part of restitution was above the value of the principal, Exod. xxii. Lev. xxvii.: and confiscation of goods to the king's use, Ezra vii. 26. (3.) Scourging; so the whorish slave was to be punished. But among the Jews one was never to receive above 40 stripes at once, Deut. xxv. 1. 2. 3. 2 Cor. xi. 24. (4.) Imprisonment; sometimes indeed this was not a proper punishment, but ufed as a means to retain perfons; fo Joseph imprisoned all his ten brethren three days, and Simeon much longer, Gen. xlii. 17.—24. The blasphemer and the gatherer of flicks on the Sabbath-day were imprisoned till the Lord should declare their punishment, Lev. xxiv. 12. Numb. xv. 34. Sometimes it was proper punishment, especially when attended with feverities of another kind. Joseph was imprisoned and put in chains by Potiphar, Gen. XXXIX. 20. Plal. cv. 18. Samfon was imprifoned by the Philistines, and meanwhile had his eyes put out, and was obliged to grind at their mill. Hoshea, Manasteh, Jehoahaz, Jehoiachin, and Zedekiah, were all flut up in prifon by their conquerors; and the last had his eyes put out, 2 Kings xvii. 4. 2 Chron. XXXIII. 11. 2 Kings *xiv. 12. xx .. 7 .- 27. The prophet who rebuked Asa, Micaiah, Jeremiah, Peter, John, Paul, &c. were all put in prison for their faithfulness. Sometimes there was an imprisonment at large, as when Paul had leave to dwell at his own hired house, with a foldier that kept him. Bonds, fetters, stocks, hard fare, &c. ordinarily attended imprisonment. (5.) Plucking out of the eyes. This happened in the case of Samfon and Zedekiah, and was intended for the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead, Exod. xx:. 24. Judg. xvi. 21. 2 Kings xxv. 7. I Sam. x:. 2. (6.) Cutting off particular members of the body, as of the toes or thumbs; fo Adonibezek ferved 70 of his fellow kings of Canaan, and at last was so used by the Hebrews himself, Judg. i. 5. 6. 7. Baanah and Rechab, who murdered Ishbosheth, had first their hands and feet cut off, and then were hanged, 2 Sam. iv. 12. (7.) Plucking off the hair, was at once a very shameful and painful punishment, If. l. 6. So Nehemiah punished some who had married idolatrous women, Neh. ..iii. 25. At Athens, after the hair of adulterers was pluckt off, they applied burning ashes to the skin. (8). Killing with the sword: so Zeba, Zulmunna, Adonijah, and Joab were executed, Judg. viii. 21. 1 Kings ii. 25. 34. (9.) Crucifixion; in which the criminal being stretched, and bound or nailed to a crofs, hung there till he expired. Matth. xx ii. (10.) Hanging. According to the Jews, none but idolaters and blafphemers were hanged among them .- Some, as Haman and his ions, and the king of Ai, were hung up alive, Esth. vii. ix. Josh. viii. 29. Saul's feven descendants were hung up till they died, and a confiderable-time after, I Sam. xxi. 12. Pharaoh's baker was first beheaded, and then hung up in chains, Gen. xl. 19. (11.) Stoning to death was a very common punishment. It is said to have been used, wherever death was the penalty, and the kind of it not mentioned; as in the case of incestuous perions; defilers of women betrothed or married, or by force or while in their iffues; Sodomites, buggerers, idolaters, blasphemers, magicians, witches, Sabbath-profaners, rebellious children, &c. (12.) Burning alive. He that married, or had carnal knowledge of both mother and daughter; or a priest's daughter who committed fornication, were thus punished, Lev. xx. 14. xxi. 9. Judah proposed to punish Tamar; and Nebuchadnezzar attempted to punish Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, Gen. xxxviii. 24. Dan. iii. 21. (13.) Throwing of perfons from the top of a rock, with or without a stone about their neck, or into the sea. Amaziah threw 10,000 E:lomitish prisoners from the top of a rock, 2 Chron. xxv. 12. The people of Nazareth attempted to cast our Saviour from the top of a rock, Luke iv. 29 (14.) Beheading: fo Pharoah's baker was cut off; fo Abimelech murdered his 70 brethren; and the elders of Samaria, at Jehu's orders, murdered 70 of Ahab's pofterity, and fent their heads in baskets to him; and Herod murdered John, Gen. xl. 19. Judg. iv. 5. 2 Kings x. 7. Matth. iv. 10. (15.) Tearing to pieces alive: so Gideon tore off the flesh of the rulers of Succoth with briars and thorns. David, according to our version, tore off the flesh of the Ammonites, by causing them to pass under faws, harrows, and axes of iron, or caused them pass through the burning brick-kiln. It is also supposed, he tortured to death two-thirds of the Moabites, Judg. viii. 16. 2 Sam xii. 31. viii. 2. (16.) Exposure to wild beasts, to be torn to pieces by them, fo Daniel and his accusers were cast into the den of lions, chap. vi. The Heathens frequently exposed the primitive Christians to wild beafts, and fometimes in wild beafts skins, that they might be the more readily torn afunder. Perhaps Paul was exposed to beafts at Ephefus, 1 Cor. xv. 32. (17.) Racking or tympanizing; what this punishment was, whether that of the treffel or chivalet, or flearing alive, or the bastinado, is not agreed, Heb. i. (18.) Sawing afunder, beginning either at the feet, or at the head: so it is said Isaiah was murdered by Manasseh; and so it is certain some godly Hebrews were murdered by their perfecutors, Heb. x. 37. This terrible punishment is said to have had its rise among the Chaldeans or Persians; and not long ago, it was used in Morocco and Switzerland, if it is not sold fill. (19.) Sometimes the very houses of offenders were demolished, and made dunghills, Dan. ii. 5. iii. 29.; and so Jehu demolished the temple of Baal, 2 Kings x. 27.

PUN [315] PUR

PUNON, where the Hebrews encamped in the defert, is probably the fame as the Phanos or Phenos, which Eusebius places four miles from Dedan, between Petra and Zoar, and whose bishops we find among the subscribers in the ancient councils. Whether it was here, or at Zalmonah, that the brazen serpent was erected, we can hardly tell; but near to this place there were mines so dangerous to work, that the condemned malesactors lived in them but a few days, Numb. xxxiii.

42. 43.

PUR. See FEAST.

PURE: PURGE; PURIFY. See CLEAN.

PURLOIN, to take what belongs to another in a fecret and thievish manner, Tit. ii. 10.

PURPLE-DYE, especially that of Tyre, was much efteemed, and was much worn by kings and emperors. It was dyed with the blood of a shellfish; plenty of which were found in the sea on the north-west of Canaan, and are still found about the Carribee-islands, and other parts of America, and even on the west of England. Purple was used in the curtains of the tabernacle and robes of the priests; if what we render purple and fearlet ought not rather to be rendered fcarlet and crimfon, Exod. xxv.—xx iii. xxxv.—xxx x. The Chaldeans clothed their idols with habits of purple and azure colour. The husband of the virtuous woman, and the rich glutton, are represented as clothed in purple, Prov. xxx1. 22. Luke xv1. 19. Rrz reward reward Daviel for explaining Belshazzar's dream, he was clothed in purple or fearlet, and had a chain of gold put about his neck, Dan. v. 7. 29. Mordecai, when made chief minister of state in Persia, was clothed in purple and fine linen, Esth. viii. 15. Purple was much used in Phenicia. Exek. xvvii. 7. 16.; and the Popish cardinals wear cloaths of it, Rev. xvvi. 4. To ridicule our Saviour's royalty, his enemies arrayed him in purple, Mark xv. 17. See Charlot; halk.

PURPOSE; (1.) A fixed defign to do formewhat, Jer. li. 29. (2.) The end for which any thing is done, Neh. viii. 4. God purposed in himself, fixed his decrees, merely according to his own free and sovereign love, Eph. i. 9.

PURSE; a finall bag to carry money in, and which was wont to be in the folds of mens girdles, Mat. x. 9. Christ prohibited his disciples to take with them purse or scrip, to mark that they had no intention to acquire money, and constantly depended on God for their daily bread, Luke xxii. 35.

To FURSUE one, is to follow hard after him, either as an enemy to do him hurt, Gen. xxxv. 5.; or, as a supplicant, to intreat him earnestly, Prov. xix. 7. To pursue good or evil, is earnestly to endeavour the practice of it, Psal. xxxiv. 1.4. Prov. xi. 19. Evil or blood pursues men, when the just punishment of murder and other wickedness is hastened upon them, Prov. xiii. 21. Ezek. xxxv. 6. Psal. cxl. 11.

PURTENANCE; what belongs to any thing: the inwards, heart, liver, &c. of the paschal lamb was its purtenance, which was to be roasted along with the rest, Exod. xii. 9.

PUSH; to thrust at one, as a goring ox or sighting ram, Exod. xxi. 29. To push away one's feet, is to thrust him out of his place or station, Joh xxx. 12. To push nations, is to make war upon them with fury and violence, Dan. viii. 4. xi. 40.

PUT. God puts away sin, by forgiving it, 2 Sam. xii. 13. Christ put away sin, by satisfying the law and justice of God for it, Heb. ix. 26. Men put away the coil of their doings, when they reform from their wicked courfes, If. i. 16. They put far arway the evil day, and cause the seat of violence to come nigh, when, in hopes that affliction will be long, or for ever delayed, they give up themselves to oppression, perverting of judgement, murder, and the like, Amos vi. 3. They put away their wives, when they divorce them, and expel them from their families, Mal. ii. 16. To put on the Lord Jefus, is, by faith, to receive and improve him, as our righteoufuefs and fanctification, Rom. xiii. 14. He is put on, as to a folemn profession hereof, in baptism, Gal. iii. 27. To put on the whole armour of God, is to be in constant readiness to improve it, and defend one's felf therewith, against fin, Satan, and the world, Eph- vi. 11. To put off the old man, or body of fin, and put on the new, or the graces of the Spirit, is to have our flate and nature changed by the word, Spirit, and blood of Christ, and to repent of, and turn from fin, and be conformed to God, in knowledge, righteoufnefs, her liness, meekness, and love, Col. ii. 11. iii. 9. Eph. iv. 24. Col. iii. 10.—14.

PUTEOLI; a city in Campania in Italy; fo called from the flink of its hot waters, or the multitude of its wells. It flood about eight miles from Naples, and 100 fouth of Rome. From hence a confiderable trade was carried on with Alexandria in Egypt: and here Paul halted feven days, as he went prifoner to Rome, Acts xxviii. 13. We find feveral of its bifhops in the primitive councils of the Christian church.

PUTRIFYING; ROTTING.

PYGARG, or WHITE BUTTOCKS, is a name fometimes given to the eagle with a white tail; but, with Mofes, it fignifies a four-footed beaft. Its Hebrew name DISHON, hints it to be ash-coloured; and so it is like to be the tragelaphus, or goat-deer, whose back and sides are partly ash-coloured. It was a clean beaft; but whether the same with the pygarg of Herodotus, Pliny, and Elian, we cannot say, Deut. xiv. 5.

Q_

Q

QUE

Q U A QUAILS; a kind of birds of a middle fize, between fparrows and pigeons. They are extremely numerous in warm countries. An hundredthousand of them have been caught in Italy, within the space of five miles, every day, for a whole month. When they have been outwerried in their flight over the fea, it is faid, such multitudes of them have alighted on a ship as to fink her; but perhaps this is extravagant. They hatch four times a-year, 15 or 20 at a time, and their flesh is very delicious and agreeable. But whether the flying animals wherewith God, in the defert of Sin and at Kibroth-hattaavah, feasted the wandering Hebrews, a wind bringing fuch multitudes of them, that they were heaped above a yard high, for a day's journey, all around their camp, Exod. xvi. 13. Numb. xi. 32. were quails, is not agreed. The great Ludolphus, in his history of Ethiopia, contends, that the Shelav means locusts, not quails. To confirm this, he observes, that an army in Africa was preferred from tharving, by a cloud of locusts falling among them; that locusts often fly in fuch multitudes, as to darken the fky, and have driven nations from their dwellings; that they abound in Arabia, and are often eaten by the inhabitants, and are declared clean food by the Mosaic law; that clouds of them are easily carried before the wind; that they are more fit to be heaped around the camp, and meafured by omers, than quails; and that quail-flesh, when exposed to the fun, quickly breeds worms. To this it may be replied, that all the ancient verfions and commentators take the Shelav for quails; and the feripture calls them feathered foruls, Pfal. lxxviii. 27.; the bringing or preferving the fleth of quails and of locusts is equally eafy to Omnipotence; and there is no reason to imagine the Hebrews would have eaten to excess of locusts, or the murmurers been contented with their' difagreeable flesh.

QUANTITY; meafure; bigness; fize, Is. xxii. 24.

QUARREL; strife; occasion to do one hurt, 2 Kings v. 7. The quarrel of God's covenant, is the violation and breach thereof, which gave him ground to punish the Hebrews, Lev. xxvi. 25.

QUARRIES, out of which stones are digged: but some render Pesilim, graven images, which, perhaps, were set up near Eglon's camp, Judg. iii. 19.

QUARTER, a part of a city or country, Gen. xix. 4. Josh. xviii. 14. QUATERNION; four in company, Acts xii. 4.

QUEEN; a woman who is married to a king, or governs a kingdom, Neh. ii. 6. 1 Kings x. 1. Acts viii. 27. The church, and her true members, are called queens; they are espoused to Jesus. the King of kings, and are eminently high, happy, and glorious, in their new-covenant station, Pfal. xlv. 9. Song vi. 8. As the Chaldeans thought their empire queen governess of all other, so Antichrist sits a queen. In their prid? and carnal fecurity, the Papists boast of themfelves, as the infallible and impregnable church, against which the gates of hell cannot prevail, Rev. xviii. 7. The queen, or frame of heaven, to which the Jews erected altars, in the tops of their houses, or near their doors, and the corners of their streets, or in groves, and to which they offered incense, cakes baken with oil and honey, and drinkofferings of wine and other liquors, was either the moon, or perhaps the whole fystem of the heavenly luminaries, fun, moon, and stars, Jer. xliv. 17 .- 25.

QUENCH; to put out fire, Pfal. cxviii. 12.; in allusion to which, the allaying of thirst, by a satisfying draught of liquor, is called quenching, Pfal. civ. 11. As the Spirit of God, and his wrath, are likened to fire; they are said to be quenched, when the Spirit's influence

Q U I [318] QUI

influence is checked by the prevalence of finful lufts, I Theff. v. 19. and the judgements of God are stopped, Ezek. xx. 48. Children, as the coal of comfort to parents, and kings, as the light of kingdoms, are quenched, when cut off by death, 2 Sam. xiv. 7. xxi. 17. Men are quenched as tow, when their glory and power to hurt are eafily taken from them, If. xliii. 17. The violence of fire was quenched, when it could not hurt Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, Heb. xi. 34. Christ will not quench faints, weak as a smoaking flax; will not destroy, but tenderly encourage and strengthen them, Is. xlii. 3.

QUESTION; (1.) A demand, to which an answer is at least feemingly required, Matth. xxii. 35. (2.) Contentions; disputes, 2 Tim. ii. 23. Queflions are either religious, Deut. vi. 20.; blafphemous, John viii. 48.; curious, Luke xiii. 23.; foolish and unlearned about trifles, Tit. iii. 9.; hard or uneasy to be answered, I Kings x. I.; captious, tending to enfuare the an-fwerer, Mark xii. 14.; hypocritical, Matth. ii. 7.; accufing, Neh. ii. 19.; reproving, 1 Sam. i. 14.; denying and affirming, Numb. xii. 2.; proud and vain, Matth. xviii. To question one, is the fame as EXAMINE.

QUICK; (1.) Living, Acts x. 42. (2.) Very fensible, Lev. xiii. 10. (3.) Very ready; and so quickly, is with all possible haste, John xi. 29. The word of God is quick and powerful; Christ, the personal Word of God, is the living God, and author of all created life, and is infinitely able to fave men, and to convince and turn their hearts as he pleafeth: the revealed word of God powerfully awakens, convinces, and converts men to him, Heb. iv. 12. To QUICKEN, is, (1.) To give natural life to the dead, Rom. iv. 17. (2.) To give spiritual life to them who are dead in trespasses and sins, removing their guilt, enstating them in favour with God, and producing in them a living principle of grace, Eph. ii. 1. 5. (3.) To restore, reinvigorate, and cheer up fuch faints as are under fpiritual languor and weakness, by giving them new supplies of grace and comfort, Pfal. exix. Jefus, the last Adam, is a quickening Spirit; as the fecond public head of men in the new-covenant, he, being poffeffed of a divine nature, and of the fulness of the Holy Ghost, is the fountain of life, spiritual and eternal, to all his members, in whose hearts he dwells by faith, 1 Cor. xv. 45.

QUICK-SANDS, or syrtes; two fands on the north of Africa, almost over against Sicily, which, either by the flime or the attractive quality of the fand, draw ships to them, or hold them fast, Acts xxvii. 17.

QUIET. See REST.

QUIT; free. To quit; to behave, í Sam. iv. g.

QUITE; wholly, Hab. iii. 9.

QUIVER; a case for holding arrows. When children are likened to arrows, the house is the quiver, Psala exxvii. 5. When God's judgements are likened to arrows, his purpose and providence are the quiver, Lam. iii. 13. When Christ, or Isaiah, are likened to an arrow, God's protection, wherein they are hid and preferved, is the quiver, Is. xlxix. 2. Sometimes quiver is put for arrows in it. Thus the quiver, i. e. the arrows from it, rattle against the horse in battle, Job xxxix. 23; and the quiver of the Chaldeans was an open fepulchre: their arrows killed multitudes, Jer. v. 16.

To QUIVER, is to pant for breath, and tremble for fear, Hab. iii. 16.

R_{*}A A try in Arabia the Happy, I suppose at RAAR AAMAH, the fourth fon of the entrance of the Persian gulf. The Cush, and who peopled a counposterity of Raamah carried on trade with the Tyrians, in spices, precious stones, and gold, Gen. x. 7. Ezek.

RAB [319] RAC

RABBAH, or RABBATH, the capital city of the Ammonites, flood near the fource of the river Arnon. It feems to have been a confiderable city in the time of Moses; and to it the iron bedstead of Og was transported, Deut. iii. After Joab had befreged it along time, and Uriah had been flain before it, David went thither with a reinforcement, and quickly after took it, and used the principal inhabitants, if not others, in a terrible manner. Some time after, Shobi, the conquered king's brother, and David's deputy in it, brought him beds for his foldiers at Mahanaim, 2 Sam. xi. xii. xvii. The city was, long after, pillaged by the Affyrians, and Chaldeans, Amos i. 14. Jer. xlix. 2. 3. Ezek. xxi. 20. xxv. 5. Ptolemy Philadelphus, the Greek monarch of Egypt, repaired it, and called it Philadelphia; and, not long after, Antiochus the Great of Syria seized it. In the primitive ages of Christianity, there was a church of some note here. prefent the place is of very small consequence. Rabbath-moab is the tame as A_R

RABBI, RAB, RABBAN, RABBON; a title fignifying master. It feems to have come originally from Affyria. In Sennacherib's army, we find Rab-shakeh, the master of the drinking, or butler, and Rab-faris, the master of the eunuchs. In Nebuchadnezzar's, we find also Rab-mag, the chief of the magi, and Nebuzaradan is called Rab-tebachim, the master of the butchers, cooks, or guards. We find also at Babylon Rabfaganim, the master of the governors, and Rab-chartumim, the mafter of the interpreters of dreams, Jer. xxxix. 3. 2 Kings xxv. 8. Dan. i. 3. ii. 48. v. 11. To keep order, Ahasuerus set a rab, or governor, at every table of his fplendid feast, Esth. i. 6. Rab is now with the Jews reckoned a more dignified title than rabbi; and rabbin or rabbim, greater than either; and to become fuch, one must ascend by several degrees. The rector of their school is called rabchacham, the wife master.

He that attends it in order to obtain a doctorship, is called bachur, the candidate. After that he is called chabar. lerab, the master's companion. At his next degree, he is called rab, rabbi, and morenu, our teacher. The Rab-chacham decides in religious, and frequently in civil affairs. He celebrates marriages, and declares divorcements. He is head of the collegians, and preaches, if he has a talent for it. He reproves the unruly, and excommunicates offenders. Both in the school and synagogue he fits in the chief feat; and in the school his scholars sit at his feet. Where the fynagogue is fmall, he is both preacher and judge; but where the Jews are numerous, they have ordinarily a council for their civil matters; but if the rabbin be called to it, he usually takes the chief feat. Our Saviour inveighs against the rabbins, whether scribes or Pharifees, of his time, as extremely proud, ambitious of honorary titles and honorary feats, and as given to impose on others vast numbers of traditions not warranted in the word of God. Matth. xv. xxiii. Since that time, God has given up the Jewish rabbins to the most astonishing folly and trisling; they chiefly deal in idle and stupid traditions, and whimfical decifions, on points of no consequence, except to render the observers ridiculous. In geography and history they make wretch-Inconfistencies of timing ed work. things, abfurdities, and dry rehearfals, croud their page. In their commentaries on the scripture, they are commonly blind to what an ordinary reader might perceive, and retail multitudes of filly fancies, fit to move our pity or contempt. The judicious Onkelos, laborious Nathan-mordecai, the famed Maimonides, the two Kimchis, Abenezra, Solomon Jarchi, Jachiades, Sephorno, Ben-melech, and fome others. however, deserve a better character. See tradition.

RABSHAKEH. See SENNA-

RACE. See RUN.

RACA; an empty, despicable sop, that is ashamed of nothing base, whoring, robbery,

RAC [320] RAH

v. 22. Judg. ix. 4. 2 Sam. vi. 20. 2

Chron. xiii. 7. Prov. xii. 11.

RACHEL. An account of her beauty; of Jacob's great love to, and marriage of her; her barrenness for a time, and fretfulness under it; her putting her maid to her husband's bed, for the fake of children; and the angry names she gave them; her stealing of her father's idols, and crafty concealment of them, when her father fearched her tent, and her after-delivery of them to Jacob; his peculiar care to fecure her and her child from the fury of Esau; her having Joseph for her first-born son; her purchase of Reuben's mandrakes; and, at last, her dying in child-birth of Benjamin, and being buried at Zelzah, a little north of Bethlehem, have been related in the article JACOB. The voice heard in Ramah, Rachel weeping for her children, and refufing to be comforted, because they were not to be found in life, fignifies, that at the Chaldean captivity, and when the babes of Bethlehem were murdered by Herod, her daughters of the tribe of Benjamin, and their fifters of the tribe of Judah, fo bitterly bewailed the lofs of their children, that their weeping was heard unto Ramah; and that if Rachel, who lay buried near by, could have rifen from her grave, she, who was fo fond of children, would have joined them in their lamentations, Ier. xxxi. 15. Matth. ii. 18.

RAFTER; the beam that bears up the galleries or flat roof of houses.

See FIR.

RAGE; a most violent fury, whereby one is put into a tumult of passion, as the sea in a storm, and is mad upon destroying what gives the offence, 2 Kings v. 12. A man's jealousty is his rage; the detection of his wife's whoredom with another, readily puts him into such a rage, as he is ready to cut off both her and her paramour, without the least mercy, Prov. vi. 34. Men rage, when they bestir themselves, as if mad and surious, and assemble in a tumultuous manner, Psal. ii. 1. Chariots rage, when, being suriously driven, they justle one against another, as the swelling waves of the sea in a storm, If. xlvi. o.

RAGS: to be clothed with them, denotes deep poverty, Prov. xxiii. 21. Our felf-righteousness is likened to filthy rags, or a monstruous cloth; it can no more adorn our foul, or render it accepted before God as our Judge, than filthy rags; but, with its vileness, provokes his detestation, If. lxiv. 6.

RAHAB; (1.) A name given to Egypt, to denote the pride and strength of that kingdom, Pfal. lxxxvii. 3. lxxxix. 10. If. li. 9. (2.) A Canaanitish harlot, or innkecper of Jericho. Some fancy the was only an innkeeper; and that if she had been an harlot, the fpies would not have lodged with her, nor Salmon have married her; but this reasoning is inconclusive. spies might not know her character when they took up their lodging; and the was mightily reformed before Salmon married her. It is certain the word zonah fignifies an harlot, and the name PORNE, afcribed to her by James, chap. ii. 25. and Paul, Heb. xi. 31. fignifies nothing elfe. wardly touched, and converted by the Spirit of God, she kindly lodged the messengers whom Joshua fent to spy the place. The king hearing of them, sent to apprehend them; but she hid them on the top of her house, and told the king's messengers that they were gone, and might be overtaken, if they were quickly purfued. She then went up to the Hebrew spies, and told them, that she believed the Lord would deliver the country into their hand, and knew that the inhabitants were already in a panic of terror. She infifted for their oath, that herfelf and her family fhould be spared when Jericho should be taken. They folemnly engaged, that every body found in her house should be unhurt, provided her window should be marked with a scarlet string. Her houfe being on the wall, she let them down from her window by a rope, and directed them to hide themselves three days in the adjacent mountain, till the fearchers for them should be returned.

RAI [321] RAI

turned. They followed her direction, and got fafe to their camp. When, a few weeks after, Jericho was taken, having marked her house according to agreement, she and all her friends, by Joshua's order and the care of the spies, were preferved therein. She joined herfelf to the Jewish religion, and behaved in a manner fo prudent and pions, that Salmon, or Salma, fon of Nahflion, and prince of the children of Judah, espoused her, and had by her the famed Boaz. The Spirit of God highly commends her faith and good works; but never the lie which she told to conceal the fpies, Heb. xi. 31. James ii. 25.

RAIL. See REVILE.

RAIN, is the moift vapours exhaled by the heat of the fun, which being collected into clouds, fall upon the earth in drops; and when it freezes in, or before its fall, it is called bail, or fnow. When it falls down as in waterspouts, the windows or flood-gates of heaven are faid to be opened. time of drought, the earth is represented as crying to the heavens, and the heavens or clouds crying to God, for his allowance to pour their moist treafures in rain and dew upon the earth, Hof. ii. 21. In Upper Egypt it seldom rains any at all. In some parts of the Perlian empire it rains little for eight months on end. .In Syria and Barbary there is fearce any rain during the fummer. In Canaan they ordinarily had a plentiful rain twice a-year. The former rain happened about September, and the latter about the beginning of March, just before their harvest, Joel ii. 23. Zech. x. 1. In the winter months, it often rains very violently, and ordinarily in the night. and is preceded by a fquall of wind, 2 Kings iii. 16. 17. Rain, when feafonable, is showers of bleffing, Ezek. xxxiv. 26. The looting of the earth in the fpring, produces a multitude of moist vapours; and in September, the withdrawing of the fun, occasioning the fall of the higher vapours on the lower, produces rain. In fome places near feas, lakes, and great rivers, the quan-Vol. IL

tity of rain is very confiderable. In Lancashire of England, the yearly depth of it, taken all together, is about 42 inches; at Pisa in Italy, about 43. Near the equator, the rains are often excessive during the summer; and were it not fo, the inhabitants would be scorehed with the heat. Thunder and lightning diffolve the clouds, and fo rain generally follows, Pfal. cxxxv. 7. Whatever is very refreshing, nourishing, delightful, and tending to make perfons ufeful in good works, as important instructions, outward bleffings, and the word, ordinances, and influences of Jefus Christ and his Spirit, are likened to rain, and bleffed showers, Deut. xxxii. 2. Job xxiv. 22. 23. If. v. 6. Pfal. lxviii. 9. Ezek. xxxiv. 26. This rain coming on mown grafs, and on the earth, may import, that it comes on persons afflicted and carnal, Ps. lxxii. 6. The remnant of Jacob are likened to showers; the Jewish apostles and believers, and faints and ministers of every nation, are afeful to promote the spiritual growth and fruitfulnessof the places they live in, Mic. v. 7. Destructive judgements are likened to an overflowing shower, to mark how fudden, wafting, and ruinous they are to a country, Ezek. xiii. 11. Whatever falls plentifully out of the air, as are and brimstone, or manna, is faid to be rained from it, Gen.xix. 24. Pf. l xviii. 24.27.

The Rainbow is never feen but when the fun flimes, and in direct opposition to him; and is formed by the refraction of his rays on a watery cloud: nor can the fun form fuch a refraction if he is above 42 degrees higher than the horizon, as then his refraction is lower than the earth. The bright rainbow is often invested with a fainter one, at some distance, and of greater extent. There are also a kind of rainbows formed by the reflection of the moon-light, or of the raging fea; but thefe last have their arms inverted upwards. One may form a kind of artificial rainbow, by hanging a black cloth opposite to the fun, and, turning his back to the fun and face to the cloth, cause water fall like a shower of rain between him and it: thus a rainbow will be formed in these drops. Whether the common rainbow, proceeding from natural caufes, appeared before the flood, is not agreed. Perhaps it did not; and then it behaved to be the more striking a token, and the more effectual to confirm Noah's faith in the divine promise, that the flood should never return to overflow the earth. It is certain, every disposition of a rainy cloud is not proper to produce a rainbow; and who knows, but before the flood, the clouds might be always fo disposed as not to form any? Its appearance, though now ordinary, continues still a divine token, that the earth shall no more be drowned with an universal flood, Gen. ix. 8.—17. The covenant of grace is likened to a rainbow round about God's throne, and about Christ's head; this glorious display of the excellencies of the Sun of righteousness, whereby all our clouds of trouble and wretchedness are illuminated, is our undoubted fecurity against the overflowing vengeance of God; and Jesus and his Father ever delight in and attend to it in all their dispensations of providence, Rev. iv. 3.

RAISE; (1.) To lift up, I Sam. ii. 8. (2.) To invent, or relate, Exod. xxiii. 1. (3.) To beget, Gen. xxxviii. 8. (4.) To keep in remembrance, Ruth iv. 5. (5.) To call and fit perfons to perform a piece of work, Judg. ii. 16. (6.) To build; repair, If. xxiii. 13. (7.) To rouse; stir up, Psal. cvii. 25. Acts xxiv. 12. God raifed up Pharaoh to his dignity with a view to display his power in bringing him low; he permitted him to stand obstinate; he suffered him to continue in life, while many were cut off, with a view to display his power in ruining him at the Red sea, Rom. ix. 18. Exod. ix.

RAISINS; a well-known kind of dried grapes. The largest are those of Damascus, a bunch of which will sometimes weigh 25 pounds; but their taste is faintish, and not very agreeable. The Spanish raisins of the sun are also noted. The spirit of raisins is very useful to distillers in rectifying their liquors.

Raifins fermented with water produce a kind of wine; and a kind of brandy is extracted from them.

RAM is fometimes put for ARAM.

· · · See sheep.

RAMAH, or RAMATHAIM; a city of Benjamin, about fix miles northward from Jerusalem, Josh. xviii. 25.; not far distant from Geba and Gibeah, Is. x. 29. Hof. v. 8. Near to it Deborah dwelt, Judg. iv. 5. Elkanah and Samuel refided in it, I Sam. i. 1. 19. vii. 17. viii. 4. xxv. 1.; and at Najoth, or the meadows of Ramah, was a college of young prophets, I Sam. xix. As it flood in a pass between the kingdom of Ifrael and Judah, Baasha king of Ifrael feized it, and began to fortify it, that none of his subjects might pass that way into the kingdom of Judah, I Kings xv. 17. 21. The inhabitants were terribly affrighted when Sennacherib marched this way against Hezekiah, Hof. v. 8. If. x. 29. Here Nebuzaradan, the Chaldean general, difposed of his Jewish prisoners after their capital was taken, which occasioned a dreadful mourning to the daughters of Rachel, Jer. xl. 1. 2. 3. xxxi. 15. Ramah was afterwards rebuilt by its inhabitants who returned from Babylon, Neh. vii. 30. xi. 33. There was another Ramah on the west border of Naphtali, Josh. xix. 36.; and a Ramath or Ramoth, which we suppose the same as Baalath-beer, in the lot of Simeon, Josh. xix. 8. I Sam. xxx. 27. see Gi-LEAD; and a Ramoth, Remeth, or Jarmuth, in the lot of Islachar, Josh.xix. 21.

RAMESES. See PITHOM.

RAMPART; a fence to a city. The Mediterranean fea, or rather the river Nile, was a rampart, that defended the city of No, Nah. iii. 8.

RANGE; to go up and down at pleasure, Prov. xxviii. 11. Range of the mountains, is any place on or about them, Job xxxviii. 8.

Ranges; ranks of men, who were as protecting rails about the king, 2 Kings xi. 8.

RANK; (1.) Order; flation, 1 Chron. xii. 33. (2.) High-grown and fruitful, Gen. xli. 5.

RANSOM:

RAN [323] REA

RANSOM; (1.) The price paid for the pardon of an offence, or the redemption of a flave or captive, Prov. vi. 35. Exod. xxi. 30. (2.) A bribe, 1 Sam. xii. + 3. To prevent the plague, and make ceremonial atonement for their fouls, every male Hebrew come to age, paid half a shekel yearly, as a ranfoin, Exod. xxx. 12. The obedience and death of Christ are the only proper ranfom and price of our deliverance from fin and mifery, Matth. xx. 28. Job xxxiii. 24. Egypt and Seba were a ransom for the Jews; God recompensed Cyrus's gracious deliverance of the Jews, by giving him the wealth of the Egyptians and Sabeans, If. xliii. 3. The wicked is a ransom for the righteous, when he is punished, in order that the righteous may be delivered and preferved, Prov. xxi. 18. A man's riches are the ranfom of his life; they are the means of his support, and which he would give to preferve an endangered life; and fometimes they are the occafion of attempts against his life, Prov. ziii. 8. To ransom, is to deliver, RE-DEEM from bondage and mifery, by price or power, Jer. xxxi. 11. Hof. XIII. 14.

RARE; uncommon; very difficult,

Dan. ii. 11.

RASE; to demolish completely,

Pfal. cxxxvii. 7.

RASOR. Doeg's tongue was like a deceitful rafor, which, under pretence of cutting the hair and smoothing the sace, cuts the throat: he pretended to clear himself from disloyalty, but really intended to expose the priests, as friends of David, to the fury of Saul, Psal. lii. 2. The Assyrians and Chaldeans were God's hired rafor; providentially hired with the spoils, to cut off multitudes of the Jews, Is. vii. 20.

RAVEN; a bird of prey, ceremonially unclean, Lev. xi. 15. It is of the bigness of a common hen, and of a black colour, with a bluish back. Its head is small, depressed on the crown, and flattened on the sides. Its eyes are bright, large, and piercing, and can see far. Its beak is pretty long and thick, somewhat ridged on the back, and sharp at the point. We are not certain if old ravens either forfake or expel their young from their nest, as some affirm. The raven fent forth by Noah to try if the waters were dried up from off the earth, returned not to him, as it could live on the floating carrion: true emblem of wicked men, who, delighting in finful and fenfual pleafures, refuse to come to Jesus and his newcovenant state, Gen. viii. 6. 7. Tho ready to devour every thing themfelves, ravens, directed by God, nourished the prophet Elijah at Cherith, with bread and flesh every morning. To pretend with fome, that the HHOREBIM were not ravens, but Arabian merchants, or inhabitants of Oreb, shows only a fondness to rob God of the honour of the miracle. And we may add, why did not these pretended seeders bring him water, after the brook was dried, as long as they had any for themselves?

I Kings xvii. 4. 6. To RAVEN; to fearch for prey; to kill and tear afunder, as ravens do finaller birds, in order to eat them, Matth. vii. 15. Wicked men are represented as ravenous, to mark their cruelty, oppression, and murder, Pfal. xxii. 13. Ezek. xxii. 25. 27.

RAVIN, is wealth or fpoil procured by oppression and murder, Nah. ii. 12.

RAVISH; to take and use by force, Lam. v. 11. One is ravished in heart, when greatly delighted, and powerfully constrained to love, Prov. v. 19. 20. Christ's heart is ravished by his people, when, by the vigorous exercise of faith and love, they exceedingly delight him, and, as it were, strongly excite him to hold fellowship with their soul, Song iv. 9.

RAW; not fully roasted, E.od. xii. 9. The quick raw flesh in the leper's fore, might be what seemed as if a little roasted, Lev. xiii. 10.

REACH; to stretch out; extend, John xx. 27. Zech. xiv. 5. When things are very high or great, they are said to reach unto heaven, Dan. iv. 11. Rev. xviii. 5. 2 Chron. xxviii. 9. Pial. xxxvi. 5. Saints reach to the things before, when they earnestly endeavour to grow in grace, and think of, love, defire.

Sfz

REA [324] REB

fire, and feek to enjoy things eternal, Phil. iii. 13. The fword or ftroke reacheth to the heart or foul, when it cuts off mens life, cuts off the best fortified places, and the best and greatest of the nation, Jer. iv. 10. 18.

READ. There is a twofold reading of the feriptures required; one private and daily, by particular perions, whether princes or others, Deut. xvii. 19. John v. 39.; another public, in the congregations of professed worshippers of God, Neh. viii. 3.

READY; (1.) Strongly inclined and disposed, Tit. iii. 1. (2.) Near at hand, 1 Pet. iv. 5. (3.) Well prepared and furnished, i Pet. iii. 15. Those ready to perish, are such as are on the point of being utterly miferable. The Jews were in a most wretched condition before Cyrus gave them their liberty to return to Canaan. The Gentiles were in a most deplorable condition with respect to spirituals, just before the gospel was preached to them, If. xxvii. 13. The good things of a church are ready to die, when her members are growing few, and their graces weak, and the purity and power of gospel-truths and ordinances are much decayed, Rev. iii. z.

REALM; kingdom; cmpire, 2

Chron. xx. 30. Ezra vii. 13.

REAP; (1.) To cut down corn in HARVEST, James v. 4. According to Mandrell, the more ordinary method of reaping corn in the East, is to pull it up by handfuls from the roots, leaving the fields naked and bare, Pfal. oxxix. 6. But it feems the Jews ordinarily cut down theirs with fickles, Deut. xvi. 9. xxiii. 25. Jer. l. 16. Joel iii. 13. (2.) To receive the fruit of works, whether good or bad; fo fuch as for in righteoufnefs, reap in mercy; reap everlasting life, i. e. receive it as their gracious reward, Hof. x. 12. Such as fow iniquity, or corruption, reap wickedness, vanity, thorns, whirlwind, &c.; i.e. they are punished with deftruction and mifery, as their deeds require, Job iv. 8. Prov. xxii. 8. Jer. xii. 13. Hof. viii. 7. To reap where one forwed not, and gather where one flrawed not, and take up what one laid not down, is to expect and demand good works, where no gifts or opportunities were given, Matth. xxv. 26. Luke xix. The earth will be reafted by the angel's sharp sickle, when, by the just vengeance of God our Saviour, Antichrist and his supporters shall be utterly and fearfully destroyed, Rev. xiv. 15. Angels are called reapers; God employs them to overturn and cut off na-. tions; and by them he will gather his people to him at the last day, Matth. xiii. 30. 39. Ministers are reapers; they not only fow the feed of divine truth among men, but are the bleft means of cutting them off from their natural root, and bringing them to Christ, John iv. 36. 37.

REASON; (1.) That power of the human foul, whereby we conceive and judge of things, Dan. iv. 36. (2.) Ground; argument; proof, 1 Pet. iii. 15.

To reason, is to talk together, difpute; argue, Matth. xvi. 8. Mark viii. 16. The faints offering of themselves, soul and body, and their holy conversation, to promote the honour of God, is a reasonable, not brutal facrifice, and corresponds with the wise injunctionsand grounds assigned by both reason and revelation, Rom. xii. 1.

REBEKAH, REBECCA, daughter of Bethuel, fifter of Laban, and wife of Haac. Her being providentially marked out for Isaac, by her offer to draw water for Eliezer's camels, as well as himfelf; her ready offer to leave her country, and to be Isaac's wife; her modest veiling of herself when she came near Ifaac; her long barrennefs, and, after 20 years, conceiving by means of her husband's prayers; her confulting of and receiving answer from God, concerning the struggling of the twins in her womb; her delivery of Efau and Jacob, and her peculiar love to the latter; her joining with Isaac, in the pretence that she was his lister, that the Philistines of Gerar might not slay her hufband for the fake of her extreme beauty; her grief at Elau's marriage with two Canaanitish women, her sinful directing and affitting of Jacob tom, le

REB 5 325 1 REC

KEB [325] impose on Isaac, in order to obtain his principal bleffing; her advising him to shee to Padan-aram, and stay there in her brother's family, till Esau's sury should be cooled; her care to prevent his marrying a Canaanites; and, in sine, her death, and burial in the cave of Machpelah, have been already related in Eliezer, Isaac, Jacob, Gen. xxiv.—xxviii. xlix. 31.

REBEL; to call off the authority of, or make war against a superior, Num. xvi. 1. 2. 2 Sam. xv. 20. Men rebel against God, when they contemn his authority, and do what he forbids, Num. xiv. 9. They rebel against his Spirit, when they resist his motions and slight his reproofs, Is. lxiii. 10. They rebel against his award, when they refuse to believe his promises, receive his offers, or obey his laws, Pfal. cvii. 11.

REBUKE; REPROVE; (1.) To check for a fault, privately or publicly, either by words, or by a contrary practice, Lev. xiv. 17. Eccl. vii. 5. Prov. xxvii. 5. 1 Tim. v. 20. (2.) To convince of a fault; make it manifelt, in order to promote repentance, John xvi. 8. iii. 21. (3.) To restrain; check the defigns of; overthrow, and render incapable to perform their purposes, Zech. iii. 2. If. xvii. 13. (4.) To cha-Aen or punish for fin, Psal. vi. I. XXXIX. 11. Hof. v. 9. Ezek. v. 15. (5.) To order filence, Luke xix. 39. To rebuke a disease, is to cure it by a word, Luke xi. 39. To rebuke the wind and fea, is to calm both, or dry the last, Matth. viii. 26. If. l. 2. Pfal. civ. 7. To be avithout reluke, is to live blameless, sober, righteous, and godly, so as not to deserve rebuke, Phil. ii. 15. To suffer rebuke for God's fake, is to endure the reproach and perfecution of men for adherence to his way, Jer. xv. 15. wife reprover, is one that carefully obferves the circumflances of the fault, the station and temper of the offender, and the proper time and place for tendering the reproof, Prov. xxv. 12. rebuker in the gate, is one who reproves fin openly, and with plainness and authority, Amos v. 10.

RECAL; to call back.

RECEIVE; (1.) To take what is given, ascribed to, paid, or put into our hands, 2 Sam. xviii. 12. 2 Kings v. 26. Rev. v. 2. (2.) To be endowed with ; to enjoy; poffets, Acts i. 8. Heb. x. 36. (3.) To give welcome to; to lodge; entertain, Acts xxviii. 2.7. (4.) To admit into membership of the church or family of God, Rem. xiv. 1. 3. (5.) To hold; contain; I Kings viii. 641 (6.) To accept kindly, and bear patiently, Job ii. 10. 2 Cor. xi. 10. Christ receives power, wifdom, strength, honour, glory, and bleffing, when they are heartily ascribed to him in his people's praise, Rev. v. 11. To receive Christ, is to believe the promife of the gospel, wherein he is freely offered, as made of God to us wildom, righteoufnels, fanctification, and redemption, John i. 12. To receive his word or law, is to hear, confider, understand, believe, and love it, Prov. ii. 1. To receive Christ's ministers as fuch, is to hear them as invested with his authority, and earnestly endeavour to believe and obey their initructions, Matth. x. 40. 41. Hypocrites receive the word of God, merely by a rational confideration of and affent to it; but not fo as to have it impressed on their heart, Matth. xiii. 20. Unregenerate men receive not the things of God; they have not the spiritual knowledge, leve, or possession of them in their heart, I Cor. ii. 10.

RECHAB. See BAANAH, and Ke-NITES.

RECKON. See COUNT.

To RECOMMEND one, is to endeavour to procure him the efteen and care of fome person, Acts xiv. 26. To recommend one to the grace of God, is, by the prayer of faith, to commit him to the care and savour of a gracious God, and request every necessary blessing to him, Acts xv. 40.

RECOMPENCE; an amends, or requital of deeds, either in good or evil, Deut. xxxii. 35. The recompence of the Heathens abuse of their natural knowledge, and of their wilful apostasy from God, as their Creator and Freseiver, was their being left to unnatural lutt, Rom. i. 27. The recompence or putility ment of the Jews, for idolizing their ceremonies, to the rejection of Christ, was God's making these ordinances an occasion of their hardening and ruin, Rom. xi. 9. The gracious reward of the saints good works, is their recompence, Heb. x. 35. xi. 26.

REC [326] RED

To render to men according to their deeds, Pfal. xviii. 20. 24. Judg. i. 7.

1 Tim. v. 4.; but fometimes good is requited with evil, 2 Sam. xxv. 21.; and evil with good, 2 Sam. xvi. 12. (2.)

To make restitution, giving back the value of what was wrongfully taken away, Numb. v. 7. The righteous are recompensed in the earth; they are rewarded even here with proper comforts; or, rather, they are chastised here for their fins; and much more fearfully shall the wicked be then punished, Prov. xi. 31.

RECONCILE; (1.) To make peace between parties at variance; to secure favour, Matth. v. 24. (2.) To atone for; confecrate, Lev. vi. 30. Ezek. xlv. 20. God reconciles the world to bimfelf; he devised the whole plan of our reconciliation and peace with him; he fent his fon to fatisfy for our offences, accepted of his righteousness in our flead, fends him to blefs us; justifies, fanctifies, and glorifies us, according to the riches of his grace, 2 Cor. v. 19. Christ reconciles us ; he fulfils all righteoufnefs in our flead; he intercedes with God on our behalf; and, by uniting us to himfelf, and dwelling in us by faith, he fecures our everlasting peace with God, Eph. ii. 16. He reconciles all things; through his obedience and death, God is reconciled to men; Jews and Gentiles are reconciled into one church; holy angels and men are at peace one with another; men become peaceably disposed among themfelves, and enjoy a real inward peace of conscience, and are in a covenant of peace with the irrational and inanimate creation, Col. i. 20. The gospel is the word or ministry of reconciliation; by means thereof, is this peace with God, angels, men, conscience, and other creatures, declared, offered, and applied to us, 2 Cor. v. 18. 19.

RECORD; (1.) To bear witness; and so a record is a folemn testimony and declaration, Acts xx. 26. John i. 19. I John v. 7. 10. II.; and to call God for a record upon one's foul, is to make a solemn appeal to him, 2 Cor. i. 23. (2.) To declare; make mention of, I Chron. vi. 14. Exod. xx. 24. (3.) To mark in a register, Nch. xii. 8. 22.; and so an historical register is called a record, Ezra vi. 2.: and a RECORDER was an officer that noted things in a register or book of account, and put the King in mind of what ought to be considered, 2 Sam. viii. 16.

RECOVER; (1.) To regain what had been lost, taken away, or wanting, as health, &c. 1 Sam. xxx. 8. Luke iv. 18. (2.) To restore to wonted health, 2 Kings v. 3. 6. 7. 11. (3.) To deliver from bondage and distress, If. xi. 11. 2 Tim. ii. 26. (4.) To take away what had been abused, Hos.

ii. g.

RECOUNT; to number over by name; to muster; to take a view of,

Nah. 2. 5.

RED. This colour applied to Christ, as by the red heifer, and his red apparel, denotes his bloody fufferings, or bloody overthrow of his enemies, Num. xix. 2. If. lxiii. 2.; but the red dye of the rams skins which covered the tabernacle, might denote both his fufferings, and the perfecution and troubles of his church, Exod. xxvi. 14. xxxix. 34-Redness of horses, and redness of the wine of God's wrath, denote the fearful and bloody effects of God's judgements, Zech. i. 8. vi. 2. Rev. vi. 4. Pfal. lxxv. 8. Rednefs, ascribed to the church as a vine, denotes her exposure to bloody trouble and perfecution, and their bringing forth good fruit to God, If. xxvii. 2. The redness of the Heathen dragon, fignified the bloody perfecutions of the Christians by the Roman emperors, Rev. xii. 3. The redness of a leprous infection in flesh or garments, might denote angry refulal of reproof, and furious defence of faults,

R E DRED 327

Lev. xiii. 19. 42. 49. xiv. 37. Redness of eyes, imports having plenty of wine, or being drunk with it, Gen. xlix. 12.

Prov. xxiii. 29.

REDEEM; (1.) To buy back perfons or things formerly fold, by paying a due price for them, Lev. xxv. 25. (2.) To deliver from diffress and bondage, by the exertion of great power and love, Deut. vii. 5. xxxii. 6. (3.) To deliver men from the broken law, fin, Satan, an evil world, death, and hell, by the price of Jefus's obedience and fuffering, and by means of the enlightening and fanctifying power of his Spirit, Gal. iv. 4. 5. Tit. ii. 14. Luke i. 68. 1 Pet. i. 19.: they are redeemed from the earth, from among carnal men, and to God, into a state of fellowship with, and voluntary subjection to him, Rev. xiv. 3. v. 9. To redeem time, is, under the conviction of mispending much of it, to double our diligence in the improvement of what remains for us, Eph. v. 16. To oblige the Hebrews to be deliberate in their vows, nothing once devoted was to be redeemed, without paying the whole worth of it, and a fifth part more; nor was that which had been devoted under the form of a curse, to be redeemed at all. Nor could the tithes, or any thing which the Lord had a stated claim to, be redeemed at all, except the FIRST-LINGS, improper for facrifice. The price of redemption for perfons under 20 years of age, was five shekels for a boy and three for a girl; for persons between 20 and 60 years of age, it was 50 shekels for a man and 30 for a woman; and for all above 60, it was 20 for a man and 10 for a woman: but if a person was so poor that he could not pay at this rate, the priest was to fix a price upon him according to his ability. The nearer it was to the year of jubilee, the price for buying or redeeming fields was proportionally the lefs. In the first year after the jubilee, the price was to be 48 years purchase; in the 45th, it was but three years purchase, or little more.

REDEEMER. The Hebrew GOEL, or kinsman-redeemer, who was also the nearest of kin, was to exert himself in favour of his destitute kins-If he had, through poverty, mortgaged his inheritance, the goel was to buy it back. If he had fold himself into slavery, the goel was to pay his ranfom. If he was murdered, the goel was to avenge his blood. he died childless, the goel might espouse his widow, and raife up feed to him; but it does not appear that he was obliged to this, except he was an unmarried brother, Numb. v. S. xxvii. II. xxxv. Deut. xxv. 1.—8. Ruth iii. iv. Did not this GOEL typify Christ's affuming our nature, purchailing our happinefs, recovering our liberty, avenging our blood on Satan and his agents, and raifing up, to our widowed nature, a feed of faints and good works? God is called a Redeemer; with mighty power and kindness he rescued the Hebrews from their bondage and trouble, and often delivers the oppressed: and he, through the blood of his Son, faves from deep flavery and woe under the broken law, to endless glory and happiness, If, lxiii. 16. Christ is a Redeemer: by his righteoufness, he paid the price of our redemption; by his intercession, he pleads for and procures it; by his Spirit, he applies it to our foul, If. lix. 20. Job xix. 25. Our redemption, or deliverance from fin, and all its effects, is through his blood and Spirit, Eph. i. 7. Col. i. 14. Heb. ix. 12.; and begins in our forgiveness, is carried on in our fanctification, and perfested in our eternal bleffedness, when, at the refurrection, our very bodies shall be delivered from all the deathful effects of fin; and this entrance on eternal glory is called our redemption, as it brings the deliverance to its perfection, Luke xxi. 28. Rom. viii. 23. It is called the redemption of the purchased possession, as we then enter on the full poslession of what Christ has purchased; or it is the redemption of the peculiar people, Eph. i. Christ died for the redemption of transgressions, i. e. that he might make full tatisfaction for them, Heb. ix. 15. He is made of God to us redemption; he is prepared and given of God to us, es an ail-fufficient Saviour, as the purchafer, price, treasury, and substance of our everlasting deliverance from sin and misery to holiness and happiness, I Cor. i. 30. We are justified through the redemption that is in him, the redemption-price of his righteousness; and in partaking of him, as made of God to us redemption, Rom. iii. 22.

REDOUND; to tend towards,

2 Cor. iv. 15.

REEDS grow in fenny and watery places, and are of many different kinds. The common reeds in our country are of no great use, except for thatching of houses; the paper reeds of Egypt, the fugar reeds or canes, and the Spamish reeds, of which walking staves and weavers reeds are formed, are of much more account. (2.) A staff made of reed; fuch a one, by way of derifion, was put into our Saviour's hand, in-Head of a sceptre; and with this they held up to him on the cross the spunge full of gall and vinegar, Matth. xxvii. 29. 30. 48. (3.) A measure of fix cubits, or 11 feet 2.328 inches, Ezek. xl. 3. Christ will not break the bruised reed, nor quench the smoking flan; he will not utterly destroy, but kindly help, care for, and comfort the weak faints, and their weak graces, that are upon the point of losing all their grace and comfort, If. xlii. 3. In allufion to the multitude of reeds growing about Egypt, the Egyptians and their king are likened to a flaff of reed, and broken reed, to denote their inability to help, and their readiness to hurt the Jews, and fuch others as trufted in them for support or protection, Ezek. xxix. 6. H. xxxvi. 6. The ten tribes of Ifrael were fmitten as a reed, when toffed to and fro, as to their outward estate, by the force of God's judgements upon them, I Kings xiv. 15. John Baptist was not a reed shaken with the wind; was not unfettled in his doctrine or practice, but conflant and fleady in bearing testimony to Christ, and an following a course of strict holiness, amid storms of trouble, Matth. xi. 7. 'The meafuring reed in Ezekiel and John's vision, may denote the word of God, according to which all the things of the church ought to be adjusted; or that the providence of God should, with great exactness, protect and defend them, Ezek. xl. 3. xlii. 16. Rev. xi. 1. xxi. 15. The reeds at Babylon were burnt with fire; either those that were growing in the Euphrates were deprived of their moisture when the current was diverted; or they, or those on the roofs of houses, were burnt by the Persians, Jer. li. 32.

To REEL and STAGGER, is to move as men mad or flupid with drink; or as men that cannot hold their feet in a ship tossed by a tempest, Ps. cvii. 27. The earth reels, when its inhabitants are thrown into great terror, perplexity, and disorder, Is. xxiv. 20.; and flaggers, when shaken to and fro by earthquakes, Psal. xcix. † 1. Men flagger at God's promise, when any faith they have is much mixed with unbelieving sears and doubts, Rom. iv. 20. They flagger under affliction, when they are so perplexed that they know not what to do or whither to go, Job xii.

25. If. xix. 14. xxix. 9. REFINE; to purge, as founders do metal from drofs, or as vintners do wine from dregs, 1 Chron. xxviii. 18. If. xxv. 6. Christ is a refiner and purifer; by his word, his blood, his Spirit, and by fanctified troubles, he purges out the drofs of error, corruption, and feandalous persons from the church, and the drofs of finful defilement from the heart and life of his people, Mal. iii. 2. 3. If. xlviii. 10. Zech. xiii. 9. The word of the Lord is refined; there is no drofs, error, wickednefs, or vanity to be found therein, 2 Sam. xxii. + 31. Pfal. exix. + 140.

REFORM; to bring into a new fnape or course. The Hebrews were reformed, when they left their idolatries and other evil courses, and turned to the Lord, Lev. xxvi. 23. The gospel-dispensation is called the reformation; the ceremonial ordinances being subfilled in Christ, were laid aside for more clear, easy, and spiritual ones; and multitudes of Jews and Gentiles were turned from their legal, superstitious,

REF [329] REF

tious, idolatrous, and other wicked courfes, to the profession, faith, and obedience of a God in Christ, Heb. ix. 10.

REFRAIN; to with-hold; keep back, Gen. xlv. 1. Pfal. cxix. 101.

REFRESH; (1.) To strengthen one by food, I Kings xiii. 7. (2.) To take REST, and recover strength after fatigue, Exod. xxiii. 12. (3.) To revive and comfort, 1 Cor. xvi. 18. Mens fpirit, foul, or bowels, are refreshed, when they get new inward eafe, ftrength, vigour, and comfort, Job x xii. 20. 2 Cor. vii. 13. Prov. xxv. 13. Phil. 7. The refreshing promifed to the penitent Jews, may comprehend the comfortable declaration and application of a free and full redemption, through the person, obedience, death, and intercession of Christ; a comfortable deliverance and prefervation from the general ruin of their nation; and chiefly the complete happiness of both soul and body at the last day, Acts iii. 19. See REST.

REFUGE; SHELTER; a place of fafety in time of florms or danger, Job xxiv. 8. God and Christ are a refuge or shelter; by them the faints are graciously protected against every storm of wrath, against every danger, and against the assaults of every foe, Pial. xiv. 6. xlvi. 1. lxi. 3. Refuges of lies, are vain imaginations, and ill-grounded hopes of fafety; or perfons we trusted difappointing us, as the Affyrians, who, instead of helping Ahaz, distreffed him, If. xxviii. 15. 17.—To infpire the Hebrews with an horror of bloodshed, and mercifully provide for the relief of involuntary manslayers, God appointed fix of their cities, Bezer, Golan, and Ramoth-gilead, on the east of Jordan; Kedesh-naphtali, Shechem, and Hebron, on the west of it, all of them belonging to the priests or Levites, to be cities of refuge; and they were commanded to add to these when their territories should be enlarged: but we find no account of any fuch addition. These cities were of eafy access, situated in mountains or large plains. That nothing might retard the manslayer in his flight to them, the roads, to the width of 58 Vol. II.

feet 4 inches, were kept in good repair, and the rivers of note had bridges thrown over them; where any other way croffed or parted from them, posts, marked with REFUGE, directed to the city of refuge. On the 15th day of the 12th month, at the end of the winter, the roads were inspected by the magistrates, and repairs were ordered. These cities were plentifully stored with necessary provisions; but no weapons of war were made or fold therein. When an Hebrew, or a ftrauger among them, unwittingly killed his neighbour, he fled with all poffible expedition to the city of refuge that was next to him; for if any of the friends of the killed person could overtake him before he got thither, they were warranted to flay him. Whenever the manslayer entered the city, he ufed to fend fome prudent and moderate persons to meet the pursuing avenger of blood, to foften his rage. When he came up, he presented an accufation to the judges of the place, upon the footing of which the manflayer was cited to their bar. If, upon trial, it appeared he had flain his neighbour unwittingly, he was received as a lodger into the city. Only, it is faid, that the cause was again tried in the manflayer's own city; and if he was again found to have done it unwittingly, he was fafely conducted back to the city of refuge, and abode there till the death of the high prieft; but he was obliged to apply himfelf to fome business, that he might not be chargeable to the inhabitants. altar of burnt-offering was also a refuge for petty criminals; and fuch as, fled to it, if found to have done it undefignedly, were conducted to a city of refuge, Numb. xxxv. Deut. xix. 11. 12. Josh. xx. Did these refuges, or afylums, represent Jesus Christ, as the fole refuge for guilty sinners, who have murdered their foul, their neighbour, their Saviour, and attempted to murder their God! how patent and open our way to him! how certain our peace and fafety in him! nor till his endless life be concluded, shall those who once come to him ever go forth or be cast out! But if law and justice, these avengers of blood, find us without him, how great our danger of eternal death!

REF REH

REFUSE. The Gentiles were refused of God; before he called them by the gospel, they were most wretched, justly overlooked, and hated by God for their wickedness, and contemned by the members of the Jewish church, If. liv. 6. Men refuse Christ, when they neglect the knowledge of his truth, the cordial belief of his promifes, wherein he and all his tulnefs are offered to them as the free gift of God, and the observance of his ordinances, Heb. xii. 25. The refuse of any thing, is its drofs, filth, or naughty part, 1 Sam. xv. 9. Amos viii. 6. Jews were made as the refuse, when rendered weak, poor, contemptible, and wretched, Lam. iii. + 45.

REGARD; (1.) To think of; feriously consider; lay to heart, Is. v. 1 Sam. xxv. 25. (2.) To look upon one with pity and concern, Deut. xxviii. 50. (3.) To have or shew a diffinguished love to, esteem of, or care for, 2 Kings iii. 14. Rom. xiv. 6. God regards the prayer of the deftitute, when he graciously accepts it, and in a noted manner bestows what is asked, or what is better, Psal. cii. 17. Men regard fin, when they love and efteem it, and delight to practife it, Pfal. lxvi. 18. xxxi. 6. Jon. 2. 8. To regard mens person, is to value them for their outward honour, power, or wealth, Matth. xxii. 16.

REGENERATION; a new birth. See RENEW.

REGION. See COUNTRY.

REGISTER; a public record for marking genealogies, and events worthy of remembrance, Ezra ii. 62.

REHEARSE; to tell over, Exod.

xvii. 14. 1 Sam. xvii. 31.

REHOB; a city of the tribe of Asher, given to the Levites. It feems to have stood on the north border of . Canaan, and to have been a very different place from the Rooba of Jerome, which, he fays, was but four miles from Bethshan, Num. xiii. 21. Josh, xix. 28. xxi. 31.

REHOBOAM, the fon and fucceffor of Solomon, born by one Naamah, an Ammonitefs, about the end of David's reign. It appears, from the book of Proverbs, that his father was at no fmall pains to teach him wifdom; but these instructions were not blessed of God to him, nor were they duly exemplified in his father's life. he began to reign, A. M. 3030, he. being about 41 years of age, repaired to Shechem, whither the Hebrews had affembled to make him king. Infligated by Jeroboam, who had begun to raife fedition a little before Solomon's death, they offered Rehoboam the fovereignty, provided he would eafe them. of the hard fervice and expensive taxes which his father had laid upon them as he carried on his buildings. took three days to deliberate on the proposal. His aged counsellors, who had ferved with his father in that station, advifed him to give the people an obliging answer, and he would foon fix them in his interest. Unwilling to do fo, he confulted with his young counfellors, who had been brought up with him. They advised him to tell the people, that he intended to load them with far more grievous burdens, and to punish them far more feverely than ever his father This advice fuiting his had done. haughty and foolish disposition, he followed it. The ten tribes of Reuben, Simeon, Ephraim, Manasseh, Dan, Zebulun, Issachar, Naphtali, Gad, and Asher, provoked herewith, cried out, that they were under no obligation to, and had no interest in the family of David, and fo would go home, and let Rehoboam and the family of David care for themselves. Upon their withdrawment in a body, Rehoboam fent Hadoram his treasurer after them, to perfuade them to return. Perhaps supposing him the author of their late hardships, they stoned him to death. Rehoboam feeing this, posted off to Jerufalem in his chariot, where the tribes of Judah and Benjamin acknowledged ledged him king. Of these he formed an army of 180,000, to reduce the ten tevolting tribes by force; but Shemaiah the prophet, in God's name, diffuaded him and his army from this attempt, as it would not prosper. Rehoboam and his people then returned to their homes. He, to ftrengthen his kingdom, fortified Bethlehem, Etam, Tekoah, Bethzur, Shoche, Adullam, Gath, Marethah, Ziph, Adoraim, Lachith, Azekah, Zorah, Aijalon, and Hebron, and put garrifons of men, and magazines of armour and provision therein. As Jeroboam, who had got himself made king of the ten tribes, cast off the true worthip or God, many of the priests and Levites, and, no doubt, others, retired to the kingdom of Judah, and strengthened it.

REH [331] REI

For three years Rehoboam and his subjects followed the Lord, and profpered exceedingly; but afterwards they abandoned themselves to every enormi-Idolatrous altars, statues, groves, and high places, were every where formed; and both men and women were appointed to be public proftitutes. To punish this wickedness, God brought Shishak, king of Egypt, to ravage the land, A. M. 3035. He ravaged the country, and carried off the treafures of the temple and palace. Meanwhile, Shemaiah the prophet told Rehoboam and his princes, that their idolatry and other wickedness had occasioned these disasters. They humbled themselves under a sense of their guilt, and acknowledged the justice of God in their miferies. Shemaiah then affured them, that God would not utterly forfake them, but would give them a trial, what difference there was between the hardships of serving the Lord, and of ferving Shishak. When Shishak left the country, after he had held it perhaps three or four years, Rehoboam and his people, on the main, restored the worship of God; but the high places were not removed. caused make brazen shields for his guard who attended him to the temple, instead of the golden ones of his father's making, which Shifhak had carried off: these lay in his arsenal wher. they were not used. After Rehoboam had reigned 17 years, he died, and was buried in the city of David, and left Abijah his son, whom he intended to have made his colleague on the throne, to be his successor. There were almost perpetual wars between him and Jeroboam; the history of which, and or his hise, was written by the prophets Shemaiah and Iddo; but, not being intended as canonical, it hath not reached our times, I Kings xii. xiv. 21.—31. 2 Chron. x. xii. xii.

REHOBOTH; (1.) A city near Ninevel, perhaps the fame as the O-roba of Pliny; but fome translate it, to figuify the streets of the city Ninevel, Gen. x. 11. (2.) A city of Edom, where Saul, king of that country, was born; for it is absurd to imagine he could be of the other Rehoboth on the Tigris, Gen. xxvi. 37. (3.) A well digged by Isac, eastward of Gerar, so called, because there the Lord had made room for him, Gen. xxvi. 22.

REHUM. See SAMARITANS.

REJECT; (1.) To despise, Hos. iv. 6. (2.) To cast off; forsake, Jer. vii. 29. xiv. 19. (3.) To deny the granting of a request, Mark vi. 26. Obstinate abusers of gospel-ordinances, whether Jews or Gentiles, are rejected as barren ground; are desprived of the strivings of God's Spirit, and of divine ordinances, and exposed to temporal or eternal ruin, or both, Heb. vi. 8.

REIGN; to rule or command as a king, 2 Sam. v. 4. 5. God reigns; as the abfolute ruler of all things, he governs and disposeth of them, and to him must all perfons give account, Pfal. xciii. 1. Christ reigns as supreme Governor of his church, who alone gives her laws, appoints offices, and orders or disposeth her concerns as he pleafeth, 1 Cor. xv. 25. The faints reign; they have a spiritual dominion over fin, Satan, and the corrupt influence of this world, and, by their prayers, have no fmall hand in the management thereof; and, during the T t 2 Millennium. REI J 322 J REM

Millenium, they shall possess the chief power in church and state, Rev. v. 10. xx. 6.: they reign in life spiritual, being more than conquerors through him that loved them, of fin, Satan, and the world: and reign in life eternal, when they are advanced to the highest glory, and have every thing to their wish, Rom. v. 17. Sin reigns, and reigns unto death, when indwelling fin has the chief power in the heart, and when fin, in general, haftens forward, and condemns to death temporal, spiritual, and eternal, Rom. vi. 12. v. 21. Grace reigns, and reigns to eternal life, through the finished and imputed righteousness of Jesus Christ, the free favour of God, in a glorious and irrefishible manner, disposes of the elect, and all their concerns, fo as to promote their eternal life; the gracious habits implanted in our foul, conquer our inward corruptions, and prepare us for eternal life; nor can fin reign over us as before, Rom. vi. 14. v. 21.
REINS; (1.) The kidneys, or inward parts of an animal, Lev. xv. + 2. Job xix. 27. Pfal. cx xix. 13. (2.) Mens foul, with its dispositions and thoughts, Lam. iii. 13. Rev. ii. 23. God is far from mens reins, when they have no true knowledge, fear, love, defire of, or delight in him, and perform no true obedience to him, Jer. xii. 2. Men are pricked in their reins, when their foul is wounded with difquieting thoughts, tormenting passions, envy, forrow, anger, Pfal. lxxiii. 21. Mens reins instruct them, when God, by infpiration or otherwife, flirs up inftructive and directive thoughts in their mind, Pfal. xvi. 7.

RELEASE; (1.) To fet a prifoner or flave at liberty, Matth. xxvii.
15. (2.) To forgive a debt or tribute, Deut. xv. 2. Esth. ii. 18. See FEAST.

RELY; to lean; to depend for help and victory, 2 Chron. xvi. 7. 8.

RELIÉVE; to free one from hardfhip, as from oppression, by righteous judgement, Is. i. 17.; from deep poverty, by proper gifts and presents, I Tim. v. 16. Acts xi. 29.; from hunger, by refreshful food, Lam. i. 11.
19.; from excessive grief, by encouragement and comfort, Lam. i. 16.
God relieves the fatherless and widow; he comforts them against grief, he delivers them from oppression, and provides for them against poverty and want, Psal. colvi. 9.

RELIGION; (1.) The true religion, which confifts in an inward and spiritual knowledge and belief of divine truth, faith in, and love to Christ, and to God in him, manifested in a regular acknowledgement, and worship of, and obedience to him, and in shewing proper deference to men, chiefly fuch as are in diffress and want, James (2.) The external and ceremonial worship of the Jews, Acts xxvi. 5. (3.) A superstitious worshipping of angels, Col. ii. + 18. Religious, or devout, are fuch as are much given to a religious course or profession, Acts xiii. 43.

REMAIN; (1.) To continue, Gen, viii. 22. (2.) To be left behind, Judg. v. 13. Remainder, or remnant, is what is over and above; what is left behind, Exod. xxvi. 13. 2 Kings xix. God restrains the remainder of man's wrath, when he represseth, and hinders from breaking out, whatever of it he doth not intend for his own glory and the good of his people, Pfal. Ixxvi. 10. Remnant often figuifies a fmall part left behind; and so the remnant of a people, are the finall part that are faved from ruin, temporal or eternal, Rom. ix. 4. The remnant of the church's feed warred upon by the dragon, are the fmall remains of the oppofers of Antichrift feattered here and there, Rev. xii. 17. The remnant of Baal, is what was left of his worship and worshippers, Zeph. i. 4.

REMEDY; a cure for preventing or removing evil, 2 Chron. xxxvi. 16.

REMEMBER; (1.) To call to mind what is past, Deut. xv. 15. (2.) To keep in mind somewhat suture and important, that we may prepare for it, or take notice of it when it comes, Exod. xx. 8. (3.) To think of and consider, Pfal. lxiii, 6. Matth. xvi. 9.

(4.)

REM [333] REN

(4.) To esteem; reward, Eccl. ix. 15. (5.) To mention in the way of praise and commendation, I Chron. xvi. 12. (6.) To take care of. God remembers men, when he shews regard to, cares for, favours and faves them, especially after a delay and fuspension of his agreeable benefits, Pial. lxxiv. 2. So he remembered Noah, and other animals, when he provided for their deliverance from the ark, Gen. viii. 1. He remembered Abraham, when, from regard to his prayer, he delivered Lot from the overthrow of Sodom, Gen. He remembers mercy, when he xix. 29. notably exercises it, Psal. xxv. 6. Hab. iii. 2. He remembers, or mentions fin, or righteousness, when he punishes the one and rewards the other, Jer. xx i. 34. Ezek. xviii. 22. 24. Antichriftians, and other wicked men, are remembered, when their fins are cenfured or punished, 3 John 10. Psal. exxxvii. 7. Rev. xvi. 19. Men remember God, or his name, when they think of, believe in, and depend on him for help and assistance, Pfal. xx. 7. REMEM-BRANCE; memory; confideration, Deut. xxxii. 20. 26. Your remembrances are like unto askes; your bodies to bodies of clay; your memory or renown, and your body your mortal life, are contemptible, and will foon perifh; or, your memorials, your admonitions, are pitiful as ashes, and your strongest reasonings as weak and brittle as clay, Job xiii. 12.

REMIT, to forgive; declare forgiven; absolve from censure, John xx. 23.

REMPHAN, an idol. Some think him to have been Remphis, a king of Egypt, worshipped after his death. Perhaps he is the fame as Moloch, Chiun, and the Egyptian Serapis, and Osiris. To commemorate the dream of the kine, whereby Egypt was faved, a deity was there worshipped in the form of a bull; and the Hebrews carried the portrait of Remphan, in the wilderness, when they had their golden calf among them, Amos v. 26. Acts vii. 43. Others think Remphan to be the same as Ham, Chronus, or Saturn, the father of the Rephaim, or giants.

REMOVE; (1.) To go from one place to another, Numb. xii. 16. (2.) To take away; fet afide, Gen. viii. 13. Judg. ix. 29. (3.) To pass; to change, Numb. xxxvi. 7. (4.) To cause persons or things pass from one place or state to another, Gen. xlvii. 21. Prov. xxii. 8.

REND; (1.) To TEAR afunder, pull in pieces, Pfal. vii. 2. (2.) To reproach, Pfal. xxxv. 15. Rending of garments, imported one's being overwhelmed with grief, or shocked with fomething terrible, 2 Chron. xxxiv. 27. Gen. xxxvii. 29. 34. As the priests were not allowed to rend their garments, Caiaphas rending his garments, was a token the priefthood was departing, Matth. xxvi. 65. Rending of the heart, imports great and bitter forrow for fin, Joel ii. 13. God rends the heavens, and comes down, when, in a majestic manner, he powerfully delivers his people, If. lxiv. 1. God tore the Jews, when he divided and terribly afflicted them, Hof. v. 14. The anger of the Edomites did tear perpetually; they, on every opportunity, haraffed and murdered the Jews, Amos i. 11. The Affyrian kings did tear enough for their subelps; enriched their country with the wealth they procured, by fpoiling and murdering the nations around, Nah.

RENDER; (1.) To give, Numb. xviii. 9. (2.) To return in thankf-giving, Pfal. cxvi. 12. (3.) To return like for like; to recompense, Pfal. xciv. 2.

RENEW; (1.) To make over again, Rom. xii. 2. (2.) To repair and purge, 2 Chron. xv. 8. (3.) To confirm; establish, I Sam. xi. 14. God renews the earth, when he returns the spring, and gives a new succession of creatures to replenish the earth, Psal. civ. 30. He renews his people's days, when he brings them out of captivity, and restores them to a slourishing estate, Lam. v. 21. He renewed his witnesses against Job, when he still brought one fresh plague on him after another, as testimonies of his displeasure with him, Job x. 17. The saints are renewed day by day, and renew their youth and aftrength, when, by fresh communications of grace from the fulness of Christ, they recover from spiritual decays, and grow in holiness and spiritual vigour and comfort, 2 Cor. iv. 16. Pfal. ciii. 5. If. xl. 31. xli. 1.

by

REN [334] REN

RENEWING; REGENERATION; (1.) That work of the hely Spirit, whereby, through the imputation of Jesus's righteousness, his grace is implanted in us, and we are born again, and spiritually changed in our whole Our mind is made new; being endowed with spiritual light, it apprehends, judges, esteems, devises, searches, reasons, thinks, and deliberates on new matters, and after a new manner; the conscience is renewed, sprinkled by Jesus's blood, awed of God as a Father, and directed by his Spirit: captivated with the changing influence of God's redeeming love, the will has new inclinations, intentions, choice, delight, purposes, and a power over the sensitive part; the affections are renewed, rectified as to their objects, and in their order and degrees; the memory is renewed; qualified to hide the word of God, and retain the impressions of his love; the body is renewed, in respect of its state of subjection to the foul, and its use as an infrument of righteoufnefs, Tit. iii. 5. 2 Cor. v. 17. Gal. vi. 15. John iii. 3.4.5. (2.) The reviving, repairing, and itrengthening of what was decayed and blemished by fin, in a particular faint, or in the church, Pfal. li. 10. Rev. xxi. 5. If. Ixv. 17. Regeneration, in Matth. xix. 28. if joined with what goes before, may either denote the new birth, or rather the putting of the church into a new state by the preaching of the gospel; if joined with what follows, it denotes the day of judgement, wherein the faints bodies shall be put into a new state of life, and there shall be a new heaven and a new earth.

Pelagians and Socinians, who deny original fin, deny also all implanted babits of grace; and Antinomians deny all inherent habits or principles of grace, pretending to substitute Christ, and Spirit and word, in the room thereof. According to these, our regeneration confifts in, or is effected by, our minds perceiving the light of divine truth, and our heart being thereby determined to credit the certainty of it by faith. These gentlemen allow the word of God to have all the influence conceivable on the human foul. provided no vital habit or principle of grace be implanted by an almighty and creating act of God attending the But, when we confider that the motions and acts of all beings, created or divine, flow from inward and abiding principles, answerable to their motions and actions, it must be abfurd to imagine, that gracious acts of faith, love, hope, repentance, and new obedience, flow from no gracious principle dwelling in the heart. feripture-account of mens hearts being by nature unclean,—deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked, -enmity against God, -dead in trespasses and sins, render it manifest, that no good act can be performed by them, without new habits or principles of grace implanted in them, Job xiv. 4. Jer. xvii. Rom. viii. 7. 8. Eph. ii. 1. 2. Matth. xv. 19. vii. 16. 17. xii. 33. 34. 35. Neither the love, nor the wildom, nor the fufficiency of Christ, can appear in our redemption, unless the remedy answer to the malady, and gracious habits be implanted, instead of the natural habits of indwelling corruption, spiritual knowledge instead of ignorance, faith instead of an evil heart of unbelief, love instead of enmity, &r. Ezek. x. 19. xxxvi. 26. 1 Cor. vi. 11. Tit. iii. 3. 5. The fcripture never reprefents any gracious act of ours, as either our regeneration, or a mean of it, but always as the fruit of We see and know spiritual things, because we are born again, and have had eyes to fee, and ears to hear, given us, Deut. xxix. 4. 1 John v. 20. John iii. 3. 1 Cor. ii. 14. We believe that Jefus is the Christ, and receive him by faith, because we are born of God, I John v. 1. John i. 12. 13. God and his people, because we are born of God, and know God, I John iv. The fight-giving, dead-quickening, beart-circumcifing, renewing, begetting and creating influence, ascribed to God in this matter, at once reprefents us as entirely passive in our regeneration, and that the power of God works not by mere moral fuafion, or any natural influence upon the rational foul, but by a fupernatural and almighty influence, fimilar to that through which, by a word, he created the world, healed desperate diseases, or raiseth the dead; and that, by this divine agency, there is framed in us an abiding vital habit, or principle of grace, disposing and enabling to acts of faith, love, &c. Acts xxvi. 18. 2 Cor. iv. 6. xxix. 4. John v. 25. Rom. iv. 17. Eph. ii. 1. 5. Ezek. xxxvii. 1.—14. Deut. xxx. 6. Col. ii. 11. 12. Gen. 2vii. 10. 11. Tit. iii. 5. Eph. iv. 23. John i. 13. iii. 3.5.6.8. Jam. i. 18. 1 Pet. i. 3. 23. Eph. ii. 10. iv. 24. Col. iii. 10. The infpired reprefentations of that which is produced by this fupernatural and allpowerful agency of God, as a mind ferving the law of God, a law of the mind, that warreth, Rom. vii. 23. 25.; as a copy of God's law in the heart, as Adam had in his creation, Jer. xxxi. 33. 2 Cor. iii. 3.; as life had-eternal life abiding in one, 1 John v. 12. iii. 14. 15.; a heart, a new heart, a pure heart, one heart, a keart to know and fear God, a heart of flesh, Ezek. xix. 11. 19. xxvi. 26. xviii. 31. Jer. xxiv. 7. xxxii. 39. Deut. xxix.4. 1 Tim. i. 5. Heb. x. 22.; a divine nature, God's workmanship created, not in or by, but unto good works, 2 Pet. i. 4. Eph. ii. 10.; the image of God, opposite to the image of the devil, which is in them by nature, and answerable, in the substantials of it, to Adam's likeness to God, Eph. iv. 24. Col. iii. 10. 2 Cor. iii. 18. Gen. i. 26. 27 .: a new creature, that hath a real subfiftence in us, and renders us new in our qualities, and which is contrary to, and exclusive of old finful lusts, 2 Cor. v. 17. Gal. vi. 15. Eph. ii. 10. iv. 24. Col. in. 10.; a new man, the reverse of the old man, which must be put off, and is crucified with Christ, Eph. iv. 22. 24. Col. iii. 9. 10. Rom. vi. 6.; a new man, having eyes to fee, ears to hear, and a heart to understand, Deut. xxix. 4.; an inward, or inner man, which delights in God's law, and is renewed and firengthened day by day, Rom. vii. 22. 2 Cor. iv. 16. Eph. iii. 16.; a spirit born of God's Spirit,—a new spirit, put within one, and which lusteth against the flesh, or habits of finful corruption, and directs and draws in a good walk, and produceth gracious fruits of actual holinefs, John iii. 5. 6. Ezek. xxxvi. 26. xi. 19. Rom. viii. 4. Gal. v. 17. 22.; -as fleshly tables of the heart, in which Christ's truths are written by the Holy Ghost, 2 Cor. iii. 3.; an inward root, which produceth good acts, Matth. vii. 17. 18. xii. 33. xiii. 6. 21.; a good treasure of the heart, out of which good acts are brought forth, Matth. xii. 35.; good ground of an honest and good heart, in which the feed of the gospel-truth is fown, Luke viii. 15. Matth. xiii. 23.; as incorruptible feed, distinct from, and conveyed into the heart by, the word of God, I Pet. i. 23.; feed that abideth in every one born of God, whether infants or adult, 1 John iii. 9. manifest an implanted habit of grace in every faint .- This gracious habit or principle, under the different forms of knowledge, faith, love, hope, &c. is represented as obtained, 2 Pet. i. 1.; had, 2 Thess. iii. 2.; kept, 2 Tim. iv. 7.; as abiding, Luke xxii. 32. 1 Cor. xiii. 8. 13.; dwelling, 2 Tim. i. 5. Eph. iii. 17.; as working, Gal. v. 6. 22. Jam. ii. 22. 1 Cor. xiii. 4. 8.; as increafed, 2 Cor. x. 15.; growing, 2 Pet. iii. 18.: all which descriptions manifelt, that, in every regenerate person, there is divinely implanted, preferved, ftrengthened, and actuated, a fupernatural gracious habit, or vital principle of holiness, altogether distinct from Christ, and his Spirit or word.—This implanted and inherent grace or holinefs, may either be viewed as one fimple habit or principle, filling and disposing the whole soul to holy acts; or, in respect of the different powers powers of the foul, in which it is fealed and acts, and in respect of its different forms of acting on objects, it may be diffinguished into the different habits or graces of knowledge, faith, love, hope, repentance, &c. But the thing itself is so important, that whosoever denies this implanted inherent habitual grace, holinefs, or rightcoufnefs, overthrows the gospel, and all the work of the Spirit of God, and the grace of Christ, and the new-covenant. out allowing this habitual grace, we must deny original fin, the finful corruption of man's whole nature, and the fpiritual extent, and indifpenfable obligation of God's law, as a rule of life. We must deny the salvation of infants, or pretend they are admitted to heaven without any gracious dispositions. We must deny all spiritual union with Christ, justification by the imputation of his righteoufnefs, or adoption into his family. We must deny all indwelling of Christ, his Spirit and word, in our hearts, and leave it to be filled, actuated, and governed, by the indwelling habits of finful corruption. We must deny all fanctification of the nature, all renovation of the whole man, after the image of God; all experience and exercise, truly gracious or acceptable to God; all spiritual warfare between the flesh and spirit; all growth and perfeverance in grace, and perfection therein at last; all marks of a gracious state, and examination of ourfelves, whether we be in the faith, or Christ be in us; all habitual, nay, actual preparation for the Lord's fupper, or for death or heaven; all meekness of nature or temper, for the bleffedness of heaven; and all admisfion to it, unless it be with hearts filled with all unrighteoufnefs. In fhort, the whole experience and exercises of religion must be reduced to those of the stony-ground hearers; some kind of moral influence of the Holy Ghoft, by the word, and fome rootless, chimerical, and transient acts of faith, love, or the like.

REN [335] REN

RFN REP

RENOUNCE; folemnly to give -up with, 2 Cer. iv. 2.

RENOWN; a wide-spread fame of one's excellencies, and good or mighty deeds, Dan. ix. 15 .: and to be renowned, is to have a high character for wifdom, honour, wealth, victories, Numb. i. 16. Ezek. xxvi. 17. xxxiv. 29. If. xiv. 20.

REPAIR; to build up what is rent or broken down, Judg. ii. 23. 2 Chron. The Jews were repairers of breaches, and restorers of paths to dwell in, when, after the deformations of Manasseh and Amon, Josiah re-established the pure worship of God, and abolished idolatry; and when, after the Chaldean captivity, they returned, and built their temple and houses, and re-established the worship of God; but chiefly, when, in the apostolic age and the Millennium, they return to the Lord, and all division between them and the Gentiles is removed, If. lviii. 12.

REPENT, is, with grief, to change one's mind to what is thought more proper, Matth. xxi. 29. God repents, not by changing of his mind, affection, or purpose, but by changing the manner of his work: fo he repented that he had made man, or made Saul king, when he changed the course of his providence towards them, as men would do when they repent, and change their mind, acting as one determined to destroy and pull them down, Gen. vi. 6. 7. I Sam. xv. II. His repenting himself concerning his fervants, or his repentings kindling, imports his compassionately rifing up for their deliverance, after he had feemed determined to ruin them in the world, Deut. xxxii. 36. Pfal. cxxxv. 14. Hof. xi. 8. His repenting of the evil or the good he had conditionally threatened or promifed, denotes his not inflicting the one, or bestowing the other, Pial. cvi. 45. Jer. xviii. 10. His gifts and calling are without repentance, can never be recalled or taken back, as his love and faithfulness render them unalterable, Rom. xi. 29. Mens repentance is, (1.) A change of mind, earnestly wishing something undone that Isaac found no place for repentance; though Elau, with tears, , begged it, and himfelf earneftly defired REP [337] REP

it, yet he could not possibly recal the bleffing of Jacob, and transfer it to Efau, Heb. xii. 17. Or a change of opinion concerning the Messiah, or finful acts, &c. Matth. iii. 2. iv. 17. (2.) A legal repentance, wherein one is grieved for, and turns from his fin, to outward appearances of religion, merely on account of the hurt it hath done, or is like to do to him: fo a malefactor, who still loves his fin, repents of doing it, because it brings him to punishment; so Judas repented of his betraying his Matter, because he saw it would bring him to everlasting shame and torment, Mat. xxvii. 3. (3.) Gofpel-repentance, which is a faving grace wrought in the heart of a finful perfon by the word and spirit of God, whereby, from a fight and fense of his fin, as offensive to God, murderous to Christ, and defiling to his own foul, and from an apprehension of the mercy of God in Christ, he, with grief and hatred of all his known fins, turns from them to God, as his Saviour, Portion, and Lord, with full purpose of, and endeavour after, new obedience. This is called repentance towards God, as therein we turn from fin to him; and repentance unto life, as it proceeds from, and manifests our spiritual life, and daily increafeth it, and iffues in, and prepares for eternal life, Matth. iii. 2. Acts iii. 19. xx. 21. xi. 18. In every cafe a correspondent faith must precede repentance; the faith of the law must precede legal repentance, Rom. iii. 19.; and the faith of the gospel must precede a true evangelic repentance: we must first by faith look on Jesus, and then mourn: he that cometh to God muft believe, and come by Christ, as the way; and whatfoever is not of faith is fin, Zech. xii. 10. Heb. xi. 6. John xiv. 6. Rom. xiv. 23. But repentance is fometimes mentioned first, perhaps, because repentance is the end, and faith is the means, Acts xx. 21.; or, in that expression, Repent, and believe the gospel, the fenfe may be, Change your carnal notions of the Melhah, and his kingdom, and believe the truths and offers of the gospel, Mark i. 15. Repent-Vol. II.

ance is an absolutely necessary fruit of pardon of sin in justification, Ezek. xvi. 62. 63. xxxvi. 25.—31.; part of begun salvation, and preparative for the complete degrees of salvation, Luke xiii. 3. 5. See Forgive.

The vain REPETITIONS of the Pharifces, were the faying the fame things over and over in their prayers, as if the more they fpake, they would be the better heard, Matth. vi. 9.

REPLENISH; to fill with inhabitants or wealth, Ezek. xxvi. 2. God replenifles forrowful fouls, when he fills them with joy and comfort, Jer. xxxi. 25. The Jews were replenifled from the east; entertained numbers of idolatrous magicians, and their abominations, from Chaldea and Assyria; or, were proud of their alliance with the Assyrians, Is. ii. 6.

REPHAIM; a valley on the fouth or well of Jerusalem, very fruitful in corn, If. xvii. 5. It seems to have had its name from the GIANTS that anciently inhabited it; and here the host of the Philistines encamped oftener than once, I Chron. xi. 15. xiv. 9.

REPHIDIM; a place on the east, fide of the western gulf of the Red sea, where the Hebrews tempted God, and quarrelled with Moses, for want of water; and so it was called Mirebah, contention, and Massah, temptation. Here Moses brought them water from a ROCK; and here they, under the direction of Joshua, routed the Amalekites.

To REPLY against God, is to quarrel with his purpose or providence, Rom. ix. 20.

To REPORT a thing, is, (1.) To declare how it is done, how orders are executed, Ezek. ix. 11. (2.) To declare openly, or again and again, 1 Cor. v. 1. Report, and we will report it; tell us what you can against Jeremiah, and we will rehearse it to the king, to have him punished, Jer. xx. 10. The gospel is called a report or hearing; therein the samed excellencies and works of a God in Christ are declared; and the prophets, apostles, and ministers, receiving it from Christ, publish it to men, If. liii. 1.

RE-

REP [338] RES

REPROACH; INFAMY; (1.) The bad character of one, whether procured by his own wicked deeds, or occafioned by false accusation, outrageous upbraiding, or fcornful derifion, Prov. vi. 33. If. li. 7. Ezek. xxxvi. 3. Nch. (2.) Slanderous speech, whereby men give difgraceful characters to others, Pfal. lxxix. 12. Persons or things are faid to be a repreach, when loaded with bad characters, and made a common by - word, Pfal. xxii. 6. IXXXIX. 41. Sin is the reproach of any people; it is a difgrace to them, and tends to render them contemptible, Prov. xiv. 34. Oppression or mocking of the poor, is a repreaching of God, as if his image on them deferved no respect; as if, by making them poor, he had devoted them to hard usage; and as if he could not proted them, Prov. xiv. 31. xvii. 5. The reproach of Christ, is foorn and calumny endured for adherence to him and his ways, Heb. xi. 26. xiii. 13. Among the Hebrews barrennels was accounted areproach, as it excluded from a share in the multiplication of Abraham's feed, and from being the honoured progenitor of the Melliah, Gen. XXX. 23. If. iv. 1. Luke i - 25. Uncircumeision was the repreach of Egypt, as it anciently marked men aliens from God like the Egyptians; and perhaps many of the Jews neglected to circumcife their children in Egypt, Josh. v. 9. God put the Philistines to a perpetual reproach, when he fmote them with the long remembered and shameful disease of the emerods, Pfal. lxxviii. 66. Reproach breaks the heart, as it not only tends to bereave one of his outward enjoyments, but renders him contemptible and ufelefs for advancing the honour of God, or doing real fervice to mankind, Pfal. Ixix. 20.

REPROBATE; not approven. Among metallifts, it fignifies what cannot abide the trial, without flowing itself droffy, or of a coarse alloy. Thus wicked men are reprobate silver; they are not purged nor refined, nor will pass current according to the standard of God's law, Jer. vi. 30. When used concerning wrestling games and races, it fignifies him who mifcarries, and loses the prize. Left I should be a reprobate or caft-away; lest I should be found an hypocritical counterfeit, one void of true grace, one whom God will never reward as a runner of the Chriftian race, or as a victorious fighter of the good fight of faith, I Cor. ix. 27. A reprobate mind, is one hardened in wickedness, and which cannot differn between good and evil, Rom. i. 28. Men are reprobate concerning the faith, when they apostatize from the doctrines of Christ, and abandon themselves to the most horrible errors, 2 Tim. iii. 8. They are reprobate to every good work, when quite incapable, and averse toperform them, and to others performing of them, Tit. i. 16. See DECREE.

REPROVE. See REBUKE.

REPUTE; to reckon; efteem, Job zviii. 3. Reputation, an high character, Gal. ii. 2.

REQUEST'; to crave; pray for,

Judg. viii. 26. 1 Kings xix. 4.

REQUIRE; (1.) To ask as a favour, Ezra viii. 22. (2.) To demand as a debt, or as due obedience, Luke xix. 23. Deut. x. 12. (3.) To call to account for, Ezek. xxxiv. 10. (4.) To avenge; punish for, I Sam. xx. 16. God requireth things that are past; he orders that which was past and driven away, to be renewed and brought back; and requites men for their past deeds, Eccl. iii. 15. This night shall thy soul be required of thee; it shall be separated from thy body, and called to give an account of itself, and its deeds, at the tribunal of God, Luke xii. 20.

REQUITE. See RECOMPENCE. REREWARD; the last body or hindmost part of the troops in a marching army, who, as it were, guard the back of the army, Josh. vi. 13. The Lord, or his glory, is the rereward of his people, when he affords them full protection, even from unseen enemies: so he was to the Jews in their return from Babylon, Is. lii. 12. lviii. 8.

RESCUE; (1.) To recover back from captivity, 1 Sam. xxx. 18. (2.) To fave from imminent danger, Acts xxiii. 27.

 RE_{τ}

RES [339] RES

RESEMBLE; (1.) To be like to other persons or things, Judg. viii. 18. (2.) To like or compare, Luke xiii. 18.

RESEN; a noted city of Affyria, built by Athur, between Nineveh and Calah. Some think all the three, together with Rehoboth, were at laft united into Nineveh; but perhaps Refen is the fame as La-riffa on the Tigris, which was eight miles in circumference, its walls 100 feet high, and 25 broad, Gen. x. 12.

RESERVE: (1.) To leave; fet afide for a particular use, 2 Sam. viii. 4. (2.) To keep firmly and carefully, Jude 6. (3.) To keep things in store, in order to give them out afterwards, 1 Pet. i. 4.

RESIDUE; what is left or remains behind, Exod. x. 5. Neh. xi. 20.

RESIST. See OPPOSE.

RESORT; (1.) To meet together, Neh. iv. 20. (2.) To come to,

Pfal. lxxi. 3.

RESPECT; to esteem; regard. Sinful respect of persons, is to regard and esteem them, in giving sentences of judgement, for their outward honour, power, and wealth, not attending to truth and equity, Lev. xix. 15. Deut. i. 15. In this fense, God in Christ respect not persons, for their nation, family, or outward circumstances, nor ought judges or others to do fo, Acts x. 34. Lev. xix. 15. Deut. i. 17. James ii. 1. 9. 1 Pet. i. 17. God has respect to the lowly; he delights to have fellowship with them, and to do them good, Pfal. exxxviii. 6. He had respect to Abel and his offering; esteeming his person as united to Jesus, he, by causing fire descend from heaven and confume it, showed a regard to his offering, which he offered in faith, Gen. iv. 4.

RESPITE; a breathing; a time wherein to advise, Exod. viii. 15. 1

Sam. xi. 3.

To RËST; (1.) To cease from work, Exod. xxiii. 12. (2.) To sit or nessle quietly, Gen. xviii. 4. Is. xxxiv. 14. (3.) To lean; to trust, 2 Chron. xxxii. 8. (4.) To continue fixed, If. li. 4. (5.) To come to an end, Ezek. xvi. 42. xxi. 17. God rested from creation-work, and was refreshed; he coased to make new kinds of creatures, and took pleafure in what he had made, Heb. iv. 4. Exod. xxxi. 17. His realing in his love, implies his unchanging pleafure in the past effects of it, and his taking delight in shewing it more abundantly, Zeph. iii. 17. His taking bis reft during the Affyrian ravages of Egypt and Ethiopia, imports his forbearing to interpofe remarkably between the contending parties, If. xviii. 4. When rest on the Lord, when, with a strong faith in his promise and righteoufness, they commit themselves to his care, and depend on him for all necessary blessings, Pfal. xxxvii. 7. The faints rest at noon, when, amid scorching perfecution and temptation, God bestows upon them distinguished protection, inward patience and comfort, Song i. 7. The dead reft in their graves, from all labour, difturbance and pain, If. Ivii. 2. To QUIET, is to cause to rest; make skill. God's Spirit was quieted in the north country, when the Persians, Greeks, and after them the Romans, executed the destined vengeance on Chaldea, where his people had been oppressed; or, when the fpread of the gofpel was the means of converting multitudes to Christ, Zech. vi. 8. God quieteth the earth with the fouth-wind, when he makes its gentle gales to blow on it, Job xxxvii. 17.

REST; QUIETNESS; (I.) A ceafing from labour, Exod. v. 5. (2.) A ceasing from open war, Josh. xiv. 15. (3.) Ceafing from tillage and husbandry, Lev. xxv. 5. (4.) A state of peace and reconciliation with God and mens own conscience, Matth. xi. 29. Heb. iv. 3. (5.) A calm compofure of mind, produced by the love of God shed abroad in our heart, and by the Holy Ghost's witnessing to our conscience, our justification, reconciliation, regeneration, adoption, and fure title to eternal glory, and attended with a cheerful confidence in the promifes, and a fubmission to the providences of God, Pfal. exvi. 7. (6.)

Uuz Rist

RES [340] RES

REST also fignifies, a peaceful and comfortable fettlement, fuch as Canaan to the Hebrews, and the temple to the ark, Deut. iii. 20. Pfal. cxxxii. 8. 14. (7.) A part of a wall, for the ends of beams to lie on, I Kings vi. 6. (8.) The remainder; these beside, Gen. xxx. 6. Christ in his person, offices, relations, righteoufnefs, power, and love, and in his promifes, is a reft and refreshing, which, if applied and improven, yield a most sweet pleasure and quiet to men, If. xxviii. 12. Christ's rest is glorious: his gospel-church, and his new-covenant state, wherein his people enjoy sweet delight and repose, is the product of his glorious power and bleeding love, and is glorious in its properties and ends, If. xi. 10. rest remaining for the people of God, is the gospel-state of the church, wherein men enjoy freedom from the burdenfome fervices of the ceremonial law, and have Jefus and his delightful promifes clearly exhibited to them; and the heavenly state, wherein the faints shall be for ever free from fin, forrow, temptation, and trouble, or toil, and for ever delighted in the full enjoyment of, and conformity to a God in Christ, Heb. iv. 9. Canaan, and the temple, are called God's reft, because there the fymbols of his prefence refided, and the former was given by them to the Hebrews to dwell in, Heb. iii. 11, Pfal. cxxxii. 14.; but it was not their rest, because it was polluted, as God expelled them from it, Mic. ii. 10. God give quietness, who then can make trouble? If God give inward peace and comfort, or even outward, who can vex his people? Job xxxiv. 29. The wick ed shall not feel quietness in his belly; no eafe in his mind concerning his ill-gotten goods, Job xx. 20. Damafeus was the rest of God's wrath; his judgements continued long upon it, Zech. ix. 1. QUIET; (I.) Still; calm and peaceable; composed in mind, I Thess. iv. Pfal. xlvi. 10. iv. 4. (2.) Idle; inactive, Judg. xviii: 7. 27. (3.) Free from noise and war, 2 Chron. xiv. 1.5. -- And to flill, is to render pleafed, calm, and filent, Numb. xid. 30. Neh. lav. 7.

RESTORE; (1.) To give back again, Gen. xx. 14. (2.) To re-establish one in his former office, or station, Gen. xl. 13. If. i. 26. (3.) To make reflitution, by giving back to an owner what was unjustly taken or detained from him, or which had been In holy things, and where there was the least appearance of fraud, reflitution was at least to be made to the full value, and a fifth part more. Four fheep were given for one that had been stolen, and five oxen for one, as these animals were eafily flolen, and the want of the last hindered the tillage of the field; and for fraudulent exaction of tribute, the restitution was to be four-If the owner and his heirs were all dead, or unknown, the restitution was to be made to the priest as the Lord's deputy, and no atonement could be made for the person's injustice till once the restitution was made. Did not this hint, that no man has any ground to expect forgiveness of his stealing or injustice, till he make restitution of what he unjustly obtained, at least do what he can to give every one his due? but he may make it in as fecret a way as he can, Exod. xxii. 1.—4. Numb. v. 7. 8. Lev. xxii. 14. vi. 4. Luke xix. 8. According to his substance shall his restitution be; all his estate shall be taken from him, to pay what he fraudulently got, Job xx. 18. (4.) To recover; take back; put again in poffession of, 2 Kings xiv. 25. (5.) To heal, or cure, Matth. xii. 13. (6.) To reform the church from her corruptions in doctrine, worship, and practice, Matth. xvii. 11. Christ restored what he took not away, when, by his mediation, he brought glory to God, and righteoufnefs, holinefs, and happinefs to men, Pfal. lxix. 4. To reflore a scandalous professor, or fet him in joint, is to bring him to a fense of his fin, a belief of God's pardoning mercy, and an amendment of practice, and fo an accefs to fealing ordinances, as before, Gal. vi. 1. The reflitution of all things, is the putting of the world into an holy and happy state at the last day, making all the marks of finRES RES 341

to cease from the earth, air, &c. Acts

RESTRAIN; WITH-HOLD; (1.) To keep back, as with a bridle, Pfal. lxxvi. 10. Gen xx. 6. (2,) To detain, cease from giving, Job xv. 4.

(3.) To confine, Job xv. 8.

RESURRECTION, or rifing again from the dead, is either, (1.) Civil, when a person or nation are recovered from a flate of diffrefs and bondage, as in the case of David, Hezekiah, Paul, Pfal. xxv. 3. 4. If. xxxviii. 16. 2 Cor. i. 9. 10.; and of the Jewith nation, Lam. iv. 20. Hof. vi. 1. Ezek. xxxvii. 1 .- 14. (2.) Spiritual, from a state of death in fin, to spiritual life and happiness; and this is either of particular perfons, when they are regenerated and born again, John v. 25. Eph. ii. 1. 5. Col. ii. 12. iii. 1.; or of the church, when, by the influences of Christ, she is mightily increased in her members, and they in their lively walking with God, and in their outward comfort and profpe-This will figurally take place in the beginning of the Millennium, and is called the first resurrection, If. vi. 59. 21. lx. 1. Rom. xi. 14. Rev. xx. (3.) Corporeal, when dead bodies are reflored to life. That there will be a general raising of the dead bodies of men and women at the last day, is most agreeable to reason. Reafon hints, that the law of God is given to our whole man, and is violated by our foul and body in connection. The body, as an open port, admits hints of good, and temptations to fin; the carnal affections depending on the body, corrupt and millead the mind and affections. What outward acts the foul defigns, whether good or evil, the body executes. When the heart is filled with hatred of God, and all unrighteoufnefs, the tongue, and other bodily members, are instruments to execute it. When the renewed foul loves and cleaves to Jefus Chrift, the tongue utters his praise, and other bodily members labour, or endure fuffering, for his fake. If these different parts of human nature share thus in actions good or bad, it is reasonable they share together of the everlasting reward or punishment; and hence the body must be restored to life, and reunited with the foul, never more to be feparated. The dying of feeds, that they may revive and grow up, the revival of withered trees and roots in the fpring, are a natural prefage of this refurrection, John xii. 24. 1 Cor. xv. 36. The tranflation of Enoch and Elias to heaven, both foul and body; the refloration of many to life by the hand of Elijah, Elisha, and of Jesus and his apostles; but chiefly the refurrection of Jefus Christ from the dead; are incontestible prefages hereof. Jefus rofe as the firstfruits of them that flept; to mark which, numbers of dead bodies of faints arose about the same time, who, it is scarce probable, ever returned to corruption, I Cor. xv. 20. Matth. xxvii. 52. 53. In his refurrection, he exerted his own divine power, and was folemnly owned by his Father, as his only begotten Son, Rom. i. 4. Acls xiii. 35. rose for our justification, as therein he was discharged of all our debt, which he had taken on himfelf, and exalted to be a Prince and Saviour, to give repentance and forgiveness of fins, Rom. iv. 25.; and he is the refurrection and the life; the spring and cause of our fpiritual refurrection from a state of fin, and of our revivals after finful languithing and diffrefs, and of our happy refurrection at the last day, John xi. 25.

That there shall be a future resurrection of the dead in general, is also evident from many oracles of scripture. God shewed the truth hereof to Moses at the bush, in calling himself the God of the patriarchs, after they were deceafed; which imported that their foul did, and their bodies would live unto God, Luke xx. 37. 38. Amidst all his trouble, Job firmly believed, not. that he would have a return to profperity in this life, for this he did not, Job vi. 8. 9. vii. 7. 8. x. 21. 22. xvi. 22. xvii. 1. 15. xix. 10.; and his words are too grand to exprefs fuch an eyent; but that at the laft, his Redeemer should raise him from the dead, and make him, in his flesh, in the very fame body he then had, to fee God, as his friend and portion, Job xix. 25. 26. 27. With the view hereof, God comforts his church, If. xxvi. 19. Dan. xii. 2. 3. In the New Testament this truth is evidently afferted in a multitude of texts, Luke xiv. 13. John vi. 39. 40.44.54. xi. 24.—26. xiv. 19. Acts iv. 2. xvii. 18. xxvi. 8. Rom. viii. 11. I Cor. vi. 14. xv. 2 Cor. i. 9. iv. 14. r Theff. iv. 14. 2 Tim. iv. 1. Heb. vi. 2. Rev. xx. 12. 13. That the fame body will be raifed, is evident, from the reasons above mentioned, as well as from the very nature of a refurrection; for if the fame body was not raised, it could be no resurrection, but a new creation. It is their body, that was once vile, mortal, difeafed, and dead and buried, and that bore the image of the earthly Adam, that shall be raifed, changed, and glorified, Phil. iii. 21. Rom. viii. 11. Job xix. 26. 27. John v. 28. 1 Cor. xv. 42. 43. 51. 53. 54. That the faints bodies shall rife first, and be rendered glorious, like unto Christ's glorisied body, and spiritual, to as to need no ment or drink, and to be no clog to the foul, is also plain. The vain questions concerning the time of the refurrection; the apparent difficulties of the raifing of the same body; the difference of fex in them that are raifed, I dismiss as improper here. Nothing proper is impossible for the power and wisdom of God. But let us know, and earneftly remember, that by the refurrection of life, the godly shall, first in order, and in a glorious manner, be raifed to enjoy everlafting happiness; and by the refurrection of damnation, the wicked shall rife to everlasting shame and torment; while hell shall give up their departed fouls, the fea and earth shall produce their dead bodies, John v. 28. 29. Rev. xx. 12. 13. 14.

RET [342] RET

RETAIN; to hold fast in one's power or possession, Judg. vii. 8. xix. 14. God retaineth not his anger for ever; he will not always continue to punish and afflict, Mic. vii. 18. Wicked men like not to retain God in their knowledge; they are not inclined to cherish and increase their notions of God, and the impressions of his greatnefs, goodnefs, and justice, on their conscience, Rom. i. 28. Sins are retained, when the finner is continued under censure or condemnation, John xx. 23. Berenice did not retain the power of the arm; did not by her marriage establish a firm union between the two kingdoms of Egypt and Syria; nor did the long maintain her interest in the favour of her husband Antiochus Theos; for he, after the death of her father Ptolemy Philadelphus, king of Egypt, divorced her, and retook Laodice, by whom he himfelf, Berenice, and her child and friends, were foon after murdered, Dan. xi. 6.

RETIRE; to march backward, go to a fide, Judg. xx. 39.

RETURN; (1.) To go back to whence one came from, Exod. xiii. 17. (2.) To come again, 2 Chron. xviii. 26. (3.) To requite, 1 Kings ii. 32. 44. (4.) To rehearfe; tell over, Exod. xix. 8. God returns to men, when after fome judgements and afflictions he bestows fresh favours upon them, Pfal. vi. 4. Joel ii. 14. He returns on high, when lie, as a Judge, gives fentence for his people, and against their enemies, and displays his authority and power in the execution thereof, Pfal. vii. 7. Men return to God, when they repent of their finful wandering out of the way of his commandments, and begin anew to obey and ferve him, If. x. 21. Ezek. xviii. 21. The return of the year, is the fpring-tide, when it began anew in the feafon, and in the facred reckoning of the Jews, 1 Kings xx. 22. In returning and rest ye shall be javed; by means of returning to God in Christ, by faith and repentance, and by resting quietly on him, as your support and deliverer, without going to Egypt for help, shall ye have deliverance, If. xxx. 15. Let them return to thee, but return thou not to them; let them hearken to thy words, and follow thy pattern; but comply not thou with them in their courses, nor flatter them in their fins, Jer. xv. 19.

REU,

REU [343] REU

REU, or RAGAU, the son of Peleg, and father of Serug, was born A. M. 1787, and died A. M. 2026, Gen. xi. 18.

REUBEN, the eldest son of Jacob by Leah, born A. M. 22.46. When very young he found dudaim, which we render mandrakes, in the field, about the time of wheat-harvest. These his mother fold to Rachel, who coveted them, for her night of Jacob. When he was about 40 years of age, he, to the great grief of his father, committed incest with his concubine; but seems to have deeply repented thereof. Though Joseph stood fair to come between him and his father's inheritance, he did ail that in him lay to preferve Joseph in fafety. He begged the rest of his brethren would not murder him. With a view to protect him, he perfuaded them to throw him into a dry pit, and leave him there to die of his own accord. While he took a roundabout turn to draw him out, and fend him home, his brethren had taken him out, and fold him to the Midianites. When he found him taken out, he rent his cloaths, and cried that he knew not what to do. When afterwards Joseph's rough ulage of them brought them to a fense of their guilt concerning his blood, Reuben reminded them, how obstinately deaf they were to all his intreaties for the prefervation of his life. When his father refused to let Benjamin go with them into Egypt, he offered to pawn the life of his two fons, that he would bring him fafely back. In his last benediction, Jacob told him, that for his incest he should lose his birth-right, and should never excel, Gen. xx.x. 32. xxx. 14. xxxv. 22. xxxvii. 29. 30. xlii. 21. 22. 37. xlix. 3. 4. I Chron. v. 1.

His fons were Hanoch, Pallu, Hezron, and Carmi; all of whom were parents of confiderable families, Numb. xxvi. 5. 6. When the Reubenites came out of Egypt, their number fit for war amounted to 46,500, under the command of Elizur, the fon of Shedeur. They, with their brothren of Simeon and Gad, formed the second division in the march of the Hebrews, and went just before the ark. Their fpy for fearching the promifed land, was Shammua the fon of Zacchur. Dathan, Abiram, and On, who rebelled against Moses and Aaron, along with Korah, were of this tribe. plains of Moab their warriors amounted to 43,730. When Mofes feized the kingdoms of Sihon and Og, the Reubenites and Gadites, observing how proper the country was for their valt numbers of flocks and herds, begged to have it as their portion. At first Moses refused; but on their proposing to affift their brethren with all their force, in the conquest of western Canaan, he granted the country to them, and the half-tribe of Manasseh. There they repaired the cities, and fettled their wives and children. Their warriors went over Jordan; and though perhaps they visited their families at turns, yet they continued with their brethren for the most part of fevenyears, till all the tribes had got their fettlements; after which they were honourably difmiffed. In their returnhome, they erected the altar of Ed, on the bank of Jordan, not for offering facrifices or incense, but for a testimony that they were of the same Hebrew flock and religion with their brethren... The defign of this was at first mistaken by the other tribes; and Phinehas, and a variety of the princes, were fent toexpostulate with them about this matter, as they took it to be a step towards apoilaly from the worship of God; but when they heard the true defign of erecting the altar, they were fatisfied. According to the predictions of Jacob and Moses, this tribe never excelled, there never being any noted person thereof, and they lay much exposed to enemies, the Moabites on the fouth, the Ammonites on the east, and the Syrians from the north, Numb. xxvi. 5. 6. i. 5. 21. x. 18.—21. xvi. xvxii. Josh. xxii. Deut, xxxiii. 6. In the days of Deborah, the Reubenites were so embarrassed with intestine broils or foreign invasions, that they could fend no affiftance to Barak. During

REV [341] REV

During the reign of Saul, they, perhaps under the command of Bela the fon of Azaz, conquered a tribe of the Hagarites on the cast of Gilead, and feized on their country. Of them, and their brethren the Gadites and Manaffites, to the number of 120,000, attended at David's coronation. In that period, Eliezer the fou of Zichri was their governor; and Adina the fon of Shiza was one of David's worthics. Hazael king of Syria terribly ravaged their country; but it feems, that afterwards, in the reign of Jeroboam II. they and their brethren of Gilead fmote the Hagarites, and took from them their country, and a prodigious booty of flocks. Not long after, when Beerah was their prince, Tiglath-pilefer carried them captive into the northeast parts of his empire, Judg. v. 15. 16. 1 Chron. xii. 37. xxvii. 16. xi. 42. 2 Kings x. 37. 1 Chron. v.

REVEĂL; to make manifest what was before concealed or unknown, Rom. Christ is revealed, when God favingly enlightens mens mind in the faving knowledge of Christ, Gal. i. 16. and when, by fearful judgements on the Jewish nation, he manifested his power and Messiahship, Luke xvii. 30.; and when he will, at the last day, come openly to judge the world, 2 Theff. i. 7. The arm of the Lord is revealed, when Christ is favingly difcovered; and when the power of God in its mighty effects, is favingly felt, fins being forgiven, the confeience purified, and the heart changed, If. liii. His righteoufness is revealed, when the obedience and fuffering of Christ, in which the equity of God's nature and law thine forth, are declared and offered to finful men, If. lvi. 1. Rom. i. 17. The heavens reveal mens iniquity, when God brings it to light, and punitheth them observably for it, Job xx. 27. The wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all unrighteousness, when, by the flings of finners conscience, and by his judgements on them, his displeasure with their conduct is clearly manifested, Rom. i. 18. The Popish man of fin was revealed, when he observably appeared as head of the church or as a civil prince, z Theff. ii. 8. Men reveal their cause to God, when they lay it before him in prayer, Jer. xi. 20. By Christ's coming into the world, and being preached in the gospel, the thoughts of many hearts are revealed; some have their confciences fully fearched by his word; and many, by their evidence of regard to, or hatred of him, declare what is in their hearts, Luke ii. 35. Every man's work shall be tried and revealed by fire; by the fire of God's word trying it, by hery trials and perfecutions, and especially by a thorough trial in the last judgement, its nature and quality shall be plainly discovered, I Cor. iii. 13. Any immediate difcovery of God's mind, is called a REVELATION, Gal. i. 12. 1 Cor. xiv. 6. 26.; but the last book of the scripture, in which God discovered to John the apostle, a multitude of things relative to his will and purpose towards the church, is particularly fo called, Rev. i. t. After an introduction and description of a vision which John had of Jesus Christ in the ifle of Patmos, it contains feven epistles to the Asian churches of Ephefus, Smyrna, Pergamos, Thyatira, Sardis, Philadelphia, and Laodicea, in which Jefus commends their good things, reproves their defects, and calls to reform them, and encourages them under their trials, chap. i. ii. iii. chap, iv. and v. we have an introduction to the prophetic part, confishing of a vilion of God upon a throne, and celebrated by ministers and faints; and . of Christ's opening the seven-sealed book of his purpofes, to the great joy of angels and redeemed men. In chap. vi. is the opening of fix feals, exhibiting the flate of the church, and of the Roman empire, from Christ's afcention, to the fall of the heathenish form of the empire, about A. D. 323. In chap. vii. is an emblematic reprefentation of the fecurity of the faints under the trumpets, and their happy outgate from their troubles. In chap. vii. and ix. is the opening of the feventh feal, and the founding of fix trumpets, trumpets, whereby is exhibited the fate of the church, by the Arians, Donatists, Pelagians, Papists, and Saracens; and the fate of the Roman empire, by the Goths, Vandals, Huns, Heruli, Saracens, and Turks, from A. D. 323 to 1866, or 2016. chap. x. is another introductory vision of Jesus Christ with a little open book, the feals being now loofed, in his hand, importing a further discovery of the events of Providence. In chap. xi. is a view of the rife, power, duration of, and opposition to Antichrist, and of his fall, and the glorious Millennium; and fo reaches from A. D. 606, to the end of the 1000 years reign of the faints; and of it the xiii. to xxii. are but an explication. In chap. xii. is a repeated view of the state of the church, under Heathenism and Antichrist. chap, xiii, and xiv, we have a view of the rife of Antichrift, in his civil and ecclefiaftic power, together with preludes, warnings, and emblematic reprefentations of his ruin. In chap. xv. and xvi. we have the preparation for, and the pouring out of the destructive vials of God's wrath on Antichrift. In chap, xvii, xviii, and xix, are exhibited the marks of Antichrift, and the causes and terrible nature of his overthrow, and the grief of his friends, and joy of the faints thereat. In chap. xx. is reprefented the glorious Millennium and the last judgement. In chap. xxi. and xxii. is represented the happiness of the millennial and of the eternal state; and a terrible denunciation of wrath to fuch as take from, or add to, the words of God.

REV [345] REV

REVELLINGS; luxurious feafting, attended with wanton fongs and behaviour, Gal. v. 21.

REVENGE, or VENGEANCE; (1.) An angry refentment of an injury that has been, or is supposed to be done us, Jer. xx. 10. (2.) A just censure of a scandal, 2 Cor. x. 6. (3.) An hatred of sin, manifested in using all proper methods to destroy it, 2 Cor. vii. 11. When revenge or vengeance is attributed to God, it includes no patson, but merely a righteous disposition Vol. II.

to punish evil-doers, Acts xxviii. 4. 5 and the just punishment inflicted on them, Pfal. lviii. 10.; or chastifement of his people, Pfal. xcix. 8. Vengeance belongeth only unto God; he alone can fully refent injuries; he alone has right to refent injuries done to himfelf, as the God and supreme Governor of the world; and he prohibited to private perfons all revenge of injuries done them, Lev. xix. 17. 18. Rom. xii. 17. 19.; and by the law of requital, he did not allow, but fet bounds to private revenge, Exod. xxi. 4. When magistrates punish injuries, or when the kinfman-redeemer killed him who had accidentally flain his friend, they acted as the deputies of God, the fupreme ruler, Rom. xiii. 4. Numb. xxxv. 19. 24. The punishment taken by God on the Chaldeans, for destroying his people and temple, is called the vengeance of his temple, Jer. l. 28.

REVENUE; profit; income, Ezra iv. 13. If. xxiii. 3. Christ's revenue is the blessings he gives to men, which are more precious, enriching, and useful, than choice silver, Prov. viii. 19. In the revenue of the wicked is trouble; in acquiring, preserving, and parting with their wealth, they have trouble; and a curse and trouble often punish their wicked manner of procuring it, Prov. xv. 6. The Jews were ashamed of their revenue; ashamed of what they had sinfully procured to themselves, and of the assumption of their giving presents to, and trusting in the Egyptians, Jer. xii. 13.

REVERENCE, is a fubmiffive and humble deportment. To do reverence to God, is to have a humble and haid awe of his greatness, fear of his displeasure, and a self-abased temper of spirit in worthipping him, or bearing his chastisements, Heb. xii. 28. To reverence his sanctuary, is to pay an awful and self-debasing regard to his ordinances, Lev. xix. 30. God's name is reverend; all things whereby he makes himself known, are to be awfully regarded, as connected with him, who is infinitely great, and to be feared of all his creatures, Psal. evi. 9. To do

 ${
m X} {
m \ X}$ reverence

reverence to men, is humbly to make our compliments to them, by bowing before them, or the like, 2 Sam. ix. 6.

REVERSE; to make null; overturn, Numb. xxiii. 20.

REVILE; RAIL; to speak evil or indifcreetly of persons or things, Matth. xxvii. 39. I Sam. xxv. 14. As their words are like spears and swords, dethructive to mens persons, characters, and interest, revilers or railers ought to be expelled from human fociety and the church, I Cor. v. II.; and God has excluded them from his kingdom, 1 Cor. vi. 10. It was highly criminal to revile rulers in church or state; and revilers of parents were appointed to death, Exod. xxii. 28. xxi. + 17. They are bleffed of God who blefs, and from the heart wish well to such as revile them, Matth. v. 11. 1 Cor. iv. 12.

REVIVE; (1.) To become lively and cheerful, after much fainting and forrow, Gen. xlv. 27. (2.) To live again, after being dead, or dead-like, Rom. xiv. 9. Hof. xiv. 7. (3.) To quicken, and render lively and active, Pfal. lxxxv. 6. God revives men, when he grants deliverance to them from great calamities, and gives his quickening Spirit and grace, to render them active and cheerful in his fervice, Hof. vi. 2. Ezra ix. 8. If. lvii. 15. The Jews revived the stones out of the heaps of rubbish, when they digged them up, and rebuilt the wall of Jerufalem therewith, Neh. iv. 2. Sin revives, when the commandment is closely applied to mens conscience, and the guilt, pollution, and power of their fin is manifested, and it acts with greater vigour than before, Rom. vii. 9.

REWARD; wages; (1.) What is gained by fervice; or as the fubfiftence of ministers, 1 Tim. v. 18. 2 Cor. xi. 8.; and what is gained by finful works, is the wages of unrighteousness, 2 Pet. ii. 15. (2.) The fruit of mens labour, Eccl. ix. 5. (3.) A bribe given to a judge for his favour in a cause, Deut. xxvii. 25.—The recoard of the godly from God, is the blessings he bestows on them in consequence of their good works, and particularly the unmerited gift of eternal life in heaven. which is bellowed upon them, from the mercy of God, and through the righteonliness of Jesus Christ, Matth. v. 12. The reward of the wicked, or the wages of their sin, is that fearful and just punishment of death, temporal, fpiritual, or eternal, which God inflicts upon them, Pfal. xci. 8. Children are God's reward, which he beftows as a bleffing on parents; or, which parents devote to God, as an acknowledgement of his kindnefs, Pfal. exxvii. The praise and high esteem of men, is the reward of hypocritical appearances of religion, Matth. vi. 2. 5. The Jews loved a reward on every corn-floor, like harlots, ready to prostitute themfelves on corn-floors, or any where; and for a meafure of corn, or piece of bread, they afcribed their plentiful crops to their idols, and gave them tithes of all they had; and were ready to join with the idols of any country about, for the fake of the most pitiful advantage, Hof. ix. 1.

REZIN; the last king of the ancient Syrians, perhaps a descendant of Hazael. Entering into a league with Pekah king of Ifrael, they invaded the kingdom of Judah, then governed by Ahaz. Not being able to take Jerufalem, they ravaged the country, and returned home. Soon after, Rezin's army again plundered the country, and about this time he marched to the Red fea, and took Elath, and restored it, whether to Syria or the Edomites we are uncertain, as in the Hebrew Aram and Edom are so very similar. But it is certain, that not long aft x, Tiglath-pilefer king of Affyria, at Ahaz's defire, invaded Syria, flew Rezin, and carried his fubjects captive to Media, 2 Kings xvi. 2 Chron. xxviii.

If. vii. viii.

REZON, the fon of Eliadah, revolting from his mafter Hadadezer, the Syrian king of Zobah, while David made war upon him, put himfelf at the head of a band of robbers, and after fundry ravages of the country about Damafeus, he feized on that city, and fet up for king of that place. But whether he did so in the time of David, or only in the time of Solomon, we know not. Nor know we at what time he began to give diffurbance to Solomon. It is certain, that at the time of his death, he could fearee be lefs than 90 years of age; and it is like he was fucceeded by his fon Hezion, 1 Kings xi. 23. 24. 25. xv. 18.

whether

RHORHE

RHEGIUM; a city in the kingdom of Naples, on the fouth point of Italy, about fix miles east of Mellina in Sicily, and 180 fouth of Naples. is faid to have been originally built by a colony from Chalcis. It was fplendidly rebuilt by Julius Cefar, after his defeat of Pompey, and driving him out of Sicily. Here Paul touched as he went prisoner to Rome, Acts xxviii. 12. 14. It has been often plundered by the Turks, and hurt by earthquakes. It is nevertheless still in a tolerable condition, and is the feat of an archbishop, and of two colleges; but the inhabitants are not numerous, nor is their trade great; nor are their harbours good, being exposed to all winds, and proper only for finall ships.

RHODA. See Peter.

RHODES; an island of the Mediterranean sea, about 75 miles east of Crete, and 8 fouth of Caria and Lyfia in Leffer Asia, and of about 120 miles in circumference. Some think it was peopled by Dodanim, or Rhodanim, the grandfon of Japheth; but perhaps it was rather peopled by the posterity of Shem, who dwelt in the adjacent continent; and had its name from the multitude of roses that grew on it. is certain, the Rhodians were famous about the time of the Trojan war. Their most ancient cities were Lindus, Camirus, Jalyfus, and Rhodes, which foon eclipfed all the reft, and is still a place of note. This island was famed for the fineness of the weather, and the excellent wines thereof; and for their excellent laws relative to fea-trade. which were a kind of standard to the fea-faring men about; and for the birth of feveral excellent artifts, in painting, itatuary, &c.; but for nothing more than the famed Colossus, or image of

Apollo, which was fixed on the mouth of their harbour at Rhodes, fo as the flaips failed in between the feet of it. It was 70 cubits high, or, according to Sextus Emperious, 80, and its parts in proportion, few men being able to grafp its thumb. It was begun by Chares of Lindus, and was finished by Laches, and coll about 300 talents, and contained about 720,000 pound weight of brafs. It was creefed about A. M. 3716; and after flanding 60 years, was thrown down by an earthquake. The Rhodians procured a contribution from the nations about, to restore it; but having got about five times the worth of it, they were too covetous to apply the money to any fuch use. No body, however, ventured to carry off the brafs of the fallen ftatue, till about 894 years after, when Muavias the fixth Caliph of the Saracens, fold it to a Jew, who loaded 900 camels therewith. After two different races of kings had governed the Rhodians, they introduced a commonwealth form of government. After they had undergone a variety of changes, fometimes oppressed or distressed by the Carians or Greeks, and fometimes in a great flourish of grandeur, and Lords of Caria and Lycia on the continent, or courted by almost every state around, they at last fell a prey to the conquering and villanous Romans. About A. M. 3962, and about an hundred years after, Rhodes was made a part of the province of the islands. The Saracens feized it A. D. 654; but the Greeks afterwards retook it, and kept it till 1283, when it was taken by the Seljukian Turks. In 1308, the warlike knights of St John of Jerufalem wrested it out of their hands, and kept possession of it till 1522, when Solyman the Ottoman Turk, attacked them with 200,000 men, and 300 thips. After almost a year's flege of the city of Rhodes, and the loss of 90,000 of his troops, the knights, whose urmy was now reduced to 6000, were obliged to guit the island, and foon after fettled in Malta. Most of the Rhodians deferted the place about the fame X x 2 time. The Turks therefore granted diftinguished liberties and privileges to such Greeks as they could excite to reinhabit it. Paul touched here as he went to Jerusalem, A. D. 60; but we find no vestige of Christianity till the 4th century, since which it has never been wholly expelled. At present, the inhabitants are generally Greeks, sufficiently poor and oppressed; but the Jews, who sled from Spain, are the principal inhabitants of the city and castle.

R I B [348] R I D

RIBS: those bones in the sides of many animals which are the protection of cheir heart and bowels. Eve's being formed of a slesshed rib taken out of Adam's side, imported the almost equality, and strong affection, that ought to take place between husbands and wives, Gen. ii. 21. 22. The three kingdoms of Lydia, Babylon, and Egypt, conquered by Cyrus and his Medo-Persian troops, are likened to three ribs in the mouth of a bear, Dan. vii. 5.

RIBLAH; a city of Syria, in the land of Hamath. It was a most agreeable place. Here Pharaoh-necho, in his return from Carchemish, ordered Jehoahaz to meet him, and deprived him of his crown, giving it to Jehoiakim his brother, 2 Kings xxiii. 33. 34. Here Nebuchadnezzar fpent his time while his generals befieged Jerufalem; and here he murdered Zedekiah's children, and feveral of the Jewish princes, put out Zedekiah's eyes, and put him in chains, 2 Kings xxv. Jer. xxxix. 5. Some think Riblah was the lii. 9. fame as Antioch, or as Daphne in Syria; but as the feripture reprefents it as on the way between Carchemith and Jerufalem, we can fearce believe it was either of the two; but rather a city not far from Damascus, the vestiges of which are now gonc.

RICH; WEALTHY; (1.) Such as have great incomes, and plenty of worldly good things, 1 Tim. vi. 17. Jer. xlix. 31. (2.) Such as place their happiness and confidence in their outward prosperity, Mat. xix. 24. Lnke vi. 24. (3.) Such as have plenty of spiritual gifts and graces, and are intitled to everlasting happinets, James ii. 5. (4.) Such as, in their own opinion, abound with fpititual gifts and graces, while deflitute thereof, Rev. iii. 17. (5.) Wife and worthy men, largely furnished with excellent endowments, Eccl. x. 6. (6.) Precious; plentiful, Ezek. xxvii. 24. 1 Tim. vi. 18. God is rich; has all fulnefs in himfelf, and is very ready to bestow great and good things on finful men, Rom. x. 12. Eph. ii. 4. Men are rich in themselves, not towards God, when they are full of felf-conceit, but destitute of true spiritual excellency, Luke vi. 21. To make one's felf rich, is to boast of wealth, or valuable endowments: and to make one's felf poor, is to have a low and felf-denied view of one's own gifts or property, Prov. xiii. 7. Canaan was a wealthy place, as the foil was good; and there the Hebrews got the riches, flocks, and herds of the Canaanites, Pfal. lxvi. 12. RICHES, or WEALTH, denote plenty, whether of outward good things, Gen. xxxvi. 7. Job xxi. 13. Eccl. v. 19.; or of spiritual and eternal blessings, Luke xvi. 11.; or, in fum, the real welfare and advantage of either foul or body, I Cor. x.24. The riches of God, are his unbounded fulness of wildom, power, mercy, grace, and glory, Eph. i. 7. 18. ii. 7.; or the effects of his power and goodnefs, all which pertain to him as their owner, Pfal. civ. 24. The riches of Christ, are his unbounded multitudes of spiritual and eternal bleffings, fit to be bestowed on finful men, Prov. viii. 15. Eph. iii. 8.; and the abundant afcriptions of the praise and glory thereof, Rev. v. 12. The riches of the glory of the gospel, are the wonderful mylleries therein revealed, the infinite bleffings therein offered, which render it exceedingly glorious, Col. i. 27. [The fall or diminishing of the Jews, their calamities and ejection from the church of God, was the riches of the Gentiles; occasioned their receiving the precious ordinances of the gospel, and being many of them admitted to an enriching flate of fellowfhip with God, Rom. xi. 12. Rich-LY; plentifully; abundantly, Col. iii. 16. RID; (1.) To deliver from danger,

Gen.

Gen. xxxvii. 22. (2.) To clear away; deftroy, Lev. XXVII. 6. RIDDANCE, is an utter destruction, or putting of things clean away, Zeph. i. 18.

To RIDE, fometimes denotes honour and triumph, If. lviii. 14. When God or Christ are, in metaphoric language, faid to ride, it denotes their speedy and majestic appearance to protect and deliver his people, or deftroy his enemies, Deut. xxxiii. 26. Pf. lxviii. 4. xviii. 10. If. xix. 1. Pfal. xlv. 4.

RIFLE; to plunder; fpoil, Zech.

xiv. 2.

RIGHT: belides its fignification, relative to hand, fide, or airth, also fignifies, (1.) Straight, Prov. ix. 15. (2.) Just and proper, opposite to what is wrong, Gen. xviii. 25.: and fo a right, is either a just cause, Job xxxiv. 17. Pfal. svii. 1.; or a just fentence, Job xxxvi. 6.; or a just title to any thing, or privilege of it: and fo they that do God's commandment have a right to enter by the gates into the city of the new Jerufalem; they have a meetness for it, manifesting their title to it, Rev. xxii. 14.

RIGHTEOUSNESS. See JUSTICE. RIMMON, or REMMON; (1.) A city belonging to the Simeonites, and which was rebuilt after the captivity of Babylon. It feems to have flood about 25 miles fouth-west of Jerusalem, Josh. xix. 7. Neh. xi. 29. (2.) Reinmon-methoar, a city of Zebulun given to the Levites, Josh. xix. 3. 1 Chron. vi. 77. (3.) A steep rock near Gibeah, whither 600 Benjamites fled when the rest of their tribe was destroyed, Judg. xx. 45. Perhaps it was under this rock, not under a pomegranate-tree, that Saul stood, I Sam. xiv. 2. A principal idol of the Syrians worfhipped at Damafeus. The name fignifies elevation; but whether that idol be the Elion, or Most High of the Phenicians, or the fun, or Saturn, or Juno, or Venus, is not agreed. Perhaps he was none of all thefe, but Jupiter Cassius, who had a temple on the northeast of Egypt, and was figured with his hand firetched out. I suppose he was Caphtor, the father of Caphtorim, whose name, as well as that of Rimmon, fignifies a pomegranate-tree, 2 Kings v. 18. · · · · ·

RINGS were either for hanging curtains or other things by; or for ornaments on the hands, fingers, ears, &c. Judah, Pharaoh, the Midianites, and Hebrew men, wore rings on their fingers; and fometimes they were finely engraved, Gen. xxxviii. 18. xli. 42. Numb. xxxi. 50. Exod. xxviii. 11. Nay, fometimes idolatrous pictures and magical devices were engraven in them; hence Jacob hid the idolatrous ear-rings of those in his family, Gen. xxxv. 4. The Jewish women wore rings, not only on their fingers and in their ears, but in their nostrils .- Persons of dignity fealed their letters and decrees with their rings: and fo, when Pharaoli transferred authority to Joseph, he gave him his ring, as an emblem thereof, I Kings xxi. 8. Esth. iii. 10. Dan. vi. 17. Gen. xli. 42. The dreadful rings of the wheels, in Ezekiel's vision, full of eyes, may denote the marvellous and wife turnings of divine providence, and the majestic appearance of faints in the church, when filled with the knowledge of Christ, Ezek. i. 18. The ring on the finger of the returning prodigal fon, may denote the everlafting love of God shed abroad in the heart, whereby one is excited to good works; or the Spirit of God, whereby the faints are fealed up to the day of redemption, Luke xv. 22. To be as the ring or fignet on God's right hand, is to be very familiar with and dear to him, Jer. xxii. 24. Hag. ii. 23.

RINGLEADER, one who, as a captain of the vanguard, leads on all the rest: one that, by his doctrine and example, chiefly flirs up others to any particular courfe, Acts xxiv. 5.

RING-STRAKED, having fpots on their legs, where they use to be tied for the flaughter, or for fhearing, Gen.

xxx. 35.

RINSE; to make clean by washing and rubbing, Lev. xv. 11.

RIOT; RIOTING; excessive and expensive feating, 2 Pet. ii. 13. Rom. xiii. 13. R10TOUS, intemperate, lafeivious, Prov. xxviii. 7.

RIPE; ready to be cut down, or plucked.

RIP [350] RIV

plucked. The Antichristians and others are ripe for the fiekle of God's judgements, when their fin universally abounds; they have long gone on in the most aggravated wickedness, and the patience of God can no longer bear with them, Rev. xiv. 18. Joel iii. 13.

RIPHATH, the fecond fon of Gomer, and grandfon of Japheth. We suppose his offspring peopled Paphlagonia or Bithyma in Lesser Asia, where Mela the ancient geographer places a tribe called the Riphatei, or Riphates. From this country, it is probable, part of them removed northward, and gave name to, and resided near the Riphæan mountains, Gen. x. 3.

RISE. See Arise.

RITES; laws; customs; ceremonies, Numb. ix. 3.

RIVER; a current of fresh water flowing towards the fea, in a hollow channel. The chief rivers of Asia are Euphrates, Tigris, Indus, Ganges, Kyang, Lena, Jenisea, and Oby. Those in the continent of Europe are Wolga, Don, Nieper, Niester, Danube, Duina, Duna, Weiffel, Oder, Elbe, Wefer, Rhine, Po, Tiber, Rhone, Seine, Loire, Garonne, Ebro, Tajo, Guadiana, Guadalquir. Those of Africa are the Nile, Senegal, Zaire, and Bravagal. Thofe of America are the river de la Plata, the river of the Amazons, the Missiffippi, and St Laurence. The chief rivers of Britain are the Severn, Thames, Humber, Tine, Esk, Clyde, Tweed, Forth, Tay, Spey, and Neffe. The rivers mentioned in feripture, are Nile in Egypt, Jordan, Kishon, Jubbok, and Arnon, in Canaan. The waters of Nephtoah and Etam ought rather to be ranked among the brooks. In Syria we read of the Abana and Pharpar. In Chaldea, and thereabouts, we find Euphrates, Hiddekel, Gihou, Pifon, Chebar, Ahavah, Ulai. The Euphrates and Nile are fometimes called the river, by way of eminence, Ezra iv. 10. 16. Pfal. lxxx. 11. If. xix. 5. The Red fea, and perhaps also the Mediterrancan, is called a river, Pfal. lxxiv. 15. Hab. iii. 8. If. xxiii. 3. From the river to the ends of the earth, is from the Euphrates to the shore of the Mediterranean fea; or it may import, that the Christian church should, for many ages, exitt, between the Euphrates on the eaft, and the west of Spain, Pf. Ixxii. 8. Zech. ix. 10. The Orientals watered their gardens by bringing rivulets of water into them, which they, with a touch of their foot or the like, turned in upon fuch beds as they pleafed, to water and fructify them: So eafily God turns the heart of kings to favour or diffike whatfoever or whomfoever he pleafeth, Prov. xxi. 1. God is likened to broad rivers: how large and abundant the refreshful influence he bestows on his people! and how full his protection of them! If. xxxiii. 21. Christ is likened to rivers of water in a dry place; how plentiful, free, and constant the cleanfing and refreshful influence of his blood and Spirit! If. xxxii. 2. The gospel, and its ordinances and bleffings, the Holy Ghost, and his influences, and the joys of the heavenly state, are likened to a river, to denote their plenty, purity, perpetuity, purifying and defensive influence. Ezek. xlvii. 5. 9. John vii. 38. Joel iii. 18. Pfal. xlvi. 4. John xvi. 11. God shakes his hand over the river, he smites its streams, and dries up rivers, when he eafily and effectually removes every difficulty that, like an interposing river, lies in the way of his execution of his purpofe, and of the falvation and deliverance of his people, If. xi. 15. xliv. 27. The rivers and fountains of the Antichristian state, may denote their doctors, and the defences of their cause, and which tend to the support and increase thereof; or the well-watered countries of North Italy and Switzerland, Rev. xvi. 4. To pass through the land as a river, is to flee off as speedily as possible, in multitudes, not to return, If. xxiii. 10. Pharaoh's river made by him, may denote his power and wealth, Ezek. xxix. 3. Whatever is very plentiful is likened to a river, as plenty of tears, or of peace, of oil, or of pleafure, 2 Sam. ii. 18. II. xlviii. 18. Job xxix. 6. Pfal. xvi. 14. Behemoth's large draught of water is called a river, job xl. 23.; and plentiRIZ [351] ROC ful rain is called the river of God, Pfal. lxv. 9. Rivers of living water flow out of the faints belly, when their inward fulness of spiritual grace appears in the multitude of their good works, John vii. 38.

RIZPAH. See Saul.

ROAR; to make a hideous noise, as the raging sea, or angry lion. God's roaring, imports the searful displays of his will, his power and wrath, Jer. xxv. 30. Joel iii. 16. Amos i. 2. Satan's roaring denotes the terrible nature of his temptations, 1 Pet. v. 8. Mens roaring, is expressive of their outrageous or mournful outeries. Jer. l. 24. Job iii. 24.

ROB; to take away what belongs to another by force, Lev. xix. 13. Men rob God, when they with-hold his due tithes, offerings, or worship, Mal. iii. 8. 9. Paul's robbing of other churches, was his receiving fupply from them, to maintain him, while preaching the gofpel at Corinth, 2 Cor. xi. 26. BERS, are fuch, as, by force, take away what belongs to another, Job xii. 6.; or unjust invaders of a country, as the Affyrians and Chaldeans were of Canaan, If. xlii. 24.; or perfons ambitious of stations not belonging to them, and ready to oppress their neighbours, Dan. xi. 14.; or falle teachers, who attempt to rob God of his honour, Christ of his office, and men of their happiness and outward wealth, John x. Robbery, is, (1.) The violent taking away of our neighbour's goods, Prov. xxi. 7. (2.) What is procured by violence and injuffice, If. lxi. 8. Christ thought it no robbery to be equal with God; he claimed equal honours with the Father as his proper due, Phil. ii. 6.

ROBE. See CLOATHS.

ROCKS; large quantities of flone connected together, either above or below the furface of the ground. Pocks flanding out above the furface of the earth, were very common in Canaan, and many of them were a flicter for the inhabitants in time of danger. In feripture, we find mentioned, the rocks of Lebanon and Hermon, in the north; and the rocks of the hills by the river

Arnon, on the east, Jer. xviii. 14. Numb. xxiii. 9. ; Oreb near mount Tabor, Judg. vii. 25.; and Zoheleth, Bozez. Seneh, and Rimmon, in the tribe of Benjamin; and the rocks of Engedi, Adullam, Selah-hammalekoth, and Etam, in the tribe of Judah; of the rock Joktheel in the land of Edom; and indeed the whole country abounded. with rocks, as did Arabia the Rocky; though we read in fcripture of no more there but the rock of Horeb, and of Meribah in Rephidim, and of Kadesh. From these two last God supplied the Hebrews with water the most of the time they were in the defert. ding to Thevenot, Shaw, Pocock, and other travellers of credit, the rock of Meribah, in Rephidim, feems to have been a cleft fallen off from the fide of Sinai; and lies like a large loofe from in the midth of the valley. It is of red granate, of the hardness of flint, and is, according to Shaw, about fix yards fquare; though Pocock fays it is fifteen feet long, twelve high, and ten broad; and there are twelve openings in it; nay, Pocock fays, twelve on every fide, whence the water issued out, for the thirty-nine years supply of the Hebrews: and the stone is worn where the water had run down. Did this rock fignify Jefus, who was as a root out of a dry ground, but was the firm and unchangeable God, and Mediator of his people; and being fmitten by Moles's rod, his hery law, till he gave up the ghost, does, through the doctrines of his twelve apostles, convey refreshful blessings to his church, in every age and period of her wandering, and eternal state? Exod. xvii. rock of Kadesh, called also Meribah, was not to be fmitten, but spoken to, that it might vield water; fo in the Millennium Jefus must not be crucified afresh, but only preached to men, that his bleffings may flow out upon them, Numb. xx. 1.—13. God is called arock, and rock of ages; he is an high, firm, never-failing foundation, hidingplace, and fource of bleffings to his people, Pfal. xviii. 2. If. xxvi. 4. Tus Christ is the rock on which his church and people are built; he alone bears their weight and all their concerns; he is their refuge, their occasion of wide prospect into divine things, and the source of all-purifying and refreshful influence to them, Is. xxxii. 2. Matth. vii. 25. As rocks are barren and unfruitful places, Job xxix. 6. Pfal. xviii. 16.; hard-hearted sinners, unfruitful in good works, are compared to rocks, Luke viii. 13. As rock denotes a quarry out of which stones are digged, Abraham and Sarah, once like to have no children, are likened to a rock, and pit, Is. li. 1.

ROD; STAFF; SCEPTRE; (1.) A rod, in its original fignification, is a twig, or small branch of a tree; and Jesus Christ is called a Rod or Branch, If. xi. 1.: and fo the word flebet, which we fometimes render rod, Gen. xxx. 27. is also used for tribes, because they grow as branches from a common root. And the two flicks of Judah and Ephraim becoming one, denotes the junction of the tribes of Judah and Benjamin, which were one kingdom, with those of Ephraim and his fellows, which formed another, Ezek. xxxvii. 15.-22. (2.) In the hand of one walking, it fignifies a staff, to fupport and enable to finish the journey. With these the Heathens of old used to divine what course they should follow, Hof. iv. 12.: and in allufion hereto, food that supports men in life and action, is called a flaff and flay, If. The Egyptians were a flaff of reed to the house of Israel, i. e. an ally on which they depended, but which always failed them in a time of need, Ezek. xxix. 6. (3.) In the hand of a shepherd, it signifies his crook, whereby he directs and apprehends fuch of his flock as he pleafeth, Lev. xxvii. 32. Christ's flaves of beauty and hands, which he cut afunder with respect to the Jews, were his peculiar concern with them as their Shepherd, and their brotherly connection among themselves, which had been their glory and fupport; and which being diffolved, they not only lost their church-state, but fell into fuch furious contentions as hastened their ruin, Zech. xi. 10 .--14. (4.) In the hand of a furveyor, it fignifies his meafure, for metting out fields; and fo the thing meafured is called the rod; fo the Jewish nation are called the rod of God's inheritance, as they were fet apart to be his peculiar property, Pfal. lxxiv. 2.: or the word might be rendered TRIBE, Jer. x. 16. (5.) In the hand of a thresher, it denotes a flail, or threshing staff, If. xxvii. 21.: and in allusion hereto, in the hand of an offended person, it signifies an instrument to beat, correct, or punish the offender, Prov. xxiii. 13. And in allusion to this correction, church-cenfure and punishment are called a rod, Mic. vi. q. I Cor. iv. 21. Prov. xxix. VII. 14. 15. God's chastifements of his people are called the rod of men, as they are inflicted with the kindness and compassion of a Father, 2 Sam. vii. 14. (6.) In the hand of a warrior, it fignifies his truncheon, the staff of his fpear, or his walking staff, 2 Sam. xxiv. 21. (7.) In the hand of a ruler, it is a fceptre, or badge of authority, to direct, govern, chaftife, and reward, Esth. viii. 4.; and hence it is put for power and authority, If. xiv. 5.; and also for the rulers themselves; so where we have sheber in one place, we have judges in the parallel place, compare 2 Sam. vii. 7. 1 Chron. xvii. 6: and the princes of Judah are called rods, because with authority they ruled and corrected others, Ezek. xix. 14.

The rod of Christ's strength sent out of Zion, is the gospel, attended with miraculous and faving influence, for the authoritative conversion of multitudes, and the support and direction of faints, Pfal. cx. 2. It is a sceptre of righteoufnefs, wherein the righteoufnefs of God's nature and law are glorified to the higheft; Jefus's righteoufnefsis brought near, offered, and applied to us; and by which we are effectually made righteous in all manner of conversation. This sceptre may also denote Jesus's righteous execution of his whole office, Pfal. xlv. 6. God's rod and fraff that comfort his people, are his gospel-truths,

R O ER O M353

truths, and his supporting influence, whereby he preferves and draws them to himfelf, Pfal. xxiii. 4. Christ's rod of iron, wherewith he rules the nations, is his absolute authority over them, and his wrathful judgements executed upon them, particularly in the overthrow of the Jewish nation, the ruin of Heathenism in the Roman empire, and of Antichrist and Mahomet, Pfal. ii. 9. Rev. xix. 15. The faints, by their prayers and otherwife, have a fhare in his ruling the nations with this rod of iron, Rev. ii. 27. The Affyrians and their correcting influence, are called a rod of God's anger, and a flass in his hand; and they corrected with a rod; afflicted, but could not are rolled up on a staff. The roll in destroy the Jews, Is. ix. 4. x. 5. 15. Ezekiel and Zechariah's vision, is rexxx. 32. Nebuchadnezzar and his army are called the bloffoming rod, and rod of wickedness; they prospered in their conquests, but were most wicked: and by them God punished the increafing pride and growing violence of the Jews, Ezek. vii. 10. 11. The kingdom of Moab is likened to a ftrong flaff, and beautiful rod, for their strong and beautiful appearance, their ruling over others, and being instruments of God's wrath against them. God broke this rod, and the ftaff of the wicked, when he ruined the authority and power of the Moabites and Chaldeans, Jer. xlviii. 17. If. xiv. 5. The contemned rod of God's Son, may fignify the royal family of Judah, and their authority over his peculiar people, which were contemned by the Chaldeans, and depreffed by the calamities which they inflicted, Ezek. xxi. 10. 13. The rod of the wicked, is their authority, power, and oppressive usage of others, Pfal. cxxv. 3. The rod of pride in the mouth of the foolish, is proud, pasfionate language, which wounds the foul, credit, health, or property of themselves and others, Prov. xiv. 3. The grounded staff, denotes the appointed judgements of God, inflicted on the Jews or Affyrians, If. xxx. 32. See

ROE; ROEBUCK. See DEER, ROLL. One rolls himself on the Vol. II.

Lord, when he depends on him for direction, Pfal. xxxvii. + 5. The Chaldeans were rolled down from the rocks, when driven out of their strong and lofty city, perhaps fome of them thrown over the walls, and deprived of all means of shelter, by the Persians, Jer. li. 25. Nations are like a rolling thing before the whirlwind, when eafily toffed to and fro with the judgements of God, If. xvii. 13.

ROLL; a piece of paper for folding up: for anciently, before the binding of books was invented, all writings were in rolls of paper; and the Jews in their fynagogues still read the scripture out of copies in loofe sheets, that presented as containing denunciations of heavy julgements against wicked men, Ezek. ii. Zech. v. The roll, or VOLUME of the book, as it relates to David, may fignify tome written vow of his, wherein he had folemnly devoted himself to the service of God. it relates to Jesus Christ, it may denote the purpose of God, wherein every thing relative to his mediation was fettled; or the fcriptures which testify of him, and almost from the very beginning, intimated that he should bruife the ferpent's head, and have his heel bruised, Psal. xl. 7. Gen. iii. 15.

ROME, the most noted city of Italy, and long the mistress of the world, was built by the Etrurians, and enlarged by Romulus, and a number of little else than banditti, under his direction, about A. M. 3254. It gradually increased, till it extended over seven hills; nay, at last it took in thirteen. The river Tiber which run thro? it, when fwelled with rain, and blown back by the fouth-west wind, often did it a great deal of hurt: but was of great use on ordinary occasions, to afford water to the city, and to carry off the filth, which was conveyed to it by canals under ground. Its walls never feem to have been above thirteen miles in c'roumference; and if deductions be made for their various windings, they will be found much lefs: but the country around was formed into a valt extent of fuburbs. To mention the diverified fate of this city, its burnings, and pillage by the Gauls, and by the Goths, Vandals, Heruli, Greeks, &c. and the various maffacres, famines, and peftilences, which have happened in it, would be improper in this work. In the time of Romulus it contained about 3000 inhabitants; in the time of Augustus they were about two millions, which is perhaps about a fourth part more than all the people of Scotland at prefent. At prefent they scarce amount to 200,000; and no more than about the third part of what is within the walls is inhabited. It is now noted for multitudes of ancient ruins, and for Peter's church, which was 100 years in building, and the Vatican or winter-palace of the pop-, which confifts of about 12,500 chambers, halls, and closets, and has a famed library, garden and arfenal. Its hospitals are under excellent regulation; but the morals of the inhabitants are licentious to an uncommon degree.

Υv

ROM [354] ROM

The Romans were noted idolaters, making gods and goddeffes of almost every thing. There was but little philofophy among them, till they conquered the Greeks. It feems too, that for some ages, chastity and honesty were in repute among them; but as their power increased, they decreased in every thing virtuous, and fluck at nothing villanous or wanton, Rom. i. 21 .- 32. They were first governed by feven kings, for about 220 years. During the next 488 years, they were governed by confuls, tribunes, decemvirs, and dictators, in their turns. They were afterwards governed by 65 emperors, for the space of 518 years .-Their power gradually increased, till they first subdued a great part of Italy; and afterwards, partly by force and partly by villany, they made themfelves mailer of all the countries, from the north parts of Britain, to the fouth borders of Egypt; and from the weftern parts of Perfia, to the west coasts of Spain. Thus, their empire extended about 2660 miles from north to fouth, and about as much from east ter Their wars with the Carthaginians, Spaniards, Gauls, Greeks, Mithridates of Pontus, Parthians, and Jews, were the most noted. They had scarce extended their power fo far and wide, when their leading men, Marius, Syila, Pompey, Julius Cæfar, &c. by their civil contentions, and maffacres of one another's party, were like entirely to ruin the empire. Julius Cæsar, by terrible bloodshed, got himself the fovereign power; but, long after, the fenate retained fome faint shadow of authority. His ambitious overthrow of the commonwealth form of government, foon cost him his life; and Casfius and Brutus afterwards made a most vigorous attempt to have restored it; but they perished therein. The long. prosperous, and mild government of Augustus, made the Romans give up with almost all their care about their ancient liberty. Most of his successors in the empire were monfters of pride, cruelty, and almost every other vice. This, together with the civil contentions occasioned by numbers who endeavoured to feize on the fupreme power, and the terrible ravages of the Gothe, Vandals, Huns, Heruli, &c. and the division of the empire into different parts, the eastern and western, . gradually wasted it, till it was entirely ruined.

About A. D. 46, a famine of fever. years continuance terribly distressed the empire, and not long after, a multitude of earthquakes happened. The persecution of the Christians, the butchery of the subjects by Nero and Domitian, the terrible wars with the Jews too, cut off prodigious numbers of the Romans. The Jews were got reduced, but the vengeance of Heaven still purfued the Roman perfecutors. Even under the two Severus's, terrible famines plagued the empire. The next. period, under the fourth feal, was unspeakably worse. In fifty years, above 20 emperors were mostly cut off in a miserable manner, and 30 other usurpers came to a wretched end, after making no finall disturbance in the empire.

 \mathbf{W} hile

ROM [355] ROM

While the Parthians or Perfians ravaged Syria and places adjacent, the Goths, Quadi, Sarmatæ, Suevi, and Vandals, terribly ravaged almost the whole empire; few cities, and fearce an unwalled town, was left unpillaged. Famines attended the carnage of war. A peftilence too, of 15 years continuance, gradually ravaged the whole empire. Dogs, wolves, and other wild beafts, were fo accustomed to cat unburied corples, that they began to enter the towns, and devoured the living. 'In the beginning of the fourth century, after Dioclesian's ten years persecution of the Christians, Constantine the Great, with plenty of bloodshed, overturned Heathenism, about A. D. 323, the emperors and their idolatrous priefts were killed; the worship of the fun, moon, stars, and other idols, was prohibited. For a short while, the Roman empire enjoyed a blink of prosperity: but Constantine had scarce removed his feat of government to Constantinople, and at his death divided the empire to his three fons, Constantine, Constantius, and Constans, when the intestine rebellions of Maxentius and Sylvanus, who ftruggled for the crown, and the ravages of the Persians and Armenians in the east, and of the Alemans in Europe, and of the Scots and Picts in Britain, miserably distracted it. Once and again the eaftern and wellern empires were united under the same fovereign; and Theodofius the Great almost restored it to its ancient honour; but he dying, A. D. 395, the Goths under Rhadagaifus, and those under Alaric, in their turn, terribly ravaged it, and feized on France and Spain; and about a third part of the people were murdered by them, wherever they came. Twice Italy was ravaged; Rome was befieged; and fome years after, in 410, was taken and burnt. Much about the fame time, other Goths, and the Alans, Burgundians, and Vandals, fpread havock and ruin in France and Spain. At last Attila, who called himself the scourge of God, with his almost infernal Huns, for 14 years most terribly ravaged Thrace, Macedonia, Greece, France, and part of Italy, putting almost every thing to fire and fword wherever they came. The emperor Valentinian III. had fcarce diverted them by a promife of tribute, when he was murdered. His empress Eudoxa invited the Vandals from Afriea to avenge his murder. After ravaging Sicily and Italy, and taking and pillaging Rome, they under Genferic their king, returned home laden with booty, and with multitudes of flaves, A. D. 455. After the western empire had languished out 21 years more, under eight turbulent reigns, Odoacer, afterwards king of the Heruli, and other barbarians, deposed Augustulus, and translated the government to Ravenna, another city of Italy. His government had continued but about 16 years, when it was abolished by Theodoric the king of the Goths. Their royal government had continued at Rome about 60 years, when Justinian, the emperor of the east, recovered part of Italy, and abolished the Roman fenate. By this time the Romans in the western empire mingled with the ancient Goths, and the various tribes of Barbarians, who had poured in from the east, were divided into ten fovereignties or states. See Horn. The eastern part of the Roman empire, whose emperors resided at Constantinople, not with standing of hard struggles with the Persians, Saracens, and Turks, &c. continued till about the middle of the 15th century, when it was wholly feized by the Ottoman Turks. About the end of the 8th century, when the pope had got himself made a civil prince, a shadow of the Roman empire was erected in Germany, in which the deadly wound given to that of Rome feemed to be healed. This will probably continue till the beginning of the Millennium, when the kingdom of Jefus mall, like a mountain, fill the whole earth, Gen. ix. 27. Zech. vi. 1. -7. Dan. ii. 33. 34. 40.-44. vii. 7. 8. 19.—27. xi. 30.—35. 40. xi. 28. Rev. vi. viii. xii. xiii. 3.

A Christian church was very early planted at Rome. To them Paul wrote an excellent epiftle. After affuring them of his regard for them, he defcribes the deplorably corrupt state of all men by nature, whether Gentiles or Jews, and the impossibility of justification before God, by works of our own: he shews that as in Adam we are all rendered finners, fo in Jefus Christ we are first in order rendered righteous in justification, and then made holy in fanctification. After a rehearfal of feveral of the happy fruits of our union with Christ, such as freedom from the law, and from the reign of fin; adoption into the family of God; possession of his indwelling Spirit; assurance of his love; perpetual care of his providence; and endless enjoyment of his presence; he treats of the purpose of election, and of God's fovereignty, in rejecting the Jews, and calling the Gentiles to a state of churchmembership; and foretels the happy state of both Jews and Gentiles, in the happy Millennium, chap. i.—xi. the last part he applies his subject, exhorting them to a variety of duties towards God; towards one another; towards magistrates; towards weak brethren: towards ministers; and concludes with a vast number of falutations, and a warning against schism, chap. xii .xvi. A Christian church, real or pretended, has still continued at Rome. According to the lifts we have, there have been about 230 bishops or popes at Rome. Among the first 65, I find nothing remarkably good, none of them remarkable in learning, nor excelling their fellows in piety; though, no doubt, many of the primitive ones were holy men; and it is as certain, many of them were ambitious wretches, who fludied to exalt themselves to a lordship over their brethren. Of the last 165, I find not one giving any tolerable evidence of the grace of God in him; but all of them pretenders to headship over the Christian church; and many of them noted for falfehood, perjury, murder, whoredom, magic, and almost every thing horrid. There have been also about 35 antipopes, and these much of the fame temper and practice with their rivals. See ANTICHRIST, and CHURCH.

ROO [356] ROO

While the Romans governed a great part of the world, they, either for money, or good deeds, or of free favour, conferred the right of citizens on fuch as were not of their nation, and even fometimes on the inhabitants of a whole city. In this fenfe Paul and Silas were Romans, having a legal title to all the privileges of the citizens of Rome, or her colonies, Acts xvi. 37. 38. xxii.

25. 26. 27.

ROOF; (1.) The covering of a house. The Jews had theirs flat for walking on, or even erecting booths on, Neh. viii. 16.: and a battlement, breaft-high, around, to prevent any body falling from them. As this rendered them private places, they oft performed their devotions on them, and burnt incense to idols, particularly the queen, or frame of the heavens, Deut. xxii. 8. Acts x. 9. Jer. xix. 13. xxxii. 29. (2.) The upper part of the mouth, which is an inftrument of speaking and tafting. The roof of the church's mouth is like the best wine; the gospel-ministrations of paftors, and the holy prayers, praifes, and converse of faints, are precious, refreshful, and quickening, Song vii. q.

ROOM; (1.) A place, Gen. xxiv. (2.) The Head, or office, 2 Sam. xix. 13. (3.) A state of liberty and comfort, Pial. xxxi. 8. (4.) Chamber; apartments. As upper-rooms were most retired, strangers at the passover and other folemn feasts, had the upper-rooms allotted for their lodging, Mark xiv. 15.: and here the disciples attended their devotions, Acts i. 13. (5.) A feat, Luke xiv. 8. Notwithflanding of multitudes coming to Chrift, there is always room; abundant station in his love, his covenant, and his righteoufnefs, for their fpiritual and eternal happiness. Luke xiv. 32.

ROOT; (1.) That part of a plant which is fastened in the earth, Job xiv. 8. (2.) A foundation which establisheth what is built on it, Job xxviii. 9. (3.) That from which any thing proceeds: so the love of money is the root or cause of all evil, I Tim. vi. 10. A wicked person, or vile error, is a root of bitterness, which fecretly infects and corrupts others with the poifon of fin, Deut. xxix. 18. Christ is called the root of Jeffe, or David, as he is the author of their being, and immutably establishes the glory of their family, If. xi. 10. Rev. v. 5. xxii. 16. root be holy, fo are the branches; if the ancient patriarchs, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, the parents of the Hebrews, were in covenant with God, their children must be confectated to his service, and not cast off for ever, Rom. xi. 16. The root of nations goes up as rottenness, and their bloffoms as dust, and they have neither root nor branch left, when their is an utter destruction both of parents and children, If. v. 24. Mal. i. 4. To be rooted and grounded in Christ, is to be firmly united to him, and well established in the faith and experience of his truth, Col. ii. 7. The root of the matter is in one, when he has a real habit or principle of grace, and a firm belief of the fundamental doctrines of the gospel, from which the fruit of good works proceeds, Job. xix. 28. Matth. xiii. 21. To take root, spread out the roots, or to have the root by great waters, is to become feemingly fixed in great prosperity, 2 Kings xix. 30. Job. xxix. 19. Ezek. xxxi. 7. roots of hypocrites are wrapt about the heap, and he feeth the place of stones; his condition is feemingly established; and though he has no proper root of grace, he expects a high-raifed happinefs, Job viii. 17. The royal family of Judah had their roots under the king of Egypt, and towards the king of Babylon; by fubmission to Pharaoh-necho, Jehoiakim obtained the kingdom: and by folemn engagement of subjection, Zedekiah got the crown from Nebuchadnezzar, Ezek. xvii. 6. 7. rooted out, plucked up by the roots, or to have the roots dried, or killed with famine, is to meet with fearful destruction, that ruins the principal men, and overturns the constitution of the state, Deut. xxix. 28. Hof. ix. 6. If. xiv. 30.

raot

357 ROPROU

To put ROPES on the head, was expressive of great distress, and earnest begging of compassion, and perhaps their fwords were hung in them, in the manner in which the people of those places now beg mercy from their conquerors, 1 Kings xx. 31. 32.

ROSE; the name of a well-known flower, and the tree that bears it. Rose-bushes thrive best in a rich, moist, open foil; for when the foil is dry, and the fituation shadowed, the flowers are lefs beautiful. Tournefort mentions 53 kinds of roses, of which the damask rose and the rose of Sharon are among the finest. The effence of damask roses is an excellent perfume. Rofes in general are delightful to view, agreeable in their fmell, and ufeful in medicine, for curing confumptive diforders, &c. Jefus Christ is called the Rose of Sharon; how unbounded his comelinefs, delightfulnefs, and efficacy, for the healing of our foul! Song ii. 1. The wildernefs bloffoms as the rofe; through the preaching of the gospel, the Gentile world shall be converted to Christ, and flourish with faints, and graces, If. xxxv. 1.

ROAST. The flothful man roafteth not what he took in hunting; he does not live nor get pleafure in what he acquires by his diligence; but what is ill gotten, is unhappily fpent, Prov. xii. 27.

ROT. The name of the wicked rots; is forgotten, and becomes infamous, Prov. x. 7. God was as rottenness to the house of Judah, gradually wasting their numbers, glory, and strength, and rendering them contemptible, Hof. A bad wife is rottenness to her husband; she gradually wastes his reputation, usefulness, and wealth, and is a means of hastening his death, Prov. xii. 4. Envy is the rottenness of the bones; as it weakens the faculties of the foul, wastes the natural constitution. and increases spiritual, and hastens a natural death, Prov. xiv. 30.

ROVERS; plundering robbers, or wandering ravagers : fo the Amalekites, who burnt Ziklag, are called by our tranflators, I Chron. xii. 21.

ROUGH places, are fuch as are uneven, uncultivated, abounding with briere

ROU [358] RUL

briers and thorns, Deut. xxi. 4. By John Baptist's ministry, rough places were made plain, and rough ways smooth; people, even the very worst, were prepared to regard the person, miracles, and doctrine of Christ, Is. xl. 4. Luke iii. 5. A rough wind, is one strong and boisterous, and is an emblem of heavy and irressible calamities, Is. xxvii. 8. Rough caterpillars, goats, garments, are such as are hairy and shaggy, Jer. Ii. 27. Dan. viii. 21. Zech. xiii. 4.

ROUSE; to stir up from sleep or zest, Gen. xlix. 9.

To ROW, is to push forward a ship with oars, Mark vi. 48. Thy rowers have brought thee into great waters: thy rulers have, by their pride and folly, plunged thee into great difficulties, and their enemies have driven thee to the very point of utter destruction; as the Tyrians were by the Chaldean siege, when obliged to desert their city, and build another in the adjacent island, Ezek. xxvii. 26.

ROYAL; kingly. The royal city, is that where the king dwells, Josh. x. 2. Royal dainties, are provision fit for the table of a king, Gen. xlix. 20. The law of God is called royal, because it is the authoritative will of the King of kings, James ii. 8. And the saints are a royal priesthood; are at once kings and priests unto God, 1 Pet.

ii. o.

RUBY; a precious stone, of a red colour, mixed with purple. In its most perfect state, it is a jewel of great value, and in hardness is second only to the diamond. Its usual size is of the bigness of the head of a large pin, but is found from that size to 40 caracts. The price of Jesus Christ and his grace, is infinitely superior in value to rubies, Job xxviii. 18. But the original word PENINIM, is thought by some to signify pearls.

RUDDER; a piece of timber hung on the stern-posts of a ship, by four or sive hinges, to bridle her motion, and turn her to what side the steersman pleaseth, by means of the position of it in the water. That piece of timber in the infide of the ship to which the rudder is fastened, is called the helm or tiller, and sometimes the rudder. The ancient rudders had four parts, the clavus or helm, whereby the whole was directed, the pole, the wings, and the handle: and oft-times they had two, and sometimes three or four rudders to one ship; and they, at least sometimes, fastened their rudders to the ship with cords, Acts xxvii. 40.

RUDDY, or REDDISH. See WHITE. RUDE. It is hardly probable that Paul had any thing awkward in his manner of speech; but he hints that he was indifferent, suppose the Corinthians reckoned him thus defective, 2 Cor. xi. 6.

RUDIMENTS. See ELEMENTS. RUE; a plant that bears a rofy flower, and which when dried, is much used in medical infusions, being esteemed an excellent expeller of possion, or pestilential influence in severs, and cephalic cure for disorders of the head, Luke xi. 42.

RUIN; destruction, or the means of it, Is. xxv. 2. 2 Chron. xxviii. 23. Let this ruin be under thine band; take thou care of this disordered and perishing state, Is. iii. 6.

A RULE, is (1.) Government; dominion, 1 Kings xxii. 31. (2.) A standard for directing of actions by: thus the word of God is our rule to direct us, how to glorify God, and enjoy him, Gal. vi. 16. (3.) A boundary or measure which one cannot rightly go beyond, 2 Cor. x. 13.

To rule, govern, is to direct and order by authority, Dan.iv. 26. 1 Kings xxi. 7. God governs the nations, by managing them, and caufing them act, prosper, or suffer at his pleasure, Psal. Ixvii. 4. Christ is a governor, and has the government on his shoulder; he is the great ruler of his church, who appoints her laws and ordinances, and fets up offices and officers, and dispenses favours or corrections as he fees meet, If. ix. 6. 7. Jer. xxx. 21. Satan and his agents are rulers of the darkness of this world; reign over, and direct wicked and ignorant men, in their wicked wicked works of darkness, Eph. vi. 12. Judah ruled with God, when Hezekiah and his princes zealously promoted the reformation of the kingdom, Hos. xi. 12. Men rule their own spirit, when they restrain their passions and lusts, and direct the motions of their foul by the rule of God's law, Prov. xvi. 32.

RUL [359] RUL

As the Jews had their rulers civil and facred, fo under the New Testament, there is still a civil and ecclesiaftical government; the former of which is of God, as to the general plan; but the particular form, whether of kingdom or commonwealth, or mixed of both, as in Britain, is left to the difcretion of men; and so is called an ordinance or creature of man, I Pet. ii. 13. The duty of civil magistrates to their subjects, is to establish good laws, and fee to the execution thereof, Zech. viii. 16. 2 Chron. ix.; to govern them wifely and justly, 2 Chron. i. 10.; to punish evil-doers, and encourage them that do well, Rom. xiii. 3. to protect them from enemies, and preferve to them their various rights and privileges, & Tim. ii. 2. Prov. xxviii. 16. As the true religion tends at once to the honour of God and the welfare of nations, they are by their laws and example to exert themselves to the utmost to promote the same. By the exercise of the civil power in favour of the church, they are to prevent or abolish persecution, profaneness, idolatry, superstition, or herefy, and remove all occasions thereof; and to maintain for her the whole of her spiritual privileges granted her by Christ; and to promote the public administration of, and attendance to every ordinance of Christ; and to punish every gross violation of the divine law, unto death, banishment, imprisonment, and confiscation of goods, &c. Is. xlix. 23. lx. 10. 16. Rom. xiii. 3. 4. 1 Tim. ii. 1. 2. Exod. xxxii. Josh. xxiv. 2 Chron. xv. xvii. xix. 23. xxix.—xxxv. Ezra x. Neh. v. xiii. Ezra vii. 26. &c.

Some have pretended, that magifirates have no concern with religion at all, and especially with revealed religion, in the execution of their office, but ought to leave every man to profefs, teach, or worship, what, and in what manner he pleafeth, providing he do not diffurb the commonwealth by any civil crimes, and ought to pro & It them in their full liberty to propagate their blasphemous tenets, or idolatrous worship. Some have even pretended, that civil establishments of the true religion are calculated to render men irreligious, or at best hypocritical diffemblers. But when we confider, that all things ought to be done to the glory of God,1 Cor. x. 31. 1 Pct. iv. 11. Prov. xvi. 4.; that magistracy is an ordinance of God, and magistrates, ministers, or deputes of God, for good to men, appointed to be a terror to evildoers, and a praise of them that do well, Rom. xiii. 1.—5. I Pet. ii. 14. Gal. v. 19.—21. Phil. iii. 2. Tit. i. 10. 11.; -that every head of a family hath. power to exclude superstition and idolatry from it, and to establish in it the true worship of God, and refuse lodging to heretical feducers, Gen. xviii. 19. Josh. xxiv. 15.;—that magistrates ought to exercise their power as is most conducive to make all their subjects live quietly in all godlinefs, as well ashonesty, I Tim. ii. I .- 3. ;-that magistrates are often expressly commanded to punish obstinate idolaters, false prophets, blasphemers, profaners of the Sabbath, Sc. as well as thieves, robbers, murderers, Deut. xiii. 5.-7. xvii. 2.—5. Lev. xxiv. 15. 16. Exod. xxii. 18. 20. Numb. xv. 35.;—that magistrates, not only Jewish, but heathen, have, with God's approbation. required their subjects to worship the true God, and have suppressed and punished obstinate idolaters or blasphemers, Gen. xviii. 19. xxxv. 2.-1. Exod. xxxii. 20. 27. Joth. xxiv. 14. 2 Chron. xiv. 2.—5. xv. 13. xviii. xix. xx. xxix.—xxxi. xxxiii. 15. 16. xxxiv. 31.-33. 2 Kings x. 30. Ezra vii. 13.-27. vi. 1.-14. Dan. iii. 29. vi. 26 .: - that the fourth commandment, of which the obligation is perpetual and univerfal, binds magistrates to provide that the Sabbath be fanctified in all their gates, which cannot be done by the teaching of blasphemy, or practifing idolatrous worship; -that the exercise of the magnitrates power in fayour of the true religion, and opposition to false religion, is promifed as a bleifing to the New-Testament church; Ifa, xlix. 23. lx. 10. 16. Pfal. lxxii. 10. ii. 12. Zech. xiii. 2. Rev. xvii. 14. 16.; -that magistrates have power to appoint Christians to observe public fasts or thanksgivings when the state of the nation requires it, I Sam. vii. 5. 6. 2 Chron. xx. 3. Ezra viii. 21. Neh. ix. 1. Jer. xxxvi. 6. Jon. iii. 7.; -and that the very law of nature requires, that magistrates chiefly care for the honour of God, who is the fovereign head of civil focieties, as King over all the earth, and the fource and bestower of all their happiness; -- and that men should be governed, as having immortal fouls, not as mere animals; that as righteoufnels exalteth nations, sin, even idolatry and blasphemy, is the reproach and ruin of any people; that fins are especially hurtful to nations, as they tend to debauch mens manners and provoke God to wrath against the nation; —that, if God grant men the benefit of any duly attefted revelation, it should be readily received as the rule of our conduct, be our station what it will :- It is plain, that magistrates can never lawfully exercise their power, which they, as his deputes, received from God, for his honour and the true welfare of mankind, in giving equal establishment and protection to the religion of the devil, as they may to the religion of Jesus Christ, by whom kings reign, and princes decree justice, Prov. viii. 15. 16.

RUL [360] RUL

The whole of the objections against what we have just afferted, are rather specious declamation than solid reasoning. To pretend, that civil laws can bind but in so far as dependent on and regulated by the authority and law of God; to pretend, that magistrates ought or may punish crimes only as injurious to men, without any way regarding their offensiveness or injuriousness to God;—to pretend, that confcience, which derives all its authority from God, can warrant men either to do or establish what is sinful, or protect them in it; -to pretend that mens civil liberty, which is all derived to them from God as his free gift, can protest them in blasphemy or idolatry, any more than in theft or marder,—proceeds plainly upon atheistical principles. pretend, that fuch as enjoy the benefit of revelation, should not make use of it for regulating the laws of their nation, or the administration of civil offices, is plainly a contempt of revelation, and obitinate drawing back to heathenism. To pretend, that the Jewish church and flate were not distinct, is false, and hath been repeatedly refuted by Leufden, Gillefpy, Apoloni, and others. To pretend, that the Jewish magistrates being typical, renders the laws enjoined them, or their example, useless to us, is abfurd, and infers, that we ought to account almost all the Old Testament useless to us as a rule, because it primarily respected persons who were typical. Upon an accurate comparison, it will be found, that after the Jews rejection of the theoeracy under Samuel, I Sam. viii. their magistrates were in almost all things fimilar to our own. No difficulties that I know of attend magistrates civil power about religious matters, but the like, if not greater, attend church-rulers ecclefiaflic power about them.

Both magistrates and church-rulers ought carefully to observe the difference between their respective powers, and to act precifely within the limits, and according to the nature of their own department. Neglect of this liath been a fertile fource of almost all the blended establishments and manifold diforders in both church and state: The civil and ecclefiastic powers are indeed CO-ORDINATE, which may beautifully fubfilt together, the one independent of the other, and yet each exercised for the advantage of the other: but they are not collateral, dependent upon one another, and which cannot rightly fubfilt, if feparated, the one from the other. These two powers differ in-their foundation, their formal object, their form, their proper end, their proper effects, their proper subjects, the formal confideration of the persons on rubom they are excreifed, and their divided execution. Magistracy is founded in God's universal dominion over all nations, Pfal. xlvii. 2. 7. Jer. x. 7.; and hence the law of nature, common to all men, is the immediate rule of it, and all its adminifirations; and revelation is introduced as a rule by the law of nature, requiring us to receive whatever God is pleafed to reveal; or by the possessors of the magistratical power being religious professors of revealed truth: But ecclefindic power is founded in the occonomical headthip of Christ, as medictor over his church, and fo revelation must be the immediate regulator standard thereof, and the law of nature be admitted, as a rule, by virtue of the general rules of the scripture, I Cor. xiv. 26. 40. Phil. iv. 8 .- In their object, the power of magistrates relates immediately to the outward man, and the external concerns of mankind. Even in facred things, it hath what is external for its proper and immediate object. Thus the magistrate provides the church with external accommodations, and removes external impediments of spiritual exercifes. If he convocate fynods, he calls them together, not properly as courts or ministers of Christ, but as meetings of and fubjects, whose deliberations are like to promote the honour of God, his fuperior, and the by piners of the nation. He commands perfors to appear before church-courts, as pannels or witnesses, not as they are spiritual inembers of the myllical body of Chritt, but as his own fulljetts, to take trial or bear witness before proper judges of the cause, that through the good order and purity of the church, the honour of God, and the peace and order of the commonwealth, may be promoted: his ratification of church-deeds, is an adopting of them into civil laws, the observance of which he declares necesfary for the welfare of the state. - But ecclefiastical power is exercifed about things, as spiritual. It deals with men Vol. II.

then

RUL [361] RUL

as members of Christ's spiritual and my. flical body, and deals only with their outward ears, or the like, to come at their conscience and heart.—In their form, magistrates, though ministers of God, are Lords as well as fathers of their fubjects, and may compel the difobedient, by enforcing their civil laws with penalties of confifeation, imprisonment, or death; and they punish tranfgressions as crimes, which infult the honour of God, as King of nations, and tend to the hurt of the state. The power of church-rulers is altogether ministerial, to give out directions or cenfures precifely according to Christ's preferiptions; and they confider tranfgreffions, even the mal-administrations of profeiling magistrates, as feandals, wounding to the honour of Jesus Christ, and of God as in him, and to the fouls of men .- In their proper end, magistrates exercife their office in order to promote the glory of God in the welfare of their commonwealth, and they aim at promoting the welfare of the church, either as they are church-members, or as it is an excellent means of promoting the welfare of the state. But the end of all ecclefialtical power is the spiritual edification of mens fouls to the honour of God, as he is in Christ reconciling the world to himfelf,—and that all his chofen may be converted to him, and walk in him and with one another, as becometh the gospel.—Hence the proper effect of civil power is the good of the commonwealth, and the enjoyment or elect pricinges, in a way honourable to God, as King of all the earth; and the preventing of feandais, or promoting of the peace and purity of the church, by magistrates impartially encouraging fuch as do well, and territying and punishing such as do evil, and encouraging a regard to or spread of found doctrine, is but an attendant or accessory esfect thereof. But the proper effect of church-power is spiritual, reaching to mens confeience in a manner antwerable to the spiritual nature of the kingdom of Christ; and the advantage that the commonwealth reaps from it, by the piety, peacefulnefs, and fervent prayers of the subjects, is but of an accessory of the subjects. RUN

jest, in which it is invested, and by whom it may be exercised, churchpower, under the New Testament, cannot go by succession, nor, in jurisdiction, can it be exercised by one person, as the civil power may be. Nor can it refide in a child or woman, or be exercifed by a deputy.——The power of magistrates extends to all their subjects, whatever be their characters, and extends to them precifely as members or fubjeds in the commonwealth: But churchpower extends only to fuch as are professed members of Christ's mystical body, and precifely under that confideration. -Finally, the exercise of these powers is perfectly feparable or divided. one power ought to be exercifed, where the exercise of the other is neglected. The end of ecclefialtic power being to gain finners to repentance and falvation, all that appear duly penitent ought to be absolved from censure; but the end of civil punishments being the fatisfaction of the law, and the deterring of others from crimes, the most penitent may be punished, by fining, banishment, imprisonment, scourging, or death. The church too may retain under cenfure the impenitent, fuppose they should have been affoilzied by the civil law, or have fatisfied its demands of punishment. Nay, the church may cenfure professing magistrates for their unjust wars, tyranny, or oppression, notwithflanding their having a colour of civil law on their fide. When magistrates profecute the fame faults as crimes against the State, and the church-rulers protecute them as foundals against the Church, the processes ought to be entirely di-Hincl; only, to prevent unnecessary iwearing, perhaps an extract of the proof in the one court may be fometimes fustained for evidence in the other. That Jefus Christ hath left a particular form of government in his gotpelchurch, is plainly enough laid down in the oracles of Chrift. Nor is it lefs an accessory effect of it.——In the sub-evident, that this power of spiritual office is not allowed to magistrates, dioceian bishops, or to the community.

of faithful, but to church-officers of his own appointment. The officers appointed by him are either extraordinary and temporary, as apostles, evangelists, prophets; or ordinary and flanding, as paftors or teachers, ruling-elders and deacons, Eph. iv. 11. 12. 1 Cor. xii. 28. Rom. xii. 5 .- 8. 1 Tim. iii. v. 17. Acls vi. All these ordinary officers ought to be chofen by the people among whom they are to officiate; and ought to be men of knowledge, prudence, fanctity, and a good report; and are to be folemnly ordained by other churchofficers unto their office, Acts vi. xiii. 2. xiv. 23. To the pastor's peculiar character, it is proper to preach the gospel, and dispense the facraments. To him, and the ruling-elder, it equally pertains to admit members into communion, watch over their morals, cenfure the unruly and erroneous, and abfolve the penitent, and to vifit the fick; and to both, equally with deacons, it pertains to take care of the poor, and of what provision is made for them; fee Epistles to Timothy and Titus, 1 Pet. v. Rev. ii. iii. Acts vi. For the effectual execution of their office. Chrift has appointed in his word feveral courts, the leffer subordinate to the greater, as a congregational fession, prefbytery, and fynod, Matth. xviii... 15.-20. Acts xiii. 2. xiv. 23. 1 Tim. iv. 14. Acts xv. xvi. 4. The business of these courts is to regulate the administration of Christ's ordinances, as to the proper circumstances thereof, to admit members, to cenfure the unruly and erroneous, and to absolve the penitent; or to ordain other church-offi-By this form of government, more than by any other, is lordly ambition effectually checked, the spiritual. liberty of `the people preferved, offenders properly centured, error purged, and ichiim prevented.

The RUMP of rams offered in facrifice, was burnt on the altar, becaufe it contifled chiefly of fat, Exod. xxix. 22.

RUN; (1.) To move with a fwift pace, 1 Sam. viii. 11. (2.) To flow as water in a river, or when poured from a veltel, Pfal. civ. 10. cxix. 136.

RUN [363] RUS

To purfue eagerly, as runners in a race do, to obtain the honour and reward of outrunning their fellows, I Pet. iv. 4.: thus the faints eager following of God, and obedience to his law, and ministers laborious preaching of the gospel, in view of the eternal reward, is likened to the running of a race, Heb. sin. t. 1 Cor. ix. 24. Gal. ii. 2. Phil. ii. 16. The Galatians did run week, while they were earnest and active in receiving and practiting the doctrines, Gal. v. 7. God's word runs freight, when his commands and purpoles are fpeedily fulfilled, Pfal extvii. 15. To run with footmen, and be in the land of peace, is to have to struggle with lesier distibulties and troubles. To contend with horses, and be in the fwellings of Jordan, is to be exposed to great trouble and perplexity, Jer. xii. 5. The race is not to the fwift, nor the battle to the ftrong; things do not always fucceed with men according to their qualifications or diligence, but according to the will and providential interpolal of God, Eccl. ix. 11.

RUSH. As rufhes cannot grow without mire, or flags without water, and when cut down to adofe their greenness; to hypocrites will not follow religion without fome carnal motive and advantage; nor is their religious flourith or happiness duralle, Job viii. 11.—20. The common people of a land are likened to repless, to denote their vast number, and their weakness, even in their prosperity, If. ix. 14. 15.

To RUSH; to prefs forward with hafte and fury, Acts xix. 29.

RUST; that corrupting drofs which breeds on iron, especially if moist; or finut among corn, Matth. vi. 19.

2

SAB

CIABACHTHANI, or HEASAB-TANI, Thou hall forfeken me, Mark xv. 35.

SABAOTH, or TZABAOTH; ar-mics, Rom. ix. 29. James v. 4.

SABBATH, or FEST. The Greeks fometimes give this name to the whole week, because the principal day of it was the Sabbath: to the Phinnee boasts that he fasted twice in the Sabbath, or week, Luke xviii. 12. Gr.: but the Sabbata, properly fold less, is that day of holy rest in the week. God having finished his work of creation in fix days, ceated or reacd therefrom on the feventh, and fet it apart for the more folema worship of himself by men, and as an emblem and dedge of their eternal bleffedness, Gen. ii. 1. 2. No doubt the ancient patriarchs observed the Sabbata, though in their most hiltory we have no express account thereof, any more than of their family-worthip; but that is no more than happens in the history from Moles to the end of David's reign, which was near 440 years, when it is granted by all to have been the appointment of Heaven. The end of days, when Cain and Abel offered their oblations; the day when the fons of God met together, or the days of Job, flands fair to be the Sabbath, Gen. iv. Job i. 6. ii. 1. In Homer, Hefiod, and Herodotus, and others of the most aucient writers among the Heathen, we have hints of a feventh-day Sabbath, whose observation they had derived from their progenitors. When the manna began to be given to the Hebrews, Mofes mentions the Sabbath as not unknown to them, and warms them that a double portion; of mama would fall on the day precedling, and ought to be gathered, as none would fail on the Sabbath, Exod. xvi. 23 .- To mark the perpetual and universal obligation of the observance of the Subbach, God proclaimed the law of it them Smal, wrote it in a table or none, along with the rest which are allowed to be mora; and he enforced it with manifold reasons, abforutely moral and universal, Lood. xx. 8.-11. Injunctions to keep it, and threatenings for the breach of it, are every where found in the law and the prophets.

S A B

222

prophets. For gathering fome flicks on it, God appointed a man to be stoned to death, Numb. xv. 32 .- 36. For neglect to observe it, the Jewish nation was almost destroyed, and their land lay 70 years defolate, Lev. xxvi. 34. 35. Neh. xiii. 16.—18. Jer. xvii. 27. Ezek. xx. — To honour his own refurrection, Jesus, the Lord of the Sabbath, changed the Sabbath from the feventh to the first day of the week. To mark the divine authority of this change, he, on that day, made repeated visits to his disciples, John xx. 19. 26.; he bestowed the miraculous gifts, and grace of the Holy Ghost, Acts ii. I.—This is called the Lord's day, and thereon the primitive Christians met for their public worship, and made their collections for the poor, Rev. i. 10. Acts xx. 7. 1 Cor. xvi. It must not be forgotten, that till the Romans deltroyed Jerusalem, the Jewish Christians shewed a respect to the ancient Sabbath, and the apostles very often took the opportunity of preaching to the Jews, as they thereon affembled in their fynagogues, Acts xiii. 42. xvi. 13. xviii. 4. The first day was all along observed by Christians as their Sabbath, for almost 1600 years, before any pretenders to that name, that I know of, opposed it. No do I yet know of many of its opposers, whose practice is not a scandal to the Christian name. As the command plainly prohibits all manner of civil bufinefs, travelling, carnal talk, &c. Exod. xx. 8. -11. If. lviii. 13. it were to be wished, multitudes of this generation would confider, how they will reconcile their carnal journeying, their shaving, their cleanting of houses, their idle recreation, their unnecessary sleeping, their idle chat, or clubbing in the tavern, on it, thereto; or how they will answer for these at the judgement-seat of Christ.

God, indeed, prohibited the Jews to kindle fire on the Sabbath, for the work of erecting the tabernable, or drelling of their manna, or to travel through their tents, Exod. xxxv. 2.3. xvi. 29.; but in our Saviour's time, they in some things carried their strict. ness to an excess: they found fault with his hungry disciples, for eating a few ears of corn as they walked through a field; and quarrelled with himfelf, for healing discases on the Sabbath; Matth. xii. 1 .-- 12. Mark ii. 23 .-- 28. iii. 1.—6. Luke xiii. 11.—16. 1.-6. John v. The modern Jews ftill cleave to the feventh-day Sabbath, and boast of it as their spouse, given to them above any other nation. They begin it on Friday evening, when they repair to the fynagogue, and rehearfe certain prayers, and after returning home, the fathers blefs their children, and masters their scholars. On Saturday morning, they rife later than ufual: when they come to the fynagogue, they rehearse several psalms and prayers. A fection of the law is read, and a correspondent one from the prophets. After which, the last of the seven readers lifts up the book, and bleffes the people. They have also a kind of sermon some time of the day. Their other rites we pass, as too trifling for this work.— On account of the rest thereof, the Jewish festivals, the year of release, &c. are called Sabbaths, Lev. xix. 3. 30. What is meant by the fecond Sablath after the first, whether the fecond Sabbath of the facred year; or the fecond, or the last day of unleavened bread; or the day of Pentecost, or rather the fecond of the feven Sabbaths between the passover and Pentegost, is not fully agreed, Luke vi. 1.

SABEANS. See Sheba.

SABTA and SABTECHA, the third and fifth fons of Cush. We suppose both may have settled in Arabia the Happy. But Bochart will have the latter to have settled in Kerman, on the east of the Persian gulf, where he finds ancient vestiges of his name, Gen. x. 7.

SACBUT; an ancient mufical inftrument used in Nebuchadnezzar's concert. It is thought to have had four strings, and to have had a shrill found. Athenœus thinks it was similar to the psaltery: but Isidore will have it a kind of stute or hautboy.

SACK-

SAC [365] SAL

SACKCLOTH, a kind of coarfe linen, was ordinarily worn to express mourning, as by Job, Ahab, and the Syrians who came to implore mercy for Benhadad, and by Mordecai, when the Jewish nation was in danger of ruin, Job xvi. 15. 1 Kings xxi. 27. xx. 31. Efth. iv. 1. 2. The prophets also wore it, or like coarfe apparel; and the falfe prophets, to be like them, wore rough or coarfe garments, If. xx. 2. Zech. xiii. 4. In allufion to which, Christ's witnesses against Antichrist are said to prophefy in fackcloth, to denote their diffrefs and their mourning for the corruptions and diffress of the church, Rev. xi. 3. The fun became black as fackcloth of bair, when the glory and the principal idols of the Heathenish empire of Rome were overthrown by Constantine the Great, Rev. vi. 12.

SACRIFICE. See OFFERING. SACRILEGE; the stealing of things fet apart to an holy use, Rom. ii. 22.

The SADNESS of the countenance, fometimes imports, evidence of mourning and grief, Matth. vi. 16.; but fometimes it is put for real mourning, and the cause of it, by means of which the heart is made better, we aned from worldly things, and induced to a concern about eternal things, Eccl. vii. 3.

SADDUCEES. See SECT.

SAFETY; (1.) Freedom from danger, temporal or fpiritual, Pfal. xii. 5. (2.) Outward freedom from fear; profperity, Job xxiv. 23. I was not in fafety, nor had I rest or quiet, yet trouble came; I was not fels-consident, and fearless of danger and affliction, nay, had been before afflicted; yet this uncommon calamity came upon me, Job iii. 16. To be in fafeguard, is to be well defended, I Sam. xxii. 23.

SAFFRON; an odoriferous herb, which is planted in September, and is in full flower in February; after which its leaves fpring forth, and continue till May. Its flower is of a bluish colour, with yellow threads, and is of a very agreeable fmell. It is an excellent cordial, and of great use in curing many diseases. Tournefort mentions 46 kinds of it. Saints and their graces are like faffron: how comely, delightful, and ufeful for the healing of the church, are the former! and how medicinal to the heart and church are the latter! Song iv. 14.

SAIL; a sheet which catches the wind, and carries on a ship on the water, Acts xxvii. 40. To strike fail, to lower the fail, Acts xxvii. 17.

SAINTS; holy ones; (1.) Perfons holy by profession, covenant-dedication, gracious dispositions, and religious conversation, Paul. xvi. 3. Heb. vi. 10. (2.) The separate souls of holy men, who in heaven are freed from all sinful infirmities, Rev. xviii. 24. (3.) Holy angels, Deut. xxxiii. 2. Jude 14. Sec sanctify.

SALAMIS. There was an island of this name fouth of Athens, where the Persian sleet received a terrible defeat from the Athenians; but the Salamis spoken of in scripture was a city of Here Paul and Barnabas Cyprus. preached the gospel. About A. D.118, the Jews destroyed it. It was however rebuilt, and was the feat of the principal bishop of the isle; but the Saracens razed it to the ground, when they feized on the illand. It is probable that Famagusta, which suffered so much when the Ottoman Turks took the ifland, arose out of its ruins.

SALEM, or SALIM, where John baptized, was probably a place near Shechem, whither Jacob came as he returned from Mefopotamia; but fome commentators translate the word Shalem fafe and found, or in peace, John iii. 23. Gen. xxxii. 18. It was probably here that Melchizedeck was king, and came to meet Abraham in his return fouthward, from finiting Chedorlaomer and his allies. It is certain Jerufalem, which was afterwards by contraction called Salem, Pfal. lxxvi. 2. was then called Jebus, and was far off the way between Damafcus and Sodom; whereas this was directly on it, when one came fouth by the west side of Jorda. Gen. xiv.

SALMON. See RAHAB; ZAL-

$ A L [366] S A L

S'ALMONE, SALMONION, or SAMMONIUM; a city and fea port on the east end of the isle of Crete, where Cape Salomone now is, Acts xxvii. 7.

SALOME; the wife of Zebedee, and mother of James and John. She was one of those holy women who much followed our Saviour, and ministered to him for his subsistence. She foolishly begged that her two tonsmight have principal posts in his temporal kingdom. She witnessed his crucifixion, brought persumes for his dead body, and visited his grave that morning he rose from the dead, Matth. xxvii. 56. xx. 20.—22. xxviii. 10. Mark xvi. 1.2.

SALT is either digged out of miles, for there are whole mountains confifting of rocks of falt, and there ate falt-mines in Upper Hungar 180 fathoms deep, or it is formed by the heat of the fun exhaling the water from it on fea-shores; or it is formed by boiling fea, or falt fpring water; or as extracted from other fubstances; as from earth moistened with excrements. &c. The falt mingled with the water of the sea is of use to preserve it from putrefaction, and to render it stronger to bear veilels; and the perpetual motion thereof, is of ule to prevent the falt particles falling to the bottom. There is fcarce any fubftance without a mixture of falt. The rife of falt is to feafon food, preferve from corruption, kill worms, heal wounds, and rectify the humours of animal bodies. New-born infants were anciently rub-Bed over with it, to close their pores and harden their fkin, and to preferve from any corrupt on that might follow on the cutting of the navel, Ezek. xvi. In a way contrary to nature, Elitha cured the brackish water of Jericho, by casting falt into the spring, 2 lange ii. 21. The forwing of falt on a place, or making it falt, or falt pits, imports perpetual barrenness and desolation, Judg. ix. 45. Deut. xxix. 23. Zeph. ii. 9. Halifax tays, there is a valley covered with falt, that reaches from Tadmor to the east border of Idumea: But whether David Imote the Edonites in the north, and Amaziah smote them in the fouth part of this vailey, we shall not determine. It appears the Greeks of Syria had falt-pits on the west of the Dead Sea, and north border of Edom, and where possibly the Vəlley of Salt was, 2 Sam. xviii. 13. 2 Kings xiv. 7. There was falt made out of the Dead Sea, which was a better caustic, and digested meat better. than other falt .- Salt was a symbol of friendship and fidelity, due from guests, friends, or fervants, to their entertainers or matters: fo the Samaritans pretended they were falted with the falt of the Perfian palace; they were under the. deepest obligation, and had firmly refolved to fliew their fidelity to the Perfian king their mafter, Ezra iv. 14. All the ceremonial offerings were to be feafoned with falt. Did not this mark the purity, prudence, grace, faithfulnefs, and love to God, wherewith Jefus Christ, amidst great grief and trouble, offered himfelf to God for us, and wherewith we should devote our perfons and conde. ct to his fervice? Lev. ii. 13. Ministers are the falt of the earth; like marl, or other faltish fubflances, that fatten and fructify the earth, they tend to render nations and persons fruitful in works of righteoufnefs; a. d. they are means of preferving them from finful rettenness and corruption: but how uleless and base, if they act not in character! Matth. v. 13. True grace, and edifying converte, are likened to falt; how delightful they render the fpiritual food of divine truths! and what bleifed means of he ding fouls, and preferring them from infectious corruption! Mark ix. 50. Col. iv. 6. Every one shall be falted with fire, and every facrifice falted with falt: every person must either be purified with trouble, and in the way of forrow for fin, and mortification thereof; or, he thall be for ever falted with the tormenting, but preferving torments of hell, Mark ix. 49. A covenant of falt, is one of friendship, firm and durable, Nemb. xviii. 19. 2 Chron. xiii. 5.

SALUTE; to pay friendly compliments. Phiments, whether by words, kiffes, or letters, Matth. x. 12. Rom. xvi. 16. I Cor. vi. 20.

SAMARIA; (1.) A city of the Ephraimites, and the capital city of the ten tribes of Hrael for fome ages. When Omri was king of Ifrael, he, about A. AI. 3080, bought a hill from Shemer, for L. 68 s, -s. 6 d. and built on it a city, which, from the name of the late owner, he called Shomron, or Samaria. It flood about 42 miles north from Jerufalem, and 12 fouth of Dothaim. Its fituation was very agrecable, and it had plenty of time water. Leaving Shechem and Tirzah, where the former kings had relided, Omri fixed his refidence at Samaria; Ahab his fon built there a fine palace, whose principal chambers, it feems, were boxed with ivory, I Kings xxii. 39. Though he, as well as his father, did what they could to fortify it; vet it appears, that Beuhadad king of Syria obliged them to allow him to build streets, or places of trade, for his use in it. In Ahab's time, it furtained a flege from Benhadad and his 32 tributary kings, but was relieved by the defeat of the Syrians, I Kings xx. In Jehoram his fon's reign, it fullained another flege from the Syrians, till women eat their own infants for hunger; but was miraculously relieved and supplied, 2 Kings vi. vii. Not long after, the elders of it beheaded 70 of Ahab's defeendants, and fent their heads in backets to Jehu, 2 Kings x. In the time of Jeroboam the 2d, it was extremely populous, and the inhabitants were luxurious, effeminate, oppreffors of the poor, and idolatrous, to an uncommon degree, Amos iii. 15. iv. 1. 2. Hof. vii. 1. viii. 5. 6. In A. Al. 3233, Shalmanefer, after a nege of three years, took it, and reduced it to ruins, 2 Kings xvii. 1 .- 6. Mic. i. 1. 6. If. viii. 4. Hof. xiii. 16. It was afterwards, but very gradually, repaired. Alexander planted a colony of Macedonians in it. Hircanus the Jewish king demolished it, and made the water run over its foundations. About A. M. 3947, Gabinius, the Reman governor of Syria, rebuilt it & part, and called it Gabiniana. Heroc. the Great restored it to its ancient luftre, and called it Sebafte, in honour of Augustus or Schaftos the Roman emperor. Whatever it might fuffer in the lewish wars, it was a place of some confideration about A. D. 400. (2.) The country of the Ephraimites, or of the ten tribes, I Kings xiii. 32. In the New Toflamont, Samaria always figuities the territory between Judeaand Galilee; and where the tribes of Ephraim, Manafich, and Hachar had dwelt. Here our Sasiour converted fundry. John iv.; here Simon Magus deceived the people; and here many were converted by the ministry of Philip the deacon, and of Peter and John, John iv. Acts viii.

SAMAPITANS; the inhabitants of the country of Samaria. When Shalmanefer carried the ten tribes out of their own land, he transplanted others from Babylon, and places adjacent, into it. There they continued their former idolatry: the Babylonians worshipped Succoth-benoth; the Cuthites, Nergal · the Hamathites, Ashima; the Avites, Nichaz and Tartak; and the Sepharvites burnt their children in the fire to Adramelech, and Anammelech; nor, if we believe the Jews, were thefor their only idols. God punished their idolatry in his land with the deftruction of many of them by lions. pecting the cause, they begged King Efarhaddon, who, it feems, transplanted other tribes thither, that he would take proper methods to inflruct them in the worthip of the God of their new country. He feat them an Hebrew pried, who instructed them in the Jewith religion, and gave them a copy of Mofes's law. Copies of this flill remain, wich a vertical thereof in the Samaritan dialect, both in the Samaritan characters, but corrupted with fundry midake, effecially in numbers, and where the transcribers millook one Fig. brew letter for another; and with fonce fluff in fevour of Gerizzim. Thus inthrucked, the Samaritans blanded the Jesith religion with their own idolaSAM 1 368 1 SAM ries, 2 Kings xvii. When Nebuchadnezzar ravaged the countries of Moab and Ammon, it feems part of the inhabitants took refuge among the Samaritans, who were spared, as partly of a Chaldean original. When the Tews returned from Babylon, the Samaritans did all that lav in their power to oppose their rebuilding of the temple; and bribed fome of Cyrus's counfellors, to do what they could to Rop it. Ahafuerus, or Cambyfes, had no fooner mounted the throne, than they wrote him a petition for that effect, accusing the Tews of disloyal de-In the short reign of Artaxerxes Magus, Bishlam, Mithredath, and Tabeel, and their companions, wrote to him, to procure a stop to the work. Much about the fame time, Rehum the chancellor, Shimshai the scribe, and their companions, the Dinaites, Apharfathchites, Tarpelites, Apharfites, Archevites, Sufanchites, Dehavites, Elamites, Babylonians, and others, wrote him a letter, wherein they represented the Jews as a very rebellious people, who, if permitted to rebuild their cities and temple, would feize on all the king's territories on the west of the Euphrates; and they begged, the king would make enquiry into the histories to which he had access, and he would find they had been a rebellious nation. The Magus returned anfwer, that a fearch into the records had been made, and it had been found what powerful kings had ruled among the Jews; and he defired them to flop the work by force, which they immediately did. Soon after, Tatnai the governor, and Shethar-boznai, with their companions, the Apharfachifes, fent a letter to Darius Hyftaspis, informing him, that they had done what they could to stop the building of the Jewish temple; and that the Jews had pretended an edict of Cyrus appointing them to build it. Upon learch, the edict was found, and Darius ratified it, and ordered the Samaritans to give the Jews no further trouble, Ezra, iv. v. vi. When Neltemiah began to promote the rebuilding of the walls of Jerufalem, Sanballat the Horonite; Tobiah the Ammonite, and Geshem the Arabian, did all that lay in their power, by threatening and craft, to cut off Nehemiah, or stop the work; but their purpofes were frustrated. Manassch the son of Joiada, the Jewith high prieft, married the daughter of Sanballat, on which account Nehemiah banished him from Jerusalem. Sanballat applied to Darius Nothus, for leave to build a temple for his fonin-law, on mount Gerizzim. He represented, that this would effectually divide the Jewish nation, and render them incapable to form any noted enterprize. He obtained his defire; and the temple was built. Before this, it feems, the Samaritans had no temple. Observing that Alexander heaped favours upon the Jewish nation, they pretended to be a part of them. When he left the country, and marched into Egypt, they revolted, and burnt Andromachus his governor. He quickly revenged the affront, and put numbers of them to the fword. He placed a colony of Macedonians in the city of Samaria, and gave the territories about to the Jews. This heightened the animofity between them and the Jews. Whenever a Jew incurred punishment for the violation of any important point of the divine law, he took refuge with the Samaritans, and embraced their method of worship. When Antiochus Epiphanes perfecuted the Jews, the Samaritans diffound connection with them, and pretended to be originally Phenicians, or descended from Joseph by Manasseh. Hyrcanus king of Judea ravaged their country, and razed Samaria and Shechem, their capital cities, to the very ground. When Herod re-ostablished Samaria, a vast number of Heathens fettled in the country, but a part still clave to the half Jewish religion, and expected the Meiliah; but the contention between them and the Jews was extremely warm; they refuted even civil dealings with one another, John iv. 9. The Samaritans refused to receive our Saviour to lodging, because he seemed bound for Jerufalem.

SAM [369] SAM

rusalem, Luke ix. 52. 53. The Jews imagined the Samaritans the worlt of men, and poffeffed by the devil, John viii. 48. In one of our Saviour's journeys from Jerufalem to Samaria, he converted a Samaritan harlot, and fundry others at Shechem, John iv. 4.-4.2. When afterwards he feat forth his apostles, he prohibited them to m-ter the cities of the Samuricas, Mit. x. 5. Much about this time, Simon the forcerer mightily deluded them, and was reckoned by them fome wonderful person, it not the Mallab. When the gospel was preached in the country by Pailip, many of them believed, and had the Holy Ghoft conferred on them, by the laying on of the hands of Peter and John; but it is faid, that by Simon's means, many of the once professed Christians in that place aposttatized to the herefy and licentious defa of the Gnoflicks: Acts viii, Some time after, the Samaritans, to infult the Jews and interrupt their devotion, feattered dead mens bones in the court of the temple at a paffover-feuit. other occasions they murdered fome Jews as they came from Gaillee to the folemn feasts. This occasioned a war between the two nations. the Jews revolted, the Samaritans continued their subjection to the Romans; notwith anding of which, they partly shared in the calamities of their neighbours. Since these times, they have always fubmitted to the powers that ruled the country.

At prefent, the Samaritans are few in number; but pretend to great strictnefs in their observation of the law of Mofes, and account the Jews intolerably lax. From the letter of their high priest to Joseph Scaliger, above 180 years ago, and which was in the library of the French king, it appears, that they profess to believe in God, and in his fervant Mofes, and in the holy law, the mount Gerizzim, the house of God, and the day of vengeance and peace. They keep the Sabbath fo strictly, that they will not move out of their place, except to their fynagogue. They always circumcife their children on the 8th day of their birth. They do not marry their own nieces nor allow a plurality of wives, as the Jews do Their high prieft ftill refides at Shechem; offers their facrifices at their temple on mount Gerizzim; and declares the time of the feafts to the Sumuritues, who are feattered, fome at Danafeus, fome at Gaza, nay, fome at Grand Cuiro in Egypt.

VOL. II.

SAME. To be the fame, when applied to God or Civilt, denotes immutability, Heb. i. 12. Jefus Christ is the fame yesterday, to-day, and for ever, nother the law, under the gospel, and in the cternal state, he is still the same in person and office; and in every different period or ease, he is still the same in relation and love to his people, Heb.

viii e

SAMOS: an illand in the east end of the Mediterranean fea, about nine miles from the coult of Leffer Afia. It is about to miles in compass; but the foil is to fertile, that it would employ 100,000 hands. It was famous for the birth of the goddes Juno, and of Pythagoras and Melissius; and here the famed Lycurgus and Pherecydes died. For many ages it was a state of no fmall note, and was a commonwealth; but Sylofon, Polycrates, Meandrus, and other tyrants of their own, for a while laid them under hard fervitude. The Perfians, Greeks, the kings of Pergamos, the Romans, Sar cens, and Turks, have for more than 2000 years been generally mallers of the place in their turn. Though Paul touched here as he failed to Jerufalem, Acts xx. 15. yet we know of no Cariftianity here till about the end of the fecond century; tince which it has never been utterly abolithed. At prefent the place is in a poor condition. Samo or Sustan, its capital, is on the foutheast coall, and has a tolerable harbour; but is little frequented, because of the picates that infest the neighbouring feas. The illand is inhabited by a few Turks, with about 12,000 Carifficus. Thefe latt have an archbithop, whose dues, after deducting his tribute to the Sultan, and the patriarch of Constantinople, can foarce. SAM 370 SAM scarce make him live. Under him are about 200 priefts, and a greater number of monks, extremely ignorant, but nevertheless judges in the absence of the Turkish Cadi.

SAMOTHRACIA, now SAMAN-DRACHI, is a small island about 20 miles in circumference, on the coast of Thracia, having feveral good harbours, and originally peopled by the Pelafgi and Athenians, and afterwards by the Samians. It was anciently famous for the worship of the Cabiri, or great gods of the Heathen, Ceres, Proferpine, Pluto, and Mercury, whose names in the Samothracian language, as well as other evidences, tempt me to believe that the ancient inhabitants came from Phenicia. Here also they worshipped Castor, Pollux, Neptune, and the other feadeities. Foreigners of the highest characters counted it a great honour to be initiated into the facred mysteries of the Samothracian idolatry. Paul paffed by this island as he failed to Macedonia, Acts xvi. 1.; but when Christianity was here first fettled we know not.

SAMSON, the fon of Manoah, a Danite. After his mother had been long barren, the Angel JEHOVAH appeared to her, and informed her, that The should have a fon, who should begin to deliver Ifrael out of the hand of the Philistines, who then had begun to oppress them. He ordered her to drink no wine or ftrong drink during her pregnancy, nor to eat of any thing unclean; but to confecrate the child to God, and bring him up as a Nazarite from his infancy; but refused to tell her who he was. She went and informed her husband Manoah of what had happened. He prayed to the Lord, that the man of God who had spoke to his wife would again appear, and give further directions concerning the education of the child. The Angel again appeared to the woman, and she went and informed her husband, who, along with her, hafted to the Angel, who repeated his former directions. Manoah and his wife begged he would tarry a little, till they prepared a kid for his entertainment. He told them, he would cat none of their meat, furpose it were ready; and bade them offer their burnt-offering to the Lord. They asked his name, that after the fulfilment of his predictions they might know whom to honour as their infor-He refused, and told them, his name was secret, or wonderful. Meanwhile, Manoah offered his kid and z meat-offering on the rock befide them; and the Angel afcended up to heaven in the flame. Manoah and his wife, who till now had thought him a man, were feized with terror, and fell on their faces towards the ground. Manoah concluded, that fince they had feen an angel, they must die; but his wife more justly inferred, that if the Lord had a mind to kill them, he would not have accepted their offering, nor given them fuch information concerning their fon.

Next year, which was about A. M.2848 or 2872, Samfon was born. By endowing his mind with uncommon bravery, and his body with supernatural strength, the Holy Ghost early marked him out for fome grand exploits. He dwelt at Mahane dan, between Zorah and Eshtaol. Going one day to Timnath, then in the hand of the Philistines, he faw a young woman, who engaged his affection. He requested his parents to procure her for him to wife. They represented, that it would be more proper he should marry a wife of his own people. As he infifled on his request, they supposed it might be a motion from God, to bring about the deliverance of their nation. and at last went with him to Timnath, to procure him the girl. By the way, Samfon turned a little afide, and a young lion came roaring to devour him. Without fo much as a staff in his hand, he caught the furious lion, and rent him to pieces, as if he had been a kid. He hafted up to his parents; but told them nothing of his rending the lion. Some time after, as they again went to Timnath, to celebrate the nuptials, Samfon turned aside to fee the carcase of the lion. To his furprife, he found a fwarm of bees had hived in it. He did eat a tinued hu lity, he still kept fecret his killing of the lion.

SAM SAM 371

When the privinge was celebrated at Timnath, 30 young men of the place attended him. As they began to entertain one another with perplexing riddles to be folved, Samfor propofed to give them a riddle, which if they explained during the feven days of the feaft, they should have chirty thirts, and as many fuits of apparel; and if not, they fliould give him the fime. On their agreement to the proposal, he told them his riddle, which was, "Out " of the eater came forth meat, and 66 out of the Brong came forth fweet-" nefs." After they had long, to no purpose, endeavoured to guess at its meaning, they urged his wife by entreaties, and even threatenings to burn her and her father's family, if the did not procure them information, and get the fecret out of her husband. By her continued entreaties and weeping, the obtained it, and immediately informed her countrymen. On the 7th day, just before funset, they asked Samson, "What was fweeter than honey? or " what was stronger than a lion?" Samfon replied, that if they had not ploughed with his heiser, i. e. dealt with his unfaithful wife, they had never found it out. Animated by the Spirit of God, he went directly to Askelon, and killing 30, Philistines, he gave their clothes to his 30 companions. Offended with his wife's treachery, he left her with her father, and went home with his parents. Her father, imagining he had quite forfaken her, married her to one of the 30 young men who attended the wedding. When Samfon's anger fabrided, he went back to vifit her, and prefented her with a As she had been given to another, her father denied him access to her chamber, and defired him to marry her younger fifter, who was more beau-Bent on revenge, Samfon, and fuch others as he employed, caught 300 toxes, for they were very numerous in that country, and tying them together, part of the hone, and carried another tail to tail, with a firebrand between to his parents; him to manifest his con-them, he let them go into the Philiflines fields of flanding corn. The ripe corn took flame, and was quickly confumed; the vines, too, and olive-trees were feorehed or burnt. Knowing that the injury he had received from his father-in-law was the cause of his conduct, the Philistines burnt his treacherous wife and her father to death. Samfon affured them, that he would be further avenged on them before he ceased. He fmote them hip and thigh whereever he met them, kicking them about like balls with his feet, and after cutting off great numbers of them, retired to the rock Etam, about eight miles or more fouth-well from Jerusalem. Informed hereof, the Philiftines invaded the territories of Judah, and demanded that Samfon their destroyer should be given up to them. Three thousand lews went up to the top of the rock, and told him, they were come to bind and deliver him into the hand of their Philistine masters. Upon their giving him their oath, that they would not kill him themfelves, he allowed them to bind him. Great was the joy of the Philistines, as they received him bound; but all of a fudden, he fnapt afunder the cords wherewith he was tied, and taking up the jaw-bone of an als that lay at his feet, he therewith flew 1000 of the Philistines. To check his proud boasting of his victory, he suddenly almost fainted for thirst. On his humble request, the Lord opened a well in a hollow place of the rock, and perhaps just under his jaw-bone, which he had flung from him, out of which he drunk, and allayed his thirst. To commemorate the event, the place was called Lehi, the jaw-bone; or Ramath Lehi, the lifting up of the jaw-bone; and the fountain Enhakkore, the well of him that

Some time after, Samfon taking a fancy to an harlot of Gaza, lodged in her house. Informed hereof, the Philistines fet a watch at the gates, to kill him as he went out in the morning. Having got notice of their defigns, he rofe about midnight, and going off, carried with him the posts and doors of their gate, to the top of the hill before Hebron, which we can hardly think could be lefs than 20 or 30 miles. Not long after, he fell in love with one Delilah of the valley of Sorek; but whether he made her his wife, or only his harlot, is not very evident. The five lords or princes of the Philiftines promifed her 1100 thekels of filver the piece, which, in whole, was almost L. 700 Sterling, if the could find out, and deprive him of that wherein his strength lay. She did what she could to obtain the bribe. Saspecting her treachery, he, for a while, imposed on her. First he affirmed, that the binding of him with green withs, or twifted branches of trees, would render him weak as another man; nest, that the binding him with new ropes, and again, that the weaving of his hair into treffes in the loom, would do it. Finding that he broke the withs and ropes, as eafily as if a thread, and went off with the web, beam, and all, on his head, as foon as the Philistines, who watched in an adjacent room, were ready to apprehend him, she teased him fo with her flatteries and importunities, that he finfully discovered the fecret, and told her, that if his head were thorn, he would be weak as another man; as that would break his flate of Nazariteship, and so deprive him of the fingularly invigorating force of the Holy Ghost. She lulled him asleep on her lap, and cut off his hair. When the as formerly awoke him, with an alarm of the Philistines being ready to apprehend him, he thought to shake and bestir himself as before, but could not, as the Lord was departed from him. The Philistines who waited in the next room, rushed in, and apprehended him, and put out his eyes, and carrying him to Gaza, put him in prifon, and made him grind at their cornmill, as a contemptible flave. When he had continued here about a year, his strength returned with the growth of his hair. While the Philistines obferved a folemn thankfgiving to Dagon their god, for delivering Samfon their destroyer into their hand, the lords appointed him to be brought to their temple, to make them diversion. The apartment was capacious, but was thronged, and not a few from the roof, or from galleries, beheld the fport. As the roof was supported by two pillars, Samfon, after being fufficiently infulted, defired the boy who led him. to guide him to the pillars, that he might lean thereon. Having get hold of them, and being divisely warranted to lay down his life for the fervice of his nation, and the destruction of their Phillifline foes, he, after a fhort prayer, pulled down the pillars, and the temple about their ears, by which means feveral thousands were killed, even more than all he had flain in his life. Thus fell Samfon, after he had judged Ifracl 20 years, and lived about 38. His friends, hearing of his death, came and carried off his corpfe, and buried it in the fepulchre of his ancestors: Judg. xiii.—xvi. That, with all his faults, he was a real believer, is teftified by the Holy Ghost; but some imagine the paffage only bears, that he had the faith whereby he was qualified for uncommon exploits, Heb.xi. 32.33.

Did this Jewish hero typify our almighty Redeemer? How express the prediction, and supernatural the manner of his birth! how folemn his feparation to the service of God! how wonderfully invigorating the spiritual influence he was possessed of! how early and marvellous his exploits! how he, by obedience and death, fatisfied the broken law, conquered the world, fin, death, and the devil! how fweet the provision he hereby provided for himself and his friends! should I fay, what rell for numerous multitudes of finful men, is prepared by his victory over fin, Satan, and death! how important his parables, and known only to fuch as have fellowship with himfelf! How basely Judas and his countrymen betrayed him, and delivered him to the Gentiles, that he might be crucified! His enemics rejoiced to feal him up, and watch him in his grave; but he broke the bands, and carried S A M | 373 | S A M off the gates and bars of death, and afcending up on high, led captivity captive. All alone he performed his grand exploits. By a voluntary death in his despised manhood, according to his Father's will, he dellroyed thoufands of principalities and powers. By the contemned paraching of the gofpel, he conquers thousands of fouls, and flays ten thorfinds of fails: how dreadful his vengeance! By the Romans, like fire-branded foxes, he forcad ruin among his Jewish oppofers, and burnt up their cities. By outrageous and ravaging Goths, Saraccus, Tartars, Turks, &c. he refeated the injuries done to his canie. And, in fine, how thall his fiery vengeance for ever prey on the damned !

SAMUEL, or SHEMUEL, the fon of Elkanah by HANNAH, and the 16th in descent from Korah the seditious Levite. He was born about the fame time with Samfon; and as his mother, after long barrennels, obtained him by carnell prayer, the devoted him to the Service of God as a Nazarite from his infancy; and after he was weaned, was assigned to Eli the high pricit, to bring him up in the fervice of the tabernacle. When Eli, by reason of age, could hardly officiate, and was finfully indulgent towards his fons, who profuned the fervice of God, the Lord one morning, ere the lamps of the tabernacle were extinguished, called to Samucl by his name, as he lay in a bed very near to that of Eli. Samuel thought it had been Eli, and run haftily to alk him his will? Eli bid him lie down again, for he had not called him. As all this happened thrice on end, Eli at lalt suspected God had fpoken to Samuel, and bid him go lie down again, and if he was called any more, to reply, Speak, Lord, for thy fervant heareth. Samuel did fo. The Lord again called him, and told him what shocking calamities would quickly come upon the Hebrews, and upon the family of Eli, because he had not restrained the wickedness of his fons. At Eli's request, Samuel, not without reluctance, related all this to him. From this time forth, Samuel was taken notice of as a prophet of the Lord. When Eli died, Samuel, now about 40 years of age, fucceeded him as judge of Ifrael. Having affembled the people, probably on occasion of their removal of the ark from Bethshemesh to Kirjathjearim, he warned them to put away their idols, and return to the Lord, and he would grant them deliverance. He difmissed them for the present, and ordered them to meet him in a body at Mispeh, a place about 16 or 18 miles north west of serusalem, or perhaps more cafferly. There they affembled at the appointed time; and as many of them had long, perhaps about 20 years, bewailed the cafe of their country, and cried to the Lord for deliverance, they now, at a folemn fast, appointed by Samuel, confessed, and mourned over their fins, and, inflead of drink-offerings of wine, poured out water before the Lord. Meanwhile, the Philittines dreading their intentions, marched to attack them. The Uebrews begged Samuel would pray for them; he did fo, and offered a lamb for a burnt-offering. God terrified the Philitlines, and struck dead many of them. They fled off in the utmost consternation; the Hebrews purfued them as far as Bethear, and recovered from them the cities which they had taken from them; nor, after that, did the Philistines ravage the Hebrew territories any more during the government of Samuel. To commemorate this noted deliverance, he fet up a stone or pillar, calling it EBEN-EXER, the flone of bely, because there God had helped them. For the more regular administration of justice, Samucl every year took a tour from Ramuli to Bethel, thence to Gilgal, and thence to Mizpeh, perhaps that in Gilcad, and then returned home to Ramah, where he built an altar for his own devotion, and that of those Hebrews who flocked to him from the country about, to ask his direction, or have their causes decided, I Sam. i .-iii. vii. 1 Chron. vi. 22.—28.

He had two fons, Joel or Vashni,

the

SAM [374] SAM

the father of Heman the finger, and Abiah, whom, in his old age, he appointed judges of the people. to their father, they perverted justice and received bribes. The elders of Israel made an handle of this to ask a king, that they might be like the nations around. Samuel difrelishing the motion, confulted the Lord. Provoked with the finful propofal, the Lord bid him grant the people their defire, fince they were weary of divine government; but first to warn them, what manner of tyrants, that would oblige their children to ferve in their wars, or drudge in their house or field, and would oppress them with heavy taxes, and otherwife, they might expect, according to their own propofal. They perfitted in their metion. About A. M. 2909, he was appointed of God to anoint SAUL to be their king; and he afterwards confirmed the kingdom to him at Gilgal, On that occasion, after their peaceofferings were finished, Samuel solemnly challenged the affembly to accuse him, if they could, of the least injustice in his administration. They folemnly declared they could not accuse him of any. After rehearing the various appearances of God in their favour while the theocracy lafted, he warned them to take heed to ferve the Lord, and thus entail on themselves fignal bleffings. He told them, that though now it was wheat-harvest, when thunder or rain feldom happened, yet a storm should happen that very day, to testify God's displeasure at their request of a king. At Samuel's defire, the Lord fent the from. The thunder terrified the people, and they begged the forgiveness of their offence. After he had folemnly warned them against apostafy from the fervice of the true God, and had engaged to continue his prayers for them, he difmiffed them, and returned to his house, and never afterwards appears to have acted as a judge, I Sam. viii.-Two years after, he sharply reproved King Saul for offering facrifice, and warned him of his lofing his king-Almost 20 years after, he, by the direction of God, ordered Saul to go and flay the Amalekites, and what pertained to them. At his return, he sharply rebuked his rebellion against God's commandment, in sparing the best of the sheep, and Agag the king; the last of which Samuel hewed in pieces before the Lord. He told Saul, that for his rebellion the Lord had rejected him, and would give the kingdom to one of his neighbours. Upon Saul's earnest desire, he honoured him so far before the people, as to join in public worship with him, and then leaving him, never visited him more; but continued to lament his sate, 1 Sam. xiii. xv.

To comfort Samuel against his grief, the Lord ordered him to anoint one of Teffe the Bethlemite's fons to be king after Saul. To conceal the matter, and prevent Saul's murderous rage against him, he was appointed to take an heiser with him, and offer for a The elders of the peace-offering. place were afraid of his coming; but he removed their fears, and told them he came with peaceful defigus, and called them to prepare themselves for the facrifice which he intended to offer. He himself fanctified Jesse and his sons for that occasion. After the facrifice, he had a fecret interview with Jeffe and his fons. When Eliab the eldeft appeared before him, his flately appearance made him conclude that he was the person appointed for king. The Lord fuggested to him that he was not; and that the Lord did not, as men do, look on the outward appearance, but on the heart. The feven of Jesse's fons that were present, paffed before him in their turns; but the Lord fuggested to him, and he told Jeffe, that none of these were the person appointed for king. standing that David the youngest was with the sheep, he was sent for directly, and God directed to anoint him. It is probable, that none but Jesse, David, and Samuel, knew of this unction. After performing it, Samuel returned to Ramah, where he prefided over a body of young men, who had devoted themselves to the peculiar service of About, perhaps, fixteen or fe-God.

venteen

SAM [375] SAN

venteen years after, he died, greatly lamented, about A. M. 2947. I Sam. xvi. 1. - 13. xix. 18. - 24. xxv. 1. Samuel was a noted prophet, and the first in the continued succession of prophets that ended in Malachi. wrote in a book rules for the management of the kingdom, pointing out to the king and people their proper rights; but it is faid, fome of the Hebrew kings afterwards deftroyed it, that they might rule as they pleafed. He wrote part of the history of David, and is supposed to have written the book of Judges and Ruth. He dedicated confiderable fpoils to the fervice of God, and began to regulate the order of the priests and Levites in their facred fervice, I Sam. x. 25. 1 Chron. xxix. 29. xxvi. 28. ix. 10. Though his extraordinary character, and the broken state of the church, occasioned his occasional offering of facrifice, yet there is no proper reason to reckon him a priest, more than Gideon, or Elijah, or Manoah.

Of the two books of Samuel, called by the Vulgate verion, the books of Kings; the first, of which perhaps the first 24 chapters were written by Samuel, contains the history of about 120 years, or perhaps less; the second contains the history of David's reign, extending to 40 years. The style of these books is extremely plain, and easy for a learner.

Did this Hebrew judge and prophet typify the bleffed Jefus? How ardently defired, and fupernatural his birth! How early was he devoted to, fitted for, and employed in the fervice of God! how extensive his office! at once the illuminated Prophet, the extraordinary Priest, and the sovereign Judge of God's true Ifrael! how effectually atoning is his facrifice, and prevalent his intercession, to preserve friendship with Heaven, and obtain spiritual, and other victories on earth! how marvellous his conquests of our enemies, and restoration of the treacherously abandoned worship of his Father! how gracious his instructions, sharp his reproofs, and certain his predictions! how by him kings reign, and princesdecree justice! How candid, generous, and just, his whole management! yet how wickedly and dangerously were he and his Father rejected by his brethren the Jews, who defined a temporal deliverer! and still are by carnal profeffors! but how broken and distressed is their case, till they seek the Lord, and David their king!

How SANBALLAT, the native, we think, of Horonaim, in the country of Moab, with his friends Tobiah and Geshem, were vexed at Nehemiah's coming from Persia, and rebuilding the wall of Jerusalem; what methods they used by fraud to destroy him; and how Sanballat got a temple built for Manasfeth his son-in-law, may be seen in Nehemiah, and Samaritans. Neh. ii.

iv. vi.

SANCTIFY; (1.) To prepare or fet apart persons or things to an holy use, Exod. xix. 23. God sanctified Christ, when he fet him apart to his mediatory office, and furnished him with gifts and graces for the discharge of it, John x. 36. Christ fanclified bimfelf: by his folemn prayer, he furrendered himfelf to, and prepared himfelf for fuffering work, and by his fuffering, he prepared himfelf to be our effectual Saviour, John xvii. 19. He was fanctified by his own blood; by the shedding of it, he was set apart, and fitted to be an everlasting and glorious Interceffer and Saviour, Heb. x. 29. The Hebrews, in general, were fanctified, when separated from the rest of the world, brought into peculiar covenantrelation to God, and ceremonially purified by atonements, washings, Ec. Exod. xxxi. 13. God fanctifies the Sabbath, by fetting it apart for an holy and religious use, Gen. ii. 3. The lewish tabernacle, temple, vessels, and priefts and Levites, were fandlified, whom fet apart to the fervice of God, and ceremonially prepared for it, by fprinkling of blood or oil, or by wathing with water, Exod. xxx. 29. xxviii. 41. Lev. viii. 12. The Medes and Perfians are represented as God's fandified ones; he fet them apart, and prepared them as priefts, SAN [376] SAN priefts, to make a bloody facrifice of the Affyrians and Chaldeans, to his just vengeance, Zeph. i. 7. If. xiii. 3. compare Jer. xxii. 7. The Hebrew word which we render to fantify, fignifies also to prepare, Jer. vi. 4. xii, 3. li. 27. 28. Men fantlify themfelow, when they fet themselves apart to God's service, and prepare to appear before him in a proper condition and holy frame, and study to be qualified to partake of holy things, Exod. xix. 10. 11. Numb. xi. 18. Josh. iii. 5. Meat is fanctified by the word of God, and by prayer, when freed from the curse and its effects, and fet apart to be used in the service of God, I Tim. iv. 5. (2.) To use in religious exercifes, or in a holy manner; fo men fanctify the Sabbath, Deut. v. 12. They fanctify a fast, when they fet it apart to, and use it in holy exercifes, Joel i. 14. (3.) To shew or manifest that to be holy which is so, Lev. x. 3. If. xxix. 13. Ezek. xxxvi. 23. God fanctifies himself or his name, when, by his providential works, he manifests his holiness and equity, and orders all things to his own glory, Ezek. xxxviii. 23. Men fandify God, or his name, when they regard and revere every thing whereby he maketh himfelf known; when they confess his holiness and justice, and by their obedience to his will, shew their regard thereto, Is. viii. 13. Numb. xx. 12. (4.) To make holy what was before defiled and finful; fo the faints are fandified, when, by the blood of Jefus fprinkled on their conscience, to remove the curse, as the fource of the ftrength of fin, and to purge their heart from dead works, and by the Holy Ghost entering into them, and gradually removing their corruption, and bestowing on them his grace, they are fet apart to God's fervice, and conformed to his image, Heb. They are fanctified by God the X. 14. Father; he, in election, separates them to his fervice; he gives his Son, and fends his Spirit to render them holy, Jude 1. They are fanctified in Christ Fesus, and he is made of God unto them fanctification. In a state of union to his person, and by his shedding of his blood for them, and applying it to their confeience, and by his communicating his grace to them, is their holinefs begun, preferved, revived, and increased to everlasting perfection, I Cori. 2. 30. They are fanctified by the Holy Ghost, as he, by means of God's word and ordinances, applies Jesus's blood to their conscience, and is the implanter and increaser of their holy dipositions, and the director, exciter, and enabler of them to perform their good works, Rom. v. 16. John xvii.

Sanctification of men, as a privilege, is purchased for, given to, and wrought in us, by a gracious God. As a duty it is studied by us; and in order to attain it, we must receive it out of Christ's fulness, by faith in his person and promises. Sanctification is either of nature, whereby we are gradually renewed after the image of God, in fpiritual knowledge, righteoufnefs, and true holiness, Eph. iv. 24. Col. iii. 10.; or of practice, whereby we more and more die unto fin, have its power weakened in us, and ceafe from the love and practice of it, and hate it as abominable, and live unto rightcoufnefs, loving, studying, and practifing good works, Tit. ii. 11. 12. Sanctification comprehends all the graces of knowledge, faith, repentance, love, humility, zeal, patience, &c. and the exercife thereof in our dealings with God or man, Gal. v. 22.—24. 1 Pet. i. 15. 16. Matth. v. vi. vii. As in this world, fanctification, though perfect in parts, the whole man being fanctified, and the whole law regarded, Ptal. cxix. 6. is still imperfect in degrees, and remainders of fin still continue on the whole man, I Kings Eccl. vii. 20. I John i. 8. Jam. iii. 2. Rom. vii. 14.—25.; the faints, while here, are in a state of fpiritual warfare with Satan and his temptations, with fin and its motions, and with the world and its pattern and influence, 2 Cor. ii. 11. Gal. v. 17. 24. Rom. vii. 23. 1 John ii. 15. 16. That the holiness of our nature and practice is of unspeakable moment, appears appears from its being the end of all the offices of Christ, Matth. i. 21. Tit. ii. 11. 12. 14. Heb. ii. 10. 11. ix. 14. x. 19.—22. xiii. 12. Pfal. ex.; the end of his debasement, and his exaltation, Tit. ii. 14. 1 Pet. i. 19. ii. 21. Eph. v. 1. 4. 25.—27.; the end of the Holy Ghost, in his whole work on Christ and his church, Tit. iii. 5. 6. Ezek. xxxvi. 27.; the end of all the precepts, promifes, and providences of God, Matth. xxii. 37. 38. 2 Cor. vii. 1. 1 John iii. 3. Rom. ii. 4. If. xxvii. 9.; and the end of our election, redemption, effectual calling, justification, adoption, and spiritual comfort, Eph. i. 4. 5. 1 Cor. xvi. 19. 20. 2 Tim. i. 9. Rom. vi. 14. 2 Cor. vi. 18. 1 John iii. 1.—3. Rom. v. 21. vi. 1. 2. Good works, or holinefs in practice, are not necessary to change God's purpose relative to us, Mal. iii. 6. Jam. i. 17.; nor to qualify us for receiving Jesus Christ as a Saviour, If. lv. 1. Rev. xxii. 17.; nor to found our title to Christ's righteoufnefs, or what is thereby purchafed, whether grace or glory, 1 Tim. i. 1. Tit. iii. 5. Gal. ii. 20. 1 Pet. iii. 16. Col. ii. 6. Phil. iii. 3. 9.: but they are necessary as a part of begun falvation, Matth. i. 21. xi. 26.; necessary as correspondent with the nature of those divine perfons, in fellowship with whom our happiness lies, Lev. xi. 44. 45. I John iv. 8. 16. 19. Heb. xii. 28. 29.; necessary as correspondent to what Father, Son, and Holy Ghost do for us, in our election, redemption, effectual calling, jultification, adoption, comfort, and glorification, Eph. i. 4. Tit. ii. 14. John xvii. 15. 17. Ezek. xxxvi. 25.—31. Acts xxvi. 18.; necessary as an obedience to the will of God, our Sovereign and God, Exod. xx. 2. —18.; necessary as expressions of our gratitude to God for his kindness, Luke i. 74. 75. Rom. vi. 1. 2. 15. Pfal. c. 2.-4. cxvi. 16.; necessary as fruits and evidences of our union to Christ, faith in him, and justification by his imputed righteoufness, Col. ii. 6. Jam. ii. 17 .- 24.; necessary to a-Vol. II.

SAN [377] SAN

dorn our profession, and so gain others to Christ, and to an useful and comfortable method of living in the world, Tit. ii. 10. 1 Pet. ii. 9. iii. 1. 2. 1 Cor. vi. 20. vii. 16. Matth. v. 16.; necessary as means of our present happiness and comfort, 2 Cor. i. 12. 1 John i. 6. Pfal. exix. 6. 165. Prov. iii. 17.; and, in fine, necessary as a proper preparation for the heavenly bleffednefs, 1 John iii. 2. 3. Rom. ii. 7. viii. 9. Heb. xii. 14. Gal. v. 22. -25. Sanctification is founded upon, and mightily influenced by, our free justification through the imputed righteoufness of Christ. (1.) Justification frees from the curfe of the law, which binds one under the ruling power of sin, 1 Cor. xv. 56. Gal. iii. 13. Rom. vi. 14. vii. 4. (2.) Herein the wifdom, love, power, justice, mercy, and truth of God, are legally engaged to bestow fanctification on the persons justified, as the quintessence of that eternal life, to which they are adjudged in justification, Rom. v. 21. 2 Tim. iv. 8. (3) The blood of Jefus Christ applied to our confcience, doth in a real, but inconceivable manner, purge it from dead works, to ferve the living God, I Tim. i. 5. Heb. ix. 14. x. 22. (4.) The believing persuasion of our justification through Jesus's righteoufnefs, by our therein perceiving the constraining love of Christ, and the goodness, greatness, and holiness of God, and the purity, goodness, and high and indispensible obligation of the law as a rule, and the amazing vilenefs and tremendous defert of fin, and the beauty of holiness, and the certainty of strength for, and reward of it, effectually excites and enables us to holiness, in all manner of conversation, 2 Cor. v. 14. Gal. iii. 14. Matth. iii. 15. v. 17. 18. Zech. xii. 10. x. If. xlv. 24.

SANCTUARY; a holy or fanctified place, as, (1.) The Holy of holies, where the ark and its appurtenances, and the cloud representing the divine glory, stood, Lev. iv. 6.; or the furniture of this holy place, Numb. x. 21. (2.) The apartment, where 3 B the golden candlestick, table of thewbread, altar of incense, &c. stood, 2 Chron. xxvi. 18. (3.) The whole tabernacle or temple, Josh. xxiv. 26. 2 Chron. xx. 8. It is called the fanctuary of strength, because it was a strong place, and easily fortified; and it belonged to God the strength of Hrael, Dan. xi. 31.; a worldly fancturry, as it was of a carnal and earthly typical nature, Heb. ix. 1. Nay, the facred courts are fometimes included, and called the fanctuary, Lev. xii. 4. (4.) Any place appointed for the public worship of God, Pfal. lxxiii. 17. (5.) Canaan, which was an holy land, where God's people dwelt, where his tabernacle and temple were fixed, and his favours and peculiar prefence enjoyed, Exod. xv. 17. (6.) Heaven, where God and his holy angels and faints for ever dwell, Pfal. cii. 19. Heb. viii. 2. (7.) The temples of idols are called fanctuaries, If. xvi. 12. vii. 9. (8.) In allufion to the Jewish fanctuary, whose brasen altar protected petty criminals, a place of refuge and shelter is called fanctuary, If. viii, 14. Ezek. xi. 16.

SAN [378] SAP

SAND. As its particles are innumerable, great multitudes are likened to the fand of the sea, Gen. xxii. 17. xxxii. 12. As fand is heavy, Job's grief is faid to be heavier, Job vi. 3.; and a fool's wrath is heavier than the fand and gravel, it is more infupportable, being without cause, measure, or end, Prov. xxvii. 3. As fand is a finking and flippery foundation, falfe foundations of religion, or ill-grounded hopes of future happiness, are likened to it, Matth. vii. 26. Though fand is eafily washed away, yet God has made it the boundary of the raging fea, Jer. v. 22.

SANDALS, at first, were only solves fastened on the feet with strings or thongs; afterwards they were covered; and finally, shoes were called by this name, Mark vi. 9. Acts xii. 8.

SANHEDRIM, or SENATE; the chief council of the Jewish nation, A 2s v. 21. It is faid to have consisted of 70 or 72 judges, and to have taken its rife from the instalment of the 70 elders affiftant to Mofes, Numb. xi.; and to have continued till Christ, and a long time after; and to have fat in the form of an half moon, at the tabernacle or temple, when they exist-But as we find no velliges of this court in the Old Testament, we can hardly believe it existed till some time after the captivity, perhaps in the days of the Maccabees. Whatever power Herod took from them, to punish their intended condemnation of him, it is certain this court afterwards existed, and Christ and his apostles, and Stephen the deacon, were brought. before them, and the former condemned, John xi. 47. Matth. xxvii. 1. Acts iv. v. vi.; but at that time they had no power of life and death, John xviii, 31. Many things concerning this court are told us by some writers; but as they are warranted by no proper voucher, we difmifs them as unworthy of our regard. See judges.

A variety of ancient flates had also their senate or chief council, as the Athenians, Carthaginians, and Romans: but it could not make laws, or elect magistrates, without the concurrence of the people. The Roman senate had none directly under them to execute their orders, and so were obliged to direct their decrees to the consule, with an air of submission; and often the tribunes of the people stopt the execution of their mandates. The modern states of Venice, Genoa, Lucca, Lubeck, Holland *, Sc. have their fenates; nor is our parliament much different,

SAPPHIRE; a transparent jewel, which in its finest state is extremely beautiful and valuable, and in lustre, hardness, and worth, second only to the diamond. It is of a pure blue colour; and the finest are of a deep azure. In the less sine, it varies into paleness, but of a lustre much superior to the crystal. The best sapphires come from Pegu in the East Indies; nor are those of Bohemia and Silefia contemptible. The ancient fapphire was but a more beautiful kind of the Lazuli, or a half transparent flone of a deep blue, tinged with white, and spotted with slars of a golden colour. It was the fecond flone in the high priot's breaft-plate, and might represent the faints, as pure and heavenly minded, Exod. x-viii. 18. It was the fecond foundation of the new Terufalem, and might represent Christ as the untained Lord from heaven, and his pure and heavenly truths, Rev. xxi. 19. If. liv. 11. God's throne of appearance to the Hebrews, was like unto fabblire, that is, was a fky of a bright blue azure colour, Exod. xxiv. 10. The Jewish Navarites were prlighted as supphires; they looked fresh, clean, and comely, Lam. iv. 7. The king of Tyre had his crown and clothes fet or hung thick with fapphires, emesalds, and other precious stones, Ezek.

^{*} To these may now be added America and France.

SAR 379 SAR

MXVIII. 13.

SARAH, SARAI, the wife of A-BRAHAM, was probably the same as Ifcan the daughter of Haran, Abrain's brother, and the grand-daughter of Terah, but not by Abram's mother, Gen. xx. 12. xi. 29. She perhaps began to be called Sarai my mistress, when the became the head of a family, and was called Sarah the lady, after. her being the mother of a multitude was divinely fecured, Gen. xvii. Her beauty endangered her chaftity in Egypt. She advifed Abraham to go in to Hagar, that the might have the promifed feed by her means; and was punished with Hagar's contempt. This excited angry expollulation with Abraham, and hard usage of Hagar. Just before the destruction of Sodom, Sarah overhearing the Angel's promife of a fon to her, laughed in a way of unbelieving contempt, as if the had been too old for child-bearing, and was fharply rebuked by the Angel. She added to her guilt the denial thereof. She had fearce conceived, when her beauty, and her falfely affirming herfelf to be Abraham's fifter, endangered her chaftity, at the court of Abimeloch king of Gerar. When she was almost or years old, she bare Isaac, and fuckled him for three years. On the occasion of his weaning, she was provoked with Ishmael's ill usage of Ifaac, and never refted till Hagar and he were quite expelled from the fami-Not long after the intended facrifice of Ifaac, which she feems to have known nothing of till it was over, Sarah died at Hebron, aged 123 years, and was buried in the cave of Machpelah, Gen. vii. xvi. vviii. xx. xxi. xxiii. The Holy Choft reprefents her as a noted believer, an eminent pattern of honouring her hulband, and an emblem of the covenant of grace, and the gospel dispensation thereof, Heb. xi. 11. 1 Pet. iii. 6. Gal. iv. 22.-31. (2.) Sarah, or Sherah, the daughter of Ather, Numb. xxvi. 46.

SARAPH and JOASH, who had dominion, perhaps as David's deputies, in the country of Moab, were not Mahlon and Chilion the fons of Naomi, who were poor and distressed, not rulers,

1 Chron. iv. 21.

SARDIS; an ancient city of Leffer Afia, at the foot of mount Tmolus. It is faid to have been built foon after the destruction of Troy, i. e. about A. M. 3100. In the time of Cyrus, it was the capital of Lydia, or Lub, and was extremely rich and glorious. It was taken by Cyrus, and plundered; but it continued a place of no fmall confequence. After it had fuffered manifold difasters of war, it was entirely ruined by an earthquake in the time of our Saviour. By Tiberius the Roman emperor's orders, it was rebuilt, but never recovered its ancient splendour. A Christian church was early planted here, but the vigour of inward picty quickly decayed. Jefus, by John, fent them a correctory epittle, that pointed out their spiritual languor and hypocrify, and charged them quickly to endeavour the removal thereof, as they might expect a fudden reckoning with God. There still remain some vestiges of Christianity here, and one is styled their bishop; but since the place fell into the hands of the Saracens and Turks, it has gradually dwindled; 3 B 2 and nothing now remains but a tolerable inn, some cottages for shepherds, and heaps of old ruins, Rev. iii. 1.—6.

5 A R | 380 | S A V

SARDINE, or Sardius; a precious stone of a reddish bloody colour. The best come from about Babylon. It was the fixth foundation of the new Jerusalem, and the first jewel in the high-priest's breast-plate, and might represent Jesus and his faints in their bloody suffering, Rev. xxi. 20. Exod. xxviii. 17. God is likened to a fardine slone, to signify his majesty, and his terrible wrath and vengeance on his enemies, Rev. iv. 3.

SARDONYX. See ONYX. SARGON. See Esar-haddon.

SATAN: a name of the devil, importing him an implacable enemy to the honour of God, and the true interests of men. He tempted our first parents in paradife; bereaved Job of his fubstance and health, and tempted his f ends to reproach him; tempted David to defile Bathsheba, and to number the Hebrews; he caused Ahab's prophets feduce him to war against Ramoth-gilead, Gen. iii. Job i. 2. &c. 2 Sam. xii. 1 Chron. xxi, 1 Kings He tempted our Saviour to diftrust, to self-murder, and to devil-worship; and tempted Judas to betray him, and Peter to deny him; and tempted Ananias and his wife to diffemble with the apostles concerning the price of their field, Matth. iv. 1 .- 11. xvi. 23. John xiii. 17. Luke xxii. 23. Acts v. 5. Long his power was established in the world; and by the erection of the Affyrian, Perfian, Grecian, and especially the Roman, empires, he attempted to fortify it against all attacks of the expected Messiah, but God made them all contribute to the furtherance and spread of the gospel, and by

xvi. 11. Rev. ii. 9. See ANGEL, DEVIL.

Peter is called Satan, because, in reproving Christ's intention to suffer, he acted Satan's work, and by his direction, Matth. xvi. 23.

the preaching of the gospel, working of miracles by Christ and his apostles, and by the overturn of Heathenism, his kingdom was overthrown, Matth. xii. 26. Luke x. 17. 18. John xii. 31.

SATIATE; refreshfully and pleatifully to fill, Jer. xxxi. 14. 25. The sword is fatiated with blood, when there is a great slaughter made, Jer. xlvi. 10.

SATISFY; to give till there be One's appetite is fatisfied, enough. when he gets a full meal, Prov. vi. 30. The mind is fatisfied, when one receives all the comforts, delights, and bleffings, he wished for, Pfal. xci. 16. cxlv. 16. A good man is fatisfied from himself; Christ and his Spirit and grace, lodged in his heart, and not external things, as wealth or honour, are the fource of his comfort, Prov. xiv. 14. xii. 14. What wicked men gain by their works fatisfieth not, i.e. is not true and fubstantial happiness, If. lv. 2. Men are fatiffied with the breafts of their wife, and ravished with her love, when so delighted with their own wife, as to defire or put no other in her stead, Prov. v. 19. An angry foe is fatisfied, when he takes full revenge, Exod. xv. 9. The ground is fatisfied, when it receives plenty of rain, Job xxxviii. 27.

SATYR; an animal represented by the ancients as half a man and half a goat. It was perhaps the horned owl, or a kind of ape, many of which haunted, and danced about the ruins of Babylon, Is. xiii. 21. I almost suspect that devils often appeared in such shapes to some of the Heathens.

SAVE; (1.) To protect or deliver from temporal danger and diffress, Matth. xiv. 30. So Othniel and others, whom God used as instruments in delivering the Hebrews from their oppression and misery, are called faviours, Judg. iii. 9. Neh. ix. 27. Judas Maccabeus, and his brethren and fucceffors, who delivered the Jews from the flavery and idolatrous impositions of the Syro-Grecians, and fubdued the Edomites, were the faviours on mount Zion, who judged the mount of Esau, Obad. 21. (2.) To deliver from the guilt and power of fin; render men holy and happy, Matth. i. 21. especially in the heavenly state of perfect bleffedness, Matth. x. 22. God faves men, by delivering them from diffrefs, temporal, spiritual, or eternal, John xii. 27.

i Tim

Tim. i. q. He was the Saviour of Israel in the defert, delivering them from perils and troubles unnumbered, If. lxiii. 8. He is the Saviour of all men, who delivers them from manifold dangers and trouble, and gives them multitudes of favours; but especially of them that believe, whom, through the bestowal of his Son and Spirit, he refcues from fin and mifery, to everlasting holiness and happiness, I Tim. iv. 10. He faves men by his name, and judges them by his strength, when, to the honour of his power, and other perfections, he delivers them from diffrefs, temporal or spiritual, Pfal. liv. 1. Jesus Christ is the only and all-fufficient Saviour: as a Surety, he undertook for, and hath paid all our debt of obedience and fatiffaction to the broken covenant of works; as a Mediator and Redeemer, he, by his blood and Spirit, makes and maintains peace between God and us finful offenders; and by price and power, he refcues us from the flavery of the broken law, and of fin, Satan, the world, and death; as a Priest, he gave himfelf a facrifice of infinite value to atone for the guilty, and he makes perpetual intercession with God in our behalf; as a Prophet, he delivers from ignorance, and gives the true knowledge of every thing important: as a King, he powerfully refcues us from fin and Satan, and brings us to himfelf; he rules, directs, and draws us by his word and Spirit; he defends us from, and reftrains and conquers our enemies, and, in fine, transports us to his manfions of blifs: 1 Tim. i. 15. Heb. vii. 25. If. xliii. 11. 2 Pet. i. 1. 11. the Saviour of the world; is equally fuited to the case of finful men on earth, and is in the gospel-promise given and exhibited to them, whether they be Jews or Gentiles, 1 John iv. 14. John iv. 42. iii. 15. 16. We are faved by the grace of God, as it is the original cause of our falvation, and all the means thereof, Eph. ii. 8. We are faved by God's word, as it e hibits and offers falvation to us; and by it the Holy Ghost applies salvation to our foul, James i. 21. Saved by faith, as it discerns and receives Christ and his falvation, Luke vii. 50. Saved by baptifm, as thereby falvation is fealed and applied to fuch as believe, 1 Pet. iii. 21. Saved by ministers and Christians, as they publish the doctrines and offers of falvation, and warn, befeech, and excite men to receive it, Rom. xi. 14. 1 Cor. vii. 16. Jude 23. 1 Tim. iv. 16. Men are faved as by fire, when delivered from the greatest hazard of ruin, and when almost all their works are rejected, I Cor. iii. 15. The righteous are fearce. ly faved; with great difficulty the Jewish Christians escaped ruin from the Romans, along with their country; and with no finall fear and hazard the righteous escape the vengeance of hell, 1Pet. iv. 18. Women are faved in child-bearing: amidst great danger, they are ordinarily preferved in the birth of their children; and though their fex introduced fin, many of them are faved eternally through the incarnation and obedience of Christ. 1 Tim. ii. 15.

Salvation, is, (1.) A deliverance from outward dangers and enemies. Exod. xiv. 13. 1 Sam. xiv. 45. (2.) Deliverance from a state of fin and mifery, into a state of union with Christ, wherein we are justified by his blood, adopted into his family, fanctified by his Spirit, and comforted by his prefence;—a deliverance from fpiritual danger and diffress, to a comfortable and quiet condition, Rom. i. 16. (3.) Eternal happiness, wherein men shall be freed from fin and forrow, and fhall erjoy the most perfect and lasting fellowship with God, 1 Pet. i. 9. Heb. i. 14. God is called falvation, and the God of fulvation; he delivers from diffress, and bestows comfort, temporal, spiritual, or eternal, Pfal. xxvii. 1. lxviii. 20. Christ is called falvation, as he is the purchafer, beflower, and great matter of our everlaiting freedom from evil, and enjoyment of happiness, Luke ii. 30. Is. Salvation is ascribed to God and Christ, as they contrive, purchase, prepare, and bestow it, Rev. vii. 10. xix. 1. The gospel is called falvation, and the word, gofpel, or bringer, of falvation: thereby falvation is published, offered.

offered, and applied to us, Heb. ii. 3. A îts xiii. 26. Eph. i. 13. Tit. ii. 11. Salvation is of the Jews; Christ the Saviour forung of them; the gospel proceeded from them to the Gentiles, John iv. 22. The long-fulfering of God to the Jews and others, is falvation; is calculated to promote the everlasting happinels of fome, 2 Pet. iii. 15. Salvation and flrength came to the church, when, by means of Constantine, the was delivered from Heathen perfecution, and her constitution established by the civil law, Rev. xii. 10. That turns to one's falvation, which tends to promote his fpiritual and eternal happiness, Phil. i. 19. Men work out their salvation, when they receive Jefus the Saviour, and walking in him, prepare for the future bleffedness of the heavenly state, Phil. ii. 12. Confession and repentance are to falvation, as they are means of our preparation for further grace and glory, Rom. x. 10. 2 Cor. vii. 10.

SAUL, the fon of Kish, a Benjamite. Just about the time when the Hebrews to loudly infifted for a king. to render them like the nations around, Kith's affes wandered aftray. Saul and a fervant were fent to feek them. After they had fearched a good deal without any fuccels, the fervant proposed to Saul, that they should confult Samuel the feer or prophet, who lived at no great distance, as he took him for a cunning man, who, for a trifle, would inform them. Some maidens of the place directed them to him. Samuel, who had that very day called the chief persons of the corner to a sacrifice which he intended to offer, being directed by God, welcomed Saul, told him the affes were found, and hinted to him, that there was a defign on foot to make him the king of Ifrael. As Saul belonged to one of the fmallest families of the least tribe of the Hebrew nation, he was furprifed at the hint. At the feast on the flesh of the facrifice, Saul was placed at the head of the table, and had a whole shoulder ferved up to him, to mark his diffinguished honour, and his need of strength and authority. As Saul lodged with Samuel that night, they had a fecret conference on the top of the house. On the morrow, as Samuel conveyed Saul out of the place, he bid the fervant pass on before them; and then, with a vial of oil, anointed Saul in the name of the Lord, to be king over Ifrael; and to affure him hereof, gave him a threefold token, viz. that near Rachel's grave, he should meet two men, who would inform him that the affes were found; that in the plain of Tabor, a little distant, three men on their journey to worship the Lord at Bethel, where it feems there was then an high place, should make him a prefent of two of their loaves; and that at the hill of God, i. e. where the ark then stood at Kirjath-jearim, or at Gibeon, where the tabernacle was, he should light on a company of prophets, praising God, and being feized with their spirit, should join in that exercife. These tokens happened; and the last occasioned the proverb, Is Saul, the fon of Kish, among the prophets? Almost immediately after, and A.M. 3909 or 3939, Samuel affembled the Hebrews at Mizpeh, to receive their new king. The Lord's choice was manifested by the casting of lets. The lot happened to fall on the tribe of Benjamin, and then on the family of Matri, then on the house of Kish, and in fine upon He had hid himself among the baggage of the congregation; but by the direction of God was found; and being presented before the people, he was taller by the head than any of them. The people shouted, and wished him joy of his honours. Samuel then declared to the affembly, the laws of their kingdom, and wrote them in a book. God endowed Saul with a spirit of qualification for government. The body of the people went home; but a band of men, divinely instigated, clave to him as his honorary guard. Meanwhile, fome contemned him as incapable of his office; but he overlooked the affront, and returned to his wonted labour, I Sam. ix. x. About a month after, the inhabitants of Jabeth-gilead, being terribly diftreffed by a flege from Nahash the Ammonite, begged their brethren brethren would relieve them before the feven days of their truce were ended. When the news of their cafe came by their messengers to Gibeah, the people wept and cried. Saul, as he returned from his plough, being informed of the cause, hacked a yoke of his oxen to picces, and fent these by messengers into all the parts of the Hebrew territories, charging the people to attend him and Samuel at Bezek, without delay, otherwise their oxen should in like manner be hewed to pieces. The people, moved of God, affembled fo quickly, that in five days, or perhaps lefs, he had an army of 30,000 men of Judah, and 300,000 of the other tribes. Croffing the Jordan, and marching all night, they, about the break of the feventh day, in three bodies, attacked the Ammonites, who expected no fuch thing, and cut them to pieces, before the walls of Jabeth-gilead. This victory gained Saul the univerfal regard of his nation; and they were for killing fuch as had formerly contemned him. Saul withflood this motion, and foon after had his royal authority confirmed to him by Samuel at Gilgal.-When Saul had reigned about two years, he levied a flanding army of 3000 men: 2000 he kept with himfelf, and the rest were headed by Jonathan his eldest fon. With thefe, they attempted to wreft from the Philistines the posts which they had retained all along from the birth of Samson, or perhaps had lately feized at Michmash, Bethel, and Gibeah, in the very heart of the country. On the news of Jonathan's defeat of the garrifon at Michmash, the Hebrews took heart, and in great numbers afsembled at Gilgal, to drive out the enemy; but they wanted arms, as the Philiftines had carried off most of the armour, and all the fmiths out of the country. Informed of their meeting, the Philistines, perhaps assisted by the Phenician or Arabian shepherds, now expelled from Egypt, marched a prodigious army against them. The terrified Hebrews difperfed, and hid themfelves in dens and caves, and no more but 600 remained with Saul.

SAU [383] SAU

panie, Saul, without waiting full fever; days for Samuel as he ought, on the feventh, offered facrifice to the Lord. himfelf. He had fcarce offered his oblation, when Samuel came up and rebuked him for his invafion of the prieftly office: he told him, that for this the Lord should transfer the royalty to another, who would act more agreeably to his mind. Samuel, Saul, and Jonathan, with the 600 men who remained, marched from Gilgal to Gibeah. Jonathan and his armour-bearer having climbed up a rock, and routed an advanced garrifon of the Philiftines, Saul's centinels observed it; and he finding that Jonathan and his armour-bearer were abfent, called Ahiah the highprieft, to confult the Lord whether he should attack the enemy: But before the priest had time to do so, Saul hearing a great noife, and finding that the army of the Philitlines were employed in killing one another, he purfued them, and the Hebrews, coming out of their caves, affifted him; they purfued the enemy, killing all along, as far as Aijalon on the west, and Bethel on the cast. The rout had been still more fatal, had not Saul, by a rash curse, condemned to death the person who should stop the purfuit by taking the least refreshment till night. As Jonathan, who knew nothing of the curfe. followed the enemy through a wood, he dipt his staff in fome honey that dropped from a tree, and tafted a little of it. At even, when Saul's army convened, he confulted the Lord, whether he should attack the camp of the Philiftines by night. To punish him for commencing the purfuit without waiting the divine allowance, and for his rath adjuration, the Lord gave him no answer. Suspecting the wickedness of fome other than himfelf to be the cause, he rashly devoted the criminal to death. Lots were east to find him out, and at the fecond throw, Jonathan was taken. Though his excuse was good, his father told him, he must die: but the people would not fuffer him, who had been for instrumental in their deliverance, to be flain for no crime. After this, Saul kept Kept a standing army under Abner his cousin, and forced into it such valiant men as he pleased; and, with considerable success, made war on the Moabites, Ammonites, Edomites, and Philistines, I Sam. xii.—xiv.

SAU [384] SAU

About A. M. 3931 or 3941, Saul was divinely ordered to cut off the whole nation of the Amalekites, and the whole of their cattle. Mustering his army at Telaim, on the fouth of Canaan, it confisted of 10,000 men of Judah, and 200,000 of the rest of the tribes. With these he ravaged the country of Amalek, from Shur on the west, to Havilah on the east, and cut off multitudes of the people, and of their cattle, but faved AGAG the king, and the best of the cattle and moveables. In his return, he erected a monument of his fuccefs at fouth Carmel. When Samuel came to the army at Gilgal, Saul told him he had fully executed the divine orders: What then, faid Samuel, means this bleating of the sheep? Saul told him, the people had brought the best of the herds and flocks, to be a facrifice to the Lord, and he had spared Agag the king. Samuel told him, it was most wicked for him, who had been so divinely placed on the throne, to rebel against the Lord, and spare what he thought fit. As Saul still blamed the people for preferving the cattle for a facrifice, Samuel told him, that God regarded obedience more than facrifice, and that their disobedience was as bad as witchcraft and idolatry, which it feems Saul was very zealous against; and that fince he had rejected the divine commandment, God had purposed to dethrone him and his family. At last Saul confessed his fin, and entreated Samuel to go along, and supplicate of God the forgiveness thereof. As Samuel refused, and was going off, Saul held his garment till it rent: So, faid Samuel, shall God rend the kingdom from you, and give it to one better. Saul then begged that Samuel would at least honour him before the people, that they might not contemn him and rebel. Samuel complied fo far as to join with him in public worship; and after hewing Agag in pieces before the altar, went off, and never visited Saul any more. It was perhaps about this time that Saul murdered the Gibeonites, imagining this indiscreet zeal would atone for his indulgence in the affair of the Amalekites, 1 Sam. xv.

About A. M. 3935 or 3941, Samuel anointed David to be king of Ifrael, and the spirit of government departed from Saul, and an evil spirit of melancholy troubled him. To allay his melancholy, he was advifed to get a fine musician to divert him. David was pitched upon, and his music answered the end, while his good behaviour gained him Saul's affection, and he became his armour-bearer. Saul recovering David returned to feed his flock. Some years after, when the Philistines invaded the Hebrew territories, and pitched in Ephes-dammin, while Saul and his army encamped in the valley of Elah, Goliath having defied and terrified the Hebrews, Saul promifed his eldest daughter to the man who should attack and kill him. David coming from his flock, gained the prize; but the women in their fongs at the army's return, attributing the victory chiefly to David, Saul was highly difpleafed, and fought a proper opportunity to murder him. One day, as David diverted his melancholy, he threw a javelin to kill him; but David avoided the stroke. With no good intention he gave David the command of 1000 of his troops: and with no intention to bestow her, but to prompt David to rush upon danger, he promifed him in marriage Merab his eldest daughter; but he gave her to Adriel the Meholathite, to whom it feems fhe bare five fons, who were brought up by Michal, and hanged by the Gibeonites, with the allowance of David. Hearing that Michal, his younger daughter, was in love with David, he caused some of his courtiers inform him, that he might have her for 100 foreskins of the Philistines. By these terms he intended to render David odious to the Philistines, and to endanger his life. David's reputation daily increasing, Saul refolved to have him murdered at any rate. For a while Jonathan diverted it: but Saul, in his melancholy, again attempted it. David, however, efcaped to his house: there Saul caused a body of his troops beliege him; but Michal, who was now married, let David down by a window, and amufed her father's mellen gers with a pretence that he was fick, till he was out of their reach, and by falfehood excused herself to her father. Hearing that David had escaped to Samuel at N joth of R imah, he once and again fent me fengers to apprehend him: but a prophetic influence feized them as foor as they came to the place. He then west thither himfelf, but the like influence for him a propositions, and detained him till David had time to escape. He was bighly difuppointed with David's abfence at the feast of new moon, as then he intended to murder him; and because Jonathan excused bin, he was outrageously reproached, and a javelin thrown to kill him, I Sam. xviii. -- xx.

SAU [385] SAU

Not long after, as Saul heavily complained to his fervants that none of them was fo faithful as to difcover David's accommes, Doeg his chief herdfman, an Ed mate, reported, that while he had attended at the taberancle for fome purification, he faw Ahimelech the highpriest give David and his attendants a refreshment of the fiered provision, and enquire of the Lord in his favour, and give him the fword of Goliath. The innocent high-priest was fent for, and accused and condemned; and be, and 84 of his follow-prieft, with all the perfons of Nob, and even the catalo, were by Saul's orders murdered by Doeg. It feems he intended to have murdered the family of Jeffe, but David carried his parents into the country of Moab. Hearing that David was in Keilah, a fortified city, he thought to apprehend him there. Soon after, on the information of the Ziplintes, who invited him, he purfued him with an army in the wilderness of Maon; but when he was just at his heels, an invafion of the Philitines diverted him to other work. Soon after, he purfued David in the wilderneft of Engedi, and Vol. II.

had his fkirt cut off by David in a cave. He was to moved with David's generofity in sparing his life when it was so much in his power to take it, that he wept, and acknowledged his wickednels in fecking to murder a person so innovent. Upon a fecond invitation of the Ziphites, Saul again fearched for David in the wildcriefs of Maon. fecond inflance of David's generous benevolence, in sparing his life, when he penetrated into his camp in the night, and carried off his fpear and his drinking cup, made Siul again acknowledge his ignocence. Soon after, hearing that David had taken thelter among the Phi-Littines, he gave over thoughts of getting him murdered, 1 Sam. xxii. xxiii. zniv. zzvi. zzvii.

About A. M. 2019, the Philistines invaded his kingdom, and encamped in the very heart of it, at Shunem, near Jezreel. In his didrefs, Saul afked counfel of God, but received no anfwer. According to the commandment of God, he had form riv cut off witches, wizerds, and people of that flamp: but now, when rejected of God, he, in difguile, applied to a witch at Endor, to bring him up Samuel from the dead. to shew him what he should do. After plenty of fpells and enchantments, fhe with terror ried out, that he had deceived her, for ne was Saul. Being affured that the had nothing to fear, the told him, the fact gods afounding out of the earth, and an oil rom covered with a mantle. Preciving 1.24. Samed. Saul bowed almfelf, and told the Species on demand, and he had taken this courie to comult him, as he was greatly distressed by the Philistines, and God refused to give him any direction. The spectre told him, that he need expect nothing comfortable, as God was departed from him, and that his kingdom thould be quickly taken from him, and given to David; that the Hebrews should be routed, and himself and his fons flain, and be with him on the morrow. As this spectre is still called 5.1muel, and ipeaks like one who knew the mind of the Lord; as Satan, wao curried our Saviour to a pinnacle of the 3 C temple temple and a mountain, they think, might as well raise a departed faint; or as God, to punish Saul's finful curiofity, might, not by means of, but at the time of the enchantments, cause Samuel to appear, and denounce Saul's ruin to him; many think it was really Samuel who appeared. As we have no certainty that Saul faw any apparition, some think there might be no appearance at all, but merely a voice, and the form only a pretence of the witch. We cannot believe there was any thing here but the devil in the likeness of Samuel. This likeness, and a pretence to be Samuel, was the reason of his being so Samuel had not to afcend out of the earth, as this spectre did, but to come down from heaven. furd to imagine that God would raife one from the dead to answer Saul, when he refused to answer him by more common methods; abfurd to suppose a glorified faint subject to infernal enchantments; or that God would do any thing tending to honour diabolic arts. thing in the history evinces the spectre to be a prophet. That God would take Saul's kingdom from him, and give it to David, was publicly known. From the posture of affairs, it was natural to infer, that the Hebrews should be routed, and Saul and his family flain: and besides, who knows not, that God may, for holy ends, give devils hints of some future events? Nay, the very speech of this spectre tends to prove him a devil. He never hints the finfulness of dealing with wizards, though for this very fin Saul was cut off, I Chron. x. 12. 13. He pretends, that Samuel in his glorified flate had been disquieted by Saul. He pretends, that Saul, and his fons in general, should on the morrow be with him, whereas two of his fons, Armoni and Mephibosheth, lived long after, and were hanged by the Gibeonites, and Ishbosheth lived several years. Nor can we believe, that wicked Saul and godly Jonathan could be ever together with this spectre, either in heaven or hell. And, in fine, when we confider how long Saul tarried with the witch, and had to return to his army; and that meanwhile David was difmissed from the camp of the Philiftines, and went as far as the fouth border of Canaan, and routed the Philiflines, who had burnt Ziklag, it can scarce be believed, that Saul and his fons could be flain on the morrow after. It is certain, that Saul fainted with terror at the spectre's speech, and was hardly prevailed on to take a refreshment. He then travelled all night to his troops. When the battle was fought, the Hebrews were routed; but they maintained a running fight, till they came to Gilboa: there, taking the advantage of the ground, they attempted to rally, but were overpowered by the enemy. Jonathan, Abinadab, and Malchishua, Saul's sons, were flain. After Saul had fought to the utmost, and was hard pressed by the arrows of the enemy, he begged his armour-bearer would run his fword through him, and prevent his falling into the hand of the uncircumcifed The armour-bearer refusing, Saul fell upon his own fword, and his armour-bearer did the like. An Amalekite, who was near, perhaps haftened Saul's death, with a thrust of hisfword, and brought his crown and bracelets to David. Instead of his expected reward, David ordered him to be flain, as the confessed murderer of the king. Next day, the Philislines finding Saul and his three fous among the flain, flript off their armour, and fent it to the temple of their idol Ashtaroth; cut off their heads, and fixed them in the temple of Dagon; and hung up their bodies on the wall of Bethshan, which then belonged to the Canaanites. Thence the valiant men of Jabesh-gilead took them, and buried them in a grove near to their city, and mourned for their death feven days. David afterwards removed them to the Sepulchre of Kish at Zelah. while, it feems, Abner Saul's general, and Libbosheth his son, had fled with the finall remains of the army to Mahanaim, eaitward of Jordan, and there Ithbosheth was made king, and reigned unhappily a few years. Multitudes too of the Hebrews, left their homes and retired beyond Jordan, that they might be as far from the Philiftines as possible.—A confiderable time after, Mephibosheth and Armoni, the two fons of Saul by Rizpah his concubine, together with five of his grandchildren by Merab, were by David's order given to the Gibeonites, that they might hang them up before the Lord, as an atonement for their father's murder of most of that people. It seems, they hung fix months on the gibbet, from March to September, when the Lord, by showers of rain, shewed that Saul's murder was in this manner expiated. All this time, the affectionate Rizpah waited in fackcloth at the foot of the gibbet, and frayed away the birds which attempted to devour them, I Sam. xxviii.—xxxi. I Caron. x. 2 Sam. i. xxi. See Edom; Paul.

SAU [386] SAU

SAV 1 387 7 SCA

SAVOUR; (1.) Scent, or fmell. Dead flies cause the apothecary's ointment fend forth a flinking favour, or smell, Eccl. x. i. (2.) Agreeableness to the taste; hence we read of favoury meat, Gen. xxvii. 4. (3.) That tharp quality in falt, whereby it renders other bodies agreeable to the talle, Matth. v. 13. (4.) Character; reputation: thus mens favour becomes abhorred, when their name becomes hateful and detelled, Exod. v. 21. Through the feent of water, i. e. by partaking of the influence of the rain or moisture of the earth, Job xiv. 9. The feent of the church is as the wine of Lebanon, when the delightfully abounds with faints and good works, Hof. xiv. The ancient facrifices were of a fweet favour, or favour of rest unto God: he accepted of, and delighted in them, as typical of the obedience and fuffering of Christ, which sufficiently honour all his perfections, and more than balance our difagreeable offences, Gen. viii. 21. Exod. xxix. 18. Eph. v. 2. The favour of the knowledge and good ointments of Christ, is the refreshful and pleafant nature of his truth, when known, and of the grace and virtue that proceed from him, as our Mediator, 2 Cor, ii, 14. Song i. 3. Plal. xlv,

8. Faithful ministers are to God a fweet savour of Christ in their hearers : their careful discharge of their duty is acceptable to God, whether men be faved by it or not; -and are a favour of death unto death to tome, and a favour of life unto life to others; they are the occasion of double destruction to unbelievers, and the means of eternal life here and hereafter to others, 2 Cor. ii. 15.16. To savour the things of men, and not the things of God, is to contrive, choose, and delight in things agreeable to carnal ease or finful lusts, and not what is commanded of God, and tends to his honour, Mitth. xvi. 23.

SAW, for catting of wood, stones, &c. The Asyrians are likened to a fazo, as by them God punished, tortured, and cut afunder the nations,

If. x. 15.

SAY. See SPEAK.

SCABBARD. See SHEATH.

SCALES; (1.) The hard covering of fish, which defend the flesh, Lev. xi. 9. 10. (2.) A skin or film on the eye hindering fight, Acts ix. 18. (3.) Balances for weighing things, If. xl. 12. To feale a place or wall, is to climb up by ladders. To feale the city of the mighty, is to accomplish the most difficult enterprize, Prov. xxi. 22. SCALL; a dry whitish feab, somewhat like the leprofy, Lev. xiii. 30. SCALP; the hairy part of the crown of the head, Plal. lxviii. 22.

SCANDAL. See OFFEND.

SCANF; too little, Mic. vi. 10. SCARCE, scarcely; with no fmall didiculty, 1 Pet. iv. 18. SCARCE-NESS; want, or too fmall measure, Deut. viii. 9.

To SCARE; to affright, Job vii.

SCARLET; a deep, bright, and flining red colour. I doubt if our translators have every where right y used this word. I suppose, that TO-IAHHH ought indeed to be rendered searlet, but that SHANI, or double dye, as well as CARMIL, ought to be endered crimson; but as these colours are near of kin to one another, there is the less matter of mistaking the one for the other. Scarlet was much worn by great men, 2 Sam. i. 24. fearlet or crimfon used in the hangings of the tabernacle and the robes of the priefls, might denote, the royal dignity of Christ, and the bloody fusferings of him and his church, Exod. xxv. 4. xxvi. 1. The church's lips are like a thread of fearlet; her ordinances, ministers, and the speech of her faints, are deeply connected with Jefus's righteoufness and royal authority, and this marks a foundness of constitution and heart, Song iv. 3. The fearlet colour of the horse and robes of Antichrist, may mark out his royal power, the red hats of his cardinals, and his bloody perfecution of the faints, Rev. xvii. 3.4. Sin is likened to fearlet and crimfon, to mark its horrible nature and aggravated heinoufnefs, If. i. 18.

SCATTER; (1.) To spread abroad here and there, Pfal. cxlvii. 15. (2.) To difpel, diffolve, Job xxxvii. 11. (3.) To drive into different places, Pial. Ixviii. 30. (4.) To overthrow; conquer; confound; deftroy, Pfal. lxviii. 14. Luke i. 51. (5.) To deal liberally to, the poor, Pfal. cxii. 8. Prov. xi. 24. To featter the way to strangers under every green tree, is to worthip a variety of idols, in a variety of places, as whores go here and there to feek their gallants, Jer. iii. 13. 2 To have the bones fauttered, is to be reduced to a deathful and ruinous condition, Pfal. liii. 5. exli. 7.

SCENT. See SAVOUR. SCEPTRE. See ROD.

SCEVA is faid to have been the chief of one of the classes of the sewith priefts: he had feven fons, who, in a vagabond manner, travelled abroad, pretending to exorcite or call devils out of men. At Ephelus they attempted to cast out one, and adjured him by Jefus whom Paul preached, to leave the poffessed perion. They devil told them, that he knew both Jesus and Paul, but paid no regard to them; he immediately handled them fo roughly, by means of the possessed person as his instrument, that he obliged them to flee out of the house naked and fore wounded, Acts xix, 14.—16.

SCHISM. See DIVISION.

SCHOOL. No doubt but the most ancient patriarchs inflructed their children in the knowledge of God, and other important subjects; but for many ages we find no mention of public tchools for inflruction. In Samuel's time we find a fenool at Najoth; and not long after others at Bethel and Jericho; and to thefe, it feems, devout perfons repaired for instruction on Sabbath, and at new-moon fellivals, to hear for instruction: I Sam. xix. 18. -24. 2 Kings ii. 3. 5. iv. 23. appears by Ezekiel's conferences with the elders, that the Jews continued them in Babylon, Ezek. xiv. 1. 2. xx. 1.-3. They were ftill used in our Saviour's time, and after his death we find famous feliools at Jabneh, at Tiberias, and at Babylon. In the Jewifh schools, the rabbins had high feats, and the students fat at their feet according to their proficiency, Acts xxii. 3. It feems every body that pleafed had liberty to ask questions in their schools, Luke ii. 46. The Egyptians, Chaldeans, Greeks, and Romans, had alfo their schools; and now in almost every civilized nation, there are schools, colleges, or academies, for every known branch of icience.

SCHOOLMASTER. See LAW. SCIENCE; knowledge of human learning, Dan. i. 4. Science falfely for called, is vain philosophy and finful arts, 1 Tim. vi. 20.

SCOFF; to mock in a proud and reviling manner. The Chaldeans feoffed at kings and princes, when they made fuch as they had conquered the objects of their cruel mockings, Hab. i. 10. The fcoffers of the last days, may be our modern Deifts, who ridicule divine revelation, and fcoff at the method of creation, providence, and redemption, described in the Bible; and discrediting a future judgement or eternal state, give up themselves to the fulfilment of their lusts, 2 Pet. iii. 3.-6.

SCORCH; to burn up with too great heat, Rev. xvi. 8. 9.

To SCORN; to mock; laugh at, Job xvi. 20. A scorn, is an object of mockery and difdainful reproach, Pfal. xliv. 13. A SCORNER, is one who is given to laugh at persons and things of importance; who mocks at fin, and the judgements of God on account of it, and feoffs at religion, and the profellors and teachers of it; and derides and hates wholefome reproof and advice, Pfal. i. 1. Prov. ix. 8. xiii. 1. While he precends to possess and feek after wildom, he finds it not; but in his haughty and arrogant manner, flirs up contention, and expofes hindelf and others to the diffinguished judgements of God, Prov. xiv. 6. xxii. 10. xxix. 8. ix. 14. xix. 29. God feorns the feorners, when he contemns and punisheth them, rendering them ridiculous to all around, Prov. iii. 34. If thou fcorneft, thou alone fbalt bear it, i. e. shalt be punished for thy fin, Prov.

S C O SRI

ix. 14.

SCORPION; a finall animal, whose bladder is full of dangerous poilos. It is of a footy colour. Its head is very close to its breail. It has two eyes in the middle of its head, and two at the extremity thereof, between which come out two arms, each of which is divided into other two, like the claws of a lobiter: nay, fome have fix or eight eyes. Its body is shaped like an egg. It has eight feet proceeding from its break, each of which is divided into fix hairy branches, with a claw at the end. The belly is divided into feven rings. The tail proceeds from the laft, and is like a flring of feven beads; out of the largest, which is at the end, proceed one or two hollow flings, wherewith it fquirts its venom into the part stinged. It is very crafty, and is ever striking its tail, that it may lose no opportunity of doing milehief. It is faid to be more mischievous to women, and especially girls, than to men. waddles as it goes, and with its feet and fnout fixeth fo fait on a person, that it cannot be plucked off but with difficulty; but the best cure for their bite or wound, is to fqueeze the creature on it. It is faid, the dam brings forth eleven young ones like worms at a time; and that after they are hatched, they kill their dam. There were plenty of the akrabbim or feorpions in the Arabian defert, Deut. viii. 15. Numb. xxxiv. 4. Wicked men, the Jews, the Antichrillian priefts, and the Saracens, are likened to feorpions, to mark their malicious and crafty disposition, and their being given to wound, torment, and murder good men, and fuch as have leaf power to withfland them, Ezek. ii. 6. Rev. ix. 3. Whips knotted, or armed with pricks like a feorpion's tail, are called feorpions, 2

Kings all, 11, 14.

SCOURGE; a kind of whip of cords, leather thongs, or wands. The Jews were prohibited to give above forty thripes at once; but if the crime was reckoned great, the lashes were the more fevere, Deut. xxv. 1 .- 3. 2 Cor. xi. 24. The rabbins pretend, that all crimes whose punishment is not specified incurred seourging; and that it was not reckoned difgraceful: but Philo the Jew represents it as no lefs insupportable to a free man than death. The perfon fcourged, being thripped to his middle, was tied by the hands to a low pillar, and then received the lashes on his bended back. Supposed criminals were foractimes feourged, in order to oblige them to confess their crimes, Acts xxii. 24. Pilate feourged Jefus. in order that he might please the Jews, and fo gain their confent to forbear his erucifixion, John xix. 1.4.6. Painful ilanders and reproaches, are called the scourge of the tongue, Job v. 21. God's chastifement of his people, and punishment of his enemies, are called a feourge, Heb. xii. 6. Job ix. 23. If. x. 26.

SCRIBE; (1.) A writer that regiftered the affairs of a king. As few could anciently write, this office was very honourable, much the fame as that of our Secretary of State. She maiah, Seraiah, and Sheva, or Shavtha, were feribes to King David, 2 Sam. viii. 17. xx. 25. Elihoreph and Ahiah were feribes to Solomon, 1 Kings iv. 4. Shebna, to Hezekiah, and Shephan, to Josiah, 2 Kings xix. 2. xxii. 8. (2.) The commissary or mustermaster mafter of an army, that enrols, calls over their names, and reviews them, 2 Chron. xxvi. 11. 2 Kings xxv. 19. (3.) One that is both a writer and doctor of the law. It feems that they transcribed the books of scripture, and fo became well verfant in it. Such fcribes feem to have existed as early as the days of Deborah, Judg. v. 14. It feems many of them were of the tribe of Levi, 1 Chron. xxiii. 4. xxiv. 6. 2 Chron. xxxiv. 13. Jonathan, Baruch, and Ezra, were fcribes: probably they had their education in the schools of the prophets, as we find no other schools in these times. In the time of our Saviour, the scribes were a most wicked class, that perverted the scripture, and extolled the traditions of the elders above it, Matth. xxii. 35. Mark xii. 28. Matth. xxiii.

SCRIP; a bag or pouch, 1 Sam.

xvii. 40.

SCRIPTURE; the infpired word of God. See BIBLE.

SCUM; unclean froth on the top of a boiling pot. The wicked Jews of Jerufalem are likened thereto, to mark their vileness and naughtiness, E-

zek. xxiv. 6. 11. 12.

SCURVY, is a difease very frequent in northern countries, especially in moist places exposed to the north. Charleton will have it to arife from faline particles taken into the body by breathing, receipt of provision, or living in nasty places; or formed by deep chagrin. Quincy will have it to arise from the unequal fluidity of the blood; the fibrous part being two thick, and the ferous part too thin. It contains, or is the fource of difeases almost unnumbered; and as it arises from very contrary coufes at once, it is often extremely difficult of cure. Its most ordinary fymptoms are bleedings, coughing, difficult breathing, stinking breath, frequent loofeness, sweariness, weariness, faintings, pains of hands and legs; and when the corrupt matter is thrown outward, the skin becomes rough and dry. It, in a special manner, degenerates into the dropfy, apoplexy, convultions, and falling fickness. Gentle purgatives are good remedies: fweet mercury is excellent: nay, perhaps nothing but a falivation of mercury, will avail in high degrees of the fcurvy; and yet that is far from being without danger. Scurvygrafs, water-trefoil, horfe-radifh, forrel, fow-thiftle, butter-bur, elecampane, juniper-berries, mustard-feed, water-creffes, &c. are very useful remedies against this disease; but perhaps a well-regulated diet may be of as much use as them all.

SCYTHIANS; a favage people that dwelt about the east and north of the Euxine and Caspian seas. See

Gog.

SEA; a large collection of waters. The Jews, Arabs, and others, call large lakes feas; thus the lake of Gennefareth, which is but 13 miles in length and five in breadth, is called the fea of Tiberias, or the fea of Galilee. It is formed by the Jordan, and abounds with fish, Matth. iv. 18. John The sea of Jazer, which is but a large lake, near the head of the river Arnon, is still less, Jer. xlviii. 32. The Salt sea, Dead sea, or sea of Sodom, is the lake Afphar, or Afphaltites, at the fouth end of Jordan, and fouth-east border of Canaan. Josephus makes it about 72 miles in length, and almost 19 in breadth; but our modern travellers make it but about 24 miles in length, and fix or feven in breadth. It is faid to have been anciently the place of Sodom, Gomorrah, Admah, and Zeboim, and after the burning to have been funk by an earthquake; and it is pretended by fome, that the ruins of these cities are still seen under the water when it is low; but Reland brings no contemptible arguments, though I dare not fay absolutely conclusive, to the contrary. It is certain the valley of Siddim, which was near Sodom, makes part of this fea, Gen. xiv. 3.; and that this lake receives the river Jordan, the river Arnon, and the brook Kidron, besides other rivulets, and has no visible communication with the sea; and that the great quantity of bitumen, flime, or mineral pitch, therein, renders it improper for fish to live in

SEA [391] SEA

in, or for men to drink of it; and the fulphurous steam makes even the fruit on the shore not good in some places. The Gentile world is likened to this Dead fea, to mark how curfed it is of God, how difagreeable and ufelefs, and what a miracle of his grace it must be to render it replenished with faints, Ezek. xlvii. 9. 10. The Great fea is the Mediterranean fea, which runs between Africa, Asia, and Europe, and was the west border of Canaan; and is about 3000 miles in length. It is called the Hinder fea, while the Dead fea is called the Former fea; and by thefe is reprefented the eaftern and western part of the world, whither the waters of the gospel, and its influences, come, Zech. xiv. 8. The Euphrates and the Nile are also called feas, If. xxi. 1. Jer. li. 36. Ezek. xxxii. 2. The Red fea is that arm of the Indian ocean which breaks in by the straits of Babelmandel, and runs along the fouth-west side of Arabia, and the east of Ethiopia and Egypt, to the length of near 1200 miles. The Hebrews called it Yam-fuph, or the Weedy fea, because it feems many weeds grew in, or on the brink of it. But as the Edomites had long the property and use of it for their shipping, it came to be called the fea of Edom, which the Greeks translated into the Red fea, Edom lignifying red. Hence fome came vainly to imagine, that the water, or its bottom, was reddish. There appears to have been some lake on the east of Jordan, which was also called the Yam-fuph, or Red fea, Numb. xxi. 14. Deut. i. 1. ther more confiderable feas in the world, are the Caspian, and westward from that the Euxine or Black fea, both on the fouth of the Ruffian empire; and the Baltic, between Germany and Sweden, and on the west of Russia. The largest seas are called oceans; that on the west of Africa and Europe, and on the east of America, is called the Atlantic ocean; that between America and Asia, is called the Pacific ocean, and is about 12,000 miles in length or breadth, from Ana to America; that on the fouth of Afia, and fouth-east of Africa, is the Indian ocean, Multitudes of people are likened to the fea, because of their noise, and their overwhelming force, Jer. li. 4. Wicked men are like the troubled fea, that cannot rest, and whose waters cast. forth mire and dirt: their condition and minds are quite unfettled, they make a great noise for a while, and daily pour forth the filthiness of wickeducis that is in them, Is. lvii. 21. The abundance of the feas is converted to the church, when multitudes in Leffer Asia, Europe, and the isles, are turned to the Lord by the gospel, and confecrate their trade and wealth to him, If. lx. 5. Am I a fea or a whale, that thou fettest a mark over me? Am I like the fea or whale, quite ungovernable? or am I able to endure one ftorm after another, as the fea? Job vii. 12. See laver; glass; deep.

To SEAL, is, (1.) To render or keep a thing fecret, Dan. xii. 4. viii. 16. Rev. x. 4. xxii. 10. (2.) To mark as one's property, and fecure from danger, Song iv. 12. (3.) To fulfil; make complete, Dan. ix. 24. Ezek. xxviii. 12. Rom. xv. 28. Before the Trojan war, it feems SEALS or signers for marking the wax wherewith letters were closed, or for marking deeds for ratification, were very rare. The ancient Hebrews wore their feals or fignets in their rings or bracelets. God's Spirit is called a feal, because by the gracious inhabitation and influence thereof, men are marked out for God's property, are diffinguished from the world, and are fecured against final apostasy and ruin, Eph. i. 13. iv. 30. God's fealing of Christ, imports his giving him a special commillion as our Mediator; his furnithing him for his work, and rendering his ministry effectual on the faints, John vi. 27. Rev. vii. 2. God's fealing of his people denotes his marking them with his Spirit and grace; his cauting them avow his truth; and his prefervation of them amidst the general abounding of error and perfecution, Rev. vii. 3 .- 8. ix. 4. The foundation of God having this feal, The Lord knoweth them that are his, imports that the church, the fundamental truths of the gospel, the gracious state and principal dispositions of his people, are, by God's infallible fore-knowledge, and immutable decree, rendered stable, firm, and lafting, 2 Tim. ii. 19. The fealing of God's book of purposes with feven feals, imports the deep obscurity and fecrecy thereof, till differented by Christ, and gradually opened in the course of his providence towards the church. The first fix relate to the state of the church and the Romith empire, between the beginning of Christ's ministry, and A. D. 323, when Heathenifm was overturned; the feventh reaches from thence to the end of the world, Rev. v. vi. viii. 1. God feals mens instruction, when he deeply imprints it on their mind, Job xxxiii. 16 .: he feals up their transgressions as in a bag, when he appears firmly determined to punish them, and every one of them, Job xiv. 7 .: he feals up their hand, when he deprives them of power and opportunity for labour, Job xxxvii. 7 .: he feals up the stars, when he hides them with clouds, Job ix. 7. The faints fet to their feal that God is true, when they believe his promifes, and receive his offered gifts, John iii. 33.; they are fet as a feal on Christ's heart and arm; great is his love to, and care of them; constant is his remembrance and tender support of them, and intimate their fellowship with him, Song viii. 6. Circumcifion was a feal of the righteoufnefs of faith: it and other facraments confirm the faints interest in Jesus's righteousness, and strengthen their faith to believe on, receive, and improve it, Rom. iv. 11. The Corinthian converts were the feal of Paul's apostleship in the Lord; the exertion of the power of God, in the change of their state and nature, by means of his ministrations of the gospel, clearly evinced, that he had a true mission from God, I Cor. ix. 2. Satan is fealed up during the Millennium; he is, by the providence of God, restrained from tempting and ruling over men, as he did before, Rev. xx. 30.

SEARCH; (1.) To examine carefully, and feek fully to understand, Lev. xxvii. 33. John v. 39. (2.) To view with great care, in order to know the nature of, Numb. xiii. 2. (3.) To feek, to find, or apprehend, I Sam. xxiii. 23. God's fearthing for things, denotes his perfect knowledge of them. and his discovery of them to others, Zech. i. 12. Rev. ii. 23. 1 Cor. ii. 10. His fearehing for perfons, imports his care to deliver them, or his zeal to punish them effectually, Ezek. xxxiv. Amos ix. 3. God did not find out the idolatry and wickedness of the Jews by diligent fearch; for it was fo open and manifest, as not to need to be fearched for, Jer. ii. 34. The fearch of the fathers, is a diligent inquiry into their fentiments, and the events that befel them, Job viii. 8.

SEARED; burnt off, or burnt hard, as fleth is with a hot iron. Men have their conscience feared, when it is fo stupissed with the load of unpardoned guilt, and power of inward corruption, that it sticks at nothing, however horrid and abominable, and fo is as bad as no confeience at all, I Tim-

To SEASON a thing with falt or spice, &c. that it may keep fresh, or taste well, Lev. ii. 13. Speech is feefoned with the falt of grace, when it proceeds from holy wildom and love, and tends to honour God and profit our neighbour, Col. iv. 6. See TIME.

SEAT. See SIT. SEBA. See SHEBA.

SEBAT, or SHEBET, the 5th month of the Jewish civil, and 11th of their facred year: it confifted of 30 days, and the beginning of it answered to part of our January, Zech. i. 7. On the 10th of it, the Jews fast for the death of the elders that outlived Joshua. On the 23d they fast in commemoration of the refolution taken to punish the inhabitants of Gibeah, Judg. xx.

SECRET; what is hidden, or is known only to few, Mark iv. 22. In fecret, is in fuch a place or manner as few know it, or where one cannot be hurt, Job xl. 13. Pfal. xxvii. 5. The feeret of God, is, (1.) His purpose concerning perfons and nations, and the reasons of his dispensing his mercy and judgement in fuch a manner and time, Deut. xxis. 29. Amos iii. 7. (2.) His feeret favour and bleffing, his instructing men in the passeries of his word and providence, and his directing, fucceeding, and protecting them, in their station and work, Pfal. xxv. 14. -The lecrets of men, are, (1.) That which few do, or ought to know: fuch fecrets tale-bearers reveal, Prov. xx. 19. (2.) The meaning of a dream or vition, which is hard to be known, Dan. iv. 9. (3.) Their inward purpoles, dispositions, aims, and acts, which are known only to God and one's self, 1 Cor. xiv. 25. Eecl. xii. 14. Rom. ii. 16. (4.) Those parts of the human body which modefly requires to be covered, Deut. xxv. 11. The feerets of wifelom, are the unknown mysteries contained in the knowledge and practice of true religion, particularly those relating to the divine excellency, Job xi. 6. God's fecret place, is where his peculiar presence is, but is unfeen, as amidit the flanes of Sinai, Pfal. Ixxxi. 7.; and in the temple, chiefly its most holy place, Ezek. vii. 22.; or his Christ, and intinate fellowthip through him, by which one has univen instruction, and great happiness and fafety, Pfal. xei. i. -x: vii. 5.

fecret

SEC [393] SEC

SECT; a party diffinguished by fome particular tenets. Among the Jews, in the time of our Savicur, we find the Pharifees, Sadducees, Effenes, and Herodians. It is hard to fay, what was the particular rife of the PHARISEES, whether from the famed Hilld, a doctor of the law, about 150 years before Christ. They called themfelves Pharifees, or Separatifls, because they diffinguished then selves from others in their pretences to strictness. They were very numerous and powerful, and fometimes formidable to the kings of their nation, particularly to Hircanus and Januæus, with the last of whom their contentions rendered the nation not a little miserable. They believed the immortality of the foul, and the refurrection, and future reward of Vol. II.

the righteous, whom they reckoned to be only the Jews; and that though the fouls of the wicked went directly to hell at their death, yet their bo-dies never rofe again. They believed, that all things, except the fear of God, were fublicit to fate. They, and all the other feets, looked only for a Meffialt, to be a temporal prince and mighty deliverer. But that which, as much as any thing, marked them, was their fupererogatory attachment to the coremonial law, their frequent washings, fallings, and prayings, their public almsdeeds, their hanting after profelytes, their ferupulous tithings, their affected gravity of drefs, getture, and mo tified looks, their building tombs for the propliets, to mark themselves more rightsous than their fathers who murdered them; their over-forupulous observance of the Sabbath, to the exclusion of works of charity and mercy. Meanwhile they neglected mercy, charity, justice, humility, and the like indifpenfible virtues. The very best of them indulged themfelves in every thought and finful indulgence that came fhort of the finishing act of fin; while others, under a cloak of religion, indulged themselves in cruelty, dishonesty, and oppression, even of widows. They were excessively zealous for the pretended oral law, and the superfluious traditions of the elders, and preferred them to the oracles of God. They heartily hated and opposed our Savio ir, and did all they could to entrap him, and were feverely rebuked by him: Matth. xv. xxiii. v. 20. ix. 14. 34. xvi. 6. Luke v. 30. vi. 7. vii. 30. xi. 39. xvi. 14. xv. 2. xviii. 11. 12. John 1. 24. vii. 32. 48. xi. 47. 57. At prefent most of the Jews are a kind of Phanices. (2.) The Sadducers had their name from one Zudok or Saddoc, who lived about 280 years before Chrift. His mafter Antigonus taught, that our fervice of God thould be wholly difinterested, proceeding from pure love, without any regard to future rewards or punishments. Zadok from this took · ceasion to teach, that there were no rewards or punithments, nor even lire, in a future flate. The Sadducees believed, SEC [394] SEC lieved, that God was the only immaterial being, and that there was no created angel or spirit; that there was no refurrection of the dead. They reckoned a man absolutely master of all his actions, and that he needed no affiltance to do good, or to forbear evil, and fo They rejectwere very fevere judges. ed all traditions, and fluck to the text of the facred books; but like the rest of the Jews, preferred the five books of Mofes to the rest. Some have imagined, that they rejected all the facred books but these of Moses, because our Lord chose to confute them from these; but this reasoning is inconclusive. Had they done fo, it is not probable that Josephus, their zealous enemy, would have passed it in silence; nor could they have been admitted to the offices of high-priefts and judges, as it is certain they were. The Sadducees were generally men of the greatest opulence, and choosed to live at their pleafure, without apprehensions of any future account. Hircanus, the royal high-priest of the Jews, it is said, threatened his fubjects with death, if they would not become Sadducees. fons, Ariftobulus and Jannæus, were not much lefs zealous; and during the reign of the latter, the whole fanhedrim, except one Simon, are faid to have been Sadducees. Caiaphas, and Ananias the murderer of JAMES the Lefs, were Sadducees. The Sadducees were zealous opposers of Christ and his apostles, Matth. xxii. 23.—32. Acts v. 17. iv. 1. At the destruction of Jerufalem, the Sadducees were much reduced: they however made fome figure in the beginning of the third century. In the fixth, Justinian the emperor condemned them to banishment, and other fevere penalties, as persons impious and atheistical. In the eighth, Nachmanides, and in the twelfth, Alpharag, famous rabbins, were strenuous defenders of this feet. Still there are fome Sadducees, especially in Africa; but they feldom declare their opinions. To our Deifts, it is not improper to observe, that we never hear of one Sadducee converted to the Chriitian faith.

The Essenes, or Afdanim, appear to have been little elfe than a party of rigid Pharifees, that lived fomewhat in the manner of the Romish monks, and had their rife about 200 years before Christ. As they lived in solitary places. and came feldom to the temple or public affen blies, they are never mentioned in the New Tellament. They believed the immortality of the foul, and the existence of angels, and a state of future rewards and punishments; but fearcely, that there would be any refurrection of the dead. They believed every thing to be ordered by an eternal fatality, or chain of causes. difallowed of oaths, and their word they reckoned every whit as binding. They observed the Sabbath fo strictly, as not to move a veffel, and fcarce to eafe nature. Some of them quite difallowed of marriage, and the rest made but little use of the marriage-bed. They fasted much, lived on very little and fimple provision. They despited riches and finery of apparel, and wore out their clothes before they changed them. They lived quietly without noise; and fome were given to mere contemplation, while others cultivated the field for their support. They were kind to ftrangers, but admitted none into their fociety till they had given proof of their temperance and chastity. They expelled criminals from it, but not in the prefence of fewer than an hundred. When ten of them fat together, none fpake but with the leave of the other nine. They chose rather to suffer torture, than to ipcak evil of their legisla. tors, Moses, &c. and punished with They enquired death fuch as did. much into the cures of difeases, and by means of their temperance, many of them lived to a great age.

That the HERODIANS had a fet of principles, a leaven of their own, and tempted our Saviour concerning the lawfulness of paying tribute to Heathen governors, is plain, Mark viii. 15. xii. 13.; but what were their diffinguishing tenets, is not agreed. Calmet and others will have them to have been much the same with the Pharisees; only that they held it unlawful to give tribute to the Roman emperor, which would make them the fame with the Galileans or Zealots. But why should perfons of this flamp be denominated from any of the Herods, who are known to have been pliant cringers to the Romans? Others will have them to have been flatterers of Herod the Great, as if he had been the Meffiah; and they fay, he burnt all the genealogical memoirs of the family of David, that there might be no proof against his being a branch of it. We rather, with Piideaux, suppose, that they, along with the Herods, pled the lawfulness of the Romish government over the Jews; and that, in consequence thereof it was lawful to comply with many of the customs of the Heathenish Romans: and if fo, they were the reverse of the Zealots or Galileans.

that

SEC [395] SEE

Whether the Karaites, or adherents to scripture, were formed into a fect, before the birth of our Saviour, and about the time of King Januxus, or rather more lately, we know not. look on the canonical books of the Old Testament to be the only rule of their faith: they expound feripture by feripture, and count the traditions of the elders of no more than human authority, and reckon the affair of the oral law a mere fable: they read the fcriptures in their fynagogues in the originals, as every translation is imperfect: they likewife pray in Hebrew, with great fervency, and with their face towards Jerufalem: they believe the perfections and providence of God, and allow a portion of his grace to be neceffary to determine mens will to good: they expect a temporal Melliah, and attribute the delay of his coming, to the flowness of Saturn's motion, or to the fin of their nation: they condemn phylacteries, and all kinds of pictures or flatues used in religion: their practice is much the fame as that of the Effenes, but lefs auftere and rigid; and they have a profound respect for their teachers, who, for the most part, give their instructions gratis. There are but a few thousands of this sect about Poland, Germany, &c. and they are hated by the Traditionist Jews, as if almost infernals.

The Christians were called the fett of the Nazarenes, and were every where spoken against, Acts xxiv. 5. xxviii.

SECURE; (1.) Not exposed to apparent danger, Job xii. 6. (2.) Without fear of danger, Judg. viii. 11. Mic. ii. 8. And to fecure one, is to keep him free from danger, and the fear of it, Matth. xxviii. 14. To take fecurity of one, is to get bail for his good behaviour, or his appearance at court, Acts xvii. 9. Mens fecure fearleffness of danger, is either finful, when not afraid of their bad thate or condition, and of the just judgements of God; or holy, when one by a firm faith, commits himfelf and all his concerns to God in Christ, as his own God, Job xii. 6. xi. 18.

SEDITION; a rebellious uproar in a city or country, contrary to the command and authority of the civil magistrate, Gal. v. 20.

SEDUCE; to decoy, or draw away one from his proper principles or practice, I Tim. iv. I. The way of the wicked feducetb them; leads them on to further impiety, and keeps their conscience quiet, while they hasten to eternal woe, Prov. x... 26. people are feduced, when taught, advifed, or commanded to forfake what is truth and lawful, to follow what is finful, 2 Kings xxi. 9. Ezek. xiii. 10. The Egyptians were feduced by their rulers, when led to worship idols, work wickedness, and follow schemes uinous to the nation, If, ix. 13. Seducers or jugglers wax worfe and worfe, when God juffly leaves them to proceed from one error or wicked way to another still worse, and to become more beld in their feducing work, 2 Tim. iii. 13.

SEE; (1.) To behold or perceive with the eyes, Exod. xxiii. 5. (2.) To hear, E. od. xx. 18. Rev. i. 12. (3.) To feel, Pfal. xc. 15. Nay, feeing is put for all the fenfes, as it is one of the most excellent means of knowledge. (4.) To look upon things with careful observation, Matth. xxii. 11. (5.) To know; learn by natural observation, Gen. xxxvii. 14.; by experience, Exod. v. 19. Rom. vii. 23.; by divine revelation, If. ii. 1.; or by a believing of God's word, and refting on him, John xiv. 9. Heb. xi. 27.; or by enjoying the immediate difcoveries of his glory in heaven, Job xix. 26. To have enough of knowledge, to as to find no need of instruction, John is. 41. (7.) To enjoy; posses, John iii. 3. 6. (8.) To pay a visit, I Sam. xv. 35. (9) To bear with, Ezra iv. 14. (10.) To beware, Rev. xix. 10. God's feeing of persons or things, imports his perfect knowledge of them, as marked in a way of approbation, pity, or care, or in a way of diflike, and of preparation to punish, Gen. i. 4. 2 Kings xix. 16. Gen. vi. 5. Christ's being fren of angels, imports not only their stedfast beholding of him in his debased estate, but their whole work of ministration to him and his people, as in, and fubjected to, him, 1 Tim. iii. 16. In feeing, men fee not, when they have rational discoveries of God without any faving uptaking of him, Matth. xiii. 14. Il. vi. 9. Men will not fee, will not understand God's word or work, and act agreeably: but they shall see, shall feel the fearful accomplishment of his word and the execution of his wrath, If. xxvi. 11. The Jews feeing many things, many miracles performed by Christ, did not observe or consider them; and opened the ear, to hear his doctrines, but did not hear and receive them with their heart, If. xlii. 20. To be feen of men, is to be gazed at, as those are who act on a theatre in a stage-play, Matth. vi. 1. To fee one's face, imports fometimes not only clear discovery of him, but great intimacy with him; and in Persia, few but the privy counsellors faw the king's face, Rev. xxii. 4. Esth. i. 14. At Sinai, indeed, the Hebrew elders faw the tokens of God's prefence, or the Son of God in the refemblance of a man; but when the law was given, they faw no fimilitude at all, Exod. x iv. 10. Deut. iv. 15. To fee God as he is, and know him even as we are known, is to have a clear and immediateview of his excellencies, without the least mistake, I John iii. 2. I Cor. xiii. 12.

3 D 2 ebfervation,

SEE [396] SEE

SIGHT, is either, (1.) The power or act of feeing, which is either natural, with the bodily eye, Matth. xi. 5. or rational, with the mind, Heb. iv. 13. or gracious, which perceives Christ, and God in him, through the glass of the feripture, and ordinances of the gospel, Luke iv. 18. 2 Cor. iii. 18. or the immediate view of God in heaven, in refpect of which our prefent knowledge is as blindness, 2 Cor. v. 7. (2.) The object feen, chiefly if wonderful and ftriking, Luke xxi. 11. xxiii. 48. Exodiii. 3. In fight; in view; in appearance, Josh. xxiii. g. Lev. xiii. 3. 20. In one's fight, is, exposed to the view of his natural eyes, Deut. xxvii. 19.; in his prefence, Eccl. viii. 3. 1 Tim. vi. 13.; or in his knowledge, or reckoning, Heb. iv. 13. Ezek. xxxvi. 31. Eccl. ii. zó. What may be feen with the bodily eye, is called VISIBLE, and what may not; is called INVISIBLE, Col. i. 15. 16. The discoveries of God, or the things of another world, or the emblematic discoveries of future things, and even declarations to the ear, are called visions, or fights, If. i. 1. xxi. 2. In this manner Christ often appeared under the Old Testament, and revealed his will; and to Stephen, Paul, and John, under the New, Acts vii. 60. Rev. i. iv. &c.: but it feems the Father never discovered himself in any vinble fimilitude, John i. 18. Angels also appeared in visions, Matth. xxviii. I Kings xix. And because the prophets faw visions, and knew more than others, they were anciently called seers, 1 Sam. ix. 9.

SEEK; to endeavour to obtain, whether by fearching for, Gen. xxxvii. 16.; asking by prayer, Ezra viii. 21.; or by the use of any other means that tends to procure the enjoyment of a thing, Gen. xliii. 18. God seeks men, when he fixes his love on them, and by his Son's righteousness and interacession, and by the ministry of his word, and the efficacy of his Spirit, he recovers them from their miferable flate or condition, Ezek. xxxiv. 16. Pfal. cxix. 176. Luke xv. 4.-9. xix. 10. To feck God, or his name, or face, is to ask his direction, pray for his favours, and depend on him as our helper and portion, Pial. lxiii. 1. lx xiii. 16. Hypocrites feek him, when they pretend to be fenfible of their wants, and to pray for, and defire the enjoyment of himself and his favours, Prov. i. 28. The Jews fought Christ after his afcenfion, but found him not; they had, to no purpose, an eager desire to enjoy the appearance of their Mesliah, John viii. 21. To feek to an altar or temple, is to frequent it religiously, 2 Chron. i. 5. Deut. vii. 5. Amos v. 5. To feek God's works, is to endeavour to understand them, Pfal. exi. 2. To feek God's precepts, is to endeavour to know and obey them, Pfal. exix. 115. 155. To feek judgement, or mischief, is to employ one's felf in practifing, justice, or doing mischief, If. i. 17. Prov. xi. 27. xvii. 11. 19. To feek peace, is to endeavour to promote it, Pfal. xxxiv. 14. Jer. xxix. 7. To feek one's foul or life, is to defire and use all possible means for murdering and ruining him, Pfal. xxxv. 4. xxxviii. 12.

SEE [397] SEL

SEEM; to look like, Gen. xxvii. 12. Seemly; fit; comely, Prov.

xix. 10. XXVI. II.

SEIR; (1.) The father of the ancient Horites, Gen. xxxvi. 20. (2.) A noted mountain on the fouth and fouth-west of the Dead Sea, in the land of Edom: but whether it had its name from Seir the Horite, who peopled that country; or if it was called Seir, or hairy, because it was covered with shaggy bushes, even as another mountain was called Halak, because without bushes, we know not. (3.) A small hill near Kirjathjearim, Josh. xv. 10.

SEIRATH, where Ehud ftopped after the flaughter of Eglon, was probably near Gilgal, or Bethel, Judg. iii. 26.

SELA; the capital of the Edomites, called also Joktheol. It was, no doubt, so called from its rocky fituation; and if it was the Petra of the Arabs, it was fituated in a plain, furrounded with terrible rocks. Amaziah took it, and cruelly murdered a great part of the people found in it, 2 Kings xiv. 7. Whether it was this, then possessed by the Moabites, or another place of the fame name in the country of Moab, that the king of Moab is directed to fend tribute from, to the Hebrews, and facrifices to their God, is uncertain, If. xvi. 1. The rock whence Saul was called off from purfuing David, to withstand the Philistines, was called Sela-hamalekoth, the rock of feparations, 1 Sam. xxiii. 28.

SELAFI; a word used in the song of Habakkuk, and often in the Psalms of David. Whether it be a name of God, and import an address to him; or whether it signify the same thing as amen; or denote a lifting up of the voice, or change of the tune, or a great pause in the music, as at a point worthy of the deepest attention, is not agreed. It is plain the omission of it, no way interrupts the sense, Hab. iii.

3. 9. 13.

SELEUCIA. There were many cities of this name in Afia; but the Scripture mentions only that of Syria, near the river Orontes, which was built by Scleucus Nicator, the first Syro-Grecian monarch. Here Paul and Barnabas embarked for Cyprus, Acts xiv. 4.

SELF, not only denotes one's own person, but whatever is dear to us, Matth. xxii. 39. xvi. 24. See DENY. SELF-WILL is a disposition to follow our own fancy and inclination, in opposition to every thing else, Gen. xlix.

6. Tit. i. 7.

SELL. Among the Hebrews, parents had power to fell their children for flaves. Creditors too fold infolvent debtors and their children, till they got payment; and fometimes a man fold himfelf: but it was a capital crime to fteal a man and fell him, Exod. xxi. 7.—16. I Tim. i. 10. See SERVANT. God's felling of his grace and favours, imports his wife, but free beftowal thereof on fuch as need, and willingly seceive the same, Matth. xxv. 9. He fells his professed people, when, to punish their fin, he gives them up to the harassment and slavery of their enemies, Deut. xxxii. 20. Judg. ii. 14. Men fell all that they have, to buy the pearl of great price, when they prefer Christ and his fulness to every thing beside, and are content to part with finful lufts, and every thing worldly, to enjoy the same, and to live to his honour, Matth. xiii. 40. Men sell the truth, when they contemn, renounce, or forfake the inspired truths of God in their profession or practice, for the fake of some carnal ease, pleasure, honour, or gain, Prov. xxiii. 23. Men fell themselves to work wickedness, when they wilfully give up themselves, soul and body, to be the ilaves of their own finful inclinations, and of Satan and his agents, fpending their wifdom, ftrength, and time, in his fervice, I Kings xxi. 20. 2 Kings xvii. 17. The faints are fold under fin, when, overpowered by their indwelling corruptions, they are forced to think and act in a manner very fimilar to that of the flaves of fin, Rom. vii. 14. Efau's felling of his becaright was very finful, as it implied a contempt of the promifed Meifiah and his church, and of the privileges of fpiritual adoption, and eternal life, Heb. xii. 16.

SEL [398] SEN

SELVEDGE; the edge of a web of cloth, Exod. xxvi. 4.

SENAAH, or HASSENAAH; a city or person, whose inhabitants, or posterity, to the number of 3630, returned from Babylon, and were very active in rebuilding the wall of Jerusalem, Ezra ii. 35. Neh. iii. 3.

SENATE. See SANDHEDRIM.

To SEND; (1.) To appoint to go, Deut. i. 22. (2.) To cause to come, Deut. xxviii. 20. 48. (3.) To convey, Acts xi. 30. God's fending of Christ, imports his appointing him to assume our nature, and in this world sustained fulfil the broken law in our stead, and so save us from our sin and misery, Gal. iv. 4. Christ and his Father's fending of the Holy Ghost, imports an effectual willing him to mark his power and presence in working miracles, and in convincing, converting, sanctifying, and comforting influences, for the erection and establishment of the church, and the salvation of men, John xiv. 26. xvi. 7. God's sending prophets, apostles, and ministers, imports his authorising, and enabling them to execute such an office in the place and manner he appoints, Rom. x. 15.

SENNACHERIB king of Affyria, began to reign about A. M. 3290, and reigned about four years, attempting to extend his empire. Informed of Hezekiah's revolt, he invaded his kingdom of Judaii. Almost all the fenced cities of Judah were obliged to furrender to him. To stop his taking the rest, Hezekiah agreed to return to his former rubjection, and paid him 300 talents of filver, and 30 of gold. Contrary to agreement, Sennacherib continued the war. While he befieged Lachish, he sent his generals Tartan, Rabfaris, and Rabshakeh, with a confiderable army, to fummon Hezekiah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem to a furrender: they halted in the Fuller's field, and thither Hezekiah fent Eliakim, Shebna, and Joah, to confer with them. In the Hebrew tongue, and with the haughtiest airs, Rabshakeh told these ambassadors, that it was vain for them to expect help from Pharaoh king of Egypt, or from God, whose altars Hezekiah, he said, had broken down, and who had ordered the Affyrians to invade the country. Eliakim and his brethren defired him to speak to them in the Syrian language, and not in the Hebrew, left the people affembled on the wall should know their conference. Rabshakeh then lifted up his voice the more, and told the people, that unless they furrendered themselves to his master, he would quickly, by a furious fiege, oblige them to eat their own dung, and drink their urine, for want of other provision; and if they furrendered, they should be allowed to dwell peaceably in the land, till they were transported to another as good. Meanwhile, Sennacherib raifed the fiege, of Lachish,

SEN [399] SEN

Lachish, and invested Libnah. Receiving no return to his meffage, by his generals, who returned to him at Libnah, he wrote Hezekiah a most blasphemous letter, boasting, that he would as eafily fubdue Jerufalem and her God, as he had done other nations and their idols; and fent his meffengers to rail against the God of Israel, and terrify the people into a furrender. Leaving Libnah, he gave battle to Tirhakah king of Cush, or Ethiopia, and, it feems, routed him, if not also ravaged part of Egypt. Returning, he marched almost up to the walls of Jerusalem, and encamped in the valley of Tophet, on the east, but some think the north-west of the city. There an angel of the Lord, probably by a kind of fiery pettilence, killed 185,000 of his principal forces, and we suppose Rabshakeh among them, though it feems Tartan furvived the catastrophe, and afterwards took Ashdod, Is. xx. Sennacherib hafted home with the poor remains of his army; and had not been long there, when Adrammelech and Sharezer, two of his fons, whom perhaps he intended to facrifice, killed him, as he worshipped Nifroch his idol. Herodotus's bungling narrative of the ruin of Sennacherib's army, near Pelusium on the north-east of Egypt, as if, by the god Vulcan's influence, fwarms of rats had eaten all their bow-flrings in the night, and fo disqualified them for war, is unworthy of this work: but what better could we expect him to receive from the Egyptian priefts? If. xxx. 27.-33. xxxiii. xxxvi. xxxvii.

SENSE; (1.) Our various means of perception, by feeing, hearing, tafting, fmelling, feeling, are our bodily fenses; in allution to which, the powers of our foul, whereby we difeer good and evil, are called fenses, Heb. v. 14. (2.) Sense fignifies the meaning of a fentence or discourse, Neh. viii. 8. The Papists attribute a five-fold sense to the scripture, (1.) A grammatical, which is what is naturally exhibited by the express words: but it is plain this must not be always rested in; otherwife we must believe God to be corporeal, having eyes, ears, feet, and yet to be a fpirit. (2.) Literal, or historical, wherein a narrative is taken according to the express terms of the text, as that Abraham had a fon called Ishmael by Hagar. (3.) The allegorical, whereby the terms and events of an history are taken to fignify fomething spiritual, as Hagar to signify the Jewish church, Sarah the Christian, and Ishmael legalists, and Isaac true believers. (4.) The anagogical, whereby we understand terms and things relating to this world, as relating also to the world to come; as the Sabbath to the heavenly rest, Canaan to heaven. (5.) Tropological, whereby we underthand a text as hinting fome instruction of moral duty; as the not muzzling the mouth of the ox, to import, that ministers should have due subsistence from their hearers. Thus the word Ferufalem, according to them, grammatically fignifies the vision of peace; historically, the chief city of Judah; allegorically, the church-militant; anagogically, the church-triumphant; and tropologically, a faithful foul. But to attempt finding all these senses in every passage of scripture, is to suppose the oracles of God a perplexed chaos. is true, the fame text may be improven to manifold uses; for every word of God is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousncs; but the simplicity of divine truth, and the necessary intelligibleness of scripture, require the real fense of every passage to be, not manifold, but one, and which we may call literal; not indeed, as if the terms used to express it, if distorted from their connection with other passages, could bear no other; but that it is that which was in fuch and fuch words intended by the Holy Ghost. Nay, in fo far as the analogy of faith, and the context will admit, we must stick to the natural fignification of the very words of scripture. The sense however is often complex; the fame phrase relating to more objects than one. Nothing typical is rightly understood, except we confider it as both descriptive of the type, and of the antitype, by means thereof. In metaphoric passages, the material images are not at all the sense, but are to be understood merely as a means of pointing to the true objects intended. Prophecies, as has been hinted, have various steps of fulfilment, which are not different senses, but different steps of the same complex sense.

SENTENCE; (1.) A speech or saying. (2.) Opinion or judgement concerning a controverted point, Ass xv. 19. (3.) The determination of a judge, in deciding a cause or plea, Deut. vvii. 9.—11. Eccl. viii. 11. (4.) The vindication of one's innocence, Psal. xvii. 2. Hard or dark sentences, are sayings not easily explained, Dan. viii. 23. v. 12. A divine sentence, is a decision becoming the dignity and honour of God, Prov. vi. 10. To have the sentence of death in ourselves, is to by our account with sufferings or deatn as at hand, 2 Cor.

SEPARATE; SEVER; (1.) To part afunder, Gen. xxx. 40. Lev. xx. 26. (2.) To scatter into different corners of the world, Deut. xxxii. 8. (3.) To fet afide from among others to a particular office, ufe, or end. Paul and Barnabas, the Jewish priests, Levites, and Nazarites, were feparated, i. e. fet afide to the special service of God, Acts xiii. 2. Lev. xxii. 3. Numb. viii. 14. vi. 2. The Hebrews were separated; fet aside from the rest of the world, to be the diffinguished people of God, enjoying his favours, and employed in his fervice, I Kings viii. 53. The cities of refuge were feparated; fet apart for protecting involuntary man-flayers, Deut. xix. 2. Men are feparated to evil, when appointed, and, as it were, fet afide to be made miser ble, Deut. xxix. 11. (4). To forfake o. be cast out from the communion of the church, Jude 19. Luke vi. 22. (5.) To be difregarded and forfaken. So the poor is feparated from his neighbour, having none obliged or ready to help him, Prov. xix. 4. The Lord fevered between the cattle of the Hebrews and of the Egyptians, in faving the one, and destroying the other, Exod. viii. 22. ix. 4.

SEPHAR; a mount in the east of Arabia, or perhaps the fouth-west parts of Chalden, Gen. x. 30.

SEPHARVAĬM, or SEPHAR-VITES; a tribe of the Samaritans. Calmet thinks them the Saspires on the north of Media: Gill will have them the inhabitants of Sippohræ, a city of Syro-Phenicia. The names of their gods, viz. Adrammelech and Anammelech, and the nations with whom they are jointly mentioned, incline me to think they had their original refidence about Siphora, or Sippara on the Euphrates, where the language was Chaldean mixed with Arabic. They had anciently kings of their own, and they burnt their children in facrifice to their idols. They were partly cut off by the Affvrians; and the rest were transplanted to the country of the ten tribes, 2 Kings xix. 13. xvii. 24. 31.

SEPULCHRE. See GRAVE.

SERAI \H; (1.) An high prieft of the Jews, fon of Azariah, and father of Jozadak the father of Joshua. He was taken prisoner at Jerusalem, and was at Riblah murdered by Nebuchadnezzar, along with 70 others of the principal men of Judah, Jer. lii. 24.-27. (2.) The fon of Neriah, and brother of Baruch. He is called Shar-menuchah; but whether that means, that he was a prince quiet in his temper and carriage; or, that he was prince of a place called Menuchah; or was prince of the bed-chamber; or was the king's almoner; or was the chief director of the prefents which he carried from Zedckiah to Nebuchadnezzar, about feven years before the destruction of the city, I know not. Icremiah fent along with him a copy of the prediction of Babylon, and charged him to bind a stone to it when he came to Babylon, and cast it into the Euphrates, faying, Thus shall Babylon fink, and fhall not rife again, from the evil that the Lord will bring upon her, Jer. li. 59.—62.

the

SERAPHIM, or fiery ones. In his vision, Isaiah saw seraphims standing above or near to the Lord's throne: each had fix wings; with twain they covered their face, with twain their feet, and with twain they did fly: they cried, Holy, holy, holy is the Lord God of hofts, the sub le carch is full of his glory, till the house shook with the found. When the prophet bewailed his guilt, one of them took a live coal from the altar, and laid it on his mouth, and told him, that his iniquity was purged. Did thele feraphins fignify angels who are near to God; active and humble in his praife, but not capable to behold the brightness of his glory, and who contribute to the purging and comfort of the faints? did they reprefent min iters, humble and active in the work of the gofpel, for the glory of God, and the holiness and comfort of men? Is. vi. 1.

SERJEANTS; officers who carried a bundle of rods before magistrates, for whipping malefactors, as they got orders, Acts xvi. 35. 36.

SERGIUS. See Barjesus.

SERPENT, is a general name for a variety of kinds of amphibious animals that live in the fea and on the According to Ray, ferpents have a long body covered with a kind of feales, breathe by lungs, and have only one ventricle in the heart; their vital warmth is finall, they take in as much air at once, as can ferve them for breath a confiderable time. During the winter-cold they oft lie torpid and half dead, needing no food, and perhaps no air; but they revive in the fpring. Most of the surpents are of the pollonous kind, their bite leaving a mifchievous liquor in the wound, which quickly mixes with the blood; but the whole body of ferpents may be eaten, and even the mifchievous liquor tasted without hurt. Such ferpents, as are polifolious, have long teeth, with a poisonous liquor at their root. All ferpents feem to be o-Vol. II.

viparous, i. e. produced from eggs; but fome lay their eggs in dunghills, and the like places, to be hatched by the external heat; others retain them in their own body, till they be hatched. As the heart of ferpents is very near their head, they are most easily killed by a stroke on it. They are famed for fubilety; are faid to wrap up their head in the rest of their body, that their heart may be fafest; and to vomit up their poifon before they drink, that it may not go down with the water, and hunt them; to renew their fight by looking on fennel; to east their skin every year; to shun the breath of deer; and some of them to that their cars against enchantments, laying the one car close to the ground, and flopping with their tail the other; but we fulpect the truth of some of these things. The serpents we find mentioned in teripture, are the Ephehh, Achshub, Pethen, Tzcboah, Tzephahh, Tziphhoni, Saraph, which we translate viper, asp, adder, cockatrice, and hery flying ferpent. Prodigious numbers of flying fpcckled ferpents abound in Arabia and Lybia, and have wings like bats. It is faid the young ones kill their dam; but it is more certain, that if the birds ibis did not watch their entrance into Egypt, at the feafon thereof, they would ruin that country. The rattlefnake, and fome other ferpents, are very artful in decoying birds, and other animals, into their power: but we cannot explain the manner how they attack them. The bubalus ferpent is fometimes about 25 feet long, and has been known to fwallow a woman with . child, nay, a wild ox : but the , and other ferpents, ufe to break the bones of their prey, and flaver it over with fpittle, before they swallow it. It is faid, Abitarus an Ludian prince had two ferpents, the one 140 cubits long, and the other 80. The ferpent which Regulus the Roman killed with machines near Bagrada in Africa, is faid to hav $oldsymbol{\epsilon}$ been 120 feet long. In the German Ephemerides, we read of a ferpent that fwallowed a woman big with child, and 3 E of another that fwallowed a buffalo, or large wild ox. Not many years ago, Mr Edwin, the English refident in the East Indies, faw a ferpent, in the isle of Ceylon, that measured in length 33 feet 4 inches. It was all covered with scales, ridged in the middle. Its head was green, with large black fpots in the middle, and yellow fireaks around his jaws, and a yellow circle, like a golden collar, around his neck, and behind that was another black spot. Its head was flattish and broad, its eyes monitroufly large, and very bright and terrible. Its fides were of a dusey olive colour. Its back was very beautiful, a broad streak of black, curled and waved at the fides, running along it: along the edges of this, ran a narrow streak of a sleshy colour; on the outfide of which, was a broad ftreak of a bright yellow, waved and carled, and fpotted, at small distances, with roundish and long blotches of a blood colour. When it moved in the fun, it appeared exquisitely beautiful. It had perched itself on a large paim-tree. As a kind of fox paffed by, it darted down upon him, and in a few minutes fucked him into its belly. Next morning, a monstrous tiger, about the height of an heifer, paffing by, it darted down, feized him by the back with its teeth, and twined itself three or four times around his body. It then loofed its teeth from his back, and gript his head, tearing, and grinding, and chocking him at once, while the furious tiger refished to the utmost. Finding him hard to be conquered, and his bones not eafily broken, it, by winding its tail around his neck, dragged him to the tree, and then fetting him against it, twined itself about both him and the tree, and crushed him against it, viel his ribs, and the bones of his legs, and at last his skull, were broken and bruiled. After it had killed him with this inexpressible torture of about a day's continuance, it coated over his body with flaver, till it became like a lump of red flesh, and at last, with a labour of fome hours continuance, fucked up the whole carcafe into its belly.

While it was gorged herewith, and no doubt fatigued with the late toil, Mr Edwin, and his Ceylonese companions, killed it with clubs. Its flesh was whiter than yeal, and had a fine tafte. And indeed, in Brafil; and many other places, ferpents flesh is eaten for food. Leviathan is called a crooked and piercing ferpent, Job xxvi. 13. In the form of a ferpent, perhaps a comely one, and it feems either very fimple or fubtle, Satan feduced our first parents, and for that, as well as his craft, malice, and ruinous influence, is called the old ferpent, Gen. iii. Rev. xx. 2. It is probable, that a more painful motion, and an enmity with mankind, has judicially marked, at least that kind of ferpents in which Satan feduced our first parents, Gen. iii. 14.; and to commemorate his conqueit, Satan has feduced multitudes to worship him under the form, or by means of, ferpents. When, to punish the Hebrews for their contempt of the manna, they were bitten by hery flying ferpents, which we take to have been the hydri, whose bite is mortal if the part is not immediately cut off, God, by the form of a brazen ferpent lifted up on a pole, miraculoufly healed fuch as looked thereat. Did not this prefigure Jefus, affuming the likeness or finful flesh, and being lifted up on the cross, and in the gospel, that we hell-bitten finners, looking to him by faith, may become every whit whole? Numb. xxi. John iii. 14 .-- 16. The brazen ferpent was destroyed by Hezekiah about 800 years after, becaufe idolized, 2 Kings xviii. 4. Saints are charged to be wife as farfarts; they are to put off their old man, and vain converfation; are to be daily renewed in the fpirit of their minds; are to regard the honour of Christ their head, and the fafety of faith and charity. their capital graces; are to avoid hurtful company and influence; and carefully thun every feductive allurement, The Chaldeans, and Matth. x. 16. other wicked men, are represented as ferpents, because of their craft, malice, and ruinous influence, Jer. viii. 17. Matth. xxiii. 33.; and fo they are represented prefented as biting; as having poifon under their tengue, Ge. Serpents and feorpions, are put for things extremely dangerous, Luke x. 19. King Uzziah and Hezekiah are likened to feepears, because they terribly haraffed and defined the Philosophy, If, xiv. 29.

SER SER 403

See Pitter Danson: Liviathan. SERVANT. The Hebrews had ieveral kinds of fervants (1.) Some were naire thives for the, and were fold. or difficient of be their mailers as they thought lit. Such were the drangers bought or taken in war. Lev. xxv. 44. Sec. Such are also called boales, because their matters rigour reaches only to their body, Kev. xviii. † 13. (2.) Tiebrew flaves or Lord-fervants, who could only at the first be bound fix years, and at the end thereof were to be difmiffed with prefer to from their mafter: but their children born during their tervitude continued to be their matters property; but if they declined to go free, their maller, with an awl, bored their car to the door-post, as a token they could not afterwards have their freedom, at least till the year of inhilee. If a mafter freuek a bond-fervant till he died, he was only punished, not condemned to death. If an ox gored to death a bond-fervant, the owner paid 30 fackel: of filver as his price, and the ox was stoned. If a mailer firmek out the eye of a flave, he was to give him his liberty as a compenfation. Maids had no title to a release at the seventh year; but if a mafter had defiled, or he or his fon had betrothed a maid-flave, and not kept her as a wife, the was to have her liberty as a compensation of the injury done her, Exod. xxi. 1 .- 11. 20. 24 26. 27. Deut. xv. 1.—18. The Mahometans take great care to educate their young flaves in their own religion, and often adopt them for their children. But as the Jews enemies fometimes fold their captives for a harlot or a bellyful of wine, Joel iii. 3. fo the Tartars, Turks, and Coffacks, fometimes fell their European and other captives for a crown the head, or for a small quantity of wine and other providens. (3.)

Hired screamts, or hirelings, whose term of fervice, it feems, was ordinarily three full years: and fo a fervaut of fix years was worth a double hired fervant, Job vii. 1. If. avi. 14. Deut. xv. 18. As Lirclings from among the Fleathen did not cut on the passover; to Hebrews of other far lace hined into the family or the pricits, were not allowed to eat of the boly good: but all forcents were to have their wages as form as due, Lev. wix. 13. Did these represent carnal and felial pretenders to the fervice of Chilft, who have no true title to the fea's of the new covenant, or fellowfhip with God; and who here their portion in this prefent line? Mxod. xii. 45. Lev. xxii. 10. (4.) Voluntary tervan;s; fo Joshua was the servant of Mofes; Elifha, of Elijah; and the aposities, of Christ. (5.) Subjects of a prince, especially if reduced to a kind of flavery and bondage, are firvants, 2 Sam. viii. 6. God's fervants are, (1.) Christ, who, in abedience to his will, assumed our nature, fulfilled the law in our flead, and administers the bleffings of the covenant to us, If. xlii. 1. xlix. 3. (2.) Such as are employed in a particular calling in church or state; so Mosfes and Paul, &c. were his fervants, Deut. xxxiv. 5. Rom. i. 1. (3.) Diffinguished instruments of his mercy or wrath; fo Nebuchadnezgar and Cyrus were his fervants, Jer. xxv. g. If. xlv. 1. (4.) The faints, who are froants of obedience, and to righteoufnifs, as being delivered from the flavery of fin and Satan, they obey, ferve, and worthip God in holiness and righteoufnels, Rom. vi. 16. 18. 19. 22. The feresals of men, in an emphatic fense, are fuch as submit to their lusts, 1 Cor. vii. 23. A fervant of fervants, is one debased to the lowest slavery, Gen. ix. 25. Faul became fervant to all; to the Jews, as a Jew; to them who were under the ceremonial law, as under the law; and to them that were not under it, as without law; i.e. he denied himfelf his liberty, and complied with every innocent cufform and infirmity among his hearers, that he might gain them to Christ, 1 Cor. 3 E 2

ix. 19 .- 21. Servants also fignify perfons of a base temper, unfit for government, Eccl. x. 7. To mark the different degrees of freedom under the old and new difpenfations of the covenant of grace, J-with profe fors are reprefented as screants, whose service is carnal and burdenfome; and Christians, as children, whose labour is free, honourable, and eafy, Gil. iv. 3. 7. 22. 31. Wicked men are fervants of fin, as they are under its ruling power, and fulfil its lusts, John viii. 32. SERVICE, is the ferving or obeying of a superior, or being useful as means to answer an end. Service is fourfold: (1.) Civil, as of a fervant fulfilling his mafter's talk of duty laid upon him, Gen. xxix. 29. (3.) Sinful; thus we ferve inward lufts, by yielding to, and acting according to them, Tit. iii. 3. Eph. ii. 3. Religious, when addicted to God's law as our binding rule, we study to act according to it in our office and station, and worship him as our supreme Lord and portion, Josh. xxii. 5. xxiv. This fervice is to be performed in the spirit, Rom. i. 9.; without fervile, but with filial fear of him, Luke i. 74. Pfal. ii. 11.; with gladness, Pfal. c. 2.; and in newoels of life, Rom. vii. 6. (4.) Idolatrous, when one has his heart addicted to creatures, or gives them outward worship, Matth. vi. 24. Rom. i. 25. Eye-fervice, is that which fervants take care to perform when their master is prefent, while they neglect his work when he is abfent, Eph. vi. 6. The old " en advifed Rehoboam to ferve the Hebrews, i. e. to yield a little to their humours, in speaking and acting mildly towards them, I Kings xii. 7 .- Servile work, is what is ordinarily done on labouring days, as plowing, reaping, &c. SERVITUDE, is hard fervice, flavery, Lam. i. 3. Servitor, a fervant, 2 Kings iv. 43.

SERUG, or SARUCH, the fon of Reu or Ragau, and father of Nahor, the grandfather of Abram, Gen. xi. 20 .- 22. It is faid, that he first after the flood fet on foot the idolatrous worship of creatures, and maintained, that fuch mens images as had been remarkably useful might be adored. This introduced the worship of dead men, and by confequence all kinds of idolatry and polytheifm.

SET; (1.) Fix in a place, Gen. i. 17. (2.) To mark out; rear up, Exod. xix. 12. (3.) To appoint, Gen. xli. 33. 41. (4.) To be earnestly bent or inclined to, Exod. xxxii. 12. (5.) To extend, Exed. xxiii. 31. (6.) To march, Numb. ii. 9. To fet the Lord before us, is to regard his authority, live as in his prefence, follow his pattern, truit in him as our affiftant and protector, and endeavour to enjoy him as our portion, Pfal. xvi. 8. To fet a thing before one, is to explain it, to shew it, especially that one may take his choice, Exod. xxi. 1. Deut. xi. 26. To fet forth, is to manifest, Rom. iii. 25.; or preach up, Acts xvii. 18. To fet one's heart to a thing, is diligently to confider it, Exod. vii. 23. Men are fet on fire, when filled with outrageous malice and envy, Pfal. lvii. 4. Mens tongue fetteth on fire the course of nature, and is fet on fire of hell; with its angry, and otherwife mischievous words, it does great hurt, and ftirs up mischief all around, Jam. iii. 8. Jeremiah was fet over the nations, to root out, pull down, and to build and plant them, i. e. to foretell their ruin or deliverance, ler. i. 10.

SETH, or Sheth; (1.) The fon of Adam, born A. M. 131, and father of Enoth; he lived 912 years. For a long time his pofferity followed the true worship and service of God; but at last, mingling with the wicked pofterity of Cain, they brought the flood upon themselves, Gen. iv. 25. 26. v. 3. -8. vi. 1.-4. (2.) A noted person or place in the land of Moab, Numb. xxiv. 17.

SETTLE; (1.) To make stedfast on a proper foundation, I Pet. v. 10. (2.) To mark out; appoint, Pial. lxv. 10. The fettle of the altar, was the projection or jutting out of it, Ezek. xlin. 14.—20.

SEVEN. As from the beginning this was the number of days in the week, it has always had a kind of emphasis annexed to it, and is by fome called a number of perfection. God added feven days to his promifed patience towards the old world: clean beafts were taken into the ark by fevens: the years of plenty and famine in Egypt, and their emblems, were marked by fevens, Gen. vii. xli. With the Jews, not only was there a feventh-day Sabbath, but every fewenth year was a Subbath of rest, and every feven times feventh year was a jubilee. Their great feasts of unleavened bread, and of tabernacles, were observed for feven days; the number of animals in fundry of their oblations, were limited to feven. The golden candleftick had feven branches: feven priests with feven trump: ts furrounded the wall of Jericho feven days, and feven times feven on the feventh. John's New Testament revelations, we find feven churches, feven candletticks, feven Spirits, feven flars, feven feals, feven trumpets, feven thunders, feven vials, feven plagues, and feven angels, to pour them out on the feven-headed monfter Antichrift. Seven oft fignifies a great many, a complete number, Matth. xii. 45. Prov. xxvi. 16. 25. If. iv. 1. I Sam. ii. 5. Jer. xv. 7. Job v. 19. Severfold; is frequently, completely, Lev. xnvi. 24. Plal. lxxix. 12. Gen. iv. 15. 24. Pfal. xii. 6.; and feventy times feven, or feventy times feven times, import very often, Matth. xvii. 21. 22. Thus Christ's feven horns, may denote his great and perfect power; his feven eyes, h's perfect knowledge, Rev. v. 6.; his feven lamps and feven pipes, his fulnefs or revelation and gracious influence, Zech. iv. 2.; his feven pillars, the fulnefs of fundamental truths and promifes, Prov. ix. 1. The Holy Ghost is called feven spirits, seven lamps of fire, to denote his perfect knowledge and divertified gifts and operations, Rev. i. 4. iv. 5. So feven eyes on Christ, denote many, Zech. iii. 9.; feven thunders, many troubles; and fiven flars, many ministers, Rev. x. 3. i. 16.

SEV [405] SHA

SEVERAL; one by itself, 2 Chron. xi. 12. xxvi. 11. Severally; to one by one, I Cor. xii. 11.

SEVERITY; a punishing of evildoers according to the rigour of the law, Rom. xi. 22.

The word rendered SEWED, necessfully fignifies no more than to fix upon, Job vi. 15. Gen. iii. 7.

SHAALBON, or Selbon; a place on the east of Jordan, and gave name to the Caston Selbonitis. Here Eliabba, one of David's mighties, was born, 2 Sam. xxiii. 32.

SHADRACH, MESHACH, and ABEDNEGO, were originally of the princes of Judah, and when very young, were carried captive to Babylon, and there educated for the King's fervice in all the lawful wifdom of the Chaldens. Having by prayer affifted Daniel in the relation and interpretation of the king's dream, they were made governors in the province of Babylon. Dur. i.—iii. See Daniel, and Nebuchadnezzar.

SHADOW; the reprefentation which any folid body, interpoing between the fun or light, and another body, makes of itself. In allusion to this, the ancient ceremonies are called a shadow of good things to come; they were rude draughts, and unfubfrantial refemblances of the future incarnation, obedience, death, refurrection, and glory, and bleffings of Jefus Christ; and of the form and state of his church, Heb. x. 1. As a thadow follows the fun or interpoling body, and is perpetually varying, till at laft, perhaps of a fudden, it come to an end, we and our days are likened to a /hadow, to mark how unfubstantial our mortal appearances are, how transient our life, and fudden our death, I Chron. xxix. 15. Job xiv. 3. xvii. 7. As darkness and gloominess attend shadows, so terrible darknefs, trouble, or death, are called a fhadow of death, Job iii. 5. xvi. 16. xxiv. 17. Plal. xxiii. 4. As in warm countries it is very agreeable to be thaded from the feorehing heat of the fun, so government, protection, and refreshful influence, are called a shadow, Lam. iv. 20. Ezek. xxxi. 6. Song ii. 3. Pfal. xei. 1. lxiii. 7. Christ and his Father are a skadow, because they goSHA T 406 7 SHA wern, protect, and refresh persons and churches, If. iv. 6. xxv. 4. xxxii. 2. Make your shadow as the night in the midst of noon; in the Jews troubles, protect and conceal them, ye Moabites, to the utinost of your power, If. xvi. 3. The evening, or time when fluadows abound, is called the fladow, Job vii 2. The figns of approaching defolation and ruin, are called shadows of the evening, Jer. vi. 4. The fladows flee arway, when Old-Testament ceremonies are abolished; and at last all corruptions, troubles, and even inflituted ordinances, give place to the day of everlitting glory, Song ii. 17. Shadrev alfo is put for any small appearance of a thing, James i. 17. Shady, or shadowing, is what casts a shadow over, Job xl. 21. or covering, Heb. ix. 5.

SHAFT; (1.) That part of the golden candlestick from whence the seven branches proceeded; and which might represent the person of Christ, from whence all diversified illuminations in every church do proceed, Exod. xxv. 31. (2.) An arrow. Christ is a polished shaft; fully qualified to execute every saving office, and sulfil every divine purpose of grace, Is. xlix. 2.

SHAHARAIM; a descendant of Benjamin, who, it seems, either sojourned in or governed the country of Moab. By his wives, Hushim and Hodesh, he had a very numerous posterity, who distinguished themselves in the building and peopling of Lod or Lydda, Ono, and Aijalon; from the last of which they drove the Philistines of Gath, and after the captivity dwelt partly at Jerusalem, 1 Chron. viii. 8.—28.

SHALEM, SHALIM; fee SALEM; not Jerufalem, Gen. xxxiii. 18. 1 Sam. ix. 4.

SHAKE: fo leaves of a tree are shaken with the wind. The staking of the heavens and the earth, or of the soundations of the earth, or of the nations or isles, denotes great revolutions and distress, Heb. xii. 26. Is. xxiii. 13. Hag. ii. 6. 21. xxiv. 18. Matth. xxiv. 29. Rev. vi. 13. Ezek. xxxviii. 19. A nation is as the staking of the clive-tree, when they are distressed with repeated calamities till few be left, If. xxxiv. 13, The shaking of dry bones, in order to come one to another, may import the tremulous activity of the captive Jews, to prepare for a return to their own land from Babylon, and the trembling excreife of finners under the begun operations of God's Spirit, Ezek. xxxvii. 7. The things funken were removed, that the things which cannot be shaken might remain, when the Jewish state and ceremonies were overturned, that the unchangeable person, office, and mediation of Christ might appear, Heb. xii. 27. To shake one's felf, is to begin to be active, particularly in attempting to obtain deliverance, If. lii. 2. Shaking of bands, imports threatening of ruin, or eafy accomplishment of it, If. x. g2. Zech. ii. 9. To Shake the hand from bolding of criles, is to be free from receiving them, and to refuse and deteil them, Il. xxxiii. 15. See dust; head.

SHALLUM, or SHILLEM; (1.) A fon of Naphtali, and father of the Shillemites, I Chron. vii. 13. Numb. xxvi. 49. (2.) The fon of Jabesh, a king of Israel, who murdered King Zachariah, and almost all the family of Johu, and after a month was murdered by Monahem, 2 Kings xv. 10.—12.

See JEHOAHAZ.

SHALMAN, or SHALMANESER, king of Allyria, and probably the fame as Enemessar, we suppose to have been the fon, as well as the fuccessor of Tiglath-pilefer. He began his reign about $A.\ M.$ 3276, and reigned twelve or fourteen years. He subdued the kingdom of Ifrael, and obliged Hofnea, their king, to pay tribute. Informed, about three years after, that Hoshea had concerted measures with the king of Egypt to render himself free, he marched a powerful army into the land of Ifrael, took and ravaged the fenced cities, and murdered the inhabitants in the most inhuman manner. After three years fiege, he took Samaria the capital, and Hoshea, and transported most of the people to Media, and other eastern parts of his empire; but if we may credit the history of Tobit, he was not unfavourable to the captives, 2 Kings

 ΣVII

SHA [407] SHA

twii. 1.—10. Hof. x. 14. Invited by the men of Gath, he commenced a war against the Tyrians, and after besieging their capital sive years, died without taking it, and was succeeded by Sennacherib.

SHAMBLES; the floth-market, 1 Cor. x. 25.

SHAME; (1.) That affection which proceeds from an inward apprehension of guilt, duhonelly, or filthinefs. In the flate of innocency, there was no thame, nor any occasion for it, Gen. ii. 25. (2.) Trouble and perplexity of mind, on account of guilt and difappointment, Ezra ix. 6. Rem. si. 21. v. 5. (3.) Derifion, contempt, harafliment, Ezek. xxxvi. 6. (4.) What is thameful; as an idol, whose worthip was abominable, and tends to bring its practifers to shame. Hof. iv. 10.; or those parts of the body which modesty requires to be covered, If. xx. 4.; or feandalous corruptions, of which men ought to be assamed, Jude 12.; or difgrace, dishonour, Prov. ix. 7.; or a base and disgraceful condition, Is. alvii. 3. The Thame of finners nakednefs, is their abominable guilt and corsuption, Rev. iii. 18. When pride cometh, then cometh shame of others, and at last shame to the proud person, Prov. xi. 2. To shame, or put to shame, is to render one's condition difgraceful, and to fill them with shame, Pfal. xliv. 7. 2 Sam. xix. 5. (2.) To make tranf-greffors bluth at their conduct, by challifing and reproving them for it, Judg. xviii. v. (3.) To mock at, Prov. xiii. C. Shamefacedness, is an agraeable modefly, whereby one bebares in a grave and decent manner, ready to blush at the smallest approach to any thing obscene, 1 Tim. ii. 9.

SHAMGAR, the fon of Anath, and third judge of Hrael. The Philitines having invaded his country, he flew 600 of them with an ox-goad, Judg. iii. 31.

SHAMMAH, the fon of Ages the Hararite, the third of David's mighties. Along with Elever the fon of Dedo, he routed the Philithnes on a numbers of them. They two breaking through the host of the Philistines, to-gether with Jathobeam, brought David water from the well of Bethlehem. 2 Sam. xxiii. 11.—17. Two others of David's worthies were called Shammah; the one a Harodite, the other a Hararite, 2 Sam. xxiii. 25, 33.

SHAPHAN. See Josiah. . . . SHARON, Saron; the name of feveral delightful spot: in Canaan; the sirst lay between Cesurea and Joppa, on the west of the promised land, Acts ix. 35. A second lay between Tabor and the sea of Tiberias; this was perhaps but a continuation of the other. A third lay on the east of Jordan, 1 Chron. v. 16. Sharon was noted for its excellent roses, and passure for slocks, Song ii. 1. It is made an emblem of a fruitful country, Is. xxxiii. 9. and of the church of Christ, fruitful in the beauties of holiness, and abounding with Jesus's spiritual slocks, Is. xxxv. 2. lxv. 10.

SHARP; (1.) Fit, eafily to cut, or penetrate into matter, If. v. 24. Psal. lii. 2. (2.) What is very powerful and piercing, If. xlix. 2. Pfal. xlv. 5. (3.) Vehement and eager, Acts xv. 39. (4.) Very pernicious and hurtful, Pfal. lvii. 5. Prov. v. 4. To SHARPENS make sharp. Men sharpen their tongues like ferpents, when they flander in a malicious and outrageous manner, Pfal. exl. 3. They sharpen their eye upon one. when they look at him in a malicious and contemptuous manner, Job xvi. 9. We Sharpen a friend, when we flir him up, and render him more qualified for action, Prov. xxvii. 17. SHARPLY; (1.) Angrily, vehemently, Judg. viii. (2.) In a cutting and convincing manner, Tit. i. 13. SHARPNESS, very cutting admonitions and centures, 2 Cor. ziii. 10.

SHAVE. See BEARD, HAIR.

SHAVEH, denotes a valley or dale, fuch as that belonging to the kings of Salem, and that of Kirjathaim, Gen. xiv. 5, 17.

SHAUSHA, or Seraiah, one of David's feribes, 1 Chron. xviii. 16.

2 Sam. viii. 17.

SHEAF,

SHE [498] SHE

SHEAF; a bundle of corn. To take the sheaf from the hungry, is to deprive the poor of their just and necessary provision, Job xxiv. 10. To bring home sheaves, is to enjoy the happy fruit of one's labour, Psal. exxvi. 6. See FEAST of unleavened bread.

SHEARD; (1.) A piece of a broken potter's vessel, E od. xxiii. 34. (2.) A small remnant, si. xxx. 14.

SHEAR; To cut of hair, 1 Cor. xi. 6.; but particularly to take off the wool of fheep. In China they fhear their fheep thrice a-year. The Jews used to hear them in June or July, and had houses for that purpose, and a feaft on occasion thereof, 2 Kings x. 12. t Sam. xxv. 4.—11. xiii. 23. 24. SHEATH, or feabbard, the case or covering of a fword, I Sam. xvii. 51.

SHEBA, or SEBA, the fon of Cush, who also gave name to a country in Arabia, or Abyffinia, Gen. x. 7. Pfal. Ixxii. 10. If. xliii. 3. (2.) Sheba the fon of Raamah, and grandfon of Cush, Gen. x. 7. (3.) The fon of Joktan, Gen. x. 28. (4.) The Son of Jokshan, and grandson of Abraham, Gen. xxv. 3. All these feem to have taken up their refide ce in Arabia, and perhaps most of them in the fouth part of it. One or more of these Shebas gave name to a country, whose queen came to vifit Solomon, and brought him large prefents of gold, fpices, and precious flones; but where this Sheba was fituated, whether in Arabia the Happy, or in Abyilinia, is not agreed. It is certain that both of them lie fouthward of Canaan; and as Arabia was bounded with the ocean, and Abyssinia was then the fourbmost known country, both may be called the uttermost ends of the earth. Spices, gold, and precious flones, were produced, or might eafily be had in both. In Abyffinia, their language, and their ancient, nay, their present religion, are not a little fimilar to the Jewish; and they pretend to give us an account of a queen of theirs, who vifited Solomon, and had by him a fon, whose posterity continued on their throne 1930 years, if they do not fo still, 1

Kings x. Matth. xii. 42. Luke xi. 3r. The inhabitants of Sheba traded with the Tyria is in fpices, precious stones, and gold, Erck. xxvii. 22. I suppose there were one or more Shebas in A_{ullet} rabia, and another in Abyssinia; but it is more certain, that the men of Sheba and Seba, were in the primitive ages of Christianity, and shall in the Millennium, be turned to the Lord, Pfal. lxxii. 10. 15. If. lx. 6. doubt, the Sabeans were the offspring of some of the above-mentioned Snebas or Seba. We find one tribe of them in Arabia the D-fert, near the land of Uz, who carried off Job's cattle, Job i. 15. and to whom the Jews fold the Tyrian flaves which they bought from Alexander's troops, Joel iii. 8. They were compared by Cyrus, If. xlv. 14.

SHEBA, the fon of Bichri, who decoyed cleven of the Hebrew tribes into a revolt from King David immediately after the death of Abfalom; but Joab following him at the heels with an army, his partizans were foon feattered, and the inhabitants of Abel-bethmaachah, whither he fled, cut off his head, and delivered it to Joab, who thereon raifed his flege of the place, z Sam. xx.

SHEBA, the name of a well or city, is the fame as Beersheba, Gen. xxvi. 33. Josh. xix. 2. where the text should be read Beersheba, or Sheba, and then we have just 13 cities, as is faid ver. 6.

SHEBAM. See SIBMAH.

SHEBARIM, a place near Ai, Joh. vii. 5.

SHEBNAH, a treasurer and secretary to King Hezekiah. He was one of those, who, along with Eliakim, were sent to hear Seanacherib's proposals. He was extremely proud, assessing the most sumptuous buildings. He had prepared himself a magnificent sepulcher, but being carried into captivity, either by Seanacherib or by Esarhaddon, he died in a miserable exile, 2 Kings xviii. 18. If. xxii. 15.—20.

SHECHEM, SICHEM, or SYCHEM, a fon of Hamor the Canaanite, and prince of Shechem, Sychem, or Sychar, who,

who, by defiling of Dinah the daughter of Jacob, and in order to have her in marriage, confenting that he and all the males of his city thould be circumcifed, occasioned the death of hindelf, his father, and all the inhabitants of the city, Gen. XXXIV. See Ixcob. The city called by his name flood on mount Ephraim, about 10 miles north from Shiloh, and 30, or rather, according to Reland, 35 north of Jerufalem. Near this place Jacob bought a piece of ground, and had it afterwards to recover by force from the Canaanites. This he bequeathed to Joseph, who was long after buried in it, Gen. xxxiii. 19. xlix. 22. Acts vii. 16. Joh. xxiv. 32. It fell to the tribe of Ephraim, and was given to the Levites, and was a city of refuge; and here Joshua, just before his death, convened the Hebrews to give them a folemn charge, Josh. xx. 7. xxiv. The inhabitants hereof, along with the family of Millo, fet up Asimplech the baftard of Gideon for king; but in about three years after, he rewarded them with the murder of the inhabitants, and the total ruin of their city, Judg. ix. It was, however, rebut ; and here Rehoboam was rejected, and Jeroboam was made king of the ten tribes. He further repaired it, and, it feems, made it his capital for a time, 1 Kings xii. 1.—25. Long after, the Samaritans made it their capital, and on account of their drunkenness, it was called Sychar. About A. M. 3870, Hircanus king of the Jews took, and pillaged and razed it. It was rebuilt by Vefpafian about 40 years after Chrill's death, and called Flavia and Meapolis, or the new city. At prefent it is called Naploufe, and is the capital of a finall government under the Turks; and here the remaining Samaritans chiefly refide. Near to this place was Jacob's well, where our Saviour converted the harlot, and over which fuperstition erected a church, that was danding about 900 years ago, John iv. SHED. See POUR.

SHEEP; a most cleanly, patient, harmless, useful, and exposed kind of

Vol. II.

brutes. Anciently the great wealth, even of kings and princes, lay in sheep, goats, &c. 2 Kings iii. 4. And it still doth, among the Turkmans, Arabs, and others. Chardin fays, that he faw a clan of Turkmans near Aleppo, which had 400,000 camels, horfes, affes, oxen, and cows, and 3,000,000 of sheep and goats with them. Their two once powerful families had their names from the white or black colour of their prodigious flocks of sheep. It seems, that when the original family divided their flock, one had taken all the white, and the other all the black sheep, even as Jacob took the brown among the sheep for his share of wages. In some countries, their tails are faid to be very large, and all covered with fat. In Madagafear, these tails sometimes weigh about 16 pounds. In Arabia and Syria, some of them are three cubits long, and weigh about 25 or 30 pounds; and, it is faid, have little boards below them, left, by trailing along the ground, they should become ulcerated. Kinson says, there are fome in Tartary, whose tails weigh 80 pounds: but I can hardly believe all this. Rams are the uncaftrated he-sheep, which are strong, and violent fighters. In Mcfopotamia, Italy, &c. the ewes bring forth their LAMBS twice a-year. All the sheep offered in the ancient facrifice, reprefented Christ. He and his people are likened to skeep and lambs, to mark their innocence, patience, harmleffnefs, ufefulnefs, and exposure to manifold troubles and enemics, If. liii. 7. John x. 1 .- 26. xxi. 15 .-- 17. Christ is God's Lamb, whom he provided, and the facrifice of whom fully fatisfied his offended juffice, John i. 29. Men in general are compared to sheep and lambs, to denote their flupidity, their weaknefs, exposure to danger, and need of government, I Kings xxii. 17. Hof. iv. 16. If. lx. 7.; or for their innocency and harmleffness at to a particular fin, 2 Sam. xxiv. 17. Sinners are likened to theep, to mark their unthoughtfulnefe, their readinefs to wander, their expolure to ruin, their inability to defend or recover themselves, and their need to be faved, led, and 2 F nourished by Jesus the great Shepherd, Pfal. xlix. 14. Is. liii. 6. 1 Pet. ii. 25. Luke xv. 4.-6. The rams, goats, and lambs, denote the various classes of people in a country; great and powerful, or poor and weak, and lets or more innocent, If. xxxiv. 6. 7. lx. 7. Ezek. xxxiv. 17. xxxix. 18. Darius, and his two kingdoms of Perfin and Media, are likened to a two-horned ram, pushing its conquests northward, westward, and fouthward, but destroyed by the Wives are Greeks, Dan. viii. 3.—7. likened to lambs, because pleasant, comely, and tractable, 2 Sam. xii. 3. 4. Antichrift is likened to a lamb with two horns; he usurps the place of Christ our great facrifice; he pretends to great humility, holinefs, and ufefulnefs, and claims a twofold power, civil and ecclefiastic, Rev. xiii. 11.

SHE | 410 | SHE

Battering-rams were instruments of war, anciently used for making breaches in walls. They were huge beams like the masts of ships, caped with an iron head, fomewhat like a ram's. ing hung by ropes to another crofsbeam supported on poles, and equally balanced, a number of men thrust it backward and forward, and fo beat the wall with its iron head, till they made a breach in it. The workers of the ram were meanwhile covered with a: vinea, to protect them from the arrows of the besieged, or the slones thrown by them. They afterwards had battering-rams that run on wheels. Whether these rams were invented by Epæus the Greek at the flege of Troy, or by the Carthaginians at the fiege of Cadiz, we know not. It is certain that no author before Ezekiel mentions them, Ezek. iv. 2. xxi. 22.

SHEET. Probably the Jews used linen-sheets in the same manner our country people do plaids and mads, Judg. xiv. 12. 13. Mark xiv. 15. The sheet full of all kinds of beasts, thrice let down from heaven, and then taken up for good and all, which Peter saw in his vision, might represent the Christian church as constituted of all nations, Jews and Gentiles, thrice eminently enlarged, in the apostolic age, in Con-stantine's time, and then in the Millernium, and at last received up into heaven, Acts x. 11.—16.

SHEKEL; a weight among the Hebrews, but its precise heaviness is not agreed on; and so some make its value in filver to be half-a-crown, others three shillings: But we, with Dr Arbuthuot, reckon it in weight nine penny-weight and twenty-four grains Troy; and its value in filver two shillings three pence and one and an half farthing; and in gold one pound sixteen shillings and fixpence.

SHEM, or SEM, the fecond fon of Noah, born A. M. 1558. To reward his filial duty, in affifting his brother Japheth in the covering of his father's nakedness, he had his father's fignal blefling, which imported, that in his posterity the church of God should long remain, and Canaan should be his fervant; but at last the posterity of Japheth should dwell in his tents. By his fons Elam, Ashur, Arphaxad. Lub, and Aram, he peopled most of the fouth part of Asia, and the isles adjacent. In Shem's posterity, especially the Hebrew nation, the church almost wholly continued for about 2000 years before Christ; fince which, multitudes of the posterity of Japheth are entered into it. See Canaan, and Jaрнети. Perhaps Shem was the Pluto or Typhon of the Heathen; and from him the city Zama, near the head of the Tigris, feems to have had its name.

SHEMAIAH. See REHOBOAM, JEREMIAH, NEHEMIAH. There are about 18 of this name in feripture.

SHEMINITH; a musical inflrument of eight flrings; but others think it was a certain musical air, Pfal. vi. xii. title. 1 Chron. xxv. 21.

SHEPHAM, a city on the fouth of Syria, perhaps the fame as Apamea, Numb. xxxiv. 10. 11.

SHEPHERD. See PASTOR.

SHERIFF. We cannot fay that the TIPTAYE had the fame kind of power in the Chaldean kingdom that our fheriffs have, Dan. iii. 2.

SHESHACH; a name given to Babylon. It was probably derived from one of their idols, which might be the fame as the moon, and to which they observed their Saccan feasts, much in the manner of the Roman Saturnalia, in revelling, drunkenness, and all manner of debauchery, Jer. xxv. 26. li. 41.

SHE [411] SHI

SHESHEAZZAR. See ZERUB-

BASEL.

SHETHAR-BOZNAI. See Sa-

SHEW; (1.) To make known; to fet a thing as before one's eyes, Exod. is. 16. (2.) To bellow; effect towards, Pfal. exii. 5. A shew is an appearance, Pfal. xxxix, 6. Christ made a show of principalities and powers openly on his crofs: he openly triumphed over evil fpirits, as conquered by him, even as conquerors did over those they had conquered, leading them along by their chariot, Col. ii. 15. To make a fair shew in the flesh, is to make a specious appearance in opposing the truth, and, in conformity to the Jews, in order to avoid perfecution, Gal. vi. 12.

SHIBBOLETH. See EPHRAIM. SHIELD. See BUCKLER.

SHIGGAION, or SHIGGIONOTH, either denotes a mufical inftrument, or a tune, whose notes were exceedingly divertified, and perhaps also, that these songs varied in their matter from one opposite to another; as from deep forrow, to exultation and triumph, Pfal. vii. title. Hab. iii. J.

SHIHON, or SEON; a city of the tribe of Islachar, near the foot of mount Tabor; and which was of some note about A. D. 330.

SHILOAH, or SILOAM, is faid to have been the fame as the Gihon, and to have had its fpring on the west of the city. It is faid to have had two pools; the pool of Siloam, near the south-cast of the temple, and the pool of Shelah or Siloah, somewhere to the westward, Neh. iii. 15. Sometimes the stream of Shiloah is said to be on the south of the city, and yet in the Talmud mention is made of Shiloah in the midst of the city. I am apt to think that the water that came from sountains near the same place for ordinary ran partly through the city eastward, and partly along the fouth fide of it, and met near the pool of Siloam, where our Saviour healed the blind man, John ix. The family of David in their weak condition, and Jefus in his humiliation, and his Spirit and grace, are likened to the foft-flowing waters of Siloah, If. viii. 6. Pfal. xlvi. 4.

SHILOH; 1. A name of the Mel-Some, by a mistake of the last letter, render it fent. Some render it his fon; others, he to whom it, viz. the kingdom, belongs. Le Clerk foolishly enough renders it the end; and makes the passage run thus: " The sceptre shall not depart from Judah—till the end " of it come," i. e. it shall not depart till it depart. Gouffet explains it of the Messiah, as a wearied sufferer. But as the word comes from SHALAH, which figuifies quietness, Job iii. 26. and profperity, Pfal. exxii. 6. 7. it is most properly rendered, The prosperous Author of falvation and rest: and the whole text might run thus, The power of government shall not depart from Judah, nor a judge from among his descendants, till the prosperous Saviour come, and to him the gathering and obedience of the Gentiles be, Gen. xlix. 10. The accomplishment of this prediction is evident. Nothing is more plain, than that the offspring of Judah preferved their diffinct existence as a tribe, together with a power of government and judging of causes, till Jefus came in the flesh. The tribe of Judah were most numerous when they came out of Egypt; they led the van in the wildernels; they were divinely ordered to make the first attack on the remaining Canaanites, Judg. i. 1. 2.; and against the Benjamites at Gibeah, Judg. xx. 18. Othniel, the first of the judges, was of this tribe, Judg. iii. 9. Long the family of David, who belonged to this tribe, had the royal power. Even under the Chaldeans and Perfians, Jehoiakin, Zerubbabel, and Nehemiah, all of this tribe, held a superiority; 2 Kings xxv. Ezra i.—vi. Neh. i.—xiii. For about 160 years before Christ, the Maccabean priests, and the family of Herod, ruled over the Jews, both of which were in a manner incorporated with the tribe of Judah; and befides, the fanhedrim of Jewish elders had much power in their hand .- Not long after our Saviour's incarnation, Judea was reduced to a Roman province. Not long had the Gentiles begun to gather to, and obey him, when the Tewish church and state were quite overturned, and the diffinction of tribes for ever finished, the genealogies being It is true, they pretend fince to have had heads of their captivity; but where is their evidence! or where is the nation wherein they have authority from their tyrannic malters, to judge and determine in any important point? If they cannot produce tokens of power for 1700 years past, the Messiah must certainly be come, and Jefus of Nazareth be the person.

2. Shiloh; a famous city of the tribe of Ephraim, about 10 miles fouth of Shechem, and 25 north of Jerufalem. Here Joshua divided the Western Canaan to the nine tribes and a half; and here he fixed the tabernacle of God; and here it continued about 310 years, if not 350. After the Philiftines carried off the ark, it was never returned to Shiloh; and the place gradually dwindled away, till its ruinous coudition became a proverb, and a pattern of defolation, Josh. xviii. Psal. kxviii. 60. Jer. vii. 12. 14. xx /i. 6. 9. inhabitants of it are perhaps called Shilonites, 1 Chron. ix. 5. At least Ahijah the prophet was one, I Kings

SHIMEI, the fon of Gera, a Benjamite, and a kinfman of Saul. When David, in a most mournful condition, sled from Jerusalem for fear of Absalom, Shimei met him at Bahurim, and bitterly cursed him as a murderer and wicked monster, and threw stones at him. David would not suffer him to be killed for his insolence. After Absalom's death, Shimei, with 1000 men of his tribe, came with the first, particularly of the three tribes of the camp

xiv. 2. So many of their daughters, as they danced in their vineyards, were feized by the remaining 200 men of the Benjamites, Judg. xxi.

of Ephraim, to welcome David home to his capital. He confessed his crime. and begged forgiveness. Notwithftanding of Abidhai's pleading, David gave Shimei his oath, that he would spare his life, and never put him to death: 2 Sam. xvi. 5 .-- 11. xix. 16.-23. But as it was dangerous to let fuch an affront of royal majesty go unpunished, David, on his death-bed, charged Solomon to refent it as he thought proper. In full confiltency with his father's oath, Solomon ordered Shimei, under pain of death, not to go without the limits of Jerusalem. Shimei was content with the restriction. About three years after, fome of his flaves fled off and took shelter with Achish king of Gath. Informed hereof, Shimei went after them, brought them back to Jerufalem. lomon having heard of it, called Shimei before him, and after convicting him of his wickedness, ordered Benaiah to dispatch him with his fword, I Kings ii. 36.—45.

SHINAR; the province of Babylon, where the famed tower was built. It was probably so called, because thence the Lord shook out, or dispersed the nations, Gen. xi. 2. Dan. i. 2. In this country, we find the mountains Zagrai, or Singares, and the city and river of Singara. Shinar may not only mean Babylonia, but the whole countries whither the Jews have been for many ages dispersed, and whence they shall be brought back at last, Zech. v

11. If. xi. 11.

SHINE; to appear bright as the fun in a clear day, Job xxxi. 26. God [hines forth, when he manifests his glorious excellencies and confers his favours, Pfal. l. 2. lxxx. 1. cxix. 135. His gospel or truths /bine, when they are clearly published and powerfully applied, If. ix. 2. 2 Pet. i. 19. Men shine, when they appear clearly to be found in doctrine, holy in practice, and abound in outward honour and power, Matth. v. 15. 16. Job xi. 17. Dan. xii. 3. The light or candle of prosperity shines on men, when they enjoy much of it, Job xxii. 28. xxix. 3% SHIPHRA

SHI [413] SHI

SHIPHRA and PUAH, were two noted midwives in the land of Gothen; but whether they were Hebrews or Egyptians, we know not. To prevent the increase of the Hraclites, Pharaoh fent for them, and charged them to tlifle in the birth all the Hebrew male children. They neglected to obey his orders. He fent for them again, and expostulated with them. They told him, that the Hebrew women were not like the Egyptians, but could, and oft did bring forth their infants without help of midwives. Possibly there might be a great deal of truth in this. whatever falfehood was in their speech, God did not reward it; but he rewarded their fear of him, and their love to the Hebrews, and he built them houses, that is, he rewarded them with numerous and profperous families. Calmet thinks, it was not the houses of the midwives, but of the Hebrews, that God built up, Exod. i. 15.—19.

SHIPS. Probably Noah's ark gave the first origin to shipping. The tribes of Zebulun and Dan appear to have early begun a fea-trade, Gen. xlix. 13. Judg. v. 17. Solomon, and after him Jehoshaphat, set on foot a considerable trade by shipping, I Kings x. xxii. The Trojans were early powerful at fca; but the Tyrians and Sidonians for many ages were much more fo. Nor were their colony at Carthage inferior in shipping. The Greeks, both in Atia and Europe, were also in their turn famous by fea; particularly those of Miletus, Rhodes, Athens, Sicily; and the Alexandrians in Egypt. the Saracens had ruined the Grecian lea-trade, the Venetians, Pifans, and Genoese in Italy, became famous in that way. About 280 years ago, the Spani rds and Portuguefe, by pushing their African, Indian, and American discoveries, engrossed much of the seatrade: but at present the English and Dutch cut the greatest sigure at Some of the ancient ships were enormoufly big. Ptolemy Philadelphus king of Egypt, had one of a stupendous magnitude and form prefented to him by Hiero king of Syracufe. Ptolemy Philopater had one of 280 cubits long, 38 broad, and 48 high, and capable to flow 3800 men. Ships of Tar-/hi/h, are put for the merchants and mariners concerned in them, Ifa. xxiii. 14.; and for the glory and strength of God's enemies, Ifa. ii. 16. Pfal. xlviii. 7. The Chaldeans cried in the Ships, when busied in their trade, on the river Euphrates; and when hasting to flee away from Cyrus, as he took the city, and the water of the river was diverted, If. xliii. 14. The church is likened to a tolled thip, to denote her troubled and unfettled condition in this world, If. liv. 11. The Affyrian kingdom is likened to a ship, whereof the king was the mast, the princes and rulers the tacklings, and the common people and army the fail, If. xxxiii. 22. 24. The third part of ships destroyed under the fecond trumpet, may denote, the ships, islands, and maritime cities destroyed by the Goths and Huns, about the end of the 4th, and beginning of the 5th century of Christianity; and the corruption of multitudes of useful ministers in the church, troubled by the Arians and other heretics, Rev. viii. q. Mens life is likened to fwift ships, or ships of pleasure; how quickly it hastens to an end! Job ix. 26. SHIPWRECK, is the loss of a ship and its loading, by florms, rocks, or the like. Men make shipwreck of faith and a good conscience, when, to the wounding of their conscience, they apostatize from the love, profession, or practice of divine truths which they once believed, I Tim. i. 19.

SHISHAK, king of Egypt, and, we fuppofe, brother-in-law to King Solomon. We, with Sir Ifaac Newton, believe him the fame as Sefoftris, Bacchus, Ofiris, and the Egyptian Hercules, and perhaps the Belus of the Chaldeans, and Mars, or Mavors of the Thracians. Offended with Solomon, perhaps for dishonouring his fifter, by his infatiable lust after new wives, he protected Jeroboam, when a fugitive in Egypt. After enlarging his kingdom to the west, perhaps to the ocean, he turned his arms against

Afia,

SHI [414] SHO

Afia, with 1200 chariots of war, 60,000 horsemen, and an innumerable multitude of Egyptians, Lubims, Lukiims, and Cushims; he invaded the kingdom of Judah, took Jerusalem, and carried off the riches of the palace and temple: but he does not appear to have distressed the kingdom of Israel, because perhaps Jeroboam was his ally. After ravaging Asia, from the north of India to the Black fea, he croffed over into Greece, and was there routed by Perfeus; or perhaps rather obliged to hasten home to chastise his brother Danaus, who being left governor of Egypt had affumed the royalty. On his return, Danaus was forced to flee, and failed to Greece, and was there celebrated by the names of Neptune, Python, Typhon; if not also Japetus. In his arrogancy, Shifhak is faid to have caused his captive kings draw his chariot, till one day he obferved one of them in his draught, keep his eye steadily fixed on the wheel; and being asked the reason, said, that he took the turning of the wheel to fuggest, how quickly those in high station would be brought low, and those in low stations be exalted. This speech affected Shifhak, and indeed was verified in his case; for not long after his death, his empire fell to pieces, and the Ethiopians or Cushims were masters of Egypt, 2 Chron. xii. I Kings SHITTIM-WOOD; a kind of timber very valuable, and much used by Mofes in the formation of the tabernacle and its furniture. Jerome reprefents it as fimilar to the white thorn. It is most like to have been the black Acacia, which is faid to be the only tree that grows in the Arabian defert. Its wood is fmooth, beautiful, tough, hard, and almost incorruptible. used in the tabernacle, it might denote the excellency and durableness of Christ's manhood, and the strength and beauty of his true faints. It was probably from the plenty of this wood growing there, that a place on the east of Jordan was called Shittim, and where the Hebrews encamped a confiderable time, Numb. xxv. 1. Mic. vi. 5. Josh. ii. 1. In Joel iii. 18. it may represent the dry, barren Gentile world, watered by the word and Spirit of Christ.

To be broken to SHIVERS, or very fmall pieces, is to be utterly ruined, Rev. ii. 27.

SHOBACH, or Shophach. Sec Hadadezer.

SHOBI. See NAHASH.

SHOCK; sheaves of corn set up in the field for winnowing. One comes to his grave as a shock of corn, in his season, when, being well prepared for death, he dies in a good old age, Job v. 26.

SHOE. Among the Hebrews flaves went barefooted: others generally had their feet and legs covered when they went abroad; and their women of quality had thefe parts covered with materials very rich and beautiful, Song vii. 1. Ezek. xvi. 10.; but it feems their shoes were ordinarily of no great value, and fo a pair of shoes denote a very inconfiderable bribe, Amos ii. 6. Probably their foldiers often wore shoes of iron and brafs; and to this day, many of the eaftern people wear iron plates on the heels and the fore-fole of their shoes: but Asher's shoes being of iron and brass, may denote the abundance of these metals in their territory, and their strength to conquer and crush their enemies, Deut. xxxiii. 25. The Hebrews eating of the first passover with their shoes on, loins girded, and flaff in their hand, imported that they were immediately after to begin their journey, Exod. xii. 11. Putting off shoes, imported reverence of the presence of God, Exod. iii. 5-Josh. v. 5. Want of shoes, imported mourning, debasement, and slavery, 2 Sam. xv. 30. Ezek. xxiv. 17. If. xx. 2. 4. The plucking off a shoe and giving it to another, imported relignation of right to him, Ruth iv. 7. But a widow's loofing the shoe from his foot who refused to marry her, and raise up feed to his deceafed brother, imported that he deferved to be treated as a flave, and base person. Deut. xxv. 9.

SHO SHU

To bear or unloofe one's shoes, imports doing him the meanest offices, Matth. iii. 11. Luke iii. 16. David cast bis Shoe over Edom, when he took poffeffion of the country, and used the people as flaves, Pfal. ls. 8. cviii. 9. faints have their feet beautiful with fhoes, have shoes of badgers skins, and are shod with the preparation of the gospel of peace, when by the truths of the gofpel, their fouls are made free, are enabled, and difpofed to, and ready in all holy obedience, Song vii. 1. Ezek. avi. 10. Eph. vi. 15.

SHOOT; (1.) To move quickly, Exod. xxxvi. 33. (2.) To launch arrows from a bow, 2 Kings xiii. 17. (3.) To fprout; grow up as corn, Job viii. 16. If. xxvii. 3. God shoots at men, when he fuddenly deftroys them, Pfal. cxliv. 6. lxiv. 7. finout at the faints, when they opprefs and perfecute them, Pfal. xi. 2. lxiv. 3.4.

SHOPHAN or ZAPHON, a city of the Gadites, a little eastward of the fea of Tiberias, Numb. xxxii. 35. Josh.

XIII. 27.

SHORE; the bank of land at the fide of a fea or river, Matth. xiii. 2.

SHORT; (1.) Of final length and duration, Job xx. 5. Job's light or prosperity seemed short, because of the darkness, the fore trouble, that followed it, Job xvii. 12. (2.) Of fmall power and ability, Numb. xi. 23. Shortnefs of spirit, imports grief; vexation, Exod. vi. o. To come foort, is not to obtain, Rom. iii. 23. To cut Short, is to destroy; consume, 2 Kings x. 32. For the preservation of the elect among and in the loins of the Jews, the days or time of the Roman ravages were shortened, Matth. xxiv. 22. The feventh head of the Roman government continued but for a short space. The Christian emperors there continued but about 160 years, till A. D. 476. The kingdom of the Offrogoths continued about 60 years, till 553: the exarchs of Ravenna continued about 160 years, till 727, when the city fell under the power of the Pope, Rev. xvii. 10.

SHOULDER; (1.) A part of the animal body fit for bearing of bursa Hence burdens on the shoulder import labour, fervitude, oppression, Gen. xlix. 15. If. ix. 4. x. 27. Pfal. lxxxi. 6. To ferve with one shoulder, is to do it with one confent, Zeph. iii. 9. To pull away the shoulder, is rebelliously to refuse subjection to God's law, as an unruly beaft refuses to draw in a yoke, Neh. ix. 27. Zech. vii. 11. To be carried on the floulder, is to be earried honourably, as royal perfons, If. xlix. 22. (2.) Ability to execute an office. The government is on Christ's (boulder; the whole care and rule of the church is committed to his power, and wisdom, and love, If. ix. 6. As badges of honour and rule were worn on the Jhoulders, keys on the shoulder denote the power of government, Job xxxi. 36. If. xxii. 22. (3.) The border of a country, as perhaps, If. xi. 14. dwelt between Benjamin's /Loulders, as his temple flood on Moriah, in their border, Deut. xxxiii. 12.

SHOUT; a great noise of alarm, I Thess. iv. 16.; or of joy and tri-umph, Exod. xxxii. 18. Psal. xlvii.; or of lamentation and earnest prayer, Lam. iii. 8.; of encouragement and excitement, 1 Sam. xvii. 20.; of ter-ror, given to affright an enemy, Jerl. 15. li. 14.; or of applause, 1 Sam.

x. 24. Acts xii. 12.

SHOWER. See RAIN.

SHRED; to cut in pieces, and cast into a pot, 1 Kings iv. 39.

SHRINES; either fmall forms of the temple of Ephefus, with Diana's image in them; or medals with the figure of the temple impressed thereon, Acts xix. 24.

SHROUD; a covering; top; a-grove, Ezek. xxxi. 3.

SHRUB; fuch wood as grows, or is grown but to a fmall height, as-bushes.

SHULAMITE; a name given to the church, to denote that she pertained to Jerufalem; or rather was reconciled to God, peaceable in disposition, and made perfett through Jefus's comelinefs put upon her, Song vi. 13.

The family of the SHUMA-

THITES,

SHU [416] SHU

THITES, were to called, either from one Shumath their chief, or from Shema a city of Judah, I Chron. ii. 53.

SHUNEM; a city of Islachar, about five miles fouth of Tabor, Josh. xix. 18. Here, in a great plain, the Phillistines army encamped, while Saul's lay at Gilboa, I Sam. xxviii. 4. Abishag, David's concubine, was a native of it, I Kings i. 3. Here Elisha was kindly entertained, and procured a child to his kind hostefs, and afterwards restored him to life, 2 Kings iv. See Elisha; Jehoram.

SHUR, or SUR; a city of Arabia, on the north-east fide of the Red sea, and which gave name to the adjacent part of the defert, which consisted of about the 4th part of the wilderness of Etham, Gen. xvi. 7. Exod. xv. 22. It appears to have been the west horder of the Amalekites, I Sam. xv. 7. xxvii. 8.: and here the Suratte of Ptolemy stood.

SHUSHAN, or Susa, on the bank of the river Ulai, and the capital of Sufiana or Shufistan in Persia. feems to have had its name from the plenty of lilies growing about it. is faid to have been built by Memnon, a little before the Trojan war. was the winter-residence of the Persian kings from the time of Cyrus, as a high ridge of mountains sheltered it from the north-east wind: but the bright fun fo scorched it in the fummer, that the inhabitants were obliged to cover their houses with earth to about the depth of a yard; and if a lizard or ferpent crept out of his hole in the flreets, they were almost fure to be burnt to death. Here Daniel had his vision of the ram and he-goat, Dan. viii. Darius Hystaspis, or Ahafuerus, exceedingly adorned this place. From hence he issued his decree for perfecting the rebuilding of the temple, in gratitude for which, the Jews called the eaftern gate of their temple, the gate of Shushan, and had a kind of refemblance of it carved thereon. Here also he kept his splendid feast, Efth. i. vi. When Alexander feized this city, he found in it 50,000 talents of gold, befides jewels, and golden and filver veffels, to an immenfe value. It now, and I fuppose for almost 1100 years back, lies in ruins, and is called Valdak: but Tavernier thinks that the present Shustera is built near to the spot.

SHUT; to close up; bar, Judg. ix. 5. To flut out, is to put out to another place; to refuse to regard, Numb. xii, 14. Lam. iii. 8. To /hut up or shut in, implies imprisonment, reffraint, Job xii. 14. Rev. xx. 3. To flut the ever, imports a difregarding of means of conviction, Prov. Avi. 30.; or an abhorrence, If. x iii. 15. To Jhut the lips, is to speak sparingly. Prov. xvii. 28. To shut the hand, is to deny alms, and refuse affistance, Deut. xv. 7. To be shut of a hand, is to be lame of it, Judg. iii. + 15. To shut up mercies and bowels, is to fhew no pity, fympathy, or help, Pfal. lesvii. 9. I John iii. 17. To flut up a vision or word, is to conceal it, or the meaning thereof, from the most, Dan. viii. 26. xii. 4. Heaven is shut up, when rain, natural or spiritual, is denied, 1 Kings viii. 35. Rev. xi. 6. Men that up the kingdom of heaven, when they mitreprefent the true method of access to everlasting happiness, and hinder and discourage others from the use of proper means of falvation, Matth. xxiii. 13. Men are // ut up in unbelief, when God, for the punishment of former fin, juttly gives them up to Satan and their own corrupt lufts, till they be further fixed in their difregard of Christ and his Father, Rom. xi. 32. Men are shui up to the faith, when God's providences, ordinances, and influences, concur to promote their believing in Jefus as the only Saviour, Gal. iii. 23. The doors are that in the streets, when the dying man's teeth are gone; or he can icarce open his lips; or when betwixt his death and interment, bufinefs in the house is stopped, Eccl. xii. 4.

SHUTTLE; an instrument used by weavers, for intermingling their woof with the warp. As it very quickly moves from one side of the web to the other, our days are represented as fwifter than a weaver's shuttle, to denote the shortness of life, and quick motion of time, Job vii. 6.

the

SIB [417] SIG

SIBMAH, SHEBMAH, or SHEBAM; a city about half a mile from Heshbon. The very best vines grew about it, Is, xvi. 8. It was originally the property of the Moabites; but Sihon having taken it from them, it fell to the Reubenites after his overthrow, Numb. xxxii. 38. Josh. xiii. 19. During the decline of the kingdom of Israel, the Moabites seized on it. It was destroyed or pillaged by the Asyvians, Is. xvi. 8.; and ascerwards by the Chaldeans, Jer. xlviii. 32.

SIBRAIM; a city on the northrait of Canaan, between Hamath and Damascus, Ezek. xlvii. 16.

SICHEM, SYCHAR. See SHE-

CHEM.

SICK. A body is fick, when difeafed, Gen. xlviii. 1. A kingdom or nation is fick, when corrupted with fin, and oppressed, perplexed, and almost ruined, Is. 15. Mic. vi. 13. Hos. v. 13. A foul is fick, when distressed with trouble, or with the want of things hoped for, Prov. xiii. 12.; when guilty and corrupted with sin, Matth. ix. 12.; when pained with ardent love to, and desire after fellowship with Christ, Song v. 8.; and when overpowered and ravished with the sweet enjoyment of Christ and his fulness, Song ii. 5.

SICKLE; an infirument for cutting down corn, Deut. xvi. 9. God's judgements, whereby he defiroys Antichrift and other nations, are likened to it, Rev. xiv. 14.—17. Joel iii. 13.

SIDE; (1.) Out-part of a thing, Josh. viii. 33. (2.) Party, Exod. xxxii. 26. (3.) The frontiers of a country, or gates of its cities, Ezek. xxv. 9. To know the fignification of the phrafes, on this fide, on that fide, or on the other fide, we must know where the speaker or writer was at the time; Moses being on the east of Jordan, calls the east side of it, on this fide, Numb. xxxii. 19. xxxv. 14. In Joshua, Judges, Samuel, Isaiah, Chronicles, on this fide of Jordan, denotes the west side, Josh. ix. 10. Sc. As Ezra and Nehemiah were written on the west of the Euphrates, on this side of the river, denotes the west of the Euphrates, Ezra v. 3. Neh. iii. 7.

VOL. II.

SIDON, Zidon. See Phenicia.

SIEGE; the furrounding of a city or castle with an army, in order to starve or force the inhabitants to a surrender. The seriptures mention the stages of Samaria. Nineveh, Babylon, Jerusalem, and Tyre, as most noted. The other famed steges of antiquity, are those of Troy, Ashdod, Tyre, Alexandria, and Numarium. The more noted steges of modern times are those of Constantinople, Ostend, and Graves; but especially that of Candia in Capte. The surrounding judgements of God, reducing men to great hardships, are called a stege, Is. xxix. 3.

SIEVE; an instrument for feparating the finer parts of powder, &c. from the coarser; or for cleaning corn from fand, chaff, or light grain. God fifts his people in a fieve, when by his judgements he scatters and tosses them, till the naughtier part be separated from them, Amos ix. 9. He fifted the Affyrians with a fieve of vanity, that passes every thing, when he almost cut off their whole army, If. xxx. 28. Catan fifts men as wheat, when he tempts and haraffes them, studying to shake their grace out of their heart, till they are in apparent danger of losing all, Luke xxii. 31.

SIGH; to mark grief for fin or mifery by a kind of groaning, If. xxiv. 7. To figh with the breaking of loins, is to be in extreme grief, Ezek. xxi. 6. All the fighing thereof I have made to ceafe. Babylon's destruction shall come so suddenly, as that they shall have scarce time to sigh; and then shall the Jews and other captives cease from their for-row, and be glad, If. xxi. 2.

SIG-IT. ee DEE. SIG- See MARK.

SIGNET. rec RING.

SIG NIFY; (1.) To mean, point out, Acts xxv. 27. 1 Pet. i. 11. (2.) To foretell, Acts i. 23. Rev. i. 1.

3 G SIHON.

SIH [418] SIL

SIHON, king of the Amorites; on the east of Jordan. About A. M. 2540, he invaded the kingdom of Moab, and seized a considerable part of it. About A. M. 2552, he refused a passage to the Hebrews through his country. Moses therefore attacked him in war, took his country from him, and gave it to the tribe of Reuben, Numb. xxi. xxxii. Deut. ii. 26:—27. Josh. xiii. Ps. cxxxvi. 19. 21.

SIHOR, SHIHOR. See NILE.

SIHOR, or SHIHOR-LIBNATH; a place not far from North Carmel, and in the west border of the Asherites, Josh. xix. 26.; but whether it was a city, or the river of crocodiles, or the white promontory between Ecdippa and Tyre, I know not.

SILAS, SYLVANUS, or TERTIUS. It is thought that he and Carpus were John's two messengers to Jesus, Matth. xi. 2. 3. He was a chief man among the primitive preachers, and a pretty close attendant of Paul. He was fent along with him from Antioch to the fynod at Jerufalem ; and he and Judas were fent by the fynod along with Paul and Barnabas, to bear their decrees to the churches, Acts xv. 22. He went with Paul to Lycaonia, Phrygia, Galatia, Macedonia, and at Philippi was his fellow-prisoner, Acts xv. 16. He and Timothy remained at Berea, instructing the disciples, after Paul was obliged to flee. Nor does it appear they came up to him till he came to Corinth, andthere Silas fervently preached the gospel, Acts xvii. 15. xviii. 5. 2 Cor. i. 19. It is like, Silas is the brother whose praise was in all the churches, and was chosen with him to bear the charitable contributions to Jerufalem, and who, along with Titus, carried Paul's fecond epiftle to the Corinthians, 2 Cor. viii. 18. 19. Being with Paul, he fends his falutation to the Thessalonians, in both the epistles directed to them. He wrote the copy fent to the Romans, and fends his fa-Intation, Rom. xvi. 22. By him Peter wrote his first epistle to the dispersed Jews, 1 Pet. v. 12. He is faid to have died in Macedonia; but whether by martyrdom or not, we know not.

SILENCE; (1.) Without speech or noise, Job xxix. 21. Jer. viii. 14. (2.) Quietness; submission; abstinence from murmuring, Zech. ii. 12. (3.) Inactivity; stillness, Prov. xxvi. + 20. If. xxiii. † 2. Death, and the utter ruin of cities, are called filence, as noife has ceafed; and in the grave, and ruined city, there is a dreary filence, Pfal. xciv. 17. Jer. viii. 14. If. xv. 1. Silence in heaven for the space of half an hour, denotes the calm in the Christian church between A. D. 323 and 338, Rev. viii. 1. God keeps filence, when lie delays to grant his peoples requefts, Pfal. xxviii. 1.; or to punish the wicked for their fins, Pfal. xxxv. 22. l. 21. Men are put to filence, when they are for baffled by the force of arguments or holy converfation, that they have nothing to fay, Matth. xxii. 34, 1. Pet. ii. 15.

SILK. Perhaps the ancient Hebrews knew nothing of filk; for their SHESH and MESHI, which is fo rendered, may fignify cotton, or fine linen, Gen. xli. 42. Prov. xxxi. 22. Ezek. xvi. 10. Silk is a commodity much traded in by the Antichristians, Rev. xviii. 12. It is now well known, that a certain kind of worms spin the filk out of their bowels; and it is only twisted and woven by us. There are fome very curious mills for winding and twisting it. The Seres, perhaps the fame as the Chinese, were the first improvers of it. Thence the art was introduced into Per-Nor, till after the conquetts of Alexander, was filk known in Europe; and, even then, it was valued at its weight in gold. Tiberius the emperor prohibited his male fubjects to wear any of it: and about 200 years after, Aurelian obstinately refused his empress a gown of it, as too coftly and luxurious for her high station. Till about A. D. 555, the art of manufacturing it was kept a close fecret in the east. At last, Justinian the emperor got some of the worms to Constantinople. They succeeded fo well, that very foon filken manufactures were established there, and at Athens, Thebes, and Corinth. At prefent, filk is fo common, both in Afia and. Europe, and pride of apparel so extravagan 5 extravagant, that it is hard to fay, how quickly our kitchen-girls may daily wear what was once thought too grand for a Roman empress.

SIL SIM 410

SILLA; a place near the house of Millo in Jerusalem. Some think it was a part or suburb of the city; but I am apt to think it was a terrace, or raifed way between the two hills on which the city was built, 2 Kings xii. 30.

SILOAM. See Shiloans SILVANUS. See SILAS.

SILVER. We read nothing of it before the flood as in use; but in Abraham's time traffic was carried on with it, though it was not coined till long after; see MONEY. Its ore is considerably impure, and it must be often purged to render it fine, Pfal. xii. 7. is found mingled with lead, tin, &c. The fine filver of the ancients was found in the mines of Tarshish, Jer. x. c. Great quantities of it were used in the building of the Jewish temple by Solomon, I Chron. xxix. 4. It is put for all temporal wealth, Hof. ix. 6. an emblem, it denotes what is useful, precious, pure, and glorious. Rulers of church and state are likened to filver, to mark how precious and ufeful they ought to be, If. i. 22. 23. Saints are like tried filver, to mark their true excellency; and they are proven in the fire of manifold tribulation, If. lxvi. 10. Zech. xiii. 9. Wifdom, and her revenue, or merchandise, i. e. Christ and his graces, are more pure, precious, comely, and ufeful than filver, Job xxviii. 15. Prov. xvi. 16. viii. 10. 19. The Jews were like reprobate filver, not capable to abide the trial; they had the appearance of goodness; but when tried by the law, or providence of God, their naughtiness and drofs became evident, Jer. vi. 30. The tongue of the just is as choice filver; their speech is pure, useful, and edifying, Prov. x. 20. To feek a thing as filver, and dig for it as hid treasures, is to feek it earnestly, and by all proper methods, Prov. ii. 4. They that bear filver, are the wealthy, the merchants, the exchangers, Zeph. i. 11. A s11-VERLING, or piece of filver, is the same as a sheket. God's people are reprefented as a loft piece of filver, fought out by him in the day of his power, Luke

SIMILITUDE. See LIKENESS. SIMEON, the fecond fon of Jacob, was born about A. M. 2247. When he was about 18 years of age, he and Levi his younger brother, contrary to treaty, murdered the people of Shechem, while they were at the forest, by their circumcifion, Gen. xxxiv. After Joseph had kept all his brethren in prison for three days, he liberated the rest, but retained Simeon, perhaps because he was of a most violent temper, or because ke had been most inhuman to him, Gen. xlii, 17 .- 24. On his deathbed, Jacob curfed not the perfons, but the rage and murder of Simeon and Levi, in the case of the Shechemites; and prophefied, that their combination in fin should issue in their perpetual dispersion among the rest of the Hebrew tribes, Gen. xlix. 5. 6. The fons of Simeon were Jemuel or Nemuel, Jamin, Ohad, Jachin, Zoar or Zerah, and Shaul. Ohad feems to have died childless; but by the rest he had a numerous iffue. When this tribe came out of Egypt, they amounted to 59,300 men capable of war, under the command of Shelumiel the fon of Zurishaddi, and marched the fifth in order of the tribes. Shaphat the fon of Hori was their fpy to view the promifed land, and Shemuel the fon of Ammikud was their agent to divide it, Gen. xlvi. 10. Exod. vi. 15. Numb. xxvi. 12.-14. ii. 12. 13. xiii. 5. xxxiv. 20. It feems they had been figually guilty in the affair of Peor, as well as Zimri their chief prince; and that the 24,000 cut off in that affair were mostly of this tribe; for, at the reckoning immediately after, it was decreased to 23,200, Numb. xxv. xxvi. 14. 15. This their recent wickedness was perhaps the reafon why Mofes did not expressly bless them along with the other tribes, Deut. xxxiii. They got their portion out of the inheritance of Judah; and they, and the tribe of Judah, affifted one another in clearing their lot of the Canaanites maanites, Josh. xix. 1 .- 8. Judg. i. 1. -20. The Simeonites never made any diftinguished figure. We scarce find a noted person among them: but it is faid, that the narrow limits of their inheritance obliged many of them to become feribes, and difperfe themselves among the other tribes. At David's coronation to be king of Ifrael, 7100 of them were present, 1 Chron. xii. 25. They revolted to Jeroboam with the other nine tribes; but many of them afterwards fubmitted to Afa king of Judah, 2 Chron. xi. xv. 9. When Canaan was ravaged by the Affyrians, it feems a body of the Simeonites retired fouthward, and feized on the country of the Amalekites, about the west end of mount Seir, 1 Chron. iv. 39.-43. Josiah purged their country from idols, 2 Chron. xxxiv. 6.

3 G 2

SIMEON; an old man at Jerufalem, who earnestly waited for the incarnation of the Meffiah. God, by his fpirit, affured him, that he should not die till he had feen it. Moved by a fupernatural impulse, he came to the temple just as Mary and Joseph presented their divine Babe. He clasped him in his arms, and bleffed God for his coming: he declared his defire of immediate death, as he had feen the divine Saviour, the light to lighten the Gentiles, and the glory of Ifrael: he bleffed Tofeph and Mary, and told them, that their child was fet up as an occasion of the ruin, and as the author of the falvation of many Ifraelites, and as a figu to be every where spoken against: he affured Mary, that her heart should be pierced with grief at the fight of the maltreatment and death of her Son; and that strange discoveries should by the gospel be made of mens hearts, Luke ii. 25.—35. It has been faid, that this Simeon was the fon of the famed Hillel, and teacher of Gamaliel.

SIMON, the Cyrenian, and father of Alexander and Rufus, who, it feems, were afterwards noted Christians. He is thought by fome to be the fame as Niger, the teacher at Antioch, Acts xiii. I. We know not whether he was a Jew or a Gentile; but it is certain, that the Jews who led Jefus to be crucified, finding him ready to fink under his crofs, and meeting with Simon as he came in from the country, compelled him to affait in bearing the one and of it, Matth. xxvii. 32. It is faid, that he was afterwards bishop of Boilra or Bezer, and died a martyr for the faith.

SIMON ZELOTES, or the Canaanite; one of Christ's apostles. Why he was called Zelotes, is not hard to gues. It feems he had been one of those Galileans, or furious bigots, who obstinately refused to pay tribute to the Romans. Perhaps his name Canaanite, signifies no more than that he was such a zealot, or that he was of Cana in Galilee, Luke vi. 15. Matth. x. 4. It is faid, that he preached the gospel in Egypt, Cyrenaica, Lybia, and Mauritania, if not also in Britain. Others will have him to have been murdered at Lunir in Persa, along with Jude.

Simon, the brother or coufin of our Saviour, and the fon of Cleophas. He is faid to have been bishop of Jerusalem, after the death of his brother James the Less; and that when Trajan made strict inquiry for all those of the family of David, he was for some days terribly tortured, and then crucified, A. D. 107; after he had for above forty years governed the church at Jerusalem: but as most of that time that city lay in mere rubbish, I know of small ute for a bishop to it.

Simon the Pharifee, who, having invited our Saviour to an entertainment, though he fearee shewed him due civility when he came, yet took offence at his allowing Mary Magdalene to wash and anoint his feet: but Jesus, by the parable of the two debtors, convinced him of his mistake, Luke vii. 36.—50. Whether it was he whom Jesus healed of a leprofy, and in whose house at Bethany Jesus supped a few days before his death, and had his head anointed by Mary the sister of Lazarus, I know not, Mark xxvi. 6. John xii. 3.—5.

Simon Magus, or the Sorcerer. By his enchantments he acquired him-felf a great fame in his country of Samaria,

maria, as some very extraordinary perfon. He was fo affected with the doctrine and miracles of the apollles Peter and John, that he professed himself a Christian, and was baptized. Observing how they conferred the fingular influence of the Holy Ghoft, by the laying on of hands, he offered them money for a share of their powers. Peter bid his money perish with him, becaufe he had thought to purchase the free gift of God with money; and told him, he had need to ask the forgiveness of fuch wicked thoughts, as they threwdly marked him to be still in an unregenerated state. Struck with terror at this reply, Simon begged they would intercede with God for him, that the evils threatened him might be averted, Acts viii. 5 .- 24. It feems, that afterwards he did what he could to oppose the gospel and the preachers thereof. He feems to have abandoned himfelf to the vilest whoredoms, and is said to have founded the fect of the Gnoftics, who believed men would be faved by their knowledge, be their lives as vicious as they would; and held a yall number of Eons, or inferior gods. It is faid, that he gave out hunfelf to be a divine person, and the Messiah sent to the Samaritans, as Jefus of Nazareth was to the Jews; and that Helena his whore, was the Holy Ghost, and the Pagan Minerva, Helena, Gc. His followers pretended to be a fort of Christians, and yet worthipped him and her under the notion of Jupiter and Minerva. Nay, Justin Martyr fays, that about A. D. 150, almost all the Samaritans worshipped him as their god. fenfeless fable of his conflict with, and overthrow by the apostle Peter at Rome, is unworthy of a place here.

SIMPLE; (1.) Harmless; free from deceit: and to be fimple concerning evil, is to have little knowledge of the art of committing it, and to be ready to shun the least appearance of it, Rom. xvi. 19. The fimplicity that is in Christ, is either the plain felf-consistent truths of the gospel, which centre in Christ; or an unseigned faith in, and obedience to, these truths, 2 Cor. xi. 3. Men live in godly simplicity, when, with a fingle view to the glory of God, they live in a fair, open, and candid manner of profession and practice of gospel truths, 2 Cor. i. 12. (2.) Ignorant; credulous, and easily cheated by men, by Satan, and by their lusts, Prov. xiv. 15. ii. 23. ix. 4.; and so this simplicity lies in a filly easiness to be deceived, 2 Sam. xv. 11. Prov. i. 22.

SIN, or SINIM; (1.) A throng city in the land of Egypt, perhaps the fame with Pelufium, now called Damietta, near the north-east border. It was ravaged by the Chaldeans, and has been often fince pillaged, Ezek. xxx. 15. From hence some Jews returned to Camagn, and many of the inhabitants embraced the Christian faith, If. xlix. 12. Whether the Sixites, who descended of Canaan, dwelt near Lebanon, where Strabo mentions a caftle called Sinnæ, or whether they dwelt at Tripoli in Phenicia, or lived about Sin, in the north-east of Egypt, we cannot determine, Gen. x. 17. (2.) The wildernefs of Sin, on the east side of the western gulf of the Red sea, and to the north-west of Sina, Exod. xvi. 1.

SINAI, SINA, or Horeb, a famous mountain of Arabia the Rocky, stands on the fouth corner of the bosom of the Red fea, between the gulf of Colzum on the west, and the Elanitic gulf on the east. It stands about 260 miles eastward of Cairo in Egypt. The defert on the fouth and west of it is a pretty high ground for about twelve miles, and is diftinguithed with a variety of leffer hills. This mountain is of a finall extent, but very high, and hath two tops, the western of which is called Horeb; and the eaftern, which is a third higher, is properly called Sinai. It is faid, there are fome fprings, and fruit-trees on Horeb; but nothing but rain-water on the top of Sinai. The afcent of both is very steep, and is by steps, which the Empress Helena, the mother of Constantine the Great, caused to be cut out in the marble-rock. the top of Sinai, there is an uneven and rugged place, fufficient to hold fixty persons. Here stands a chapel

Sacred to St Catharine; and near to it, on the brow of the barren rock, is a fountain of fresh water. The laborious monks that dwell here, have, with ashes and sweepings, made a kind of foil for a garden. From the top of this mount, God proclaimed his law to the Hebrews, from amidst terrible flames of fire; and here Moses had long an almost immediate fellowship with God; and hence the place came to be called the mount of God; and here he spoke to Elijah, I Kings xix. 8. At prefent the Arabs call it Moses's hill, Exod. xix. xx. xxiv. It was a mount that might be touched; though the Hebrews were forbidden to touch it, yet it was touchable, and not of a fpiritual nature, as the mount Zion of the church, Heb. xii. 18. It is made an emblem of the broken covenant of works, which terrifies awakened tranfgreffors, and gendereth to bondage, affecting all that are under it with a spirit of bondage, Gal. iv. 24.

SIN, or that conduct whereby we miss the mark of God's law and our own happiness, is called iniquity or UNRIGHTEOUSNESS, as it implies a with-holding of what is due to God or men. It is called WICKEDNESS and UNGODLINESS, as it implies an obstinate opposition to the nature, worship, and service of God. It is called TRES-PASS and TRANSGRESSION, as it is a contrariety to the precepts of the divine law. Sin, iniquity, or wickednefs, denotes, (1.) What in general i: contrary to the law of God, I John iii. 5. Matth. vii. 23. Ezek. iii. 19. (2.) Original fin, whereby our whole nature is defiled, and rendered contrary to the nature and law of God, Pfal. li. 5.; and hence the inward part is faid to be very wickedness; the heart is filled with enmity against God, and ma-lice against men, Pfal. v. 9. This corruption of nature is the fin that dwells in us, Rom. vii. 17. 20.; and works in us all manner of concuptioence. Rom. vii. 8.; wars in us, Rom. vii. 23.; reigns in and over us, Rom. vi. II. 12. 14.; and deceives and flays us, Rom. vii. 11. It is called luft, James

i. 15.; the flesh, Rom. viii. 1.; the body of fin, Rom. vi. 6.; the body of death, Rom. vii. 24.; the law of the members, Rom. vii. 23.; the law of fin and death, Rom. viii. 2. (3.) Actual fin, or a particular kind of it, James i. 15. Pfal. vii. 3. Actual fin, is that which, proceeding from our inward corruption, is daily committed in our thoughts, words, and deeds; and is formed according to the particular lufts that reign, or are in our heart, whether of the flesh or mind, Tit. iii. 3. Eph. ii. 3.: and it is called the iniquity of the heels, or conversation, Pfal. xlix. 5. Actual fins are either fecret, or open and feandalous, Pfal. xix. 13. 4 Tim. v. 22. They are either of infermity, done through ignorance, inattention, and hurry of temptation; or prefumptuous, done boldly, and against light and conviction, Pfal. xix. 13. Unbelief, or the rejection of Christ and his truths when revealed and offered, is the worst of actual sins, and in comparison of which, other fins are, as it were, no fins, John ix. 41. xv. 22.; and this carried on to the highest degree of prefumption and malice, is called blasphemy against the Holy Ghost, as it rejects and tramples on all his evidence and convictions; and is called the fin unto death, because being never pardoned, it inevitably ruins men, 1 John v. 16. (4.) The wicked men who commit fin, Job v. 16.: hence the Jews feem to be called wickedness, Zech. v. 8.: and evil angels are called spiritual wickednesses in high places, as with great power and vigour they work wickedness, Eph. vi. 11. (5.) The punishment of iniquity, Gen. iv. 7. xix. 15. Lev. v. 1.: fo God lays up mens iniquity for their children, when he delays the temporal punishment of it, till it be executed on their children, Job xxi. 19.—In allusion hereto, sin is taken for the offering which makes atonement for fin, and what we render fin-offering, is often the fame in the Hebrew, as what we render fin, Lev. iv. 3. 25. 29 .: and the priests are said to eat fin, i. e. with pleasure, feath on fin-offerings, Hof. iv. 8. God for fin, in e. by the fin-offering of his Son, condemned sin in the flesh, Rom. viii. 3. Christ is said to be made sin, that we might be made the righteoufness of God in him, i. e. he had our fins charged to his account; was condemned by the curse of the law, and bare due punishment for them, to the satisfaction of his Father's justice, in order that we, having his finished righteousness placed to our account, might, in a flate of union with him, be legally fustained as perfectly rightcous before God, 2 Cor. v. 21. Pfal. xl. 12. 1 Pet. ii. 24. If. liii. 6. He died unto fin, i. e. to make full fatisfaction for it, Rom. vi. 10.; and all faints are dead to it, freed from the reign and curse of it, Rom. vi. II. (6.) Idols, idolatrous altars, and high places, and the like, are called fin, because they are the occasions of committing it, Amos viii. 14. Hof. x. 8. viii. 11. Jer. xvii. 3.—What In a man is peculiarly addicted to, is emphatically called his own, Pfal. xviii. 21. 23. Whatfoever is not of faith, is fin; whatever a man doth while he doubts of the lawfulness thereof, it is finful to him; whatever proceeds not from true faith in Christ, is sinful, in its fource, motive, manner, and end, Rom. xiv. 23. The plowing of the wicked is fin, and their prayer and facrifice an abomination, as it is not done in faith, and from a principle of love to God, and regard to his authority, nor with a superlative aim to his glory, Prov. xxi. 4. xv. 8. The prayer of the wicked becomes fin, when God rejects it, and punishes them for the wickedness included in it, Psal. cix. 7. To cast iniquity on men, is to charge them falfely with crimes, Pfal. lv. 3. Iniquity is found hateful, when its facts and abominable nature are clearly difcovered, and when men are permitted to run on in gross acts of it, and when fevere punishment is inflicted on account of it, Pfal. xxxvi. 2. To be fervants of iniquity unto iniquity, is to commit the worst crimes with the worst ends: or to proceed from one fin to a worfe, Rom. vi. 19. God fets mens fins in the light of his countenance, when they are fully known and openly punished.

SIN [423 | SIN

Pfal. xc. 8.

To sin, or do iniquity, or wickedly, is often taken for difobedience to God's law in general, Eccl. vii. 20. But fometimes in an emphatic fense, it fignifies, to live in a course of fin with constant pleafure and delight. fense, he that committeth sin, is of the devil, and is the fervant of fin, but the children of God do not, and cannot fin, John viii. 32. 1 John iii. 6. 9. v. 18. Thou shalt visit thine habitation, and not fin, i. e. shalt not live in a wicked manner at home, nor be disappointed of thy good hopes, Job v. 24. - SIN-NERS and wicked persons, are such as are guilty of fin, and under the power of it, 1 Tim. i. 15. Pfal. ix. 17.; but: emphatically, fuch as are notorious malefactors before men to some noted degree, Luke vii. 37. 39. Numb. xvi. 38. ix. 10. Luke vi. 32. 33. Gen. xviii. 23. If. liii. 12. Satan is called the wicked one, because he, in the most malicious manner, exerts himself to the utmost against God and his law, I John ii. 13. 14. iii. 12. v. 18. By one man's disobedience many were made finners; by the disobedience of Adam, our covenant-head, imputed to us, we are in law-reckoning constituted guilty persons; and in consequence thereof, our whole man is laid under the reigning power of fin, Rom. v. 19. 1 Cor. xv. 56.

SINCERE; (1.) Pure, and unmixed with error, deceit, or drofs, repet. ii. 2. (2.) Single, candid, and upright; the heart, speech, and actions, all harmoniously agreeing together, Phil. i. 10. And sincerity or singleness of heart, is pure uprightness and candour, without any sinful bias to a side, Josh. xxiv. 14. 2 Cor. i, 12. Acts ii. 46. Eph. vi. 5.

SINEWS, are as the cords whereby the body of animals is bound together, and which are the great means of feeling. They shrink, when they become short or benumbed, Gen. xxxii. 32. Sinews may be taken for power, strength, Ezek. xxxvi. 6. 8. Mens neck is as an iron finew, when they are obstinate in their sinful courses, Is. 5. To set in dust or darkness, imports alviii. 4.

obitinate

SIN [424] SIT

SING. See song.

SIRION. See HERMON.

SIRNAME; a name added to a man's principal one, denoting his family, &c. Men firname themselves by the name of Israel, when, being Gentiles and sinners, they join themselves to Jefus and his church, If. xliv. c.

SISERA, general of the Canaan-ites, under King Jabin II. After his · army was quite routed by Deborah and Barak, and multitudes of them drowned in the river Kishon, Sisera, to avoid discovery, fled away on foot towards Harosheth. As he passed the tent of Heber the Kenite, who was then at peace with his master, Jael, his wife, invited him into her house to hide him-After she had given him some milk to refresh him, he laid himself down to fleep, and defired her to watch in the door, and to deny him, if any body asked for him. He had scarce fallen into a deep fleep, through his excessive fatigue, when Jack, instigated of God to deftroy this murderous idolater and devoted Canaanite, drove a nail through his temples, and fastened his head to the ground, that he died. Barak purfuing him, had him shewed to him, in this condition. For a while, his mother and her ladies, though wearied for his return, comforted themfelves with the fancy, that he would be taken up in dividing the fpoil, chiefly the fine robes, and in receiving his share of the captive girls, for the use of his lust, Judg. iv. v.

SISTER. See BROTHER.

SIT; a well known posture of the body, used in taking rest, Gen. xxiii.

11.; in taking meat, Gen. xxxvii. 25.; in giving judgement, Ruth iv. 1. 1

Kings ii. 12.; in grief, Ezra ix. 1. 4.; in teaching and hearing, Matth. xxiii.

2. Luke x. 39.; in prayer and fasting, 2 Sam. vii. 18. Judg. xx. 26.; in receiving the Lord's supper, Matth. xxvi.

20. Sitting also denotes fixed continuance, Mic. iv. 4. 2 Kings v. 3.

Acts viii. 28. To sit with one, imports intimate fellowship with him, Pfal. xxvi.

being in great poverty, contempt, ignorance, and trouble, If. xlvii. 1. Luke i. 79. Mic. vii. 8. To fit on thrones, imports fixed glory, power, and authority, Matth. xix. 28. Sitting aferibed to God, or Christ as Mediator, imports their undisturbed rest and authority, Pfal. xlvii. 8. xxix. 10.; or their judging and punishing of men, Dan. vii. 9. 26. Joel iii. 12. Matth. xxvi. 64. Christ's sitting at God's right band, imports his fixed and restful poffession of the nearest fellowship with God, and his continued power of governing the church and her concerns, Pfal. cx. 1. Eph. i. 20. The faints fit together in heavenly places: in Christ their head, they are already possessors of the celestial glories, and shall quickly enjoy them in their own person, Eph. ii. 6. Antichrist's fitting in the temple of God, imports his relidence in the church, and his pretence to rule the consciences of her members. 2 Thess. ji. 4..

SEAT; a place for fitting in, for rest, or for judgement, 1 Sam. iv. 18. Job xxix. 7. A magnificent feat for a king to fit upon, in receiving the homage of his fubjects; or in giving audience to ambassadors, and in dispenfing juffice, is called a THRONE. Solomon had one very grand: it was all of ivory, and overlaid with gold; it had fix fleps, at the twelve ends of which were carved lions: the top was round behind; and it had two arms, fupported by two carved lions, 1 Kings x. 18. 19. SEAT, also denotes a station of authority, Efth. iii. 1.; and a throne, the royal authority of kings, Gen. xli. 10. Angels are called thrones and dominions, because of their great power and authority, Col. i. 16. The ceremonial mercy-feat that covered the ark with a cherubim on either fide, fignified Jesus's atonement, as the rest and throne of grace, for a reconciled God, ready to declare his love, and bestow his bleffings on poor finful men, 2 Kings xix. 15. Heb. iv. 16. God's feat or throne, is also either the Jewish temple, where the fymbols of his presence resided, Jer. xvii. 12. Psal. lxxviii. 69.; or heaven, where his glory and authority are chiefly manifested, If. lxvi. 1.; or a fymbol of his glorious prefence, Rev. iv. 9.; or his fovereign power and authority to execute judgement, or bestow favours, Job xxiii. 3. Psal. lxxxix. 14. Heb. iv. 16.; or the high degree of his authority and happiness, Ezek. xxviii. 2. And the Jewish royalty, and the state of emperor of the Christian world, is called God's throne, as he bestows it, 2 : am. xiv. 9. Rev. xii. 5. Christ's fitting on his Father's throne at the right hand of it, or in the midst of it, imports his fixed exaltation to the highest dignity, authority, and happiness, Rev. iii. 21. v. 6. Heb. xii. 2. The faints fit on thrones, or feats before the throne, and with Christ on his throne; they have an honourable flation in their new-covenant union with Christ; they have honourable offices or stations in the militant church: chiefly in heaven, they have as much holiness, rest, honour, nearness to God, vision and fruition of him, and joy in him, as they can defire, Rev. iv. 6. xi. 16. Luke xxii. 30. Rev. iii. 21. Moses's seat, is the station of civil power and authority among the Jews, and of judging according to Mofes's law, Matth. xxiii. 1. Satan's feat, is the place where he hath great power and authority, Rev. ii. 15. The feat of the dragon, or of heathenish power, and of Antichrift, is Rome, where their authority was or is established, Rev. xiii. 2. xvi. 10. The feat of violence comes nigh, when men hold courts, and exercise their authority, to commit injustice and oppression, Amos vi. 3. To fit in the feat of fcorners, is to have an habitual and fixed intimacy with them, and to act after their manner with pleasure, Pfal. i. 1. Eliakim and Christ, are a glorious throne to their Father's house; their administration was, or is an eminent honour to him that employed them, If. xxii. 23.

fided,

SIT [425] SKI

SITUATE; placed. The situation, or placing of the temple, was very beautiful, as it stood on a mountain, whence it was feen all around, Pfal. xlviii. 8.

Vol. II.

SIVAN; the third month of the Jewish facred year, and ninth of their civil, answering to part of our May and June, and consisting of 30 days. On the fixth day, was the feast of Pentecost. On the 15th and 16th, is a feast to commemorate the victory of the Maccabees over the Heathens of Bethshan. On the 23d, a fast to bewail Jeroboam's stopping of the first-fruits from being brought to Jerusalem. There are in it some other superstitious sessions of small note, Esh. viii. 7.

SKILL; knowledge; especially what is gained by study and experience, Dan. i. 17. v. 18. Pial. lxxviii. 72.

SKIN; (1.) The covering of an animal's flesh, Lev. vii. 8. The human skin is covered with scales so fine, that the naked eye cannot perceive them; and each foot square contains about 144 millions of pores. Mens first cleathing was of skins of beasts, Gen. iii. 21. Prophets, persecuted faints, and barbarous nations, have often fince used coats of skin, Heb. xi. 37. The orientals did, and many of them still do, not only make their facks and bags, but their bottles for liquor, butter, &c. of skins. (2.) The outward colour of the skin, Jer. xiii. 23. To flay off the skin; pluck off skin or fle ?, imports, to oppreis men, till nothing but the mere life is left them, Mic. iii. 2. 3. To escape with the skin of one's teeth, is to escape with nothing but life, having, as it were, the very teeth dashed out, and fcarce a mouth left to complain, Job xix. 20. Skin for skin, was an ancient proverb, importing, that a man will gladly fave his own life, at the expence of the death of relations, or any other outward lofs, Job ii. 4.

SKIP. See LEAP.

SKIRT; that part of upper garments which is below the wailt. A man's fpreading his fkirt over a avoman, imported his taking her under his care and protection, and to be his wife, Ruth iii. 9. God's fpreading his fkirt over the Hebrews, imported his taking them into a special church-relation to 3 H himself.

himself, and giving them his kind and honourable protection: his fpreading his fkirt over his elect, imports his uniting them to Christ, clothing them with his righteoufnefs, and granting them his spiritual protection and comfort, Ezek. Jerufalem had filthiness and blood in her fkirts; her shameless sinning was marked in her difgraceful afflictions, Lam. i. 9. Jer. ii. 34. The Lord discovered the Jews skirts on their faces, when he removed every covering of their fin, and reduced them for it, to a most debased and shameful condition, Jer. xiii. 26. A man's uncovering of his father's skirt, imported lewd behaviour with his step-mother, Deut. xxii. 30.

SKY; the visible appearance of the heavens: it is likened to a molten looking-glass, because of its bluish and transparent colour. This bluith azure co-Iour, Sir Ifaac Newton thinks is owing to the thin vapours in the upper part of the atmosphere, reflecting only the most reflexible rays of light, which are those of a violet colour: but Leonarda and La Hire think it is owing to our viewing a dark space beyond the atmosphere, through a white and lucid medium.—Stars, clouds, and thunders, are represented as in the fky, Heb. xi. 12. 2 Sam. xxii. 12. Plal. lxxvii. 17. God's riding on the skies, imports his thundering; his raining froms at pleafure; and the quick and majeftic work of his providence, Deut. xxxiii. 26. Righteoufness poured down from the skies or heaven, imports God's abundant bestowal of his gracious influences, and the fruits of his Son's rightcoufness on men, If. xlv. 9. Judgements are lifted up to the skies, when they are very terrible and confpicuous, Jer. li. 9

SLACK; inactive; given to delays, Josh. xviii. 3. God is not flack concerning his promises or judgements, but sulfills the one, and executes the other, with proper activity, and in due time, 2 Pet. iii. 9. Deut. vii. 10. Let not thy hands, O Zion, be flack, but be active in rebuilding the temple, and settling the affairs of religion and liberty, Zeph. iii. 16. He becomes poor that deals with a flack hand; i. e. is lazy and lingering in his bufinefs, Prov. x. 4.

SLANDER; a charging one falfely with faults'; or rehearling his real faults with a bad end, and without a proper call. It is most ordinarily done, when the perfons charged are abfent, and proceeds from hatred of their perfon, or envy of their excellency. The name flanderer is the fame in Greek as that of a devil, I Tim. iii. II. Gr. Yet what multitudes of men feem ambitious of the character! Meals, and civil followship, are seasoned with flander, as if men had got their tongues for no other end but to fpeak evil of their neighbour. In respect of this sin, our tongue is full of deadly poifon; has underneath it the poison of asps; is a world of iniquity, fet on fire of hell, and fetting on fire the course of nature; is a deceitful rafor; is like a fword and fpear, a bow of lies, shooting bitter words, James iii. 6. 8. Pfal. cxl. 3. lii. 2. lv. 21. lvii. 4. cii. 3. lxiv. 3. 4. Prov. xii. 18. Jer. ix. 3.

SLAVE. See SERVANT.

SLAY. See KILL.

SLEEP, or slumber, is fourfold: (1.) Natural, when the life of the animal body continues, but its fensations in a great meafure ceafe, in order to the refreshment and invigorating thereof, Gen. xxviii. 11. (2.) Spiritual, confifting in ignorance, indolence, flupidity, and unconcern, in a finful state or courfe, Eph. v. 14. (3.) Civil, when men are inactive in their work, or careless about it, If. v. 27. Nah. iii. 18. (4.) The fleep of death, wherein mens foul being separated from the body, the body becomes quite infenfible, Jer. li. 39. Dan. vii. 2. John xi. 11. 1 Cor. xv. 51. God's fleeping, imports his feeming unconcern and inactivity to deliver his people or punish their en mies, Pfal. xliv. 23. lxxviii. 65. I flest, but my heart waketh; my foul was under the prevalence of great dulnefs; yet there was a fecret working of my contcience, defire, and affection towards Christ, Song v. 2.

SLEIGHT; crafty and juggling tricks, Eph. iv. 14.

SLIDE;

SLI [427] SME

SLIDE; (1.) To forfake God and bis truths, and our duty, and to fall into fin, Jer. viii. 5. Hof. iv. 16. (2.) To infe happiness and comfort, and filt into mitery and dreadful calamities. Ecut. c. ii. 35. Both fignifications are bined in the word, Pfal. xxv. 1.

LIGHTLY. The falle prophets, healed the hors of the Jews flightly, when they informated to them that their fins were but finall, and fo their calamities would be light, and foon over, Jer. vi. 14. viii. 11.

SLIME, or BITUMEN, is a kind of clayey pitch, got out of the earth. The river Is carried down a great deal of it in ancient times, and mingling with the Euphrates, carried it to the very walls of Babylon. The tower of Babel was built with it, instead of mortai; and Diodorus tells us, that the people thereabouts, not only built their walls of it, but dried and burnt it, inflead of coals. There was and is a great deal of the finest of it, very heavy, and of a shining purple colour, and throng fmell, about the Dead fea; and, it feems, they had a vaft number of pits out of which they dug it, ere the valley of biddim was turned into a lake, Gen. xiv. 10. Jochebed pitched her ark with this flime; and perhaps Noah did fo too, Exod. ii. 3. The bitumen or afphaltus fold in our fhops under the name of Jewish, is not really of this kind of flime, but is a composition of -oil, brimftone, and pitch.

SLING; an inflrument of cords for throwing stones with great violence. The invention hereof is afcribed to the Phenicians, or their colonics in Majorca and Minorca, anciently called the Baleares, or mafters of the fling. It is certain, that not long after the death of Jeffaua, the Hebrews, particularly some of the Benjamites, were fo expert flingers, that they could hit their mark almost to an hairbreadth, Judg. xx. 16.; and fome of them in the time of David could fling with both hands, I Chron. xii. 2. Uzziah had flings on the walls of Jerusalem, for throwing great stones, 2 Chron. xxvi. 14. The Lord flings out men, when he fuddenly deftroys them, and drives them from their country, I Sam. xxv. 29. Jer. x. 18. SLIP; (1.) To fall off, Deut. xix. 5. 12. (2.) To fall inadvertently or fuddenly into fin and trouble, Job xii. 5. Pfal. xvii. 5. We let the things which we have heard flip out of our mind, when we inadvertently forget them, Heb. ii. 1.

SLIPPERY; unflable; ready to make one fall at every turn, Pfal.

xxxv. 6. lxxiii. 18.

A SLIP. See Twig.

SLOTHFUL; SLUGGARD; lazy and inactive with respect to the concerns of time or eternity, Judg. xviii. 19. S'othful perfons defire, but are at no pains to obtain, Prov. xxi. 25. Every thing affrights them, as if it were a thorn-hedge or lion in their way, Prov. xx. 4. xv. 19. xxii. They retain not what they got by hunting or labour, Prov. xii. 27. 13. They hide their hand in their bosom, and can hardly take pains to use what they have, Prov. xix. 24.; and yet are extremely wife in their own conceit, Prov. xxvi. 16.; hence no wonder their houses go to ruin; their vineyard or bufinefs be mismanaged, Eccl. x. 18. Prov. xxiv. 30.; and they be under tribute, deprived of their liberty, Prov. xii. 24.; and their foul fuffer hunger, and they come to deep poverty, Prov. xviii. 19. xxiii. 21.; and be cast into a deep fleep, rendered more and more inactive and flupid, Prov. xix. 15.

SLOW. To be flow of speech or tongue, is to speak in a stammering and lingering manner, Exod. iv. 10. To be flow to anger, is to be very patient, bearing many injuries without revenging them, Neh. ix. 17. Stawwelfs to werath, is a mark of much wisdom, Prov. xiv. 29. Men are flow of heart to lelieve, when averse to do it without uncommon, or even improper evidence, Luke xxiv. 25.

SLUICE; a dam for catching fifth, six. 10.

SLUMBER. See SLEEP. SMALL. See LITTLE. SMELL. See SAVOUR.

3 H 2 SMITE 5.

SMI [428 | SMY

SMITE; (1.) To give a firoke to a person or thing, Exod. xxi. 26. xvii. 6. (2.) To distress; afflict, Deut. xxviii. 22. 27. Prov. xix. 25. (3.) To kill, Deut. xiii. 15. To fmite an army, is to rout it, Deut. xxix. 7. To finite with the tongue, is to reproach, Jer. xviii. 18. To smite the hands, imports, to give an alarm; to mourn; or to rejoice, Ezek. xxi. 14. To finite on the thigh or breast, is expressive of repentance, grief, Jer. xxxi. 18. Luke xviii. 13. To fmite one on the cheek, imports infolent contempt, Mic. v. 1. One's beart smites him, when his confcience, with challenge of guilt, affects him with remorfe and grief, I Sam. xxiv. 6. Smiting by the righteous, is faithful and friendly reproof, Pfal. cxli. 5. To smite men on the cheek-bone, is to confound and destroy them, Pfal. iii. 7.

SMITH; (1.) A worker in metal, gold, filver, iron, &c. Acts xix. 24.
(2.) An executioner of God's judgements, Is. liv. 16.

SMOKE. The glorious display of God's excellencies is likened to SMOKE; it is mysterious and incomprehensible. If. vi. 4. His protection of his prople is likened to smoke; it is terrible to their enemics, and conceals them from hurt, If. iv. 5. It being usual for angry persons to breathe hard, and emit from their mouth a kind of smoke, God's wrath is likened to fmoke; it is very awful, difagreeable, and confounding, Pfal. xviii. 8. Terrible calamities are like smoke; they proceed from the fire of God's wrath, and bring on fearful perplexity, darknefs, and defolation, If. xiv. 31. The fmoke in the temple at Antichrift's downfall, is either God's full protection of his church, barring out his enemies from hurting her, or the terrible calamities that shall deter people from praying for the Papists; and till which be over, men shall be afraid to join themfelves to the true church, Rev. xv. 8. Saints, and their prayers and praises, are likened to the fmoke afcending from the facred incense of old: how heaventending! and how acceptable to God! Song iii. 6. Rev. viii. 4. See FLAX. The Jewish Pharifees, and other hypocrites, are a smoke and burning fire in God's nose; are very offensive and difagreeable to him, If. lxv. 5. Men and their devices are likened to smoke, to denote how unfubstantial, short-lived, eafily destroyed, and full of perplexity and darkness they are, Psal. xxxvii. 20. lxviii. 2. cii. 3. If. ix. 18. Ignorance and delution are a fmoke ariting from hell, and stupifying men, that they know not what they do, or where they are, or what is a-doing around them, Rev. ix. 2. 17. In allufion to the cafe of Sodom and its neighbouring cities, the smoke of a land is faid to ascend up unto heaven, when the judgements inflicted thereon are very visible and terrible, If. xxxiv. 10. Rev. xviii. 9. 10.

SMOOTH flones are fuch as are not rough, I Sam. xvii. 40.; of fuch idols were made; or men worshipped them, as they faw them by the sides of brooks or rivers, Is. lvii. 6. A finooth skin is one not overgrown with hair, Gen. xxvii. 11. 16. Smooth ways are such as are plain, without any thing to make one stumble, Luke iii. 5. Smooth words, or mouth, denotes stattering speech, that has no tendency to convince or alarm, Is. xxx. 10. Jer. xxiii.

31. Pfal. lv. 21. Prov. v. 3.

SMYRNA; a city of Leffer Afia, on the east shore of the Mediterranean fea, about 46 miles north of Ephefus. It was built by the Eolians, and destroyed by the Ionians; but quickly after rebuilt; and was a famous city as early as the time of Homer. About A, M. 3400 the Lydians destroyed it; but Antigonus, one of Alexander's fuccessors, rebuilt it, near 300 years after. About the time of our Saviour's birth, it was one of the most wealthy and populous cities in Leffer Asia: nor, except Ephefus, was any more honoured and favoured by the Romans; nor did the inhabitants of any other shew equal regard to Rome. Befides a variety of fieges, Smyrna has fuffered fix dreadful earthquakes, which destroyed the most part of it: but its delightful fituation, and conveniency for fea-trade, occationed its being always rebuilt, A Christian church was planted.

SNA [429] SNO

planted here very early; and whatever perfecution they fuffered from Jews or Gentiles, they maintained the Christian faith with fuch exactness, that in the divine epiftle fent them by John, there is not a fentence of reproof, but of praise and direction, Rev. ii. 8, 9, 10.; and ever fince Christianity has continued in this place. About A. D. 1676, this city was repaired by Achmet the Turkish vizier. At present, it is one of the most flourishing places in all the Levant, or east fide of the Mediterxanean fea, and is reforted to by the traders in Asia, Africa, and Europe. It contains about 28,000 fouls, of which above 10,000 are Christians of the Greek church, and the rest are Turks and Jews.

SNAILS are well-known animals, exceeding fat, and eafily melted to death by a fcorching fun, or by the application of falt. Nay, they waste their fubflance by their own motion, leaving always a moisture where they creep. They are not a little hurtful to corns and garden-herbs. have their eyes in their horns; and, it is faid, that each, at least of those finails that live in shells formed of the moisture of their own bodies, has in itself the qualities of both male and female. The Romans and others have used them as food; but they were forbidden to the ancient Jews; and might represent men felf-righteous, sensual, and inactive. Men pass away as a fnail, when quickly, eafily, and even by their own means, they are destroyed, Pfal. lviii. 8.

SNARE, TRAP, GIN, GRIN; a device for catching fishes, fowls, &c. Job xl. 24. Amos iii. 5. Prov. vii. 23. and in metaphoric language, fignifies whatever tends to entangle one to his hurt. Jesus Christ is a gin and fnare, and stumbling-block, and rock of offence to men, when, on account of his appearances so opposite to our sinful corruption, he is rejected, and so our guilt and ruin increased, Is. viii. 14. God rains fnares on men, when, by his providence, he involves them in perplexing straits, that they cannot get out; and their own conduct plunges them deeper and deeper into mifery, Pfal. xi. 6. Ezek. xii. 13. The Jewith priefts and rulers were a fnare on Mizpah, and a net spread upon Tabor; they, in the most open manner, by their example and enticement, tempted the people to idolatry and other wickednels, Hol. v. 1. The Canaanites who were finfully left in their land, were fnares and traps to the Hebrews, and feourges in their fides, and thorns in their eyes, and their idols and idolatries were fnares to them; they were means of decoying them into fin, and instruments by which God punished them, Josh. xxiii. 13. Exod. xxiii. 33. Pial. cvi. 36. The Jewish table, or ceremonies, were a fnare and trap to the Jews, as, leaning on these, they encouraged themselves to despife the promised Mesfiah, Pfal. lxix, 22. Rom. xi. 9. The temptations of Satan, the lips or speech of a fool, breach of vows by facrilege. bad example, flavish fear of men, and the flattering tongue of an harlot, are fnares and traps, Prov. xviii. 7. xx. 25. xxix. 6. 25. Eccl. vii. 26. Men are fnared, when, by the devices or traps laid for their hurt, they are decoyed into fin and exposed to punishment, Deut.vii.25. Psal. ix 16. Eccl. ix. 12. Scornful ne 1 bring a city into a fnare, by their bad example and enticement, or by provoking their fuperiors or neighbours against them, Prov. xxix. 8.

SNATCH; to catch at; rend off a piece to eat it. They shall fnatch on the right hand, and be hungry, and eat on the left, and not be fatisfied; they shall greedily seize on whatever comes in their way, but find no comfort therein, Is. ix. 20.

SNORT; to make a noise through the nostrils, as a mettlesome horse. To mark the terror of the Chaldean invasion of Judah, it is faid, that the fnorting of their horses was heard from Dan, a place about 150 miles distant, Jer. viii. 16.

SNOW is formed of vapours frozen in the air. It is foft, and fometimes, efpecially in the East, broad as locks of wool, Pfal. cxlvii. 16. It and rain are very unseasonable in summer or harvest, Prov. xxvi. 1. but its cold and water are refreshful to scorched reapers: or referved fnow is ufeful to cool wine in the heat of harvest, Prov. xxv. 13. It is most pure and white; and its whiteness and purity are made an emblem of freedom from guilt and corruption, If. i. 18. Pfal. li. 7.; and of glory and excellency, Lam. iv. 7. God's feattering of the Canaanitish kings, and their armies, was white as fnow in Salmon; the providence was most just and glorious; and the carcases lay deep on the furface of the ground, Pfal. lxviii. 15. Sometimes God has made fnow an instrument of his judgements, burying towns and armies amidst it, Job xxxviii. 22. 23. water is reckoned excellent for washing with, Job ix. 30.; and for refreshing the earth, and rendering it fruitful, If. lv. 10.: at least, that of the snow of Lebanon was effected an excellent and refreshful drink. God is compared to the fnow of Lebanon, and the cold flowing waters that proceed from it, fo useful to refresh men in these hot countries; for, how delightful! how refreshing his goodness and grace! and how foolish to forsake him for other enjoyments! or the words might be translated, Will a man leave pure waters, fpringing from a rock, for the melted fnow of Lebanon, all mixed with mud? Will they ever dig up the dirty waters of an inundation, rather than waters flowing from a fountain? i. e. Will ever men forfake the true God, for mere lofs and dung? Jer. xviii. 14. 15.

To SNUFF; (1.) To draw up the air into the note, Jer. ii. 24. xiv. 6. (2.) To mark contempt, by a facer, or the like, Mal. i. 13.

SNUFFERS; a kind of tongs for -inuffing of burning lamps, and making them burn more brightly: and the fnuffdiffies were small dishes for holding what was fnuffed off, that it might not pollute the floor of the fanctuary. Both were appointed of God, and were formed of gold. Did they figure out to us the divinely-inftituted ordinances of church-discipline, whereby the purity of the church is preferved, and the truths of God, and practice of his people, made to shine clear and bright?

Exod. xxxvii. 23. xxv. 38. SO; a king of Egypt, who engaged to affift Hofhea against Shalmane. fer king of Affyria, but, it feems, did it not, at least not effectually, 2 Kings xvii. 4. Probably this So is the fame as Sabachon the Ethiopian, who burnt to death Bocchoris the former king of Egypt, and after retaining the government of the country for 50 years, was fucceeded by Sevechus or Sethon, who it feems was prieft of Volcan, and whose prayers the Egyptians pretended to Herodotus brought ruin on the Affyrian hoft.

SOBER; confiderate; thoughtful; liumble; grave; and temperate, Rom. xii. 3. Tit. ii. 4. 12. OBERNESS; foundness of mind, Acts xxvi. 25. So-BRIETY includes prudence, gravity, humil ty, and temperance, I Tim. ii. 9.15. To live foberly, righteoufly, and goaly, is to live, rightly managing ourfelves, doing justice to our neighbours, and duly honouring, worthipping, and ferving our God, Tit. ii. 12.

SOCHO, or Shochon; the name of two cities belonging to the tribe of Judah; one in the valley, and another in the hill-country, wellward of Jerufalem, Josh. xv. 35. 48. Near to one of them, David killed Goliath, and occasioned the rout of the Philistines, I Sam. xvii. 1. Shochoh was one of the 15 cities which Rehoboum repaired and fortified, 2 Chron. xi. 7.

SOCKET; a kind of foot in which erect pillars are fixed by hollow mortailes. A vak number of lockets were made for the erection of the tabernacle; of which 100 were of filter, a talent to each, Exod. xxxviii. 27. The five fockets of the entrance of the landuary, and the 60 which improrted the pillars around the court, were of brafs, Exod. xixi. 37. xxvii.: the weight of thefe fockets tended to make the pillars flaud firm. They might represent the glorious, fixed, and laiting purpofes of God, whereon Jetus's mediatory office and church are founded and effablished, Song v. 15.

SOD-

SOD [431] SOL

SODDER; to make different pieces of metal join fast together, Is. xli. 7.

SODOM, Gomorrah, Admah, Zeboim, and Zoar, were five of the ancient cities of the Canaanites, which flood to the fourh-east of the mouth of the brook Kidron, or thereabouts. In the days of Abraham they had each a king, viz. Bera, of Sodom; Birsha, of Gomorrah; Shinab, of Admah; Shemeber, of Zeboin; and one, whose name is not mentioned, of Bela or Zoar. Chedorlaomer reduced them all to be his tributaries. After twelve years fervitude they rebelled; but, on the 14th, were attacked, and had been almost totally ruined, had not God, by Abraham, routed the conquerors. As they proceeded in their wickedness, particularly in abuse of themselves with mankind, God, about 16 years after, told Abraham, and Lot, who now dwelt in Sodom, of his intention to destroy the city. Lot and his two daughters were preferred, and the city of Bela, or Zoar, i. e. the little one, was, at his requelt, preferved for shelter to him; but the other four were deftroved with fire and brimttone from heaven. As Sodom stood near to Zoar, it feems to have been fituated near the fouth point of the Dead fea. Strabo talks of the ruins of Sodom, as feven miles and a half in compafs. The ecclefiaffical Notitia mention a bishop of Sodom, in the primitive ages of Christianity: but, with the judicious Reland, we cannot believe that Sodom ever was rebuilt, or any city of that name built near to the spot. Most writers believe that the place where thefe cities flood was fwallowed up by an earthquake; and that now the Dead fea occupies the fpot: and fome, we suppose without ground, pretend that the ruins of them are still to be feen at low water. But as the scripture reprefents the country as fuffering the vengeance of continued fire; as neither plowed nor fown; as a dry defert inhabited by owls and wild bearts; as a dry place for breeding of nettles, and es heaps of falt, Jude 7. Deut. xxix.

22. Jer. xlix. 18. l. 38. Zeph. ii. 9.3 Reland thinks their place is not covered with the Dead sea, but is at the fide thereof. Whenever the facred. prophets would mark fome fearful and lafting deftruction, they compare it to that of these four cities, as Hos. xi. 8. Amos iv. 11. If. i. 9. Zeph. ii. 9. Jer. xlix. 18. II. xiii. 19. Jer. 1. 38. -10. Nay the terrible ruin of these cities is used as an emblem of the torments of hell, Jude 7. Rev. xx. 12 .- Those who in after times abused males for the gratification of their filthy luft, were called Sodomites. They were not only common among the Heathens, Rom. i. 26. 27.; but numbers of them were among the Jews. Afa and Jeho-shaphat cut off multitudes of them, and Josiah demolished the houses where they practifed that horrible villany, x Kings xiv. 34. xxii. 46. 2 Kings xxiii. The Jewish rulers and people are likened to those of Sodom and Gomorrah, on account of their great wickednefs, If. i. 10. Jer. xxiii. 14. Rome, or the Antichriftian state, is called Sodom, because of the fodomy, and all other wickedness, particularly of the fleshly kind, that there abounds, Rev.

SOFT clothing, is what is fine and gorgeous, Matth. xi. 8. A foft heart, is one tender, and broken with grief, Job xxiii. 16. Soft words, are either fuch as are mild and gentle, Prov. xv. 1. xxv. 15.; or fuch as are flattering and deceitful, Pfal. lv. 21. Softly, (1.) Slowly, Gen. xxxiii. 14. (2.) Mildly; gently; without any noife, Acts xxvii. 13. (3.) In a debafed and humble manner, II. xxxviii. 15. 1 Kings xxi. 27.

SOJOURN; to dwell in a land without any fixed abode or possession, as the Hebrew patriarchs did in Canaan, Egypt, &c. Gen. xx. 1. Pful. cv. 23. Saints are sujourners on earth; they have no portion here, and only tarry in this world till they be ready for their proper country in heaven, Pful. xxxix. 12. 1 Pet. 3. 17.

SOLACE; to comfort; delight, Prov. vii. 18.

SOL

SOL [432] SOL

SOLDIERS; stated warriors for protecting or preferving the peace of a country, and fighting with the enemy. We find no stated warriors among the Hebrews till the time of Saul. Minifeers and faints are foldiers, enlisted under, armed and directed by, Jesus the captain of our falvation; they fight for him and his cause in a spiritual manner, against fin, Satan, and the world, 2 Tim. ii. 3. See Army.

SOLEMN; fixed to a particular occasion; done with awe and reverence, Numb. x. 10. Pfal. xeii. 3. Solemnity; the time of an appointed feast, and the meeting of the people thereat, as at the feast of Passover, Pentecost, Tabernacles, &c. Is. xxx. 29. Deut. xxxi. 10. Solemnity; in a grave, bold, and earnest manner, 1

Sam. viii. 9.

SOLITARY. See DESOLATE.

SOLOMON, the fon of King David by Bathsheba, born about A. M. 2971. He was called Solomon, to fignify his peaceful temper and reign, and Jedidiah, to mark him the darling of the Lord, 2 Sam. xii. 24. 25. His father, knowing that he was to build the temple, made great preparations for it, and trained him up with great care. As his brother Adonijah thought to usurp the throne, David, by the infligation of Bathsheba and Nathan, caused Solomon to be anointed king while himself yet lived, which was done with great folemnity. After his father had directed him, concerning the temple, concerning Joab and Shinnei, and folemnly charged him to walk in the way of the Lord, and bleffed him, he died, Prov. iv. 1 Kings i. ii. 1 Chron. xxii. xxviii. xxix. Solomon, who, about two years before, had married Naamah the Ammonitess, and had Rehoboam by her, was now about 18 years of age, when he entered on the fole government of the kingdom. Having put Adonijah, Joab, and Shimei to death, and confined Abiathar the high priest, for their respective crimes, he married the daughter of Pharaoh King of Egypt, who feems to have become a Jewish proselyte; for Solomon appears not to have fallen into the idolatry of her country. To procure divine affiftance, and fuccess in his government, he and his nobles offered 1000 burnt-offerings at Gibeon, where the tabernacle then was. That night the Lord appeared to him, and offered to grant him whatever he should ask. He requested wisdom to qualify him for the government of fo great a peo-His request pleased the Lord, and he granted him fuch wifdom, honour, and wealth, as none before or after him ever possessed. Rising from his fleep, he came to Jerufalem, and offered a great number of facrifices before the ark; and then made a feast for his family. Soon after he had an opportunity for trying his wifdom. Two harlots lived together in one house, and were brought to bed about the fame time. One of them killing her own child by overlaying it, laid it in her neighbour's bosom, and took the living child into her's. Her neighbour, on viewing the dead infant, knew it was not her's, and claimed the living The other no lefs vehemently denied the dead babe to be her's, and claimed the quick one. The caufe came before Solomon; and as parties on both fides were equally stiff, and the matter admitted of no formal proof, Solomon, conceiving that the real mother would show a dillinguished regard for the life of her child, called for a fword, that he might cut the living infant in two, and give each of the claimants an half. The pretended mother was content it should be so; but the other begged, that the life of the babe might be preferved, and given to her competitor. By this evidence of affection, Solomon knew her to be the real mother, and ordered the child to be given her. I Kings ii. iii.

Solomon's kingdom, which extended from the north-east border of Egypt to the Euphrates, if not a little beyond, was altogether peaceful and affluent. He divided it into cantons, under the direction of proper governors, who, each in his month, provided for the subfishence of the royal family, which might amount to 30,000, or 40,000, nay, the Jews fay 60,000 perfons. His horfes and chariots, which were many, were properly difposed of. Himfelf exceeded all men in wifdom and knowledge. He collected or framed 3000 proverbs, and 1005 fongs. fenfibly explained the nature of vegetables and animals of every kind then known. His fame made all the kings around, who were generally either his tributaries or allies, fend to enquire of his wisdom. By his trade with Egypt, he introduced plenty of fine hories, and a manufacture of linen; and by his trade with Ophir and other places, he rendered gold and filver as common in Jerufalem, as the stones of the street, and cedar-trees as plentiful as fycamores. The flect which he fent once in three years from Elath on the Red fea, and managed by Tyrian mariners, brought him from Ophir near 2,000,000 l. Sterling. 1 Kings iv. ix. 28. x. 14. 26.—23. 2 Chron. i. ix. 27.

mioht

SOL [433] SOL

When Hiram king of Tyre heard that Solomon fucceeded his father, he fent him a folemn embassy, to congratulate his accession to the throne. Solomon returned him another, requesting his affiliance to build a magnificent temple for the Lord, as his people were more skilful in cutting timber and stone. Hiram returned him word, that he would cause his subjects out cedars in Lebanon, and bring them to Joppa in floats. To reward which, Solomon gave Hiram, for the maintenance of his family and workmen, 20,000 meafures of wheat, and as much of barley. and 20,000 baths of oil, which last are also called 20 measures; or there were 20 measures added to them for some other use. In the 4th year of his reign, A. M. 2993, the temple began to be built, and was finished in feven years. Besides the servants of Hiram, there were 153,600 Canaanites employed in this work; 70,000 of which were bearers of burdens, and 80,000 diggers, and cutters of stone; and 3300 were overfeers; and 300 more were a referve, to supply the places of such officers as fell sick. All the materials were prepared at a distance, that there was nothing to do on the spot, but to join them together. Hiram, an excellent artist from Tyre, had the charge of the foundery. In the feventh month, A. M. 3001, it was finished, and dedicated with great folemnity, Solomon, and the elders of Ifrael, and almost all the people, being prefent. After carrying in the ark, and fome prefents which David had left for it, and fixing its various utenfils and ornaments in their proper places, the temple was filled with the cloud of the divine glory, which obliged the pricfts for a while to discontinue their ministrations. After proftrating himfelf, Solomon stood up on a high feaffold, where his throne was placed, and turning his face to the temple, did, in a most solemn manner, beg that God would accept, and blefs the house for his service, and hear the various prayers which the Jews should make towards it in their various afflictions; and that he would fulfil the promifes made to David and his feed. He then turned himfelf to the people, and bleffed them. As a token of acceptance, a fire from heaven confinned the facrifices on the altur, and the glory of the Lord again filled the temple. Awed herewith, the people fell upon their faces, and worshipped God. At this time Solomon facrificed 22,000 oxen, and 120,000 sheep, for peaceofferings; and as the altar of burnt-offering was too fmall for the fat of all these, the middle of the court was confecrated to be an occasional altar. Soon after, perhaps the night following, God appeared to Solomon, and affured him, that he had accepted his prayers, and would grant his requests; but would bring ruin on David's family, and on and, and on the temple, if they rebelled grainfl his commandments. A't r 14 days spent in this dedication, and in the re t of tabernacles that followed it, Solonion gave the people a folemn difmiffion; and they reurned home, rejoicing, and praying for bleffings to their king, I Kings vi. vii. viii. ix. 2 Chron. iii. iv. v. vi. vii.

Vol. II. 3 I After

SOL [434] SOM

After Solomon had finished the tem. ple, he built a magnificent palace for himfelf, another for his Egyptian queen, and a third called the forest of Lebanon, where he fometimes, if not chiefly refided. These were all finished in about 22 years. To reward Hiram for his kind affill nce, Solomon made him a prefent of 20 cities in the land of Galilee, which, it feems, he or his father took from the Canaanites: but as the cities and foil did not pleafe Hiram, it feems, he restored them to Solomon, who repaired them and gave them to the Hebrews; and no doubt repaid Hiram his 120 talents of gold, and his friendly affiftance, fome other He also seized on Hamathzobah, and built Tadmor, and other cities in these parts. He also repaired the two Beth-horons, and Baalath, and Gezer. In carrying on these structures, Solomon allowed none of the Hebrews to work as flaves; but caused the remains of the Canaanites to be his drudges. It feems, however, that his taxes on the Hebrews, raifed in order to carry on these works, provoked them against him. It appears, that his annual revenue was about 666 talents of gold, befides what he had in prefents from his allies and tributary kings, and what he had from merchants. -It is faid, that Hiram king of Tyre and Solomon maintained a correspondence, pofing one another with hard questions. It is far more certain, that the queen of Sheba, hearing of his fame, came from the utmost parts of the fouth, to hear and fee his wifdom; and having heard his answers to her puzzling questions, having feen the beauty and worship of the temple, and the magnificence and order of his court, table, and attendants, she fainted with turprife, and confessed, that it far exceeded all she had heard. Loaded with prefents, the returned to her country, I Kings x.

Hitherto every thing in Solomon's character appears grand and admirable; but his abominable conduct in the after part of his life, has marked him with lafting differace. He had 700 vives, and 300 concubines, mostly Heathenish idolaters. In compliance with these, he forfook the Lord, and worshipped, and built temples to their idols, Afhtaroth, Moloch, Chemosh, and others. The Lord appeared to him, and told him, that as he had fo wickedly broken his covenant, he would rend off ten of the Hebrew tribes from their fubjection to his feed. Alarmed herewith, Solomon repented of his fin, and it is like, about this time wrote his Eccle-STASTES, wherein he declares all things vanity, and vexation of fpirit; and that he had found whorish women more bitter then death: and, it is like, a part of his Proverss, wherein he fo earneftly warns his fon against whorish women. His temporal punishment was. not turned away. Ere he died, Hadad the Edomite, Rezon the Syrian, and Jeroboam the fon of Nebat, began to give him uneafinefs. After a reign. of 40 years he died, and was fucceeded by Rehoboam. The history of his reign was written by Nathan, Ahijah, and Iddo. If he wrote any more befides his Song of Songs, Proverbs, and Ecclefiastes, it was uninspired, and is now loft, I Kings xi.

Jefus Christ is called Solomon, and was typified by that prince. What a darling of Heaven is he! how infinitely wife and peaceful! Notwithstanding all opposition, how folemnly installed in his throne by the Father! and how extensive his kingdom! How justly he punishes the guilty! how wifely he judges! and how plentifully he enriches his people! What multitudes come to, and admire his wisdom and glory! How he builds the temple of his church, and confecrates her to the Lord, by his unmatched sacrifice, and all-prevalent interession! Song iii. 6. 11. viii.

10.

SOME; a part, either smaller or greater; sew or many, Matth. xxviii. 17. Rom. iii. 3. Something, or somewhat, denotes both what is of small, and what is of much value, 2 Chron. . . 4. 6. Gal. ii. 6. vi. 3.; and what is good, as alms, Acts iii. 5.; and what is discessful, as affliction, 1 Sam. xx. 26.

SON. See CHILD.

SONG, or HYMN; (I.) A ditty, or poem, to be fung either in joy and thankfgiving, as of Mofes at the Red fea; of Deborah, Hannah, David, Hezekiah, Habakkuk, Mary, Zacharias, Simeon, &c. Exod. xv. Judg. v. 1 Sam. ii. 2 Sam. v ii. If. xxxviii. Hab. iii. Luke i. ii.; or of lamentation, as of David, over the death of Saul and Jonathan, and of Abner, 2 Sam. i. iii. 33.; and of Jeremiah, on the death of Josiah, and on the deitruction of Jerufalem, 2 Chron. xxxv. 25. Lam. i.-v.; or of predictory warning, as of Moses before his death, Deut. xxxii. (2.) The subject-matter on which a fong is composed: thus God is the fong of his people: his excellencies and favours are the subjectmatter of it, Exod. xv. 2. Job and David were the fong of their enemies; i. e. were the object of their mockery and derifion, Job xxx...g. Pfal. lxix. New Jongs, are such as are newly made, or for new mercies, and are ever fweet and delightfol, Ifal. xxxiii. 5. xl. 3. Spiritual fongs, are those whose fubject-matter is spiritual and divine, in opposition to empty, false, fullome, and lafeivious fongs, called the fong of fools, E h. v. 19. Col. iii. 16. Eccl. vii. 9. They are called the Lord's font, or the fong of the Lamb, because God and his Christ are the subject. matter or them, and to his honour ency are lung, Pial. x'ii. 8. cosevii. 3. Rev. xv. 3. The Jews had longs fung almost the whole light of their more folemn featls, especially on the first night of the pallover, If. 1986. 29. Solomon's Song of Songer, could not be a nuptial ayma, composed on occasion of his marriage with any of his wives. It was not penned till the tower of Lebanon was built, chap. vii. 4.; and to not till about 20 years after his marriage with Pharaoh's daughter. Many of the emblems in it, is applied to a lady, as when the is called a keeper of the vineyard, faid to have an head like Carmel, a nofe like the tower of Lebanon; eyes like a fifth-pool; teeth like a flock of Sheep; and to be terrible as an army with banners, &c. are abfurd to the last degree: but if understood of the marriage and fellowship between Christ and his people, it will appear most exalted, instructive, and heart warming. In vain Whiston, and some other carnalists, upon fearce the fliadow of grounds, have denied its authenticity. Though the name of God is not found in it, any more than in Efther, as indeed the allegory of this book fearce admits it; yet its majeilie ftyle, its power on mens conference to promote holiacfs and purky, the harmony of its language with that of Christ's parables, and of the book of Reveletion; the forcerity of the bride in acknowledging her faults; and, in fine, its general reception by the Jewish and Christian church, fufficiently prove it inspired of God. To fuch as read it with a carnal, and especially a wanton mind, it is the fayour of death unto death, as the mind and confeience of fuch are defiled; but to fuch as have experienced much fellowship with Christ, and read it with a heavenly and spiritual temper of mind, it will be the favour of life unto life. The speakers in it are Christ, believers, and the daughters of Jerufalem. the following attempt towards a fpiritual paraphrafe thereof, explains a book, of continued allegories, and exemplifies how the detached explications of feripture in this work may be connected, it is hoped it will not be altogether difguiltful to the devout reader, who, in the perufal, is defired to compare yerre by verfe with his Bible.

CHAP. I.

Believers. Veif. 2. Let him, whose name is wonderful, inexpressible, and unmatched; him, who loved me, and gave himself for me; him, who is the only darling of my heart, the great object of my thoughts, the substance and source of all my joys; let him, who is my Saviour, my hu band, my God, my All in All, kindly, but powerfully, apply his precious truths to my foul; and thereby give me one, give me manifold, large, and raviding discoveries of his person, his righteousness, and fulness: give me fweet intimations, feelings, and tokens, of his diftinguished, everlasting love :- give me full affurance of my peace, and reconciliation with him; pleafant incentives, and inflaminations of my love towards him. For thrice amiable Jefus, thy unmatched, thy free, thy ancient, and unchangeable, thy almighty and efficacious love, in undertaking, in obeying, and dying for ME; -in riling from the dead, in afcending to glory, and interceding for ME;and in bestowing thy all-ravishing and marvellous Self, with all the fulness of God, on guilty, polluted, and wretched ME; -how many thousand fold more precious! more eafily obtained! more fweet and refreshing to my heart, than wine! than any created enjoyment!never is it four, or tattelets; never is my foul furfeited therewith, or hurt thereby; it quickens me under deadneis; it supports and strengthens me under burdens; it comforts me againit griefs; it fills me with joy unspeakable, and full of glory; it begets, and inflames my love to a reconciled God; conforms me to his image; and nourishes me up to everlasting felicity. Vers. 3. Such, thrice blest Redeemer, is the divine fweetness and favour, the heart-foftening, healing, and beautifying virtue of thy perfonal excellencies, as God-man; and of the fulness of grace and glory lodged in thee: fuch the delightful, the heart captivating influence of the gospel-exhibition of thee as our almighty, our compassionate, and everlasting Mediator, prophet, prieft, king, phylician, friend, brother, parent, and husband; that every foul inwardly renewed, every foul endowed with gofpel-purity, humility, heavenly affection, and holy convertation, does, and must, with superlative and univerfal, with unfeigned, ceafelefs, and ardent love, esteem, desire, delight, glory in, and extol thee. Verf. 4. O allgracious Redcemer, whom my foul loveth, confider my deferted, my tempted, my didreffed cafe; reach forth thine arm that is full of power; apply thy promifes to my diffant, my weak, my dead, my obflinately-rebellious, and hell-ward-drawn heart; let the powerful arguments, the almighty influence of thy grace, melt my inward rock, quicken and inflame my foul with love to thee: O work in me, to will and to do: bring me into the nearest, the most ravishing intimacy with thy felf; - THEN, in the exercise of grace, and practice of virtue, shall every inward power of mine, bend, run, and fly towards thee; and others, by me excited, shall, with speed, alacrity, and vigour, feek for, cleave to, and follow after thee. - Altonishing !- What fudden change I feel! how excellent and rich! how fovereign and free! how powerful, and feafonable interpofing is the grace, the love of my divine King of angels and men, chiefly of his body the church!—While I yet spake, he hath heard; while I called, he hath faid to my foul, HERE I AM: he hath brought me near to himfelf, and granted me the most distinct, sensible, and transporting fellowship with him, in the promifes, and ordinances of his grace: here, in his presence-chamber, what wonders of redeeming kindness he difcovers to my view !---my fins, which are many, blotted out !-my eternal peace and felicity fedured! and the perfections, purpofes, and promifes of God, shining in the face of Jesus; and my full and everlasting interest therein! —O what unutterable views of God, and of glory, I now fee! what inexpreffibly pleafant, and captivating influence of everlatting love thed abroad in my heart, I feel! how all my inward powers are melted, quickened, firengthened, and fet on fire with love! O what incontestable evidence of the truth of religion, I perceive the power of! what defence from temptation! what freedom from the rage of corruption! what filed arrestment of heart on God, I enjoy!—What, Lord, shall I render to thee, for thy benefits !-Mounting my foul, above every created enjoyment, I will delight in, praise, and boast of thy infinite and all-lovely Self, as my God, and my exceeding joy; and with others, by me excited.

SON [437] . SON

excited, will think of, defire, receive, and extol, thy redeeming grace, mercy, and goodness, more than wine; more than any created delights;—for truly, every one who is possessed of real candour and integrity, in a religious profession or practice, does, and must, with the whole heart, esteem, defire, and delight in thee! Verf. 5. Ah! how quickly defilement and diftrefs fucceed to my ravithing frame !but, O nominal professors, or you babes in Christ, stumble not at religion, because of what I appear in myfelf, or in the view of a carnal world: for, though, in refemblance to the coarfe, fun-burnt tents of Arabia, I be stained with remaining guilt, pollution, and weakness; be oppressed with countless temptations and troubles; be mingled with hypocrites; be defpifed and perfecuted of men: yet in Jefus my head, and in his righteoufness imputed, and in his gracious efteem, and wearing his graces imparted, and exercifing patience and refignation under my fufferings, I am more comely and glorious than the curtains of Solomon's palace. Vers. 6. Pore not therefore upon my finful imperfections, my various afflictions, my grievous temptations, as if these were my ALL; ridicule, despise, and detest me not, on their account; nor, either with pleafure or aftonishment, stumble at the ways of God, for my fake. Ah! scorching disasters weaken my strength, and wither my bloffoming glory and honour!--my outrageous corruptions, conceived with me in my mother's belly, war against my foul; captivate me to the law of fin and death; embarrafs me with carnal care, and finful intermeddling with the concerns of others; and so divert me from my proper duty, from the things which belong to my eternal peace !-- Hypocritical professors too, children of my mother the church, but never begotten of the will of God, my heavenly Father, conceiving a relentless hatred, have exposed me to pain and difgrace; have hindered my attendance of the ordinances of God; have violently imposed on me for doctrines the commandments of men; have entangled me in fecular bufinefs; have finfully diverted me from watching over my heart and practice; and obstructed my proper improvement of the office, the gifts, and grace committed to my truft. Verf.7. But O all-compaffionate Sher-HERD of the theep, whom my foul, at leaft, wishes to love, with all her powers, and with all her might; and in comparifon of whom, I undervalue and abhor the highest excellencies of creation: tell me plainly, oh! tell me, in what ordinances thou now directeft, watcheft over, protecteft, quickeneft, ftrengtheneft, and comfortest thy people: and feedest them with thy slesh, which is meat indeed, and thy blood, which is drink indeed; with the promifes of thy word; the discoveries of thy love: and the communications of thy grace: O tell me, where thou makest thy little, but beautiful flock of flaughter, whose eternal redemption is committed to thy care, to enjoy spiritual comfort and rest, amidit the feorehing, the withering and tormenting noon of diffres, temptation, perfecution, and rage of indwelling luft ;--for why, my GREAT ALL, why fhould I, who am redeemed by thy blood; I, to whose foul fin is a very hell, be exposed to the danger of a whorith apostafy from thee; the danger of an impious conjunction with false teachers, or inward idols, w. o. under colour of friendship, are thine enemies, thy rivals, on earth!

Christ. Verf. 8. O thou my fair, lovely, beloved one, whom I have decked with my righteoufnefs, and rendered fpotlefs and comely before Jehovah, the Judge of all; and whom my implanted grace hath made all glorious within, and beautiful in good works; fince notwithstanding of former instructions, ignorance of duty is thy continued, thy mournful complaint, be kindly admonished, to follow the most eminent patterns of ancient believers,—bring thy rising children, thy weak professor, and thy languishing graces, to the moveable and oft designerated ordinances of my gospel, dispensed by these faithful pastors, who watch over, direct, and nourish my church. Verf. q. O my love, whom from eternity I chose, esteemed, defired, and delighted in, indulge not fainting, on account of continued corruption and trouble; for, however despicable thou art in thine own eyes, or in the view of the wicked around; yet, being purchased with my blood, decked with my righteoufness, adorned with my grace, and nourifhed with my fulnefs, I have made thee like a company of horses in Pharach's chariots: - how diffinguished thy spiritual comeliness! thy ftrength, vigour, and boldness, in running the race of gospel holiness! in fighting the Christian warfare! in joint bearing with others, the yoke of my law! and in being the means of my honourable triumphs over fin, Satan, the world, and death! Verf. 10. 'With an holy, humble, and well ordered converfation of public and private duties, how adorned are thy cheeks, thine outward appearance !-- and thy faith, which unites thy person to me as an head; and which, from my fulnefs, conveys nourishment to thy heart, how encompassed! how richly ornamented with the precious and golden pro nifes which it embraces! with the numerous and lasting blessings and gifts which it receives! with the connected and valuable graces and endowments which it excites !- And has not the church, whose member thou art, her presons, decked with my ordinances and crace? and her ministers, furnished with a chandlike connection of gifts and grace, to render them fit for their fervice? Verf. 11. And much, much, shall thy glory and comeliness increase: -our inflituted ordinances, will I, and my Father, and bleffed Spirit, brighten and polish; and therein give thee more abundant and powerful discoveries of gospel-truth.-More and more we will apply to thy foul, my righteoufness, that border of gold: more and more we will increase the permanent, the precious, and shining graces and gifts of thine heart; and the beauties of holiness in thy conversation, till, treed from in, and from forrow, thou become perfect, as thy Father which is in heaven is perfect.

Believ. Verf. 12. O Jefus, how my foul panteth for this promifed fellowship with thee! for, while thou, my bleffed King of kings, to whom all my powers are in subjection, granteft me calm, fixed, and familiar intimacy with, and feafting on thy all-glorious Self; in the institutious of thy grace, in the displays of thy love, how transcendently pleasant, and refreshful to my heart, are thy promifes and truths; and THOU, in them! Nay, how lively! how active! how pleafant to thee, and agreeable to myself, are my inwardly perfuming graces of faith, love, repentance, humility, patience, and new obedience! Verf. 13. But, in my best estate, what am I but va-NITY, in comparison of him my wellbeloved husband and friend! Thrice bleffed bundle of myrrh! whatever bitter fufferings he underwent for my fake; whatever bitter cross attend my following of him; yet how! O how transcendently precious, pleasant, and favoury is this gift of Heaven to my foul! how refloring and refrethful! how purifying and preferring! how perfuming and medicinal, is the applied virtue of his perfor, his names, relations, love, righteouthels, intercession, words, and ordinances! Shall not then HE, who, during the night of time, refides amidit the two nourifling tellaments of his word, and amidit the publie and private inflitutions of the gofpel, refide in my heart !- and, during the night of an afflicted and mortal life, shall not my faith and love think of, esteem, defire, embrace, entertain, delight in, and rejoice over him! Verf. 14. O what a matchlefsly delightful and precious fyttem, of excellencies, fountain of graces, fource of bleffings, repository of promises, treasure of pardoning, healing, comforting, nourishing, quickening, and refreshful influence, is this amiable, this infinitely amiable Jefus, to my foul!

CHRIST. Verf. 15. Bleffed object of my uncaused and unbounded, of my diftinguished

30N [439] SON

diftinguished and dying love, behold, amidft unsearchable defilement and unfightliness, THOU, as clothed with my finished righteousness; and as adorned in heart and conversation with my grace; and in my gracious and kind esteem, art fair, beautiful, and comely ;---yea, let thy fainting, thy doubting foul, be affured; lehold thou art truly, extensively, eminently fair: how adorned is thy heart with spiritual understanding, to pry into the mysteries of God; with fingleness, and with chastity of affection to me; with readinefs to bewail thy finfulnefs, and the hidings of my face; and with a candid fincerity, in dependence on, and following after me! — and as endowed with my ordinances, and reformed by my word and Spirit, how comely is my church! how beautified with intelligent, and fincere, with peaceful, peace-proclaiming, and faithful pastors, to search into, and efpy gospel-truth; and to watch over, direct, and go before her private members!

Believ. Verf. 16. Bleffed Jefus, O darling of my heart, if, amidst this unmatched pollution and deformity, I am, in any respect, comely; how fair! how infinitely fair! how glorious and amiable! how ravishingly fweet and pleafant, must thou, divine fource of every thing lovely, be, in thy perfon, thy offices, relations, excellencies, and works! O brightness of the Father's glory! how my foul prizeth thy perfon! how fhe adores thy beauty! and, with transporting pleasure, delights in thee, as my great, my gracious, my amiable ALL IN ALL! How refreshful and reviving! how delightful and everflourishing, are the word, the covenant, the promifes, the ordinances, frames, wherein thou shewest forth thy glory, and conferrest the captivating, the fructifying influence of thy love, to my foul! And how comely and refreshful is thy church, wherein faints and their graces are begotten and born to God! Verf 17. How high towering, heavenly, upright, and durable! how deep rooted in, and a good favour of THEE, are these ministers and.

faints, fixed, as decorating and fupporting pillars and beams, in thy church, which thou hast built and furnished; and in which thou dwellest with us, for our good! How delightful and lasting are these ordinances, which, as rasters, support the sabric of thy church; and in which, as galleries, we walk with thee; and in which, as watering troughs, thy people quench their spiritual thirst!

CHAP. II.

CHRIST. Verf. 1. Inexpreffible indeed, is my excellency, glory, and usefulnes! Like the rose of Sharon, I grew as a root out of dry ground; ruddy in my humanity and bloody fuffering; but how fweet perfume, to heaven and earth, is the favour of my name! how fovereign my virtue, to allay the burning fever of enmity and lust: and to restore from spiritual confumption! Like the lily of the valley, I am white, divine, holy, harmless, undefiled; and though once exposed and debased, am higher than the heavens; filled with all the fruits of righteoufnefs; productive of faints unnumbered; am fitted for, and offered to, the most wretched and debased sinners; and with the lowly in heart, I dwell, and take my delight. Verf. 2. A d, through my comeliness put upon thee, art thou, redeemed object of my love, as a hly, holy, humble, heavenly minded, fruitful, fragrant, and ufeful, amidst the hurtful thorns of wicked men, and of reproaches, troubles, and corruptions:

Vers. 3. In respect of BELIEV. greatness, and of fruitfulness in righteoufnefs, in grace and glory; and in refpect of heart refreshing, love-producing, prayer-exciting, foul-healing, and fin-killing influence, furely, O my adored Jefus, thou infinitely transcendest angels and men! How often have I, with ravishing pleasure, safety, and rest, applied thy obedience and death, as my protection from the curfe of a broken law, and from the vengeance of Heaven, and the challenges of a guilty confeience! How often have I trufted thy almighty power and love, to defend me from Sin, Satan, and an evil world! -How often have I, dreadless of danger from heaven, earth, and hell, by faith viewed, admired, and fed upon thy person, offices, and relations; and on the pardon, acceptance, adoption, fanctification, comfort, and endless glory, that flow therefrom! - Veri. 4. While I speak of HIM, how my foul is captivated! how transported! -- My thrice bleffed Bridegroom hath brought me into the bond, and manifested to me the fecrets of his covenant; he bath made me penetrate into the very spirit and marrow of his word, his promife; hath given me the most pleasant and transporting intimacy with himself; hath made me drink plentifully of the new wine of his redeeming, his bleeding love; and, by displays thereof, hath directed, encouraged, and determined me, vigoroufly to fight with, and refift Satan; and to war against, and mortify my finful corruptions; and to trample on the fmiles and frowns of a prefent world. Verf. 5. But oh! — for still more enlarged—for unspeakably more enlarged enjoyment of HIM, and his unsearchable fulness; to enable me to bear and improve what I behold and feel !- For now is my foul overwhelmed with joy; deep fixed in wonder; quite transported with the enrapturing fight, and fweet fenfation of his dying, his giving love; and with the view of the perfections, purposes, words, and works of God, as shining in him! How loft in fweet amaze, I languish, all inflamed with love! Verf. 6. Thrice pleafant frame! thrice happy cafe! while I enjoy the fafe, the delightful, the near, the tender embraces of an incarnate God! while I have the feerets of his love imparted to my foul! and am, by his promife, his power, and grace, inwardly upheld, delighted, and ftrengthened! Verf. 7. While I enjoy this rapturous fellowship with Jesus, diffurb me not, ye nominal professors, or ye fellow faints: by all that is delightful, I charge you to beware of giving him, or causing me give him, any provocation to withdraw his fenfible wifit of love, till he do it of his fovereign pleafure. Vers. 8. Ah! how quickly! how finfully, I have loft the rapturous frame! but bleffed be my glorious Visitant, that in a little wrath, he hides but for a moment. WHAT is this which already warms my cold, and cheers my fainting heart! - It is the majestic, the almighty, the attractive. the refreshful voice, word, and promise of Jefus, the darling of my foul. - Behold! thrice furprifing! he returns with loving-kindness and tender mercies! - Behold, with infinite pleafure and speed, he overleaped the mountain of diffance betwixt his adored, and my debased nature!—for ME he overleaped the flaming mountain of the broken law, and of the incenfed vengeance of an angry God ; — overleaped the dark mountains of death and the grave! -And with what power, joy, triumph, and speed he now comes skipping on the hills of instituted ordinances, and over the mountains of guilt and of defertion, temptation, rebellion, and fpiritual plagues, to fave, reftore, and comfort my foul! Verf. o. As a roe, or a young hart, how infinitely beautiful and lovely is не, in his person, office, and work!-how pleafant, gracious, and kind in his disposition! - How alert, ready, and nimble, are his motions of grace towards his people !- Hov 110ted his hatred of, and his fuffering from, and triumphant victory over, Satan the old ferpent, and his works! How extensive his duration, and the continuance of his faving work! His fiesh and blood, how pure! and how divinely allowed provision for my foul! -Behold, under the Old Testament, how he stood behind, and was reprefented by the partition-wall of Hebrew rites! Behold, while we are walled in by a frail body, and by fins, temptatious, desertion, and distress, he is not far off, but ever ready, through the lettices, the ordinances of his grace, to afford us partial displays of his glory, and transient tastes of his all-endearing love! Vers. 10. In answer to my cordial wish, now is come HE whom my foul loveth; in melting strains, he invites me to his presence, his embrace: " Arife,

SON [441] SON

Arise, dear object of my everlasting " love, beautified with my righteouf-66 nefs and grace, awake, shake off thy " fpiritual floth, thy flavish fear, and " carnal care; let every grace be flir-" red up to a lively exercife. Come " away, be directed and drawn by me, " into the most familiar, delightful, " ufeful, and enriching fellowthip of "God, Father, Son, and Holy Ghoft. " Verf. 11. For being exhautted on " me, the winter-florm, the deluging " rain of boundless wrath is over and " gone; being finished in thy espousals " to me, the flormy winter of thy na-"tural flate is over; the deluging " curse that once hovered on thy head " is pall; in my prefent return to thy " foul, thy late winter of guilt, cor-" ruption, temptation, defertion, and " diffrefs, paffeth over, and evanisheth. " Verf. 12. And now is come a fpring-" tide of evangelic, of refreshful dif-" coveries and influence; now, fra-66 grant, comely, and cheerful faints, " are fashioned and flourish; with " beauteous form, and delightful vir-" tue, their graces fpring forth : -" with livelinefs, wifdom, and fuccefs, " ministers publish the glad tidings of " peace and felicity; faints have their 44 luxuriances pruned, and do publish " the Saviour's praife: now, men fpi-" ritually know the joyful found of the " gospel; and the bleffed Spirit, that "heavenly, that harmlefs, pure, meek, " and beauteous TURTLE, speaks life " and joy to their inmost heart. Vers. "13. Now, with pleafure and profit, " do the professors of my name, root-" ed and grounded in me, and who, " fentible of their weaknets and guilt, " depend on me, and through my in-" fluence, and manifold rods, become " fruitful, thrive under the means of " grace, and abound in the precious, "though imperfect fruits of know-" ledge, of faith, of love, repentance, " humility; of patience, zeal, and new " obedience :- numbers of young con-" verts are produced in the particular " worshipping assemblies of my church. " - Arife, therefore, my love, my fair " one, (verf. 10.) quit thy perverse un-Vot. II.

willingness; away with delays; and, with vigour, boldness, and speed, come, even to my feat. Verf. 14. " O beloved foul, poor, weak, timorous, and exposed; pure in thy new " nature and food; comely and harm-" lefs; fociable with faints; challe to-" wards me, and by my grace fruitful " in holinefs; and whose exercise is " mouning for fin, and flying to the " Saviour;—and whose name was, from " everlasting, hid in my fecret purpofe " and choice;—whose person is hid in " my person and blood;—whose duty " it is, to hide thyfelf under the shade of my power and love, and to cultivate a feeret intimacy with me and " my Fath.r; and who often hideft " thyfelf amidd fiaful defpondency, " fullen grief, and flavish dread, ap-" proach me now with holy boldnefs, " and full afforance of faith, and with " fervency of prayer: for, delightful to " me is thy crying out of the deeps of guilt, corruption, temptation, and " trouble; thy confelling and praising " my name; and most amiable is thy " looking to, and bold acting of faith upon my promife, perfon, character, and work. Verf. 15. And to further my peoples intimacy with, and likenefs to myfelf, in holinefs and comfort, I charge you, rulers of my church, and every member in his " flation, to watch the conduct, and " to promote the cenfure of falfe teach-" ers, crafty, covetous, deceitful, wicked, and abominable; who fpoil her " vines; root out and overturn her true doctrine; corrupt her worthip; dif-" turb her order, peace, and unity; per-" vert her ditcipline and government; and check mens Christian practice: " -for fome true members are but " weak in knowledge and prudence, " in gifts and grace.—And I charge " every professor to observe, to watch " against, and mortify his fox-like in-" ward corruptions, crafty, lurking, " wandering, unconstant, desperately " wicked, and deltructive; and v ry " first motion thereof; and to resist the manifold temptations of Satan, " which with fubtle fecrecy, hurt their 3 K

SON SON

" inward grace, especially if weak, or " budding forth new fruits of holy en-" deavours." Verf. 16. Beloved Jefus, arifing, at thy call, I come with boldness, even to thy feat: in the full affurance of faith, I believe, and accept thee as mine: I love, and am fatisfied with thee as my Saviour, my husband, my wisdom, righteouspess, fanctification, and reder ption; as mine, by divine gift, by spiritual marriage, and by cordial embracement; my portion, my God, my ALL IN ALL: -and whatfoever unworthy I am in my perfon, my grace, my gifts, my cares, and concerns, I acknowledge and furrender to thee, as thine; thine by thy ancient choice; by thy Father's gift; by thy bloody purchase; by thy gracious efpoufal; and by my cordial vows.-O with what delightful pleafure thou and thy people enjoy one another, whilft in thy ordinances thou discoverest thy glory to their view, and conveyest thy all-nourishing fulness to their heart! Verf. 17. Not only till the gospel-day break, when the Sun of righteoufnels displays his glory, performs great things in his church, makes the wind of his divine influence to blow, renders his people active in their labour of love, and causeth the shadows of ceremonial rites, and of many gross corruptions, to flee away: - but till the more clear and glorious day of endless light break and dawn, wherein we shall see God as he is, shall ferve him without ceasing, and bask in the transporting rays of his redeeming love; and when every thadow of weakness, pollution, forrow, defertion, temptation, and trial, nav, of outward enjoyment, and instituted ordinances, shall fice away, shall be quickly and finally removed; turn thee, my beloved Saviour:-in the appointed means of thy worship, often surprise me with thy kind vilits; discover thyfelf to my foul, as infinitely gracious, lovely, and pure; as an enemy of, and triumpher over Satan and his works; -as, through the gift of God, and thine own fufferings, our choice, spiritual, and ever afting provision :- and according to the riches of thy grace, tread down, and overleap every interrupting mountain of guilt, of corruption, and distance, which impede thy delightful and eaty access to my neart.

C H A P. III.

BELIEV. Verf. 1. When the muchdefired Jefus, whom my foul in fincerity loveth, and whom I would gladly leve with ten thousand-fold more ardency, withdrew his fenfible prefence, I, on mybed of trouble, darkness, confusion, and floth, at first fought him; begging the return of his wonted fmiles, and the favourable communications of his love; but, for answer, had continued filence, defertion, darknefs, frowns, terrors, and even flashes of wrath darted into my confeience. Vers. 2. Amidst deep perplexity and grief, I then bestirred myself to an carnest attendance on his public ordinances; these fircets and broad ways of his beloved city the church; calling on, and feeking for the fenfible prefence of this unmatched darling of my foul; but to try my grace, to punish my floth, and my finful dependence on ordinances, I was still answered with filent desertion, heavy challenges, or angry frowns. Vers. 3. Ministers, divinely placed in the populous, the pleafant and privileged, in the fortified and well-ordered city of the church; and appointed to efpy her danger, to preferve her fafety and peace, to affift and direct her pure and peaceable members, and to check the unruly, often touching my cafe in their diffeourfes, as if they had been privy thereto, I efficemed them the intimate feerctaries of Heaven, and laid before them my condition: and amidst differess and confusion, begged them to inform me, how I might regain the wonted favour and fmiles of my darling, Christ. Vers. 4. Still pained with continued defertion and frowns, and fearing that I had relled on means, I, as one betwixt hope and defpair, attended his ordinances, carnelly looking through and beyond them, to his person, office, free grace, all-cleanfing blood, and faving power; and with inward agonies, and ftrong cries and tears, and groan-

SONSON 443

ings that could not be uttered, I justified him in all he had done to afflict me, and suppose he should east me into the lowest hell: meanwhile, I remonftrated to him, nev incapacity of bearing the thoughts of endless separation from him, or of being condemned to everlatting rebellion, rage, and blafphemy against him, a God and Saviour of unbounded love ;-and that my life on earth was to me an hell, while, like Cain, I was driven out from his prefence .- With heart-breaking longings, I pled the promifes, chiefly those which I once tilought had pierced to the centre of my foul; out of the deeps I cried, that for his name's fake, he would make uncommon stretches of mercy to fave, and finile on a monfter of felly, ingratitude, and backfliding. -Quickly I found the darling of my foul: In his word I difcerned his glory; I finelt the ravishing favour of his name; I felt his powerful presence, returning with loving kindness and tender mercies; I heard his voice faying, Fear not, for I am with thee; be not difmayed, for I am thy God. I, even I am he that Hotteth out thy transgressions, for my name's fake, &c. &c.—Immediately every inward band was loofed; every m matain of ignorance, unbelief, atheism, carrity, hardness, pride, legality, melted before the Lord God of Ifrael; every languishing grace was enabled and emboldened to fight with, and tread under foot corruptions and temptations; every former manifestation of his love was cleared and confirmed; and with ravishing sweetness, unnumbered views of glory, and of my new-covenant interest therein, come crowding into my heart. - Having thus found my Redeemer; I, by the excicite of faith and leve, excited and strengthened by, and fixed on him; and through his infinite condescersion to me-ward, held him, when he feetaed ready to depart, and would not let him go: - fatiating my foul with his kindness, I pled his promife, to do regood: I filled my mouth with arguments: I ordered my cause before him.—And importunately I wrefiled for his gracious return to his church, and the ordinances of his grace, wherein I and others are converted from iniquity, and born to him; nor ceased, till by promise, or by fulfilment, he affured me, of his making all the places round about his hill a bleffing. Verf. 5. Readmitted into near and fenfible fellowship with Jefus, the quinteffence, the unbounded fulnefs of everlasting Love, I folemnly charge you, fellow faints and profeffors; and adjure you, by every thing interesting, lovely, or dreadful, to beware of whatever may provoke him, or difturb my foul! chap. ii. 7.

Companions, or daughters of Jerufalem. Verf. 6. What amazing perfon is this, who, turning her back on the defert, the thorny, the stony, the famished, the dangerous, the troublefome, the pathlefs, the barren, the bemilling wilderness of a prefent world, and of a natural state, and of her lite fpiritual diffrefs, and who, mortified to every carnal enjoyment, and triumphing over every impediment, -and who, having her heart divinely inflamed with love, fo mysteriously, uprightly, and fo regularly, steadily, and delightfully mounts up towards God, towards Christ, and things above, in holy defire, cordial prayer, and affectionate praise; and in felf-dedication; and a well-ordered practice !- and who, in her person and work, is persumed, is rendered acceptable, by the meritorious obedience and death, and the prevalent intereeflion, and manifold grace of Jefus Christ, our skilful apothecary, and heavenly merchant, who counfels to bny of him without money, and without price!

Believ. Verf. 7. 8. Gaze not upon, nor admire me, a polluted finner, who, by the grace of God, am what Iam, in comelines and virtue; but be-Lold his BED; behold the CHURCH 6rected by HIM, who, in wifdom, power, authority, renown; and in the extent, peace, and wealth of his kingdom; and in building a spiritual temple for God, and in his pointed and prevalent intercession, far transcends King Solomon ;—the church wherein multitudes are fpiritually begotten and born to him. Behold the reftful, the quickening, and everlasting covenant of grace, made with, fulfilled, and administrated by him! behold his refreshful, comforting, refloring, and life-giving WORD! behold the precious, enlivening, the beautifying, envigorating, and enriching bleffing of FELLOWSHIP with him! and which is purchased, conferred, and maintained by him !- Behold the perfect fafety, honour, and happiness of those who are true members of his church; are in the bond of his covenant; and through his word, enjoy inrimacy with him! - What regulated troops of vigilant, active, and courageous ministers, armed with the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God; and armed with authority to exercise difcipline and government in the church! what hofts of mighty angels, armed with power and commission from God! -and what hofts of divine perfections, constantly watch over, and defend them, from the fears, the doubts, the troubles, and temptations, fo incident, during the nights of this prefent life, and of diffresses unnumbered! Vers. o. 10. For his perfonal refidence and motions, hath Jefus, my King of kings, and all-glorious Prince of peace, aftumed a real HUMAN NATURE, more precious, durable; more fragrant, deeprooted, strong, and comely, than the cedars of Lebanon : as with piliars, this chariot is established with the precious, firm, and fhining graces of the blefled Spirit; it is bottomed and founded, on his infinitely-excellent, his everlasting and unchangeable Godhead: its covering is of purple; therein, he had our fins charged and punified on him, and conquered all his cuemies, and now appears in his royal majefly; in it, he bears the kindel love, exercifeth the imnost fympathy loward his people; and, in his i tercellou, prefents them before his Father, as written on his heart.—And for tradporting his elect from a flate or un and misery, to endless felicity, L., to the praise of the glory of his grace, hath entered into a precious, firm, fragrant, well-ordered, and everlafting

COVENANT; of which the promifes are more strong, shining, and valuable, than pillars of filver: Its Mediator, and bottom of divine perfections and purpofes, are more precious, fubflantial, and glorious than gold; its condition for covering and protection of finful men, is more spleadid than purple, the blood and righteoulness of an incarnate God; and its midth, its centre and fubflance, are God's infinite, amazing love and condescension .- And to render this covenant effectual, he hath, for his own honour and use, framed and published a glorious, delightful, a deep-rooted, firm, and everlafting GOSPEL of peace; whose pillars of truth are more pure, precious, more comely and strong, than filver feven times purified; whose bottom, Christ the power and wisdom of God, is more firm, folid, shining, valuable, ufeful, and enriching, thangold, whose doctrines of complete remission, through his blood, and of the erofs his people mult bear for his take, are more illuttrious, grand, and ufeful, than coverings of purple; whose midst and centre is JEHOVAH's redeeming love, undeferved, ancient, almighty, and unchangeable.--And for publishing this ineftimable gospel, he, for his own praite, and his people's advantage, hath erected a beautiful and firm, a well grounded, delightful, and durable CHURCH; the fupporting, adorning, and filver like fillars, of which are faithful pattors, and precious faints; its golden bottom is the everlasting perfon, truth, power, and promife of Cmill; its purple covering is not chiefly the jufferings of her true members for Jefus's fake, but his bleeding obedience and death, which protect from the fury of God, the rage of devils, and the ruinous malice of men; and its ordinances, its affemblies, are turnifled and filled with declarations and displays of divine love to finful men; and its true members have the love of God tred abroad in their heart.—And for dif-I laying his glory, and vouchtaming his grace, to the highest, I will be see the ever-enduring majoraço co, e 📖 venly state, whose filver pillars are just men made perfect; whose golden bottom and foundation is Jefus the pearl of great price; whose purple covering is his royal majefly, and everlatting righteoutness; and the centre and substance of whose happiness, and the sum and burden of whose songs, are God's redeeming love to men. Verf. 11. Go forth then, ye nominal professors, from your natural state, your felf-righteoufnefs, your earnal care, your filthy luits: go forth, ye weak believers, from your legal, your carnal, your dead and iluggish frames, and from the unnumbered remains of corruption; go forth to Jefus's word and ordinance; steadily contemplate, believe on, defire, and delight in him, my all-glorious Prince of peace, (chap. i. 4. iii. 7.). hold HIM wearing the crown of divine, and of mediatorial glory, power, and authority, which his church, and every true member thereof, united to him, and having him formed in their heart, do folemnly ascribe to him, in their efteem and acceptance of him; and in their fubmission to, and praising of him, on the noted day of their spiritual espoasals with him, at conversion, at death, or in the judgement to come; and whereon, with delightful pleafure in, and joy over them, as the children of his love, as the feed produced by the travel of his foul, and as the birth of his Father's promife, he welcomes, apprehends, and unites them to himfelf, and accepts and perfects them.

SON [445] SON

CHAP. IV.

Christ. Verf. 1. Beloved foul, to encourage thy faith, behold, notwith-standing of remaining defilement and trouble, my rightcoufness and grace render thee fair and beautiful, before God, angels, and men, chap. i. 8. 15. Thy spiritual knowledge, faith, and affection, are fincere, ingle, humble, comely, and scasonably discovered; thy thoughts and actions, infignificant indeed to themselves, but sprung from my influence, are regular, comety, conspicuous, and ornamental; they all concentre in living by faith on me, and,

under a fense of felf-unworthiness, oil ving up thyfelf to my fervice.—Behold. too, the church, whose member thou art, is by ordinances, officers, and faints, rendered beautiful and glorious; her eye-like ministers, though imperfect, are modell, humble, holy; walking in all godly fimplicity, and harmony; not indulging themfelves in pride, contention, or carnal policy;—her bair like young converts, weak and finful in themselves, but rooted and grounded. in ME, her head, grow up in holiness; and as goats, browfe on the rich paftures of my word; and are acceptable facrifices to God. Verf. 2. How fweet. ly do the pure and well connected acts of thy faith and meditation apply thy fpiritual provision, nourish thy foul; and with much labour and profit bring forth fruits of righteoufnefs!—and thy zeal is pure, regular moderate; and active in holinefs .- The able and zealous ministers of the church, who prepare the spiritual nourishment for their people, are pure and found in their doctrine; holy and harmless in their lives; equal in their power and commission; harmonious and meek in their purpose and behaviour; and do with diligence and fuccefs, travail as in birth, to win fouls to me their Lord. Verf. 3. Thy humble, constant, cordial, and fervent prayer, praife, and fpiritual conference, turning chiefly on the myttery of a bleeding Redeemer, are very profitable, pleafant, and diffinct; marking thy heart found, thy foul enflamed, and thy confeience purged, with my dying love; and that through my bloody fuffering, thy fervice is prefented to, and accepted of God :—and in my effecm, thy felf-abafement and modelly, thy shame and rejection of thy belt fervices before me, render thee notably beautiful and comely.-In the church, my bleeding obedience and death, and redemption thereby, as the great theme of her pastors, render them, and their ministrations, lively, pleafant, and comely: -and with modetly, fingleness, prudence, and order, do her rulers govern, direct, and edify her members. Verf. 4. Thy faith, which unites to, and exalts me thine head, and which receives out of my fulness, and grace for grace, and is upright in itself, and adorned with many lifter-graces and good works, is as a lofty, strong, impregnable tower. What fafety it procures to thy foul! what deadly blows are thence aimed at the spiritual foes! From my well-stored magazine, whence faints, the most valiant, have in every age been supplied, what divine armour it furnishes thee with, to refift every temptation, flay every luft, repel every doubt, endure every trouble, and conquer the world !-- In the church, ministers, who are above others in station, are notably adorned with gifts and grace; are closely connected with me their head; bear my name before, and are the inftruments of uniting others to me, and of conveying from me spiritual nourishment to them, - as towers are high raifed, upright, fleady, and flrong; and do watch over, and improve the whole armour of God, for the defence and honour of his church.—The inspired oracles, too, fo gloriously adorned with various forms of truth; fo afeful to bring finners to, and unite them with my person, as their head, and to convey my fulness to their foul, are an high, impregnable florehouse of spiritual armour, fufficient to repel every enticement to fin, mortify every deed of the body, defend every truth, and thoroughly furnish for every good word and work. Veri. 5. In my fight, the lively exercise of thy faith and love, and thy tender care to edify others; -things harmonious, pleafant, and amiable, ufeful to faints, but ruinous to Satan,-exceedingly add to thy comelinefs.—Nor, in the church, are paftors and teachers, or the Old and New Testaments, or the gospel-institutions, folemn and ordinary, or the two facraments, from all which, as breafts, my children fuck the fincere milk of my word, unornamental; they are harmonious, comely, pleafant, profitable to faints; but hated of Satan, and ruinous to his interests. Vers. 6. Until the day of the gospel-dispensation dawn, and ceremonial shadows slee away: nay, till the bright morning of glory dawn, and every shadow of corruption, weakness, and doubting; every thadow of defertion, temptation, and trouble; and of unfubitantial enjoyments, and instituted ordinances, flee away, never to return, will I, according to thy request, (chap. ii. 17.) with pleafure dwell in, and continue to discover my glory, in the lofty, the protecting, and immoveable, in the wholesome, the fruitful, and devoted mount of my church, and the ordinances therein dispensed; and which, by the graces therein exercised, and fervice performed, but chiefly, by the influence of my righteonfaefs and intercession, is rendered delightsome and fragrant, as with myrrh and frankincenie. Verf. 7. In respect of thy complete justification; in respect of the extent of thy fanctification; and in thy difallowment of remaining defilement, and thy labour to perfect holinels in the fear of God, art thou, dear object of my love, alt fair, beautiful, and comely; there is no foot of legal guilt on thy perion, no reigning fin or allowed guile in thy heart, no nated flain, that shall not be quickly purged out.—And is not the church altogether fair and comely, in her doctrine, her worthip, and order? is not the flining converfation of her members, glorious and beautiful? Verf. 8. Beloved foul, chofen from eternity, wooed by the gofpel, and espoused to m., in the day of my power, in promifing, thou fhalt, I folemaly invite thee, to come with ме, with де, thy great, thy gracious, and unmatched father, brother and husband; with ME, thy God, and thine ALL; come, without delay come, live the fafe, delightful, and profitable life of faith on me; the life of intimate fellowship with me; and of holy obedience to me; - earnestly study an holy deadness to, and distance from the lofty, the alluring heights of outward honour, pleafure and profit; -where corrupt, brutish, cruel, and violent men, rest and fitisfy themselves; and by means whereof, finful luits and temptations temptations, oft ruin their precious and men, her converts to God, planted in Jeimmortal fouls. Verf. 9. Dear faint, begotten and adopted by my Father; fanclified, though with inferior glory, by my own Spirit; and, betrothed to me, in loving-kindness and tender mercies; how, even with the weakest act of thy faith, and with the exercise of that chain of graces, which attend it, haft thou claimed, attracted, and encouraged, my heart! how coupled mine affection to, and drawn forth my war-Verf. 10. mest leve towards thee! Beloved relation, and bride, how excellent, glorious, and comely, is thy Love, to me, and to my members! how much more delightful, and acceptable, than ceremonial offerings, or outward enjoyments! - and thy beautifying. foftening, medicinal cintment of grace, how far preferable to Mosaic incense, or ravishing outward delights! Verf. 11. How thy private prayer, thy praise, thy confession of my name, and thy spiritual converse for the instruction, comfort, or reproof of others; and thy prudent, fincere, and edifying converfation, mark the reality of thy grace! How freely, gradually, constantly, and readily, from thy own faith and experience, dost thou communicate to others, the fweet, the enlightening, the nourishing, and medicinal truths of the gofpel!-how infinitely fragrant are thy garments of imputed rightcoulness! nor doth thy holy and benevolent practice fail to spread a favour of Christ all around, to attract and gain others to him. Verf. 12 .- 14. My church is a garden inclosed, separated from the world, digged by gofpel-ministrations, watered with divine truths and influences; diftinguished into various stations, and worthipping affemblies; protected and hedged by the care of my providence, and by the rules of order contained in my word :-- in her alone do run the pure, the medicinal, and cleanfing waters of gospel-truth, which are hid from the rest of the world, and in their spiritual glory, and refreshful virtue, thut up from, and fealed to every one, who is not a true member.-How, when purged of wicked and feandalous fus, do flourith, more fragrant, delightful, precious, and ufeful, more numerous and different in circumstance, than all the fruit bearing trees, fruits, and spic s of an orchard!—And thou, particular faint, my fifter, my fpoufe, (verf. 8. 9.), as a garden inwardly digged by my Spirit, fown with my word, hedged by my power and law, guarded by thy gracious vigilance, watered by the heavenly dew, and flourishing with various graces, and fruitful in good works, art referved for, and walked in, by me alone:—in purity, freshness, fafety, and feparation from polluted perfons, doctrines, or acts, how, as a spring stat up and fountain sealed, thou art unknown to the world, thut up from Satan, kept chafte and pure, for conjugal fellowthip with me alone!— And, in value, variety, beauty, and usefulness, how thy budding knowledge, faith, repentance, and love, thy humility, brotherly kindness, temperance, meeknefs, zeal, and fimilar graces, refemble the precious pomegianates, fruits, and spices, of a choice orchard !

SON SON 447

Believ. Verf. 15. Bleffed Jefus, uncreated FOUNTAIN, whose it is to run in, and water all the churches, and every true member thereof, and to supply them with every necessary promise and influence; O what a deep, a large, a full, and overflowing fource of everrunning, of life-producing, life-maintaining, life-reftoring, and life-perfecting virtue art thou!--how freely! how abundantly and delightfully! how variously, constantly, and powerfully, dose thou communicate thy precious truths, and thy gracious induences to men!-To thee, Lord, I owe my whole fruitfulness,—O, run more plentifully into my foul, that, by the exercite of thy grace, I may be rendered useful, to water and refresh others around! Verf. 16. And, Lord, fince I am THY garden, thine by thy ancient choice, by thy Father's gift, and by thy collly purchase, thy gracious cultivation, and special use, let every freezing and destructive blast of trouble, temptation, or fear, be reilrained from blowing on, and hurting my foul ;and may the bleffed Spirit, in his fovereign and mytterious, his invisible and powerful manner, convince me of, reprove me for, and embitter my fin; cool, pierce, and purify my confeience; quiet, comfort, warm, and melt my heart; revive, cherifh, ftrengthen, and cause to flourish in good works, my languishing grace!—and do thou, lefus, my dear hulband, mafter, and friend, come, dwell in, and more glorioufly discover thyself to thy church, and to my foul, -rejoice over me, to do me good; grant me the nearest, and most delightful intimacy with thee; accept of, and take pleasure in these, my various, gracious, and amiable habits and acts, whose author, proprietor, and object, thou art.

blowing

SON [448] SON

CHAP. V.

Verf. 1. At thy request, CHRIST. Gear foul, who are spiritually begotten by my Father's will, and united to my glorious person, I am speedily come, to bestow my distinguished, and powerful presence on my church; to delight myfelf in the lively preaching, and gracious application of my fweet, freth, nourishing, restorative, medicinal, and emboldening gospel-truth :--in respect of fensible presence, I am come to thy foul; and with pleasure to cultivate, and accept of thy spiritual graces, weak or strong; -- and, solemnly I charge, and earnettly invite you, O highly favoured objects of my everlatting love and diffinguished care, to receive abundantly from me, and to rejoice in the unfearchable fulness of grace and glory lodged in me; and to take the comfort of your inward grace, as evidential of your election, and everlaiting telicity.

Believ. Vers. 2. How often does Jesus, my glorious Bridegroom, find churches almost wholly asleep, when he cometh to bless them; and when by his gospel-institutions, and diversified providences, he knocks for admission!—And when, at my earnest cry, he graciously offered me his fentible presence, such was my spiritual deadness, my dulness, confusion, and floth, my cavaality and deep unconcern, that contrary to conviction of guilt, contrary to thoughts about, and flirrings of affection towards him; and while I could not but hear and feel his mighty, his charming voice, make a powerful and repeated impression on my heart, tenderly entreating me, by the endearing characters of his SISTER, his LOVE, his DOVE, his UNDEFILED, (chap. iv. 9. i. 9. ii. to. 14. iv. 7.;) and earnestly beleeching me to open it to him, by a lively acting of faith upon him, a vigorous exercife of ardent love towards him, and a folemn and familiar pouring out of my requests and defires before him ; and obtesting me, by his infinite love, in cheerfully undertaking for, and, in my room, bearing the numerous, dreadful, destructive drops of his Father's wrath; and in patiently enduring fo manifold affronts and injuries, while he waited to be gracious to my foul. Verf. 3. Alas! I refused нім admission; I shifted him off, with the most abfurd excuse, importing, that I now possessed not my wonted liveliness of frame; had lost my wonted skill and care to improve him as my righteoufness, and to perform any part of my duty; and that I had decreased in my knowledge and fense of gospel-principles, these spiritual shoes; and was weary of, and averse to every gracious exercife, and could not prefently perfuade, or flir up myfelf thereto. Verf. 4. While I practically returned this wretched reply, to his heart-charming, his aftonishingly gracious, and condefcending entreaty: he, fecretly, but powerfully quickened my faith; touched my heart; awakened my affection; and filled me with inward agony, grief, and fhame, for my finful refutal; and with an hungry and carneft defire, after renewed and sensible fellowship with him. Vers. 5. Hereupon, I shook off my deadness and floth, and bitterly repented of my flighting HIM. Receiving influence from him, my faith, my love, and every grace, in the most easy, agreeable, and fragrant manner, exerted themfelves themselves to remove ignorance, pride, unconcern, and fuch other evils, as had obstructed his ready access to my heart. Vers. 6. Eagerly I acted faith upon his promife; I panted with defire towards him; I lifted up my cry for fenfible fellowship with him; but to punish and embitter my former refufal; to humble my foul; to endear his prefence; to try and exercise my grace; to enflame my love, he had justly, had quickly, and fearfully withdrawn; and refused to grant me the fmiles, or the powerful influence of his diftinguished visit. At the remembrance of his kind invitation, and my worse than mad rejection thereof, my foul was thrown into a dreadful damp of confusion and fear, of grief and fhame, and with fupplications, strong eries and tears, I fought him, but found no appearance of his fenfible favours: with my whole heart and foul, I begged his gracious return, but he gave me no comfortable answer, (chap. iii. 1. 2.) Verf. 7. When ministers, whose office it is to oversee, guard, guide, and comfort the church; to obferve and watch against spiritual enemies, and warn men of their approach; touched my case, in their public miniftrations, they but razed my hopes, and encreased my anguish: when I privately informed them of my case, they upbraided me with my finful miscarriage; they misconstructed my desire of a meeting with Christ; and discouraged my expectation thereof; or, they robbed me of the comfort of my justifying vail of righteoufness, and put me upon legal and unfuccefsful methods to regain my beloved :--fome imposed on my conscience the superstitious commandments of men; while others reproached me as an hypocrite, and ridiculed me as one whimfical and deprived of reason. Vers. 8. Thus abused by pastors ignorant and unfaithful, I turn to you, my fellow, though younger profesfors; earnestly I beseech, and folemnly I charge and adjure you, that if the bleffed Jefus, whom my foul loveth, grant you any view of his glory, any taste of his goodness, you will Vol. II.

SON [449] SON

fpread my case before him, and with eagerness remonstrate to him, not that men, that ministers have injured me; but that I languish and pine with pain, with vexation and grief, for want of, and with earnest loaging, and burning desire to enjoy, his sensible presence;—and that my soul must quickly perish, if he return not in love.

COMPAN. Verf. 9. Distressed, but precious and lovely faint, how thy charge excites and animates our heart, to wish further knowledge of Jesus, thy so prized Husband! What! O what trusseendent excellency is in this beloved of thy soul, above what can be found in the lusts and pleasures of sin! in the profits, the honours, delights, and applause of this world! or in near and beloved relations! or at least in our own life, and inward endowments! What! O what peculiar loveliness, glory, and sulness is in him, that thou dost so charge and intreat us concerning him!

Believ. Verf. 10. Mention nothing as comparable to my infinitely endearing Hulband and Saviour: O his boundless and all-comprehending excellency! He is white and ruddy: white in his glorious divinity, ruddy in his fuffering humanity; white in the holiness of his human nature, and obedience of his life; ruddy in his bloody paffion and death; white in his glorious exaltation, but ruddy in his humbled debasement; quhite in his mercy and love towards his people, ruddy in his wrath and vengeance against his enemies; and in every respect the miracle of beauty, the wonder of angels, the ravishment of faints, the delight of JEноvaн.—How infinitely more kind, rich, pleafant, glorious, excellent, and comely, than all the ten thousands of created beings in heaven or earth!and is he not the flandard-bearer, who fubdues the nations to the obcdience of himfelf; and whom thousands and myriads of angels and faints follow, and fight under! Verf. II. His Godhead, his authority and government of his church, and his being the head of influence to his people, how much more excellent_a excellent, precious, pure, substantial, and glorious! how much more ufeful, enriching, unchangeable, and lafting, than gold the most folid and skining! his numerous, his well-connected purpofes and providences, how comely, mysterious, majestic, and awful!-his whole glory, and even the well-joined multitudes of faints rooted and grounded in him, as their head, how ever comely, fresh, and unfading! Vers. 12. His all-feeing knowledge, his tender pity and care, how pure, penetrating, pleasant, and beautiful! how attentively he waits to fhew mercy! With what deep compassion his levely eyes run to and fro through the whole earth, to shew himself throng in behalf of them that fear him! how fixed were his heart and eyes on the fulness of time for his incarnation! how constantly they attend to the fulness of virtue in himself, to communicate the fame to the fulness of his body the church! Verf. 13. The manifestations of his courage, of his glory, and grace, and of his condescenfron and love, exhibited in word and ordinances, how delightful! attracting! reviving! and refreshful!—His gracious words how pure, mild, glorious, fragrant, and fruitful!-Attended by the influence of his Spirit, how gently, how gradually, how feafonably, and incessantly they drop into our heart, spiritual virtue, refreshing, quickening, purifying, and pleafant! Verf. 14. His munificent liberality, his unbounded power, his mighty works, especially of our redemption, how aftonishingly large, or numerous! and how perfect, refolute, and glorious! and how encouraging, medicinal, and marvellous, their virtue!-His fecret purpofes of love, his tender bowels of compassion, his fympathifing interceffion, how precious, pure, fincere, firm, and durable! how ftrengthening and attractive the virtue! Verl. 15. His strength to uphold all things, to bear the weight of the new covenant, and of all our persons, our fins, our punishment, our falvation, our burdens, our cares; and of all the government and glory of his Father's house, how firm, latting, and divine!

SON S O N

His paths in undertaking for us; in affuming our nature, and fulfilling our righteoufnefs; in walking in the churches; in converting, correcting, and helping his people, and in trampling down his enemies, how mysterious, skilfully contrived, and founded on Godhead!— His whole perfonage, office, relation, and every manifestation thereof, how elevated, amiable, fragrant, refreshful, fruitful, and lasting! Verf. 16. His voice, his word, the fenfible communications of his love, the breathings of his Spirit, the power of his intercession, how transcendently fweet, and delight-In fine, нь, the unmatched Jefus, не, my inexhaustible subject, in his person, natures, names, and offices, and in his relations, qualities, and works; and in his undertaking, birth, life, death; in his refurrection, afcendion; and in his appearance in the prefence of God for us, his dealing in the gospel with us, and at last coming in the clouds to judge devils and men, is altogether lovely, defirable, and glorious. Every lovely excellency in heaven and earth he contains to the highest: infinitely he deferves, and by all that know him, will he be earneftly coveted, as the best, as the fum of all things excellent and valuable. This, my fellow-professors, This, This amazing Lord, is the beloved of my foul, and my kind, liberal, condefeending, and everlafting friend, who loved me, and gave himfelf for me.

CHAP. VI.

COMPAN. Vers. 1. Thrice amiable and happy faint, now we believe and are perfuaded of the transcendent excellency of thy darling Redeemer: now our hearts are attracted with the thoughts of his glory .- Whither, O whither is THY-oh could we fay, our-unmatched Jesus gone? Inform us in what ordinance, in what manner he is to be found, that, with ardent longing, we may cry after, wait for, and feek him with thee.

Believ. Verf. 2. My lovely and dear Bridegroom hath indeed deferted my foul; but I certainly know, that, in infinite condefcention, he employs himself in his church, (chap. v. 1.), chiefly in these worshipping assemblies and hearts where his peoples graces are most vigorous and active; that he may convert, discover his glory to, give his Spirit, and confer more abundant grace and comfort on, 1 joice over, and delight in his chosen lilies, and at last transport them to the celestial state. Verf. 3. Notwithstanding his hiding and frowns, I cannot but highly value his person, offices, relations, and way; cannot but boldly and humbly attempt to maintain and affert my special intered in him: in the firm faith that he is MINE, divinely made over to me in his new-covenant promife and grant, I folemuly furrender my perfon, and my all to him; my foul and body to be faved; my fins to be forgiven and destroved; my burdens and cares to be borne; and my gifts, graces, and outward enjoyments, to be managed by him, to his honour .-- Nor, defert me as he will, thall I allow myself to difcredit his feeding himfelf among his people, delighting in, and rejoicing over them, to do them good, chap. ii. 16.

himfelf

SON [451] SON

CHRIST. Verf. 4. Beloved foul, betrothed to me in the day of my power, now, after much pleased beholding of thy carriage in my absence, I return to vouchfafe thee my fenfible prefence: nor, in my fight, art thou less precious and honourable than ever .- My church is more delightfully fituated, more beautiful in form, than Tirzah, the residence of Hebrew monarchs; and in compactnels, fafety, beauty, freedom, and enjoyment of the presence and worthip of God, more comely than Jerufalein; and, with spiritual armour and majestic air, more terrible than an army with banners; and, in my view, how far, bleffed foul, thou excellest in comeliness these beautiful cities! With what joy and pleasure have I beheld thy faith and love boldly defend thy heart for me, against every attempt of corruption, every attempt of devils or men! With what transporting delight have I fuffered myfelf to be overcome with thy fervent prayers! Verf. 5 .- 7. How divinely transported! how sweetly delighted, with the eager actings of thy faith and love towards me, amidst his ding and abfence !-Now, returned, I folemnly affure thee, thy holy thoughts, and gracious exercife, thy unfeigned and operative faith, thy spiritual meditation; thy regular and active zeal, thy humility and felf-abasement, together with every thing belonging to my church, are of me effected as comely and precious as ever, (Chap. iv. 9. 1. 2. 3.) Verl. 8. 9. My true church alone, how choice and valuable! how preferable to all the nations, the gay affemblies, and the different fects upon earth! and how much approven by their inmost conscience !—In her, are faints habitually honoured with my diftinguished fellowship; others more legal in temper, and rarely admitted to my fentible prefence; others indeed justified, washed, fincere, holy, and humble, but merely commencing a religious course.-In me they are all ONE; are the only true and choice members, and children of my church, each born from above: faints of every fize, with well to, pray for, affectionately love, truly efteem, and highly commend them -- And thou, ranfomed foul, in mine eyes, how much more comely, amiable, and delightful, than every beauty of palaces, or of blooming youth! how gracioufly chofen, choice, chaite, fpotlefs, and meek! nor can any acquainted with thy comelinefs, fail to blefs, commend, and extol thee. Verf. 10. With admiring applause, to which I affent, and which I confirm, they cried out, "What marvellous church is this! which, in the patriarchal age, shone forth as the rising mora! which, in the Mofaic, showed fair with a moon-like brightness of ceremonies, all illuminated of Jefus her Sun! which, in the Christian æra, chiefly in the happy Millennium, shines clear as the fan afcending his zenith! and which strikes folemn dread upon perfecutors, and others around !—And what marvellous perfons are thofe, who, turned from darkness to light, do, in their gracious state and exercise, as the morning-light, thine pleafant and freth, 3 L 2 going SON [452] SON going on to perfection! and who, in borrowed and imperfect holiness, shew fair as the changing moon! and who, in their imputed righteoufness, shine clear as the meridian fun! and armed with the whole armour of God, wifely and brifkly, war with fin, Satan, and the world! and by the awe of their holy life, and their regular reproofs, are terrible as an army with banners." Verf. 11. Even while my fensible visit was withdrawn, I promoted thy joy and welfare: eagerly I employed myfelf, working falvation, for the divinely planted, the heaven-pruned, watered, and weeded, and fruitful garden of my church; where grow, and are ripened for blifs, my poor, hidden, well-protected, and covered, my oft bruifed and broken, but inwardly rich and glorious faints: there I observed the holy fruits of lowly, debased, and oppressed souls; observed if my vine-like people increased in numbers, in gifts, graces, and good works; and if, as lofty, upright, fruitful pomegranates, planted in a rich foil, they, with much humility and felf-denial, bloffomed, and brought forth abundantly, the fruits of righteonfness, precious, fragrant, favoury, and ufeful:and tecretly I observed, an esteem of, a love to, and defire after me, growing in thy afflicted and forrowful heart. Vers. 12. Often all of a sudden, I bring falvation to my chosen people, who, in the day of my power, are made willing to forego fin, telf-righteoufness, worldly enjoyments, and wicked men, and to ferve me, and take up my cross; and who, endowed with a princely difposition, are qualified to sit and reign with me on my throne:—all of a fudden, divinely delighted with thy exercife of faith, love, repentance, and prayer, during mine abfence; my warmest affection, my yearning bowels of compassion, effectually determined me, triumphantly, quickly, and royally, to come, support, fave, and comfort thee; granting thee the end of thy faith and hope, and the return of thy prayer. Vers. 13. True daughter of the church; perfect in they head, in his righteourness imputed, and in the extent of thy fanctification; possessed of peace with God and thy confcience; endowed with a peaceful disposition, and intitled to unceasing quiet, in the regions of light, am I returned to thy foul? Return then, return, in more spirited acts of faith and love; of earnest defire, and penitential grief, of humble blushing, and holy boldness, that I, my Father, and bleffed Spirit, with holy angels, and regenerated men, may look upon, and be delighted with observing thy glories, graces, and labours.—Ask not what thing, valuable or pleafant, is to be seen in thyself, or the church: for how ravishing and delightful to behold Jews and Gentiles gathered into one body of faints! to behold divine perfons, perfections, and holy angels, furround and protect thee! to behold thy heavenly graces and holy duties stand mustered in battle-array, valiantly fighting with fpiritual foes, and threshing down thefe accurfed mountains, and treading them under thy feet!

CHAP. VII.

CHRIST. Verf. 1. In respects unnumbered, how glorious the fight! My princely and heaven-born church, how adorned with ministers, fully furnished with the preparation of the gospel of peace, and intrepid and prompt to spread the messages of sovereign love !--how adorned with young converts, a-new formed by the manifold power and wildom of God!—And thou, bleffed foul, begotten of God, and heirefs of heaven, how beautifully are thy acts of faith, thy gracious affections, and holy conversation, founded on, and infligated by the free, the honourable, the preferving, and emboldening doctrines and motives of the glorious gofpel!—how delightful thy ready and cheerful willingness and progress in evangelic holiness! and every principle and first motion of thy new nature, how exquisitely curious, framed by the Spirit of wifdom and knowledge! Verf. 2. In my church, how complete! how curioufly formed, capacious of gospel-truth, and furnished with pure and purifying influence, are her pastors and ordinances, which, in midit thereof, possess an exalted station, and contribute much to her vigour and health! and how glorious, numerous, fubstantial, and fruitful, as an heap of wheat fet about with lilies, do her converts quickly become !- And, bleft foul, how large, extensive, and richly fupplied with heavenly influence, are thy gracious exercife, and ardent defires, which, in thy prefent state, convey in thy spiritual nourishment! By spiritual digestion of my word, how is thy inner man nourished, and rendered fruitful in good works, pure, folid, and comely, and rendered an honoured instrument, to promote the heavenly birth, and gracious edification of others! Verf. 3. The church's breasts of divine testaments, ordinances, facraments, and ministers, singularly add to her beauty and use: -thy faith in and love to me and my people, and thy well-ordered endeavours to quicken, comfort, nourish, and refresh others, with the fincere milk of the word, how much more comely and delightful than twin-roes, which feed among lilies! Vers. 4. My church, how ornamented with the precious and impregnable fort of the feripture; and by her officers, who, like a tower of ivory, are pure in the faith, strong in the grace, confirmed in the truth, and fet for the defence of the gospel:—and who, as filb-pools, have clear views of the mytteries of Christ, are full of his bleffing, constant in adherence to truth, and quiet in conversation, and are a bleffing to others unnumbered: - and who, like a nofe and tower of Lebanon, looking towards Damascus, sagaciously discern, watch against, and briskly oppose, chiefly, her principal enemies!—And, believer, how adorned art thou, with the glorious, the impregnable, and alldefending grace of faith, which unites thy foul to myfelf! how adorned with clear, distinct, pure, felf-fearching, and repentance-producing fpiritual knowledge! how adorned with a gracious fagacity, to difcern good from evil, and with prudent zeal, bold courage, and exact vigilance against every spiritual danger and foe, chiefly predominant lufts, and fins and temptations, which do often and eafily belet thee! Vers. 5. In the church, my being your fuffering furety, your king, hufband, and glorious fruitful head of influence; and my making every foul and grace rooted and growing up in me, partakers of my bleeding atonement, and royal greatness; how much it adds to your comeliness!—And thy crowning grace of hope, supported by faith as a neck, how imbrued with my blood! how high towering, heavenly, and fruitful! her prospect of divine and eternal things, how wide and delightful! Thy numerous bair-like thoughts, and even most inconsiderable acts of life, fpringing therefrom, how actuated by my bleeding kindnefs! and how royal! majestic!-With thy extensive comeliness, thy lively faith in, ardent love to, and raifed esteem of my person and fulness, thy godly forrow for past offence, thy ardent defire, and humble prayer for, and holy fear of lofing, my fenfible vifit, am I the King eternal, immortal, invisible, fo divinely delighted, and enamoured, -and by my infinite love, and my unblemished faithfulness to God, and thy foul, fo powerfully determined, that, with pleafure and joy, I must abide, walk, and feast with thee, and thy fellow-faints, in the magnificent, delightful, lofty, and lightsome galleries and ordinances of my grace. Vers. 6. Dear object of my dittinguished, my redeeming love, and ardent lover of my perfon,-in my fight, how inexpreffibly pure, agreeable, amiable, and comely, art thou! and with what transporting pleafure, I rejoice over, and delight to do thee good! Verf. 7. Thy whole frame and stature of grace, rooted in me, and under my warming rays, and amid heaviest pressures of trouble, how high grown, upright, precious, and comely! how incorruptible, ever-living, peace-speaking, victorious! how flourishing and fruitful in a most sweet and nourithing product! thy life and fructifying virtue, how mysteriously derived from thy head!—from the breafts SON S O N454 of ministers, scriptures, ordinances, and facraments, how plentifully thy foul extracts my heavenly influence, fresh, exhilarating, and strengthening !-thy endeavours to retain me amid the embraces of thy faith and love, and to edify others around, with gracious fpeech, and holy conversation, how delightful, nourifhing, ufeful! Verf. 8. In my ancient counsel I purposed, in my faithful word I promifed, to abide with, and to difplay my glory, and communicate my grace to, and in arms of everlasting love to embrace thee, and every true member of my church .--And now, that I figually do fo, now ought, and shall, ministers, scriptures, ordinances, facraments, heavenly influence, and thy private endeavours to edify others, be eminently nourishing, Arengthening, and effectual to the welfare of fouls: now ought, and shall, thy faith and love, thy spiritual defire and delight, be efficacious, refreshing, and pleafant to my heart: now shall the faithful preaching of the gospel, the agreeable character of church-members, and their spiritual fagacity to discern good from evil, with their fervent prayer, these tokens of soundness in a church's constitution, or of newness of nature, and liveliness in religion, be more favoury and pleafant than mellowed apples. Verf. 9. Not only shalt thou breathe after, and relish the best spiritual nourishment; but thy speech, thy prayers, praifes, and holy conference, and the ministrations of the gospel with thee, shall turn upon me as their subject and end:—(how my foul acquiefces in their tendency to honour and delight thee, beloved Saviour!) - and how roufing, quickening, restoring, strengthening, and refreshful to the dead, drowfy, and infenfible, to the weak, flothful, and inactive members of my church!

Believ. Verf. 10. What, bleffed Jefus, am I, a worthlefs and vile monfter in myself, to be thus commended, exalted, and favoured by thee !-Before God, angels, and men, I profefs, that by thy grace alone, I am what I am, in comelinefs, value, or use: I call heaven and earth to record, that I gratefully furrender my whole felf, and all I have, to thee as my Saviour, my covenant-head, my everlasting husband, my mafter, my God, and my ALL IN ALL: —and that I believe, admire, delight in, and am fatisfied with, and boast of thine early, ardent, almighty, everlafting, thy free, costly, marvellous, and often-manifested, redeeming love to my Verf. 11. O thrice worthy darling of my foul, come, fulfil my defires in the powerful fpread of the gofpel in every country, the bafest and most idolatrous on earth not excepted; let me have intimate fellowship with thee in the word and ordinances of thy grace; draw my heart entirely afide from this vain diftracting world; arrest it wholly on thyfelf; grant me retired, abiding, refreshful, and ravishing enjoyment of thee, as my God, my exceeding joy. Verf. 12. Come to my foul, feafonably, quickly, and powerfully! and with me review the state and condition of thy church; enable me to pour forth, and graciously answer, my earnest requests, for the faints, weak or strong; (chap. ii. 13. vi. 11.)—Affist me to examine the condition of my various, felf-denied, fragrant, fruitful, and ufeful graces; and to pour out my requests in relation thereto; and, by thine almighty influence, cause them flourish, blossom, and bring forth good works, (chap. iv. 13. 14.) Then, all inflamed with thy kindness, and burning with love to thee, shall my inward powers, defire, delight in, and boalt of thee; shall furrender myself to thy fervice; and more and more bring forth the flowers and fruits of holinefs to the praife of thy glory. Verf. 13. Lord Jefus, defer not the special manifeltations of thy grace! Nay, furely thou hast begun to vouchfafe them; for thy meek, amiable, fragrant, and favoury, thy pacific, love-exciting, and fruit-bearing, (though fometimes fleepy and flothful), faints begin to flourish, and fpread their heavenly influence:the medicinal, heart-cooling, love-producing, fructifying, and delightful (tho', alas! fometimes occasionally sleepening) doctrines of thy gospel, become to many a favour of life unto life: the various SON [455] SON and lovely flowers or fruits of grace in our foul, bloffom, flourith, ripen for glory, and fpread abroad a fweet favour of thee - and for thy fervice and honour, thrice beloved Jefus, are many promifes. doctrines, and bleffings of the gospel of peace, laid up in our heart; and various, and much diversified exercises of grace, and acts of holiness, are plainly and openly brought forth in our conduct.

CHAP. VIII.

Believ. Verf. 1. Oh! when shall God mercifully vouchfafe that bleffed period, when thou, adored Saviour, descending from thy Father's bosom and throne, shalt assume our debased nature; become a member of our vifible church; and walk among us, in the likeness of finful flesh!-O for that happy day, when I shall enjoy thy most familiar intercourse, in the ordinances of thy grace! how boldly then, chiefly to estranged finners of the Gentiles, should I spread and publish thy fame !-how publicly should I profess my love, my reverence, my obedience and subjection to thy glorious Self! None should have reason to contemn my choice of an husband, or upbraid my barrenness in good works; nor should I regard contempt or reproach for thy fake; as, in the iffue, God, angels, and men, should esteem me truly honoured, and wife unto falvation. Vers. 2. By the effectual fervent prayer of faith, should I obtain thy powerful presence in the ordinances bestowed on my mother the church: eagerly should I spread thy renown, and bear thy fame through the world; eagerly should thy ministers, and chiefly thyfelf, teach me my duty; and mightily shouldst thou be delighted with the spirited exercises of my grace, and with my abounding in holinefs. Verf. 3. Ardently my foul pants for the nearest fellowship with Christ: and furely had I obtained it, I should be at once supported and ravished therewith.—Already, how have the thoughts of his coming in the flesh, of his coming in the Spirit, and at laft coming in the clouds to fave me; and the views of his excellency, the intimations and embraces of his love, enraptured all my powers!—By the promifes, displays, and influences thereof. how fweetly refreshed! how mightily upheld is my inner man! (chap. ii. 6.) Vers. 4. Having once more regained this delightful intimacy, this ravishing fellowship with Jesus, solemnly I readjure, and re-charge you, his profeffed friends, and children of the true church, that you give it no interruption: for why! O why should you, in the least provoke нім, the quinteffence of kindness, this all-lovely Redeemer, to withdraw his fentible prefence from my foul ? chap. ii. 7. iii. 5.

COMPAN. Verf. 5. What diftinguished! what happy foul, is this twho, from the barren, destitute, and entangling, the comfortless, dangerous, and pathless desert, of an unregenerate state, of a present evil world, and of remaining ignorance, unbelief, tribulation, temptation, and carnal care, gradually and deliberately mounts heavenward, in servent desire, spiritual-mindedness, and holy employs; all along directed by, depending on, drawing virtue from, and delightfully solacing herself in Jesus her beloved!

Believ.—Let no created person or thing disturb me; let no commendation of me, an infignificant, a finful worm, tickle my pride. Thou, Jesus, haft engroffed all my thought, all my attention. Protected and refreshed by thy shadow, O blessed appletree; revived and invigorated with the fweet fruits of thy benefits unnumbered, and all actuated by thee, with what fervent prayers, lively faith, and flaming defire, have I flirred thee up, graciously to relieve, refresh, and enrapture my foul !- In this manner the Old-Testament faints travailed, as in birth, for thine incarnation .- In this manner, faithful pastors, and zealous believers, travail as in birth, till thou art formed in mens heart, and till thou return in the clouds .- In this manner, every person in whose heart SON [456] SON thou art formed by faith, mourns for thine absence, and travails as in birth, for thy fenfible vifits. Vers. 6. O what inexpressible nearness to Jesus! what entrancing discoveries of redeeming love! what countless numbers, and unbounded measures of spiritual blesfings, faving mercies-my collarged foul pants for ! - O to be an unmatch. ed debtor to, object and wonder of, endless and almighty love! O to be inceffantly remembered in thy all-prevalent intercession, and to have thy whole power and providence shine forth diftinguished, unbounded, and eternal kindness to my foul !- O to lie for ever in thy bosom, having all my powers melted in thy love to me, and burning with mine toward thee !-So vehement, so irrefittible is my felfconquering, my all-conquering affection; fo strong, ardent, and extenfive is my defire, that nothing but the full, the everlafting fruition of thy infinite and all-lovely Self can fatisfy it! If this be with held, - I must diffolve and die of love! Not long can my mortal frame support these sweetly ponderous loads of bliss!-these fweetly violent shocks of panting for my God! - My flaming ardour to enjoy thee, my holy jealoufy, my impatience of thy delay, and my fear of disappointment, how they engross, and, as the grave, fwallow up every thought!-how like to unhinge my constitution, and waste my foul; With what inexpressible pleasure and force do the flames of my love, as of a fire kindled on JEHOVAH's altar, and as of a fire kindled by JEHOVAH's, by Jesus's infinite kindness, warm and melt all my inward powers! confume and burn up my corruptions, my carnal cares! Verf. 7. Adored Immanuel, if the many waters of my infignificancy, my distance and unworthiness: the overwhelming floods of my furprifing guilt, pollution, rebellion; or of unmixed divine wrath, Satanic temptation, and fufferings innumerable, to be endured in my stead, could not quench thy flaming love to me !- why then should the many waters of afflic-tion, or divine withdrawment, quench my love to thee? How can the roaring, the outrageous floods of ungodly men, of violent perfecution, of horrid temptation, of heart-breaking hardship and reproach, or of legal terror, or -raging luft, drown and deftroy it? Were all the gold, the wealth, the enjoyments of creation offered as a bribe, a price, for my upmost love, how should my foul contemn, startle at, and abhor the infernal propofal! Verf. 8. But, bleffed Jefus, while I enjoy thy favour, and poffefs thy grace, how many of thy chosen ones, of the fame my tical body with us, are among the unhappy Gentiles, destitute of the gospel-breasts of scriptures, ordinances, facraments, and ministers! how many, whether Jews or Gentiles, are unconverted, destitute of the breafts of faith, love, holy defire, or edifying influence, and altogether unripe for a spiritual marriage with thee! how, Lord, should I promote their effectual calling! and what wilt thou do for them, in the time appointed for their spiritual espousals to thee, and gracious reconciliation to God!

CHRIST. Verf. 9. Since their falvation is firmly, is unchangeably fixed in my decree; fince, in due time, their persons shall be united to me, as their fure foundation, and rendered impregnable against every effort of hell and earth, I, my Father, and bleffed Spirit, will build them into a glorious, and unfailing church; will build them up in holiness; endow them with manifold gifts and graces, pure, precious, shiuing, and useful; and render them a firm tower, and beautiful temple, and palace for God .-- And when the door of faith shall be opened to them, and their hearts opened to receive me and my fulness, we, notwithstanding of their infignificancy, weaknefs, troubles, and temptations, will thoroughly beautify, fliengthen, and protect them.

Belliev. Verf. to Bleffed Redeemer, the fulfilment of thy promife is fufficiently pledged. Thy church is a wall composed of lively stones, built on thee, their fure foundation ;the is firmly compacted, and established in the faith; is fafely protected by thy power and providence; is adorned with breafts and towers of wellfurnished scriptures, ordinances, facraments, and ministers; and is highly favoured of thee, with precious bleffings unnumbered .- And I, being by faith rooted and grounded in thee, firmly built up in thy truths, preserved by thy power, and established in thy way, refreshed and nourished by the breafts of the church, and fashioned with the towering breafts of wellgrown faith, love, holy defire, and useful influence; -how highly have I been regarded of thee; and by thy favour and fellowship, how made to increase in every good principle and action! Vers. 11. Jesus, my wealthy, wife, and glorious Prince of Peace, has chosen, has asked, and received of his Father; has purchased with his blood; has planted and purified by his grace; has fown with his word; and protects and manages by his providence, the vineyard of his church; and by convincing, enlightening, fanctifying, and comforting influence, renders her noted in the number of faints, and the multitude of graces and good works.-This vineyard he has committed to the care and management of gospel-ministers; every one of whom is obliged diligently to watch over, carefully to water with gospel-doctrine, and faithfully to weed and prune her, by reproofs, warnings, and cenfures; - and is obliged to support and strengthen the weak, protect the members from spiritual danger, and estay to make her fruitful in faints, and in works of righteoufness, to the praise and glory of him, to whom they must quickly give an account. Verf. 12. Under his eye and care, is the whole vineyard of his church, and of every particular foul therein; and with joy and pleasure he inspects his ordinances and faints .- And have not I, and every faint, in charge, the vineyard of our heart, to watch over, keep, and Vol. II.

SON [457] SON

defend from temptation; to weed and purge from corruption; and fo render fruitful in gracious habits and holy employs?—Thou great Prince of Peace, must have the chief honour and fruit thereof; and thy ministers and ordinances must have their subordinate share of my love and regard; and with the honour of winning souls, and of endless crowns, wilt thou reward thy fervants, who are faithful to their trust.

CHRIST. Verf. 13. Bleffed foul, who, to my honour, and to thy endless advantage, art a member of the worshipping affemblies of my militant church, and who doft, and fhalt abide therein, and with diligence and pleafure, labour in the work of thy station, and make an open profession of my name; -how oft have thy fellowprofessors, sharers with thee in the fame Saviour and covenant, and in the fame graces, privileges, and fufferings, familiarly, and with delightful fatisfaction, attended to thy voice, and been thereby inftructed, edified, and refreshed! - O, till the day-spring of glory arife in its brightness, and every interpofing shadow flee away, be frequent in addressing my throne with thy prayers and praises; and to our mutual delight, let a close correspondence, and intimate fellowship, be carried on betwixt us: be careful for nothing; but in every thing, by prayer and supplication, let thy requests be made known to God.

Believ. Verf. 14. Thrice lovely Immanuel, divine darling of my heart, requirest, encouragest thou, my frequent and familiar intercourfe with Thyfelf! My whole foul complies. -Not only did Jewish believers ardently long, and plead for thy coming in the flesh; -not only do I eagerly pant for thy coming in the power of thy Spirit, and the spread of the gospel among the nations around: -- but, oh! with proper speed, dispatch every providence appointed for me, or for thy people on earth! haften that ravishing period, when we shall be admitted to the royal mansions above! shall see thee as 3 M thou art, and know thee even as we are known! shall fully enjoy thee in all thy loveliness; in all the wondrous leaps, or discoveries, of thy redeeming love; and in thy marvellous victories over these cuised serpents, fin, Satan, and the world! and shall, with transporting and full fatisfaction, feed upon thy person, righteousness, and fulness, in the glorious, the fragrant, refreshful, and lasting hills and heights of eternal felicity, where the odoriferous smell of thy natures, office, and work, shall for ever perfume the region, dart rapturous joy into every heart, angelic and human, and fill every mouth with triumphant hallelujahs of the highest praise!

SOOTHSAYER. See DIVINA-

SOPE; a kind of paste made of ashes and tallow; or of these and lime; and much used for washing and whitening of cloth; and sometimes in medicine. Perhaps the Jewish Borith was only the herb sopewort, or allum. Jesus Christ is likened to fullers sope, as, by his word, his Spirit and blood, he reforms the world, and cleanses the souls of men, Mal. iii. 2. Mens endeavours to hide or dissemble their vices, or even their legal attempts to forsake them, are called much sope, Jer. ii. 22.

SORCERY; SORCERER. See DI-

VINATION.

SORE; (1.) Painful, 1 Kings xvii. 17. (2.) Very much; with much pain and grief, If xxxviii. 3. Pfal. lv. 4. A sore is, (1.) A boil, Lev. xiii. 42. (2.) Any disease, Deut. xxviii. 59. (3.) A great calamity, Rev. xvi. 21. Men are forc, when pained with a wound, Gen. xxxiv. 25.; or diffressed with some calamity, Job v. 18. Putrifying fores are fins, and the punishments thereof, which tend to waite and ruin persons and nations, If. i. 6. Men know their own fores and griefs, when they have an hearty and kindly feeling of their fins and miseries, 2 Chron. vi. 23.

SOREK; a brook that runs westward through the country of the Danites and Philistines, Judg. xvi. 4. I am apt to think it had its name from the choice vines or yellowish grapes which grew on the banks of it, Gen. xlix. II. If. v. 12. Jer. ii. 21. Heb.

SORROW. See GRIEF.

SORT; (1.) Manner, 2 Cor. vii. 11. (2.) Kind, Pfal. lxxviii. 45. (3.) Materials, Deut. xxii. 11.

SOSIPATER; a kinfman of Paul, who fent his falutation to the Roman church, Rom. xvi. 21. Possibly he is the same as Sopater of Berea, who attended Paul part of his way from Corinth to Jerusalem, Acts xx. 4.

SOSTHENES, the chief ruler of the Jewish synagogue at Corinth. When Gallio resused to hear the Jews accusation against Paul, the Heathen Greeks severely beat Sosthenes before the tribunal, Acts xix. 12.—19. Whether this Sosthenes was afterwards converted, and is called a brother by Paul, we know not, 1 Cor. 1.

SOTTISH; quite ignorant, stupid, and foolish, Jer. iv. 22.

SOUL; fignifies, (1.) That spiritual, reasonable, and immortal substance in men, which distinguishes them from beafts, and is the fource of our thoughts and reasonings, Mat. x. 28.; and fo mens glory may be their foul, Pfal. lvii. 8. Gen. xlix. 6. (2.) A whole human person, of which the foul is the principal part, Gen. xiv. 21. xii. 5. (3.) Human life, which is begun by the infusion of the foul, and ceases by the departure of it, Pfal. xxxiii. 19. vii. 5. 1 Theff. (4.) Affection; defire: fo Jonathan's foul was knit to the foul of David, I Sam. xviii. I. When foul and spirit are joined, soul may denote the will and affections, and spirit may denote the understanding and conscience, 1 Thess. v. 23. Heb. iv. 12. (5.) Appetite; stomach, Prov. xxvii. 7. Job xxxiii. 20. If. xxix. 8. (6.) The Jews called dead bodies fouls, because they were once their refidence, Num. ix. 16. vi. 6. Heb. God's foul is himfelf, his nature, will, or delight, Jer. vi. 8. v. 9. Is. i. 14. Heb. x. 38. Christ's SOU [459] SOW

Christ's foul, which fets him on, or makes him like the chariots of Aminadab, is his ardent love to his people, which makes him regard their graces and prayers, and hasten to their relief, Song vi. 12. Thou wilt not leave my foul in hell; thou wilt not detain my foul amid insupportable troubles, nor my body in the grave, Pfal. xvi. 10. Antichrift trades in bodies and fouls of men, in relics of dead bodies, and in pardons, indulgences, deliverances from purgatory, &c. for fouls of men, Rev. xviii. 13. The officers, especially the general, is the ful of an army, and the common foldiers are the body of it, If. x. 18. To love, or do any thing with the foul, is to do it with the utmost ardency and affection, Song i. 7. Luke i. 46. Pfal. lxi. 10. XXV. I.

SOUND; (1.) Whole: healthy, Luke xv. 27. (2.) True and substantial, Prov. ii. 7. iii. 21. (2.) Free from error, 2 Tim. i. 7. Tit. i. 9. (4.) Well instructed, and candid, Ps. exix. 8. From the file of the foot even to the crown of the head, there is no foundness; but wounds, and bruiles, and purifying fores; that have not been closed, nor bound up, nor mollisted with ointment. In the whole state, among ruled or rulers, small or great, country or city, there is nothing but sin unrepented of, and miseries quite unredressed; and in their whole nature and life, there is nothing but corruptions, vices, and troubles, Is. i. 6.

To sound; (1.) To make a noise with a trumpet, or otherwise, Neh. iv. 18. (2.) To examine the depth of a sea or pond, Acts xxvii. 28. (3.) To search out one's intentious and defigns, I Sam. xx. 12. The founding of God's bowels, is the discovery of his compassion, mercy, and love, Is lxiii. 15. The gospel is called a joyful found, in allusion to the proclamations at the Jewish fealts, or of the year of release or jubilee, by the sound of trumpets. It is preached far and wide, and delightfully reaches mens hearts, and brings them the good tidings of peace, falvation, and happidings of peace, falvation, and happi-

nefs, Rom. x. 18. Pfal. lxxxix. 15. Christ's voice is like the found of many aviters: his gracious word and influence are powerful to awaken and quicken mens fouls, and his providence to terrify and overwhelm his enemies with ruin, Rev. i. 15. found of the cherubims avings, like the voice of the Almighty, denotes the terrible and alarming nature of providences, executed by the angels or ministers of God's designs, Ezck. x. 5. The day of trouble is near, and not the founding again of the mountains; not mere echoes, or empty alarms, fit only to startle children; not shoutings of the vintage in the mountains; nor the found of joyful festivals observed to idols in high places, Ezek. vii. 7.

SOUTH; a place or country lying fouthward from fome other place. Thus Sheba, Egypt, and Arabia, were the fouth in respect of Canaan, Matth. xii. 42. Dan. viii. 9. xi. 5. &c. Numb. xiii. 29. Obad. xix. fouth part of Judea, or Canaan, is called the fouth, Ezek. xx. 46. Gen. xiii. 1. 3. The fouth country into which Zechariah's grizzled horses went, may be Africa, Leffer Afia, Syria, Palestine, Egypt, &c. which lie fouth of Italy, Zech. vi. 6. Though in most part of Dan. xi. the kings of the fouth and north are the Syro-Grecian kings of Egypt and Syria; yet in verse 40, the kings of the fouth and north pushing at Antichrist, may be the Saracens and fultans of Egypt, and the northern Turks; or, that the northern Ottomans having become mafters of Egypt, and other fouthern countries, shall harafs the Papists. But the church is reprefented as on the fouth fide of a mountain, to denote her quiet, comfortable, and flourishing state, Ezek. xl. 2.

SOW; to featter feed in the earth, that it may grow up and yield increase, Gen. xxvi. 12., God fows people, when he featters them abroad, or makes them to dwell and increase in a place, Zech. x. 9. Christ fows feed, when he publishes the truths of his word, and bestows the influences of his grace, in order that churches may be formed, and men may bring forth good works unto eternal life, Matth. xiii. 18. 19. The preaching of the gospel, which is good feed, that grows up in an increase of faints and good works, is called a fowing; and preseners are distinguished into such as fow and fuch as reap. The prophots and John Baptilt fowed the pri ciples of divine truth: but by the ministry of the apostles men were more eminently cut off from their natural flate and gathered to Christ, John xxxvi. 37. Mens charitable diftributions are called a fowing of feed; they are loattered to the needy, and tend to their comfort, and, through the bieffing of God, to the advantage of the giver. 2 Cor. ix. 6. Eccl. xi. 1. 4. 6. Mens practice is called a fowing, as they shall quickly receive il: reward or punishment thereof, Ga. vi 7. A good practice is to foru to the Spirit, as one therein, by the influence of the Holy Ghoft, and in the exercife of inward grace, lays out himself, and what he has, to the honour of God, and to promote his own ipiritual holiness and comfort, Gal. vi. 8. It is to fow in righteousness, in receiving Jelus's imputed righteoufness, and in performing good works, Prov. xi. 18. Hof. x. 12. It is forwn in peace, in embracing reconciliation with God, and promoting peace with all men, as far as may confift with holiness, Jam. iii. 18. It is a forwing beside all waters, when one improves every opportunity of getting or doing good, If. xxxii. 20. Men go forth weeping, bearing precious feed with them, and fow in tears, when, amid trouble and forrow for fin, they ferve God; and they reap in joy, and bring their sheaves with them, when they are gloriously rewarded, Pfal. cxxvi. 5. 6.—A bad practice is a fowing to the flesh, as therein one is influenced by finful principles and motives, and aets to gratify finful and corrupt lufts, Gal. vi. 8. It is a forwing of wickedness, or of iniquity, as men fcatter abroad their finful thoughts, words, and deeds, to be the feed of eternal woe, Job iv. 8. Prov. xxii. 8. It is a forwing among thorns, a practice that will not turn out to any good account, Jer. iv. 3. To forw differed or firife, is to be infurumental in flirring it up. Prov. vi. 14. 19. xvi. 28. The Jews trufting to idols, or the affiftance of Egypt, is called the forwing of wind; it was altogether foolish and ineffectual, Hos. viii. 7. The death or burial of men is called a forwing; the laying of them in the grave, iffues in refurrection to life and immortality, 1 Cor. xv. 36. 37.

Seed, is, (1.) That grain which being fown produces corn, &c. Gen. xlvii. 19. And the Jews were not to fow their fields with mingled feed, to teach us that God's truth and mens inventions, and that works and grace, should not be mingled together, Lev. xix. 19. (2.) The fluid substance in animals from which their young is produced, Gen. xxxviii. 9. (3.) Children or polterity, Rom. i. 3. Pfal. cxii. 1. Gen. iv. 25. vii. 6. 8. Abraham had a threefold feed, (1.) A natural feed, comprehending all his natural descendants, Rom. ix. 7. (2.) A spiritual feed, comprehending all, both Iwes and Gentiles, which poffels like precious faith in Christ, Rom. iv. 16. (3.) A supernatural seed, viz. Christ, defeended from him according to the flesh, Gal. iii. 16. Christ is the feed of the woman; he is the most noted of the potterity of Eve, and was born of a virgin, Gen. iii. 15. The faints are a feed, are but a finall part of mankind; but by the grace of God and the care of his providence, are made exceeding useful to bring forth glory to God, and bleffings to the world, Rom. ix. 29. They are the feed of the church, begotten to God in her, Rev. xii. 17.; are an holy feed, fanctified and fet apart to the fervice of God, If. vi. 13.; are good feed, fixed in a good flate, endowed with good qualities, and productive of good works, Matth. xiii. 38.; a godly feed, are truly in covenant with God, conformed to his image, and do worship and forve him, Mal, ii. 15. The feed of SOW [461] SPA men, are the Goths, and other barbarians, that were mingled with the Romans a little before the fall of their empire, Dan. ii. 43. A feed of evil doers, or increase of sinful men, is a generation descended of wicked parents and given to wicked works, H. i. 4. The word of God is likened to feed, as applied to our heart, it produces excellent graces and good works, Luke viii. 11. The princi-The principle of grace in the faints heart is called feed, and faid to fecure against finning: constantly residing in every power of the foul, and bringing forth holy thoughts, defires, and acts, it prevents from following fin with pleafure and delight, I John iii. 9. I Pet.

SOWRE. Their drink is forure; they offered forure wine to the Lord in their drink-offerings; or their idolatrous offerings and practice were abominable, Hof. iv. 18.

SPACE; (1.) A distance or interval of place, Gen. xxxii. 16. (2.) A certain length of time, Gen. xxix. 14.

SPAIN; a large country in the west end of Europe. It anciently comprehended both Spain and Portugal, and is furrounded by the fea on every fide, except towards the east, where it borders on Gaul or France. Perhaps it was the most noted Tarshish of The Spaniards suppose the ancients. Tubal the fon of Japheth to have come hither about 143 years after the flood, and to have brought the true religion of the patriarchs along with him. But we suppose it was peopled by the Celtian defcendants of Gomer, who might be almost a thousand years after the flood before they fettled here. The country was afterwards invaded by the Egyptians, Phenicians, and Carthaginians; who, no doubt, brought along many of their cultoms. With prodigious difficulty the Romans wrested it from the valiant natives and the Carthaginians, stript it of its immense wealth, ruined its golden mines, and kept it in bondage almost 700 years. -About A. D. 468, the Goths and other barbarians, after a war of about 70 years, feized on the country, and reigned in it till about A.D. 710; when Count Julian, to revenge an affront done to his daughter, called in the Saracens and Moors from Africa. After a battle of eight days continuance, and in about eight months, they feized on most of the kingdom. After about 900 years thruggling, they were at last driven out. About 200 years ago, their internal flrength, and their conquelts of America, had rendered this nation noted; but fince they finished their horrid murders in America, and began to perfecute the Proteflants in the Netherlands, it has, on the main, dwindled into weakness and poverty, and few of their monarchs appear capacitated for government. The banishment of about 1,400,000 Jews and Moors also mightily weakened the kingdom. A Christian church was early planted here; but whether by Paul, we know not. For fome ages the Christian church here continued in greater purity than some of her neighbours; but fince the inquifition was here established, a stupid subjection to the Pope and his delutions is almost all the religion they dare think of. Rom. xv. 24. 28.

SPAN; a measure of three handbreadths, or near 11 inches, Exod. xxviii. 16. God's spanning or meafuring out the heavens, imports how cafily he knows and governs the heavens, and all their contents, If. xl. 12.

xlviii. 13.

SPARE; (1.) In pity, to refrain from due feverity, 2 Pet. ii. 4. (2.) To hold back, Prov. xvii. 27. God fpared not his Son; he did not with-hold him from being our Mediator; nor, in punishing him, did he, out of pity, abate the least degree of what was due, Rom. viii. 32.

what was due, Rom. viii. 32.

SPARK of fire; the excessively warm breath of the leviathan is compared thereto, Job xli. 19. Idolaters, and other wicked men, are like a frank, easily blown away, and ruined in an instant, Is. i. 30. Mens vain imaginations of their wisdom or religion, and their ill-grounded hopes of hap-pinels.

S P'A [462] S P I

piness, are likened to sparks of sire, which are of little use, and of short continuance, If. l. 11.

SPARROW; a well-known bird, with a black throat and brown temples: it feems they were ordinary food among the Jews, and were fold two for a farthing; or five for two farthings, Matth. x. 29. Luke xii. 6. The Hebrew Tzippon, fignifies any clean bird. To mark his afflicted and forrowful condition, David likens himfelf to a sparrow alone upon the bouse-top, Pfal. lxxxiv. 3.

SPEAK, SAY; (1.) To tell; to relate, Gen. xxxvii. 20. (2.) To pronounce, Judg. xii. 6. (3.) To will and command with efficacious power, Gen. i. 3. 6. 9. (4.) To promise, Luke xxiii. 43. (5.) To ask, Mark xi. 31. (6.) To answer, Exod. iii. 13. 14. (7.) To teach; affirm, Matth. xvii. 10. (8.) To expound, Heb. v. 11. (9.) To warn, Col. iv. 17. (10.) To confess; acknowledge, Luke xvii. :o. (11.) To bear witness, Acts xxvii. 20. (12.) To reason; argue, James ii, 18. Jefus Christ and the Holy Ghost speak not of themselves. Christ said nothing but what his Father authorised him to do; and what had been materially faid by God in the law and the prophets: and the Holy Ghost taught men concerning Christ, as fent by Christ and his Father, John xiv. 10. xvi. 13. Christ Speaketh from heaven ; he does it now, when afcended; and in a way more grand and efficacious than Mofes, Heb. xii. 26. Evil-speaking, fignifies flander, reproach, I Pet. iv. 4. To be speechless, imports to be dumb, Luke i. 22.; to be confounded, having nothing to fay for one's felf, Matth. xxii. 12.

SPEAR, or HALDERD, feems to have been anciently a common piece of warlike armour; and hence their foldiers were called spearmen, Acts xxiii. 23. Kings and generals used them, perhaps in place of colours, I Sam. xxvi. 7. Josh. viii. 26. Sometimes spear is put for all kind of offensive armour, Mah. iii. 3. God's spear is his destructive judgements, or his staming thunderbolts, Hab. iii. 11.

Company of Spearmen, or wild beafts of the reeds, are favage and wicked people. Pfal. lxviii. 30. See TEETH.

SPECIAL; (1.) Chosen from a-mong others, Deut. vii. 6. (2.) Extraordinary, Acts xix. 11.

SPECKLED; fpotted with divers colours, Gen. xxx. 32.

SPECTACLE; a fight to be gazed at, as when persons, for a show, were condemned to fight with wild beafts, 1 Cor. iv. 9.

SPEED; (1.) Hafte, Acts xvii. 15. (2.) Success, Gen. xxiv. 12. To wish one God speed, is to wish that God would succeed him in his work, 2 John 10.

SPEND; (1.) To make use of, Gen. xlvii. 18. (2.) To waste in a prodigal manner, Prov. xxi. 20. xxix. 3. (3.) To labour till one's strength and life be wasted, 2 Cor. xii. 15.

SPICE; SPICERY; any kind of aromatic drug, having hot and pungent qualities, as ginger, pepper, nutmeg, cinnamon, cloves, cassia, frankincense, calamus, myrrh, &c. With fpices the ancients feafoned their flesh, Ezek. xxiv. 10.; gave their wines what flavour they pleafed, Song viii. 2.; perfumed their women, and their beds, and clothes, Esth. ii. 12. Prov. vii. 17. Pfal. xlv. 8.; and feafoned and embalmed their dead bodies, Mark xvi. 1. 2 Chron. xvi. 14. Jer. xxxiv. 5. It feems, they also burnt heaps of spices, to honour the death of their kings. The Arabians traded in carrying spices to Egypt, Gen. xxxvii. 25. The faints and their graces are compared to spices; themselves season, preserve, and purify nations and churches; and their graces feafon, warm, and purify their hearts, Song iv. 12 .- 14.

SPIDER; a well-known infect, of which there are about 24 kinds. Some are all over hairy; others are smooth; and, it is said, a kind in America are 50 times as big as ours. Many of the spiders are extremely venomous, and their bite, though very small, is dangerous, and sometimes speedily mortal. The Tarantula of Italy, &c. hath eight eyes, and a most dangerous bite. There is no curing it, but by suiting

mufic

mufic to the maddened patients, and making them dance till they fweat out the poilon. The bite is not poilonous but when the weather is hot. Spiders lay a vast number of eggs, sometimes to about 500 or 600. To entrap the flies, they weave webs, formed of a glue extracted from their own bowels; and in spinning which they can dart themselves a great way up into the air. When a fly is caught in this web, the favage spider, who was before hid, darts itself upon it, fixes its claws therein, and fucks out the juice of the poor creature, leaving the reft. After all, spiders are by some naturalists famed for their prudence, fortitude, equity, temperance, and cleanlinefs .-Mens carnal confidence, and their carnal attempts to fave themselves, are likened to a spider's web; after one has wearied himfelf therein, how unfubstantial, and insufficient for every good purpose! Job viii. 14. If. lix. 5.

SPIKENARD; a plant of a very fragrant fmell and strong taste shoots grow even with the surface of the ground, or even below it. The fpica or ear is about the length and thickness of one's finger, and is very light, covered over with long reddish hairs; and is of a strong finell and bitterish taste. The plant is of a heartwarming and poifou-ext elling quality, and, as fuch, is used in the treacle of Venice. The ointment made of it was very precious, Mark xiv. 3. The best fpikenard comes from the East Indies: that which is found in the Pyrenean and Tirol mountains has much the fame virtue as the valerian. Christ and his gospel, and his people, and their grace, are likened to spikenard; how condeficending, precious, heart-warming, delightful, and restorative, are Jefus and his truths, applied to our foul !-how felf-denied are faints, and how useful and acceptable are they and their graces! Song i. 12. iv. 13. 14.

SPINDLE; an inftrument for spinning with, which is still used by some of our old women. Anciently the wives and daughters of great men carneflly applied themselves to spinning, Exod. xxxv. 25. Prov. xxxi. 19.

SPIRIT; a name given to fuch substances as are not gross, as to wind, John iii. 8. Gr. or the most subtle and volatile parts of a body, whereby its functions, if alive, are performed. Animal bodies have a twofold spirit, a vital in the blood, and an animal in the nerves. Such spirits have beasts, which go down to the earth with them at death, Eccl. iii. 21. Among divines, spirit or chost ordinarily fignifies an immaterial, immortal, and thinking fubiliance; hence God is called a Spirit, John iv. 24. Christ's divine nature is called a Spirit, Spirit of holiness, and eternal Spirit, I Pet. iii. 18. Rom. i. 4. Heb. ix. 14.; and Christ is called a quickening Spirit, as he quickens his people, and gives them fpiritual life, 1 Cor. xv. 45. But the third person in t'v Godhead is particularly called the Holy Spirit, or Holy Glost, to express the mode of his relation to the Father and Son; and because he, by spiritual methods, works fpiritual qualities and affections in us, 1 Pet. i. 2. He is called feven Spirits, because of his perfect and divertified fulness of gifts, graces, and operations, Rev. i. 4. He is called the Spirit of God; his nature is divine, and he is fent by God to perform his occonomic operations, 2 Chron xv. 1. He is the Spirit of Christ, as he proceeds from him as the Son of God, qualifies him, and rests on him as Mediator, and issent by him to execute the application of our redemption, Rom. viii. 9. He is the Spirit of promise, because promised to men, and he applies the promifes of the new covenant to our heart, Eph. i. 13. He is the Spirit of truth; he is the true God, and teacheth nothing but truth, John xiv. 17. He is a holy, good, and free Spirit; being holy and good in himfelf, he works helinels and goodness in us, of his own fovereign will, and renders us of a noble and benevolent temper, Pfal. II. 10. 11. calin. 10. He is a Spirit of judgement, counsel, wisdom, and understanding: being infinite in knowledge and wifdom himfelf, he qualified Christ's manhood, and qualifies his people with wisdom and understanding. Is. xxviii. 16. xi. 2. Eph. i. 17. He is a Spirit of bondage and fear, when, by the application of the broken law to mens confcience, he fills their mind with great pressure and fear, Rom. viii. 15. He is the Spirit of adoption, that brings us into the family of God, dwells in every one of God's children, and renders them conform to his image, Rom. viii. 15. He is the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus, as, by uniting men to Christ, he bestows life on them, and by maintaining their fellowship with Christ, he restores, increases, and perfects their spiritual life, Rom. viii. 2. He is the Spirit of power, and of faith, and of love, and of a found mind, and of supplication: by his Almighty power he works faith, love, and found wifdom in the heart, and he directs and enables to pray, and to wait for the answer thereof, 2 Tim. i. 7. 2 Cor. iv. 13. Zech. xii. 10. Rom. viii. 27. And the love of the Spirit, is love of him, or gracious love produced by him, Rom. xv. 30. He is the Spirit of grace and of glory; as, from the fulness of Christ, he conveys to the saints their gracious endowments and glorious happiness, Heb. x. 29. 1 Pet. iv. 14. He is the Spirit of the living creatures, which is in the wheels, as he actuates angels and ministers, and the church, and the world managed by them, Ezek. i. 2c. He is faid to be fent, because authorised by the Father and Son, John xvi. 7.; to be given, because freely bestowed in his person, and gifts and graces, John vii. 39; to be poured out, because carefully and plentifully bettowed, Prov. i. 23.; and to come upon, and fall upon men, in respect of his beginning to act on them, Acts i. 8. xi. 25.; and to strive with them, in opposition to their corrupt inclinations, Gen. vi. 3.: andmen, in their refistance of his operations, are said to grieve, rebel against, resist, quench, do despite to, and biaspheme him, Eph. iv. 30. II. lxiii. 10. Acts vii. 51. I Thest. v. 19. Heb. x. 29. Matth. xii. 31 .- Angels and human fouls are called spirits, because immaterial and thinking substances, Heb. i. 14. Acts vii. 59. Men are faid to give up the ghoft, when their foul is separated from their body, Gen. xxv. 17. Fallen angels are called foul, or unclean spirits, Mark i. 27. The fpirit going out of a man, and travelling through dry places, finding no rest, and at last returning to his old lodging with feven other spirits worse than himfelf, may denote the devil as returning to the Jewish nation, to render them monstrously wicked, after he had been cast out of many, and could find no rest among the Gentiles, for the spread of the gospel, Matth. xii. 43.-45. Familiar /pirits, are fuch devils as converse with wizards, and the like, 2 Kings xxi. 6.—Many things, on account of their fource, their nature, their fubject, or influence, are called spirit; as, (1.) The infpiring influences or uncommon gifts bestowed by the Holy Ghoft, are called by his name, Matth. xxii. 43. Rev. i. 10. iv. 2. Heb. vi. 4. John vii. 39. Acts viii. 15. 16. 17. Gal. iii. 2. 1 Cor. xiv. 15. (2.) The renewed nature of the faints, which is produced by, and conforms men to the Holy Ghost, Gal. v. 17. Matth. xxvi. 41. John iii. 6. In many texts Spirit denotes both the new nature of believers, and the Spirit of God dwelling in and actuating it, Rom. viii. 1.4. Gal. v. 21. (3.) A temper or disposition of foul; hence we read of a right spirit, an humble spirit, a spirit of meekness, Pfal. li. 10. Prov. xvi. 19. 1 Cor. iv. 21. Timothy was an example of the believers in Spirit, i. e. in the spirituality and right temper of his foul, I Tim. iv. 12. Paul, though at Rome, was present with the Colossians in spirit, in care and affection, Col. ii. 5.: and his spirit, i. e. his care, judgement, and authority, was with the Corin-thians in their censuring of the inceltuous person, 1 Cor. v. 4. (4.) The gospel and word of Christ, by which, accompanied by the Holy Ghost, mens natures are changed, and spiritual life begotten, maintained, and perfected, 2 Cor. iii. 6. 8. (5.) Perfons inspired by the Holy Ghost, or pretending pretending to be fo, 1 John iv. 1. Falfe teachers are called spirits of devils, and faid to have the spirit of error and of Antichrift: they have Satan in them, actuating and directing them in their erroneous judgement, and corrupt inclinations, leading them out to oppose the Lord Jesus Christ, Rev. xvi. 14. I Tim. iv. 1. 1 John iv. 3. 6.—The new spirit put within men, is the Holv Ghoft entering to dwell in them, and a gracious nature and temper newly produced by him, Ezek. xi. 19. xxxvi. The four Spirits, or winds of the teavens, are angels, actuated by God to execute his providential work in every part of the world; or, the Chaldean, Persian, Grecian, and Roman monarchies, raifed up of God in different quarters, to accomplish his purposes; or, the New-Testament preachers, under God's influence, spreading the gospel into the various parts of the world, Zech. vi. 5. To live. walk, or worship, or serve God in /pirit, is to act in our worthip, and other work, as influenced, directed, and drawn by the Holy Ghost; and in the exercise of inward grace, and with all the powers of our foul, vigoroufly concurring therein, Gal. v. 25. Rom. viii. 1. John iv. 24. Phil. iii. 3. They that are joined to the Lord, are one spirit; Christ and they have the same Holy Ghoth dwelling in them; and they are conformed to him in the gracious tempers of their foul, 1 Cor. vi. 17. The testimony of Jesus is the spirit of prophecy; faithful witnessing for his truths, is equally honourable as to have the inspiring spirit of prophecy, Rev. xix. 10. The spirits of the prophets are subjest to the prophets; the opinions and tempers of prophets must be subject to the trial of others, I Cor. xiv. 26. To have the spirit of slumber, is to have one's mind rendered itupid and fenfetefs, by Satan and indwelling corruptions, Rom. xi. 8.

SPI [465] SPI

Spiritual; that which belongs to spirits. The church is a spiritual hoase; her members are renewed in the spirit of their minds; Jesus is her soundation; and his word, Spirit, and grace, con-Vol. 17.

nect them with him, and with one auother. 1 Pet. ii. 5. Prophets and other church-officers, are ipiritual men; their office lies in spiritual exercises, Hof. ix. 7. Christians are spiritual; they have the Spirit of God, and are chiefly concerned about spiritual and eternal things, Gal. vi. 1. Such as are much under the influence of God's Spirit, and of their own new nature, are spiritual, 1 Cor. iii. 1. law is spiritual; it is a transcript of the divine nature; it is given by the Holy Ghost, and extends its authority to every power and act of the foul, and chiefly requires duties of a spiritual nature, Rom. vii. 14. The gofpel, the influence it conveys, the extraordinary gitts of the Holy Ghost, the bl flings of justification, adoption, fanctineation, gracious comfort, and eternal happiness, are Spiritual, proceed from the Holy Ghoit, and are of an immaterial nature, and fuit the nature and defires of our foul, Rom. xv. 27. i. 11. 1 Cor. xii. 1. Eph. i. 3. The manna and water whereon the Hebrews lived in the wilderness, were Spiritual food, as they figured out J. lus, his person, righteousness, and Spirit, and bleffings, which are the food of our foul, I Cor. x. 3. 4. The faints prayers, praises, self-dedication, and the like, are Spiritual facrifices, not material and fleshly, as those of the Mosaic law, 1 Pet. ii. 5. Such fongs as turn upon spiritual things, and are fung with a gracious temper of foul, are spiritual, Eph. v. 19. Satan, who is a spirit, and pride, unbelief, and fuch like lutts of our mind, as are enthroned in our heart, are spiritual wickednesses in high places, Eph. vi. 12. To be spiritually minded, is, under the influence of the Holy Ghott, to have all the powers of our foul concurring in spiritual thoughts, defires, and delights, in divine and eternal things. Rom. viii 6. The things of the Spirit of God, i. e. things relative to Christ. and the method of our redemption, are spiritually discerned, are known, not by carnal reason, but by the peculiar affiltance of the Holy Ghoft, I Cor. 3 N

ii. 14. Rome is spiritually, i. e. in the language of the Holy Ghost, called Sodom and Egypt, because so like these places in wickedness, Rev. xi. 8.

To SPIT upon one, or in his face, expresses the highest contempt, Numb. xii. 14. Job xxx. 10. Matth. xxvi. 67. If. 1. 6. As the Orientals seldom or never spit as a natural discharge, the spitting before one, or on the ground, when speaking of his actions, is reckoned by them a mark of extreme detestation and disgrace, Deut. xxv. 9. Numb. xii. 14.

SPITE. Sec DESPITE.

SPOIL. See BOOTY. (1.) To spoil, is to take away the substance of a perfon or nation, Gen. xxxiv. 27. To waste; to render useless, Song ii. Christ spoiled principalities and powers, when by his death he removed the guilt of fin and the curse of the law; and fo deprived Satan and his agents of power to hurt his people, Col. ii. 15. Church-members are Spoiled, when deprived of their scripture principles, tempers, or exercises, and are as it were led bound and captive into some vain or finful fentiment or practice, Col. ii. 8. A spoiler, is a plundering ravager, fuch as the Philiflines, 1 Sam. xiii. 7.; the Chaldeans, Jer. xii. 12.; or the Medes and Perfians, Jer. li. 48.

The use of the golden SPOONS, was to lift the frankincense to put it on the altar to be burnt, &c. Exid. xxv. 29. The Arabs seldom use spoons, but the hollow of their hand, in supping their milk, broth, &c. The Chinese use two sticks instead of spoons in fupping their meat.

SPORT; jest; diversion. He that loves it too much, shall be poor, as it will hinder him from prosecuting his business, Prov. xxi. 17. Men sport with their own deceivings, when they make their jest, or boat of the sinful and erroneous courses they bring themselves and others into, 2 Pet. ii. 13. Prov. xxvi. 19.

SPOT; (1.) A fmall mark, different in colour from the rest about: so leopards have multitudes of beautiful spots, Jer. xiii. 23. (2.) A stain or outward blemish, Numb. xix. 2. xxviii. 3. Sin is called a spot, as it renders our nature, or the garments of our conversation, ugly before God and good men, 1 Tim. vi. 14. Jude 23. Such fins as are inconfistent with a state of grace, are not the spot of God's children, Deut. xxxii. 5. Christ was without /pot and blemish; was free from all finful pollution of nature or practice, 1 Pet. i. 19. The faints have no spot in this life; have no fin uncovered with Jefus's justifying righteousness, and they give not themselves allowance in any known fin, Song iv. 7. In the future flate, they shall be without spot or wrinkle, or any fuch thing; freed from all remains of fin and mifery, Eph. v. 27. 2 Pet. iii. 14. Scandalous professors are spots; are a difgrace to the church, and a means of infecting others, Jude

SPOUSE. See BRIDE, MARRIAGE. To SPRING; (1.) To iffue forth as water out of a fountain, Numb. xxi. 17. (2.) To shoot up and flourish, as corn and trees from their feed, Pfal. xcii. 7. (3.) To proceed from, as a child from his parents, Heb. vii. 14. (4.) To move forward with great haste, Acts xvi. 29. Spring, (1.) A fountain. (2.) The beginning of a thing, as of the day, I Sam. ix. 26.

The SPRINKLING of the blood, oil, and water of separation, under the law, figured God's cleanfing of finners from their fin, by the careful, close, and extensive sprinkling or application of Jefus's word, blood, and Spirit, to their foul, Lev. xiv. 7. 16. Heb. ix. 13. If. lii. 15. Ezek. xxxvi. 25. 1 Pet. i. 2. Heb. x. 22. xii. 24. The fprinkling of blood, water, or oil, on the tip of the right ear, thumb, and toe, in the confectation of priests, or cleanfing of lepers, imported a preparation to hear holy words, touch holy things, and walk in holy places; and fignified a purification of the whole man, foul and body, by the blood, Spirit, and grace of Christ, and a confectation thereof to the fervice of God, Exod. xxix. 20. Lev. viii. 23. xiv. 14. 17.

To SPUE; vomit. God spues a church church out of his mouth, when, with abhorrence of her fin, he gives her up to be a fynagogue of Satan, Rev. iii. 26. Men vomit up riches, when, to their grief and shame, they part with them to others, Job xx. 15. Prov. xxv. 16. Men drink, Spue, and fall, when God's judgements render them flupid, difgraced, and miferable, Jer. xxv. 27. Hab. ii. 16. Men return to their vomit, or what they had spued, when they return to finful practices which they had once left off and been forry for, Prov. xxvi. 4. 2 Pet. ii. 22. They wallow in their vomit, when exposed to the most difgraceful distress, Jer. xlviii. 26. A land spues out its inhabitants, when they are wrathfully driven out of it by flaughter and captivity, Lev. xviii. 28.

SPU [467] STA

SPUNGE. Whether founger, a fea production found adhering to rocks, shells, &c. be a vegetable, a mineral, or an animal, has been not a little disputed: but they are now generally allowed to be plants. They are distinguished for drawing up a great deal of moisture, and are of considerable use, for fomenting wounds, for yielding volatile falt, and for choking noxious animals. Matth. xxvii. 48.

SPY; ESPY; to take a view of. God espied a land for Israel; he determined to give them a choice one, Ezek. xx. 6. Spies are fuch as come from an enemy, to observe the nature and circumstances of a place or country, in order to the feizing upon it. Joseph pretended that his ten brethren were spies come to observe the nakedness of Egypt, how easily it might be taken, and what was the most proper method of doing it, Gen. xlii. 9. 14. 16. By the permission of God, Moses sent twelve spies, one for each tribe, to view the land of Canaan; they went through it to the very north borders, and after 40 days, returned to Moses at Kadesh-barnea. Ten of them brought up a bad report of it as unwholesome, and as impossible to be conquered. These, for their false report, and their occasioning a mutiny in the congregation, were ftruck dead by the Lord in an instant: but the other two, Caleb and Joshua, who maintained that the land was exceeding good, and it feems brought a large clufter of grapes along with them, and maintained, that, by the assistance of God, they could easily conquer it, were preferred, and 38 years after, entered into Canaan, Num. xiii. xiv. When Joshua intended to pass the Jordan, he fent two Spies to view Jericho, with the taking of which he intended to begin his conquests. They, after being preserved by Rahab, and lurking fome days about the adjacent hill, returned fafe to the camp, and informed him, that the Canaanites were in a terrible panic for fear of him, Josh. ii.

A SQUARE, is what has four equal fides. The general use of the square form, in the tabernacle, temple, or in Ezekiel's visionary structures and portions, or in John's vision of the new Jerusalem, may denote the stability and self-consistency of all things in Christand his church, Ezek.

xlv. 1.-8. Rev. xxi. 16.

STABLE; (1.) A lodging place for horses, camels, and the like, Ezek. xxv. 5. (2.) Firm; fixed; and sure, I Chron. xvi. 30.; and to STABLISH, is to make firm and sure. See ESTABLISH. Wisdom and knowledge are the STABILLTY of the times, and strength of salvation; the exercise thereof tends to strengthen and establish churches and nations; and by the exercise thereof by Hezekiah and his godly subjects, was the Jewish state then preserved and delivered from ruin, by the Assyrians, 1s. xxxiii. 6.

STACTE; the gum that distills from the myrrh-tree. But perhaps the Hebrew neterh might be a kind of liquid that was extracted by bruising of the myrrh. Some take it also to signify balm. It is certain stacte was very valuable and fragrant, and was an ingredient in the Jews sacred perfume, Exod. xxx. 33.

STAFF. See ROD. STAGGER. See REEL. STAIN: to mark with difgrace,

3 N 2 Joh

STA [468 | STA

Job iii. 5. If. xxiii. 9. But Christ's flaining all his raiment with the blood of his foes, imports that all his appearances and works should be marked with tokens of his victory over sin, Satan, and the world, Is. lxiii. 5.

STAIRS. Those of Ezekiel's vifionary temple, may denote our gradual entrance into the church, and fellowship of God, Ezek. xliii. 17. The stairs in the fecret places of which the church as a dove resides, may denote God's purposes, and peculiar protection of his people; or Christ as their way to the Father; or their unbelieving sears and despondencies, wherein they as it were hide themselves from Christ, Song ii. 14.

STAKE: rods or boards for erecting tents, &c. Not one of the flakes of church or state is removed, when, notwithstanding all that enemies can do, she enjoys peace and quietness, If. xxx. 20. The flrengthening of the church's flakes, and lengthening of her cords, import her confirmation and enlargement, Is. liv. 2.

STALK. See STEM.

STALL; a place for an horse or ox to stand and lie in. Solomon had 40,000 stalls, in 4000 stables, I Kings iv. 26. 2 Chron ix. 25. STALLED; long kept in the stall for fattening, Prov. xv. 17.

STAMMERING; fluttering in speech. The tongue of the flammerer speaks plainly, when such as before spoke, in a dark, doubtful, and untoward manner, of divine things, are enabled to do it with great clearness, energy, and delight, II. xxxii. 4. The Assyrians were the flammering lips, and people of shammering lips, by whom God spoke out his wrath and indignation against the Jews, Is. xxxiii. 19.

STAMP; (1.) To tread with violence upon the ground, 2 Sam xxii. 43. (2.) To tread or beat to pieces, Deut. ix. 2:. 2 Kings xxiii. 6. 15. Stamping imports, (1.) Complete and destructive victory over enemies, Danvii. 7. viii. 7. 10. (2.) Infulting over the misery of the afflicted, Ezek. xxv.

6. (3.) Crief for, and fear of approaching calamities, Ezek, vi. 11.

STANCHED - stopped from running, Luke vini. 44.

STAND, denotes, (1.) Diligent fervice, Pial cxxxv. 2. lxxxiv. 1. 1 Kings xvii. 1. 2.) Fixedness; continuance, 1 Pet v. 12. 3.) To be fulfilled; to prosper, Il. xl. 8. Dan. ii. 44. (4.) To abide trial and judgement, Pfal. i. 5. (5.) To maintain ground; relitt; conquer. Eph. vi- 13. 14. God's flunding in the congregation of the mighty, denotes his authority over rulers and their courts, and his calling them to an account, Pfal. Ixxxii. 1. Christ's ftanding on the throne, or at the right hand of the poir, and at the door of our heart, imports his activity, and readiness to help and fave us; and his patient and continued earnestness to have admission into our heart, Acts vii. 55. Pfal. cix. 31. Rev. iii. 20. To stand before God, is with reverence, to minister to, and be ready to execute his will, Rev. xi. 4. viii. 2. 1 Kings xviii. 15.; or to intercede with him in the most earnest manner, Jer. xv. 1. To fland up before a man, imports reverence of him, and readiness to serve him, Job xxix. 9. The dragon's standing before the woman, imports the readiness and activity of the Heathens to destroy Constantine the Great, and the Christians of that age, Rev. xii. 4. Christ's witnesses flanding on their feet, imports their having courage and ability to defend themselves against the Antichristians, who had just before reduced them to the lowest plunge of distress, Rev. xi. 11. Four angels standing on the four corners of the earth, imports their power and readiness to execute God's will in any part of the world, Rev. vii. 1. The angel flanding with one foot on the fea and another on the earth, is Christ, whose power is over all things, whether fixed or troubled, Rev. x. 2. The angel's standing in the fan, and inviting the beafts to feed on the flesh of the Antichristians, imports that their ruin should be most publicly known, and its good effects felt all the world over, Rev. nin. 17. STARS; those sparkling bodies in the heavens that give light to our earth by night, were formed on the fourth day of the creation, and had their motions and use assigned them Gen. i. 14. Their number is unknown, Riccioli thinks there may be 400,000,000. but most of them are invisible to the naked eye. It cannot perhaps perceive above 1000 Flamfleed, with his fine telefcopes, could dilcover only about 3000. Of these flars, some are PLANETS, and fome are fixed flars. The ancient Heathens held the fun. moon, Mercury, Mars, Jupiter, Venus, and Saturn, for flanets, i. e. wandering luminaries; and, as our fathers worshipped these, they dedicated the feveral days of the week to them, as the names they still bear, do flow. But according to the new aflronomy, the folar fyftem confifts of fix primary planets, Mercury, Venus, the earth, Mais, Jupiter, and Saturn; ten fecondary planets, of which the earth has one, viz. the moon, Jupiter has four, and Saturn five *. All these planets move round the fun, from west by fouth to east, as well as round their own axis; and the fecondary planets move round their principal ones. They all receive their light by the reflection of the rays of the fun. Mercury's diameter is 2600, or 3000 miles, and its diffance from the fun is 32,000,000, or 36,500,000 miles, and goes round it in 87 days, 23 hours. Venus's diameter is 7900 or 9300 miles; its diffance from the fun 59,000,000 or 68,000,000 and it goes round the fun in 224 days, 17 hours. Mars's diameter is 4444 or 5400 miles ; its diffance from the fun 123,000,000 or 145,000,000; and it goes round him in 686 days, and 23 hours. piter's diameter is $1,000 or 94,000 miles; his diffance from the fun 424,000,000 or 405,000,000; and he goes round him in 4332 days, 12 hours. Saturn's diameter is 67,003 or 78.000 miles; his distance from the fun 777,00 .000 or 908 000,000; and he goes round him in 10,750 days, feven hours. See MOON; EARTH. The councts, too, are a kind of wandering flars, but which make fuch prodigious exempions through the vafe tracts of fky, that for many years their appearance is lost to us. The fixed flars, are fuch as do not wander from one point of the celiptic circle to another; and whose distance from the sun renders it impossible for them to be illuminated by the reflection of his rays. From their nearnels to us, and their apparent meafure of light, the vifible fixed flars are distinguished into several magnitudes, 1ft, 2d, 3d, 4th, 5th, and 6th. From their relation of place to one another, they have been divided into 50 confiellations. Perhaps the fixed stars are all as big as our fun, and only appear fmall by reason of their diffance. Nay, as new stars have become visible in later times, perhaps there are fixed stars whose light, fince the creation, has not yet arrived on our earth, though it travels about thirteen or fourteen millions of miles in a minute. Oh, how immense then must the Almighty be, whom the heavens, and heavens of heavens cannot contain! -God numbers the flars, and knows them as by their name; but we have few of their names in scripture, as. Chiun, Mazzaroth, Arcturus, Orion, Pleiades. What influences the stars have on our earth, befides the illumination thereof, or how they fought against Jabin's army, whether merely by giving the Hebrews light to purfue and flay them, or by emitting fome dellructive influence, we dare not pretend to determine, Judg. v. 20.—Ar extraordinary than appeared at the time of our Saviour's birth, and conducted the wife men to him: but this we fuppose was merely an inflamed meteor, which moved in the middle region of the air, somewhat in the manner of the cloudy pillar before the Hebrews in the wilderness, Matth. ii. Perhaps.

The celebrated Mr Herschell, by his improved telescopes, has larely discovered a great many fixed stars; and likewise another planet beyond Saturn, which he has cilled the Georgium Side.

STA STA

Perhaps, in a lower fense, David is the far that came out of Jacob, and fmote the corners of Moab, and destroyed the children of Sheth; but in the highest sense, it is Jesus, the bright and morning Star, whose glory is bright, and ushers in an eternal day to his people; and so is their joy, and the terror of the wicked, who love the works of darkness, Numb. xxiv. 17. Rev. ii. 28. xxii. 16. Ministers are called stars in Christ's right hand; upheld by him, and directed in their course, they, in their high station, convey light, know-Jedge, and comfort to men, Rev. i. 20.; and when they apottatize from the truth, and fall into error and wickednefs, and lead others into it, they are represented as avandering, Imitten, and fallen stars, Jude 13. Rev. viii. 10. 11. 12. xii. 3. Dan. viii. 10.; but in the last text, stars may denote the Maccabean captains.—The truelve stars which form the church's crown, are the twelve apostles in their inspired doctrines, Rev. xii. 1. Saints are called flars, to denote their glory and usefulness, and their diversity of appearance, Dan. xii. 3.: and the day-star which rifes in their heart, is either the more clear discoveries of divine things now under the gospel, or the full vision of God in heaven, 2 Pet. i. 19. Magistrates are likened to stars, because of the direction and comfort they do, or should give to others. king of Babylon is called Lucifer, or the morning-star: his glory and power far furpaffing that of his fellow-fovereigns, If. xiv. 12. The star called wormwood, may be understood of Pelagius in the church, who exceedingly corsupted the doctrines thereof; and of Genferic in the state, who with 300,000 Vandals, from Africa, invaded Italy, and committed the most horrible ravages, Rev. viii. 10. 11. When stars in a state are joined with fun and moon, they may denote inferior magistrates, Rev. viii. 12.

STARE; to gaze upon one as a spectacle, Pfal. xxii. 17.

STATE; (1.) Condition, Gen. xliii. 7. (2.) Pomp and greatness, Eth.

STATELY; honourable; grand, and comely, Ezek. xxiii. 41. STA-Tion; fixed office or place, If. xxii. 10.

STATURE; (1.) The height of a person or thing, Luke xix. 3. (2.) The measure of knowledge and grace attained by the church and her true members, Song vii. 7. Eph. iv. 13. (3.) Degree of power, authority, and wealth, Ezek. xvii. 6. xxxi. 3. (4.) Persons in different ages and conditions, Ezek. xiii. 18

STATUTE. See Law. STAY; (1.) To abide; remain, Gen. xix. 17. (2.) To delay; wait, Josh. x. 19. Ruth i. 13. (3.) To leave off, 2 Sam. xxiv. 16. (4.) To stop; hinder, Job xxxviii. 37. Prov. xxviii. 17. (5.) To uphold; comfort, Exod. xvii. 12. Song ii. 5. (6.) To trust to one for support and comfort, Is. x. 20. XXX. 12. A STAY, is a stop; ceasing, Lev. xiii. 5.; or a supporter, 1 Kings x. 19. God is the flay of his people: he preserves and upholds them amid diffress, and comforts them amidit grief, Pfal. xviii. 18. Magistrates and great men are the flay of a nation, who preferve them in order, and from ruin, If. xix. 13. The means whereby mens life is preferved, and nations supported, are called a stay and staff, If. iii. 1.

STEAD: place; room, Gen. iv. 25. Deut. ii. 12. STEADY; firm, and fettled; - held up, in a firm perfuation of God's power and promise, Exod.

xvii. 12.

STEAL; (1.) To commit theft: to take away what belongs to one, without his confent, Exod. xx. 15. (2.) To go off, or carry off privily, as with stolen goods, Gen. xxxi. 20. Job xxvii. 20.; and fo by stealth, is in a fecret manner, as if ashamed to be feen, 2 Sam. xix. 3. Abfalom stole the hearts of the Hebrews, when he decoyed their affections from his father to himself, as their king, 2 Sam. xv. 6. The Hebrews were allowed to kill thieves breaking their house in the night, Exod. xxii. 1. If a thief was apprehended with the life, he was not to be put to death, but was to restore

S T E [471] S T E

four times the worth of a sheep, and five times the worth of an ox; and it feems fevenfold for what was taken in breaking a house: and if his substance did not amount to the preferibed restitution, himfelf was fold for a flave, to procure it. But if a thief fiele a man, at least an Hebrew, and made or fold him for a flave, he was punished with death, Prov. vi. 30. Exod. xxii. 2. 3. xxi. 16. Deut. xxiv. 7. Perhaps, the thieves crucified along with our Saviour had been guilty of both theft and murder.-False prophets flole God's word from their neighbour; what hints they could get of what had been revealed to true prophets, they published as their own; and they agreed to fay all one thing, for the better deceiving of the people, Jer. xxiii. 30. Thieves are, (1.) Such as privately, or by violence, take away what belongs to another, without his confent, Job xxx. 5. Such as practife dishonest dealing, and hunt after unlawful gain, Matth. xxi. 13. Christ comes as a thief in the night, when he comes to execute judgements, or to judge the world, in a fudden, unexpected, and to many, an undefived and dangerous manner, Rev. xvi. 15. 1 Theff. v. 2. Seducers are called thieves; by false doctrines, and other fraudulent courfes, they craftily bereave the church of divine truth, and of proper explications of scripture; they rob God of his glory, and men of their true and everlasting happiness. Such as came before Christ without his mission, were such thieves and robbers, John x. 8. 10, STEDFAST; (1.) Fixed; fure, and lasting, Dan. vi. 26. (2.) Fixed in upright dispositions and practice, Pial. lxxviii. 8. 37.

STEEL, is iron hardened by a mixture of falt and fulphur, and by heating it to a proper degree, and then plunging it into cold water. It requires great care and skill to render it hard without rendering it brittle. The Germans, who are most skilful in this way, affect to keep their art a deep fecret. Bows were anciently made of steel and brafs, Job xx. 24. 2 Sam. xxii. 35.

STEEP; hard to be climbed: 6a towers and walls are fleep places, Ezek. xxxviii. 20.

STEM, or STALK; that part of a plant which rifing out of the ground, supports the leaves, flowers, and fruit. The flem of Telle, is the royal family of David his fon, If. xi. 1. The Hebrew idolatries and dependence on the Egyptians and other Heathens had no flolk; the bud yielded no meal; or if it did, strangers swallowed it up: they turned to no good account; and whatever appearances there were of temporary advantage, the Affyrians destroyed all in the end, Hof. viii. 7.

STEP; (1.) A measure of about two feet; and to have but a slep between one and death, is to be in great and near danger, 1 Sam. xx. 3. (2.) The fleps of a flair, to which we move one foot after another, I Kings x. 10. No steps of this kind were allowed in the afcent to God's altar, lest the nakednefs of the priefts should have been discovered to any below, Exod. xx. 26. (3.) A foot, Job xxix. 6. (4.) A motion; a course of action, Prov. v. 5. God's fleps are the practice commanded in his law, and exemplified in his conduct, Job xxiii. 11. Christ's steps are his holy actions imitable by us, I Pet. ii. 21. Mens fleps are their motions on a journey, John v. 4. 5.; or their counfels, endeavours, and acts, Pfal. lxxiii. 2. cxix. 133. The fleps of mens firength are firaitened, when their best planned devices, and their most vigorous and skillful endeavours are hardly fuccefsful, Job xviii. 7. The Ethiopians are at the fleps of the Turks when eafily oppreffed by them, Dan. xi. 43.

STEPHANAS, or STEPHEN; (I.) One of the first converts to Christianity at Corinth. He and his family were baptized by Paul, I Cor. i. 16. He, Fortunatus, and Achaicus, came to Paul at Ephesus, probably with a letter, in answer to which Paul wrote his first epittle, and fent it by these persons, I Cor. xvi. 17. (2.) STEPHEN the deacon. That he was one of our Savieur's 70 disciples, or that he was brought up at the feet of Gamaliel, is without proof. He appears to have been a principal man of the Hellenist Jews. After he was made a deacon, being filled with the Holy Ghoit, he wrought many miracles. Some of the Libertine, Cyrenian, and Alexandrian Jews, fell into a dispute with him; but not being able to withfland his nervous reasonings, they fuborned witnesses falfely to depose, that he had blasphemed Mofes and God. They hurried him before the fanhedrim, and charged him with reproaching the temple and the law; and with affirming, that lefus would deflroy the temple, and abolish the observance of Moses's laws. flead of being damped, Stephen, with a countenance bold and shining as an angel, rehearfed what God had done for the Jewish nation in former times, and how they had rebelled against him; and he rebuked them for their murder of Jefus and his prophets. Filled with rage, those present gnashed their teeth at him, as if they would have torn him to pieces therewith. Lifting up his eyes to heaven, he told them, he faw Jesus sitting on the right hand of God. As if shocked with blasphemy, they flopped their ears, and with terrible outcries dragged him out of the city, and Roned him to death. Stephen expired, beggnig forgiveness of God to his murderers; and, with great demonftration of grief, was buried by his Christian friends. Acts vi. vii. viii. 2.

STERN; the hinder part of a ship,

Acts xxvii. 29.

STEWARD; an officer in great families, who has the management of the affairs of the family, and of the other fervants, Gen. xv. 2. xliii. 19. Ministers are flewards of the mysleries of God: they are appointed to preach the truths of God, and dispense the seals of the new covenant, together with the government and discipline of the church, to their people, as is for the glory of God, and their edification, I Cor. iv. 1. 2. Saints are flewards; God hath entrusted to them gifts, grace, and manifold opportunities of doing good, which they ought to manage to his honour and their own advantage, Luke xvi. 1.—12. 1 Pet. iv. 10.

To STICK; to cleave closely and firmly. The Egyptians stuck to the scales of Pharaoh-hophrah their king; some of them adhered closely to him, at the expence of losing every thing dear to them by the rebels and Chaldeans: and the rebels under Amasis stuck fast to him, pursuing and sighting against him till they had got him utterly destroyed, Ezek. xxix. 4. See ROD.

STIFF. See NECK; HEART.

STILL. See REST.

STING; that part of fome animals which they use as their offensive weapon, and thereby wound and distil venom into the flesh of their enemy. Some of these stings are bearded; and fo their wound is the more painful; and if the infect that flings be too quickly hurried off, the fling is left in the wound. Sin is the fling of death, as it renders death troublesome and dangerous to men: but to fuch as are in Christ, this sting is taken away by his death for fin; and they depart in peace to be with the Lord, I Cor. xv. 55. 56. The flings of the tails of the loculls, may denote the hurtful and ruinous delutions fpread by the Papitts and Saracens, or the hurtful ravages of the common troops of the latter, Rev. ix. 10.

Men TINK, when they become abhorred of others, Gen. xxxiv. 30.

1 Sam. xiii. † 4.

STIR; a noify tumult, If. xxii. 1. Acts xix. 23. God flirs up himfelf, or firs up his jealoufy, when, in a vigorous like manner, he helps and delivers his people, and deftroys his enemies, Plal. xxxv. 23. If. xliii. 13. Christ is finfully flirred up, when he is provoked to withdraw his fenfible prefence from his people, Song ii. 7. iii. 5. Men slir up themselves to take hold of God, when they, in an active manner, use all means of meditation and prayer, &c. to truit in, and intercede with him, If. lxiv. 7. Men flir up the gift of God in them, when they use every endeavour in their power to improve their gifts and grace, in ferving God, 2 Tim. i. 6.

STOCK;

STO | 473 | STO

STOCK; (1.) That part of a tree which bears the branches, Job xiv. 8. (2.) Kindred that grow from one root, Lev. xxv. 47. Acts xiii. 26. (3.) An idol, fo called, because framed of the stock of a tree; or because upright, and as stupid and lifeless as one, Jer. ii. 27. x. 8. Hos. iv. 12. The stock were a kind of instrument for torturing malefactors; in which one fits in the most uneasy manner, hanging as it were by the legs, Acts xvi. 24. Jer. xx. 2. To them terrible and tormenting differes is compared, Job xiii. 27. Prov. vii. 22.

STOICKS, were a fect of Heathen philosophers, who took their rife from one Zeno a Cyprian, who being thipwrecked near Tyre, commenced a philofopher. It is faid, he borrowed a great deal of his opinions from the Jewish scriptures; but it is certain that Socrates and Plato had taught much of them before. From his teaching his scholars in the Stoa, or porch at Athens, they came to be called Stoichs or porchers. They generally taught, that God, as a kind of foul, actuates all things; that all men have naturally inward feeds of knowledge; that it is wifdom alone that renders men happy; and that pains, poverty, and the like, are but fancied evils; and that a wife man ought not to be affected with either joy or grief: and in their practice, they affected much stiffness, patience, austerity, and infensibility: but some of them held different opinions. Stoicks were for many ages in vogue, especially at Athens, where some of them encountered Paul, Acts xvii. 18.

STOMACHER. Whether the Hebrew Pethicil fignify a stomacher, or an upper garment, or a girdle of twisted filk, or a filken swathing band, I cannot determine, Is. iii. 24.

STONE. What stones are gradually formed into a confistence and hardness is not yet known. It is certain, there are many factitions stones, made by the art of man, as tyle, brick, &c. In respect of value, stones are either common, as free-stone, rag-stone, slate, slint. Others are mid-priced, as marble, Vol. II.

alabafter, jasper, loadstone, asbestos, and metal-ore; others are precious, fome of which are colourless, as the diamond; others red, as the ruby, carbuncle, garnet, fardius, cornelian; others pale, as the onyx; others yellow, as the chryfolite and topaz; others green, as the emerald, finaragd, and beryl; others bluish, as the fapphire, and turquois; others purple-coloured, as the amethyst. Such gems are called stones of fire, i. e. very bright and shining, Ezek. xxviii. 14. - Some think the Hebrews had knives of itone, but perhaps Tzur may, in these places, signify the edge, Exod. iv. 25. Josh. v. 2. It is certain, they fet up stones to commemorate noted exploits, or mark the graves of noted perfons; hence we read of the stone of Bohan a Reubenite, the stone of Ezel, and the stone of Gibeon, the stone of Zoheleth, &c.; or heaps of flones; fuch an heap Jacob reared to perpetuate the memory of his covenant with Laban, Gen. xxxi. 46. To commemorate Hrael's fafe passage through Jordan, Joshua erected 12 ftones in the bed of the river, and fet up other 12, which he carried out of the middle bed of the river, on its bank, Josh. iv. 5 .- 9. To be a memorial of their being part of the people of the God of Ifrael, the Reubenites. Gadites, and eastern Manassites, built an altar of stones called ED, on the bank of Jordan. But to shew that no human inventions are acceptable in God's worship, no altar was to be built of stones in the least hewn, Deut, xxvii. 5. Stones of darkness, are those hid deep in the bowels of the earth, Job xxviii. 3. Christ is called a stone, to mark his firmness and duration: he is the foundation-flone which supports the whole church, and the work of our redemption, If. xxviii. 16 .: he is the chief corner-flone, which connects and eftablishes the church, and all her concerns; and by which Jews and Gentiles, and angels and men, are as it were joined into one, Matth. xxi. 42. Eph. ii. 15. 20.: he is a most precious flone; infinite in glory, excellency, and usefulness: he is a tried stone, proved 3 O

STO [474] STO

by his Father, and by his people, and by fiery fufferings, and yet no fault or deficiency found in him: he is a chofen, or elect stone, chosen by the Father to be our Mediator, valuable in himfelf, and chosen by the faints in the day of his power: he is a living flone; has all life in himself, and gives to his people the beginning, continuance, and perfection of their life, Rev. xxi. 11. If. xxviii. 16. 1 Pet. ii. 4.: he is to many a flumbling-stone and rock of offence, as they, taking offence at his mean appearances, or at his doctrine and ways, stumble into everlasting ruin, and on whomfoever he falls in the execution of his wrath, they are miferably deftroyed, If. viii. 14. 15. 1 Pet. ii. 8. Matth. xxi. 44.: he and his church are a little stone, cut out of the mountain without hands, and increasing into a mountain that filled the whole earth: he was born of a virgin, and appeared in a low condition; but his glory gradually increases, till it fill the whole earth: his Christian church, small at first, and formed without carnal means, gradually increafeth, till it extend over the whole earth, Dan. ii. 44. The faints are lively flones; they are hardy and durable, and are united to Christ as their foundation, quickened by his Spirit, and active in his fervice, Amos ix. 9. 1 Pet. ii. 5. The precious stones, foundations of the new Jerufalem, denote Jesus Christ preached by the twelve apostles, and as the foundation of his church and people, in his various and unnumbered excellencies, Rev. xxi. The precious stones on the 19. 20. shoulder of the high-priest, and those fixed in his breaft-plate, denoted the faints of Jews and Gentiles, precious and honourable by the grace of God, and diversified in their condition; but all unchangeably fixed in their new-covenant state, and by Jesus daily supported and prefented to God, Exod. xxviii. 11. 17.—21. Daughters of a family are likened to polified cornerflones, to mark their beauty and their ufefulness for connecting and building up families, Pfal. cxliv. 12. Hearts flupid and obstinate, not easily impres-fed by the word or providence of God, are likened to flones, Ezek. xi. 19. xxxvi. 26. 1 Sam. xxv. 27. Mark iv. 5. 16. Stones crying out of the wall, and the beam answering it, denotes the horrid wickedness of building with what is unjustly gotten, Hab. ii. 11. One stone not left upon another, and stones of emptiness, and scattered stones spread over a place, denote utter defolation, and the turning of Idumea into a barren rock, Matth. xxiv. 2. If. xxxiv. 11. Pfal. cxli. 6. In allufion to the Greek custom of marking their absolution by white stones, a white stone given by Christ, denotes a full pardon and a glorious reward; or what if it denote Jefus himfelf? Rev. ii. 17. A gift is like a precious stone; it is highly valued, and tends to procure to us what we wish, Prov. xvii. 8. As he that bindeth a flone in a fling, rendereth it unfit for being thrown; fo to give honour to a fool, is quite unprofitable: or it is as useless work, as to cast a precious stone into a heap of stones: or it is as ill placed as a coarse stone, when bound up in a piece of fine purple cloth, Prov. xxvi. 8.

STOOLS; a feat for women in child-birth, to promote their delivery, Exod. i. 16.; but the fame word is translated wheels, or frame for a potter, Jer. xviii. 3.

STOP; (1.) To close up, 2 Tim. iii. 19. (2.) To hinder; cause to cease, 2 Cor. xi. 10. To stop breaches, is to repair and build up, Neh. iv. 7. See MOUTH, EAR.

STOOP; (1.) To bow down, John viii. 6. (2.) To fall into a low condition; to come to ruin, If. xlvi. 1. (3.) To act fecretly, Gen. xlix. 9.

STORE; (1.) Provision laid up, Gen. xli. 36. (2.) Abundance; plenty, Gen. xxvi. 14. God lays up his judgements in flore, and seals them among his treasures, when he decrees them, and prepares to execute them, Deut. xxxii. 34. Men flore up violence and robbery, when they increase in it more and more, and lay up what they procure by means of it, Amos iii. 10. They lay up in flore for the poor, when they they fet afide and collect money for them, I Cor. xvi. 2. Store-cities, are fuch wherein food, clothing, armour, or other necessary things, are laid up, 2 Chron. viii. 4. xvii. 12. Store-houfis or garners, are houses for laying up corns, and other provision, in them, I Chron. xxvii. 25. God lays up the fea in store-houses; in its proper bed, that it may remain there till he draw it forth for rain, hail, or fnow, as he pleafeth, Pfal. xxxiii. 7. The gofpelchurch, and heaven, are Christ's GAR-NER or BARN, into which he brings his chosen people, and lays them up for his own use, Matth. iii. 12. xiii. 30. See TREASURE.

S T O [475] S T R

STORK; a fowl. Its beak and legs are long and red. Its plumage or feathers are white, except that the tip of its wings, and fome part of its head and thighs are black. Storks are about the fize of a goofe; but when they stand erect, they are about three or four feet high. They feed on frogs, ferpents, and infects: they are extremely careful of, and kind to their parents: they build their nests in firtrees, in Canaan, as the houses were flat, Pfal. civ. 17.: but in Europe, they build their nefts on towers and tops of houses. They are birds of pasfage, which in August leave the cold climates, and return to them in the Spring, Jer. viii. 7. The Jewish law declared them unclean, Lev. xi. 19.; but they are now reckoned a delicate dish. Besides the common stork, there is a black kind in Egypt, called Ibis, famed for devouring the ferpents that attempt to come into that country; and there is a grey kind in Brafil, called magauri. Some florks are extremely fet on revenging injuries done them, even long after they are done.

STORM; tempest of wind or rain, or of both mixed, Acts xxvii. 18. 20. God's judgements are likened to a form or tempest, as they terrify, distress, and hurl away men, and ruin the wicked, Job xxvii. 21. Pfal. lxxxiii. 15. xi. 6. If. xxx. 30. liv. 11. Destroying armies are likened to a form; they, with great roise, such dealy attack, ruin and destroy nations and places, Ezek. xiii. 11. xxxviii. 9. It shall be very tempestuous or flormy round about him. - God's deliverance of his people from the Affyrians and Chaldeans, was ushered in with terrible calamities on the nations. Christ's coming in the slesh, was preceded by terrible wars, by, and among the Romans; and his death and afcenfion were followed by the terrible overthrow of the Jewish nation: his deliverance of his church from the Heathen emperors, was attended with fearful commotions and bloodshed; and fo fhall his coming to destroy Antichrist: - and what tremendous appearances may usher in his last coming, we cannot conceive, Pfal. l. 3.

STORY; (1.) A history, an account of events, 2 Chron. xiii. 22. (2.) A floor of a building, where there are rooms one above another. Noah's ark, and Ezekiel's visionary fide-chambers, had three flories, one above another, Gen. vi. 16. Ezek. xli. 16. The heavens being, as it were, erected one above another, are called God's flories, i. e. of his palace, Amos ix. 6.

STOUT; strong, full of courage, and terrible, Job iv. 11. Dan. vii. 20. Stoutness of heart and words, import obstinate haughtiness and pride, Is. xlvi. 12. Mal. iii. 13.

STRAIGHT; (1.) Even; without crookedness, Luke xiii. 13. Acta ix. 11. (2.) Plain; without rifings and hollows, or impediments. (3.) Directly forward, without turning to either fide, Josh. vi. 5. None can make fraight what God has made crooked, i.e. no body can alter the purposes or providences of God, or free their own lot of those afflictions that God has appointed to it, Eccl. vii. 13. i. 15.

STRAIGHTWAY; in a little while; immediately, 1 Sam. ix. 13. STRAIN. See GNAT.

STRAIT; (1.) Narrow and with little 100m, 2 Kings vi. 1. (2.) A diffresful difficulty, wherein one knows not what to do, 2 Sam. xxiv. 14. Job xxxvi. 16. See GATE.

To STRAITEN perfons, is to disable them, Mic. ii. 7.; or to trouble them,

O 2 Jeb

STR [476] STR

Job xviii. 7. Ye are not straitened in us, but ye are straitened in your own bowels; your trouble and forrow concerning the incestuous person, is owing to yourselves, not to me; and your not having more comfort and pleasure in us, is owing to yourselves, 7 Cor. vi. 12. Straitness; want of liberty; trouble; perplexity, Job xxxvi. 16. Deut. xxviii. 53. Jer. xix. 9.

16. Deut. xxviii. 53. Jer. xix. 9.

STRANGE; (1.) Of another nation, family, or, religion, 1 Kings xi.

1. (2.) Uncommon, Job xxxi. 3. If. xxviii. 21. (3.) Unacquainted with; unknown, Gen. xlii. 7. Job xix. 3. Ezck. iii. 6. (4.) Not allowed of God; not proper to be used in such a manner; so common fire is called strange sire, as not proper to be used in burning incense, I.ev. x. 1. Jude 7. Prov.

xx. 16. Heb. xiii. 9.

A STRANGER, is, (1.) One who is in a foreign land, at a diffance from the place of his nativity, Gen. xxiii. 4. (2.) One who is not a Jew, Exod. xx. 10. If. xiv. 1. (3.) One not of Aaron's family, Numb. iii. 10. xvi. 40. (4.) One that is not of the royal flock and family, Matth. xvii. 25. 26. (5.) Unknown; difregarded, Pfal. Ixix. 8. (6.) Not our own property: thus whorish women are called firangers, and frange women, Prov. v. 10. 20. (7.) Captive; perfecuted, Obad. 12. Heb. xiii. 2. (8.) The faints are firangers on earth; they are born from above; have their possession and converfation in heaven, and do but travel through this world to their home; and are difliked, and often ill-ufed by the men of it, Pfal. xxxix. 12. Heb. xi. 13. (9.) Heathens, and profane and wicked persons, are called strangers; they are strangers to themselves, to God, to Chrift, and to the new covemant, and to fellowship with God; and they hate and abhor the people of God, Eph. ii. 12. Joel iii. 17. Pfal. liv. 3. (10.) False teachers are called frangers, as they have no right to the office they assume; nor do Christ, or his people, as directed of him, own them, or cultivate intimacy with them, John x. 5. The flrangers that devoured the strength of Ephraim, were the Syrians and Affyrians, Hof. vii. 9. The Ziphites were firangers; were wicked men, were unfriendly to David, even though they knew not of any offence he had given, Pfal. liv. 1. - Anciently hospitality and kindness to strangers was much in vogue. As there were but few inns, it was common for well-difpofed people to invite fuch strangers as they observed, to lodging and entertainment in their houses, Gen. xviii. xix. Judg. xix.: nor is it to our honour that this custom is so much dropt, Heb, xiii. 2. God required the Hebrews to use great kindness to strangers who were not of the accurfed nations; and in respect of gleaning of the fields or vineyards, and feveral other cafes, they were to be used as the fatherless and the widow, and had access to the ordinances of God, and benefit of the cities of refuge. Did not this prefigure, that, by the tender mercy of God, the Gentiles, once long alienated from him, should be brought into a church-state, and enjoy the distinguished bleffings of Heaven? Exod. xxii. 1. Lev. xix. 10. Numb. xv. 14. xix. 10. xxxv. 19.

STRANGLE; to kill by a kind of hanging, or tearing afunder; or it may be put for killing in general, Job vii. 5. The Affyrian lion strangled for his lioness; their kings murdered and spoiled other nations, that they might enrich their ladies and their state with the prey, Nah. ii. 12. Animals strangled had not the blood duly separated from the steff, and were sorborne by the primitive Christians, for preventing the offence of sewish converts, Acts

xv. 20.

To STRAW, is to scatter; spread along, Exod. xxxii. 20. Matth. xxi. 8. To esteem iron as straw, and darts as stubble, is to sear no hurt from darts, and other weapons made of it, Job xli. 27. 29. The lion shall eat straw as the ox; the most surious persecutors shall be rendered meek and laborious faints, seeding upon the simple and wholesome truths of the gospel, Is. xi. 7.

STREAM. See WATER.

STREET:

STR [477] STR

STREET; (1.) The broad ways in cities and towns, Gen. xix. 2. Prov. vii. 12. (2.) The houses that face these broad ways, Dan. ix. 25. lic ordinances, to which all men, great and fmall, good and bad, have access, are called fireets and broad ways, Prov. i. 20. Song iii. z. The golden fireets of the new Jerusalem, may either denote the pure and precious ordinances of the church in her millennial state; or Jefus as the foundation of the faints holy walk in heaven, as well as on earth, Rev. xxi. 21. Ministers are to go out into the fireets, lanes, highways, and hedges, to call men to Christ; i. e. they are in the most open and diligent manner, to fearch out, and call finners of every flation, and in every place, where Providence gives them an opportunity, to come to a Saviour, Luke xiv. 21. 23.

STRENGTH; (1.) Ability, natural or spiritual, Job xxxix. 19. Pial. xx. 6. Rev. iii. 8. (2.) The cause of ftrength and ability, Neh. viii. 10.: fo God and Christ are called the ftrength of the faints, Exod. xv. 2. Pfal. xcix. 4. Phil. iv. 13. God is the ftrength of Christ; he affifts and supports him in his mediatory work, Pfal. xxviii. 8. Christ is God's firength, as, in his work of mediation, God's ftrength is displayed, and his powerful influences conveyed to our heart, I Chron. xvi. 4. If. xxvii. 5. The ark is called God's ftrength, as it was the fymbol or badge of the presence of God with Israel, as their supporter, defender, and the cause of their strength, Pfal. lxxviii. 61. compared with Pfal. cxxxii. 8. The inhabitants of Jerufalem are their rulers, frength in the Lord; i.e. through his affiftance, they support and defend them, and procure victory, Zech. xii. 5. (3.) That which poffesseth great power and ability: thus a numerous and valiant army are called frength, Judg. v. 21. The first-born are considered as the firength, or chief support of families, Gen. xlix. 3. Deut. xxi. 17. Pf. lxxviii. 51. cv. 36. (4.) Youth, or mid-time of life, when one is at his full degree of strength, Job xxi. 23.; and to give ene's strength unto women, is to wafte his youthful and strong constitution in whoredom, Prov. xxxi. 3. (5.) Effects of strength: fo the high praises of Christ by the babes of Jerusalem are called flrength; they praifed with all their might, and therein the power of God was manifested, Pfal. viii. 2.: and a great deliverance wrought for the church is called frength, Rev. xii. 10.; and the earth yields its flrength, when it produces fuch a plentiful crop, as its natural quality, manure, and feafon, are capable of, Gen.iv. 12. To STRENGTH-EN, is, (1.) To make strong, 2 Chron. xii. 1. (2.) To encourage, in order to render bold and vigorous, Deut. iii. 28. Pfal. lii. 7. (3.) To repair what is weak and decayed, Rev. iii. 2. God firengthens what he wrought for his people, when he fecures to them the mercies he has already bestowed, and works for them still greater favours, Pfal. lxviii. 28. He ftrengthened the fountains of the great deep, when he fixed their channels of conveyance, and gave them their powers to cast forth their water, Prov. viii. 28.

STRONG; (1.) That which has much strength, or discovers much of it, Exod. vi. 1. (2.) Firm and sure, Psal. xxx. 7. (3.) Vehement and vigorous, Song viii. 6. Job xxxiii. 19. (4.) Courageous, Hag. ii. 4. Ezek. iii. 8. (5.) Large; abundant; and very invigorating, Heb. vi. 18. (6.) Loud, Rev. xviii. 2. Satan is called the strong man, and Christ the stronger: with much power and activity Satan keeps possessing of, and exercises dominion over our heart; but with superior power, skill, and vigour, Jesus conquers it from him, and drives him out, Mat. xii. 29. Luke xi. 22.

STRETCH; (1.) To extend; fpread out, If. xliv. 13. Pf. civ. God's firetching out his hand, imports his noted difplay of his power, Acts iv. 30.; or his carneft invitation of finners to the fellowship of his fon, Prov. i. 24. Mens firetching their hands to God or idols, imports worship of them, as with hands lifted up, and expectation of good from them, Pfal. lxviii. 31. lxxxviii. 9. xliv. 20. To firetch out the hand against one, as to rebel; to feek to destroy him, Job xv. 25. Luke xxii. 53. To stretch or reach the hand to the poor, imports defire and readiness to supply their wants, Prov. xxxi. 20. Stretching out of the neck, imports immodefly, haughtinefs, and pride, If. iii. 16. Stretching on beds of ivory, and eating fatted lambs and calves, imports living in fecurity, eafe, and luxury, Amos vi. 4. STRIKE; (1.) To give blows, Mark xiv. 65. (2.) To cut, Deut. xxi. 4. (3.) To pierce, Prov. vii. 23. Job xx. 24. (4.) To afflict; to punish, Is. i. 5. liii. 4. 8. (5.) To stroke gently, 2 Kings v. 11. (6.) To sprinkle with force, Exod. xii. 7. 22. To be stricken in years or age, is to be old, Luke i. 7. A striker, is one ready to come to blows with his neighbour on the least provocation, Tit. i. 7. STROKE, is, (1.) A blow given, Deut. xix. 5. (2.) Diffrefs; a calamity, Job xxiii. 2. (3.) A fudden death, Job xxxvi. 18. Ezek. xxiv. 16. A fool's mouth calleth for strokes; his foolish language provokes God to afflict him, and men to beat him, Prov. xviii. 6.

STRSTU 478

STRING for a bow, Pfal. xxi. 12.; er for a mufical inftrument, Pf. xxxii. 2. STRIP; (1.) To take off clothes, Numb. xx. 26. (2.) To bereave men of wealth, honour, liberty, and other things agreeable, Hof. ii. 3. Ezek. xvi.

39.

STRIPE; a lash with a whip or feourge, Deut. xxv. 3. (2.) A wound made by fuch a lash, Acts xvi. 33. (3.) Afhictions and punishments, Ii. liii. 5. 2 Sam. vii. 14. Luke xii. 47.

STRIPLING; a young man, 1 Sam.

xvii. 56.

STRIVE; (1.) To contend in defires, in words, or with hands, Gen. xxvi. 20. (2.) To endeavour earnestly, Rom. xv. 20. (3.) To be given to strife and debate, 2 Tim. ii. 24. God firives with men, when, by the revelation of his will, the convictions of his Spirit, and the difpenfations of his providence, he checks their going on in fin, Gen. vi. 3. God flrove with the Levites at Kadesh, when he reproved, and chastised Moses and Aaron, their chiefs, for not fanctifying him before the people, Deut. xxxiii. 8. Men firive with God, when they refift the motions of his Spirit, contemn the offers of his grace, rebel against his laws, and oppose his providence, by going on in their wickedness, Is. xlv. 9. Job xxxiii. 13. They firive together in prayer, when, with the utmost earnestness, they jointly ask, and plead for the bestowal of good things on ministers and others, Rom. xv. 30. They strive to enter in at the strait gate, when, in the careful and earnest use of God's ordinances, they study to receive Christ, and be created anew in him, Luke xiii. 24. They firive for the faith, and against sin, when they do or fuffer, as called, to the uttermost, to maintain and promote the honour of gospel-truth, and to shun and oppose fin in themselves and others, Phil. i. 27. Heb. xii. 4. Striving or strife, imports all kind of contention, I Tim. vi. 4. Tit. iii. 9.; or war, Judg. xii. 2. Pfal. xxii. 44. The firife of tongues, is abusive language, reproach, Psal. xxxi. 20. The Hebrews were made a strife to their neighbours, when the nations around strove with them, and fought their ruin; or when they contended who should have the largest share of the captives and spoil, Psal. lxxx. 6.

STRONG. See STRENGTH. STRUGGLE; to flrive earnefly as in close gripes, Gen. xxv. 22. STUBBLE, is of fmall or no value; of no strength or force; is easily scattered with the wind, and easily burnt, Job xiii. 25. xli. 29. xxi. 18. Joel ii. 5. Wicked men are as flubble, of small ftrength or worth, are easily scattered by the blast of God's judgements, and burnt in the fire of his wrath, Pfal. lxxxiii. 14. If. xl. 24. Mal. iv. 1. Falfe doctrines are as STUBBLE, of no worth; of no force to convince or comfort mens conscience, and cannot abide the trial of God's word, 1 Cor. iii. 12. Affyrian projects against the Jews were as ftubble; their own breath as fire devoured them, and they were as the burning of lime; their purposes were quite fruitless, and their mad rage against the people of God brought ruin on themfelves, If. xxxiii. 11. 12.

STUBBORN

STU [479] SUB

STUBBORN; obstinately bent upon an evil way, contrary to the will of God, or of human superiors, Deut. ix. 27. Prov. vii. 11. The Jewish law allowed parents to prosecute their stabborn children to death, Deut. xxi. 18.—21.

STUD in clothing, is a button, or ornament. The ordinances of the church, and the gifts and graces of her members, are called fluds of filver, as they mightily adom her, Song i. 11.

STUDY; (1.) To meditate; think of, Prov. xv. 28. (2.) To devife; to plot, Prov. xxiv. 2. (3.) To endeavour earneally, I Theil. iv. 11. chief study of the Hebrews, commanded of God, was the knowledge and obfervation of his law: this they were to have deep fixed on their heart, and on every proper occasion to discourse thereof to their children, Exod. xiii. 9. Deut. vi. 7. They fearched into the meaning of the predictions, and, no doubt, also of the types, Dan. ix. 2. 1 Pet. i. 11. They studied the histories and genealogies with great care; and it is faid, their children could have exactly rehearfed all these in the book of Chronicles. After the time of Alexander they began to fludy Heathen learning. In our Saviour's time, their great care was to invent carnal explications of the types and predictions of the fcripture, but chiefly the traditions of the elders: nor are they to this day cured of their ŠTUFF; (1.) Household-furniture, Gen. xxxi. 37. (2.) Corn; provision, I Sam. x. 22.

STUMBLE; (1.) To trip or flide with the foot, till one is in danger of falling, I Chron. xiii. 9. (2.) To fall into mistakes, dangers, or distress, Is. lxix. 10. viii. 15. (3.) To take ofference at any thing; and fo fall into fin and danger. Men stumble at Christ and his law, as their flumbling-block or stone, when, from their wicked and carnal disposition, they distrelish his appearances, reject his person, and mistake the meaning of his law, and rebel against it, Rom. ix. 33. xi. 11. I Cor. i. 23. I Pet. ii. 8. Mal. ii, 8. A stumbling-block, is what, lying in one's way, occafions his falling, Lev. xix. 14.; or what occasions mens falling into sin and danger. Mens idols, and their wealth, are the stumbling-block of their iniquity; as they are the temptations to, and object or occasion of their fin, and the means of their ruin, Ezek. xiv. 13. vii. 19. Zeph. i. 3. God lays a flumbling-block before men, when he trystes them with fuch fmiling and afflictive providences as they improve for their finning and ruin, Ezek. iii. 20. Jer. vi. 21. the imprudent use of Christian liberty in things indifferent, men lay a stumbling-block before others, as it occasions their lofing their integrity and comfort. Rom. xiv. 13. 1 Cor. viii. 9. By advifing Midianitish women to go into the Hebrew camp, and feduce them to whoredom and idolatry, Balaam laid a flumbling-block before the children of Ifrael, by means of which they were enticed to fin, and punished with distress, Rev. ii. 14. Numb. xxv.

STUMP; (1.) The thickest part of a tree, Dan. iv. 15.; and denoted Nebuchadnezzar's manhood, and his title to the kingdom. (2.) The body of the id 1, between the legs and neck, 1 Sam. v. 4.

SUBDUE. See CONQUER.

SUBJECT: (1.) Under law; obedient, Eph.v.24. Col.ii.20. Tit.iii.1. And to subject, is to bring into a state of obedience: and subjection. is a state of obedience or bondage, Heb. ii. 5. 8. Pfal. cvi. 42.; or performance of obedience, I Tim. ii. 11. iii. 4. The creature was made subject to vanity, not willingly, but by reason of him who subjeded the fame in hope. The lower creation, in its various parts, did not of its own accord fall into its prefent empty, difagreeable, and perishing estate; but God, to punish man's fin, reduced it hereto, meanwhile intending to recover it to its former liberty and glory, Rom. viii. 20.

SUBMIT; to yield one's felf to the will of another, I Chron. xxix. 24. To fubmit to the righteoufnefs of Gad, is to prefer the obedience and fuffering of Jefus Christ to our own righteoufness, and accept it as the fole righteoufners that can justify us before God, Rom.

SUBORN; to excite, hire, and direct one to bear falle witness, Actsvi. 11.

SUBSCRIBE; to confirm a writ of petition, bargain, or donation, by writing our name under it. To fubscribe with the hand to the Lord, imports a folemn furrender of our lelves to Jefus Chrift, as an all-fufficient Saviour and honourable Mafter, whether in thought, word, or writ, If. xliv. 5.

SUBSTANCE; (i.) That which a person or thing consists of, Psal. exxxix. 15. (2.) A creature, Gen. (3.) The moisture, natural itrength of a tree, If. vi. 13. (4.) The wealth that belongs to one, Deut. xi. 6. Josh. xiv. 4. (5.) A folid and lasting happiness of grace and glory, Prov. viii. 21. Heb. x. 34. The faints are the fulftance of a land; they are the most valuable perfons in it, and are the means of averting judgements, and procuring bleffings to it, If. vi. 13. Faith is the fubstance of things hoped for; it is a hearty, fure, fubstantial, and hope-supporting perfuation of the fulfilment of God's promifes, which renders us as truly certain of the future bleffedness, as if we already possessed it, Heb. xi. 1. If a man would give all the substance of his house for love, it would utterly be contemned. Love to Jesus Christ cannot be purchafed with worldly wealth; nor could all the wealth of creation bribe a lover of him into a hater of him, Song viii. 7.

SUBTLE; crafty; capable and ready to beguile, Gen. iii. 1. Prov. vii. 10. SUBTLETY, with mifchievous craft and deceit, 1 Sam. xxiii. 22. Acts vii. 19. SUBTLETY, (1.) Extensive skill and prudence, Prov. i. 4. viii. † 12. (2.) Deceitful craftiness, Acts xiii. 10.

SUBVERT; to turn away from truth and equity, Tit. i. 11. Lam. iii. 36. One is jubverted, when quite turned from divine truth, and fixed in error, Tit. iii. 11.

The Hebrew SUBURBS, included not only the buildings without the walls of their cities, but also the pasturegrounds about. The Levites had the ground without the walls of their cities, to the extent of 3000 cubits, or 5472 feet on every fide, Numb. xxxv. 3. 7.

SUCCEED; to come into the place of others after they are gone out of it: fo a fon fucceeds his father, by poffeffing what he had; and fo the Hebrews fucceeded the Canaanites in poffeffing their land, Deut. xxv. 6. xii. 24. It also fignifies to profper in a work; and fo success, is an happy iffue, Josh. i. 8.

SUCCOTH; (1.) A place in Egypt, where the Hebrews first fet up their tents or fuccoth, Exod. xii. 37. (2.) A city on the east of Jordan, and fouth of the fea of Galilee, built where Jacob fet up his TENTS or fuccoth, as he came from Padan-aram, Gen. xxxiii. 17. It belonged to the Gadites, Josh. xiii. 27. The elders thereof were torn to pieces with thorns by Gideon, because they refused a refreshment to his wearied troops, Judg. viii. It feems there was a valley near it, where perhaps Hiram cast the large utensils for the temple, Pfal. lx. 6. 1 Kings vii. 46.

Whether Succoth-Benoth be the Affyrian Venus or Milytta, the obfcene goddefs, in honour of whom the Chaldean young women were bound once to profitute themfelves, by prefenting themfelves in or before her temple; and each, being called by a ftranger's throwing a piece of money into their lap, retired with him, and fubmitted to his luft, we can hardly fay: but if fo, it is plain the Babylonian Samaritans introduced this abominable custom into Cannan, 2 Kings xvii. 30.

SUCCOUR; to help and relieve,

2 Sam. xviii. 3.

SUCK. To fuck honey out of the rock, is to enjoy great plenty of outward happines, Deut. xxxii. 13. To fuck the abundance of the seas, is to enjoy profitable sufferies and sea-trade, Deut xxxiii. 19. To fuck the milk of the Gentiles, and the breast of kings, is to be highly favoured by Cyrus, Antiochus the Great, and other Gentile kings, and their subjects; or rather to have a multitude of Gentiles, and some of their chief rulers, converted to the true

SUD [481 | SUN

true church, and receive from them favour, affiltance, wealth, If. lx. 16. lxvi. 11. 2. xlix. 23. To fuck the prifor of afps, and the cup of God's wrath, is to underly his aftonishing and defructive judgements, Job xx. 16. Ezek. xxiii. 34. Suckling, an infant that fucks his mother's breafts, Lam. ii. 11.

SUDDEN; hasty; unexpected, 1 Thest. v. 3. Suddenly, (1.) In a very short time, Job v. 3. (2.) Unexpectedly, Acts ii. 2. Mark xiii. 36. (3.) Quickly, with much speed and diligence, 2 Chron. xxix. 36.

SUFFER; (1.) To permit; give leave to, Gen. xx. 6. Luke ix. 59. (2.) To bear affliction and death, 1 Theff. ii. 2. Heb. ii. 18. Christ's fufferings, are either what himself suffered, Heb. ii. 10.; or what his people suffer for his sake, 2 Cor. i. 5. Col. i. 24. To suffer with Christ, and as a Christian, and according to the will of God, is, in a state of union to Christ, cleaving to him, and dependence on him, to suffer persecutions for his sake, in a holy, humble, patient, and self-denied manner, Rom. viii. 18. I Pet. iv. 16. 19.

SUFFICE; (1.) To fill the belly, Numb. xi. 22. (2.) To be enough for, 1 Kings xx. 10. (3.) To give content to, Deut. iii. 26. John xiv. 8. Sufficient; (1.) What is needful, Exod. xxxvi. 7. (2.) Fit; able, 2 Cor. ii. 16. Sufficient to the day is the evil thereof: every day has enough of troubles of its own, though we do not add thereto, by anxious thoughts about future times we may never fee, Matth.

VI. 34.

SUIT. There is, (1.) A fait of apparel, Judg. xvii. 10. If. iii. 22. (2.) A fait or controverfy to be decided by a judge, 2 Sam. xv. 4. (3.) A petition or request, Job xi. 19.

SUM; (1.) A certain quantity, or tale of money, Exod. xxi. 30. (2.) The whole number, Numb. i. 2. Pfal. cxxxix. 17. (3.) An abridgement containing the principal fubliance of many particulars faid, or to be faid, Heb. viii. 1.

SUMMER; the warm feafon of the year, wherein all things appear de-Vol. II.

lightful and flourishing, Gen. viii. 22. In countries north of the equinoctial line, it begins about the 11th of June, and ends about the 11th of September: on the fouth of the equinoctial, it begins about the 11th of December, and ends about the 11th of March. For when the fun is nearest to us, he is farthest from them. In another reckoning, May, June, July, are our fummermonths; and November, December, and January are theirs. Seafons of prosperity, and of opportunities of falvation, are called fummer, as they are most useful and agreeable, Prov. x. 5. Zech. xiv. 8. Summer-fruits, are fuch as are ripe and mult be eaten in fummer, 2 Sam. xvi. 1. The fowls shall fummer, i. e. feed a whole fummer, and the beafts of the earth winter, i. e. feed a whole winter, on their carcafes, If. xviii. 6.

To fare SUMPTUOUSLY, is to live merrily on great plenty of delicate provision, Luke xvi. 19.

SUN; the well known luminary, which by his prefence forms our day, and by his absence our night. He is the great fource of light and keat to our world, and his influences have a large share in the cause of vegetative Perhaps he and the fixed stars, are immense bodies all enflamed, and whose heat is preserved by their magnitude, and the mutual action and reaction between them and the rays they emit. The diameter of the fun is reckoned about 764,320 English miles ; but Derham reckons it at 822,148, and Ferguson at 895,000. His middle diftance from our earth is reckoned 76, 80, or 81 millions of miles English: and fo light comes from him to us in about eight minutes; but a cannonball shot thence, and moving 480 miles every hour, would take about 19 years and three months, to reach our earth. Perhaps its distance from our earth is 95,000,000 miles. It is now pretty generally agreed among philofophers, except fuch as are tied up by the flavery of the Pope, that the fun moves round his own axis, without much alteration of his place; and that the 3 P

SUN [482] SUN

earth, and other planets, move around him, as well as around their own axis, in their respective times: the most of their arguments are too abstracted for this work. They shew, that if the fun was to move around the earth, his motion, when in the equator, must be at the rate of about 330,000 miles in a minute, and the motion of Saturn, in the fame time, to be about 3,124,000 miles, and the motion of the fixed flars to be who knows how much more fwiit: they observe, that things falling from a great height, do not fall perpendicularly; they shew, that the supposition of the fixed rest of the earth, renders the motions of the planets quite inextricable, and deftroys the order and connection of the universe. They shew, that the rifing and fetting of the fun mentioned in fcripture, do but note the appearance and disappearance thereof with respect to our horizion; that his running only fignifies the alteration of his aspect with respect to our earth, and his flanding fill, the continuance for a time of the fame aspect. His standing still at the prayer of Joshua; his going backward as a fign to Hezekiah; and his preternatural eclipse, at the full moon, when our Saviour died, are the most noted circumstances that have happened to this luminary. Multitudes have taken occasion, from the shining brightness and great ufefulness of the fun, to worthip him, and his representative idols, as one of their principal gods, under the character of Baal, Chemoth, Moloch, Phæbus, &c. Even with the Icws, the worship of the fun was practifed, and Jofiah had to take away the horfes, and burn the chariots, confecrated in the temple to the fun, 2 Kings xxiii. 11.; and after his death, we find the Jews worthipping the fun, as he rose in the east, with their backs to the temple, Ezek. viii. 16.—From the rifing to the fetting of the fun, imports the whole world over, Pfal. cxiii. 3. Before the fun, or in the face of the fun, imports the most daring, public, and open manner, Jer. xviii. 2. Numb. xxv. 4. To continue while fun and moon endures, is to laft very long, or for ever, Pfal. lxxii. 5. 17.

Almost every thing very glorious, lovely, and ufeful, is likened to the fun. To mark their infinite glory, excellency, gradual discovery to men, and their being the fountain of all true light and comfort, God is called a fun, Pial. lxxxiv. 11. and Christ a fun of righteoufnefs, that rifes with healing under his wings, or rays, Mal. iv. 2.; and with this bun of righteoufnels, her head, and her righteoufnefs, and fanctification, is the church clothed, Rev. xii. 1. To mark their amazing and unchanged glory, especially in the heavenly flate, the faints are likened to the fun, Song vi. 10. Matth. xiii. 46. When a flate is likened to the vifible heaven, the kings and chief magistrates are likened to the fun, and the inferior magistrates, councils, officers, &c. are likened to the moon and flars; and bloody colour or darkness coming on thefe, denote terrible diforder and ruin, Matth. xxiv. 29. Ezck. xxxii. 7. Rev. vi. 12. viii. 12. Acts ii. 20. When the church is likened to the visible heavens, the fun may denote the scripture, the moon instituted ordinances, and the flars ministers and their ministrations; and their being darkened, imports the fpread of ignorance, delufion, and error, Rev. viii. 12. ix. 2. To mark the delightfulnefs of profperity and happiness, spiritual or temporal, it is likened to the fun and moon, and the darkening, or going down thereof, imports adverfity, Rev. xxi. 23. If. lx. 20. Job xxx. 28. Amos viii. 9. Jer. xv. 9. The moon shall be confounded, and the fun aftenned, when the Lord of hofts shall reign in mount Zion, and before his ancients glorioufly. Idols, even the chief ones, thall be abhorred; kings and great men fhall be aftonished, when the Lord faves his people from the Affyrians and Chaldeans, and when he re-establisheth them in the millennial state; and then fhall there be greater degrees of holiness and obedience to Christ, than had been either under the Old or New Teftament period before, If. xxiv. 23. fun must not go down upon our wrath; angry passions must be quickly checked, that the prince of darkness may not; during during the night, more and more inflame them, Eph. iv. 26.

SUP; to take food, especially at night, Luke xvii. 8. Christ's supping with his people, denotes their delightful fellowship with him, and receiving out of his fulness, to the spiritual comfort and strengthening of cheir soul, Rev. iii. 20. To sup up, is to waste; destroy, If. xlii. † 14. Their saces shall sup up as an east-avind; the Chaldeans from the east shall as easily consume the Jews and their wealth, as the east-wind blasts the fruits of the ground, Hab. i. 9.

Supper, is an evening meal. fecond facrament of the gospel-church is called the Lord's Supper, because first observed in the evening of the day; and as his body and blood, or perfon and righteoufness, and bletlings, under the fymbols of bread and wine, are therein represented, sealed, and applied to his people, in the evening, or laft ages of the world, till he recurn to judgement, I Cor. xi. 20. The gofpel-dispensation is called a great supper; it is bestowed by the great God in the last ages of the world; and by the large communication of bleifings therein, are multitudes fitted to enter the eternal state; and along with it shall the mystery of God's temporary providence be finished, Luke xiv. 16 .-24. The happiness of the Millennium is called a marriage-supper: what multitudes shall be converted to Christ, and delightfully share of his bleslings in these last times! Rev. xix. 9. terrible carnage and spoil of the Papifts before the Millennium, is called the supper of the great God, with which he feasts the beatts and the Protestants, Rev. xix. 17.

SUPERFLUITY of naughtiness, is much of wicked and corrupt affections, Jam. i. 21.

Superfluous; (1.) Not necessary, 2 Cor. ix. 1. (2.) More than enough, Lev. xxi. 18.

SUPERSCRIPTION; (1.) A fhort note on coined money, flewing by whose order it was coined, Matth. Maii. 20. (2.) A note on Christ's cross.

bearing that he was King of the Jews. When the Romans condemned a man to be publicly executed, his crime for which he fullered used to be written in large letters on a table, and carried before him; and if he was crucified, it was at least fometimes marked on the top of his crofs, that all might read, and avoid the like crime: but to manifest our Saviour's innocence, his crofs was marked with no crime, but with an express affertion of his true Meshahship, Mark xv. 26.

SUPERSTITION, or WILL-WOR-SHIP, is an excefs in religion, doing things therein not required by God, or abstaining from what he has not forbidden, Col. ii. 13. Feltus the Roman reckoned the Jewish religion fuperstition, Acts xxv. 19. The Athenians were very superstitious, Acts xvii. 22.

SUPPLANT; to trip up one's heels, and by deceit get into the poffession of what belongs to him, Gen. xxvii. 36. Jer. ix. 4.

SUPPLIANT'S; fuch as in the humblest manner request favours: fuch Jewish and Gentile converts are to God under the gospel, Zeph. iii. to. Supplication, is a begging by humble prayer,

1 Sam. xiii. 12. Phil. iv. 6.

SUPPLY; to furnish what is wanting, whether in temporals or spirituals. Paul's Christian brethren fupplied him with outward necessaries, 2 Cor. xi. 9. Epaphroditus fupplied the Corinthians with gospel-instructions, Phil. ii. 30. And God fupplies all the needs of his people, whether of grace or glory, out of, and according to his riches of mercy treasured up in Christ Jesus, Phil. iv. 19.

SUPPORT; to uphold; to relieve and fupply as is necessary, Acts xx. 35. 1 Thess. v. 11.

SUPPOSE; (1.) To think; to take for granted, 2 Sam. xiii. 22. (2.) To intend, Phil. i. 16. Our Saviour was find feel or thought to be the fon of Joseph, Luke iii. 23. Peter supposed the dispersed Jews would reckon Silvanus a faithful and friendly brother, and would reckon his missive but thort, 1 Property.

SUP [484] SUR

SUPREME; highest; the chief magistrate, 1 Pet. ii. 13.

SUR; the east gate of the Jewish temple, called the gate of the foundation, 2 Chron. xxiii. 5.; and the higher gate, because of its beauty and height, 2 Kings. xv. 23.; and the new gate, as it was rebuilt by King Jotham, Jer. xxxvi. 10. 2 Chron. xxvii. 3.; and afterwards called Leautiful, Acts iii. 2.

SURE; (1.) Firm and lafting, 1 Sam. ii. 35. (2.) Certain, and of which we may be fully perfuaded, Exod. iii. 19. Numb. xxxii. 23. (3.) Very heedful, Deut. xii. 23. Men make their calling and election fure, not by having any hand in fixing God's purpose of election; but by rendering the evidence of it fure, in a course of good works, 2 Pet. i. 10. Where our translation has a more fure word of prophecy, it is by " the Dutch, French, and other valuable translations, rendered most sure word of prophecy; and it is evident our own translators in Matth. xi. 11. xxii. 13. 1 Cor. xiii. 13. xv. 19. render a Greek comparative by a fuperlative. ever, it may be faid, the Old-Testament prophecies, which were inspired by God, uttered and spoken by prophets, and already fulfilled, were more fure than the human testimony of Peter, James, and John, as to what they had heard in the mount of transfiguration; at least were accounted more fare by the lews, not than the Father's declaration, but than Peter. James, and John's report of it; or the prophecies did more clearly and firmly afcertain Christ's fecond coning, than his transfiguration in the mount did, 2 Fet. i. 19.

SURELY, is, without the least doubt or failure, Exod. iii. 7. xxii. 6. Where furely occurs in our Cld-Testament version, the Hebrews have very often a redoubled verb, which at once enhances the sense. Theu skalt surely to the affirmation. Theu skalt surely die, Heb. in dying then skalt die; i. e. thou shalt certainly die every kind of death in a most shameful and terrible manner, Gen. ii. 17. I surely will have mercy on him: Heb. in having tender mercy, I will have tender mercy on him:

i. e. without fail, I will exercise my tenderest mercy towards him, in every form-suited to his case, and in every degree, above what he can ask or think, Jer. xxxi. 20. Of a furety, is certainly, without fail, Gen. xv. 13. Acts xii. 11.

SURETY; one who undertakes to pay debt or perform fervice for another; or to procure his fafety. Judah became furety to Jacob for the fafety of Benjamin in his journey to Egypt, Gen. xliii. 9. xliv. 32. Paul became furety to Philemon, to pay him what debt Onesimus owed him, Philem. 18. Surctics used to strike hands with the creditor, to mark their obligation to fee the debt paid or the fervice performed, Prov. vi. 1. 2. The scripture forbids furetyship, or engagement for the payment of other people's debt, as it tends to ruin one's own family and estate; multitudes being careless of paying their debt if once a neighbour has become furety for them, Prov. xxii. 26. xi. 15. It is especially dangerous to be firety for the debt or the good behaviour of strangers and whores, Prov. xx. 16. xxvii. 13. Job begs, that God would lay down his pledge, and give him his furety, that would fecure his having his cause fairly heard and tried, as his friends had, through ignorance and prejudice, quite misjudged it, Job xvii. 3. 4. David prays, that God would be his furety for good, i. e. would infallibly, and through Christ, secure his fafety and happiness, as a surety protects the debtor from the hands of unmerciful creditors, Pfal. cxix. 122. Jefus Christ, is the furety of the better testament, or covenant: he, not along with finful tranfgreffors, but taking the whole upon hin felf, undertook in the new covenant to bear the punishment due to his people's fin, and to fulfil the whole precepts of the law in their stead, Heb. vii. 22. Luke xxix. 26. Matth. iii. 15. As God owes no debt, and his promifes cannot be rendered more fure in themselves, Christ is not a furety for God to us, though as a witness he attests the promises, and though the lodging of all their fulness in his hand hand encourages our faith to believe them. Nor is Christ furety for our faith, repentance, and new obedience, as these are in no sense proper and purchasing conditions of the new covenant, but are blessings secured to us by the Father, as the reward of Christ's finished righteousness, Psal. xxii. 26.—31. If, liii. 10.—12.

SUR [485] SWE

SURFEITING; an overcharge of the fromach with too much meat, Luke xxi. 34.

SÜRMISINGS; suspicious thoughts and hints, to the hurt of our neighbour's reputation, 1 Tim. vi. 4.

SURPRISE; to feize all of a fudden, If. xxxiii. 14. Jer. xlviii. 41.

SUSTAIN; (1.) To uphold in danger, and under preffures, Pfal. iii. 5. (2.) To fecure provision to support one's life, Gen. xxvii. 37. I Kings xvii. 9.: and SUSTENANCE, is necessary provision for the support of life, Iudg. vi. 4.

SWADDLE; to roll up young infants in bands, in order to keep their joints in a proper state, till they be somewhat fixed, Lam. ii. 22. Darkness is represented as a froaddling-band to the ocean, as it long dwells on the south and north parts of it at once, Job xxxviii. 7.

SWALLOW; a blackish bird with fome spots of a dirty black under its belly. Its voice is peeping, If. xxxviii. 14. its fight quick, and its flight very unequal. It builds its nest of clay, commonly in chimneys or defolate houses; and, it is faid, from year to year in the fame place. Swallows are birds of passage, Jer. viii. 7. Prov. xxvi. 2. In fpring and fummer they tarry in cold countries, and retire to warmer in the harvest and winter; and are faid to breed in both: but vast numbers of them continue in cold countries during the winter, in a benumbed thate, wherein they hang cluftered in holes of walls, banks of rivers, or even under water in marshes and lakes. As it is very unlikely that fwallows or fparrows could build their nest in the altar, whereon the facrifices were daily burnt, Pfalm lxxxiv. 3. must either only mean, that they had their nests near to the altar; or what if the words were translated so as to signify, that the Pfalmist's soul as affectionately longed for God's altars, or public ordinances, as birds do to return to their nests and young? Perhaps, the DEROK means the ring dove or wild pigeon, Provexvi. 2. Pfal. lxxxiv. 3.

To swallow; (1.) To take down. by the throat, into the belly, Exod. vii. 12. Numb. xvi. 30. (2.) To feize upon; oppress; retain, or destroy irrecoverably, Job xx. 18. Ezek. xxxvi. Job's words were fwallowed up. when quite infufficient to express his inward grief, Job vi. 3. Death is fwallowed up in victory, and mortality of life, when death and diffress for ever give place to everlasting life and happinels, I Cor. xv. 54. 2 Cor. v. 4. The earth fwallowed up the flood which the dragon vomited forth against the church. The Romans, and the barbarous Goths, &c. by their mutual war, prevented one another from perfecuting the church: and carnal councils for their felfith ends, confuted the herefics that fprung up in the church, Rev.

SWAN; a fowl, white, and confiderably comely in its body; but its feet are broad and blackifh, It is very meek and gentle; haunts rivers, but feldom dives into them, or flies much. The flesh of swans is blackish, and hard of digestion. They are faid to fing sweetly when aged and near death. They were unclean by the Jewish law, and might figure out wicked men, glorious in their gifts and outward endowments, but unseemly, and earthly in their behaviour, Lev. xi. 18.: but Bochart will have this TINSHEMETH, to be the night-owl.

SWARM; a great multitude of infects, Judg. xiv. 8.

SWEAR. See OATH.

SWEAT; (1.) The moissure that evaporates from the porcs of an animal body when warmed with heat or fore labour; and also such hard labour as causes sweat, Gen. iii. 19. Sometimes terror has caused persons sweat blood.

Our

Our Saviour, oppressed with the impression of his Father's wrath, swate great drops of blood, when lying on the ground, in a cold night, Luke xxii.

44. Gospel-ministers not being clothed with what causes fueat, imports their not being under the power of sloth, to render their business toilsome to them; or bent on self-righteousness and superstition, in working out which, men do but toilsomely sweat forth their own corruption, Ezek, xliv. 18.

SWEEP; to carry off with great cafe, Judg. v. 21. Christ fweeps the bouse to find his lost piece of filver, when he carries off the wealth, and cuts off the life of multitudes; when he removes their vain confidences, reforms the corruptions of a country, and raifes a mighty flir in mens confcience, in order to promote their coming to himfelf, Luke xv. 8. God's judgements faveep nations, when they cut them mostly off, and destroy their wealth, If. xiv. 23. xxviii. 17. oppressors of the poor, like a favceping rain, that carries off every thing before it, feize on every thing that comes in their way, Prov. xxviii. 3. Satan's house was fivept and garnished: the Tewish nation, after their rejection of the gospel, were, and all apostates are, fully prepared for his return into them, Matth. xii. 44.

SWEET; delightful; pleafant, Prov. ix. 17. The wine of gofpeltruth goeth down fweetly, when it is received into mens hearts with readiness, delight, and pleafure; or it goeth down flraightly, has a direct tendency to bring fouls to Christ; or it goeth down to uprightnesses, leads men to embrace Jesus's imputed righteousness, and to practife gospel-holiness;—or goeth down to the upright, tends to their profit and advantage, Song vii. 9. The fweetness of the lips, is useful and kind talk, Prov. xxi. 21. The sweetness of a friend, is his delightful company and conversation, Prov. xxvii. 9.

SWELL; (1.) To rife in boils, or as leavened dough, Deut. viii. 4. (2.) To rife higher than ordinary: fo the Jordan fwelled, when the fnow on Lebanon melted, and overflowed its banks, and fo diflodged the lions from the thickets thereon, I Chron. xii. 15. In this manner the Chaldeans invaded the countries around; and the Medes invaded Chaldea, and deftroyed, or drave out the inhabitants, Jer. xlix. 19. l. The fwellings of Jordan denote extreme trouble, through which there is fearce any passing, as when the Jews were led captive to Babylon, Jer. xii. Swellings, are proud, envious indignation at others, 2 Cor. xii. 20. Swelling words, are heretics proud boasting of their distinguished sense; or their high bombast language without fentiment; or their horrid blafphemies against God, and his cause and people; or the high titles they take to themfelves, and give to their favourites, 2 Pet. ii. 18. Jude 16.

SWIFT; (1.) Quick in motion, Eccl. ix. 11. (2.) That which will come in a very little time, 2 Pet. ii. 1. Mal. iii. 5. (3.) Very much inclined and ready to a thing, as to hear, &c. James i. 19. To figure out how quickly our life passeth away, it is likened to a fwist shuttle, post, ship, shadow, and wind, Job vii. 6. ix. 25. 26. &c.

SWIM; to move in the water. One's caufing his bed to froim with tears, imports great grief and forrow, Pfal. vi. 7. God is like a froimmer fpreading out his hands to fwim, when he extends his judgements far and wide, If. xxv. 11. Pharaoh-hophra was like a froimming fish, when he almost constantly prospered, and rioted in ease and luxury, Ezek. xxxii. 6.

SWINE; well-known animals of a ravenous kind: they feed on carrion, hufks, and fuch-like vile provision: nay, fome of them eat their own young, after they have brought them forth. They look towards, and dig in the earth, wallow in mires; and by exceffive wallowing, or dancing, or carrying of ftraw to their fty, they prefage bad weather; they are very lazy and fleepy, and no lefs mischievous to gardens and fields. The Scythians, Arabs, and Egyptians, had an aversion at swine. The jewith law stated them to be unclean

S W O [487] S Y C

clean animals; and the Jews so abhorred fwine, that they would not name them. They are emblems of finners delighting in their wickedness, sleeping in their fin, contemning Christ the pearl of great price, returning to their old fins, perfecuting the faints, and living to no spiritual use in the world, Lev. xi. 7. Matth. vii. 6. 2 Pet. ii. 22. Though under Antiochus Epiphanes, fundry of the Jews fuffered death rather than eat fwine's flesh, yet in our Saviour's time we find them brought up in Galilee, and 2000 of them poffesTed and drowned by devils, Matth. viii. 30.-34. To mark his contempt of their religion, Adrian, the Roman Emperor, fet up a fwine's picture in the gate of the city, which he built on mount Calvary, about fixty years after the destruction of Jerufalem.

SWOON; to faint away for want of food, Lam. ii. 11. 12.

SWORD; (1.) A warlike inftrument for defending one's felf or attacking an enemy. (2.) War, and its attendant calamities, Lev. xxvi. 25. Jer. xlii. 16. Efau lived by his fword; by rapine and war were he and his posterity, the Edomites, much maintained and fubfished, Gen. xxvii. 40. And the fword is faid to return into its sheath or fcabbard, and to be quiet, when warlike calamitics cease, Jer. xlvii. 6. Ezek. xxi. 30. (3.) All kinds of judgements fent for the punishment of transgressors, Deut. xxxii. 41. 42.: particularly, the perfecution, contention, and other evils occasioned by mens opposition to the gospel, Matth. x. 34. God is the favord of his peoples excellency, as by him they are protected, and obtain victory and triumph over their enemies, Deut. xxxiii. 29. The feriptures are a favord, and a sharp truo-edged sevord, and sevord of the Spirit; used by Jesus Christ and his Spirit, and by ministers and faints, they wound the confcience, defend the new nature, and the foul, and are ufeful in the spiritual warfare, for refilting and overcoming fin, Satan, and the world, of profane, hypocritic, and heretical men: they are Christ's sword proceeding out of his mouth, from his authority and will; and are girt on bis thigh, ready to be the means of convincing and converting finners to himfelf, Eph. vi. 17. Song iii. 8. Rev. i. 16. xix. 15. Pfal. vlv. 3. Perhaps Christ himself, for his fearching, convincing, and conquering influence, is likened to a sharp invo-edged fromd, Heb. iv. 11. 12. The magiltrates power of defending the innocent and punishing the guilty, is called a fword, Rom. xiii. 4. Pf. exlix. 6. All that take the favord, perifh by the fword: felf-avengers, and usurpers of magistracy, generally perish in their attempts, Matth. xxvi. 52. A wicked tongue, malicious and reproachful language, are like fwords and spears; it works ruin, and wounds mens character and spirit, and tends to hurt their perfon or wealth, Pfal. lvii. 4. lxiv. 3. To turn back the edge of one's fword, is to difable him for felf-defence, and to reduce him to trouble and mifery, Pfal. 1xxi .. 43. To beat fwords into ploughshares, and spears into pruning-books, imports the leaving off war, and the enjoyment of great peace and liberty, spiritual or temporal, attended with much activity and diligence in improving one's fields, gifts, or graces, If. ii. 4. Mic. iv. 3. To beat plough-shares into savords, and pruning-books into spears, imports fuch terrible war that will require all hands, and occasion the fields to lie uncultivated, Joel iii. 10. What if the fword contemn the rod? it shall be no more: what if the enraged Chaldcans, contemning the king and governors of Judah, exceed the bounds of a trial, and make an utter destruction? it shall not fo happen, Ezek. xxi. 13. 10. SYCAMINE, SYCAMORE, or the SYCAMINE, SYCAMORE, or the Egyptian fig-tree, was a kind of compound of the fig and mulberry trees, as its name imports. Its leaves refembled those of the mulberry, and its fruit that of the fig-tree, and grows slicking to the trunk of the tree, which is sometimes so large that three men can hardly grasp it. It is always green, and bears fruit at several seasons of the year. To render it fruitful, chinks are made in the bark, that thereby a whitish liquor may run out: and it is faid, the fruits

fruits are not ripe, or fweet, except it be feratched by the nail, or rubbed with an iron comb. Sycamore figs are yellowish, and disgustfully sweet, and, at best, coarfe provision, but greatly liked by the Egyptians. Sycamores were common in Egypt, Judea, and other places; and the wood was used in Egypt for barks, and for coffins, and, in the mure my pits, has been found fresh when your years old; and in Judea, was used for building of common houses, I Kings x. 27.; and so, to change fycamores into cedars, is to render the buildings of cities, and the flate of the nation, much more glorious than before, If. ix. 10.

SYENE; an ancient city of Egypt, near the north border of Ethiopia, on the east of the Nile, whose ruins are till seen near the present Assound. Our version represents the tower of Syene at the greatest distance from Cush, or Ethiopia: but either Cush signifies Cushan in Arabia, or Syene is the same as Sin: or rather the words may be read, From Migdol to Syene, even to the border of Ethiopia, i. e. over the whole country of Egypt, Ezek. xxix. 10.

SYNAGOGUE; the place where the Jews met for their public worship on ordinary occasions, as we do in our churches. When fynagogues, properly fo called, had their rife, we are uncertain; but the meetings at the doors of houses might in some measure supply the want of them. It is pretty plain, that before the captivity, the law was not read in them every Sabbath, as it was afterwards: hence lehoshaphat's reforming teachers had to carry a copy of it along with them, 2 Chron. xvii. 9.; and its contents were much unknown in the time of Josiah, 2 Kings xxii. 11. As most of the Jews, from the beginning of their fettlement, attended the tabernacle or temple only at the three folemn feasts, it is probable they had a kind of fynagogues or schools, or profeuchæ, or prayer places, in one of which last our Saviour prayed all night, Luke vi. 12. These differed from fynagogues, as in them every one prayed by himfelf; they were in retired places, as by river fides, Acts xvi. 13.16. and were uncovered, like groves; whereas fynagogues were in elevated places, were covered with a roof, and one prayed as the mouth of the rest. Perhaps it was the profeuchæ that were the MO-HEDE, (fynagogues), or meeting-places, burnt up by the Chaldeans, Pf. lxxiv. 8. Soon after the captivity, the Jews had a great number of fynagogues, which increased, till there were about 480 of them in Jerusalem. Every trading fraternity had their fynagogues, and companies of strangers, as Alexandrians, Cyrenians, and others, had theirs, for public prayer, and for reading of the fcriptures. The fcattered Jews, too, had theirs about Babylon; and almost every where in the eaftern part of the Roman empire: and in the fynagogues we find our Saviour and his apostles oft teaching the multitudes, till they were shut out. On the synagoguedays the people affembled thrice; at the time of the morning and evening facrifice, and in the dusk of the evening; and thither the devout perfons oft retired for their fecret prayers; and the Pharifees stood, that their neighbours might hear them the better, Matth. vi. 5.

Wherever there are ten Batelnim, i. e. as I think, ten free men, who can attend the fervice of the fynagogue, the Jews erect one. In each, they have an ark or cheft, of the fize of the Mofaic one, for holding the five books of Mofes, and which is placed in that part of the fynagogue that looks towards the place of the ancient temple. On that fide are the chief feats for the elders, who fit with their backs to the ark: the rest of the men sit on other feats, with their faces to the ark. The women fit by themselves, in a gallery, fo inclosed with lattice-work, that they hear and fee, but are not feen by the men. Ministers are the stated readers and fingers in the fynagogues; but the rulers might defire any man prefent to read or fpeak. Hence our Saviour read and expounded at Nazareth, Luke iv. 16.; and Paul and Barnabas exhortSYR [489] SYR ed at Antioch of Pisidia, Acts xiii. The Sheliach-zibbor, or angel of the congregation, reads the liturgy. chazan either read, or looked over fuch as read, that he might correct their mistakes; but his chief business was, to expound the leffon of the day, or appoint another to do it for him; or to preach a fermon on fome proper fubject. These two, with the other rulers of the meeting, composed a council, whose prefident was called the chief ru-They order the affairs of the fynagogue, cenfure the feandalous, and provide for the poor. To procure a fund for the poor, they keep two chefts at the door of the house, one for the fake of their own poor, and the other to collect for strangers; and into these people put what they please, as they go in or out. On extraordinary occafions, a collector asks at each what he intends to give, and the money is gathered at their houses, when the Sabbath is over.

SYRACUSE, was a famous city on the fouth-east of Sicily, about 22 miles in circumference, which had a fine prospect both by sea and land, and was once the largest and richest city of the Greeks. It was built about A. M. 3269, and in a manner confifted of four cities united into one. For about 250 years it made little noise in the world: but in the next 280, it cut a furprifing figure in war, in fea-trade, and in wealth, under its kings Gelon, Dionyfius elder and younger, Dion, Agathocles, and Hiero. Here the famed mathematician Archimedes, with aftonishing inventions, defended the place from the Romans; but about A. M. 3800, it was taken, and he was flain. The Saracens feized on it, A. D. 675; but in 1090, it was taken from them by Roger duke of Apulia. Here Paul tarried three days as he went priloner to Rome; and here Christianity was early planted, and still, at least in name, continues; but the city has loll its ancient fplendor. Acts xxviii. 12.

SYRIA, or Aram. The Syrians or Arameans defeended from Aram, poffeffed Mefopotamia, Chaldea, and Vol.-II.

part of Armenia, and of them Abraham and his friends were a part. But Syria, properly fo called, had the Mediterranean fea on the west and north; Cilicia on the north; and Phenicia, Canaan, and part of Arabia the Defert, on the fouth. Its excellent foil and agreeable rivers, the Euphrates, Orontes, Cassimire, Adonis, Barrady, &c. rendered it a most delightful country. It was anciently divided into a variety of cantons, as Aram-naharaim, Aramzobah, Aram-maachah, Aram-rehob, and Aram of Damascus.—Zobah, Damascus, Hamath, Geshur, &c. were its most noted states about the time of DA-VID, who conquered it, 2 Sam. viii. - x. About 60 years after, Rezon, who had fled from HADADEZER his master, erected a kingdom at Damascus. He, and his fucceffors, Benhadad and Hazael, did much mischief to the Hebrews, 1 Kings xv. xx. xxii. 2 Kings vi. viii. x.; but Joash and Jeroboam kings of Ifrael, fufficiently refented these injuries, and broug it the Syrian kingdom to the point of ruin, 2 Kings xiii. xiv. They recovered themselves, and under Rezin, they made a confiderable figure, and terribly haraffed Ahaz and his fubjects, and even took Elath on the Red fea. But Tiglath-pilefer, instigated by Ahaz, ravaged their country, demolished their cities, and carried the inhabitants to Media. During the decline of the Affyrian empire, the Syrians returned, and recovered themfelves not a little, but Nebuchadnezzar again reduced them, 2 Kings xvi. Syria next fell under the Persians. After Alexander's death, it became one of the four GREEK kingdoms formed of his empire. After it had subsisted about 257 years in this form, it was reduced to a Roman province, about A. M. 3939. About 696 years after, the Saracens feized on In the end of the 11th century, the Seljukian Turks feized on it, and erected one of their four fultanies at Aleppo, and another at Damaseus. Soon after, the European Croifaders took the most of it, and after terrible flruggling were, about an hundred years after, driven out of it, by Saladin, ful-3 Q tan tan of Egypt, and his fuccessors. In the beginning of the 16th century, it was seized by the Ottoman Turks, who retain it to this day. We know no place in it presently of note, except Aleppo and Damaseus. Its principal rarities are the ruins of noted buildings, especially those of Tadmor and Baalbek. A Christian church was early planted here, and was samous, at Antioch, and other places of the country:

SYR [400] SYR

and there is still a shadow of Christianity with not a few. Acts xv. 23.41. Amos i. 3.—5. iii. 12. If. vii. 4. viii. 4. ix. 11. 12. xvii. 1.—3. Jer. xlix. 23.—27. Z.ch. ix. 1. 2. If. xi. 11.

SYRO-PHENICIA, was either that part of Phenicia bordering on Syria, or perhaps the whole of Phenicia, which by conquest had been united to Syria. The people were originally Canaanites, Mark vii. 26. Matth. xv. 22.—28.

Ţ

TAA

A ANATH-SHILOH; a place about ten miles eastward of Shechem, and whereabouts was the village

Thenath, as late as A.D. 400. TABERNACLE; TENT; (I.) A moveable lodging, formed of cloth or skins, spread over poles. Jabal, a son of Lamech the Cainite, was the inventor of fuch tents, as he might remove where he pleafed to feed his cattle, Gen. iv. 20. In fuch lodgings, did Noah, Abraham, and other patriarchs, and the Rechabites, dwell: and to this day, the wild Arabs, Tartars, and The others, live in a kind of tents. tents of the Arabs are covered with black hair-cloth, but those of the now pacific Turkmans with white cloth. The great men among both have very magnificent tents, and fome Turkmans most splendid trains and equipage. (2.) An house or dwelling, 2 Chron. xxv. 22. Job xi. 14. The tents of Shem, are the countries or church-state of his descendants, Gen. ix. 27. Tents of wickedness, are places where wicked men live, Pfal. lxxxiv. 10. (3) The dwellers in tents, Pfal. lxxxiii. 6.; and the tents of Judah, are fuch Jews as dwell in unfortified cities, Zech. xii. 7. The church's tent was enlarged, and her curtains stretched our, her cords lengthened, and her stakes Arength . 1, when the Gentiles were converse to Christ, and her gospel-state chablished, If. liv. 2. (4.) That tent erected for the worship of God, called the tabernacle of testimony, because it testified God's relation to and prefence with the Hebrews, and in it were the laws of God deposited, Numb. ix. 15.; or the covering of it, Exod. xl. 19. God's tabernacle is with men on earth, when they enjoy his eminent fellowship and favour, Rev. xxi. 3. The church and her true members are like the tents of Kedar; their outward appearance is mean and despicable, and their condition in this world very unsettled, Song i. 5. Our bodies are a tabernacle, easily demolished, and removed to and fro, and yet, in faints, are the curious dwelling of the Holy Ghost. 2 Cor. v. 1.

T A B

At Sinai, Moses set up a tent, and called it the tabernacle of the congregation, because thither the Hebrews repaired to worship God after their idolatry of the golden calf, Exod. xxxiii. 7.—10. Soon after, a more noted TABERNACLE was framed by Bezaleel and Aholiab. Its form was in this manner: first, there was a court of 100 cubits, or 61 yards long, and 50 cubits broad, inclosed and hung round to the height of 5 cubits, or o feet and a little more, with curtains of fine twined linen, fuspended by filver hooks, on 56 pillars of brass, or of shittim-wood overlaid with brass, and filletted with filver, and fet in large fockets of brass. The only entrance of this court was from the east, by a hanging vail of blue, purple, and fcarlet, and fine twined linen of needlework, twenty cubits in length, and fufpended on four pillars. Here, under the open fky, flood the altar of burntoffering and the brazen laver; and hither every clean Hebrew or profelyte of the covenant might come with his offerings.

At the west end of this court stood the tabernacle, properly fo called, which was a close tent, in the form of our honses. It was 30 cubits, or about 18 yards 8 inches long, and 6 yards and almost 3 inches broad, and as much in height. It was reared with 48 boards of Shittim wood, each a cubit and half broad, overlaid with gold, and fet upright in 96 large fockets of filver, and all supported behind with five crofs bars of Shittiin-wood, overlaid with gold, and fastened to the boards by rings of gold. On this frame was fulpended a fourfold covering, the inmost consisted of ten curtains of fine twined linen, with blue, purple, and fearlet, embroidered with figures of cherubins of cunning work, each curtain 28 cubits long and four cubits broad, and all coupled together by loops of blue, and taches of gold. Next there was a covering of eleven curtains of goats hair, coupled together with taches of brass. It had next a covering of rams skins dyed red; and, in fine, a 4th of throng leather, or badgers The whole east end, just before which the brazen altar and laver flood, was allotted for an entrance. It was hung over with a vail of blue, purple, fearlet, and fine twined linen, curioufly embroidered, and fuspended by golden hooks, on five pillars of Shittim-wood, overlaid with gold, and fet in large fockets of brafs. The whole of the gold about the tabernacle amounted to about 148,719% the filver to 3772%. Sterling. This tabernacle or fanctuary was divided into two apartments. The first apartment was 20 cubits long, and was called the holy place, and into it only the priests durst enter or look. At its inner end flood the golden candleflick, and the altar of incenfe, and table of fhew-bread; and here the filver trumpets, and itandards of weight and meafure, feem to have been kept. Beyond this there was another apartment of ten cubits fquare, which was feparated by a vail of blue, purple, and fearlet, and fine twined linen, embroidered with cherubims of cunning work, and fufpended by golden taches, on four pillars of Shittim-wood, overlaid with gold, and fet in fockets of filver. Here, amidst gross darkness, were reposited the ark of the covenant, overshadowed by the chernbims, between which hovered the Shechinah or fymbolic cloud of the divine presence; and here were the golden pot of manna, Aaron's budding rod, and a copy of the law of Moses: into this apartment only the high-priest entered, one day of the year. The tabernacle being reared on the first day of the fecond year of the Hebrews departure from Egypt, was, with all its utenfils, confecrated by the sprinkling of blood, and anointing of oil; and every year it was atoned by the sprinkling of blood on the day of expiation. After its erection, the twelve Hebrew princes folemnized the dedication of it, by presents and facrifices, each in his day. The whole offering was 12 chargers, and 12 bowls of filver, and 12 spoons of gold, amounting in all to 2520 shekels in weight, or 45981. Sterling in value, together with a large quantity of incense, and 36 bullocks, 72 rams, as many lambs, and as many kids, Exod. xxv.—xxvii. xxxvi.—xxxviii. xl. Num. vii. In the wilderness, the tabernacle flood in the midst of the Hebrew CAMP: the priests alone unreared it; but the Levites bare it and its furniture on their waggons and shoulders. The ark, the altar of incense, table of shew-bread, golden candleitick, nay, even the brazen altar, were carried under a cover; and it was death for the Levites to fee them, Numb. iv. After it had been carried about with the Hebrew camp for 46 years, it was fixed at Shiloh; and on a particular occation, before Joflua's death, feems to have been brought to Shechem, Josh. xviii. xxiv. 26. Some time after the death of Eli, the tabernacle was fixed for a while at Nob; and thence it was carried to Gibeon. At last, the ark, and other principal pertinents thereof, were placed in Solomon's temple, and the rest difregarded, 1 Sam. xxi. 2 Chron. i. 13. v. 4. 5.

Did this tabernacle reprefent our Redeemer, particularly in his manhood? It is devifed of God, and reared up TAB TAB with infinite skill, and confecrated by the oil of the divine Spirit, and his own bloody fuffering. In it dwells the fulness of Godhead; and after much tossing and unfixedness on earth, it, dropping every infirmity, was folemnly introduced to the heavenly rest. Nay, is not his person as God-man, the astonishing effect of the wisdom of God? He is the means of all our fellowship with God, and the treasury of all that atonement, purification, light, food, and acceptance, necessary for our fouls, Heb. ix. 21. viii. 2. Did it not reprefent the gospel-church, the tabernacle of our myflical David? By the wisdom of God fhe was planned; by his order she was erected by the inspired ministers of Christ. In her the glory of God refides; and here he is worshipped; and here a fulness of atonement, purificatio:, spiritual light, and provision; and of acceptable prayers, praifes, and good works, are to be found. Here is the word of God, the true standard of our faith and practice; and here are the unlearchable riches and gospel of Christ. After a while's exposure to storms, and various removals from place to place, she, in all her true members and glory, enters into the temple above. Nay, did not this facred tent prefigure heaven, where Jehovah, Jesus, and the whole of the chief fubstance of the church, are to be found? See FEAST.

TABITHA, or DORCAS, a Chriftian widow at Joppa, who much abounded in alms-deeds, and other good works, dying of fome ailment, the was washed, and laid on a table, in order to be coffined. Peter was fent for, and the attending widows were all in tears, and shewed him the clothes which she had made for them, and reported to him her other generous deeds. Peter putting out the people, and praying over her, bid her arife. She immediately opened her eyes, and, he helping her a little, stood up. He then called in the Christian neighbours, and prefented her to them alive and well, Acts ix. 36.-4.2.

TABLE; (1.) A broad piece of stone, brass, or the like, Hab. ii. 2.

Luke i. 63. Such the ancients used to write upon, as they had no paper; and they wished what they wrote to continue recorded to many generations. Twice God wrote his law on tables of ftone. The Romans wrote their ancient laws on 12 tables of brass. allution hereto, mens heart is reprefented as a writing table, and a fleshly table, ready to receive, and be affected with divine truths, Prov. iii. 3. vii. 3. 2 Cor. iii. 3. (2.) A frame or feat for people to eat meat off, I Sam. xx. 29. feems the Hebrews used the facred perfume of incense and oil at their common tables, Ezek. xxiii. 41. tar of burnt-offering is called God's table, because the facrifices thereon offered were acceptable to him, and were food to the hungry, Mal. i. 7. The ordinances of the church are likened to a table, as they exhibit to us the fulness of God, for the nourishment of our soul, Pfal. lxix. 22. Song i. 12. Luke xxii. 30. (3.) The provision set upon a table to be eaten or drunk, nay all kind of provision, spiritual and temporal: and God furnishes one's table, when he gives them prosperity, spiritual or temporal, Psal. xxiii. 5. Jefus fits at his table, when in heaven, before his incarnation; when on earth, during his debasement; when he, in our nature, fits on his Father's throne; and when he is present in the ordinances of the gospel, by the efficacy of his power, Song i. 12. cannot be partakers of the table of the Lord, and of the table of devils: cannot confistently eat of the things facrificed to idols as fuch, and partake of the Lord's fupper, I Cor. x. 21. office of the church deacons, is to provide necessaries for the table of the poor; to provide a maintenance for pastors; and officiate in distributing the elements at the Lord's table, Acts vi. 2. The preparing of a table when Babylon was taken, imports, either the Medes and Perfians providing victuals for their army; or the Chaldeans luxurious feasting and drunkenness, If. xxi. 5. The eight tables of hewn stone in Ezekiel's visionary temple, may denote

TAB [493] TAH

note the frequently administered supper of the Lord, firmly established in the church, and accessible to Christians in every corner, Ezek. xl. 41. 42.

The table of shew-bread was of Shittim-wood overlaid with gold, two cubits in length, one in breadth, and one and an half in height. At the top, it was furrounded with a double cornice, which preferved the loaves from falling off. It was portable by staves of Shittim-wood, overlaid with gold. It was confecrated by fprinkling of blood, and anointing with oil. flood on the north-west corner of the holy place, just before the inner vail, and on it were fet the 12 loaves of fhew-bread. Solomon made ten tables of shew-bread. Did this table reprefent Jesus's person, as in his intercesfion, prefenting all his chofen tribes before God; or the gospel, as presenting Christ and his fulness, for our spiritual provision? Exod. xxv. 23.-30. xxx. 27. 2 Chron. iv. 8. 19.

TABLET; an ornament, or perhaps a box for perfume, to refresh fainting spirits, Exod. xxxv. 22.

TABOR; (1.) A mountain fomewhat of the form of a fugar-loaf, near Kadesh in Galilee, where the territories of Islachar and Naphtali almost met, Josh. xix. 12. 22. It stood almost straight west of Hermon, but on the other fide of Jordan, and in the great plain of Jezreel. Josephus fays, it is about four miles high, and on the top is a beautiful plain about three miles and an half in circumference, and inclosed with trees, except towards the fouth; but according to Maundrel, Thevenot, and Pocock, one may ride to the top, and it is little more than one mile and an half of afcent; and on the top is but half a mile long, and a quarter broad: whether an earthquake may have partly funk it, and altered its form, fince the time of Josephus, I know not. The top, from whence is one of the most delightful prospects in the world, was once furrounded with a wall and trench, and perhaps there were houses on it. On this mount Barak affembled his army, and, at the foot of it, defeated the hoft of Jabin, Judg. iv. 6. 8. On the top of it, it was long thought our Saviour was transfigured; but as it is fo far diftant from Cefarea-Philippi, where he was before and after, that is now doubted by most people of judgement. (2.) Tabor was also the name of a city given by the Zebulunites to the Levites of Merari's family, I Chron vi. 77.; and of a place near Bethel, I Sam.

TABRET, or TIMBREL, a kind of mutical drum for expression of gladness at feasts and dancings, and in religious worship, Exod. xv. 20. 29. To be as a tabret, is to be greatly loved and delighted in, Job xvii. 6. To be adorned with tabrets, is to be filled with gladness, on account of prosperity and happiness, Jer. xxxi. 4. To taber out the breasts, is to beat them, as if a drum, for vexation and grief, Nah. ii. 7.

TACHES; hooks; class; or latches of gold and brass, for faltening together the curtains of the tabernacle.

Exod. xxvi. 6. 11.

TACKLING; the roping of a ship. TADMOR, now PALMYRA, was built by Solomon, about 60 miles east of Damascus, and above 20 west of the Euphrates, in a most delightful fpot, furrounded with a wide fandy defert, and with mountains on the east. north, and west sides. Here lived the famed critic Longinus; and here Odenatus, and Zenobia his queen, formed a fmall kingdom, and performed wondrous exploits; but the Romans feized on it by force about A. D. 273. At prefent there are about 30 wretched families in it, and plenty of magnificent ruins, fufficient to altonish every judicious beholder, 1 Kings ix. 18.

TAHPANHES, TEHAPHNE-HES, or HANES; a city of Egypt, and probably the Daphnæ Pelufiaeæ, about 16 miles fouth of Pelufium, and on the east of the Nile. Hither the rebellious Jews, under Johanan the fon of Kareah, retired; and not long after, Nebuchadnezzar took it, and placed his throne at the entry of it, as Jeremiah had pointed out, by the hidTAI [494] TAM ing of stones, Jer. xliii. 7.—11. Ezek.

TAIL, the hinder part of a beast, Judg. xv. 4.: in allufion to which, whatever is low and contemptible, is called the tail, Deut. xxviii. 13. If. ix. 14. 15. xix. 15. Because scorpions and ferpents do much hurt with their tails, the power, policy, and flattery, wherewith the Papifts and Mahometans spread their delusion, to the ruin of multitudes, are called their tails; or the tails may fignify subordinate officers and agents, ecclefiaftic, civil, or military, Rev. ix. 10, 19. xii. 4. Rezin and Pekah were two tails of smoaking firebrands, able to perform little of what they boasted, and near to utter destruction, If. vii. 4.

TAKE; (1.) To receive, 2 Kings xv. 15. 16. (2.) To choose, Deut. i. 13. (3.) To feize on, I Kings xviii. 40. Heb. v. 4. (4.) To bear away, John ii. 15. (5.) To improve; exert, Eph. vi. 13. Rev. xi. 17. To take away, oft fignifies the entire deflruction of a thing, and its causes and effects, Heb. x. 4. 9. Christ takes acoav for; his righteoufness removes the guilt; his Spirit its power and stain; and his benefits conferred, the fruit thereof, John i. 29. Troubles take asvay fin; they cause men give up with their idols and idolatries, and to abhor and watch against finful practices, If. xxvii. 9. To take the foxes in the church, is to detect, and cenfure, and remove falfe teachers, and to fearch out, and mortify inward corruptions, Song ii. 15. A man is taken and held faft by his fins, when he is enfuared and ruined by them, Prov. v. 22.

TALE; (1.) Sum; number, Exod. v. 8. (2.) Story, Luke xxiv. 11. Our life is like a tale that is told, very short and unsubstantial, Pfal. xc. 9. Tale-bearers are such as carry tales to raise strife and contention; or who slander and backbite, Lev. xix. 16. Ezek. xxii. 9.

TALENT; a weight among the Jews containing 3000 shekels; so, if a shekel of silver is reckoned at three shillings, a talent of it will amount to 4501. Sterling, and one of gold to 16 times as much, viz. 72001. But we, supposing a shekel of filver to be confiderably lefs, viz. 2s. 3 d. compute the talent of filver at 342% 3s. 9d. and a talent of gold at 5475%. Sterling, Exod. xxxviii. 24. 27 The weight of a Jewish talent for weighing silver was 113 pounds 10 ounces 1 pennyweight and 10' grains; but their talent used in weighing other things was perhaps a fifth part heavier. The Egyptian talent was 86 pounds and almost 9 ounces. They had a talent at Antioch that weighed 300 pounds and about 31 ounces. Whatever gifts or opportunities God gives to men for their ufefulness, are called pounds and talents; and to some he gives these in greater, and to others in leffer proportion; but all ought to improve what they receive, and must give account of their use thereof, Matth. xxv. 15.—29. Luke xix. To mark the infinite disproportion between the injuries done by us to God, and those done by men to us; the former are called 10,000 talents, and the latter 100 pence, Matth. xviii. 24. 28. God's heavy judgements on the Jews and Antichriftians, are reprefented as of the weight of a talent, Zech. v. 7. Rev. xvi. 21.

TALK; fpeech to another, Job xi. 2. Takers, are fuch as are exceedingly given to talk, Ezek. xxxvi. 3. Talk fometimes fignifies meditation, as we should never speak but after due thought, Pfal. lxxi. 24.

TALITHA-KUMI; a Syriac expression, which signifies, Maid arise, Mark v. 41.

TALMAI. See GESHUR.

TAMAR. See Judah, Absalom, Amnon. Tamar, a city, is probably the fame as Engeni.

TAMMUZ, or THAMMUZ, the 4th month of the Jews facred year, and 10th of their civil. It conflits of 29 days, and answers to part of our June and July. On the 17th day of it, the Jews fast for the sin and punishment of making the golden calf. During the captivity of Babylon, they in this month observed a fast, to bewail the destruction of Jerufalem, Jer. xxxix. 2. Zech. viii. 19. (2.) Tammuz, an idol, called alfo Adonis, Ofiris, Adonofiris, and perhaps Chemoth, and Baal-peor. is faid, he was either Thamus, an ancient king of Upper Egypt, or was Adonis the fon of Cyniras, an Affyrian, who founded the city of Paphos in Cyprus, by his own daughter Myrr-To cover his incefluous birth, he was brought up among the shepherds. Venus, the goddess of whoredom, fell in love with him for his beauty, on account of which Mars her hufband killed him. Venus lamented his death in the most inconfolable manner. To comply with her pattern, the eastern nations of Syria, Phenicia, &c. had a flated folemnity, to bewall the ribe at the celebrated whoremonger. When the rain or melting fnow made the river Adonis appear reddish in colour, the women began their lamentations, fo loud and tender, as if f. the death of an only child. Aft they had fuffi-they proceeded to the facrifices of the dead, Pfal. cvi. 28. Next day, pretending that he was revived, and afcended to heaven, they rejoiced, and shaved their heads; and fuch as did not, at least at Byblus, were obliged to prostitute themselves a whole day to strangers, and confecrate their gain to Venus. On this day the Phenician priests caused a letter come into their harbour, in a boat of paper-reeds, as if from Egypt, importing, that the priests there had found Adonis alive. When this boat entered the harbour of Byblus, the women danced and shouted as perfor mad for joy. In the time of Ezekiel, the Jewish women celebrated this folemuity in all the obscene rites thereof, Ezek. viii. 14. To this day fome veiliges of this mad revel remain at Aleppo.

tion

TAN [495] TAR

TANACH, or TANACH; a city of the Manassites, near Endor, and Megiddo. It was given to the Kohathites; but the Canannites long retained it in their hands, Josh. xvii. 11. xxi. 25. Judg. i. 27.

TAPESTRY; cloth beautifully figured in the loom, or with the needle. It was anciently used in the east, as early as the age of Solomon. The Crustiders seem to have introduced the arc of making it into Europe, about 500 or 600 years ago. The English and Flemish first distinguished themselves in making it; but the French knew little of it till within 160 years backward. It is used to cover beds, and to hang sine rooms. Its sigures are frequently formed with threads of gold, Prov. vii. 16.

TAPPUAH, or the apple city, belonged to the tribe of Ephraim, and is probably the fame as Entappuah, which was fortified by Bacchides, the Syro-Grecian general, Josh. xvii. 7.8. Another situated in the low country, belonged to Judah, and was different from Bethtappuah in the hill country, Josh.

xv. 34. 53.

TARES. We have a kind of peafe called tares; but what the feripture mentions under that name, appears to be a weed very hurtful to corn. Its ftem is smaller than that of wheat; and at the top fprings forth a long ear, with fmall hulks furrounding three or four grains. The meal of tares is unwholefome, loads the stomach, and intoxicates, creating drowfinefs, heavinefs, and headachs. Wicked men are likened to tares: they grow up among the faints, are fomewhat fimilar, and very hurtful, but cannot be fully feparated till the last day, when they shall be cast into everlasting fire.

TARGET. See SHIELD. But Goliath's chidou probably fignifies a gorget, corflet, or neck-piece, I bam. xvii. 6.

TARRY; (1.) To abide; continue, Gen. xxvii. 44. (2.) To ftay behind, Exod. xii. 39. (3.) To defer; delay, Gen. xlv. 9. (4.) To wait; ftay for, Exod. xxiv. 14. God and his falvation tarry, when, notwithflanding his peoples diffrefs and prayers, he, for a time, defers to deliver them, Pfal. xl. 17. If. xlvi. 13.

TARSHISH, TARSUS; the fon of Juvan, and who probably founded Tarshifh, or Tarfus in Cilicia, and gave his name to the country, and was perhaps the father of the Etrusci in Italy. Perhaps different places are called TAR-TARSUS in Cilicia was the nearest to Canaan that we know of. It was the capital city of the country, and built on the river Cydnus, about fix miles from the fea; and which Strabo fays, was built by Sardanapalus, the king of Affyria. It is faid once to have equalled Athens and Alexandria in polite learning. Julius Cæfar bestowed on it the same privileges as Rome had; and hence Paul was here free born. To mark their gratitude, the inhabitants turned the name of the city into Juliopolis, or the city of Julius. During the wars of the Greek emperors with the Perfians and Saracens, this city fuffered much, and is at prefent of no importance: but Christianity being here planted by Paul, has never fince been wholly extinct. Perhaps this is the Tarshish for which Jonah set out, Jon. i. 3. Sometimes Tarshish seems to denote the fea in general, fo called from its blue-greenish colour, as Is. lx. 9. Pfal. xlviii. 7. Sometimes it feems to mean Carthage in Africa, or Tarteffus in Spain, If. xxiii. 6.: for in vain would the Tyrians have fled from Nebuchadnezzar, or Alexander, to Tarfus in Cilicia. Hiller will have Tarshish to fignify the country of the Celtæ in Gaul, Spain, &c. Pfal. lxxii. 10. But there must still be another Tarshish, to which Solomon traded from the Red fea; and for which Jehoshaphat sitted out his This could not be in North Africa, or in Spain; as the way to these places by fea was 6000 or 7000 miles nearer from Joppa than from the Red fea. We must therefore suppose a Tar/hi/h on the east of Africa, or in the Indies, and perhaps near to the most distant Ophir, I Kings x. 22. 2 Chron. xx. 36. Jer. x. 9.

TAR [496] TAX

TARTAK, the idol of the Avites. The Jewith writers think he had the figure of an afs; but Junieu will have this idol to be the chariot of the fun, or the fun in his chariot, 2 Kings xvii. 31.

TARTAN. See Esarhaddon,

SENNACHERIB.

TASK; the quantity of work required of one; and TASKMASTERS are fuch overfeers as make the tasked to perform their work, Exod. v. 11.

To TASTE; (1.) To try the relish of a thing by the tongue or palate, Job xxxiv. 3. (2.) To eat or drink a little, as if trying the relish of the food, 1 Sain. xiv. 29. Dan. v. 2. (3.) To have an experimental knowledge of: thus men tafte death, when they feel it, Matth. xvi. 28.; they tafte that the Lord is gracious and good, when they fpiritually discern and feel his grace and goodness working for and in them, 1 Pet. ii. 2. Pfal. xxxiv. 8. Hypocrites taste the good avord of God, and the heavenly gift, when they have fuch transfient experience of the power of the Holy Ghoft, in and by the word, as fills them with a kind of comfort and joy, Heb. vi. 4. 5.

TASTE, is, (1.) Relish, Exod. xvi. 31. Job vi. 6. (2.) The roof of the mouth, which discerns the relish of meats, Prov. xxiv. 13. (3.) Our judgement and affections, which discern the propriety and agreeableness of things to the foul, Psal. cxix. 103. Song ii. 3. Moab's taste remained in him, and his scent was not changed. Their power and their idolatry, pride, presumption, luxury, and other wickedness, continued the same from age to age, as wine standing on its less, retains its strength, colour, and relish, Jer. xlviii. 11.

TATLERS; such as foolishly and rafhly speak of things without knowing, or being concerned about them, 1 Tim. v. 13.

TATNAI. See Samáritans.

The THREE-TAVERNS, was a place about 33 miles fouth of Rome, where it feems there were three taverns or drinking-houses, Acts xxviii. 15.

TAUNT; a common by-word; a laughing-stock, Jer. xxiv. 9. Ezek.

TAX; TOLL; TRIBUTE; a sum of money or goods paid to rulers, as a token of submission to them, and in order to reward their labour in government, 2 Chron. xvii. 21. 2 Kings xxiii. 35. The revenues of eastern princes are paid in the productions of their subjects lands, 1 Kings iv. 7 .- 19. Eccl. v. o. As the Hebrews acknowledged God for their proper King, they paid their tribute to him in tithes, offerings, and foul-money, Exod. xxx. 13. Lev. i.-vii. &c. Wherever they prevailed over the Canaanites, they laid them under tribute, Josh. xvi. 10. Judg. i. 30. Towards the end of his reign, Solomon imposed a tribute on the Hebrews, which iffued in the revolt of ten tribes from his fon, I Kings xii. Syrians, too, and Affyrians, Chaldeans, Perfians, Greeks, and Romans, in their turn, imposed tribute on them, and other conquered nations. Seleucus, the fon of Antiochus the Great, was a raiser of taxes in the glory of his kingdom; i. e. famed for nothing, but raising of taxes, to pay his father's debt to the Romans, Dan. xi. 20. Cefar Augustus ordered that an involment, taxing, or cenfus, should be made of all his subjects families and fubiliance, in order to lay on the tribute in proportion to their ability: this was begun three or four years before the birth of our Saviour; but Providence fo ordered it, that it was not got carried through to Bethlehem till the time of his birth, Luke ii. 2. This tribute was not levied till about 10 or 11 years after; the publicans who gathered it were terribly detefted. Judas of Galilee formed a party of zealots, who feditiously opposed the raising of it. As Jefus miraculoufly procured money from a fish to pay it, for himfelf and Peter; he, in a convincing manner, directed the Jews to pay it, as, by their using of the Roman coin, they acknowledged their subjection, Matth. xxii. 16 .- 18. TRIBUTARY; one under tribute, Judg. i.

jects

TEA 1 497 TEK

TEACH; INSTRUCT; (I.) To make to know, Pfal. cxix. 26. (2.) To admonish; to direct, Mark viii. 31. God teaches men, by his word informing their judgement; by his Spirit, opening their understanding to discern divine things; and by his providence, pointing out what we have done, or ought to do, and what we may expect at his hand, Rom. ii. 18. Neh. ix. 20. Jer. vi. 8. Prov. xxiv. 22. Pf. xxv. 2.9.

Vol. IT.

Christ's right hand teaches him terrible things, when he performs marvellous works for the falvation of his people and the destruction of their enemies, Pfal. xlv. 4. To teach by the hand of God, is to do it by his affistance, Job xxvii. 11. To teach with the fingers, is by gestures to excite others to what is fhameful to be expressed in words, Prov. vi. 13. A TEACHER, is, (1.) A mafter, an instructor, 1 Chron. xxv. 8. (2.) A minister of the gospel, who, by his doctrine and practice, makes men to understand the truths of God, Eph. iv. 11. (3.) One who by private instruction or example, makes others to know spiritual things, Tit. ii. 3.

TEAR. See REND.

TEARS; (1.) Drops of humour which fall from weeping eyes, Pfal. vi. 6. (2.) Affliction and forrow, Pf. exxvi. 5. If. xxv. 8.

TEATS; (1.) Paps, dugs. The Jews had their teats of virginity bruifed, when they were feduced into the idolatry of the Heathens around, Ezek. xxii. 3. (2.) Prosperity; plentiful crops: for want of such the Jewish women lamented, Is. xxxii. 12.

TEDIOUS; wearifome.

TEBET, or THEBET, the tenth month of the Jewish facred year, and fourth of their civil. It consisted of 29 days. On the eighth, they observe a fast for the translation of their law into Greek: on the tenth, a fast for the siege of Jerusalem by the Chaldeans, 2 Kings xxv. 1. On the 28th, a feast of joy for the ejection of the Sadducees from the sanhedrim, where, under Janneus, they had almost the whole power.

TEKOAH; a pleafant city, about 12 miles fouth of Jerufalem, built by one Asher, or Ashur, 1 Chron. ii. 24. iv. 5. and which had a wilderness adjacent to it, that reached almost to the Dead sea. A widow of it persuaded David to recall Absalom, 2 Sam. xiv. Rehoboam repaired and fertified it, 2 Chron. xi. 6. Near to it Jehoshaphat's enemies massacred one another, 2 Chron. xx. 20.—23. Amos the prophet was a herdman of it, Amos i. 1.

TEL [498] TEM

Hither Jonathan the Maccabee retired from Bacchides, the syrian general, as the city had but one entrance. Perhaps there was another Tekoah, north of Jerufalem, Jer. vi. 1.

TELASSAR. See Eden.

TELABIB; a place of Chaldea, between the rivers Chebar and Saocoras, Ezek. iii. 15.

TELEM, or TELAIM; a city on the fouth frontiers of Judea, where Saul muftered his forces to march against the Amalekites, Josh. xv. 24. 1 Sam. xv. 4.

TELMELA, Telharsha; Cherub, Addan, and Immer, were perhaps all cities of Chaldea, Ezra ii. 59.

TELL; (1.) To count; to number, Gen. xv. 5. (2.) To make known to, Gen. xii. 18. 2 Sam. i. 20. (3.) To explain; interpret, Ezek. xxiv. 19.

Dan. ii. 36.

TEMA; a fon of Ishmael, who probably founded the city Thema or Thamma, near the west of Chaldea, and was the parent of the troops of Tema, Gen.

xxv. 5. Job ix. 10.

TEMAN, or TIMNAH; the grandfon of Efau, by his fon Eliphaz, and parent of the Temanites, of whom Eliphaz, Job's friend, was one, and Husham, an ancient king of Edom, another, Gen. xxxvi. 34. We suppose he built a city called Teman, about five miles from Petra. Most, if not the whole of the land of Edom, is fometimes called Teman, Jer. xlix. 20.
Amos i. 12. The symbols of the divine presence, seemed to move from above the land of Teman and Paran, to Sinai, which lay fouth-west therefrom,
Hab. iii. 3.

TEMPEST. See STORM.

TEMPLE. The Jews fometimes called the tabernacle by this name, I Sam. i. 9. iii. 3. The houses built for the residence of idols were also so called; but that built at Jerusalem for the worship of the true God, is so called by way of eminence. We have different descriptions of this magnificent structure. Villalpandus, a learned Jesuite and samed architect, has published a splendid one in three volumes in solio; but it is chiefly founded on Ezekiel's vifionary deferiptions, and his own fancy, and rules of architecture, and not on the plain reports of feripture. Lightfoot too, and Prideaux, have given us laboured deferiptions; but as these are founded on Josephus's account of Herod's form of it, and on the Talmud, whose authors lived long after it was in ruins, we cannot depend on them as descriptions of Solomon's. Our account shall be taken from the history of the Bible, which alone, we suppose, is to be regarded in this matter.

The preparations for this temple were immenfe. David and his princes affigned thereto 108,000 talents of gold, 1,017,000 talents of filver, both which together amounted to about 942,719,750 l. or 939,299,687 l. Sterling, and in weight amounted to about 46,000 ton weight of gold and filver. About 183,600 men, Hebrews and Canaanites, were employed in building Every thing was made ready ere it came to the spot, that nothing was to do but join the materials; and yet it was feven years in building. It was erected on mount Moriah. The top of this hill was inclosed with a wall. Into this there was an entrance on every fide; befides one towards the fouth-west, for the royal family, whereby, by a raifed way, called the gate of Shallecheth, they came to their place in the covert of the Sabbath. The east gate was called Sur: the fouth gate was called Asuppim, because it seems there the Levites convened to receive their directions; and the gate Parbar was at the north-west of the temple. At the fide of every gate, and at every corner of the court, houses seem to have been built. Into this outer court, every clean Hebrew, or profylete of the covenant, might enter. In our Saviour's time, there was a court of the Gentiles without this. In the middle of the outer court, but nearer to the west end, there was a court for the priefts and Levites, stretching oblongly, from west to east, and was surrounded with a low wall, of about four feet high, that the people might, over the top of it,

TEM [499] TEM

it, fee what was doing by the priests. This court had two entrances; one on the north fide, and another on the fouth. In this court, just before the east end of the temple, stood the brazen altar, 20 cubits long, as many broad, and 10 high; and the brazen fea and lavers, which brafs-work was cast in the clay ground near Succoth and Zaretan. The temple, properly fo called, stood from west to east, near the west end of the court of the priests; and had its fole entrance on the east end. First, you came to a porch 20 cubits from north to fouth, and 10 from east to west, and 120 in height. This ferved as a steeple to adorn it, and was a place of thelter and of prayer to the ferving priefts. On each fide of its entrance was a pillar about 18 cubits high and 12 cubits in circumference, and adorned with chapiters, and about 200 figures of pomegranates. The one was called Jachin, stability; and the other Beaz, frength .- Paffing through this porch, you entered the fauctuary or holy place, which was 40 cubits in length, 20 in breadth, and 30 in height, at the west end of which, flood ten golden candlesticks on the fouth fide, and on the north to tables, with 12 loaves of shew-bread on each; and in the middle between them, stood the golden altar of incense. In this apartment, too, were lodged the filver trumpets, the standards of weight and measure, and the sacred treasures. Pasfing through the fanctuary lengthwife, you entered by a fine vail, and a twoleaved door of olive-tree, into the oracle or most holy place, into which only the high-priest might enter, and that only upon the day of atonement. It was a square of 20 cubits every way, and here stood the ark with its furniture; and Solomon made two new cherubins of olive-tree, which overshadowed the two golden ones, and stretched their wings the whole breadth of the house. wall of the house was reared with alternate rows of fine cedar-wood and hewn ftone, probably polified marble; the infide was carved with figures of cherubims and palm trees, and the whole infide, floor, walls, and roof, was overlaid with gold. The oracle had no windows at all, but was perpetually dark; the fanctuary had narrow windows, light against light. If the 90 priests chambers of three stories, 30 in each, were built on the wall of the temple, the windows of the fanctuary might have been high; but if, with fome, we suppose the priests chambers built on the top of the temple, the windows might be low enough. About 11 months after the building was finished, and just before the feast of tabernacles, this temple was furnished with the ark, and other facred utenfils, and the Shechinah, or cloud of divine glory, entered it, to take up its rest over the ark, between the cherubims; and it was dedicated with a folemu prayer by Solomon, and by feven days of facred featting, and by a peace-offering of 20,000 oxen and 120,000 fheep, to confume which, the holy fire anew came down from heaven. The temple - fervice confifted in facrifices, fongs, prayer, &c. 1 Chron. xxii. xxvi. xxix. 1. — 9. 1 Kings vi. — viii. 2 Chron. iii.—vi. Did not this temple typify Christ's manhood, as the wonderfully prepared, the curious, pure, and glorious residence of his Godhead, and through which we have access to worship God? John ii. 19. Did it represent his person, freely set up to be our Mediator, as the glorious, fixed, and lasting means of our fellowship with God, and of receiving all bleffings from him? Col. i. 19. ii. 9. Did it typify the gospel-church, large, glorious, and firmly founded, reared up with lively flones, and cedars of God, with chosen men, and connected together with the oracles, ordinances, blood, Spirit, and grace of Christ, and fitted to be the refidence of God, Father, Son, and Holy Ghoft? Eph. ii. 20.-22. Did it also prefigure heaven, as the glorious and fixed refidence of the Most High, where he is served by multitudes of angels and men, and honoured with endless anthems of praise? Pfal. xi. 4. Rev. vii. 15. The faints are temples; their fouls, and even 3 R 3 their bodies, are by the blood, Spirit, and grace of Christ, sitted and set apart to the service, and to be the residence of God, I Cor. iii. 16. vi. 19. 2 Cor. vi. 16. John saw no temple in heaven, for the Lord God and the Lamb are the temple thereof. In the millennial period, outward pomp and ceremony shall be undervalued, and real fellowship with God alone prized: and in heaven, instituted ordinances shall cease, and the full enjoyment of God be all, and in all, Rev. xxi. 22.

TEM [500] TEM

The Jewish temple remained but about 34 years in its glory, when Shishak carried off its treasures, 1 Kings xiv. 25. Under Jehoram, Ahaziah, and Athaliah, it was much decayed, but Jehoiada and Joath repaired it about A. M. 3150. Soon after, Joath robbed it of its treasures, to give them to Hazael king of Syria, 2 Kings xii. 2 Chron. xxiv. To procure the affiftance of Tiglath-pilefer the Affyrian, Ahaz presented him with the treasures of the temple. He removed the brazen altar, and put his idolatrous one in its place. He removed the brazen fea from off the oxen, and the brazen lavers from off their pedeftals or supporters, and placed them on the ground. He also brake many of the facred veffels, and flut up the temple, 2 Chron. xxviii. 2 Kings xvi. Hezekiah repaired it, and made fuch veffels for it as it wanted; but in the 14th year of his reign, he was obliged to rob it of much of its wealth, to give it to Sennacherib, 2 Chron. xxix. 2 Kings xviii. feh reared altars to the hoft of heaven in the facred courts, but afterwards reflored the true worship of God. Josiah his grandfon further purged the temple, and replaced the ark of God therein, 2 Kings xxi. xxii. 2 Chr. xxxiii. xxxv. About A. M. 3398, Nebuchadnezzar carried part of the facred veffels to Babylon, and about feven years after he carried others; and at last, in 3416, eutirely burnt and demolished the temple, Ezek. vii. 20.-22. xxiv. 21. Jer. lii. 13. About A. M. 3469, amidst the joy of fome, and mourning of others, it, by Cyrus's order, began to be rebuilt, and, notwithstanding of much hinderance, was finished in about 20 years, and solemnly dedicated to the fervice of God. The Perfian king's decree feems to order its height to be 60 cubits, and its breadth to be 60: perhaps the porch might be only allowed to be 60 cubits high, which was but the half of the height of that erected by Solomon: or what we render breadth may fignify the length, as it is scarce probable Cyrus would order the height and breadth, and not the length. Or perhaps, tho? Solomon's temple was but 20 cubits from fide to fide within, yet the breadth of the walls, and priefts chambers added thereto, might make it 60 cubits. This fecond temple, built under the direction of Zerubbabel, and Joshua the highpriest, wanted, as the Jews fay, five things, which were the chief glory of the former, viz. the ark and its furniture, the Shechinah or cloud of the divine presence, the holy fire, the Urim and Thummim, and the fpirit of propliecy: but the want of these could hardly be the reason of the old mens mourning when they faw the foundation of it laid; but the true reason feems to be, the unlikelihood, that it, when founded by a few poor tributaries, would ever attain to the glory of the former, reared by the wifeft and richeft of kings, Ezra i. iii. vi. About A. M. 3837, Antiochus profaued it, stopt the daily facrifice, and erected the image of Jupiter his chief idol, on the altar of burnt-offering: but, about three years after, Judas Maccabeus purified and repaired it, and reftored the true worthip of God.

To gain the affection of the Jews, and humour his own pride, Herod the Great, about A. M. 3987, began to build it anew. In about nine years he finished the principal parts of it; but 46 years after, when our Saviour had begun his public ministry, it was not quite finished: nay, till the beginning of their ruinous wars, they still added to its buildings. Josephus describes this temple as follows: It was built on a very hard rock, wherein the foundations were laid with incredible expense.

The

T E M [501] T E M

The temple itself was 60 cubits high, and as many broad. But in the front Herod added two wings or shoulders, each of which projecting 20 cubits, made the whole length of the front 100 cubits, and the breath as many; and the gate was 70 cubits high, and 20 broad, but without any doors. The stones were white marble, 25 cubits in length, 12 in height, and 9 in breadth, all polified, and unspeakably beautiful. Inflead of doors, the gate was closed with vails, flowered with gold, filver, purple, and every thing rich and curious. At each fide of the gate were two stately pillars, from whence hung golden fettoons, and vines with leaves and clufters of grapes, curioufly wrought. —The whole inclosure was about a furlong fquare, furrounded with an high wall of large stones, some of them above 40 cubits long, and all fastened to one another with lead or iron. Where the wall was raifed from the bottom of the adjacent valley, its height was above 300 or 400 cubits. On the infide of this high wall, round about, were erected three fine galleries, the narrowest about 30 feet wide and 50 in height, but the largest, which was between the other two, was 45 feet wide, and a 100 feet high. These galleries were supported by 162 pillars of marble, each about 27 feet in circumference. The wall of this inclofure had four gates towards the west, and one towards each of the other three airths. Solomon's porch was at the east gate of the temple called Beautiful, Acts iii. 2. 11. The plazzas and court were paved with marble. Within this inclosure, and near to the galleries, was a fecond, furrounded with a flight of beautiful marble rails, and with stately columns at proper diffances, inferibed with mottos, prohibiting the Gentiles and unclean Jews to proceed any further. This inclosure had one gate on the east fide, three on the fouth, and as many on the north, placed at equal diffances. Within this, a third inclofure furrounded the temple and altar of burnt-offering. Its wall had a flight of 14 steps on the outside, which hid a confiderable part of it, and on the top, quite round, it had a terrace of 12 feet broad. This inclosure had one gate on the eafl, four on the fouth, and as many on the north, at equal di-At the infide of each gate, were two large fquare chambers, 30 cubits wide, and to high, supported by pillars of 12 cubits in circumference. On the infide, except on the west fide, there was a double flight of galleries, supported by a double row of pillars. The gates were 30 cubits high, and 15 broad. The women, it feems, had their separate court, and entered by the east gate, which was overlaid with Corinthian brafs. Within this third inclosure, the court of the prietts was feparated from that of the people, by a low wall. Here flood the altar of burnt-offering, which was of hewn flone, 40 cubits broad, and 15 in height; and the lavers, and the temple properly fo called. The wall of the temple and its roof being covered with gold on the outfide, made a glorious appearance in fun-shine. Herod folemnly dedicated his new temple. It had not stood much above 70 years, when the Jews made a fort of it in their ruinous war. After it had been polluted with murder, and every other wickedness, it was, to the extreme gricf of Titus the Roman prince, burnt to the ground. To give the lie to our Saviour, who had faid, one stone of it should not be left above another, Julian the Roman emperor, in concurrence with the Jews, twice attempted to rebuild it, about A. D. 360. Earthquakes and flames of fire difperfed their materials, and killed a vast number of the workmen. At prefent, there is a mock-temple on the fourth-east of Jerufalem, whose court is 570 paces long. and 370 broad. In the middle, where it is supposed the Holy of holies stood, there is a Mahometan mosque. To this the Mahometans pay great veneration; but no Jew or Christian dare enter this court, under pain of death, or of redeeming his life by becoming a Mahometan. The Heathers had temples for their idols. That of Belus at Babylon, of Diana at Ephefus, and of Jupiter

TEM [502] TER

Jupiter in the Capitol at Rome, and that of Scrapis in Alexandria, were the most famous; but the ancient Persians, &c. would build none, as God is omnipresent.

TEMPORAL; belonging to time,

2 Cor. iv. 18.

TEMPT; (1.) To try; fo God tempts men, when he puts them on hard duties to discover their grace, their faith, love, and obedience, Gen. xxii. Men tempt God, when they unfeafonably and irreverently require proofs of his prefence, power, and goodness; when they expose themselves to danger, from which they cannot efcape without the miraculous interpofition of his providence; and when they fin with fuch boldness, as if they wanted to try whether God could or would know and punish them, Exod. xvii. 2. Matth. iv. 7. Mal. iii. 15. Acts v. 9. The Jews tempted Christ, by endeavouring to provoke or enfuare him, Matth. xvi. 1. xxii. 16. (2.) To entice to fin: fo Satan and his agents tempt men, and on that account he is called the tempter, I Cor. vii. 5. I Theff. iii. 5.: and fo God tempts no man, nor is he effectually tempted of any, Jam. i. 13. The Hebrew martyrs were tempted, were tortured or burnt, Heb. xi. 37. TEMPTATION, is, (1.) The enticement of a person to sin, and the means thereof; this men are to watch and pray against, Matth. xxvi. 41. God leads men into temptation, when he withholds his grace and providential reftraints; when he gives them up to Satan and their own lufts, or to their wicked neighbours, to be enticed to fin; or when he lays before them fuch occasions as they will improve to encourage and perpetrate their wickednefs, Matth. vi. 12. (2.) Trials; fore afflictions; persecutions, Jam. i. 2. 12. Luke viii. 13. xxii. 28. God's miracles of mercy and judgement, whereby he tried the Hebrews and Egyptians obedience to his will, are called temptations, Deut. iv. 3.4. vii. 19.

TEN is a number of perfection; and ten times, is often, Gen. xxxi. 7. Numb. xiv. 12. Job xix. 3. Ten pounds, or talents, denote many gifts and opportunities, Luke xix. 13. Matth. xxv. 28.: but ten days of tribulation, denote a flort space; or perhaps is an allusion to the ten years perfecution of Dioclesian, Rev. ii. 10. See horrs, crowrs, toes, tithes. A tenth part, may signify one kingdom, or a considerable part of the Popish territory, Rev. xi. 13.: but in If. vi. 13. a tenth or tenth part, may denote a few persons consecrated to the service of God.

To TEND; to work towards,

Prov. x. 16.

TENDER; (1.) Weak and feeble, Gen. xxxiii. 13. (2.) Nice and delicate, Deut. xxviii. 56. (3.) Young and carefully educated, Prov. iv. 3. (4.) Of a compaffionate, kindly, and forgiving temper, Eph. iv. 32. God's mercy is faid to be tender, to import, that it is infinitely kind and affectionate, Pfal. xxv. 6. A tender heart, is one which is easily affected with God's law or providence, and cannot endure what is finful, 2 Chron. xxxiv. 27. Young and weak believers, and the first motions of good works, are called tender graps, Song ii. 13. 15.

TENT. See TABERNACLE.

TERAH, the fon of Nahor, and father of Haran, Nahor, and Abraham, was born, A. M. 1878; and at the 130th year of his life, had Abram born to him. He and his family were idolaters; but we hope God's call of Abraham was bleffed for the conversion of fundry in it. It is certain that Terah went along with Abraham to Haran, and died there, Gen. xi. 24.—32. Josh. xxiv. 2. 14.

TERAPHIM; a certain kind of images used by the ancients. Some think they were talifinans, or figures of metal, formed under a particular aspect of the planets; and to which they aferibed the preservation of the family from cvil, and their enjoyment of happiness. To such the eastern nations have for many ages been exceedingly addicted; and the Persians call them telephin, which is much the same as teraphim. Rabbe Eliezer, the Jew, says, teraphims were thus formed: they killed a sirst-born child,

child, clove his head, and sprinkled it with fait and oil; they wrote down the name of ... ne devil in a golden plate, which they put under the child's tongue: they then placed the head in forme niche of the house-wall, and lighted lamps to it, and asked it questions. Others think the teraphim were little images of deceased friends, and much the fame as the household-gods of the Romans, or the ancestors of the Chinefe. It is certain they were confulted for oracles, Zech. x. 2. transfer her father's good fortune to herself and family, or in order to worship it, Rachel Hole her father's teraphim. He carefully fearched to recover it, but could not. Jacob caused her foon after deliver it, and he hid it under an oak, never more to be used, Gen. xxxi. 19.—35. xxxv. 4. Micah the Ephraimite formed a teraphim, but the Danites took it, and placed it at their city DAN, Judg. xvii. xviii. chal laid a teraphim in the bed, instead of David her husband, and thereby deceived her father's messengers, I Sam. xix. 13. 16. Dealers with familiar spirits confulted the teraphim, 2 Kings xxiii. 24. Nebuchadnezzar confulted his teraphim, whether he should first befiege Rabbalı or Jerusalem, Ezek. xxi. 21. The Jews, in their prefent dispersion, are without images and teraphim, as they profess great detestation of idolatry, Hof. iii. 4.

TERM; to name, If. lxii. 4.

TERRESTRIAL; belonging to the earth, 1 Cor. xv. 40. John ii. 12.

TERRIBLE; what by horrible afpect, or by cruelty, power, or awful greatness, affrights men, Deut. 1. 19. If xiii. 11. God is called terrible, to point out his awful greatness, his infinite strength, strict justice, and fearful judgements, Jer. xx. 11. Zeph. ii. 11. The Chaldeans and Romans are called terrible; what fear and dread their power, conquests, and cruelty, spread among the nations around! Hab. i. 7. Dan. ii. 31. vii. 7.

To TERRIFY, is to fill with fear and dread, Deut. xx. 3.

TERROR, is, (1.) Great fear and dread, Gen. xxxv. 5. (2.) Fearful and unexpected calamities, which cause fear and dread, Pfal. lxxiii. 19. (3.) A terrible example or inflance, flriking others with dread and awe, Ezek. xxvii. 36.: fo the invafion and ravage of Judea were a terror to the Egyptians, If. xix. 17. The terror of God, is either his awful appearances, judgements, and views of him, Job vi. 4.; or the fearful and majestic appearance of Christ to judge the world, 2 Cor. v. 11. The terror of the wicked, is their threatenings, whereby they attempt to territy the faints from their duty, I Pet. iii. 14.

TERRISE, or TERRACE; a stair;

a raised way, 2 Chron. ix. 11.

TERTIUS is the Latin name of SILAS.

TERTULLUS; a famed orator among the Jews, who, with flattery of Felix the wicked judge, and with plenty of falfehood, acculed Paul at Cefa-rea, Acts xxiv. 1.—10.

TESTAMENT; the will of a dying man, whereby he determines how his property shall be disposed of after his death, Gal. iii. 15.: and a TESTA-TOR is one that makes such a latter-will. Jefus Christ is called a Testator, because in his word he has freely bequeathed to finful men all his unfearchable riches of grace and glory, Heb. ix 16. 17.: and the covenant of grace, as ratified by his death, is called a instament, Rev. xi. 19. The former dispensation of that covenant, in the inspired writings of Moses and the prophets, is called the Old, or First Testament: it was published before our Saviour's incarnation; it was ratified by his typical death in facrifices, and was lefs excellent; and now, in its ceremonial part, is quite abolished, Heb. ix. 15. 2 Cor. ii. 15. The Expendition of the covenant of grace, in (the writings) of the apostles and evangelists, is called the New Testament: it is last in order, and is ratified by the actual death of our Saviour; and never till the end of time shall it be abolished: and though it be the fame in fubstance with the Old, it is more clear, spiritual, essicacious, eafy, and extensive than the former,

TES THE

Heb. ix. 15. The wine in the Lord's Supper is called the new testament in Christ's blood, as it represents and scals all the promises of the new covenant, which are ratified and confirmed by his death, and applies the benefits thereof, which are purchased by it, Luke xxii. 20. Matth. xxviii. 28.

TESTIFY; TESTIMONY. See WIT-

MESS.

TEIL-TREE: fome think it an ELM; others reckon it an OAK; others a CHESNUT-TREE; others a turpentine, which refembles the ash tree in its leaves; only they are more thick and glutinous; and its fruit grows in clusters, and is hard and refinous; and a kind of gum called turpentine-pitch, diffils from its Others will have it the tilia or lime-tree; which has broad leaves, and which propagates fast by layers. Jews were like an elm, oak, chefnut, turpentine, or lime-irce, whose substance was in itself, or its stump was in or at the tide of the Shallecheth, or raifed entry to the temple from the palace: though their leaves withered in their diffrefs by the Affyrians, and in their Chaldean and other captivity, yet they quickly sprung up into a prodigious multitude, If. vi. 13.

THADDEUS. See Jude.

THANK; to acknowledge a benefit as freely received, t Chron. xvi. 4. What thank have ye? What grateful acknowledgement or reward can ye expect God will give you for your felfish conduct? Luke vi. 32 .- 34. Thankworthy, is what is worthy of thanks and praife, 1 Pet. ii. 19. Giving of thanks, is a hearty and cheerful acknowledgement of favours, spiritual, temporal, or eternal, bestowed on ourselves or on others, Phil. iv. 6. 1 Tim. ii. 1. Thank-offerings and pfalms of praife, are called thanksgiving, Lev. vii. 12.— 15. xxii. 29. Neh. xi. 17. All thankfgiving is to be offered in Christ's name, and is to be always continued in, as in every condition there is a great mixture of God's mercy, Eph. v. 20. 2 Cor. ii. 14. Asking of a blessing on food is called thanksgiving, as we therein acknowledge God's kindnefs in providing fuch provision, Luke xxiv. 30. xxii.

17. 19. Matth. xv. 36. xiv. 19.

THAT, if connected immediately with a perfon or thing, often denotes it to be notable for excellency, baseness, wickedness, or the like, Acts vii. 37. Dan. vi. 13. When connected with a verb, it denotes the tendency of the act to which it is joined; as, I am come, that ye might have life, and that ye might have it more abundantly, John x. 11.

THEATRE; a place where the people affembled to behold plays and It was often a place half or almost wholly furrounded with feats of flone or wood gradually afcending, in the manner of our galleries in churches, or of those in play-houses, Acts xix.

24. 31.

THEBEZ, or THEBES; a city of the Ephraimites, about 13 miles west from Bethshan, and about half a mile from Shechem. The inhabitants feem to have revolted from Abimelech the fon of Gideon, and affitted the Shechemites. When he affaulted it, they fled to their tower; and thence a woman brake his skull with a piece of a millstone. It was a village about 400 years after Chrift, Judg. ix. 50. - 54.

THEOPHILUS; a noted Chriftian, to whom Luke directs his Gospel, and Acts of the Apostles. It feems he was a person much noted for his gifts and graces, if not also for his high flation. Some think that the name dedenotes any lover of God, Luke i. 3.

Aċts i. 1.

THESSALONICA; the capital city of Macedonia, and fituated on the north-east of the Thermaic or Saloniki bay, and on the fouth-west frontier of Thracia. It was anciently called Halis, and Thermæ; but Philip the father of Alexander the Great called it Theffalonica, to commemorate his victory over the Theffalians. About A. M. 3837, the Romans feized it. About A. D. 885, the Saracens took it; but Simeon, one of the Greek emperor's fecretaries, redeemed it from them with a large fum of money. About A. D. 1180, William of Sicily took it from the

Greek

THE [505] THI

Greek emperor; but he retained it but a short time. In 1313, it was fold to the Venetians. About 1430, Amurath, the fultan or emperor of the Ottoman Turks, feized on it, and they flill retain it. About A. D. 52, Paul, Silas, and Timothy, planted a church here. A perfecution flirred up by the Tews, obliged Paul and Silas to leave the place, after they had preached here about three or four Sabbaths. They continued to perfecute the Christians. To comfort them under their tribulations, Paul fent them an epistle, not from Athens, as the postil bears; for there Silas, or Silvanus, was not with him; but from Corinth, where Silas and Timothy were both with him, I Thess. i. I. He expresses his deep concern for them; his defire to have visited them in their affliction; warns them of the last judgement, and inculcates fuch duties as tended to prepare them for it. As fome had taken occasion herefrom to terrify them, as if the last judgement were just at hand, he wrote them a fecond epiftle, informing them of the gracious tendency of the last judgement towards them; and that it would not happen till after the rife and fall of Antichrift. He recommends a conftant adherence to divine truths, and a regularity and purity in their church-fellowship, and to a diligent activity in temporal affairs. it is not to the honour of the Theffalonians, that Paul there needed a fupply of necessaries from Philippi, Phil. iv. 16. At prefent, Thessalonica, or Saloniki, is a confiderable place, and its trade is not contemptible. There are about 48 Mahometan mosques or temples, about 40 Jewish synagogues, and about 30 churches belonging to the Christians of the Greek church. There are also here magnificent ruins of antiquity.

THEUDAS, fome time before our Saviour's death, fet up as fome noted person, and was joined by about 400 men; but he being killed, they were dispersed. Perhaps he is the Judas that revolted on the occasion of Herod's death; or Josephus is wrong in his chronology, and places the Theudas he mentions as the head of a fedition too late by fome years. Acts v. 36.

VOL. II.

THEFT, THIEF. See STEAL.

THICK; (1.) Great in depth or breadth, 2 Chron. iv. 5. Pfal. lxxiv. 5. (2.) Crowded together, Luke xi. 29. Ezek. xix. 11. A THICKET; a thick plot of bushes or trees crowded together, Gen. xxii. 13. Multitudes of lions lodged in the thickets of Jordan. Sometimes people hid themselves in thickets, to shun the rage of a cruel enemy, 1 Sam. xiii. 6. Jer. iv. 29. Vast multitudes of people are called a thicket, If. ix. 18. x. 34.

THIGH; the upper part of the legs of an animal. To fmite on it, denotes great grief and forrow, Ezek. xxi. 12. To have a name written on the thigh, imports, that the person's same and victory are publicly known, and shall be marked in his spiritual feed, Rev. xix. 16. The rulers and great men of Judah, in which the strength of the nation confifted, are the thigh and floulder of flesh, put into Jerusalem, the boiling pot of God's judgements, to be deftroyed, Ezek. xxiv. 4. The two brazen thighs of Nebuchadnezzar's visionary image, denote the two powerful kingdoms of Egypt and Syria, into which the belly-like empire of Alexander was divided after his death, Dan. ii. 32.

THIN; the contrary of thick, Exod. xxxix. 3. The glory of Jacob was made thin, or emptied, when the Jews of power, wealth, wifdom, or piety, were generally cut off; or when the people were destroyed, till they were few in number, and their wealth and prosperity had ceased, Is. xvii. 4.

THING; (1.) A real substance or quality, Lev. xii. 4. Prov. iv. 7. (2.) A matter; an affair, Is. vii. 13. (3.) A doctrine, or opinion, Ezek. xiv. 9. (4.) Persons, or qualities, Rev. xxi. 27. All things in heaven and earth are reconciled by Christ: Jews and Gentiles are brought into one visible church: saints glorified, and saints on earth, are united under one head: angels and redeemed men are joined in one family; and all things in heaven and earth are made to promote the fime ends, of glory to God and good to his people, Col. i. 20.

2 6

hing

THI 506 THI

THINK; (1.) To form thoughts, Pfal. xlvn. 9. (2.) To efteem; reckon, John xvi. 2. (3.) To remember; care for, Cen. xl. 14. (4.) To devife; relake, Neh. vi. 6. God thinks on men, when he kindly takes notice of them abotheir good works, and vouchfafes to them his a ours and benefits, Neh. v. 19. What think ye of Christ? What do ye know, believe, meditate of, esteem, or defire, about the perion, office, and mediation of Christ? Matth. xxii. 42.

THOUGHT, is, (1.) The exercife of thinking. (2.) Inward reasonings of conscience; so mens thoughts accuse or excuse their works, R m. ii. 15. Luke ix. 46. 47. (3.) Anxious and immoderate care, Matth. vi. 31. 34. x. 19.; and these texts ought to be rendered, Exercise no anxious care. (4.) Opinion, Joh xii. 5. (5.) Purpoles; relolutions, P. xxxni. 11. Prov. xii. 5. Pfal. lvi. 5. God's thoughts, are either his fentiments and purpoles concerning us; or our thoughts and meditations concerning his nature, excellencies, and works, Pfal. xl. 5. exxxix. 17.

THIRD. The Jews observe a great many noted third days; as the 3d day of the loofing of the patriarchs, Gen. xlii. 18.; the 3d day of the return of the Hebrew spies, Josh. iii. 16.; the 3d day of the giving of the law; the 3d day of the Hebrews revival, &c.: but the 3d day of Isaac's escape from death, Gen. xxii. 4.; the 3d day of Jonah's deliverance from the whale's belly, Jon. i. 17.; the 3d day of Hezekiah's relief from his mortal diftemper, 2 Kings xx. 5.; and the 3d day of Jesus's resurrection from the dead, thereby typified, do more nearly concern us, I Cor. xv. 4. A third part denotes a very large one: fo the dragon, with his tail, drew the third part of the flars of heaven, and cast them to the ground. By the Heathen perfecution of the Christians, especially under Diocletan, valt numbers of ministers were killed, or obliged to defift from their work, and employ themselves in civil bufinefs; and not a few were forced into compliance with Heathen idolatry, Rev. xii. 4. A third part of trees burnt up under the first trumpet, denotes a multitude of great men destroyed by the Goths, between A. D. 395 and 408; or a multitude of ministers and noted Christians, seduced by the Arian herefy, after A. D. 338, to that time. A third part of the fca becoming blood, and a third part of the creatures dying in it, and a third part of the ships destroyed, under the second trumpet, denotes vast multitudes of the subjects of the tumultuous Roman empire, and their cities and wealth, being destroyed by the Goths, Alans, Vandals, Suevi, and Burgundians, from A. D. 408 to 455; or vaft numbers of fouls ruined by the tumultuous and bloody contentions in the church. The bird part of the waters, upon which the star called Wormwood fell, under the third trumpet, is a great part of the provinces, and populous cities of the empire, ruined by Attila and his Huns; or the many doctrines of the gospel perverted by Pelagius and his followers. The third part of the fun, moon, and ftars, being darkened under the fourth trumpet, imports, the obscurity and diminution of the power and glory of the emperor, and of the fenate, and great men in the empire, when the empire was ruined by Odoacer and his Heruli, and other barbarians, A. D. 476; or the obscuring of the scripture and of ordinances, and the decay of gifts and holiness in ministers, that followed the fpread of the Pelagian errors, Rev. viii. 7.-12. When two thirds, that is, a very great number of the lews, were cut off by the Romans and others; a third part, i. e. a confiderable number, paffed through the fire, enduring much perfecution, but were faved by the grace of God, Zech. xiii. 8. 9. xiv. 2.

THIRST; (1.) A vehement defire for water, Pfal. civ. 11. (2.) An eager defire after any thing fuppoiled to be fatisfying, as after Christ and his rightcoufness, Matth. v. 6.; or after happiness, and pleasure in general, Is. lv. 1. Rev. xxii. 17.; or after the fulfilment

THI [507] THO

filment of fome filthy lufts, as to commit whoredom, idolatry, &c. Deut. xxix. 19. Jer. ii. 25. (3.) That which caufeth thirst, as the want of water, or fore afflictions, which beget an eager defire of deliverance, Deut. xxviii. 48. If. lxv. 13. Amos viii. 3.; and fo men are thirsty, when in great need of refreshful liquor, Judg. iv. 19.; or when they greatly need the influences of God's spirit, If. xliv. 3.; or when in great mifery, If. lxv. 13. A thirfly ground, or land, is either a field fcorched and withered, and fo in great need of dew and rain, Pfal. lxiii. 1.; or an unprofperous and difagreeable condition, Ezek. xix. 13.; or the Gentiles, or others, in great need of spiritual bleffings, If. xxxv. 7. Bloodthirply, are fuch as delight in murdering others, Prov. xxix. 10.

THISTLE; a prickly weed that grows among corn and in fields. Tournefort mentions 80 kinds of thiftles. Wicked men are likened to them, to denote how ufelefs, how barren of good, and hurtful to faints, and to churches and nations, they are, Luke

vi. 44. 2 Chron. xxv. 18.

THOMAS, or DIDYMUS, one of our Saviour's apostles, Matth. x. 3. When he heard that Lazarus was dead, he proposed they should all testify their affection by going to the fpot, and dying along with him, or die with Christ, who endangered his life, by returning to Judea, John xi. 16. Jesus, after his last supper, talking of the mansions in his Father's house, which he was going to prepare for them, Thomas very ignorantly asked, whither he was going? and which way he would take? Jefus replied, that himfelf was the way, the truth, and the life, John xiv. 5.6. Thomas being absent when the other. ten, on the refurrection-even, faw their rifen Lord, and afterwards hearing of it, he told them, that unlefs he faw in Jefus's hands the prints of the nails, and put his fingers into them, and thrust his hand into the wound made by the spear in his fide, he would never believe he was rifen from the dead. When Jefus appeared to them next Lord's evening, he offered Thomas the proof of his refurrection he had men-Thomas, all captivated with tioned. fuch condefcention, and, it feems, without making the trial, cried out, My Lord and my God. Jefus told him, that it had been more to his honour, if he land believed without any fenfible proof, John xx. 20.—29. A few days after, Thomas faw his Mafter again at the fea of Galilee, John xxi. After he had staid feveral years at Jerusalem, he went, it is faid, to preach among the Parthians, Medes, Hyrcanians, and Bactrians, and at last suffered marcyrdom in Meliapour in the East Indies, near to which the Portuguefe, about 300 years ago, found Christians of St Thomas; nay, fome think, he preached in China.

THONG; a leathern whip, Acts

xxii. 25.

THORNS; a general name for a great many prickly trees or shrubs; the leffer kind are called BRIERS: both of them are pretty ufelefs in their wood, except for fuel: both of them mar the encrease of the ground, but are very useful for hedging. The great abundance of thorns, is a continued memorial of Adam's fall, Gen. iii. 18. With thorns Gideon tore the flesh off the elders of Succoth, Judg. viii. 7. 16. To torment our Saviour, and mark contempt of his royalty, and his bearing the curfe for us, his enemies crowned him with a crown of platted thorns, John xin. 2. Thorns make a fpeedy and violent fire: but it is foon quenched, Pfal. lviii. 9. cxviii. 12. Thorns and briers covering a place, imports its being reduced to defolation, Hof. ix. 6. x. 8. Milchievous and wicked men, who molest their neighbours, entangle them by their devices, hinder the ufefulness of saints and faithful ministers, and ripen themselves for eternal fire; and yet are fometimes made use of to prote it the godly, are likened to thorns and briers, Ezek. ii. 6. Mic. vii. 4. Song ii. 2. 2 am. xxiii. 6. The Affyrians, and other enemics of the people of God, are like thorns and briers; how haraffing for a time! but how quickly confumed THO [508] THR in the terrible fire of God's judgements! If. x. 17. xxxiii. 12. Nah. i. 10. Pfal. exviii. 12. The Cananites were to the Ifraelites like thorns or fcourges in their fides, pricks in their eyes, fnares and traps to them: they were means of feducing them into fin; and were inftruments of God's vengeance against them, Numb. xxxiii. 55. Josh. xxiii. 13. The Sidonians were a grieving thorn and pricking brier to the house of Israel; did much mischief to them, Ezek. xxviii. Wicked lufts, carnal cares, and finful practices, are called briers and thorus: they proceed from a ftony heart, hinder true peace and quiet, choke the good feed of God's word, and are the means of eternal torments to fuch as indulge themselves therein, Heb. vi. 8. Jer. iv. 3. Matth. xiii. 7.

THORNS are put for great difficulties and hinderances, which ftop mens progrefs, as a thorn-hedge: fo thorns are in the way of the flothful, Prov. xv. 19.; and thorns are in the way of the froward; great calamities and opposition await him, Prov. xxii. 25.; and to take the harvest out of the thorns, is to take the fruit of the field from one, notwithstanding every hinderance, Job v. 5. Troubles are called thorns, as they prick, harafs, and confine men; fo God hedges up mens way with thorns, restrains them by fore trials and afflictions. Hof. ii. 6. Paul had a thorn in the flesh, a messenger of Satan sent to busfet him; was distressed with some fore trouble or temptation, 2 Cor. xii. 7. As a thorn goeth up into the hand of a drunkard, fo is a parable in the mouth of fools; it, however good in itself, doth rather hurt than good, Prov. xxvi. The Affyrians refled on all thorns and bedges, like grashoppers and locusts, THOUGHT. See THINK.

try of Judea, If. vii. 19.

THOUSAND, ten hundred; but often thousands, and ten thousands, are put for great numbers in general, Rev. v. 11. Eccl. vi. 6. vii. 28. Is. xxx. 17. The city that went out by a thousand thall leave an hundred, and that which when they fpread ruin and havock every where through the cities and coun-wentout by an hundred shall leave ten to the house of Israel; i.e. the tenth part of the inhabitants shall scarcely be preferved, Amos v. 3. Christ has a thoufand from his vineyard of the church, when he has the chief glory ascribed to him; and his ministers or keepers have two hundred, when they have their due share of love, regard, and reward, but far subordinate to his, Song viii. 11. 12.

THREAD. To break things as a thread of tow, is to do it very easily, Judg. xvi. 9. 12. Not to take from a thread to a shoe-latchet, is not to receive the very least thing, Gen. xiv. 23.

THREATEN; to denounce evil against one, Acts iv. 17.

THREE TIMES, or THRICE, denotes frequently, or with frequency and earnestness, 2 Cor. xii. 8. THREE-score, fometimes denotes a considerable number, Song iii. 7. vi. 8.

THRESH; (1.) To beat out corn from the car or pod, If. xxviii. 28. The threshing reached unto the vintage, and the vintage, or treading of grapes, unto the fowing time; when the one was not got finished when the other began, and fo marked great plenty; fo the plowman overtook the reaper, and the fower of feed, him that treadeth grapes. Their harvest was in our Spring, and their vintage in our August, and their fowingtime about the end of October or the beginning of November, Lev. xxvi. 5. Amos ix. 13. (2.) To harass, destroy, Hab. iii. 12. Amos i. 3. Babylon is reprefented as a threshing, or as the corn of the floor, to denote the fudden and terrible nature of God's judgments upon her, If. xxi. 10. Jer. li. 33. The church is reprefented as threshing mountains and hills, and fanning them to the wind, i. e. through Jefus overcoming whatever oppofers and opposition stands in the way of her happiness and duty, Mic. iv. 15. Is. xli. 15.

THRESHOLD; the groundfel of a door or gate, Judg. xix. 27. The Jews fet up their threshold by God's threshold, and their posts by his posts, and defiled the wall between him and them, when they made their own legal defcent and common morality the ground of their church-memberthip, instead of Christ, believed on, and submitted to; and when they substituted their own inventions into the room and station of the ordinances of God, Ezek. xliii. 8.

when

THR T 509 7 THU

THROAT; (1.) That passage from our mouth to our inward parts, and whereby we are affifted in speaking, Pfal. exv. 7. (2.) Speech itself, Plal. v. 10. Rom. iii. 12. THRONE. See sit.

THRONG; to crown and prefs thick about one, Mark iii. 9.

THROUGH; (1.) From the one fide to the other, Numb. xxv. 8. (2.) Up and down in, Pfal. viii. 5. (3.) By means of: we are justified through Christ, by his fulfilment of the law as our furety, and the imputation of his righteoufness to our persons, Rom. v. 1. iii. 24. We are faved through faith, as thereby we receive Christ, and his falvation offered to us in the gospel, Eph. ii. 8. through all, taking care of, and difplaying his perfections in all things; and is in all the faints, by his gracious prefence, Eph. iv. 6. All things are through God, are preferved and governed by him; and are to him, are to his glory as their last end, Rom. xi. 36. Throughly, is, (1.) Exactly; fully, Job vi. 1. Matth. iii. 12. (2.) Sincerely Jer. vii. 5.

THROW; to cast with force, Numb. xxxv. 17. To throw down, is to cast on the ground with violence, Luke ix. 42.; or to deftroy; demolish; overturn, Ezek. xvi. 39.

THRUST; (1.) To press forcibly, 2 Kings iv. 22. (2.) To drive, Deut. xxxiii. 27. God thrusts down men, when he lays heavy a flictions upon them, one after another, Job xxxii. 13. To thrust through, is to pierce, kill, Jer. li. 4.

THUNDER, is formed in the clouds, by the kindling of fuch fulphurous matter as is exhaled from the earth or fea, by the heat of the fun, &c. This being kindled, doth, as fulphur, vitriol, or tilings of fixel, when mixed with a little water, make a noifa as gunpowder; and runs along, where it finds fulphurous particles, in the fame manner. The flash of lightning. and the noife, are really contemporary; but the lightning making a quicker motion towards our eye, than the noifecan do towards our ear, is feen before the noife be heard, especially if the thunder is at any confiderable distance. We often call the flash of fire, the thunderbolt, as it often breaks, bruifes, and rends whatever hard bodies are in its way; the fulphur, meanwhile, contributes to the stissing of animals; but when the flame is weak, or the relifting body is foft, it only finges or feorches it. Great stones, however, have fometimes fallen from heaven in the time of thunder, Exod. ix. 23. The unfearchable majesty and almighty influence of God's perfections, are called the thunder of his power, or prevailing excellency, Job xxvi. 14. The preaching of the gospel is like thunder; it makes mens hearts to tremble, and breaks their flubbornness, Mark iii. 17. Rev. xiv. 2. Terrible and deftructive calamities are likened to thunder, If. xxix. 6. The noise of an army is called the thunder of the captains, Job xxxix. 25. The war-horfe's neck is clothed with thunder, his neighing for the battle and the shaking of his mane make a noife: but might not the words be rather rendered clothed with a cheerful tremor, or triumphant shaking? Job xxxix. 19. The lightnings and thunderings proceeding from God's throne, denote the majesty of his appearances, the collightening and heart-affecting publication of his will, and the awful judgements, which he, as our great Sovereign, fends upon the earth, Rev. iv. 5.: but the voices, thunderings, lightnings, earthquakes, and bail, following on Carat's catting the fire of his vengeance on the earth, during the feven trumpets, and that which attends the founding of the feventh trumpet, are terrible calamities of many different kinds, Rev. viii. 5. xi. 19. The feven thunders that uttered their voice when Christ spake under the fixth trumpet, may denote the infliction of manifold calamities, particularly of the feven vials on Antichrift, or the violent reading of the feven states of England, Scotland, Denrark, Sweden, Holland, some principalities of Germany, and part of Switzerland and France, from their subjection to the Pope, Rev. x. 3, 4.

THY [510] TIG

THYATIRA, was a very confiderable city of Leffer Afia, about 26 miles north of Sardis, and 56 northeath of Smyrna. Anciently it was called Pelopia, but Seleucus the Syro-Grecian king, having repaired it, called it Thygateira. A Christian church was very early planted here: but they finfully permitted a woman called, or like to Jezebel, to feduce their members to commit fornication, and eat things facrificed to idols: to reform them from which, John fent them a divine epiflle; but what faccefs it had, we know not. The fate of this city is fo wrapt up in cofcurity, that the very place where it was is not agreed upon. We follow Rycaut, taking it to be the same as Akhissar, where there now dwell about 4000 or 5000 Turks, in a good air and foil, but amidst multitudes of ancient ruins, and in a condition fufficiently wretched, Rev. ii. 18 .- 29.

THYNE-WOOD is very durable, and may denote all durable and odoriferous wood, as cyprefs, cedar, and almug-trees, &c. which the Papitts ufe for rafters to their churches, or in forming their images, Rev. xviii. 12.

"IBERIAS, was a famed city of Western Galilee, built by Herod Agrippa, in honour of the Emperor Tiberius. It stood on the fouth-west thore of the fea of Galilee, about 80 miles north of Jerufalem, and 12 eastward of Nazareth. In the time of the Jewish wars, this city was the capital of Galilee, and was bravely defended by Josephus the historian; but being taken by Vespasian, the father of Titus, and afterwards emperor, it was grealy demolished. It was, however, a place of confiderable note, many ages after. Here was both a Christian church, and a famed Jewish academy, John vi. 1. 23.

TIBERIUS. Cæfar Augustus having married Livia his mother, adopted him to be his heir in the empire. In the beginning of his reign, Tiberius behaved himself decently, but afterwards became quite peevish, cruel, and oppressive. About the fixth year of it, the fenate ordered all the Jews to depart from Rome, or become flaves. About the 13th year he made Pilate governor of Judea. In the 15th year, John Baptist began to preach, Luke iii. I. Soon after, he took from the Jews the power of putting criminals to death. It is faid, that hearing of the miracles of our Saviour, he was earnest to have him enrolled among the Roman deities, but was hindered by the fenate. He so favoured the Christians. as to threaten death to fuch as molested them on account of their religion.

TIBNI. See OMRI.

TIDAL, the ally of Chedorlaomer, was called king of Gojim, or nations, either because Gojim was the place of his abode, or that fundry tribes had coalesced under his government, Gen. xiv. 1.

TIDINGS; news; report. The gospel is called good or glad tidings. It publishes and offers pardon to the guilty; righteousness to the naked and unholy; spiritual liberty to the captives of sin and Satan; salvation to the lost; and eternal riches of grace and glory to the poor and wretched, Is. xl. 9. lii. 7. Luke i. 19. ii. 10.

TIGLATH-PILESER, or Tig-LATH-PILNESER, king of Affyria. Receiving the kingdom in a prosperous ftate, after the death of his father Pul, he laboured to extend his dominions. Infligated by Ahaz king of Judah, he invaded Syria, flew Rezin their king, plundered Damafeus and other places, and carried the people captive to Kir He ravaged the Hebrew territories eastward of Jordan, and carried the people captive to Halah, Habor, and Hara, on the river Gozan. He alfo ravaged Western Galilee, and took Ijon, Abel-bethmaachah, Janoah, Kedesh, Hazor, &c. and carried the people captives into Affyria. Not content.

TIL [511] TIM

tent, it feems, with Ahaz's prefents, and his complimentary vifit of him at Damaseus, he appears to have ravaged part of Judea, 2 Chron. xxviii. 20. I Chron. v. 26. 2 Kings xv. 29. After a reign of about 19 years, he left his throne to Shalmaneser.

TILES were used to cover houses; and hence a roof is called the TILING: but as the Jewish roofs were flut, their tiles might be like our flug stones, or broad bricks. Nay, perhaps the tile on which Ezekiel pourtrayed the city of Jerusalem, might be a table of freeftone, Ezek. iv. 1.

TILL; to turn over the ground, that it may be fit for receiving feed. Cain was the first tiller or plowman, Gen. iv. 2. Tillage is husbandry; manuring of the fields, 1 Chron. xxvii. 26.

TIME; season; (1.) The measure of motion, or the duration of things, Pf::l. lxxxix. 47. (2) The particular appointed feafon or opportunity of doing a thing, Eccl. iii. 1. Gen. xviii. 10. Pral. Ixxxi. 1. In feafou and out of feafon, i.e. when there is more or lefs opportunity, 2 Tim. iv. 2. The different times of Spring, Summer, Huvert, and Winter, are called the feefons, Gen. i. 14. The time of the laints 10 years fuffering under Dioclefian, and of the devil's raging at the end of the Millenmium, is called a little feafon, Rev. vi. 11. xx. 3. The appointed feafon of God's vengeance on men, is called his times or days, as he displays his power and perfections therein; and their time, or the time of the Heathen, as they then receive the due reward of their deeds, Job xxiv. 1. Jer. l. 27. 31. Ezek. iii. 3. Christ's time, is either the time of his going up to the feast of tabernacles, or the time of his death, John vii. 6.8.; or the time of his appearance to judgement, I Tim. vi. 15. which will be a time of refreshing and restitution of all things, as then he will display his glory to the highest, fully comfort his faints, and reflore the fystem of irrational nature to its original purity and honour, Acts iii. 20. 21. Rom. viii. 21. That feafon in which God calls finners to him, and quickens and unites their foul to Christ, is called his time of love, Ezek. xvi. 8. : and it is an acceptable time and day of federation, when God bestows his special favours on men, Pfal. lxix. 13. 2 Cor. vi. 2. According to the time of life, is after going nine months with child. Gen. xviii. 10. 14. The last times or days, denote either the whole latter part of the duration of the world; or the whole of the gospel-period, particularly that in which the Jewith ceremonics were going to be abolished, 1 Pet. i. 20. H. ii. 2. Mic. iv. 1. 1 John ii. 18.: or the latter part of the Christian period. which are reprefented as perilous times. abounding with fcoffers and wicked professors, Tim. iv. 1. 2 Tim. iii. 1.-5. 2 Pet. iii. 3. To know the times, is to know the hidory of former times, and to observe the present times in their various circumflances, and what is proper to be done therein, thus difcerning time and judgement, Etth. i. 13. 1 Chron. xii. 32. Eccl. viii. 5.: but the knowledge of future times in their events, is not for men to dive into, further than God pleaks to reveal, Acts i. 7. The Chaldean wife men fought to gain the time, i. e. to put it off, till the king fhould call to mind his dream, or be diverted to fome other bufinefs, Dan.ii. 8. Time, in the prophetic style, fignifies a natural year: fo feven times passed over Nebuchadnezzar in his madnefs; he was feven years in it, Dan. iv. 16.: or a prophetic year; fo a time is 360 years. and time, times, and the balf or dividing of time, are three prophetic years and an half, or 1260 natural years, Dan. vii. 25. xii. 7. Rev. xii. 14. xi. 2. 3. xii. 6. xiii. 5. Dan. xii. 11. 12. To every thing there is a time and feafon; Providence permits every event in its feafon: but that does not infer, that God's law allows to fpend time in each of these things there mentioned; for it is plain, though God permits us to hate fuch as we once loved, yet he never allows us to hate whom we once lawfully loved, Eccl. iii. 1.—8. Paul was born out of due time, was too late of coming to Christ, and not called to the apostlefhip till after our Saviour's afcention, 2 Cor. xv. 8.

TIMNAH:

TIM [512] TIP

TIMNAH; TIMNATH; TIMNATHHAH; a city which it feems flood in the west corner of the lot of Judah, and was given to the Danites. It is faid to have been fix miles from Adulam, where Judah lived, and twelve from Eshtaol, where Samson lived. Near to this place, Judah committed lewdness with Tamar, and Samson married his wife, Gen. xxxviii. 12. Judg. xiv. 1. It was a village about 400 years after Christ. Timnath-serah, or Timnath-heres, was a city of the Ephraimites, where Joshua lived and was buried, Josh. xix. 50. xxiv. 30.

Judg. ii. 9.

TIMOTHY, or Timotheus; a noted evangelist. He was a native of Lystra in Lesser Asia. His father was a Greek, but his grandmother Lois, and his mother Eunice, being pious Jewish women, trained him up from a child in the knowledge of the fcriptures; and Paul circumcifed him, to render him the more acceptable to the Tews. His bodily constitution was very weak, but his gifts and graces were eminent, Acts xvi. 1. 2 Tim. i. 5. 15. iii. 15. 1 Tim. v. 23. 1 Cor. iv. 17. After he had been ordained a minister by Paul and the prefbytery of Lystra, he became very dear to Paul, for his faithfulness and piety; and so he calls him his dear fon in the faith, his faithful fellow-worker, &c. 2 Tim. i. 6. I Tim. iv. 14. i. 2. 1 Cor. iv. 17. He accompanied Paul to Macedonia, and was with him at Philippi, Theffalonica, and Berea. At Paul's defire he followed him from Berea to Athens; but was quickly fent back to confirm the Chriftians of Theffalonica under their perfecution, Acts xvii. I Theff. iii. 2. 3. Thence he and Silas came to Paul at Corinth, Acts xviii. 5.; and, together with him, fend their falutation to the Christians of Thessalonica, I Thess. i. I. 2 Theff. i. 1. Some years after, Paul fent him and Eraftus from Ephefus to Macedonia and Corinth, to confirm the Christians there, Acts xix. 21. 22. 1 Cor. iv. 17. xvi. 10. Having returned to Ephefus before Paul left the place, he was left there to fettle the affairs of that infant church, I Tim. i. 3.; and there he received his first epistle, about A. D. 56. After ordering matters at Ephefus, he followed Paul to Maccdonia, whence, along with Paul, he fent his falutation to the Corinthians, 2 Cor. Soon after, he attended Paul to Corinth, and thence, along with him, fends his falutation to the Romans. Rom. xvi. 21. Returning through Macedonia, he went with Paul to Afia, Acts xx. 4. Thither he was called, fome years after, by Paul to Rome, in his fecond epiftle to him, 2 Tim. iv. 9. 13. He was with Paul at Rome when he wrote his epiftles to the Philippians, Coloffians, and Philemon, Phil. i. 1. Col. i. 1. He was for a while a prisoner at Rome, but was afterwards fet at liberty, Heb. xiii. 23. which, we know not what became of him. The two epiftles directed to him, encouraged and directed him in his feed. ing and government of the church, and warned him of the troubles impending over her.

TIN; a well-known coarfe metal, harder than lead, and of the fame kind with a mixture of filver, and which formed part of the Tyrian trade with Tarshish, Ezek. xxvii. 12. Perhaps tin-mines renew their store in process of time. Trees are found in them at the depth of 50 fathoms. Naughty sinners, and their abundant corruptions, that are ready for the sire of God's wrath, are likened to lead, tin, brass, iron, and dross, Ezek. xxii. 18. 20. If. i. 25.

TINGLING of the ears, imports trembling and horror, because of fear-ful calamities, 1 Sam. iii. 11.

TIP; utmost point.

TIPHSAH; (1.) A city of the tribe of Ephraim, at no great diffance from Tirzah, and about fix miles from Samaria. It feems this city refused to submit to Menahem; and being taken, the inhabitants were put to the sword, and the women with child ripped up, 2 Kings xv. 16. (2.) Tiphsah, or Thapsacus, on the Euphrates, on the east of Syria, and about 600 miles north-west of Babylon. Some geographers place it on the east, and others on the west side of the river; but as there was a famous bridge here, I suppose part of the city stood on the one side, and part on the other. This city was the north-east border of Solomon's territories, 1 Kings iv. 24.

phęra

TIR [513] TIT

TIRAS, or THIRAS; the feventh fon of Japheth. He is supposed to have been the father of the Thracians, in whose country was the river Atyrus; and they worshipped the god of war, under the name of Odrysus and Thurus, probably the same as Tiras; and there was here a nation called the Thranssia. The Thracians were long a very ignorant and barbarous, but idolatrous people. They were divided into a great many nations or tribes, till the Greeks conquered them, Gen. x. 2.

TIRE; a draft for the head, Ezek. xxiv. 17. 23. Round tires like the moon, may denote the golden necklaces, fomewhat like those worn by the kings of Midian, and their camels, Is. iii. 18.

TIRHAKAH, or THEARCHON, as Strabo calls him, was king of Cush; but whether that in Arabia, or in Abyffinia, is not agreed. We suppose him the sovereign of Abyssinia and Egypt, and that he was defeated by Sennacherib, against whom he marched for the relief of King Hezekiah; and that at this time, to the terror of the Jews, the Ethiopians and Egyptians were taken prisoners, 2 Kings xix. 19. Is. xx. 4.—5.

TIRSHATHA; a name given to Zerubbabel and Nehemiah. Some think it denotes the cup-bearer; but more properly it denotes a governor, or a committary, appointed by the Perlian king, to carry his orders to a province, and fee them put in execution, Ezra ii. 63. Neh. x. 1.

TIRZAH; a city of the Ephraimites. It was a most beautiful place. Jeroboam the fon of Nebat, Nadab, Baasha, Elah, Zimri, and Omri, kings of Ifrael, resided here; but after Samaria was built, the court mostly abandoned Tirzah, I Kings xiv. 17. xv. 21. It appears to have shared in the abovementioned fate of Weslern Tiphsah, z Kings xv. 16. To mark the beauty of the church, in respect of her ordinances, influences, and graces, she is compared to Tirzah, Song vi. 4.

TISHBEH; a city of Gilead, and the native place of Elijah. It feems to have fill remained about 400 years after Chrift; but was in the hand of the Arabians, 1 Kings xvii. 1.

TIBRI, or TIZRI. See ETHANIM. TITHES, OF TENTH PARTS. fuppole God fuggetled to the ancient patriarchs his claim to the tenth part of their gain or product. When Abram returned from his victory over Chedorlaomer and his allies, he gave to Melchizedek, the Lord's prieft, the tenth part of his spoils, Gen. xiv. 20. Jacob dedicated to God, by a vow, the tenth part of his gain in Mesopotamia, Gen. xxviii. 22. Nay, multitudes of Greeks, Romans, and other Heathens, devoted the tenth part of their incomes to the fervice of God. To commemorate the Hebrews living in the wilderness on omers or tenth deals of manna, God not only regulated their meat offerings by tenth deals of fine flour, but he further regulated the affair of their tithes in the following manner: After the first-fruits and their attendant offerings were deducted, the tenth part of their remaining product of corn, cattle, Sc. were affigued to the Levites. Of this the priets had the tenth part for their share. Of what remained to the proprietor, another tithe was levied, and, in value or kind, fent to the fervice of the tabernacle and temple, and the ministers thereof, at the folemn feails. On every third year a third tithe was levied from the proprietor for the use of the Levites, the fatherless, widows, and strangers; if this was not the fame as the fecond tithe, and only in the third year applied to this use, and eaten at home in their cities. It does not appear that the tithe of their herbs was demanded. The Pharifees, however, tithed their mint, anife, cummin, and rue; nor does Jefus condemn them for it, but for neglecting weightier things, as mercy, judgement, and faith, while they were fo wonderfully exact in finall matters,

Vol. II.

2 T

Devt

TIT 514 TOL

Deut.xiv. 22 .- 29. xii. 17. Num. xviii. 20.-32. At prefent, the Jews regard the law of tithes very little; nor is there any warrant for demanding them to the clergy under the Christian dispensation. As the patriarchs before Moles devoted their tithes to the Lord, I suppose it is still proper, if possible, to a fign the tenth part of our income to the Lord, for the relief of the poor, and other pious uses; nor can I believe there would be much difficulty with most in to doing, if all luxuriances in our victuals and drefs were laid afide. Were these tithes emblems of the fulness of Tefus, collected from every promife and providence, for the fullenance of his people? Or were they emblems of the faints, and their fervices, devoted to the honour of Christ, and as the endless satisfaction of his foul, and as useful to those around them?

TITUS, a noted evangelist. Being originally a Gentile, he was never circumcifed. He attended Paul, by whose ministry he had been converted, from Syria to the fynod at Jerufalem, Gal. ii. 1.-3. Some years after, Paul fent him to Corinth, where his piety, and his difinterested and zealous preaching of the gospel, procured him a kindly reception. Coming from thence to Paul in Macedonia, he gave him an account of the state of the Corinthian church, and was returned to them. bearing a fecond epittle from Paul, 2 Cor. xii. 18. vii. 6. 15. viii. 6. 16. 17. When Paul left him in Crete, to fettle the affairs of that church, and ordain elders in it, we are uncertain; but it is certain, that, in the epillle fent this ther to him, he defires him to come to him at Nicopolis, and bring Zenas the lawyer and Apollos with him, as foon as Tychicus and Artemas should come to supply his room, Tit. iii. 12. 13. After this, Paul fent him into Dalmatia, 2 Tim. iv. 10.; but it is faid, he returned to Crete, and thence propagated the gospel into the neighbouring The epiftle fent to Titus, directs him to ordain officers; to warn and cenfure the unruly; and to inftigate all ranks to act agreeably to their Christian character.

TITLE; (1.) Name; character, Job xxxii. 21. 22. (2.) A motto or infeription on a grave-lone, 2 Kings xxiii. 17.; or on a crofs, John xix. 19. 20.

TITTLE; the least part; the least fentence, Matth. v. 18.

TO, often expresses the end of at ad, or course, Rom. ix. 22. I Thess. v. 9.; or the place or person to which one moves, Job xxiii. 3.

The Ten TOES of Nebuchadnezzar's visionary image, denote the ten kingdoms formed out of the Roman empire. See HORNS. Dan. ii. 41. 42.

TOB, or Ishton; a small canton on the fouth-cast of Syria, where Jephthah retired, when driven from his native country by his brethren, Judg. xi. 3. 5. In the time of the Maccabees, the people here were called the Tubieni.

TOBIAH. See NEHEMIAH.

TOBIJAH. See ZACHARIAH. TOGARMAH, the third fon of Gomer, and grandfon of Japheth, Gen. x. 3. Josephus makes him the father of the Phrygians; Bochart, of the Cappadocians, of whom there was a tribe called Trogmi, Trocmi, or Trogmades. Others make him the father of the Turcomans in Tartary. The Armenians too pretend to be his defcen-It is certain that his posterity traded with the Tyrians, in horfemen, horses, and mules, Ezek. xxvii. 14.; and that they will affift Gog and Magog, against the Hebrews, at the beginning of the Millennium, Ezek. xxxviii. 6.

TOGETHER; (1.) United in one place, condition, inclination, or defign, Job iii. 18. Acts v. 9. (2.) Wholly; every whit, Job x. 8. (3.) By ourfelves alone, Ezra iv. 3.

TOI, or Tou. See DAVID, HA-

MATH.

TOKEN. See MARK.

TOLA; (1.) The eldest fon of Islachar, and father of the Tolaites, Numb. xxvi. 23. (2.) Tola the 10th judge of Islach. He was the son of Puah, and grandson of Dodo, of the tribe of Islachar. He succeeded Abimelech.

TOL 515 TOP

melech, and judged Ifrael 23 years, and was buried at Shamir in mount Ephraim, A. M. 2794, Judg. x. 1.

TOLERABLE; what may be borne or endured. It will be more tolerable for Tyre and Sidon, Sodom and Gomorrah, in the day of judgement, than for fuch as one of Christ's miracles and gospel, but believed not; as the eternal terments of the former will be less grievous than of the latter, Matth. x. 15. xi. 22.

TOMB. See GRAVE. TONGUE. See MOUTH.

TCOTH. The teeth of animals are those bony substances that grow in their jaws, and wherewith they hold or chew their food. Some have foreteeth in both jaws; fome only in one; and fome have more than one row of teeth in the fame jaw. Some animals have tulks higher than the rell, for the catching and holding of their prey. Confidence in an unfaithful friend, is like a broken tooth, that may pain, but cannot chew; or a foot out of joint, painful, but not useful; it hurts men that have it, Prov. xxv. 19. Men being likened to wild beafts, their pernicious and reproachful speeches, and their power and ability to do milchief. are called teeth like fpears, favords, and knives, Pial. lvii. 4. Prov. xxx. 14. Job iv. 10.; and God breaks thefe TEETH, when he difables men for hurting others, Plal. Iviii. 6.: but he breaks the teeth of his people with gravel flones, when he involves them in a track of distressful providences, Lam. iii. 16. Great iron teeth import terrible power, and readiness to destroy others, Dan. vii. 7. To have the teeth fet on edge, imports to be painfully afflicted, Jer. xxxi. 29. 30. To take one's own fle/b in his teeth, imports, being maddened with pain and despair, Job xiii. 14. To gnash the teeth, imports great torment and rage, Matth. viii. 12. Acts vii. 54. The church's teeth, like an even Thorn and newly washed flock of ship, are her holy, harmonious, and ufeful ministers, who break the bread of life to their people; or the comely, holy, and harmonious exercifes of faith and meditation, whereby the faints render God's truths the nourithing food of their foul, Song iv. 2. vi. 6.

TOP; (1.) The utmost end of a thing, Eith. v. 2. Lam. ii. 19. (2.) The highest part of any thing, Gen. viii. 5. xxviii. 18. (3.) The height of power and wealth, and the pride that attended it, Ezek. xxxi. 3. 10. 14. On, or above the tops of mountains, hids, and houses, imports a most public and visible state or manner, It. ii. 2. Matth. x. 27. Ezek. xxiv. 7. 2 but the Jews being on house-tops when the Romans invaded their country, imports their hidding themselves in secret places, Matth. xxiv. 17. Luke xvii. 13.; or mens posting themselves where they can best different the approach of the enemy, If. xxii. 1. xv. 3.

TOPAZ; a precious and transparent jewel, third in value to the diamond. The finest topazes are brought from the East Indies, and are often found about the bigness of a pin-head; and fearee any exceed the 6th part of an inch in diameter. The best are of a yellow golden colour; but Pliny fays the best are of a green colour. The most valuable topaz in the world, we know of, is in the possession of the Great Mogul. It weighs about 137 carats, and cost 200,300 l. Sterling. The topaz was anciently found in an itland of the Red fea, called Topazion, and hence it is called the topaz of Gulb, Job xxviii. 19. If the Pitdath ugnifres a topas, it was fecond in the high priett's breast-place; and it was the 9th foundation of the new Jerufalem, Exod. xxviii. 17. Rev. xxi. 20. At present, the topaxes of East-India are the best; those of Abyssinia the next; those of Peru in America are much fofter; and those of Bohemia in Germany are still fofter, and a little cloudy. By proper firing, cryflal is formed into a kind of TOPHET; a place on the east of Jerufalem; so called from the bearing of drums to drown the cries of the children burnt in the fire to Molech. It was also called the valley of Hinnom, either from some proprietor of it, or it may be rendered the valley of Shrieking: but Reland places the valley of Hinnom on the west of Jerusalem. It is faid to have been a very delightful fpot, watered by the streams of Shiloah, and shaded with a number of gardens. But it is more certain, that here the Jews burnt their children to Molech, Jer. vii. 30. Here, according o the purpose of God, a great part of the Aflyrian hoft were cut off, as in a fire, by a burning pestilence, Is. xxx. To flop the idolatries here practifed, Johah rendered it as nafty as he could. probably making it a burying place, or a place of burning dead carcases to which burial was not allowed, 2 Kings xxiii. 10. 11. It feems, that multitudes of the Jews flain by the Chaldeans at the taking of Jeruialem were buried here, Jer. vii. 32. xix. 11.—13. Afterwards it feems to have become the common receptacle of carcases, garbage, and filth, and a fire was kept burning to confume it. word Gehenna, used for hell, is the fame as Gehinnom, the valley of Hinnom, or of Ibrieking.

3 T 2

TOR [516] TOW

TORCH. See LAMP. TORMENT. See PAIN.

TORTOISE. There are two general kinds of tortoiles, viz. fea and land ones; and 12 particular kinds. It is the land-tortoife that is mentioned in fcripture: the shell that covers it, renders it somewhat like a covered wag-Some call it the land crocodile. It feeds on flowers; and in Syria, and places adjacent, is reckoned a fine diffi. In East India, the land-tortoics are feldom above three inches long; but in the Itle of Madagascar, it is faid there are some about a foot long, and covered with a shell mixed of white, yellow, and other colours. There is a most ugly kind of tortoife that haunts old walls, and will live feveral days after its head is cut off. This, I am apt to think, is the TZAB of the Hebrews, if that animal be not rather what Dr Shaw calls, the sharp-scaled tailed lizard.

TOSS; violently to drive hither and thither. Men are toffed to and fro in their condition, when they have no rest from troubles, arising from different airths, Ptal. cix. 23. If. liv. 11.; and Tossings denote trouble and disquiet of mind, Job vii. 4. Professors are tossed to and fro in their religion, when they are unsettled in their opinions and practice, Eph. iv. 14.

TOTTERING; shaking hither and thither, Pial. lxii. 3.

TOUCH; (1.) Lightly to feel a thing, Luke viii. 44. (2.) To distreis; afflict, Gen. xxvi. 11. 29. John xix. 21. (3.) To prevail against; destroy; 1 John v. 18. Heb. xi. 28. (4.) To approach; come close to, Exod. xix. 16. Acts xxvii. 3. (5.) To meddle with, Numb. xvi. 26. God toucheth mens hearts, when he inclines and perfuades them to a thing, I Sam. x. 26. He toucheth the earth till it melt, when he executes his fearful judgements on the inhabitants, Amos ix. 5. He toucheth the mountains, and they fmoke, when he readily removes hinderances in his way, and debafes the proud and great, Pfal. exliv. 5. Chrift is touched with the feeling of our infirmities; he readily and kindly fympathizes with us under our troubles, Heb. iv. 15. Alexander and his army did not touch the ground in their march against the Persians; i. e. they marched with altonishing speed, as if flying, and meeting with no effectual reliftance, Dan. viii. 5. Blood toucheth blood, when murder and other ruinous fins are committed every where, and closely after one another, Hof. iv. 2. Carnal dealing with a woman is called touching of her, Gen. xx. 6. Prov. vi. 29. 1 Cor. vii. 1. Touching; with respect to, 2 Theff. iii. 4.

TOW. Wicked men are likened to it, to mark their ripeness for the deftructive judgements of God, and their easy and quick ruin by means of them, and their inability to withstand them, If, i. 21, xliii, 17.

II. i. 31. xliii. 17.

TOWARDS; (1.) Inclining to, Numb. xxiv. 1. (2.) On the way to, Gen. xii. 9. (3.) With respect to, Deut. xxviii. 54. 56. Repentance is towards God, as thereby we serrow for un

TOW [517] TRA

Sin as against his honour and law, and turn from it to him, as our portion, master, and last end: faith is towards Jesus Christ, as by it, we look to, and depend on him, for every thing necessary to our falvation, Acts xx. 21. Our heart is towards one, when we are greatly pleased with him, and his work, Judg. v. 9. Mens eyes are towards the Lord, when they seek, and expect their help and salvation only from him, Pfal. xxv. 15. If. xxii. 7.

TOWER; a throng and high building, for protecting against enemies, and for annoying of them; or for prospect, 2 Chron. xiv. 7. In scripture, we read of the towers of Babylon, Jerufalem, Penuel, Shechem. Thebez, Eder, &c. The tower of the watchmen, may be one erected for watching the invation of enemies; and from the tower of the watchmen to the fenced city, is in all places more or lefs populous, 2 Kit gs xvii. 9. The tower of the flock, may denote Bethlehem, near to which was the tower of Eder, or of the flock; or Jerusalem, where the tribes of God affembled as a flock; or Jefus and God himfelt, who is the protecting Saviour of his people, Mic. iv. 8. 2 Sam. xxii. 3. Prov. xviii. 10. Jerufalem, the temple, and the ordinances of God, were a tower in God's vineyard; were most visible, and useful for protecting men, It. v. 2. Math. xxi. 33. Song viii. 10. The church's neck is like a tower, or tower of ivory; quite upright, pure, and heavenlyminded. By the feriptures, and minifters, is the church protected from temptations, errors, and corruptions: by faith is every believing foul furnished with the whole armour and protection of God, Song iv. 4. viv. 4. Her note is as the tower of Lebanon, which looketh towards Damaicus, where the Syrian foes of Itrael dwelt: Her watchful ministers watchfully guard her against her most dangerous seducers; and, by spiritual prudence and diferetion, the faints watch and keep themfelves in readinets, to refift their most dangerous temptations and foes, Song vii. 4. Jeremiah was like a tower and fortress to spy out and reprove the Jews for their fins, and they could not prevail to filence or dellroy him, Jer. vi. 27.

TOWN; (1.) A city, 1 Sam. xxiii. 7. (2.) A burgh or village, Elth. ix. 19.

TRACHONITIS; a finall canton on the fouth of Damafeus, which properly pertained to Arabia, not to Canaan. It had Ituria on the fouth, and Bashan on the west. It abounded with rocks; and here the robbers, that gave Herod the Great so much work, sheltered themselves. Philip his son was tetrarch here, Luke iii. 1.

To TRADE; to deal in any lawful butiness, as of buying and felling, &c. Gen. xlvi. 32. 34. To trade with the talents, or pounds, which God gives, is to exercise our gifts and graces, and improve our opportunities to the honour of God, and the good of arfelves and our neighbours, Matth. xxv.

16.

TRADITION; fome things handed down from age to age, without being committed to writing. The Jews pretend, that besides the laws of Moles written in the Pentateuch, God gave him a great many more, of which he informed Aaron and his fons: they handed them down to the elders; and thele informed the prophets thereof; thele from one generation to another conveyed them to posterity. This oral law, conveyed without writing, they reckon the foul of the written law, which, as it were, gives life and fenfe to it. These traditions, however, were but the inventions of prefumptuous men. Mofes exprefsly calls us to regard only what God has revealed to us in his word, Dent. xxix. 29. After the time of Malachi, these traditions were exceedingly multiplied, but fome of them were triffing, as prescriptions of washing of hands, pots, and tables; and fome whimiteal, as those relative to the phylacteries; fome of them were abtolutely wicked, as the notion that a man's confectating things to God, freed him from the duty of fupporting his aged parents; and their allowance to Iwear by creatures, and pretending

TRA [518] TRA

pretending that an oath was more binding if fwom by the gift on the altar, than by the altar itself; and their pretending it was lawful to hate their enemies, &c. Our Saviour inveighs against them, as making void the commandments of God, and rendering their devotion useless by their traditions. Matth. xv. xxiii. Soon after, their religion confifted almost wholly in observance of their traditions. Rabbi Judah, about A. D. 190, collected what traditions he could, and called his work the Mishna, or second law. This not being sufficiently clear on many heads, Rabbi Jochanan, about 100 years after, wrote a commentary on it. This he called the Gemara, or the Persection. These two joined together, are called the Talmud, or directory of Jerufalem, because composed chiefly for the use of the Jews in Canaan. But as this Gemara was written in an obfoure flyle, and na sy traditions known in the End not mentioned in it, Rabbi Ase and his disciples composed another, and, which being joined to the Milhna, formed the Babylonian Talmud. It confifts of 6 parts, 63 treatifes, and 524 chapters; and rehearfes the various decisions of their rabbins concerning feeds, plants, and fruits; festivals; women; injuries; facrifices, and other things facred; and purifica-Though these Talmads be fluifed with trifles and nonfenfe, yet they, especially the Babylonian, for the Jerufalem is little regarded, are what we may call the body of the civil and canon law of the modern Jews, if we might not only fay their creed, which they reckon incomparably preferable to the Old Testament; and for rejecting of which, they abhor their brethren the Karaites, who regard only the Bible, as almost devils incarnate. As the Talmud is fo large that few of their doctors could render themselves matters of it, Moses Maimonides, a Spanish rabbin, about A. D. 1180, composed an abridgement of it, which is published in four volumes folio, and to him they are obliged for curtailing, at least for abidging, a great deal of nonfenie. After all, a reader endowed with a fufficient flock of patience, may find a variety of things in the Talmud, tending to illustrate several paffares of the orange of Cod.

fages of the oracles of God. Under the New-Texament difpenfation, the Papilts have pretended to hold a multitude of traditions, faid to be conveyed from the apostles. These are for the most part never a whit better than their fellows of the Talmud. Nor does the word of God allow us to regard any fuch, in the matter of religion. The Thessalonians were required to hold the traditions, i. e. what had been delivered to them in the epiftles fent them, and in the preaching of Paul and his brethren, according to the feriptures. But now the canon is finished, with a terrible curse denounced against the person who, in his religion, adds to, or takes from what is written in the Bible, 2 Theff. iii. 15.

TRAFFIC; merchandife, Ezek. xvii. 4. Traffickers; merchants,

If. xxiii. 8.

Rev. xxii. 18. 19.

A TRAIN, is a company of attendants, I Kings x. 2. Christ's train filling the temple, may denote either a multitude of angels; or that the perfections of the Deity dwell in, and a rich variety of graces furnish his manhood, and that the fruits of his mediatory office fill the church with oracles, ordinances, and ministers, and with faints, gifts, and graces, If. vi. 1.

TRAITOR; one that betrays his king, mafter, or friend, Luke vi. 16.

John vi. 71.

TRAMPLE; to TREAD under foot, Pfal. xci. 13.

TRANCE; that flate of a person's mind, wherein, by wonder or otherwise, his outward senses are bound up, and supernatural things are revealed to him. When Ezekiel, and John the apostle, had their visions, they were often cast into a trance, Ezek. i. &c. Rev. i. iv. &c. And so was Peter, when admonsthed to go and preach to the Gentiles: Acts x. 10. xi. 5. and Bulaam boasts that he, falling into a trance, saw the glory of the Lord, Numberxiv. 4:

TRAN-

TRA [510] TRA

TRANQUILLITY; quietnelis

and prosperity, Dan. iv. 27.

TRANSFER; to apply to one that which respects another; thus Paul in a figure transferred, or applied to himself and Apollos, the comparison of planters, waterers, slewards, 1 Cor.

iv. 6.

TRANSFIGURE; TRANSFORM; to turn into another shape. To give our Saviour a foretaile of his future glory, and to fortify some of his dia ciples against the offence of his after fufferings, he, as he prayed, was gloriously transfigured on the mount, Matth. xvii. 1. — 5. Men are transformed by the renewing of their minds, when their nature is changed from its likeness to Satan, into the image of God, in knowledge, righteoufnefs, and true holinefs, and their practice is rendered conformable to his law, Rom. xii. 2. Satan is transformed into an angel of light, when he tempts to things under the appearance of knowledge, holinefs, fpiritual liberty, eminent fellowship with God; and his ministers are transformed into apostles of Christ, when they pretend an uncommon miffion from Christ, and have great appearances of ferioufness, zeal, and devotion, 2 Cor. xi. 13 .-- 15.

TRANSGRESS; to difobey a law, going over the limits which it fixeth for action or forbearance, Eth. iii. 3. Sin is a transgression, as thereby we creacherously overpass the limits which God hath fixed for our duty in his law, and do what he forbids, or omit what he requires, I John iii. 4.: and a TRANSGRESSOR is a finner, particularly a noted one, If. xlviii. 8. Gal. ii.

18. If. liii. 12.

TRANSLATE; to remove from one person, place, or state to another: so Abner intended to translate the kingdom of Israel, taking it from Ishbosheth, and giving it to David, 2 Sam. iii. 10. Enoch was translated; when he was removed, soul and body at once, from earth to heaven, Heb. xi. 5. The elect at their conversion are translated; are brought out of the kingdom of Satan, and a state of sin and misery, to a state of union with, and subjection to Christ, Col. i. 13.

TRAN: PARENT; what may be feen through, as glass, Sc. Rev. xxi.

TRAP. See SNARE.

TRAVAIL; womens painful labour in bringing forth children, Gen. xxxv. 16. Exquilite, painful, and fudden calamities and diffrefs, are likened to it, If. xiii. 8. Hof. xiii. 13. Jer. xxx. 6. 7. 1 Theff. v. 3. God is like to a travailing evoman, when, after long patience, he, by the vigorous exertion of his power, brings about deliverance to his people and ruin to their enemies, If. xlii. 14. The travail of Christ's foul, is the painful fusferings he endured, for bringing forth glory to God and redemption to us; and the faints, who, by means thereof, are begotten again, and brought forth into their new-covenant state, If. liii. The church travaileth, when, by prayers and vigorous endeavours, and by enduring fore perfecutions and troubles, the brings forth reformation, and children to Christ, Mic. v. 3. Rev. xii. 2. Gal. iv. 19. brought forth children before she travailed; her deliverance came very fpeedily and unexpectedly; or before the ruin of the Jewish church, the gospel-church was founded, If. lxvi. 7. Men travail with iniquity, when, even to the diffreshing of themselves, they labour to commit it, Pfal. vii. 14. Not to travail, is expressive of barrenness, and of want of ilmabitants, or of good ones in a land, If. xxiii. 4. iv. 1.

TRAVEL; (1.) Walking a journey from one place to another, Acts xix. 29. (2.) Hard labour and toil, Eccl. iii. 10. (3.) Trouble; diffrefs, Numb. xx. 14. God is like a traveller, or w.y-faring man, when his vifits to his people are feldom and flort, and he fecuns to take little notice of them. Jer. xiv. 8. Chrift is likened to a traveller; he came into our world; he left it, and retired into heaven; but still in his spiritual power and influence, he travels through his churches, to help and protest them, Matth. xxv. 14.

Ħ.

TRA 520 TRE

If. Ixiii. 1. Saints are PILGRIMS, or way faring men; travellers from one place to another; their condition here is very unfettled; but united to, and affifted by Jefus, they, through much danger and opposition, proceed from one degree of grace to another, till they at last arrive at their everlasting home, 1 Pet. ii. 11. Heb. xi. 13. Is. xxxv. 8. Satan is a traveller, who goes about feeking entertainment in mens hearts, 2 Sam. xii. 4.: and being diffurbed by the fuccess of the gofpel in the dry places of the Heathen world, he returned to the Jews, and made them more hardened against Chrift, and more wicked than before, Luke xi. 24. 25. 26. Matth. xii. 43. -45. Poverty and want come on fluggards as a traveller and an armed man: gradually, but unexpectedly, and irrefiftibly, and render them miferable, Prov. vi. 11. xxiv. 31.

TRAVERSE; to go hither and thither. The Jews traverfed their ways, by fometimes following the Lord, and immediately after, following their idols; and now one idol, and anon another, Jer. it. 23.

TREACHERY, or TREASON, is a perfidious acting contrary to covenant-obligation; as when a subject, contrary to his oath and duty of allegiance, rebels againft, and murders his fovereign, 2 Kings ix. 23. xi. 14. The Jews were treacherous; guilty of deceit and covenant-breaking with God and men, Jer. iii. 7. 11. The Affyrians dealt treacheroufly, when, contrary to treaty, they ravaged Judea: and they were dealt treacheroufly with, when Sennacherib's fons murdered him, and when the Medes and Chaldeans de-Aroyed their kingdom, If. xxxiii. 1. The Medes and Perfians dealt very treacheroufly, when, catting off their allegiance, they deftroyed Babylon, If.

TREAD; (1.) To walk on, Den. xi. 24: and men tread God's sours, when there is no more of spiritual service in their worship than if they were beatts, If. i. 12. (2.) To patture; to feed, If. vii. 25. (3.) To fqueeze; press out the juice of grapes, Job xxiv. 11.: and hence Christ treads the wine prefs, when he destroys his enemies, and tramples them, as if under his feet, If. lxiii. 3. Rev. xix. 15 .: and treading, or treading down, imports great affliction and debasement; full conquest and ruin, If. xxii. 5. Pfal. xliv. 5. vii. 5. lx. 12. Christ's minifters and people tread on adders, lions, ferpents, and all the power of the enemy, when they prevail over Satan and all his agents, to the fpreading of the gofpel and a growing in grace, Luke x. 19. Pfal. xei. 13. Antichrist treads under foot the holy city; oppresses and murders the faints, and debafes the ordinances and form of the church, Rev. xi. 2. To tread the poor, is to oppress and afflict them, Amos v. 11. To be trodden down as straw for the dunghill, is to be reduced to great mifery and contempt, If. xxv. 10.

TREASURE; (1.) A flore or collection of valuable things, as of corn, wine, oil, gold, filver, brafs, Jer. xli. 8. Ezek. xxviii. 4. Dan. xi. 43. (2.) A TREASURY, or that which contains a valuable collection, as a bundle, packet, cabinet, place; and that part of the tabernacle or temple, where the facred gifts were gathered or laid up, was called the TREASURY, Matth. ii. 11 Joth. vi. 19. Mark xii. 41. God's treafures are collected quantities of fnow. hail, rain, waters, wind, Job. xxxviii. 22. Jer. li. 6. Pfal. cxxxv. 7. clouds which water and fructify the earth, are called his good treasure, Deut. xxviii. 12. The wealth hid in the bowels of the earth, is called his bidden treasure, Psal. xvii. 14. His people are his treasure, collected from among men, and carefully kept, and highly valued by him as his jewels, Exod. xix. 5. Mal. iii. 17. Christ is represented as a treasury; in him dwells all the fulnefs of God, and in him are laid up, hid, and fafely preferved, all the treafures of wifdom and knowledge, and all that is proper to be communicated to finful men, Col. ii. 3. 9. i. 19. a d his gospel, are a ircusure bid in the field; he, in all his precious, diversified,

TRE [52T] TRE

fied, and enriching fulness of grace and glory, and the gospel in all its precious promifes and bleffings, are laid up in the scriptures, and are invisible to most men, Matth. xiii. 44.: and this treafure is in earthen vellels, as it is committed to poor weak men to preach and exhibit, 2 Cor. iv. 7. Men lave within them a good treasure of holy dispositions, gifts, graces, and thoughts, Matth. xii. 35.; or an evil treasure of wick d inclinations, and erroneous opinions, Luke vi. 45. Their wealth obtained by fraud, oppression, and the like, is called treasures of wickedness, Frov. x. 2. The fear of the Lord is his treasure; it is delightful to God, and very profitable to the faints, If. xxxiii. 6. Mens treasure laid up for them, is either eternal glory prepared in heaven for the faints, and which is laid up by receiving Christ and walking in him, Matth. vi. 19. 20.; or a treafure of wrath, laid up for the everlatting punishment of the wicked, Jam. v. 3. Rom. ii. 5.

TREATISE; a book; the gospel of Luke, Acts i. 1.

TREES; a large kind of plants, fome of which are useful for wood: others for fruit; and fonce for both purpofes. The fcripture mentions fluittah, cedar, chefnut, cyprefs, almug or aigum, oak, teil, ash, clm, box, sir, oil, olive, apple, pomegranate, fig, fycamore, mulberry, &c. trees. Every pleafant and fruitful tree grew in the garden of Eden; but the tree of knowledge of good and evil, fo called, because thereby God tried man's perfeverance in good, or fall into evil; and by eating of its fruit, man experienced what it was to fall from good into evil, and the fruit of which, if eaten, fealed up man under mifery and woe; and the tree of life, fo called, perh ps, because it was a natural means of preferring man's animal vigour, but chiefly, as it confirmed to him eternal life, upon tupposition of his perpetual obedience during his time of trial, Gen. ii. 9. 17. Of what kind thefe two trees wee, it is impossible for us to determine. Jefus Christ is called the tree of life, in the midst of the street, and on either side of the river of life, or between the ftreet and river; and which yields its fruit every month, and the leaves of which are for the healing of the nations. He has all life in himfelf, and through union to him, and fellowship with him, in his ever ready bleffings and fruits, are finful men quickened, juffified, adoped, functified, and healed, and partake of cternal life, Rev. sail. 2. ii. 7. The faints are trees of rightcousness, planted by the river of Christ's blood and spiritual influence, and whose fruit is for food, and leaves for medicine. Rooted and grounded in Christ, and partaking of his influences, they grow heavenward, and bring forth the fruits of righteous works, to the praise and glory of God, and the edification of those around; nor do they ever wither and fade, but perfevere in grace to the end, Rev. ix. 4. Pfal. i. 3. Ezek. xlvii. 7. 12. If. lxi. 3. Jer. xvii. 7. 8. Kings and great or proud men, are likened to trees; their honour, power, and wealth, or pride, are conspicuous and superior to others, and they are means of protecting or overshadowing others, Ezek. xxxi. 5. 9. Dan. iv. 10. 23. Rev. viii. 7. Cicatures in general, are called trees of the wood, are all contemptible, unlovely, and unfruitful, in comparison of Christ, Song ii. 3. Wisdom, or real religion, and the fruit of the righteous, are a tree of life; they render one lively and active in holinefs, and iffue in the eternal life of himfelf and others, Prov. iii. 18. xi. 30. A man's hope is removed like an old tree cut down, when it cannot be recovered, Job xix. 10.

TREMBLE; (1.) To shake. Job ix. 6. xxvi. 11. Eccl. xii. 3. (2.) To fear exceedingly, till one shake with dread, Deut. ii. 25.; and that either as impressed with awful greatness, or alarning judgements, Amos viii. 8. Jam. ii. 19.; or under a holy awe of the purity and goodness of God, and the authority and holiness of his word, Jer. xxxiii. 9. If. lxv. 5. lxvi. 2. When Ephraim spake trembling, he exalted himself; but when he offended n Baal, he died. As long as the ten tribes behaved humbly, they profpered; but their proud introduction of the worship of Baal hastened their ruin, Hof. xii. 1.

TRE [522] TRO

TRENCH; a ditch digged about a camp, for its protection; or about a city, to protect it, or to prevent the escape of the inhabitants, 1 Sam. vii. 20. Luke xix. 43.; or a ditch about an altar, 1 Kings xviii. 32.

TRESPASS; a failing of duty towards God or men; or an offence and injury done them, Matth. vi. 15. The Hebrew pashahhh, fignifies an injury done in a feditious and rebellious manner, Gen. xxxi. 36. Trefpafsmoney, was that which was given by people who lived at a diffance from the temple, to purchase animals for a trefpass-offering, 2 Kings xii. 16.

TRIAL. See TRY.

TRIBE; a class of people, sprung as branches from one root; and so the twelve families of Jacob's twelve sons, are called tribes. The Gentiles succeeding into the church-state, when the Jews were cast out, are called the twelve tribes of Israel, Ezek. xlv. 8. Matth. xix. 28. Rev. vii. 4. xxi. 12.

TRIBULATON; fore trouble, in which men are pinched, fqueezed, and as it were threshed as corn on a floor, Rom. v. 4. In Rom. ii. 9. and in Rev. ii. 22. it may denote the torments of hell.

TRIBUTE. See TAX.

TRICKLE; to run down in drops. Trickling of the eye, imports great weeping and forrow, Lam. iii. 49.

TRIM; to remove every thing improper, and render neat, 2 Sam. xix. 24. The trinning of lamps, by finuffing them, and causing them to burn more brightly, denotes mens slirring up themselves to an activity in the duties of holiness, in order to obtain a comfortable meeting with Christ, Matth. xxv. 7. The Jews trimmed their way to seek love, and taught the wicked ones their ways: they set out their own power and wealth, to gain the esteem and friendship of their neighbours; and offered lacrifices to procure

God's favour, while they went on in fin; and they even inftructed the very Heathen, in idolatry and wickedness, Jer. ii. 33.

TRIUMPH; great shouting and jov, on account of victory over an enemy. God triumphs over his enemies. when he has an eafy and glorious victory over them, Exod. xv. 1.21. Christ triumphed over principalities and powers on the crofs: he joyfully finished transgression, made fatisfaction for sin, and thus undermined the power of Satan, and laid an effectual foundation for the overthrow of his kingdom in the world, and in the hearts of the elect, Col. ii. 15. The faints triumph alway in Christ, and in God's work and praise; amidst weakness, unfulness, and trouble, they rejoice in Christ's person, offices, righteoufnefs, power, and love, and with joy, think of, delight in, and extol the work of redemption, and the whole providence of God connected therewith, 2 Cor. ii. 14. Pfal. xcii. 4. cvi. 47. Philistia's triumphing because of David, may either be an irony, fignifying their mourning and howling at his conquest of them; or it may denote, their having reason to rejoice, as they had got a better mafter than their tyrannic lords; or the phrase may fignify, his triumphing over them, Pfal. lx. 8. cviii. 9.

TROAS, or Troy, a city of Phrygia or Mysia, a little to the south-west of the mouth of the Hellespont, and on the shore of the Mediterranean sea. To the north of this, in the earliest ages, flood the famed city of Troy. After it had been for fome generations the head of a noted kingdom, it was, after a fiege of ten years, taken by the Greeks of Europe. This occasioned the dispersion of the Trojans into a variety of places; and many nations affected to be reckoned their offspring. It feems too, that florms difperfed the returning Greeks into a variety of the islands and coasts of the Mediterranean fca. It is generally believed, that this Troy was destroyed about 1184 years before Christ's birth; but we, with Sir Isaac Newton, suppose it to have happened

TRO 523 TRU

happened about 280 years later, in the time of Jehoshaphat, which will tally well with Eneas's being the cotemporary of Dido, the founder, or rather the adorner, of Carthage, and will correfpond with the flight of Cadmus, for fear of David's arms, and with the wide spread ravages of Shishak. new Troy was foon after built, about four miles nearer the there, and but one from the fea, This, in the time of Alexander, was dwindled into a forry village, with nothing remarkable, fave an old temple of Minerva. his order. Lyfimachus his general repaired it, and furrounded it with a wall of five miles in circumference. Romans afterwards entering Afia, found it in a poor condition; and believing themselves the offspring of the ancient Trojans, spared no cost or pains to repair and embellish it. Augustus fent a colony of Romans to inhabit it. Here Paul often preach J, and planted a church, and with one Carpus he here left his cloak, and some parchiments. A church long remained in this place; but at prefent we know of nothing in it, but fome old ruins, Acts xvi. 8. xx. 5. 12. 2 Tim. iv. 13.

TROGYLLIUM, TROGILIAS, or TROGILIA, was a promontory, or head of land, of Mycale, about five miles from Samos, Acts xx. 15.

TROOP; a band of men, especially warriors or robbers, Job vi. 19. Hofea vi. 9. Perhaps the GAD and MENI, rendered troop and number, may be the fun and moon, or these with the stars; or it may mean, that the Jews, in their wars with the Chaldeans, depended entirely on their good fortune and the valour of their troops, If. lxv. 11. The Chaldeans, multitudes of concurrent afflictions, and the various creatures on earth, and especially the faints, are called God's troops, as he orders their form, motion, and influence; and they accomplish his end, Hab. iii. 16. Job xix. 12. Amos ix. 6.

TROUBLE. Sec DISTRESS.

TROW; an old word for think, Luke xvii. 9.

TRUCE; agreement, particularly fuch as warring states make, for at least delaying the profecution of the war for a time. Truce-breakers, are such as break through their congagements; and who being once offended, can scarce ever be reconciled, 2 Tim.

TRUE: (1.) Real: fo God is the only true God: he alone is possessed of infinite perfection. (2.) Not false; faithful; candid; God is true, and every man is a liar; God counct be guilty of any deceit or falfehood, and every one that contradicts him will be found a liar, Rom. iii. 4. Joseph's brethren were true men, who did not feek to deceive, Gen. xlii. 11. A true heart, is one that has real grace; and is upright and candid, Heb. x. 22. (3.) Most excellent: fo Christ is true bread, John vi. 32.; the true vine, John xv. 1.; the true light, John i. 9. God's word is TRUE, and the truth; is quite confiltent with the things of which it speaks, and one part of it with another; nor fhall any promife, threatening, or prediction thereof, be left unaccomplished, Pfal. exix. His judgements are true, as in them he fulfils his word, shews his candour, and manifelts his faithfulnefs, Rev. xvi. 7. And TRULY, of a truth, or in truth, is, (1.) Really, and fincerely; without deceit, Luke xx. 21. (2.) Verily; without fail, Math. xvii. 11. Jer. iii. 23. TRUTH, or VE-RITY, is, (I.) What is opposite to falsehood and error: in this sense, the law and gospel of God are the truth, Pfal. exix. 151. Gal. iii. t. (2.) What is real and fubitantial, oppose the what is shadowy and typical: thus TRUTH comes by Jefus Christ, i. c. the glorious realities shadowed forth by the types, are fulfilled in his incarnation, righteoufnels, interceffion, and government, John i. 17. (3.) Chadid fi cerity, in opposition to disimulation, John iv. 24. (4.) Faithfulnels, or veracity, in fulfilling what one is bound to, by word, engagement, or relation, Pfal. xxxi. 5. God's truth, is his candour and faithfulness, Pfal. lxx. 22.; or his revealed will, in which, in a way of obedience to it, his people do walk, 3 4 2

TRU [524] TRU

Pfal. xxvi. 3. His works are, verity and judgement; are precifely a fulfilment of his word, and of his relations to men, and are all performed in infinite wisdom, Psal. exi. 7. He cuts off men in his truth, when he does it in fulfilling his predictions, and his promifes or threatenings, Pial. liv. 5. Jefus Christ is the TRUTH; he comprehends in himself all real excellencies; he is full of unfailing candour and faith fulness to God and men; he is the substance of all the ancient types; he is the fubflance or centre of every thing important in facrad history, law, or gospel, John xiv. 6. The truth is in Jesus; it centres in him, and is really, and without any false gloss, represented in his person, office, and work, Eph. iv. 21. To do truth, is, with inward candour and fincerity, to profess and practife what God's word directs, John iii. 21. To hold the truth in unrighteousness, is, through the prevalent power of finful lufts, to act contrary to the truth of God's word, manifested to, and in some degree impressed on the confeience, Rom. i. 18.

TRUMP, or TRUMPET; an hollow instrument of filver, brass, horn, or the like, for founding with the breath, in order to convene affemblies and encourage to war, Jer. iv. 5. By the direction of God, Mofes made two filver trumpets, wherewith the priefts were to call together the Hebrews to their folemn affemblies, and to direct their marches, or encourage them to When the whole congregation was required to affemble, the found was to be fimple and uniform: when only the princes were required to meet with Mofes, the found was shrill. long and quivering found directed those on the east fide of the tabernacle to decamp and march: a fecond found of the fame airs, directed those on the fouth fide to do the fame: at a third found, those on the west side marched; and at the fourth, those on the north. The priests blew with these trumpets over the burning facrifices, especially at the folemn festivals; and on the FEAST of trumpets they blew from morning to night: Numb. x. Lev. xxv. 9. 10. It feems, Solomon made 120 filver trumpets instead of these two. 2 Chron. v. 12. With trumpets of rams-horns the priefts founded around Jericho, till its walls fell down flat; and with fuch, it feems, the jubilee was proclaimed, Josh. vi. 4. Did not thefe trumpets prefigure the gospel, which, published by ministers, calls men to Jefus Christ and his ordinances. and encourages them in their heavenly journey and spiritual warfare !- Whatever tends to alarm or affemble men, is called a trumpet, as the noify thunders that called and alarmed the Hebrews to hear God's law at Sinai, Exod. xx. 18.; or the majestic and awful means whereby God will raife the dead, and call mankind to his tribunal at the last day, 1 Cor. xv. 52. 1 Theff. iv. 16.; or the alarming declarations of God's prophets and ministers, warning their he arers of the judgements of God, and to flee from their fins, Hof. viii. 1. If. lviii. 1. Ezek. xxxiii. 3. 6. The great trumpet, that convened the outcasts of Egypt and Affyria, to worship the Lord at Jerusalem, is either the edict of Cyrus, that proclaimed to the Jews their allowance to return home and rebuild the temple of their God; or the gospel, by the publishing of which, multitudes are converted to the Christian faith, If. xxvii. 13. The gospelchurch, being fettled under the apocalyptic seals, or scenes of Providence, the alarming judgements which afterwards befel her, are reprefented by the founding of feven trumpets, the first fix of which reach from A. D. 338, to about 1366, or 2016, Rev. viii. ix.; and the feventh, to the end of the world.

TRUST; (1.) To be perfuaded; to hope well, Heb. xiii. 18. Luke xxiv. 21. (2.) To depend on without tear, If. xxvi. 3. To trust in the Lord, is firmly to expect, that he will do for us, in time and eternity, whatever corresponds to his word, his perfections, and relations, and so in quietness wait for the event, Psal. lxii. 8. To trust in men lawfully, is firmly to expect,

TRU 525 TUR

expect, that they, affifted of God, will do to and for us according to their promifes and relations to us-ward, Prov. xxxi. 11. To trust in men finfully, is to depend upon their friendship and help, inftead of God's, Jer. xvii. 5. If. xxx. TRUSTY persons, are such as we may depend on for fure information, good advice, and exact fulfilment of engagements, Job xii. 20.

TRUTH. See TRUE. TRY; to examine; prove; to fearch carefully into the nature, quality, and fufficiency of perfons or things. allusion is to the trial of metal, whether it be good or not, Pfal. xii. 6. tries and examines men, not by making new discoveries for himself, for he knows them fully, but by his word or providence making discoveries of them to themselves or others, Pfal. xi. 5. xxvi. 2. Prov. xvii. 3. And the afflictions of his people are called trials, as they tend to exercife, polish, and difcover their grace, not to destroy them, Heb. xi. 36. Job ix. 23: and they are called fiery, because terrible, piercing, and purifying, 1 Pet. iv. 12.: and they tend to exercise and increase their patience, Jam. i. 3. Rom. v. 4. Jefus Christ is tried; neither the knowledge of his Father, nor his manifold fufferings, nor all the diverlified experiments of the faints, nor the ferutinies of his enemies, can find any thing faulty or defective in him, Rev. iii. 18. If. xxviii. 16. The word of the Lord is tried; it is exactly conform to the nature of God; neither friends nor foes can find real faults therein: every promife being believed by the faints, they obtain the happy accomplishment thereof; every threatening contemned by finners, is, to their experience, executed upon them at last, Pfal. xviii. 30. cxix. 140. Rulers try or examine by a judicial fearch, whether fuch perfons be guilty of alledged crimes or not: and fometimes civil rulers have tortured or fcourged panuels, in order to make them declare what they supposed they had done, Rev. ii. 2! Acts xxii. 24.

TRYPHENA and TRYPHOSA, were two noted Christian women at Rome, who, by their private instructions and generofity, mightily contributed to the fuccess of the gospel there, Rom. xvi. 12.

TUBAL; (1.) The fifth fon of Japheth, Gen. x. Josephus makes him the father of the Iberians on the eaft of the Black fea. Bochart makes him the father of the Tibarenes on the north of Armenia the Lefs; and I fee nothing to hinder his being the parent of both these tribes, as their situation is not very diftant. Others, I think without ground, make him the father of the Italians, or Spaniards. (2.) TUBAL-CAIN, a fon of Lamech the bigamift, and the inventor of fmithwork and foundery; and, it is believed, the Vulcan, or god of fmiths, of the Heathen, Gen. iv. 22.

TUMULT, UPROAR; (1.) A diforderly, feditious, and noity rifing of the mob, Hof. x. 14. Matth. xxvii. 24. Acts xvii. 5. (2.) Any terrible and confused hubbub, Zech. xiv. 13. Tumultuous perfons are fuch as are fet. upon uproars, and feditious mobbings, Jer. xlviii. 45. A tumultuous city, is one filled with noife, confusion, and mobs, If. xxii. 2. A tumultuous noife, is that which is like the roaring of an enraged mob, If. xiii. 4.

To TURN; (1.) To make a change of motion or conduct; and fo TURN-ING, denotes inconstancy, change from good to bad, or from bad to good, James i. 17. Ezek. xxxiii. 11.: and the corner of the wall is called its turning, 2 Chron. xxvi. q.: and to turn to the Lord, is to leave off a finful state or courfe, in coming to him, as our Saviour, portion, and governor, walking in his way, I Theff. i. 9. To turn ofide, is to quit one's holy profession and course of duty, I Tim. i. 6. Exod. xxxii. 8. To turn away, is to forfake, refuse to hear, or keep company with, Jer. xxxii. 40. Heb. xii. 25. To twen back, is to apostatize from the fervice of God, Fal. xliv. 18.; and to flee from a conquering enemy, Pfal. ix. 3. (2) To cause others to change their conduct, Acts xiii. 8. God turns men, when, by his word and Spirit working on their fouls, he causes them turn from their evil ways to himself, Jer. xxxi. 18. Ministers turn many to righteousness, when they are means of their embracing Jesus's righteousness, and justification through it, Dan. xi. 3. To turn things upside dozon, is to throw all into disorder and confusion, 2 Kings xxi. 13.

TUT [526] TYP

TUTOR; one that takes care of a child and his estate, while he is under age. The ceremonial law was a tutor and governor, it ruled over the church in her infant state, Gal. iv. 3.

TWELVE. In allufion to the 12 tribes of Ifrael, 12 loaves of shew-bread were on the table of the fanctuary; Christ chose 12 apostles, whose doctrines are called 12 stars on the head of the gospel-church; twelve thousand are said to be sealed of every tribe; the new Jerusalem has 12 gates and 12 foundations; and the tree of life bears 12 manner of fruits, Matth. x. Rev. xii. 1. vii. xxi. xxii. 2.

TWICE, fometimes denotes frequently, Pfal. lxii. 11. Job xxxiii. 14.

TWIG; SLIP; (1.) A finall branch of a tree. (2.) Men, chiefly when young and flourishing, as Daniel and his companions were when carried to Babylon, are called twigs, Ezek. xvii. 4.

TWILIGHT; a mixture of light and darkness, as in the morning after day-break, and at even when the fun is fet, I Sam. xxx. 17. Prov. vii. 9.

TWINKLING of an eye, a fmall moment, I Cor. xv. 22.

TWINS; two brought forth at a birth. Bearing of twins, denotes great fruitfulness in the conversion of men to Christ, or in good works, Song iv. 2.

TYCHICUS; a noted evangelist, who attended Paul with the collection for the poor faints at Jerusalem, Acts xx. 4. Paul afterwards sent him to Ephesus and Colosse, with his epistles to these churches, Eph. vi. 21. 22. 2 Tim. iv. 12. Col. iv. 7. 8. He appears to have been the successor of Titus, in ordering the affairs of the church of Crete, Tit. iii. 12.

TYPE, properly fignifies a person or thing, that, by the destination of God, prefigured fomething relative to Jesus Christ and his church. were many, as none of them could fully point out its antitype; and they were a kind of real predictions of things to come, as those uttered by the prophets were verbal. There were typical persons, as Adam, Abel, Enoch, Noah, Melchizedek, Abraham, Ifaac, Jacob, Job, Mofes, Aaron, Bezaleel, Aholiab. Phinehas, Johna, Gideon, Samfon. Boaz, Samuel, David, Solomon, Elijah, Elisha, Jonah, Eliakim, Daniel, Zerubbabel, Joshua the high priest, and John Baptist: typical classes of perfons, as Ifraelites; their first-born males; unmarried brothers of him that left his widow childlefs; kinfman-redeemers; voluntary bond-fervants; hanged malefactors; fojourning strangers; Nazarites; Nethinims; Levites; priests: high priefts; holy prophets; and kings of David's family. Occasional typical things, as Noah's ark; Jacob's ladder; Mofes's burning bush; the cloudy pillar; the fweetened water of Marah; the MANNA; the water-yielding rocks; the well of Beer; the cluster of grapes from Eshcol; Aaron's budding rod; the brazen ferpent; the healing pool of Bethefda; the waters of Shiloah; the deliverance of the Hebrews from Egypt; their passage through the Red fca; their travels in the wilderness; their entrance into Canaan; their wars with the Heathens; and their return from Babylon. The miscellaneous typical institutions, were circumcifion; fanctification of fruit-trees, offering no bafe things to God; fcourging of bond-women for whoredom; protection of fugitive fervants; exclusion from the congregation of the Lord; wearing proper apparel; blue fringes; cutting of no fleth for the dead; abstinence from blood and fat, and things torn, or dying of themselves; reaping of sields; avoiding of mixed garments, fowing of mingled feed, of plowing with oxen and affes, or of gendering between cattle of different kinds; tenderness to beafts; not muzzling the treading ox; covering of filth; freedom from the fervice of war. The typical places, were Canaan;

TYP [527] TYR

Canaan; the cities of refuge; Jerula len; Zion; the tabernacle, and the temple. The typical utensits were, the ark of the covenant; the pot of manna; the table of thew-bread, with its loaves; the golden altar with its incente; the golden cardleflick with its oil; the filver trumpets; the brazen lavers and fea; the brazen altar; the altars of flone or earth; and the altar of Ebal. The typical offerings were, the burnt-offering, the fin-offering; the trespals offering; the peace-offering; the meat-offering; the drukoffering; the holy anointing oil; the foul raufom-money; the tithes; the first-fruits; the things voluntarily devoted; Abraham's oblation of birds and cattle; his offering of the ram caught in the thicket; Mofes's oblation for ratifying the covenant between God and Hrael. The typical Jeasons were, the time of the dairy facrifices;

the weekly fabbath in its ceremonial use: the feast of new-moons, the passover, and teast of unleavened bread; Pentecost; the feast of trumpets; the talt of general expiation; the feat of tabernacles; the year of release, and the jubilee. The typical purifications were, purgation from the defilement of holy things; and from the defilement of touching or eating of beatts; purgation from the defilement of child birth, of leprofy, of running iffues, and of infection by dead corpfes, the trial of furpected adultery; and the expiation of uncertain murder. -To him that ducerns the evangelic figuification of these various types, the narratives of the Old Testament are not a dry hiftory, but appear replenished with the most useful instructions concerning our Saviour, and his body the church

TYRE. See PHENICIA.

V. U.

V A I

VAG

VAGABOND; one who has no fettled above. Gen. iv. 12. It ordinarily fignifies, one who is also naughty and wicked, Acts xix. 3.

VAIL; a covering. To mark their modeline and their proteins.

modelty, and their reverent subjection to their hufbands, women, especially in the east, were wont to wear vails on their face, Gen. xxiv. 65. It. iii. Poffibly it was with fuch that Paul admonishes the Corinthian women to be covered in their public worflipping affemblies, 1 Cor. xi. 3. - 10. Moles covered his face with a vail, that the Hebrews might not be affrighted, or their eyes dazzled, with the brightness thereof, after he came down last from Sinai, Exod. xxxiv. 33. It fignified the obscurity of his ceremonial laws. A vail was spread over the face of perfons condemned to death Efth. vii. 8. In the tabernacle and temple a fine and strong hanging or vail feparated between the holy, and the most holy apartment. The renting of this vail at the death of our Saviour, imported the abolishment of the ceremomal law, which separated between Jews and Gentiles; the opening of a free passage into the heavenly state; and the finishing of Jesus's debased appearances, which, for a while, concealed his glory from men, Matth. xxvii. 51. Eph. ii. 4. Heb. vi. 16. x. 20. The vail of the ceremonial law is done away in Chrift, as in him are fulfilled the whole rites thereof, 2 Cor. iii. 13.14. But this vail fill remains on the Jewish nation, as they cleave to it, and so blind and harden themselves against Christ; but when that nation, and their blinded hearts, are turned to the Lord, they shall relinquish these abolished ceremonies, and embrace the gofpel, 2 Cor. iii. 15. 16. The church's vail taken from her by the watchmen, is the doctrine of her juttifying righteousness, and her amiable character, Song v. 7. The vail and face of covering ipread over the nations, which Jefus

Jesus destroys, is their ignorance, unbelief, error, and marks of divine condemnation, If. xxv. 7.

VAIN: (1.) Enpty; worthlefs; unprofitable, Pfal. lx. 11. (2.) Wicked, 2 Sam. vi. 20. (4.) Groundless; false, Pfal. ii. 1. 4. (4. Proud, fool ish, light, and inconstant, Job xi. 11. 12. Pfal. xxvi. 4 The Jews imagined a vain thing concerning the Melliah; that he would be a temporal potentate and deliverer; and that the debasement of Jefus of Nazzreth, and his professing to be the Son of God, were evidences of his being, not the Meffiah, but an impostor, Psal. ii. I In vain. without due truth; without due reafon; without proper tendency, Exod. xx. 7. Rom. xiii. 4. VANITY is, (1.) What is empty and unprofitable. Eccl. i. 2. (2.) Changeableness; corrup tion, Rom. viii. 20. (3.) Wickedness; falsehood, Psal. exix. 37. iv. 2. xii. 2. (4.) Pride; lightness; and inconstancy, Eph. iv. 17. (5.) Fruitless toil; trouble; wretchedness. Pfal. lxxviii. 33. Job vii. 3. 16. Idols are vanity, and lying vanities; they have no real divinity; the fervice of them can do no real good, as is pretended, Jer. ii. 5. x. 14. 15. Acts xiv. 15. Jon. ii. 8. Treasures got by lying, are a vanity toffed to and fro, of them that feek death; they are very uncertain and unstable, and tend to the ruin of their possessions, Prov. xxi. 6.

VALE, VALLEY; a hollow ground between hills, whether along the banks of rivers or not. The scripture mentions a great number of valleys; as the valley of Siddim, in or near to which Sodom and Gomorrah flood, G . xiv. 3.; of Berachah, well of the Dead sea; of Zeboim, near Jeri c' o. 1 Sam. xiii. 18. 2 Chron. xx. 6., of Zephatha, near Mareshah, 2 Chion. xiv. 10.; of Eshcol, Numb. xxxii. q.; of Gerar, Gen. xxvi. 17.; of Sorek where Delilah dwelt, Judg. x. of Aijalon, Josh. x. 2.; of Reptiaim. or the giants, Il. xvii. 5.; of Elah, where Golia.h was flain, 1 Sam. xxi. . . et schor, Josh. vii. 24.; of Gibea, Judg. xx. 33.; of To-phet, Hinnom, or flaughter, Jer. vii. 32.; of the mountains about serusalem, Zech. xiv. 5.; of Jehoshaphat, or decision, perhaps the same as Berachah, or Tophet, Joel iii. 14.; of Baca Pfal. lxxxiv 6.; of Kanah, or reeds, Joth. xvi. 8; of Ono, Charashim, or craftsmen, 1 Chron. iv. 14.; of Keziz, Josh xviii. 24. These were all in the fouth of Western Canaan. Northward, we find the fat valleys, near Samaria If. xxviii. 24. perhaps the fame as the plain or valley of 16. rael, Josh xi. 16.; the valles of Moreh, between kbal and Gerizzim, Gen. xii. 6.; of Meonenim, Judg. ix. 37; of Zaanaim, Judg.iv. 11.; of Shave, near Salem, Gen. xiv. 17.; of Jezreel, Josh. xix. 18.; of Megiddo, 2 Chron. xxxv. 22.; of Jiphthael, Josh. xix. 14. 27.; of Lebanon, Josh. xi. 17. Those beyond Jordan were, the valley of Shittim, which may reprefent the barren Gentile world, Joel iii. 18.; of Abarim, or passenzers, on the east of the Dead fea Ezek. xxxix. 11.; of Zared, Numb. xxi. 12.; of Gad, 2 Sam xxiv. 5.; of Succoth, Pfal. lx. 6.; of Mizpeh, Joth. xi. 8.; of Salt, near Tadmor. Jerutalem, or the land of Judea, is called a valley of vision; as they had the oracles, ordinances, and prophets of God among them, Is. xxii. 1. Hinderances of the spread and fuccess of the gospel are likened to valleys; and they are filled up, when rendered incapable to hinder its progress, Luke iii 5. Of the four words which the Hebrews use to exprefs a valley, nachal figurfies one with a brook in it, ge a kind of roundish hollow without a brook, and Hhemek one large and wide, or a plain, and bikhhath a narrow cliff. bur perhaps this observation will not always hold.

VALOUR; courage and strength,

Judg. iii. 29.

VALUE; the worth of a thing, Matth. x. 31.; and to value a thing, is to fet a proper price upon it, Lev. xxvii. 16.

VANISH; (1.) To cease to be feen, Luke xxiv. 31. (2.) To come to nought, Heb. viii. 13. (3.) To fly away imperceptibly, fo as to be no more feen, Jam. iv 14.

VAP [529] VES

VAPOUR; a dewy mist, like the smoke of a boiling pot. Jobxxxvi. 27. The confounding judgements of God, or the terrible smoke ascending from the burning of Jerusalem, is called surjour of sinks, Acts ii. 19. Our life is like a respons; how unfubliantial, short, and casily destroyed! Jam. iv. 14.

VARIABLENESS; inconstancy, readiness to change. Our natural fun is very changeable in his appearance; now in the east, anon in the west; now as far north as to create our Summer, anon so far south as to occasion our Winter; but with God, the Sun, or Father of lights, there is no variableness or shadow of turning; but he is ever the same in his nature and purpose, Jam. i. 17.

VASHTI. See AHASUERUS.

VAUNT, to be rash; to boast, I Cor. xiii. 14.

VEHEMENT; frong; violent, Jon. iv. 8. Wehemently; eagerly: fiercely; boldly, Luke xi. 53. xxiii. 10.

VEIN; a place for filter to fpread itself in the mine; or a passage to bring it out of it, Job xxviii. 1.

VENGEANCE. Sec REVENGE-VENOM See POISON.

VENT, outlet, Job xxxii. 19.

At a VENTURE, is by guess, without minding where it hit, 1 Kings

XXII. 34.

VERIFIED; proved to be true, Gen. xlii. 43. God's promife is verified, when it is fulfilled, 1 Kings viii. 26.

VERILY; without midake or failure. When doubted it approaches to the folemnity of an oath; and denotes the great importance of what is taid, and the necessity and difficulty of believing it. John iii. 3.

VERITY. See TRUE.

VERY; (1.) Real; true, Gen xxvii. 21. (2.) Exceeding, Numb. xii. 3.

VERMILLION; a kind of red earth, used by painters for garnishing chambers, Jer. xxii. 14.; or colouring images, Ezek. xxiii. 14. But perhaps the Hebrew Shashar was the cin.

Vol. II.

rabar of the Arabians, which is also 2 red paint. Stockius, and some other good authors, render it indico.

VESSEL; a diffi or any utenfil in a house, 2 Tim. ii. 20 The # stels of the Lord's tabernacle or temple were HOLY: last other veffels were called common. Men are veffels, and veffels of mercy and wrath, as they are appointed to be for ever filled with the effects of God's mercy, or just wrath, Rom. 1x. 22. 23. Men are called vellels suberein there is no pleasure, 1. e. a chamber pot or box, to mark how full they are of abominable corruptions, and how quickly they shall be emptied and ruined, Jer. xxii. 28. viii. 8. xlviii. 38. : they are likened to broken veffels, or potters veffels, to denote their great and irrecoverable diffress, so easily inflicted by God, Pfal. xxxi. 12. ii. 9. Ministers are chosen, but earthen vessels, appointed to hold the gospel, and publish it to others; but how mean and trail in themselves! and how often contemned by men! Acts ix. 15. 2 Cor. iv. 7. Women are weaker veffels; the strength of their body and the understanding of their mind are ordinarily inferior to those of men, x Pet. iii. 7. Mens bodies are called vellels; they are curioufly fashioned of God, to be the lodging of the foul and her furniture, If. lxvi. 20. 1 Theff. iv. 4. Jerusalem, and the country about, were made an empty veffel, when most of the inhabitants and wealth were destroyed or carried off by the Chaldeans, Jer. li. 34. To be emptied from vessel to vessel, is to be variously dittreffed, driven from one place or condition to another. Jer. xlviii. 11.

VESTMENTS; robes for the idolatrous priests; and the VESTRY was the place where they lay, and were put off and on. 2 Kings x. 22. A VESTURE is chiefly in upper tobe, Deut. xxii. 12. Christ's having his vesture dipt in blood, and inscribed with his name, King of kings, and Lord of Lords, imports, that, in conquering and destroying his enemies, he mightily shews his sovereign power and dominion, Rev. xix. 13. 16. God changes the heavens and the earth, and folds them up as a veflure or germent, when, at the end of the world, he lays afide their prefect form and gives them another, Pfal. cii. 26. Heb. i. 12.

3 X

VEX [530] VIN

VEX: to diffress one exceedingly, by provocation, frowns, torture. war, &c. Ezek. xxii. 7. Matth. xv. 22. Numb. xxxi. 2. Sinners vex and grieve the Spirit of God, when they rebel against his word, resist and quench his motions, and do what is detestable to him, If. lxiii 1. Lot vexed his own foul with the wickedness of Sodom, when he studied to be deeply burdened with, and grieved for the dishonour done to God, and the hurt done to their souls, by the same, 2 Pet. ii. 8.

VIAL: a kind of veffel: but whether wider or narrower at the top than at the bottom, I cannot certainly fay. Perhaps they were much of the form of the cenfers. I Sam. x. 1. The faints hearts are golden vials full of odours: being renewed after the image of God, th y are filled with the graces of the Spirit, an pour forth acceptable prayers and praifes for themselves and others, Rev. v. 8. The complete num ber of righteous and ruinous strokes for deltroying Antichrist, are called Seven golden vials full of the writh of God, given by one of the four beafts, to feven angels clothed in fine linen, clean and white, that they might, in their turn pour them out. According to the prayers and preaching of faithful ministers, and perhaps by their instigation, shall these plagues be gradually xecuted by instruments, just in their conduct, and powerful, courageous, and prudent and active, Rev. xv. 6. 7. xvi See Antichrist.

VICTORY; (1.) An overcoming of an enemy in battle. It is the Lord's, as e enables to gain it, and the praise of it ought to be ascribed to him, I Chron. xxix. 11. Christ's vidory, is his overcoming Satan, finishing fin, destroying death, and rendering the whole plan of our salvation successful, If. xxv. 8. Matth. xii. 2c. The saints vistory, is their overcoming the temptations of Satan, the power of fin, the finares of Antichrist, and the world; and the fear, hurt, and, in due time, the influence of death, Rev. xv. 2 1 Cor. xv. 57. (2.) The means of victory; so faith is our victory; i. e. the means of obtaining victory over the world in its various lusts and snares, 1 John v. 4. See CONQUER.

VICTUALS; meat and drink to live on, Gen. xiv. 11.

VIEW: to take a careful look of, Josh. ii. 7.

VIGILANT. See WATCH.

VII E; (1.10 of no value or worth, Deut. xxv. 3. Jer. xxix. 17. (2.) Bafe; corruptible, Phil. iii. 2. (3.) Contemped; diffressed, Lam. i. 11. 4.) Coarse; unclean; nastly, Jam. ii. 2. 5.) Unholy; very wicked and abominable, Rom. i. 26 Pfal. xv 4. xii. 8. VILFLY; in a contemptuous and difgractful manner, 2 Sam. i. 21.

VILLAGE; a small town without walls, Ezek. xxxviii. 1. In time of war, the inhabitants sometimes defert them, and flee into fortified cities, Judg v. 7.

VILLANY; words or works deceitful, diffioneft, or very wicked, If.

xxxii. 6. Jer. xxix. 23.

VINE; a wide spreading shrub, which bears the grapes out of which wine is squeezed. Vines are produced, either by layers or cuttings almost buried in the ground. There are about 20 kinds of vines, and all of them thrive belt in a fouthern, warm, and dry foil. They are eafily hurt by frost, by reason of their thin juice. A great deal of labour is necessary to cultivate vines; for their branches are fo weak, that they need to be propped by walls, trees, stakes, &c. Nor is their wood useful for any thing but the fire, if they are barren. Perhaps Noah was the first that cultivated vines and squeezed their grapes, Gen ix. 20. They were anciently very plentiful in Canaan, especially in the territory of Judah, Gen. xlix. 11.: and are at prefent plentiful in Italy, France, Spain, Portugal, &c. and fome are in England. Some vines bear very large clufters of grapes. That clufter which VIN [531] VIN

the Hebrew spies brought from E heal, was carried on a staff between two of them, Numb. xiii. 23.; and we read of clusters there, about 25 pounds weight. We read of a cluster in the east parts of Persia, that produced about three Scotch gallons of wine; and of another about three feet an I an half long. As the Hebrews were much employed about their vines and fig trees; their sitting under them, imported their tarety and prosperity, I Kings iv. 15. Mic. iv. 4. Zech. iii. 10. They had among them a will vine, which, of its own accord, grew by the way-fide, and which produced wild grapes, of a fourish and bitter talte, If v 4. The vine of Sodom, or those that grew near to the Dead fea, being impregnated with its nitre and fulphur, produced grapes as bitter as gall, Deut. xxxii 32. These were perhaps the fame as the wild gourds, 2 Kings iv. They had their cultivated vines often inclosed in a kind of garden and orchard, called VINEYARDS, that the vines might not be hurt by cattle. Near Joppa, they inclosed them with stone walls, to prevent the foxes or jackalls breaking into them, It. v. 1. Prov. xxiv. 31. A vineyard, if good, procured a yearly rent of 1000 shekels of silver, Is. vii. 23.; it required 2 o more, to pay the dreffers, Song viii 12. In these, the keepers and vine-dreffers laboured, planting, pruning, and propping the vines, and gathering the grapes. This was at once a laborious talk, and often reckoned a bafe one, 2 Kings xxv. 12. If. lxi. 5. Song i. 6. Some of the best vineyards were at En-gedi, or perhaps at Baalhamon, which might be not far diftant, Eccl. ii. 4. Song i. 14 vii. 1 . The cating up of vineyards, imports the spoiling men of the fruits of their ground, If. iii. 14. Samaria became a vineyard, when, being defolate, it became arable fields, Mic. i. 6. Good vineyards becoming fields of briers and thorns, denotes great detalation in the country, If. vii. 23. The gathering and treading of the grapes, was called the vin-TAGE; and when the crop was very large, it began in June, at the end of harvest, and continued till October, Lev. xxvi. 5. They generally had their tats or preffes for treading out the grapes, and fqueezing out the wine, without the city, Rev. xiv. 20. Of the juice of the squeezed grapes were formed The wines of WINE and VINEGAR. Helbon, near Damaseus, and of Lebanon, where the vines had a fine fun, were reckoned most excellent, Fzek. xxvii. 18. Hof. xiv. 7. The wires of Canaan being very heady, were ordinarily mixed with water for common ufe, as the Italians do theirs, and fometimes they feelited them with frankincenfe, myrrh, calamus, and other fpices, Prov. ix. 2. 5. Song viii. 2.: they alfo either fcented their wine with pomegranates, or made wine of their juice, as we do of the juice of currants, goofe berries, &c. fermented with fugar. When wine ferments exc: flively, and is in danger of renting the drongest cask, a little smoke of fulphur below it, or put into it, will flop it. Wine may be strengthened by causing it to freeze, and throwing away the icy part of it. Sour wine may be rectified, by mixing it well with a little of the tartarized spirit of wine. No Nazarite during his vow, or priest during his service at the sanctuary, was to drink wine, Numb. vi. 3. Lev. x. 7. Wine is bett, when old, and on the lees, the dregs having funk to the bottom; and is very useful for refreshing, stengthening, and cheering perfons; and in some dangerous diseafes, is useful in medicine. In the East, it is kept in jugs, and drunk in bowls. It is the first part of their entertainments, is poured out with great folemnity, and from veffel to veffel; and in fum= mer is cooled by their referved fnow. Sweet wine, is that which is pressed from grapesfully ripe Joeliii. 18. If.xlx. 26. Wine of violence, is that which is procured by oppression and robbery, Prov. iv. 17. Wine of the consemned, is that which is taken from, or procured at the expence of persons unjustly condemned, Amos ii. 8. The Hebrews had two kinds of VINEGAR; the one 2 X 2 was a weak wine, which they used for their common drink on harvest-fields, &c. as the Spaniards and Italians still do, Ruth ii. 14.; the other had a sharp and acid tafte like ours, and hence Solomon hints, that a fluggard vexes and hurts fuch as employ him in bufinefs, as vinegar is disagreeable to the teeth, and imoke to the eyes, Prov. x. 26.: and as vinegar poured on nitre spoils its virtue; fo he that fings fongs to an heavy heart, does but add to its grief, Prov. xxi. 20. Vinegar may be made of middling beer, masked with rape or hulks of grapes; after which the liquid part being casked, and the bunghole covered with a tile, and fet in a hot fun, it in about 30 or 40 days will be formed into vinegar. Malaga raifins masked with spring-water in an earthen jar, and fet in a hot fun three or four months, form vinegar. kind of wine mingled with its lees, or the fourish stalks of the grapes and pulverized tartar, and put into a vessel formerly scented with vinegar, will ferment anew, and become vinegar. the watery part were extracted from vinegar, it might be rendered fo throng, as easily to dissolve a large mass of iron.

VIN [532] VIN

Christ is likened to a vine, is called the true vine. Being planted and dreffed by his Father, how he spread and produced the truits of right-oufnefs! and being trodden in the wine-prefs of his Father's wrath, what fweet, nourishing, new, ever fresh. best, or on the lees, and mingled wine of complete righteousness, gospel promises, influences, and everlafting bleflings, are produced for weak, difeafed, and forrowful men! John. xv. 1. Prov. ix. 2.5. If. xxv. 6. lv. 1. Matth. xxvi. 29. The church is a VINEYARD; God the proprietor, first planted the Jews therein as his vine, and gave them his tabernacle or temple as their wine-press, and his oracles, ordinances, and bleffings. He let out this vineyard to their keepers, and fent the prophets, and at lad his Son, to demand their good fruits; but thefe being abused and maltreated, he gave their church-state to the Gentiles, and at different leafons of time and life calls men to labour init, If. v. 1.—7. Matth. xxi. 28.—45. Luke xiii. 6. 7. Matth. xx. 1.—16. It is a vineyard of red wine, kept and watered night and day by the Lord; amid bloody perfecutions and fore troubles, God by his preferring and actuating influences, causes his people bring forth the bell of fruits to his glory, and their own good, If. xxvii. 2. 3. It is a vineyard planted at Baal-hamon, Lord of the multitude, and let out to keepers, and for which Christ must have a thousand filterlings, and the dreffers 200. How rich its foil in the redeeming love of God! what multitudes enter into it! all which ought to give Jesus the chief honour, and his ministers their subordinate share; and each one ought to have his vineyard before him, watching over his heart and life, Song viii. 11. 12. i. 6. church is called a vine planted, protected, supported, and pruned by Jefus and his Father, how her faince flourish, and bring forth the fruits of righteoufnefs, acceptable to God and uleful to men! but how ready are Satan, indwelling lusts, and false teachers, like fo many foxes, to undermine her roots and spoil her growth! Song vi-11. ii. 15. Her tender grapes, are young converts, and the first motions of good works, which are eafily hurt; and her good grapes, are faints and their good works, excellent and useful, Song ii. 13. 15. vii. 12. The faints and their graces are connected with manifold preffures and fufferings, but as wine, are very delightful to Christ, and refreshful and strengthening to his people, Song. viii. 2. vii. 9. The wins and milk which Christ and his people feast on together, are the refreshful and throughhening promifes and bleffings of the gospel; or the faints graces, which are acceptable to him and delightful to themselves, Song v. 1. Sec Borrie. The Jews are likened to a vine or vineyard; God planted them a noble and choice vine, wholly a right feed; their ancestors being pious, and their original laws good, he protected, pruned, and dreffed, and caufVIN [533] VIO

ed them to spread by his kind providences; but through their apostafy and idolatry, they rendered themselves a barren and empty vine, bringing forth no good fruit; a degenerate plant of a frange vine, like other idolatrous nations; a wild vine, a vine of Sodom, bringing forth four grapes of gall, which produced wine like the verom of alps, wicked courses, very offensive to God, and in the iffue tending to fet their teeth on edge, bringing many and painful calamities upon them, Jer. ii. 21. 22. Pfal. Ixxx. 8. Ezek. xv. Hof. x. 1. If. v. 1.—7. Deut. xxxii. 33. Jer. xxxii. 29. Ezek. xviii. 2. Antichrist is the vine of the earth; the Popish state bears some resemblance to the true church, but spreads and bears fruits of error and corruption, hurtful to the fouls and bodies of men, as the fruit of wild vines is to the body; intoxicates and flupifies multitudes with the wine of her fornication, her fuperstition, idolatry, error, and profaneness; but at the end, in the vintage of God's judgements against her, shall these idolaters beterribly squeezed and preffed with diffrefsful and ruinous calamities, Rev. xiv. 18.19. 20. xvii. 2. 4.—The destruction of a nation, or army, or Christ's destroying his enemies in the wine-press of his wrath, is likened to a vintage, in which fometimes there are gleanings left, a fmall remnant spared; and sometimes the poor remains are gleaned, and put into the basket i. e. are dettroyed, or carried captive, If. lxiii. 1 .-- 4. Rev. xiv. 18. -2c. Zech. xi. 2. Lam. i. 15. If. xxiv. 13. Jer. vi. 9. xlix. 9. Obad. 5. Judges viii. 2. The Chaldeans are called grape-gatherers, as they deftroyed the nations, and carried them out of their own lands, Jer. xlix. 9. The outward comforts of a land are called avine, as these refresh and strengthen the inhabitants, Jer. xlviii. 33. Hof. ii. 9.; and their wine is mixed with water, when their ruler-, customs, ordinances, and bett people, are much corrupted and weakened, II. i. 22. Great calamities and fufferings appointed by God, and which diffurb mens ninds with anguish and horror, are called wine, Ptal. lx. 3. lxxv. 8. If. li. 17. 21. 22 Jer. xxv. 15. The wine wherewith Babylon made the nations drunk, was the judgements of God executed by the Chaldeans; or the idolatry and superstition into which they feduced them, Jer. li. 7. Rev. xvii. 2. Men shake off their unripo grape, when they are cut off by an unexpected stroke in the prime of their days, or amid the growth of their profperity; or when their wealth is taken from them, as they are bufy adding to it, Job xv. 33. After death, wicked men behold not the way of the vineyards; they lose all their wealth and pleasure, Job xxiv. 18. The fathers have eaten the four grape, and the children's teeth are set on edge; the parents finned, and their children are unjustly punished for it, Ezek. xviii. 2. God's judgements on men here, or in hell, which stupify and madden them, are called wine, and red or ftrong wine, wine mixed with spices, wine without mixture of water, and wine of afteniffment, Jer. xxv. 15. Pfal. lx. 3. lxxv 8. Rev. xiv. 10. His judgements are as four grapes ripening in the flower, when their execution is very near at hand, If. xviii. 5.

VINEGAR; VINEYARD; VIN-TAGE. See VINE.

VIOL; a musical instrument, Is.

VIOLATE; profanely to transgrefs, Ezek xxii. 26.

VIOLENT; (1.) Earnest to obtain what is necessary, Luke xvi. 16. (2.) Given to exercise unjust force, 2 Sam. xxii. 49. Violence, is, (1.) Earnel's endeavour: fo the kingdom of heaven Juffereth violence, and the vislent take it by force; men must strive to enter in at the ftrait gate, into a new-covenant flate, and by earnest diligence in holinefs, prepare for the heavenly glory. Matth. xi. 12. (2.) Outrageous force, Acts xxi. 25. xxvii. 41. (3.) Unjust and forcible harafling, hurting, opresting, and robbing of others, Flab. i. 2. 3. 9. ii. 8. (4.) What is got by oppression and robbery, Zeph. i. 19

VIP UNA

The violence of Lebanon, and spoil of beafts, which covered the Chaldeans, was their unjust and brutal murder, oppression and robbery of the Jews, which brought vengeance on their heads, Hab. ii. 1-.

VIPERS; a kind of ferpents, which are fearce ever above an ell long and an inch thick, and whose head is flat, and they have a incut like that of a pig. Whereas other ferpents have two rows of teeth, vipers have but one, confishing of fixteen small ones in each jaw; and at least the male vipers have two large teeth, which being raifed when they are angry, their bite diffils poifon into the wound. Their body is either of an ash or yellow colour, speckled with longish brown spots, and the fcales under their belly are of the colour of well polished steel. poifon is extremely dangerous, but their flesh, or broth made of it, is an excellent medicine in the more dangerous maladies, and is of use in forming the Venice treacle. The male viper is blacker than the female. females bring forth their young about 20 at a birth, and one day by day, wrapt up alive in small skins, which burd about the third day after, If. xxx. 6 .- The Pharifees, and other wicked men, are likened t · vipers; by their poilonous octrines, bad example, and fintal excitements, they effectually ruin the fouls of men: and by their angry malice they murder fuch as oppose them. Matth. iii. 7. Mens wicked and carnal devices and errors are faid to break out into a viper, when they iffue in the tormenting ruin of their projectors, or in the reproach and perfecution of fuch as ituoy to oppofe and cruth them, If. lix. 5. 7 he vipers tongue shall flay him; he shall die of a certain, sudden, and tormenting death, Job xx. +6.

VIRG N. Sec MAN.

VIRTUE; (1.) Efficacy for producing an effect. Mark v. 30. (2) A wonderful work, produced by dittin guished poter, Mattie, vii. + 2. (3.) Holinels of heart and practice. (4.)

Christian courage and boldness, 2 Pet. i. 3. 5. To be VIRTUOUS, is to be given to true goodnets in heart, speech, and behaviour, Ruth iii. 11.

VISAGE. See FACE.

VISIBLE; VISION. See SEE.

VISIT; (1.) To go to fee, and meet with, Acts viv. 23. xv. 36. In the East, visits are preceded by prefents; and ladies go to them attended by their maids in a folema proceffion. The perfuming of the vifitants wains them to depart. (2.) To take a view of, in order to redrefs grievances and do fervice: fo magistrates and ministers ought to vifit their people, Jer. xxiii. 2. God visits men, either in mercy, when he manifests his prefence, grants them their requests. delivers them from diffress, and upholds and comforts them, Zech. x. 3. Luke vii. 16. Gen. xxi. 1. 1 Sam. ii. 21.; or in wrath, when he visits their iniquities, in chastiting or punishing for them, Exod. xx. 5. Jer. vi. 6. If. xxvi-14. Ezek. xxxvni. 7. And hence vi-SITATION is. (..) Powerful and comfortable fellowship from God, Joh x. 12. 1 Pet. 11. 12; or, (2.) Punishment and affliction, Hof. ix. 7. Mic. vii. 4. Christ the day-spring from on high visits men, when he affumed our nature, and when he fends his word and Spirit, that we may have fellowthip with him, and thare of his bleffings, Luke i. S. To visit the fatherlefs and widow, or the fick and imprisoned members of Christ, is to thew them regard and pity, and to help them according to their need and our ability, Jam. i. 27. Matth. xxv.

ULAI, or Eulxus; a river of Perfia, near to the city of Shushan. on whose bank Daniel had his vision of the ram and he-goat, Dan. viii. 2. 16. Probably it is the fame with the Choalpes of the ancients, and the Caron of the moderns.

UNACCUSTOMED; not used to Jer. xxxi. 18. V. B. The prepofition un or in, prefixed to many words, figuities not only the absence of the quality imported by the separate or fimple word, but the prefence of con-

UNA [535] UNC

UNADVISEDLY; rashly, without deliberation, Pfal. evi 33.

UNAWARES; (1.) Secretly; un perceived, Jude 4. 2.) Suddenly; not expected, Pfal. xxxv. 8 Luke xxi. 34. 3. Without defign and intention, Numb. xxxv. 1 . UNBELIEF; diffruit of God's faithtulnels pledged in his declared promife- and threatenings; and particularly the diferedit of his gespel declarations, offering his Son to finners of mankind, even the chief; and which is a most horrid and damning crime, as it makes God a liar, blatphemes all his perfections, contemns and refuses Jetus and his whole falvation, and leads to other fins we believe the fin against the Holy Ghost to be any thing else, than unbelief carried to the highest degree, John xvi. 10. Heb. iii. 12. 1 John v. 10. 1. Heb. x. 26. - 31. Unbelief is either negative, in fuch as have not heard the gospel; and so Heathens are called unbelievers, or infidels, 1 Cor. vi. 6. 2 Cor. vi. 14.; or positive, in those unbelievers, who, though they hear the gospel, and profess to regard it, yet believe not with their heart the record of God, off ring his Son, and whole falvation, to them in particular, Luke xii. 46. Tit. i. 15. Rev. xxi. 8. Unbelief is either with respect to a particular declaration of God; as when Zacharias discredited God's promise of a son to him, Luke i. 20.; or univerfal, with respect to the whole declarations of God. - It is either partial, importing fome degrees of distrust, Mark ix. 24.; or total, where there is no trust at all, I Tim. i. 13. The Jews who came out of Egypt, could not enter into Canaun because of unbelief; on account of their distrusting of God's power and kindness, and of his promife to bring them in, and for their rebellion and murmuring, it was inconfiftent with the divine honour and purpose to admit them, Heb. iii. 19. Christ couls not do many mighty works in his own country, because of their un-relief: their diffruit and contempt of his miracles rendered them untit subjects to have miracles wrought upon or among them, Mark vi. 5. 6. The apolitles diffruit of Christ's promise of enabling them to cast out devils, rendered them incapable to cast one out, Mark xvii. 16.; and Peter's diftruft of his Mafter's power, occasioned his finking into the water, Matth. xiv. 30. 31. The unbelief for which the lews were broken off from their church-it te. was their diffruit of Christ's Messiahflup, their contem t and retufal of him, and their violent perfecution of his caute and members, Rom. xi. 20. Paul was forgiven his blaspnen y and perfecution of the faints, as he did it ignorantly and in unbelief, before he knew the truth concerning letus, or telt the drawings of his Spirit, Tim.

UNBLAMEABLE; UNREBUKE-ABLE, UNREPROVEABLE: Without Icandal; without faults that deferve to be reproved, or complained of, I Theffii. 12. 1 Tim vi. 14. Col i. 22.

UNCERTAIN; (1. Doubtful, that one knows not what is intended by it, 1 Cor. xiv. ... (2.) Changeable, that one knows not how fhort while a thing may endure or be pofteffed, 1 Tim. vi. 17. UNCERTAINLY; without knowing the means or end, or without any fecurity of obtaining it, 1 Cor. ix. 26

UNCHANGEABLE; that cannot be altered in itself, or which cannot país to anot er, Heb. vii. 24.

UNCIRCUMCISED. See cir-

CUMCISI N.

UNCLEAN. Perfons or things are uncican. (1.) Naturally: fo dunghills, and hateful animals are unclean. Rev. xviii. 2. (2. Ceremonially: fuch perfons as touched dead corptes, mourned for the dead, and a great number of bea s were thus unclean, N mb. xix. Lev. xii.—xvi. (3.) Federally: thus the children of Heathens are unclean; are not in covenant with God, nor entitled to receive the feal of baptim, 1 Cor. vii. 14. (4.) In ferupulous opinion: fo fome meats were reckoned

teckoned unclean by the primitive Christians, Rom. xiv. 14. (5.) Morally, being polluted with sin: so devils are unclean spirits, Matth. x. 1.; and all men are as an unclean thing, If. Ixiv. 6. Particularly sinners against the seventh commandment, which at once pollute both soul and body, are unclean, Eph. v. 5. Uncleanness. is either natural sithings, Matth. xxiii. 27.; or ceremonial, Lev. xv. 31.; or moral, i. e. all kinds of sin, Ezek. xxxvi. 29.; or whorish, Col. iii. 5. 2 Pet. ii. 10.

UNCLOTHED: fo our fouls are at death, when diffedged from our bodies, which are, as it were, a covering or robe to them, 2 Cor. v. 4.

UNCOMELY; (..) Not becoming, 2 Cor. vii. 37. (2.) Shameful: fuch parts of our body as are fo, have more abundant correlines put upon them, when we carefully cover them, 2 Cor. xii. 23.

UNCONDEMNED; not examined; not convicted, or found guilty,

Acts xvi. 37. xxii. 5.

UNCORRUPINESS; freedom

from error, Tit. ii. 7.

UNCOVER. See DISCOVER. UNCTION. See ANOINTING.

UNDEFILED; CLEAN. Christ is underled; is free from all fin, infinitely holy as God, and pertectly holy in his manhood, Heb. vii. 26. Saints are undefiled; are completely righteous in Christ, in his obedience and suffering imputed to them; and they aim at perfection in holiness, and are not polluted with fin in the same degree as others, Song v. 2. Psal. exiz. 1. Heaven is incorruptible and undefiled; great is the shining glory thereof, and every person and act there, are perfectly pure and holy, I Pet. i. 4.

UNDER; (1.) Below in respect of place: so things on the earth are under the sun, Judg. 1. 7. Deut. iv. 11. (2.) Below in respect of condition, state, power, authority: hence we read of being under sot, Rom. xvi. 20. Under sin, under the law, under grace, under the curse, i. c. under the impression, influence, and reign thereof, Rom. iii. 9. vi. 14. And men are under God, when fubject to his laws, Hof. iv. 12. Below in respect of protection: thus the faints are under the shadow, feathers, or wings of God in Chrift, Song ii. 3. Matth. xxiii. 37. Pfal. xci. 1.-3. (4.) Below in respect of effectual support; so the arms of God in Christ are under his people, to uphold them under every burden, Song viii. 3. Deut. xxxiii. 27. (5.) Ready to be brought forth: fo good and bad language is under the tongue, when in the heart, and ready to be uttered. Song iv. 11 Plat. cxl. 3.

To UNDERGIRD a ship, is to bind her round with ropes, that she may not be torn asunder, Acts xxvii.

UNDERSETTERS; a kind of fupporters or feet at the corners of the facred lavers, which, together with the wheels, held them up from the ground, 1 Kings vii. 30-34-

UNDERSTAND; to know things in a natural, fupernatural, or spiritual manner, 2 Sam. iii. 27. Gen. xli. 15. Dan. iv. 19. Pfal. exix. 160. I Cor. 11. 9 .- 14. Understanding, is (1.) Knowledge; wildom, Exod. xxxi. 3. Prov. ii. 2. 3. (2) The power or faculty of the foul, whereby, it perceives objects, Luke xxiv. 45. Eph. i. 18. A people of no understanding, are persons ignorant and unwilling to learn, If. xxvii. 11. My understanding is unfruitful; what I fay, however fenfible and well understood by me, is useless to others, if I speak it in an unknown tongue, 1 Cor. xiv. 4. To love God with the understanding or mind, is to love him judiciously, from a real and spiritual knowledge of his excellency and kindness, Mark xii. 33. A fool hath no delight in understanding but that his heart may discover itself: he is not earnest and diligent in the fludy of folid knowledge and wifdom; but his great study and pleasure is to vent his own foolifhacts, being flow to hear and fwift to speak, Prov. Xviii. 2.

UNDERTAKE &

UND [537] UNI

UNDERTAKE; (1.) To become bound, Eth. ix. 23. (2.) To fecure, fupport, and deliver, as a furety does, who engages for another, to get him out of prilon, Is. xxxviii. 14.

UNDO; to destroy; remove, Zeph. iii. 19. Is. lviii. 6. Undone, is, (1.) Not performed, Josh. xi. 15. (2.) Destroyed; ruined, Numb. xxi. 29.

If. vi. 5.

UNDRESSED, or feparated. The Hebrews did not dress their vines on the year of release, and so had no claim to their fruit, Lev. xxv. 5.

UNEQUAL; (1.) Contrary to what equity and reason requires, Ezek. viii. 25. (2.) Not right matched, as to religion, temper, and condition, 2 Cor. vi. 14.

UNFEIGNED; true and real; fincere, without diffimulation, 2 Cor.

vi. 6. 1 Tim i. 5.

UNFAITHFUL; not studying to fulfil vows, or act according to relations and trust, Prov. xxv. 19. Pfal.

lxxviii. 57.

UNFRUITFUL; barren; not tending to any good purpose, Matth. xiii. 22. (2.) Of no good tendency, but hurtful, defiling, and damning, Eph. v. 11.

UNGODLY; unlike to, and contrary to God's will and glory. Ungodly persons, are such as are without God as to their state, and unlike God in their heart and life, Rom. iv. 5. UNGODLINESS; wickedness in general, but particularly, it comprehends all fins against the first table of the law, as ignorance, atheism, idolatry, superstition, blasphemy, neglect of the worship of God, &c. Tit. ii. 11.

UNHOLY; (1.) Common, as the blood of a beatt unfacrificed. Men so account of Christ's blood, when they look on him as an impostor; or improve his righteousness to encourage them in sinful practices, Heb. x. 29. (2.) Not fanctified according to the ceremonial law, Lev. x. 10. (3.) Without faving grace; wicked, 2 Tim.

iii. 2.

UNICORN. What animal the REEM, which we render unicorn, is, Vol. 11.

whether the wild ox, the wild goat, or deer, or a creature called the unicorn, is not agreed. Many authors contend that there is no fuch creature as the unicorn: others, but more addicted to the marvellous, talk of the unicorn, as a most terrible creature, . with a prodigious horn in its forehead, which it can push through trees, and almost every thing else; but their descriptions are so different that I cannot rest in any of them. I have been told of an unicorn's horn in the British mufeum at London, about 10 or 12 feet long, and exceeding strong; but this, I suppose, must be the horn of a narval, or fea-unicorn, whose horn, I am assured, is sometimes 14 or 15 feet in length, and of which, it is faid, there is a whole throne made, in Denmark. It is certain the scripture reems are fierce, strong, and almost untaneable animals. I suppose the urus or wild ox, which is found in Arabia, Hungary, and many other places, is of that kind, or the rhinoceros, which is the strongest all four-footed beasts: and hath one, and fometimes two horus, growing on its nofe, about a yard or more in length. It is certain these animals are extremely strong, fierce, and untameable, and have large Men powerful and wicked are likened to unicorns: how herce. ftrong, and furious, are they! and how dangerous to others are the horns of their power! If. xxxiv. 7. Pfal. xxii. 21. Strength, as of an unicorn, is that which is very great, to defend one's felf and destroy enemies, Nunb. xxiii. 22. To have horns as of the unicorn, is to have great authority, power, and honour, Pial. xcii. 10. Deut. xxxiii. 17. To be delivered from the horns of the unicorn, is to be extricated out of the very greatest, nearest, and most dreadful dangers, Pfal. xxii.

UNITE; to join into one fellowfhip, &c. Gen. xlix. 6. Mens heart is united to fear God's name, when it is flrongly inclined to, and all its powers join together in the fear and fervice of God, with ardour and delight Pfal.

K lakanis

UNJ [538] UNR

Ixxxvi. 11. Unity: onenefs, whether of fentiment, affection, or behaviour, Pfal. exxxiii. 1. The unity of the faith, is an equal belief of the same truths of God, and a peffession of the grace of faith, in a fimilar form and degree, Eph. iv. 13. The unity of the Spirit, is that oneness between Christ and his faints, whereby the fame divine Spirit dwells in both, and they have fimilar dispositions and aims; and that oneness of the faints among themselves, whereby, being united to the same head, and having the same Spirit dwelling in them, they have the same graces of faith, love, hope, &c. and are rooted and grounded in the same doctrines of Christ, and have a mutual affection to, and care for one another, Eph. iv. 3.

UNJUST. See UNRIGHTEOUS.

UNKNOWN; (1.) Not known; what one is not acquainted with, A&ts avii. 23. (2.) Not famed or renowned. Paul and his fellow-preachers were as unknown to the world in their fpiritual flate and exercite, and were unapproved, unefteemed, and unfamed by carnal men; but well known and approved to God, Father, Son, and Holy Ghost, 2 Cor. vi. 9.

UNLADE; to put out or take off burdens or loading, Acts xxi. 3. UNLAWFUL; (1.) Not agree-

UNLAWFUL; (1.) Not agreeable to the moral law, 1 Pet. ii. 8. (2.) Not agreeable to the ceremonial law, Acts x. 28.

UNLEARNED perfons, are such as have had little instruction in science, Acts iv. 13.; or are little acquainted with the mind of God, and the teaching of his Spirit, 2 Pet. iii. 16. Unlearned questions, are such as minister no true and substantial knowledge, 2 Tim. ii. 23.

UNLEAVENED. See BREAD,

LEAVEN.

UNLOOSE; to bind; to tie, Mark i. 7.

UNMERCIFUL; cruel; without pity, Rom. i. 31.

UNMINDFUL; forgetful; unthanktul; regardlefs, Deut. xxxii. 18.

UNMOVEABLE; (1.) Firmly fixed, Acts xxvii. 41. (2.) Constant on the way of the Lord, not to be diverted or drawn afide by temptations and opposition, Cor. xv. 58.

UNOCCUPIED; not used for business or trade; not travelled in, for fear of enemies and robbers, Judg. v. 6.

UNPERFECT; wanting parts or digrees of folid substance or shape, Pfal. exxxix, 16.

UNPREPARED; not ready, 2

Cor. ix. 4.

UNPROFITABLE; useles; tending to no real advantage, but hurt, Job xv. 3. Wicked men are unprofitable, are spiritually rotten, and abominable to God, neither studying his glory, nor the real good of themfelves or others, Pfal. xiv. 3. Philem. 11. The ceremonial law was unprofitable; it could not really remove the guilt or power of fin by the observance of all its rites, Heb. vii. 18. The grieving of ministers is unprofitable to their people, as it mars their studies, and the discharge of their office; leads them out to complain of the injury to God, who will not fail to punish it, in this, or in the world to come, Heb xiii. 17.

UNQUENCHABLE; that can never be put out, and made to ceale from burning, Matth. in. 12.

UNREASONABLE; without and contrary to reason and common sense, Acts xxv. 27. Unreasonable men, are such as either know not, or regard not reason, but suriously act as their lusts excite them, 2 Thess. ii. 2.

UNREBUKEABLE; UNREPROVE-

ABLE. See UNBLAMFABLE.

UNRIGHTEOUS; unjust; without, or contrary to judice or equity, Heb. vi. 10 Unrighteousness; or what is unrighteous, is, either, (1.) What is contrary to the law of God in general, 1 Cor. vi. 9. 1 John i. 9.; or, (2.) What is contrary to the duty we owe to men, Rom. i. 8. Exod. xxiii. 1.; or, (3.) What is deceitful, falle, and erroneous, and unjuftly tends to mislead men, John vii. 18. Unjust, or unrighteous persons, are, (1.) Such as wrong their neighbours, as David's opposers, under Saul or Absalom, did him, Pial. xliii. 1.; or, (2.) Sinners.

UNR [530] UNW

in general, who wrong God of his due fervice and honour, and in his fight much wrong their neighbours, 1 Pet.

iii. 8

UNRULY, which cannot be brought under due order and government, but are as headthrong beaths, that cannot be got yoked; it is much the fame as children of Belial, Tit. i. 6. 10. 1 Theff.

UNSATIABLE; that can never get till they have what they reckon enough. The Jews were unfatiable in their idolatries, still following after the idols around, and still eager after new gods, Ezek. xvi. 18.

UNSAVOURY; tasteless; or ill tasted or smelled: it denotes, (...) What is void of sense, Job vi. 6. (2.) What is horrid and abominable, Jer. xxiii. 13.

UNSEARCHABLE: that cannot be fully known in number, properties, or extent: fo the heart, or fee et for emes of kings is unfearchable, hard to be known and pryed into. Prov. xxv. 3. But the riches of Chrift, the judgements of God, and his greatness, are much more fo, and cannot be fully underthood by any but God himself, Eph. iii. 8. Rom. xi. 53. Pfal. cxlv. 3.

UNSEE of: Y; (1.) Abominable what is not fit to be feen, heard, or thought of, Rom. i. 27. (2.) Unmannerly; indifferently, 1 Cor. xiii 5.

UN3HOD. With-hold thy foot from being unshow, and thy throat from thirst: Do not wear out your shoes going to seek foreign alliances and toreign idols: do not eagerly defire that which will issue in your future mitery, jer. ii. 25.

UNSKILFUL; without know-ledge and experience, Heb. v. 13.

UNSPE (KABLE; what cannot be expressed in words proportioned to its excellency and greatness, 2 Cor. ix. 15. 1 Pet. i. 8.

UNSPOTIED from the world; not defiled with the finful rathions of the world; without offence towards God and towards men, James i. 27.

UNSTABLE; not fixed in affection or condition; like a man upon one leg, who is easily overturned; or like a rolling wave of the feat offed to and fro, Ger. xlix. 4. James i. 8. 2 Pet ii. 14. iii. 16.

UNSTOPPED; opened, If. xxxv.

5.

UNTEMPERED: not duly mixed and wrought together. The flatteries of falle teachers are like mortar made of fand not mixed or wrought with line; and hence all the wall like fehemes they build therewith shall quickly come to an end, Ezek. xiii. 10, 15, xxii. 28.

UNTHANKFUL having no proper fense of kindness received from God or men; indisposed to, and negligent of rendering thanks, Luke vi-

35-

UNTIMELY; not in the proper featon. Wicked men pass away like an untimely birth, which happens too foon, and so the embryo or child is imperfect; their ruin comes on them suddenly, ere they expect it, and ere they get time to enjoy their honour, case, or wealth. Ptal. lviii. 8. The Heathen persecutors are likened to untimely sign, that fall off the tree ere they be ripe: they were destroyed by Constantine ere they expected it, Rev. vi. 13.

UN FOWARD; perverse; rebellious against the calls of the gospel and the language of providence: such were the Jews, who contemned, opposed, and crucified our Saviour and persecuted his followers, Acts in 40-

UNWALLED; without walls built around them for their defence,

Ezek. KXXVIII. 11.

UNWISE; (1.) Such as never learned tenences, Rom. i. 14. (2.) Foolith, without the true knowledge of G d and his ways. Eph. v. 17.

UNWITTINGLY; (1) Without intending it, Joth. xx. 3. (2.) Not knowing it, Lev xxii 14.

UNWORTHY; not meet; not deferving, 1 Cor. vi. 2. The Jews judged themselves unworthy of everlasting life, when they acted as if ict upon running therefores, Acts x-11, 46. Men eat and drink unworthily a the

3 Y 2 Lord's

VOC 540 UPH

Lord's table, when they do it in an unworthy state of voluntary subjection to fin and Satan, and while under the broken law; in an unworthy frame of spirit, ignorant, unbelieving, impenitent, envious, malicious; and with an unworthy end of self-appleuse, self-righteousness, or to quality for a civil post; and when the elements are used as if they were common provision, not as the symbols of Jesus's person, righteousness, and blessings, a Cor. xi. 27,

VOCATION; that effectual calling, whereby God brings men out of a flate of fin and mifery, into a flate of falvation, by his word and Spirit,

Eph. iv. 1.

VOICE, in general, figuifies any kind of noise, whether made by animals or not. God's voice is, (1.) The thunder, which is very terrible, and lourly acclares the existence and providence of God, Pfal. xxix.; or, (2.) His laws and the offers of his grace, in which he declares his will to men, Exed. xv. 26.; or, (3.) His alarming providences, wherein he publishes his own excellencies, awakens us from our stupidity, and calls us to turn from our in to duty, Mic. vi. 9. Amos i. 2. Chrift's voice is the declaration of his gospel, and the influence of Lis Spirit, Song ii. 8. 12. Mens voice, denotes their words of command, instruction, and advice, Judg. xx. 13. xiii. 9. 1 Sam. ii. 25. xix. 6. One changes his voice, when, from fharp reproofs, he turns to commendation and comfort, Gal. iv. 20. Voices in the Revelation, denote, (1.) The glorious and loud proclamation of the gospel, by the authority of God, Rev iv. 5. xi. 19.; or. (2.) The aftonishing events of Providence, that rouse and alarm the world, Rev. viii. 5. 13. x 3., or, (3.) The great joy of the faints, and their praises of God, for his deliverance of the church, and the reltruction of her chemies, Rev xi. 15. To mark John Baptift as me the true Messiah, but a pror I his apprarance, he is calvotce, II. xl. 6. Terrible outcries from cities, which use to attend the approach of a furious enemy towards them, are called a voice, If. x. 30. The ceasing of the voice, or sound of harps, mirth, milftones, and of the light of candles, &c. import, that the place is reduced to defolation, If. xv. 1. Jer. vii. 34. xlviii. 33. Rev. xviii. 22. 23.

VOID; (1.) Empty, without inhabitants or furniture, Gen. i. 2. (2.) Destitute of; quite wanting, Deut. xxxii. 28. (3.) Clear from, Acts xxiv. 16. (4.) Of no force or effect: hence vows are faid to be made void, when they are broken, Numb. xxx. The counfel of Judah was 12.--15. made void, when their projects had no good fuccels. Jer. xix. 7. God's law is made void, when men break it, and live as if it had no obligation upon them, Rom. iii. 31. Pfal. cxix. 126.; and faith is made void, when it is useless, as all the promises of God, and our faith that embraces them would be, if happiness could come by the works of the law, Rom. iv. 14.

VOLUME. See ROLL.

VOLUNTARY; not required by any law; but proceeding from one's free inclination, Ezek. xlvi. 12. Col. ii. 18.

VOMIT. See SPUE. VOW. See OATH.

UPBRAID; (1.) Seriously and sharply to reprove men for their faults; so our Saviour upbraided the people of Capernaum, Bethsaida, and Chorazin, for their faults, Matth xi. 20. (2.) To scoff and scold at one to his sace, Jam. i. 5. Judg. viii. 15.

UPHAZ; a place where there was fine gold; but whether it was the fame as OPHIR, or fome other place called PAZ or TOPAZ, we know not. Calmet thinks it was the river Phasis on the east of the Black or Euxine fea, Jer x. 9. Dan. x. 5.

UPHOLD; to MAINTAIN and preferve; to cause things continue in their being and station. God upholds Christ and his people: by his providences, he strengthens and bears them up against every soe and under every

UPP 541 URI

every pressure; and by his promises and influences he refreshes and invigorates their fpirits, If. xlii. 1. Pfal. exix. 16. He upholds all things, maintains them in existence and operation, by his providential influences, Heb. i. 3. Men uphold others, when they encourage, comfort, and affift them, that their spirits fink not, nor their lives, offices, or estates be ruined, Pfal. liv. 4. Ezek. xxx. 6. Job's maintaining his ways before God, imports his defending of his integrity and candour, and his continuance therein, Job xiii.

UPPERMOST; (1.) Highest in place, Gen. xl. 17. (2.) Highest in dignity and honour, Matth. xxiii. 6.

UPRIGHT; (1.) Straight pointed towards heaven; standing like pillars, Jer. x. 5. (2.) Perfect; without fin, or tendency thereto, Eccl. vii. 29. (3.) Honeit, candid, fincere, without allowed guile, Mic. vii. 2. The Jews might be the upright ones, that attended Antiochus the Great to Egypt, and adhering to their own religion, were more to be trufted than others; or the text may import, that Antiochus did many things upright in appearance, and made agreements on terms feemingly right, Dan. xi. 17. Jesus's righteousness is called his uprightness, Job xxxiii. 27.

UPROAR. See TUMULT.

UR; an ancient city of Chaldea or Mesopotamia, where Terah and Abraham dwelt. Some think it was the fame as Orchoe in proper Chaldea: but I rather suppose it was Ura, which stood in Eastern Mesopotamia, between the city Nifibis and the river Tigris. About A. D. 360, as Jovinian retreated this way, after the mad invalion of Persia by Julian his predecessor, he found a Persian fort here, Acts vii. 2. Gen. xi. 28.

URGE; (1.) To entreat earnestly, Gen. xxxiii. 11. (2.) To provoke to the utmost of one's power, Luke xi. 53. URIAH, URIJAH, URIAS; (1.) An Hittite, one of David's worthies, and husband of BATHSHEBA.

The defilement of his wife by David, and the calling him from the army, and endeavouring to fill him drunk, and cause him sleep with his wife, in order to father the fourious child; and his refiftance of thefe temptations, and being made the carrier of a letter directing to murder himfelf; his death, and the vengeance of God upon David and his family on account of his conduct towards him, are related in the article David. 2 Sam. xxiii. 30. xi. The idolatrons high prieft, who, at AHAZ's direction, formed an altar like to another idolatrous one at Damafcus, and offered facrifices thereon, inthead of the altar of the Lord, 2 Kings xvi. 10. 11. 12. (3.) A faithful prophet, who warned the Jews of their approaching ruin, and admonished them to repent of their evil ways; but JEHOIAKIM hearing thereof, resolved to put him to death. He fled into Egypt, but Jehoiakim sent brought him back, and having ordered him to be murdered, caused his corpfe to be dishonourably cast into the graves of the common people, Jer. XXVII. 20. 21.

URIM and THUMMIM, fignify lights and perfections, and are mentioned as in the high priest's breast-plate; but what they were we cannot determine. Some think they were two precious stones added to the other twelve, by the extraordinary luftre of which, God marked his approbation of a defign, and by their dimnefs, his difallowance of it: others think, thefe two words were written on a precious stone, or plate of gold, fixed in the breaft-plate: others will have the name Jehovan interibed on a plate of gold, and therein fixed; others think, the letters of the names of the tribes, were the Urim and Thummim; and that the letters by flanding out, or by an extraordinary illumination, marked fuch words as contained the answer of God to him who consulted this oracle. Le Clerc will have them to be the names of two precious stones, fet in a golden collar, and coming down to his breaft, as the magistrates of Egypt wore a golden chain, at the end of which hurg the figures of justice and truth, engraven on pre cious stones. Weems thinks they were fome ornament formed by God himself, and given to Moses. ger thinks they might mean no more, but that Moses was to chuse the most sheing and perfect stones of the various kinds to be put into the breaft-plate. Prideaux thinks, the words chiefly denote the clearness of the oracles dictated to the high-prieft, though prehaps the lustre of the stones in his breast plate might represent this clear. When this oracle of Urim and Thummim was to be confulted, it is faid, the high priest put on his golden veilments, and in ordinary cases went into the fanctuary, and flood with his face to the holy of holies, and the confulter flood as near him as the law allowed: but how the answer was given, whether by an articulate voice from the mercy-feat, or by the outstanding or lastre of the letters in the breatt plate, we know not. racle was never consulted in matters of faith; as in thefe the Jews had the written law for their rule: nor was it confulted in matters of small moment; and it is even faid, I suppose without ground, that none but fovereign judges, kings, and generals, confulted it. It is certain David confulted the Lord in this manner before he came to the throne. While Moles lived there was no occasion to consult this oracle, as the Lord spake to him face to face. After his death, it was confulted till the age of the temple and prophets, the latter of which feem to have supplied its room; for we read not of one fingle instance of the then consulting it. Nor did Josiah, when terrified with the threatenings of God, confultit, but Huldah the prophetess, in order to know the mind of God, 2 Kings xxii 14. Josephus will have the stones of the Urim and l'hummim to have retained their lustre till about A. M. 3890; but it is certain the oracle was wanting some ages before, in the days of Ezra and Nehemiah, Ezra ii. 63. Neh.

URI [542] USU

vii. 65. Nor do I know of the least ground to believe that it existed under the second temple. The Jews pretend, that the Batheol supplied its place, whose oracles, they say, were often attended with a clap of thunder; and it seems, those with our Saviour imagined the voice that spake from heaven to be of this kind, John xii. 29. See ORACLE.

US. God fometimes uses this plural, to denote there being more than one person in the Godhead, Gen. i.

26. xi. 7. If. vi. 8.

USE; (1.) Service; purpose. Lev. vii. 24. (2. Cultom; often repeated exercise, Heb. v. 14. And to use, is to make use of; act with; employ one's self in, Matth. vi. 7. 2 Cor. i. 17.

USURP; haughtily to claim, or take possession of power and authority which doth not belong to us, 1 Tim.

ii. 12.

USURY; the gain taken for the loan of money or wares. The law of nature forbids not the receiving of moderate interest for the loan of money, any more than the taking of rent for the leafe of fields or houses. If another trade on my flock, reason says, I may receive part of the gain. interest, however, ought to be moderate; and if the borrower is a very poor man, ought to be little or nothing at all, as reason requires us to be compassionate, and the divine law requires us to do to others, as we incline they should doito us in like cases. If Providence frown upon the fe persons who have our money in loan, it is proper we should willingly share with them in their lofs, as well as we would wish to do in their profit. As the Jews had very little concern in trade, and fo only borrowed in case of necessity, and as their fystem was calculated to establish every man's inheritance to his own family, they were allowed to lend money upon usury to strangers, Deut. xxiii. 20.; but were prohibited to take usury from their brethren of Ifrael, at least if they were poor, Exod. xxii. 25. Lev. xxv. 35.-37.

UTT [543] UZZ

To UTTER; (1.) To reveal; speak out; declare, Lev. v. 1. (2.) To make plain, Heb. v. 11. God utters judgements, when he threatens and executes them on men, Jer. 1. 6. And UTTERANCE, is ability, freedom, and boldness in speaking, Acts ii. 4. Eph. vi. 19.

UTTER OF OUTER, (I.) Most outward, Ezek. x. 5. (2.) Complete, to the utmost extent, I Kings xx. 42. And fo UTTERLY, is altogether; wholly, Exod. xvii. 14.: or very much, Ezek. xxix. 10. Pfal. cxix. 8. UT-TERMOST, OF UTMOST, is, (1.) The most outward, Exod. xxvi. 4. (2.) Farthelt distant; to the greatest extent, 2 Kings vii. 5. (3.) The verv last, Matth. v. 26. Christ saves to the uttermost; he saves certainly, wholly, fully, perfectly, and perpetually : or he, by an infinite price, faves from infinite guilt, pollution, and mifery, and brings to the highest degrees of happinels, and preferves therein to all eternity, Heb. vii. 25. Wrath came upon the lews to the uttermost: their ruin was wide-spread, almost universal in extent, most terrible in degree, and lasting in duration, 2 Thest. ii. 16. To know the uttermost of a matter, is to know it completely, in all its points and circumstances, Acts xxiv.22.

VULTURE; a large fowl of the eagle kind. There are fix kinds of vultures. Their neck is long and almost bare of feathers; and their legs are feathered to the feet, on each of which they have four toes, three forward, and one backward. They build their nests in high rocks, and are said to live about 100 years. They have a very quick fight, haunt defolate places, and delight to feed on human fleth; but feed on nothing living. It is faid, they at tend armies, expecting death and blood, and fmell carrion at the diffance of 50 miles. They are faid to be great enemies to ferpents, and to feed their young with their own blood, in cale of necessity, Lev. xiv. 14. Deut. xiv. 13. Job xxviii. 7. Ifa. xxxiv. 15.

UZ; (1.) The eldest fon of Aram, and grandson of Sham, Gen. x. 23.

(2.) The fon of Dithan an Horite, Gen. xxxvi. 28. (3.) A country; but where, is not fo well agreed. Some have placed it at the fource of the Hiddekel or Tigris, where Pliny and Strabo place the Uxii: and here perhaps Uz the fon of Aram refided. The Hebrews call the country about Damaseus, the land of Uz, and the Arabs call it Gant or Gauta which is the fame. We are, moreover, told, that Uz the fon of Aram built Damafeus. Boshart, the authors of the Universal History, and others, place the land of Uz a good way to the fouth-east of Damaseus, and almost ftraight east from the lot of the Reubenites, and west from Chaldea, in Arabia the Defert. This, they think, received its name from Huz, the son of Nahor the brother of Abraham a and hereabouts Ptolemy places the Æfitæ or Aufitæ. This Spanheum an 10thers reckon to have been the country of Job, as it was near the Chaldeans, Job i. 1. 17. I suppose there was another land of Uz, in the territories of the Edomites, which had its name from Uz the Horite. Nay, the Arabian writers fay, that the Adites, defeended of Uz the fon of Aram, refided here for fome time before they removed into Arabia Felix. Lam iv. 21.

UZAL, the fixth fon of Joktan, whose posterity appear to have settled in the south of Arabia Felix. Here was anciently the sea port Ocila or Ocelis and Ausal or Ausar, in the kingdom of the Gebanites whose myrrh was very much celebrated. Some Jewish writers call the capital city of Yaman, or Arabia Felix, by the name of Uzal. Ger. x 27.

UZZAH and AHIO, the fons of Abinadab, in whose house the ark of God had long resided, at David's orders, conducted it, upon a new cart, from Kirjathjearim to Jerusalem. When the oxen stuck in the mire, or stuckled as they passed the threshing-flor of Nachon or Chilon, Uzzah, though no priest, and perhaps not a Levite, presumed to touch the ark. In outer to hold it on the gart. Offended that the ark was not carried on the shoulders of the Levites, according to order, and offended with Uzzah's prefuming to touch it, and perhaps also for his advising to convey it on a cart, God struck him dead on the spot, to the no small grief and terror of King David: 2 Sam. vi. Whether it was in a garden which belonged to this Uzzah, that King Amon was buried. we know not 2 Kings xxi. 26.

UZZ UZZ

UZZENSHERAH; a city of the Ephraimites, and at no great distance from Beth-horon, was built by Serah, the daughter or grand-daughter of Beriah, 1 Chron. vii. 22 .- 24.

UZZIAH, or Ozias. See Aza-RIAH the fon of Jotham.

WAF

WAFER; a thin cake of fine flour, anointed or baken with oil. Such wafers were used in the confecration offerings of the priefts, Exod. xxix. 2. 25.; and in meat-offerings, Lev. ii. 4.; and in thank-offerings, Lev. vii. 12.; and in the Nazarites offerings, Numb. vi. 15.

WAGGING of the head or hand, imported mocking and infult, Jerxviii. 16. Zeph. ii. 15.

WAGES. See REWARD.

WAIL; to mourn, by crying, howling, wringing the hands, or beating the breaft, thighs, or the like, Ezek. xxxii. 18.

WAIT: (1.) To attend, as ready to serve, Numb. viii. 24. (2.) Patiently to staj, desiring and looking for, Gen. xlix. 18. God waits to be gracious; he patiently bears with finners; with delight and readiness he feizes the first proper opportunity of bestowing his favours on his people, and defers them till that come, If. xxx. 18. Our waiting upon God, imports our attendance on him as a Mafter, being ready to ferve him; and our patient and carnest looking to him as a Saviour for deliverance and comfort, Pfal. xxv. 3. Job's neighbours waited for him: they highly efteemed him, and were ready to receive his counsel, Job xxix. 21. quait, is to lie hid in order to feize an opportunity of affaulting: and thus words of the wicked are to lie in wait for rhood; they tend to ruin men before they are aware: but the mouth or words of the upright tend to deliver men, Prov. xii. 6. Wicked men lie in wait for their own blood, as all their crafty and violent schemes tend to hasten ruin on their own head, Prov. i. 19. They are waited for of the fword; are in perpetual danger of distress and ruin, Job xv. 12.

WAL

WAKE; (1.) To watch without fleep, natural or spiritual, Psal. exxvii-1. Song v. 2. (2.) To rife from fleep, Pfal. exxxix. 18. (3.) To stir up; rouse from sleep or slumber, Zech. iv. 1. (4.) To stir up to war, Joel iii. 9. 12. God avakened Christ morning by morning; by the continued influences of his Spirit, he rendered him alert and active in his work of obedience and fuffering, If. 1.4. Whether the faints wake or fleep, i.e. whether they live or die, they live together with Christ, 1 Thess. v. 10. See AWAKE; SLEEP.

WALK; (1.) With pleasure to move from one place to another, Exod. xxi. 19. (2.) To act and behave in the tenor of conversation: and when thus metaphorically taken, WALKING denotes deliberation, pleafure, perseverance, and progress. God's or Christ's walking in his church, or among his people, imports his gracious presence with them, his constant delight in them, his obtervation of them, and readiness to do them good, Lev. xxvi. 12. Rev. ii. 1. His walking on the waves of the Jea, and the wings of the wind, denotes the uncontroulable fovereignty, speed, composure, and mysterious nature of his providential conduct, Job ix. 8. Pfal. xviii. 10. His walking in the circuit of heaven, imports the immenfity of his prefence, Job xxii. 14.: but his wasking contrary to men, imperts as thwarting their purpoles and attempts, and his executing his judgements upon them. L.v. xxvi. 24. To wilk in Chry?, is, being united to his perfent clothed with his righteonfnefs, and animated by his inawelling Spirit, and improving him as our wif dom, righteoufnels, fanctification, and redemption, to make daily advances in holinels, and nearnels to heaven, with proper compoure and delight, Col. ii. 6. To wath in and after the Spirit, is, having the Holy Ghoth dwelling in our foul, and being poffelled of a new nature, and directed, animated, encouraged, and drawn by the Holy Ghoil, to order our whole conversation according to his word and influence, and agreeably to the inclinations of the new heart, Gal. v. 21. Rom. viii. 1. To realk by faith, is, relying upon Christ as freely and fully gifted to us in the gospel, and firmly crediting the accomplishment of the promifes, and receiving out of Chrift's fulness thereby grace for grace, to make a composed progress in holinefs, and towards eternal glory, 2 Cor. r. 7. To walk with the Lord, before God, and after the Lord, or in his name, is to hear and believe his word, depend on him, and in the study of intimate fellowship with him, and under a continued impression of his presence to worthip, obey, and pleafe him, Gen. v. 24. xvii. 1. Hof. x. 12. Zech. st. 12. To walk in the truth, or in God's fear, way, or commandments, is with composure to persevere in the profession, faith, and practical improvement of the gospel of Christ, and to live in a course of obedience to his law, 2 John 4. Deut. v 33. 2 Chron. avii. 4. To walk in the light, or in the light of God's countenance, is to enjoy the oracles and influences of Christ, and improve them to promote a life of upright conformity to the command and example of Christ, Is. ii 5. 1 John vi. 7. To walk in the comforts of the Hol, Ghoft, is habitually to enjoy them Ver. II.

the

WAL [545] WAL

in a very high degree, Acts ix. 31. To walk worthy of the Lord, is to behave with pleafure and composure, as perfons redeemed by, called to, united with, and receiving influence from, and in subjection to the holy Jesus, who left us an example, that we frould walk in his steps, Col. i. 10. 1 Theff. ii. 12. To walk worthy of our vecation or calling out of the world, into the fellowitip of God's Son, is, denying ungodfiness and worldly lufts, to live foberly, righteoufly, and godly in this present world, Eph. iv. 1. To walk as men, is to behave like the carnal and unregenerate part of the world, 1 Cor. iii. 3. To waik after the flesh, or after lufts, is to be directed and influenced in our practice by the lufts, appetites, and inclinations of our corrupt nature, Rom. viii. 1. 1 Pet. iv. 3. Jude 16. To walk in darkness, in falsehood, and craftiness, is to live in an unregenerate state, and with a mind ignorant of divine things, and with pleafure to proceed on in more and more lying, deceit, or other wicked courfes, 1 John i. 6. 2 Cor. iv. 2. And falle prophets walk in the spirit and falsehood, when, pretending to have the spirit of God, and being instigated by the devil, they prophely fallely to the people, Mic. ii. 11. To walk in the way of the people of Judah, was to relish their forfaking of the Lord, and their depending on the Affyrians and Egyptians for help, If viii. Men walk through fire and water, when they pais through great dangers and troubles, If. xliii. 1. Pial. lxvi. 12. The King of Tyre walked in the ridf! of flones of fire; he was furrounded with honours; his very garments and palace were hung, or fet thick with shining and sparkling gems, Ezek. Azviii. 14.

WALL, ferves for defence, and for divition of things, Josh. ii. 15. Numb. xxii 24. Hence God and his falvation are a wall, and wall of fire, to the church, whereby the is protected from all danger. Zech. ii. 5. If. xxvi. 1. Ezek. xl. &c.: and the government, fafety, and itrength of a church or nation, are represented as their way, Pfal li. 8. If. v. 5. Rev. xxi. 2. Ez k. x1. &c. The church is likened to a wall, to denote her fure foun dation, her firm union of members among themselves and with Christ; her exposure to trouble, and her ability from Christ, to bear the affaults of enemies, Song viii. 9. 10. Great men are likened to walls; they are eminently instrumental in the protection and safeguard of a nation, Is. ii. 15.; and Davi! and his men were as a wall to protect Nabal's flocks from the Arabs and wild beatts, I Sam. xxv 16. Jeremiah was like a fenced brazen wall; God enabled him courag oully to declare the truth, and preferved him amidst all the attempts of his enemics, Jer. 1. 18. xv. 20. The ceremonial law was a wall of partition, that fo feparated between the Jews and Gentiles, that few of the latter entered the church during its obligation. Eph. ii. 14.: and our fins are as a wall that interrupt our fellowship with Christ, Song ii. .. The Chaldeans were like a wall of iron round about Jerufalem; they, in a bold and determined manuer, laid fiege to it, till they had taken it, Ezek. iv. 3. Wicked men are like a bowing wall their ruin proceeds from themfelves, and is very fudden and dreadful, Pfal. lxii. 3. Jerufalem was inhabited without walls, when it had full peace, and its suburbs were large, Zech. ii. 4. In that day thy walls are to be built shall the decree for repairing it be published, and the decree against it be far removed, or hindered. Mic. vii. 11. compare Ezra i. vi. Neh. ii. Violence and strife go about on the walls of a city, when they are openly practifed. and even by those that ought to defend and protect men, Pfal. lv. 10.

Z nation

WAL [546] WAR

WALLOW; to roll or turn from one fide to another, Mark ix. 21.

WANDER; to travel hither and thither, without knowing where to go, Jer. xlix 5. Apostasy from the worship and ways of God, and following after idols, are called a wandering, Psal. cxix. 10. Jer. iv. 10. David's wanderings, are either his removals from place to place, or his diverlified affictions, Pial. Ivi. 8. He that quandereth out of the way of understanding, shall remain in the congregation of the dead: he that lives in ignorance and wickedness, and thuns the reans of reformation, thall continue among the unregenerate, dead in trespasses and fins; and faints who stray from the paths of duty, shall much resemble sinners, Prov. xxi. 16. The Chaldean armies are called wanderers. as they went from one country to another in their ravages and wars. Jer. xlviii. 12. Those in captivity and exile, are wan terers, driven hither and thither, and know not where they must go, Hof. ix. 11. Ezek. xxxiv. 6. If. xvi. 2. 3.

WANT, denotes either, (1. The entire lack of a thing, Deut. xxviii. 57.; or, (2.) Penury; fearcity, Mark xii. 44.; and it either respects the wants of soul or body. Prodigal sinners are said to begin to be in quant, when God, by distress and conviction, renders them sensible of their need of Christ, and his salvation, and pained for the want of

it, Luke xv. 4

WAN ON, LASCIVIOUS; light: disposed to unchastity, Jam. v. 5. Wanton eves, are such as, by their air of lightness, tend to entice others to unchastity, Is. iii. 16. To wax wanton against Christ, is, contrary to their Christian profession, to become light, and disposed to unchastity, 1 Tim. v.

Wantonness, or Lasciviousness, includes every thing tending to promote or fulfil fleshly lutts; and to give over one's telf to it, is to delight in, and practife it, without shame or remorfe, Matth. xv 19. Rom. xiii. 13. Gal. v. 19. Epn. iv. 19. To turn the grace of tot into lasciviasses, is to improve his kindness, declared in the gospel, to encourage one's telf in whorish an! light conduct, Jude 4.

WAR, WARFARE. See FIGHT. In their wars, the Arabs and some other castern nations, cut down corn and trees, 2 Kings iii. 19. 25 And foldiers carry along their whole samilies with them, but can scarce begin their war till October,

WAR $\mathbf{W} \mathbf{A} \mathbf{S}$

tober, on account of the heat of fummer, 2 Sam. xi. 1.

WARD; t.) A prifon, Gen. xl. 3.-7. (2.) Watch; garrison, Neh. xii. 25. 1 Chron. xii. 29. (3) A class of persons that serve together at a time, as foldiers on a watch: fo the classes of the prietts and fingers are called wards, Neh. xiii. 30. | Chr. n xxv. 8. The fingers and porters kept the ward of their (rod, and the award of purification: the fingers attended the ler vice of the temple in their turns; and the porters took care that no unclean person should enter by the gates to defile the court. Neh. xii. 45.

WARDROBE; a place for laying up the royal and other garments be longing to the court; or for laying up the priefts robes who were officiating in the temple. 2 Kings xxii. 14.

To be WARE, is to get notice of a thing, and prunently prepare for or shun it, Matth. xxiv. 50. Acts xiv. 6.

WARE, WARES; (1.) Merchant goods, fuch as precious flones cloth, corns, &c. (2.) What the Antichrif tians pretend to fell for money, as maffes, pardons, indulgences, &c. Rev. xviii. 12. The Jews gathering up wares out of the land, imports their carrying their moveable effects into Jerutalem, to tecure them from the Chaldeans: or that they should be quickly obliged to leave their country. Jer. x. 17.

WARM; (1) Moderately hot, 2 Kings iv. 34. (2.) Clothed, Jam. ii. 16 Job xxxi. 20. What time the Arabian rivulets wax warm, they vanish away; i. e. they are dried up in the heat of fummer, Job vi. 17.

WARN; to advertise of danger; and beforehand advise and admonish how to avoid fin, or perform duty, or obtain fafety, Acts xx. 31. x. 22. Heb.

xi. 6.

WASHING was much used among As they often the eaftern nations. walked barefoot, or only with fandals, they used, for cleanliness and refreshment, to wath their feet when they came from a journey. Gen. xviii. 4. xxiv. 32. xiiii. 24. Ordinarily, fervants washed the feet of those of the family: only, daughters often washed the fort of their parents. To w. Sh the faint feet, therefore, implied much numility or kindness, 1 Tim. v. 10. What love and condeteension it then shewed in our Saviour, to wash his disciples feet! John xiii. .. - 8. The superstitions Jews washed their hands up to the elbows before they took their meals, and even washed their beds whereon they fat at meat, and their tables, Mark vii. 3. 4. At the marriage of Cana, the guests had pots full of water fer to wash in as they entered, John ii. 6. The ceremonial walking o' clothes and flesh, imported our washing the garments of our converfation in the blood and righteoulness of Christ, depending on that to cover all our spots of life, and be our only ground of acceptance before God, and our being influenced thereby to repent of our fin, and turn from it to God, Exod. xix. 10 Rev. vii. 14. All the washings of priests and facrifices, figured out the spotless purity of Christ, and our justification, and fanctification by his blood and Spirit, Heb. ix. c. G.d's or Christ's avalhing of men, imports his removal of their fiulul guilt and pollution, by the application of the word, blood, and Spirit of Chrift, John xivi. 8. If. iv. 4. Pfal. li. 2. . And baptism washes away fin, as it represents, seals, and applies the blood and Spirit of Jefus Christ, for the removal of the guilt, power, and pollution of fin, which is called the washing of regeneration, Acts xxii, 16. Tit. iii. 5. Mens w Shing of themselves imports, (1.) Their feting out their own excellencies to the best advantage, Ezek. xxiii. 40.; or, (2.) Their legal endeavours to clear or purify themselves, notwithstanding all which, God shall plunge them in the ditch, making their fin evident in the troubles inflicted on them, Job ix. 30. Jer. ii. 22. (3.) Their appliestion of Jeius's word, righteouinels, and Spirit, and endeavouring, under the influence thereof, to mortify the deeds of the body, If. 1. 16. Jer. iv. 14. Washing of steps in butter, and clother in wine, imports great plenty of thefe 3 Z 2 things, WAS [548] WAT things, or of the like comforts. Job xxix. 6. Gen. xlix 11. Eyes wared in milk, are fuch as are very clear and fining, Song v. 12. Moab was David's walk-pot; was by him reduced to a most base and service condition, Pfal. lx. 8. See FOOT; HAND.

WASTE; empty; defolate; ruinous; as ruined cities, a wilderness, Ezek. v. 4. xxxiii. 24. 27. To waste, is, i.) To come to nothing, 1 Kings xvii. 14.; to spend to little or bad purpose, Matth. xxvi. 8. Luke xv. 13. (3.) To harass; cut off; make ruinous. Numb. xxxv. 22. Gal. i. 13. 1 Chron. xx. 1. Jer. xlix. 13. The Gentile world, or the sinful and ruinous condition of a church or nation, is called wastes, Is. lxi. 4.

And WASTERS are, (1.) Such as lavishly spend what they have to no or to bad purposes, Prov. xviii. 9. (2.) Armies, who ravage countries, and render them ruinous or desolate; or persecutors, who seek to destroy the members of the church, and fill her with disorder, If. liv. 16. WATCH; (1.) To keep awake, Mat. xxvi. 40. (2.) To shake off carnal and finful fecurity, and take the utmost heed, left fin, Satan, or the world, should deceive, overcome, and hurt us this is called being VIGILANT or WATCHFUL, I Pet. v. 8. Rev. iii. 2. (3.) To wait and look for a thing coming, with eager defire, Lam. iv. 17.; as servants do for their masters return, Luke xii. 37. (4.) Carefully to obferve and guard a thing, that it may neitner do nor receive hurt. So shepberds watch their flocks, to prevent their Braying, or hurting the corn, or being hurt by wild beafts. Luke ii. 8. God's watching, imports his exact observation of mens conduct, Job xiv. 16.; his patient readiness and care to relieve his people, Jer. xxxi. 28.: and his patient, but cirtain execution of his judgements in the properett feafon, Jer. xliv. 27. Munisters watching for mens fouls, imports their eager and active care to observe the danger men are in, and warn them thereof, and their earnest endeavour to promote their holiness, safety, and happiness, and to check and reclaim unruly church-members, Heb. xiii. 17 The faints watching, denotes their shaking off carnal fecurity; their eager expectation of Christ's gracous vilits and second coming; their careful keeping of their heart, care to espy temptations at a diffance, and to pevent their being feduced by fin, Satan, or the world, Rev. xvi. 15. 1 Cor. xvi. 13. Luke xii. 37. To watch unto and in prayer, is carefully to keep our heart in a proper frame for prayer, eagerly efpy and feize on every opportunity for it; and, while praying, guard againft wandering thoughts; and after prayer, wait for, and carefully observe the answer granted to it, Col. iv. 2. Eph. vi. 18. Christ's enemies watched him, and the wicked watch the righteous, eagerly looking for any advantage against them, or opportunity to do them hurt, Luke xx. 20. Pfal. xxxvii. 32. The end watched for the Jews, when their ruin was just ready to overtake them, Ezek. vii. 6. The angels are called watchers, to import their readinels to obey the will of God, and inspect the nations, chiefly the church, Dan. iv. 6. The Chaldeans are called watchers; they waited for, and feized their opportunity of destroying the nations: they proceeded with caution in their wars; and their fieges of cities were fo orderly and determined, that few could escape, Jer. iv. 16. A WATCH is. (1) A guard of perfors fet to obferve the motions of an enemy, or to keep order in a city, or to keep a truft, Jer. li. 12. Neb. iv. 9. Matth. xxviii. 11. And they who keep watch in a city or camp, are called watchmen, 2 Kings ix. 18. Ministers, and perhaps also rulers in the state, are called watchmen: in the night of time, ministers do, or ought to watch over the church and fouls of men, difeern fpiritual dangers, and faithtully warn them thereof; and magistrates are to efpy, and take all proper methods to prevent them, Song iii. 3. v. 7. Ezek. iii. 27. If. hi. 8. (2.) The place or station where the guard is kept, which is also called the watch-tower, Hab. ii. 1. (3.) WatchWAT [549] WAT mens discharge of their duty, doing what in them lies to efpy and prevent danger or lofs, 2 Kings xi. 6. Luke ii. 8. (4.) The time in which a particular fet of perfons keep watch at once, in a city or camp. It feems the night was once divided into the evening, the middle, and the morning watch, each containing four hours, Judg. vii. 19. Exod. xiv. 24.; but afterwards, the Greeks and Romans relieved their centinels at three hours a-piece, and made four watches of the night, Luke xii. 38. Mark vi. 48. The end of these watches were anciently, and in the east are still, proclaimed in cities by a crier.

WATER fignifies, not only that which is most properly fo called, but almost every thing liquid, as tears, Jer. ix. 1.; rain, Job xxii. 11.; and clouds, Pfal. civ. 3.; and every thing proper to be drunk, I Sam. xxv. 11. If. xxxiii. 16. In the dry countries of the east and fouth, water is generally to be found where there is any verdure; and travellers stop, as well as foldiers encamp, near it. It is generally brought to houses and tents, morning and evening, by the unmarried women, Gen. xxiv. 13. and they have fornetimes very angry brawlings at the drawing of at; and travellers and others are in great danger by the wild Arabs or other robbers, that lurk among the grafs or shrubs, Judg. v. 11. In dry deferts, the rays of the fun reflected by the fand, often produce an appearance of a river or lake of water, by which travellers at a distance are deluded. The water of the Nile is the most delicious in the world; but that of Egyptian wells is very bad. Water is of a cleanfing, refreshful, and healing nature, and is a common and free gift of God to men; but streams of it are fometimes noisy and destruc-Jefus Chrift, his Spirit, and gofpel-ordinances, are likened to quaters, fill waters, and fireams, living water, or water of life. How abundant! how free! how fitted for, offered to, and bellowed on multitudes, are Jesus and his righteousness, and talvation; the Holy Ghost, and his influences; and the truths and promifes of the everlasting gospel! and how effectually, when applied, they cleanfe the confcience, heart, and life of men! how they refresh our fouls, and cure our spiritual maladies! how they fpread, and irrefiftibly overpower what flands in their way! how they defend from danger, enrich, and render fruitful in good works! how still, deep, pleafant, and abundant! and how they beget, reflore, maintain, and perfect spiritual life in our foul! how they now run into our defert Gentile-world! Song iv. 15. Rev. xxii. 17. Pfal. xxiii. 2. If. xxxii. 21. xxxv. 6. Ezek. xlvii. 1.-Christ came by water and by blood; by holiness of nature, an obedient life, and bloody death; or with fulness of spiritual influence and bloody atonement, for our justification and fanctification, I John v. 6. As the Iews had their markets for fish by the water-fide, perhaps coaters in If. lv. 1. may denote the ordinances of the gofpel, as market-places for buying, i. e. confiderately, but freely, receiving Jefus Christ and his fulness. The avaters of divine truths and ordinances are made bitter, when corrupted with error and superstition, Rev. viii. 11. Whatever tends to comfort, is called waters; the delight which people enjoy in the marriage-state, is called waters, and running or fresh waters, far more truly delightful than the pleafures of whoredom, which are flolen waters, Prov. v. 15. ix. 17.; and idols are reprefented as broken citterns, that can hold no water, i.e. can afford no true help or comfort, Jer. ii. 13. The state of captivity in Babylon, and a state of corrupt nature, is reprefented as a prifon wherein there is no water; i. e. no true comfort, Zech. ix. 11. The abundant increase and glory of the gofpel-church are likened to a flowing Bream: in what multitudes, and in what pleafant and comely order, the Gentiles, notwithstanding of manifold opposition, came toward Jesus and his truth! If. lxvi. 12. Multitudes of men. as armies, perfecutors, are likened to svaters:

waters; how numerous and noify! how they fpread abroad, and bear down, and ruin whatever stands in their way! Rev. xvii. 15. If. viii. 7. xvii. 12. Pfal. cxxiv. 5. Men are as quater spilt on the ground; when once dead, they cannot without a miracle be restored to life, 2 Sam. xiv. 14. Wicked men are fwift as the waters, and melt away as the waters; they are not to be depended on: and how quickly shall they come to nought, and be hurried into the ocean of divine wrath, and feel the fire of God's indignation! Job xxiv. 18. Pfal. lviii. 7. Job's enemies came in as a wide breaking in of waters; in great number, and with mighty force, to harafs and overwhelm, Job xxx. 14. Counsel in the heart of man, is as deep waters; ferious thoughts and purpofes, are pure and fettled, and hard to come at, Prov. xx. 5. The words of a man's mouth, are as deep waters, and the well-spring of wisdom as a flowing brook; good instructions are mysterious and refreshful to mens souls, Prov. xviii. 4. Judgement runs down as waters, and righteousness as a mighty fiream, when there is great uprightness and equity in judging of causes, and equity and holiness are every where practifed, and make iniquity ashamed to shew itself, Amos v. 24. The wrath of God, terrors, i. e. fcars and great troubles, calamities, temptations, are likened to waters; in what forcible and refiftless manner they attack men fometimes! and how fearful, perplexing, or destructive! Is. xxx. 28. 33. Job xxvii. 20. Pial. lxix. 1. Song viii. 7. As waters and streams stop the way, impediments of access to the church, to the land of Canaan, are called waters, Rev. xvi. 12. If. xi. 15. As waters or ftreams flow from fountains, mens children or posterity are called wa ers, If. xlviii. 1. Prov. v. 16. WATER-SPRINGS, denote ground well moistened or fruitful, in Pfal. evii. 33. WATER-COURSES, are either the beds of rivers, wherein they run, or the running streams, If. xliv. 4. WA-TER SPOUTS, are falls of water from the clouds, in the manner that a river bursts over a precipice; or which are forced with a mighty noise from the fea, by an earthquake at the bottom. They are more frequent on the coasts of Canaan and Syria, than any where else in the Mediterranean sea. thefe, heavy, overwhelming, and terrifying afflictions, are compared, Pfal. xlii. 7.—To water, is, (1.) To moiften, Pfal. vi. 6. Gen. ii. 6. (2.) To comfort, refresh, and render fruitful: thus God waters his church every moment with new influences of his love and Spirit, If. xxvii. 3.; and ministers water the church, by the frequent preaching of divine truths to them, as gardeners do their beds in the time of drought, I Cor. iii. 6.—8.

WAVE, to shake to and fro. Some will have the wave-offerings to have been waved towards the four airths; but others think they were only turned from the one hand to the other, Lev.

viii. 27. See BILLOW.

To WAVER, is to be like an unfettled wave of the sea, unfixed in faith, profession, or practice; particularly tossed between doubts and faith of the power and will of God, as to what we request in prayer, Heb. x. 23. Jam. i. 16.

WAX: a well-known fubstance, wherewith bees form their combs. It is excellent for candles, and is easily melted; it is also much used in the sealing of letters, Psal. xcvii. 5. Christ's heart was melted as the wax; associative, when lying amid the slames of his Father's wrath for our sake, Psal. xxii. 14. The wicked melt as wax, when terrible calamities from an angry God annoy, torment, and ruin them, Psal. lxviii. 2. Mic. i. 4.

WAY; PATH; (1.) A road to walk in, I Kings xviii. 6. (2.) A method of formation or agency; how the Spirit acts in forming us, or how our foul is joined to our body, John iii. 8. Eech xi. 5. God's paths or voays, are his works of creation, Job xl. 19.; the difpenfations of his providence, wherein he walks towards his creatures, Pfal. xxv. 10. If. lv. 8. 9.;

or the clouds which diftil his rain, Pfal. lxv. 11.; or his truths and precepts, in which he requires men to walk, Pial. xvii, 5. Christ is the way, and he, and the method of falvation, are a new and living way. He is the means and pattern of our approach to God, and in the way of union to him, and fellowthip with him, are we justified, fanctified, and prepared for heaven. This way fucceeds the old covenant-way of happiness by our own works; and it is ever the fame, and through it we pass from a state of fin and misery, into a state of endless felicity, John xiv. 6. Heb. x. 20. The laws and doctrines of God are the way of truth, altogether true in themselves, and with an honest and true heart and practice must we walk therein, and so shall arrive at true and everlasting happiness, 2 Pet. ii. 2. Mens paths and ways, are their practice or bulinefs, good or bad; or their circumstances in life which they pass through, Prov. ii. 20. Is. ix. 7. Lam. iii. 9. The way of the Lord is strength to the upright; Jefus affords him fpiritual strength; divine providences and ordinances do him good; and his pious course tends to strengthen and comfort his foul, Prov. x. 29. The paths of the righteous are paths of judgement, of uprightness, and of life; his religious course is judiciously chosen, he is candid and upright in following out; in his prefent walk, he has life spiritual here, and shall attain life cternal hereafter, Is. xl. 14. Prov. ii. 13. v. 6. God makes a straight way or path, when he removes every thing tending to the hinderance of his glory and gospel, If. xlii. 16. xl. 3. 4.; and of his people's happiness, Jer. xxxi. 9. Christ's paths are made straight, when things are prepared for his public appearances on earth, Matth. iii. 3. Men make ftraight paths for their feet, left that which is lame beturned out of the way, when they take care of adding to, or taking from the rules of God's word, and study to walk exactly according to it, left fome should stumble at religion on their account, Heb. xii. 13. Men do not find their paths, when they cannot get their purpofes fulfilled, Hof. ii. 6. To go in the way of one, is to follow his example, Jude 11. The Jews went in the way of Affyria and Egypt, when they courted their alliances, and depended on them for support, Jer. ii. 18. The house of harlots is the way to hell, as most of those that deal with fuch inherit everlatting damnation, Prov. vii. 27. Those in the high-runys and hedges invited to Christ, may be the Gentiles, or the worst or meanest of men, Luke xiv. 13. WAYFARING-MEN, are passengers. See TRAVEL. WAY-MARKS, are tokens fet up by the way-fide, or at crofs-ways, to direct passengers. To encourage the Jews in the hope of a return from Babylon, they were commanded to fet up way-marks as they went to it, to direct their children how to find the way back, Jer. xxxi. 21.

WEAK; FEEBLE; (1.) Of little ftrength of body or foul, Matth. xxvi. 41. I Theth. v. 14. One was in the faith, is one who has little knowi ...ze, and an unfirm perfusion of the doctrines of the gospel, Rom. xiv. 1. A. conscience is weak, when it has small degrees of judgement, 1 Cor. viii. 7. Men are faid to have weak hands and feeble knees, when they have small courage and vigour, If. xxxv. 3.; and men are weak-handed, when they have neither counfel, courage, nor strength, to withstand an enemy, 2 Sam. xvii. 2. One is made weak by offences, is confounded in judgement, and vexed, difpirited, and discouraged, Rom. xiv. 21. To the weak Paul became as weak: he fympathized with, and condescended to their weakness, I Cor. ix. 22. (2.) Of no strength at all: thus death is called a eventuefs, I Cor. The law as a covenant is weak, through fin is wholly incapable to justify us, though strong enough to condemn us, Rom. viii. 3. Mens heart is weak, has no power at all to refift fin, Ezek. xvi. 30. (3.) Subject to trouble and death; and fo Child was crucified through we thucks, 2 Cor. xiii. 4. (4.) Actually under reproach, diffreit, distress, persecution, temptation, Psal. vi. 2. xxxviii. 8.; thus the faints are awak in Christ, when persecuted and distressed for his sake, 2 Cor. xiii. 4.

WEA [552] WEA

9. When I am weak, then am I strong: when I am in the deepest distresses, and most sensible of my own weakness, I feel the strength of Christ most eminently exerted to support, actuate, and encourage me, 2 Cor. xii. 10.

WEAKNESS; INFIRMITY; (1.) Difcase or weakness of the body, Lev. xii. 2. J Tim. v. 23. (2.) Outward afflictions, reproaches, perfecutions, and temptations, Heb. v. 2. 2 Cor. xii. 5. 10. (3.) Spiritual weakness, and defects in grace, Rom. vi. 19. ings and mistakes committed through furprife, and want of spiritual courage and strength, Rom. xv. 1. The weakness of God is stronger than men; the contemned method of falvation thro' the death of Christ, is more effectual to render men holy and happy, than all the supposed wife schemes of men, I Cor. i. 25. The weakness and infirmity of Christ that he had, was his frail human nature, and the various reproaches, temptations, and troubles he was compassed with, 2 Cor. xiii. 4. Heb. v. 2. The weakness of the ceremonial law, that occasioned its abolishment, was its infufficiency to justify, fanctify, or save men, Heb. vii. 18. Christ took our infirmities on him, and bare our ficknefe; he bare the punishment of our iniquity; he tenderly fympathifes with his people, and testified so much by his curing of the diffressed, Matth. viii. 17. Heb. iv. 15. The Holy Ghost helps our infirmities; he gradually heals our spiritual diseases; and notwithstanding thereof, enables us to worship and serve God, Rom. viii. 26. We ought to bear with the infirmities of the weak, exercifing patience and love towards the weak, notwithstanding of them, and by kindly endeavouring to rectify them, Rom. xv. 1. The faints glory and take pleafure in their infirmities and troubles, not in themselves, but as they are means of glorifying God, and occasions of his communicating his fulnefs to them, 2 Cor. xii. 5. 10.

WEALTH. See RICHES.

WEAN. It feems the Jewish children had three weanings; one from the breasts, when they were about three years of age, or far fooner in most cafes; the second from their dry nurse, at seven years of age; and the third from their childish manners, at 12. The saints are likened to sweaned children, to denote their humility, teachableness, keeping within the bounds of their own station, and quiet contentment with the will of God, Pfal. cxxxi. 2.; or to denote their weakness and inability to help and defend themselves, Is. xi. 8.

WEAPONS. See ARMS.

To WEAR out the faints, is gradually to destroy them, till none be left, Dan. vii. 25.

WEARY; (1.) Fatigued in body, 2 Sam. xvii. 2. (2.) Desirous to be rid of a thing, as if it was a burden, Gen. xxvii. 46. (3.) Slack; carelefs, Gal. vi. 7. (4.) Sore afflicted, having great need of reft, If. xxviii. 12. God is wearied with mens iniquities, and made to ferve with their fins, when he has been long provoked with grievous tranfgressions, and even a turning of his kinduess and grace into licentiousness, and his judgements may be expected to be quickly executed, If. i. 14. vii. 13. xliii. 24. Men are weary and heavy laden, when they have fatigued themselves in carnal and wicked courfes, or can find no rest in them; but are laden with the guilt and domineering power of fin, or with a fense of it, and with fears and cares about happiness, Matth. xi. 28. David was weary of his crying, when he had continued instant in prayer, till he could fearce pray any more, Pf. lxix. 3. Ieremiah was weary with holding in and forbearing: he could get no eafe, but in a way of faithfully declaring the threatenings of God against the wicked Jews, Jer. vi. 11. xx. 9. Men weary themselves for very vanity, when they take great labour and toil to no good purpose. Thus the Chaldeans fatigued themselves, endeavouring to quench the fire of their city, Hab. ii. 13.

WEASELS are of two kinds, the house weafel, and the field weafel or foumart t

W E AWEE 553

fournit: they are confiderably fubtle, and though of small fize, are confilerably flrong: they are enemies to ferpents, moles, rats, and mice, and no friends to poultry: they will fport with hares, till they have wearied them, and then they kill them: they bite worle than a doz, when they are provoked. It is faid, the females carry their young ones daily, from one place to another, that none may eatch them. They were unclean by the ceremonial law, Lev. xi. 29.

WEATHER; the temper of the air, Prov. xxv. 20. It varies exceed ingly in Svria and Canana; is fometimes very hot, and anon very cold; hot by day, and extremely cold by night; hot in valleys, and extremely cold on the tops of Lebanon and other mountains. Fair weather comesh out of the north; with God is terrible majely: might be rendered, the god-like glancing lightnings come out of the north; on God is a robe of terrible majefly, Job (xxvii. 22.

WEAVERS are buch as work WEBS of cloth, of which the threads that cur from end to end are called the ware, and the threads that run from fide to fide are the woor: but it feems, from the account we have of our Saviour's feamlefs coat, that they then understood the art of knitting cloth in the way we do stockings: may, perhaps, had looms for working our nexts without any feam at all. Harkett compares God's cutting off his life to the weaver's culting his vib out of the loom when it is finished, II. xxxviii. 12.

WEDDING; the celebration of MARRIAGE, Luke xiv. 8. Mit. xxii. 3. WEDLOCK, the tie of marriage; and to break it, is to commit adultery, Ezek. xvi. 33.

WEEDS, that grow among corn, or herbs. The weeds were wraps about Jonah's head: he was in the deeps, where the fea-weeds grow; or weeds fivallowed by the fifth might be wrapt about his head, Jon. ii. 5.

WEEK; a natural one is the space of feven days; fuch a week of nuptial featling for Leah's marriage Jacob finished, ere he obtained Rachel, Gen. TOL. II.

xxix. 27. A prophetic week is the fpace of feven years, a day for a year. Nor was this method of calculation abstruse to the Jews, who had their seventh year a Sabb wh, as well as their feventh day; and who, at the end of feven prophetical weeks, had their Sabbatical jubilee. That the 70 weeks mentioned by Daniel denote weeks of years, is a greed by every fensible canmentator, but not the time who hele 70 weeks, or 400 years, began. -It is plain they began from an edict or warrant to build the city of Jerufalem, and not from an edict to rebuild the temple: they could not therefore begin at the edict of Cyrus or Darius for rebuilding the temple; but at the edil of Artaxerxes Longimanus for repairing the city, either in the feventh year of his reign, when he gave Ezra his commiffion for that effect, Ezra vii. viii.; or in the 20th year of it, when he gave Nahem'ah his, Neh. ii. The edict in the feventh year of his reign was most favo reable, and was ratified by the counfellors as well as by the king, and appears to have been just 490 years before our Saviour's death, wherein he finithed transgression, and made an end of ha, by his complete atonement. Of thefe, feven weeks, or 49 years, were fpeat in rebuilding the city and its walls, amid no finall trouble; and thefe ended about the death of Nene nigh. Sixty-two more weeks, or 434 years, elapted ere the public ministry of John or Christ began; and after confirming the coven int with many, Jefus, in the last half of the seventieth week, that is, at the end of it, made the facrifice and oblition to cease in point of obligation. If, with Mercator and Petavius, we thould allow Artaxerxes to have reigned to years along with his father, and for the 20th to be but the toth after the death of his futher Xerxes; then 43 years elapse between that and the coin hencement of our Saviour's public ministry, and in the midst of the 70th week, or about three years and an half after, the facrifices were abolished by his death. If we date the commencement of these weeks from the 4 A 20th 20th of Artaxerxes after the death of his father, the death of our Saviour happened 478 years after, in the middle of the 69th week; and we must leave the 70th for the events at the destruction of the Jewish nation, between A.D.65 and 72, in which, after making covenants or leagues with a variety of the eaftern princes, Vefpafian and his fon Titus entirely overturned the Jewith church and state. But after all, it must be allowed, that the chronology of that period is not fo absolutely fixed and clear, as to occasion any warm difpute about a few years; fo that to me it appears a imall matter, whether these 490 years be reckoned from the 7th or 20th year of Artaxerxes Longimanus, Dan. ix. 24.—26.

WEE WEI

WEEP. See MOURN.

WEIGH; to examine the heaviness of things. A cubic foot of common water, which is near 17 Scotch pints, weighs 1000 avoirdupoite ounces; a cubic foot of pure gold, 19,637 ounces; one of guinea gold, 17,793; of quickfilver, 14,000; of lead, 11,325; of standard filver, 10,535; of copper, 9000; of plate-brais, 8000; of steel, 7852; of iron, 7645; of block tin, 7321; of proof spirits, 928; of pure spirits, 860. All stones are, in different degrees, heavier than water: wood is for the most part lighter, and accordingly fwims. A cubic foot of common air weighs 507 grains or one ounce 27 grains. God's weighing the mountains, imports his exact knowledge of and power over them, It. xl. 12. weighs men, or their spirits and paths, when he exactly observes and judges them, that he may punish or reward them in a proper manner, Dan. v. 27

Prov. xvi. 2. If. xxvi. 7. I Sam. ii. 3. He fets a weight for the winds, when he determines them to blow precifely with fuch force, and from fuch point, and during such time, as he pleafeth: or when he checks them with the pressure of a thick cloud pregnant with rain, Job xxviii. 25. A Weight, is what is heavy, and weighs much. So carnal affections and fins lying on the conscience and prevalent in the heart, or temptations thereto, are a weight that oppress the faints spirits, and disqualify them for running the Christian race, Heb. xii. 1. Eternal glory is called a weight, because of its unspeakable abundance and degree; nor could one fubfift under its delightful preffure, 2 Cor. iv. 17. And what is of great force or importance is called weighty, 2 Cor. x. 10. Matth. xxiii. 23.

WEIGHTS, denote standards for weighing of things in merchandife. As neither the Jews, nor any others, had any coined money for a long time, they weighed it in their traffic. fliekel, the maneh, and the talent, were all originally names of weight. We can find no foundation for supposing the Jews to have had two kinds of weights, one facred, and the other common; and the latter only the half of the former. The weights are denominated from the fanctuary, as, a fhekel of the fanctuary, because the exact flandards of weight and meafure were kept in the fanctuary: even as we call exact meafure, Linlithgow meafure. Divers weights and measures, forbidden by the divine law, are unjust ones; a larger to receive things with, and a letler to give them out, Deut. xxv. 130 Prov. XX. 10.

The

WEI [555] WEI

The less ancient Grecian and Roman weights, reduced to English Troy weight.

_						ind- Onn. Peti - Wins.
Lentes		and the same of th		-	-	0-0-0-0712
4 Siliqu	uæ					○— ○— ○— 3 ^r g
12 3	Obolus	-	-		and paternalis,	0-0-0-9 ³ 8
24 6	2 Sc	riptulum	-	sector to		0 0 18 ₁
72 18	6	3 Drach	ma		decree .	o- o- 2- 6;4
96 24	8	4 17 Sex	tula			o— o— 3— o ⁶ 7
144 36	I 2	6 2 1 7	Sicilicus		-	0-0-4-137
192 48	16	8 2 2 2	 1⅓ Duella	,	Decident.	0-0-6-15
576 144	4.8	2486.	1 3 Un	cia	-	0-18-5 1
6912 1728	576 2	88 96 72	18136 12	Libra	area arbes	0-10-18-135

The Roman ounce is the English avoirdupoise ounce, which they divided into feven Denarii, as well as eight Drachms; and since they reckoned their Denarius equal to the Attic Drachm, this will make the Attic weights the heavier than the correspondent Roman weights.

Note, The Grecians divided their Obolus into Chalci and Lepta. Some, as Diodorus and Suidas, divided the Obolus into fix Chalci, and every Chalcus into feven Lepta or mites: others divided the Obolus into eight Chalci, and twery Chalcus into eight Lepta or Minuta.

The greater weights reduced to English Troy weight.

Libra	-	d-amounts	- 10 -10	-	80-0 × 5	Pounds. Oun. Penwt Grains, 0—10—18—13 ⁵ / ₇
124	na Attica	communis	or the Barrier		annear de la constanta	0-11- 7-167
1 1 1	Z Mina A	Attica Medi	ra -			$1 - 2 - 11 - 10\frac{3}{7}$
62 ; 60	467 T	alentum At	ticum com	m.	-	56-11-0-175

Note, There was another Attic talent, by some said to consist of 80, by others of 100 Attic Mine.

Note, Every Mina contains 100 Drachmæ, and every Talent 60 Minæ; but the Talents differ in weight, according to the different standard of the Drac mæ and Minæ of which they are composed. The value of some different Minæ and Talents in Attie Drachmæ, Minæ, and English Troy weight, is exhibited in the following Table.

4 A 2

MINA,

WEI [556] WHE

MINA, or Pound.

	P und Oun. Penwt Grai	ř.
Ægyptiaca)	133 1-5-6-22	)
	$133\frac{1}{3}$ $1-5-6-22\frac{26}{3}$	5
	144 1-6-14-16	ž
Alexandrina Diofcoridis	160 1 8-16-7	ş.
TALENTUM
Ægyptiacum -	80 86— 8—16— 8
Antiochicum	80 86-8-16-8
	863 93-11-11-0
Alexandriæ Atticar.	96 104-0-19-14
Infulanum	120 130-1-4-12
Antiochiæ	360 390—3—13—11

The most ancient weights of the Greeks were a Drachma, weighing 6 pennyweight $2\frac{2}{4}\frac{2}{9}$ grains: a Minæ, weighing 1 pound 1 ounce $4\frac{4}{4}\frac{2}{9}$ grains; and a Talent, weighing 65 pound 12 pennyweight and $5\frac{4}{9}$ grains.

Jewish weights reduced to English Troy weight.

Note, In reckoning money, 50 shekels made a Manch; but in weight, 60 shekels.

WELL. See FOUNTAIN.

WELL; (1.) Rightly, according to rule, Gen. iv. 7. (2.) Happily, Deut. xv. 16.; and to happiness or profperity is called welfare, Exod. xvm. 7. (3.) Fully, Acts xxv. 10.; and for Christ is called well-beloved, because his Father and his people effecti, defire, and delight in him, above all things, Mark xii. 6. If. v. 1. Song i. 13. Wellpleafing, is what is very acceptable and pleafant to one, Phil. iv. 18. God is well pleased in Christ, and for his righteoujues sake: O his infinite delight in his person, office, and in his full atonement for us! and he is kindly reconciled to us in him, and for the fake of what he has done as our furety, Matth. iii. 17. xvii. 5. If. xlii. 21.

WEN; a wart, a hard knob within the ikm. It unfitted an animal for facrifice, Lev. xxii, 22. WENCH; a young girl, 2 Sam.

WHALE. See LEVIATHAN.

WHEAT; a grain well known, for its durableness, and delightful and nourishing lubilance. Part of it grows with long awns at the ear thereof, and part of it without them. The Jews began their wheat-harvest about Whitfunday; and their writers fay, their best wheat grew in Michmash, Mezonichah, and Enhraim; but it feems that or Minnith and Pannag was every whit as good, Ezek. xxvii. 17. With us, wheat is generally fown in the end of harveit, and is ten or cleven months in the held. Jefus Christ is a corn of auleat; now substantial and durable, to ensure winters of trouble! and what precious, nourishing, and pleasant fruits of rightcoufness and bleflings he brings forth to men, in confequence of his death and refurrection! John xii. 24. The faints are called wheat, to mark their folidity, ufefulnefs, and good fruit, acceptable to God through Jefus Chrift, Matth. iii. 12. The word of God is likened to ruheat: how fweet, fubstantial, and nourithing, is the fulness of Jefus therein included and communicated to our foul! Jer. xxiii. 28. To be fed with the finest of the wheat, is to poliels great happinels and comfort, Pfal. lxxxi. 16. The Jews forced rolleat and reaped thorns; when their apparently well-planned schemes of alliance with Egypt and the nations around, and the like, did but, in the iffue, increase their vexation and mifery, Jer. xii. 13.

his

WHE [557] WHI

WHEEL; (1.) A round inflrument for chariots and waggons, Sc. to roll upon. It ordinarily confitts of felloes, forming the circumference, or ring; and a nave in the middle, in which the axle-tree runs; and fpokes that reach between the nave and felloes, Exod. xiv. 25. (2.) A kind of punithment inflicted on offenders; or one kind put for all, Prov. xxviii. 26. (3.) The great artery, which, being joined to the left ventricle of the heart, fets the blood in motion, and keeps it in perpetual circulation, Eccl. xii. 6. The wheels in Ezekiel's vifion, very high, and with dreadful rings, and formed as a wheel within a wheel, and actuated by the spirit of the living creatures, may either denote the awful and mysterious providence of God, much executed by the ministration of angels; or the various churches of Christ, mysteriously united into one, and actuated by the fame Spirit, as gospel ministers are, Ezek. i. 10. And God makes men like a wheel, when he fuddenly turns their high honour, power, and prosperity, into debalement, diffrefs, and ruin, Pfal. lxxxiii. 13.

WHELP; the young of lions, bears, dogs, Se. So Jonah's ions, and the courtiers or fubjects of the Aflyrians, are called, to denote their readiness to spot and oppress their people, Ezek. xix. 2.—5. Nah. ii. 12.

WHENCE; (1.) From what place, Gen. xvi. 8. (2.) From what cause, or by what means, Matth. xiii. 54. John i. 48.

WHERE; (1.) In what place, Exod. xx. 24. (2.) In what condition, Zech. i. 5. Where is God? where, or in what, is his prefence and power manifelted! Pfal. lxx.x. 10.; or how shall I obtain relief from him? Jer. ii. 6. Job xxxv. 10.

WHET; to make sharp. God whels his sword, when he prepares things, in his providence, for the execution of his judgements, Deut. xxxiv. 41. Pfal. vii. 12. Men what God's laws upon their children, when they teach them diligently the knowledge thereof, Deut. vi. 7. Men what their tongues, when they actively en ploy them in slander and reproach, Pfal. ixiv. 3.

WHIP; (1.) A lash to drive horses or other eattle, Prov. xxvi. 3. (2.) A punishment for lazy and disobedient subjects. I King vii.

fubjects, 1 Kings xii. 11. WHIRLWIND. See wind.

WHISPER; (1.) To fpeak very foftly, so as searce to be heard, 2 Sam. xii. 19. (2.) To bear tales; backbite, Prov. xvi. 28. (3.) To plot secretly, Pfal. xli. 7. The Jews schiffered out of the dust, when so familhed that they were searce able to speak; or when ready to yield to what terms the Assyrians pleased, II. xxix. 4.

WHITE, being the purest and most fhining colour, is often used to reprefent what is pure and glorious. God's having white hair as wool and white garments, and riding on a subite cloud, denotes his antiquity, wisdom, holinefs, and the equity of his providential conduct, Dan. vii. 9. H. xix. 1. Rev. xiv. 14. Chart is white, pure in his Godhead, holy, highly exalted, and abounding in love; and he is ruddy, and red in his apparer, appeared in our nature, and fahered therein, and in the execution of his wrath, conquers and dellioys his enemics, Song v. 10. If. kill. 1. 2. His white hairs as wool, denote his antiquity and wadom, Rev. i. 14. whilen jo of his hirem, imports the holincis, equity, and glory of his procedure, in the lab judgement, Rev. xx. 11. The white burges of Christ and his people, are the pure truths or the gofpel, by means of which they obtain ipiramat spiritual victories, Rev. vi. 2. xix. 11. Saints are white, when freed from guilt and pollution, Pfal. li. 7.; and their white raiment is their imputed righteoufness and their sanctification; and their flate of heavenly glory, wherein they are as peaceable, noble, and triumphant kings and priefts, unto God, Rev. iii. The Na-4. 5. iv. 4. xv. 16. vii. 14. zarites were whiter than milk, when they kept their vows, and looked fresh and somely, Lam. iv. 7. The fields were white to barveft, or ripe, when multitudes feemed fond of hearing the gofpel, by the power of which men are cut off from their natural state, gathered to Jefus, and bound up in the bundle of life with him, John iv. 38.

WHOLE; (1.) Full; complete, Exod. xxix. 18. (2.) Not broken, Jer. xix. 11. (3.) Sound; healthy; profperous, Joh. v. 8. Job v. 18. Wholly; (1.) Altogether; completely, Lev. vi. 22. xix. 9. (2.) Sincerely; uprightly, Joh. xiv. 8.—14. (3.) In a great part or degree, If. xxii. 1. Job xxi. 23. Wholesome, is what marks or promotes health. A' wholefone tongue, is one that speaks much to the edification of others, Prov. xv. 4. Wholefone words, are the found truths of the gospel, which promote the health and cure of mens fouls, 1 Tim. vi. 3.

WHORE, or HARLOT, is, (1.) One that for wantonness or gain yields her body to unchastity: and a whore-MONGER, is one that unchaitely deals with her. It feems, that anciently the women who kept inns were generally reckoned HARLOTS; and fo an boflefs and a whore had the fame name. Whores quickly become entirely void of modesty and shame: and even decoy men to their lewd embraces, Jer. iii. 3. Prov. v. vii. Whoredom, uncleanness, or FORNICATION, comprehends all kinds of unchastity between men and women, whether between perfons unmarried; or adultery, where one or both is married; or incest, where they are too near of kin one to another, Gen. xxxviii. 24. Gal. v. 19. 1 Cor. vi. 13. v. 1. This fin, however lightly regarded by multitudes, is of an horrible nature; it dif-graces and deftroys the body, I Cor. vi. 18. Job xxxi. 12. Prov. v. 11. It brings an indelible stain on the character. Prov. vi. 33. It infatuates and stupifies the confcience, and fo hardens the heart that perfons guilty of it rarely obtain grace to repent, Hof. iv. 11. Eccl. vii. 26. Rev. xxii. 11. Hof. xiv. 14. It is a beattly vice in itself, and the guilty are called dogs, stallions, and abominable, Sc. and it is called villany and abomination, 2 Sam. iii. 8. Jer. v. 8. xxix. 23. Rev. xxi. 8. It is an inlet to all manner of impiety and wickednefs, Prov. v. 12.—14. It expofes perfons to the vengeance of God in this life: brings the curse of God on families and nations, and ordinarily lands men in eternal fire, Prov. vii. 26. 27. ix. 18. ii. 19. Hof. iv. 1.—3. Jer. v. 7. 9. Eph. v. 3.—6. Rom. i. 24.—29. Rev. xxi. 8. To evite falling into this abominable fin, it is necessary to be united to and habitually wathed by Jefus's blood, and directed by his word and Spirit, I Cor. vi. 10. 11.; and to live under the deep impression of God's holiness, omniscience, and of the future judgement, Gen. xxxix. 9. Heb. xiii. 4.; necessary to shun light and lewd companions, and all immodest apparel, Prov. v. 8. 9.; to be diligent in lawful bufinefs, 2 Sam. xi. 2. Gen. xxxiv. 1.; and to marry, if needful and proper; and to cultivate a Christian affection in the married flate, I Cor. vii. 2. 9. Prov. v. 19. 20. (2.) Such as, contrary to covenant or profession, apostatife from the true worthip and fervice of Ged. The Jews are represented as whores, barlots, and adultereffes, because in apoflafy from God, they proffituted themfelves to a dependence on the Affyrians, Egyptians, Chaldeans, and others, inftead of God, and copied after their idolatries, Jer. iii. Ezek. xvi. xxiii. The Popish state is called the great whore, and mother of barlots and abominations, because of her noted apostaly and idolatry, and her decoying others into it: and fuch apostaly is called fornication, whoredom, or adultery, Rev. avii. xix. 2. Tyre fung as an harlot, when, by fair speeches, the Tyrians entice & enticed the nations to renew their trade with them, If. xxiii. 15. WHORISH, is, (1.) Given to fornication or adultery, Prov. vi. 26. (2.) Given to idolatry and apollaty from God, Ezek. vi. 9.

WICKED. Sec SIN.

WIDE. The gate and way that leads to destruction is wink; there are innumerable forms of siming, by which men may eternally ruin themselves, Matth. vii. 13. To open the hand wide, is to be very liberal, Deut. xv. 8. To open the mouth wide, imports either the most earnest attention to, request of, and desire after things, Job xxix. 23. Pfal. lxxxi. 10.; or the most outrageous mockery and reproach, Pfal. xxxv. 21.

WIDOW; a woman whose husband was dead. More than 200 years before the giving of the law, widows whose husbands had left them childless, married his younger unmarried brother, to obtain feed for the deceased one: fo Tamar married the two elder fons of Judah, and had the third promifed to her, Gen. xxxviii. Under the Mofaic law, this was expressly enjoined, Deut. xxv. 5. 6. &c. or the mearest kinsman might do it, Ruth iv. to have children was effected a great honour, especially in a nation whence the Meffiah was expected, widowhood in fuch as were not past the age of childbearing, as well as barrennefs, was reckoned a great shame and reproach, If. iv. 1. liv. 4. It was prefumed any young woman of character would certainly find a husband, either in the family of her deceased huiband, or some other. The midows of kings, however, continued in their widowhood, and were the property, though not always wives of the fucceffor: and to ask any of them in mairiage, was confidered as an indirect claim of the kingdom, 1 Kings ii. 13. 14. &c. In the Levant, widowers and widows are generally married to one another. As widows are too often overlooked by men, God has claimed a peculiar concern with them, as their husband, supporter, and judge, Pfal. lxviii. 5. cxlvi. 9.

He charged the Hebrews to take peculiar care of them, and of fatherless children, Deut. xiv. 29. He hath afcertained terrible punishment against fuch as oppress and injure them, Pfal. xciv. 6. Mal. iii. 5. Under the gofpel, the church is to provide for those that are quillogus indeed, i. e. widows of a good character, humble, and liberal when able, and now grown old and truly deflitute: but younger widows are advifed to marry again, I Tim. v. 3.-10. To shew kindness to sidows, is a noted branch of the true religion, Job xxix. 13. Jam. i. 27. To mark their defolation, and being deprived of all joy, honour, and comfort, Jerufalem and Babylon are likened to .idows, Lam. i. I. If. xivii. 8.; and often the leaving vives widows, imports the being cut off by the fword, or by some untimely death, Lan. v. 3. Ezek. xxii. 25. Widowbood and loss of children came upon Basylon in one day. Suddenly she lost Belshazzar, and her rulers and dignity, and had vaft numbers of her inhabitants flain by Cyrus. Under Darius Hyftafpis, her inhabitants flew their wives and children, and almost all that were not able to bear arms, that the provision of their befieged city might not be waft. ed by useless mouths, If. xlvii. 9.

WIFE. See MARRIAGE; ADULTERY. When the Orientals buy a wife, they generally give a measure of corn for part of her price, Hof. iii. 2.

WILD; (1.) Untamed; fierce, Job xxxix. 15. (2.) Uncultivated. Thus vines, gourds, grapes, and olives, are represented as wild, 2 Kings iv. 35. 39. If. v. 2. Rom. xi. 17.; and wild honey, is what is found in fields, rocks, or woods, Matth. iii. 4. Ishmael was a wild, or wild free man: he and his feed have generally been a kind of favage people, robbers of all around them, but never subjected to any, Gen. xvi. 12.

WILDERNESS. See DESERT. WILES; crafty tricks; enticing temptations, Numb. xxv. 18. Epl.

vi. 11.
WILL; (1.) That power of our foul,

foul, whereby we freely chuse or re-It however cannot chuse any thing spiritually good, till it be renewed by the pirit of Christ, Rom. viii. 7. 8. The will of the flesh, is the inclinations and luits of an unrenewed heart, Eph. ii. 3. (2.) The thing chosen by the will: thus the will of enemies, is the mischief they defire or devise against one, Pfal. xxvii. 12. God's will denotes, (1.) His natural power to chuse or reject, Rom. ix. 14. (2.) His purpose and decree, which is his rule in all his work, Eph. i. 11. (3.) His word, his laws, and gospeldeclarations, whereby he intimates what he is willing to give to us; or, that we should do in obedience to him, Rom. xii. 2. Matth. vii. 21. (4.) His kindness and favour manifested in acts of grace, Dent. xxxiii. 16. Luke ii. 14. Our fanctification is the will of God; it is purposed, promised, and commanded by him, I Theif. iv. 3. God will have all men faved, and to come to the knowledge of the truth; he purposes to have men of all forts faved; all mens feeking after spiritual knowledge and falvation, is agreeable to his command, I Tim. ii. 4. Christ had a twofold will; one divine, the fame with that of his Father; and the other human, of which he fays to his Father, Not my will, but thine be done, Matth. xxvi. 39. To will, is, (1.) To chuse; detire, Phil. ii. 13. () Boldly to ask, John xvii. 24. (3.) To command with authority, John xxi. 23. (4.) To permit, Jam. xv. 15. Election of men to falvation, is not of him that willeth, nor of him that runneth; it is not obtained by their cagerest inclinations, or most earnest endeavours with respect to what is good, but flows from the mere fovereign grace and mercy of God, Rom. ix. 16. WILLING, is defirous; cheerful; ready; from choice and inclination, I Theff. ii. 8. Matth. xxvi. 41. WILFULLY, of fet purpole and malice; contrary to light and conviction, Heb. x. 26. Sec Superstition.

WILLOWS; a well-known kind of trees that grow in moift places;

they readily grow from cuts; and grow much in a very short time. Nav. if an old stump, not altogether rotten, do but lie on the ground, it will sprout forth twigs. It feems, willows were very plentiful on the banks of the Euphrates, and thereon the captive Hebrews hanged their harps, as useless to them in their diffressed and mournful condition, Pfal. cxxxvii. 2. If. xv. 7. The Jews used branches of willows in eresting their tents at the feast of tabernacles, Lev. xxiii. 40. The faints are likened to willows by the watercourfes: being planted in a new-covenant state, and watered of God every moment, how quick is their spiritual growth, and how fresh they continue amid winters of trouble! If. xliv. 4.

WIMPLES, If. iii. 22. This fame word is translated veil, Ruth iii. 15. In both places, I am persuaded MITPACHATH signifies a covering sheet, a plaid, or aproa. In the Dutch language, WIMPLE signifies the large plaited linen cloth wherewith nuns covered their necks and breasts; as well as the streamer or stag of a ship, and fometimes the fail.

WIN; (1.) To get possession of, 2 Chron. xxxii. 1. One wins Christ, when he gets possession of him, as an eternal portion and comfort. Phil. iii. 8. (2.) To recover. Men win fouls, when they are instrumental in gaining them to Christ, that they may receive falvation through him, Prov. xi. 30.

WIND; a fentible toffing of the air, by means whereof a large quantity of it flows from one place to another. The trade-winds are fuch as blow constantly from east to west, and monfoons are those which blow three or fix months at once from one point, and as long from the opposite. Where the air, by the heat of the fun or otherwise, is most rarefied, thither the denfer part of the diftant air bends its courfe; and fo a very rarefied air bodes a storm. The trade-winds which are met with on the vast ocean, chiefly on the Pacific, blow not directly from east to west, but incline towards the equator, where the air is most rare had.

This

WIN [561] WIN

This rarefaction of the air under the equator, I suppose, is also the reason why fo much rain happens in the torrid zone in the fummer-feafon, the clouds from other places pouring themfelves into that region, where the heat has fo exceedingly tarefied the air. Winds blow almost constantly from off the fea in places exceeding hot. Winds from the fea are warmed in winter and coldeft in fammer; and laud-winds are coldest in winter and hottest in Winds blowing over hills covered with flow, or ever cold countries, are hereby rendered colder. different countries, the wind is often in different, or even opposite points at the fame time; and the north and fouth wind are wet or dry, Prov. xxv. 23. At Aleppo in Syria, the winds from the north, and especially the north-east, are exceedingly cold in the winter, but excellively hot in fummer: and yet then their water kept in jars is colder. A whirlwind, is a strong blaft, which winds about in a fomewhat circular manner. Multitudes of fuch blafts come from the deferts of Arabia; and out of one of them the Lord fpake to Job, If. xxi. t. Job xxxvii. 9. xxxviii. 1. Whirlwinds · fometimes fweep down trees, houses, and every thing in their way; and carry along with them fuch quantities of dust as blind, or even bury multitudes of travellers. They generally, though not always, come from the fouth; and those in Africa have often a poifonous influence.

The Holv Ghost is likened to wind or winds; how incomprehenfible is his nature! and how felf-moved, powerful, convincing, quickening, comforting, and purifying are his influences! May not the north-wind figure out his convincing, and the fouth-wind his cherishing and comforting eslicacy? John iii. 8. Song iv. 16. Ezek. xxxvii. The destructive or afflicting judgements of God are like wind, or east-wind, or evbirlwind; how unfearchable in their nature and number! how violently they bear down men before them, and blow them and their property to ruin! Or are the Vol. II.

Affyrians, who, from the east, came and almost ruined the whole nation of the Jews, and bound them up in their wings, to carry them captive to a foreign land, this cast-wind? If xxvii. 8. Hof. iv. 19. Jer. xxiii. 19. xxv. 32. xxx. z3. The Chaldeans are calied a dry wind, and a full wind from the wilderness, not to fan or cleanse; or a whirlwind: from the fide of the Arabian defert they came, and furioufly marching against the Jews, they wasted their country, and deftroyed their lives and wealth, Jer. xiii. 24. iv. 12. The Turks are like to a whirlwind; how furious and destructive were their inroads! Dan. xi. 40. Temptations of any kind are called wind; they tend to tofs men from one principle and practice to another; and put them to the trial, whether they be rooted and grounded in Christ and his truth, or not, Matth. vii. 27. God's lifting up Job to the wind, imports his expolure of him to terrible troubles and temptations, in order to try the truth and flrength of his grace, and to purge away his corruption; even as men lift up threshed corn to the wind, to separate the chaff from it, Job xxx. 22.: and Satan is faid to fift men, Luke xxiv. 31. Mens fins are called wind; how they unfettle men, and tofs them from goodness or happiness, If. lxiv. 6. Any thing unprofitable and unfubflantial, is called wind. The Hebrews in the defert, and proud men in any age, are likened to wind: how unfubflantial! and how quickly driven away, and paffed out of lite! Pfal. lxxviii. 39. Prov. xxv. 14. Mens life is likened to wind: it depends on breath, and how vain and unfettled, and how quickly paffed away! Job vii. 7. False prophets become wind, when their predictions are falified, and themselves contemned, Jer. v. 13. Words are evind or firong wind, when destitute of fenfe, noify or passionate, Job vi. 26. viii. 2. False doctrines are called wind; how unfettled, inconfiftent, and noify! how they earry off light and unsettled persons! but make little impreffion on fuch as are well rooted and group led grounded in the truth, Eph. iv. 14. Molten images are called wind and confusion; instead of doing men service, they contribute to their difgrace, shame, and perplexity, If. xli. 29. To fow the wind, and reap the whirlwind, is to contrible unprofitable fchemes, that iffue in the ruin of the contrivers, Hof. viii. 7. To inherit ind, is to possess what is unfubflantial and hurtful, Prov. xi. 29. The Ifraelites fed on wind and followed after cast-wind; their dependence on the Syrians, Affyrians, or Egyptians, did them no real fervice, but much hurt, blafting and ruining the r country, and fo increased their lies ana falfebood, and haftened the defolation of their country, Hof. xii. 1.

WIN [562] WIN

To wind; (1.) To go round about, Ezek. xli. 7. (2.) To warp; roll up, John xix. 40.

WINDOW; a well-known paffage for the light to enter into, and illuminate houses. LATTESSES, or CASE-M'NTS, were the windows, or the netwo. of wire in them, before the invention of glafs, Judg. v. 28. 2 Kings i. 2. The ordinances of God are called windows and latteffes; by means of them is his church enlightened in this world, and thereby Christ and his people meet together, and fee one another, Song ii. 9. If. lx. 9. liv. 12. The narrow windows of the temple represented these ordinances as giving but fmall degrees of light in the ceremonial, and even in the militant flate; and there being one over against another, may denote, that divine ordinances, if duly used, do mutually cast light upon one another, I Kings vi. 4. vii. 4. Our cye-holes are called windows, because we receive the light by them, Eccl. xii. 3. The clouds, efpecially when they plentifully pour forth their rain, are called the wind ws of heaven; but ARUBOTH may fignify cataraëts or spouts, Gen. vii. 11. viii. 2. In allusion whereto, the windows of heaven are faid to be opened, when God bestows his blestings upon men in a plentiful degree, Mal. iii. to.; or when he pours forth terrible and overwhelming judgements upon them, If. xxiv. 18.

WINE. See VINE.

WINGS; these feathery members of fowls, wherewith they fly in the air, Job xxxix. 13. The Hebrews gave the name of a ving to any thing that refembled it; as, (1.) The skirt of a garment, Ruth iii. + 9. Jer. ii. + 34. (2.) The outfide or end of a country. Job xxxviii. † 13. If. xxiv. 16. (3.) The battlement of a house: hence perhaps what of the temple our Saviour stood upon, is called a pinnacle or wing, Matth. iv. 5. (4.) The fpreading and warming rays of the fun, Mal. iv. 2. (5.) The fails of ships, or the shadows of high mountains, Is. xviii. 1. (6.) An army ipread out like wings, Ii. viii. 8.; and fo the aving of abomination, anay denote the Roman armies who rendered Judea a defolation, Dan. ix. + 27. (7.) The motions of the wind, Pfal. xviii. 10. As the wings and feathers of birds are instrumental of their slight, and of hiding, protecting, and warming their young, wings and feathers, ascribed to God or Christ, import his speed to deliver his people, and the full and comfortable, and grace-increasing protection and influence they receive from his righteoufness, love, power, promife, and providence, Ruth ii. 12. Pfal xvii. 8. xci. 4. Matth. xxiii. 37. Wings aferibed to cherubims, feraphims, and living creatures, import the readiness and activity of angels and ministers in the fervice of God, If. vi. Ezek. i. x. The faints wings, are their faith, love, hope, holy affection, and heavenly meditation, whereby they mount up towards their Saviour, and things above, If. xl. 31. The two wings of a great eagle, given to the true church, for flying with into the wilderness, may denote God's special assistance, in bearing her up, protecting, and comforting her, and directing to proper methods of fecurity against Antichriftian corruptions, Rev. xii. 14. Wings afcribed to Pharaoh, Nebuchadnezzar, and Alexander, and their kingdoms or armies, may denote the rapidity of their conquests, the extent of their dominion, and their great power to protect protect their subjects and allies but Alexander's four wings, may also denote the partition of his empire into four kingdoms soon after his death, Ezek, xvii. 3. 7. Dan, vii 3. 6. The noify win s of the locusts under the sight trumpet, may denote the wide-spread armies of the Savacens, or the wide-spread threatenings and excommunications of the Romish clergy, Rev. (x. 9)

WIN [563] WIS

WINKING with the eye, is expressive of mockery and derision or of giving one a token to do his neighbour are injury, Prov. vi. 13. x. c. Plat. xxxv. 19. God's wirking at the times or ignseance, imports his patient long-fuffering towards the heathen world, Acts xvii. 30.

WINNOW; to clean corn by exposing it to the wind, that the chaff and dust may be blown away. If, xxx. 24. God's winnowing of mens path, and lying down, denotes his perfect knowledge thereof, and his trysting men with frequent trials, Plal. cxxxix.

WINTER; the cold feafon, when fields and trees are barren, grafs withered, and florms frequent. In the middle division of the earth, called the torrid zone, which is about 3270 miles broad from fouth to north, they have generally two winters a-year, but both of them very warm. In countries near to the poles, they have what we might call a perpetual winter: nay even in Sweden, one might fay, nine months are a fevere winter, and all the rest of the year is fumme. In fome places the winter is fo excessively cold, that it is almost impossible to escape being frozen to death: Gen. viii. 22. Even in Canaan, great men had their warmer houses for the winter season, as well as their cooler ones for the fummer, Jer. xxxvi. 22. Amos iii. 15.; and indeed there the winter is very wet and cold, especially between the 2th of December and 20th of January, its cold is fometimes deadly, Mat xxiv. 20. Seasons of temptation, persecution, and diffress, are like to a winter; or fummer and winter, may fignify all the year long; perpetually, Zech. xiv. 8. The winter is past, and the rain is over and gone; i.e. the cold, dark, and barren period of the caremonies is past, and the storms of divine wrath are fully exhausted on Christ: the barren winter of unregeneracy, and of curses lying on the conscience, is over: the days of deadness. unstruitfulness, and perfecution in the church, and of temptation, defertion, and spiritual grief or stupidity in the soul, are over, Song in it. To winter, is to live or stay during the winter, Is. xviii. 6. Acte xxviii

WIPE; gently to rub off dust, wetnefs, or the like, from any thing, John xiii. 5. God wipes away his peoples tears, when he removes all their grounds of grief, and fills them with joy unfpeakable and full of glory, If. xxv. 8. Rev. vii. 17. He wipes not out mens good deeds, when he accepts and rewards them, Neh. xiii. 14. God wiped Jerusalem as a ish, turning it upfide down, when he grievously af-flicted the Jews, and unhinged the conflitution of their church and state, by the Affyrians, Egyptians, and Chaldeans, 2 Kings xxi. 13. The whore's wiping of her mouth, imports her impudent refufal of guilt; or her pretences to holiness and chastity, Prov. xxx. 20. An adulterer's reproach shall not be wiped away: i. s. shall scarce ever cease Prov vi. 33.
WISE; (1.) Prudent in the management of things, Gen. xli. 33. (2.) Learned: knowing, Rom. i. 14. God is only wife; he alone has in and of himselt an infinite knowledge of all things, and is poffeffed of an infinite prudence, for the direction and management of all things, Rom. xvi. 27. 1 Tim. i. 17. 13.) Godly; pious; being taught of God, and made wife unto falvation, Prov. xiii 14. 2 Tim. iii. 15. (4.) Skilful artificers, Exod. xxviii. 3. (5.) Subtle; witty, 2 Sam. 6. Puffed up with a conceit of their own wildom, 2 Cor. xi. 19. Rom. xii. 16. Wise also ngnifies, manner, respect, rate, Numb. vi.

4 B 2

23. Exod. xxii. 13. The wife men of Egypt, Chaldea, &c. not only comprehended their philosophers, ailronomers, and other adepts of natural fcience; but also their diviners; fee DIVINATION, Gen. xli. S. Dan. ii. 10. -14. What the wife men, who, excited by the reports of the future appearance of the Messah, and by the appearance of an extraordinary flar, came to visit our Saviour, infe after his birth, were; whether magicians; or whether of the feet of the Persian magians, who believed two subordinate principles, one of good, and another of evil, and detefted images and temples, and worshipped God only by the emblem of fire; or whether they were only philosophers, we cannot determine. Nor know we a whit better, what particular country they came from; whether from Perfia, Chaldea, or eastern Arabia; nor what time they took up in their journey: nor whether the extraordinary flar went before them all the way till they came near to Jerusalem. But being arrived there, they enquired where was the born King of the Jews, whose ftar they had feen in the east. Informed by Herod, after his deliberation with his council, that Bethlehem was the place marked out in prophecy for the birth of the Messah, they had scarce departed from Jerusalem, when the flar, to their great joy, appeared, and directed them to the very house. As soon as they came in, they worshipped him, and presented him with various gifts, gold, frankincente, and myrrh. Thus the Gentiles began to gather to Shiloh. Herod had charged them to come back, and inform him where they found the young Melbut being warned by an angel in cream, they went home another way, and, no doubt, fpread the report of the Messiah's birth, Matth. ii.

WISDOM; (1.) Prudence and difcretion to perceive what is fit or unfit to be done, with respect to time, place, manner, instruments, or end, of an action, Eccl. ii. 13. (2.) Knowledge of Liences; so Moses was learned in all the wisdom of the Egyptians, Acts vis-22. (3.) Quickness of invention and dexterity in framing of curious works: with fuch wiften Bezaleel and Aholiab were qualified to fashion the pertinents of the tabernacle, Exod. xxxi. 2. 5. (4.) Craftiness in carrying on projects: fuch was the willow of Pharaoh in oppreffing the Hebrews. Exod. i. 10.; and of Jonadab, who contrived how Amnon might he with his half-fifter, 2 Sam- xiii. 3 The three laft are called the avifdom of thei avorld. I Cor. ii. 6. (c.) Natural inflinct and fagacity: thus the offrich is made without wifdom, Job xxxix. 17. (6.) True godlinefs, wherein one being taught of God to know his will, feeks what is proper and thuns what is improper, and thudies to perform every duty in the proper feafon thereof, Pfal. xc. 12. Job xxviii. 28 .: this wildom is from above, is a special gift of God; is pure, making men careful to avoid error, and every thing finful, and to cleave to truth and holiness; is peaceable, dispofing men to make and keep peace with others, as far as is confiftent with holiness: it is gentle, disposing men to bear with the infirmities of others, and to forgive injuries, and interpret every thing to the best sense it will bear: it is eafy to be intreated, making men readily to receive the perfualious of God's word, and yield to good counsel and reason: it is full of mercy and pity towards fuch as are in poverty or dittrefs, or have offended: it is full of good fruits, benevolence, liberality, brotherly-kindnefs: it is without partiality, not preferring one to another on carnal accounts; and without hypocrify, disposing a man to unseigned holiness, and to judge himfelf by the law whereby he judges others, Jam. i. 17. (7.) The gospel is called suifdom, and the wisdom of God in a mystery, or hidden avisdom: it is a display of the wife purposes and methods of God concerning the falvation of men, and renders them wife unto falvation. No creature could discover it Anciently, it was altogether unknown among the Gentile nations, and was but darkly revealed to the Jews in mysterious types; nor is it even now fully understood, I Cor. ii. 6. 7. (8.) Christ is called wifdom, and the wisdom of God: as God he is infinitely wife: as God-man Mediator, all the treasures of wissom and knowledge are hid in him: he hath infinite wifdom for managing all the affairs of providence and grace to promote our falvation: in him is given the most grand and full display of the wisdom and knowledge of God: he is made of God to us wisiom; he favingly reveals to us the nature and will of God, and renders us wife unto falvation, Proviii. 19. viii. ix. Wifdom is justified of her children: that Jesus Christ was no wine-bibber, or gluttonous person, but one perfectly righteous, and the true Messiah, is truly believed, professed, and evidenced by the practice of his true followers: and the gospel, and true godliness founded thereon, are sufficiently acknowledged to be full of wisdom, holiness, and equity; and by fuch as devote themselves to the study and practice of holiness, are vindicated against all the cavils of the ungodly, Matth. xi. 19. The mouth of the righteous speaketh wisdom; when the discourses of others are wicked or vain, his are pious and profitable, flowing from an inward knowledge of God, turning upon divine things as their object, and tending to render men wife unto falvation, Pfal. xxxvii. 30. wisdom of God in the hand of Ezra, was either the law of God which he studied the knowledge of, or his knowledge of it, Ezra vii. 25. The wifdom that Solomon had, implied knowledge of fciences, and fagacity and prudence for government, 1 Kings iii. 9. 12. In the wifdom of God, the world by wifdom knew not God; God wifely fo orderectit, that neither by the discoveries of God in the works of creation and providence, nor by all their philofophy, did the heathens attain to the true and faving knowledge of God, 1 Cor. i. 21. The wisdom of this world, and of its princes, which comes to nought, is their carnal policy in managing temporal or state affairs; or the maxims relative thereto, which ofe rather promote ruin, than fecure men against it, I Cor. ii. 7. Fleshly wifdzzn, is that craft and carnal policy which tends to promote the fervice of fin, 2 Cor. i. 12. No doubt, ye are the people, and wifdom shall die with you; i. e. you imagine yourselves the only wise persons, and that, if you were dead, knowledge of divine things would perish from the earth; an irony, Job xii. 2. Scorners feek wifdom, but find it not; their attempts towards knowledge do but render them vain and felfconceited, Prov. xiv. 6. To preach the gospel with wisdom of words, or words of man's wisdom, or excellency of speech, is to do it in bombast and affected eloquence, pompous and fwollen phrases, 1 Cor. i. 17. ii. 1. 4.

WISH; to defire; to pray for,

3 John 2. Jon. iv. S.

WIT, wot; to know, Gen. xxi. 26. We do you to wit, is an obfolete phrase for we inform you, 2 Cor. viii. 1. To be at one's wit's end, is to be in such perplexity as not to know what to do, Psal. cvii. 27. WITTINGLY, is wisely; warily; well knowing what he did, Gen. xlviii. 14. WITTY, is dexterous; that requires great wisdom and skill, Prov. viii. 12.

WITCH is a woman, and WIZARD is a man that has dealing with Satan, if not actually entered into formal compact with him. That fuch persons are among men, is abundantly plain from feripture, and that they ought to be put to death, Deut. xviii. 10. Exod. xxii. 18. It is plain, however, that great caution is necessary in the detection of the guilty, and in punishing them, left the innocent fuffer, as many instances in New England, and other places, shew. Nor can I believe that peoples standing in awe of persons as fuspected for this infernal power, is any thing else than an indirect worshipping of Satan. WITCHCRAFT comprehends all kinds of influence produced by collution with Satan, and excludes the user from the kingdom of God, Gal. v. 20. The witchcrafts of

Ninevel, may import the divination

WIT [566] WIT

there practifed; and also their deceitful and enfuaring behaviour to the nations around, Nah. iii. 4. See BE-WITCH.

WITHAL; (1.) Also, I Kings xix. 1. (2.) Wholly, Pfal. cxli. 10. (3.) With; by means of, Exod. xxv.

29. XXX. 1.

WITHDRAW; (1.) To cease; leave off, 1 Sam. xiv. 19. (2.) To remove, Job xiii. 21. (3.) To draw or turn aside, Job xxxiii. 17. (4.) To entice: seduce, Deut. xiii. 13. To absent; forbear keeping company with, Prov. xxv. 17. God and Christ withdraw themselves, when they cease granting fweet intimacy with men, and initead of delivering them, give them up into the hands of their enemies, or to distress and forrow, Song v. 6. Hos. v. 6. God withdraws his right hand, when he fermingly works nothing for their advantage, and does not support or protect them as formerly, Pf. lxxiv. He withdraweth not his eyes from the righteous; never ceases his tender observation of or care about them, Job xxxvi. 7. To withdraw from brethren that walk disorderly, from men of corrupt minds, or Antichristians, is to forbear familiar intimacy with them, and cease from religious fellowship with them in the feals of the new covenant, 2 Theff. iii. 6. I Tim. vi. 5. 2 Tim.

WITHER: to dry up, and decay, Jer. xii. 4. Men wither, when they lose their vigour of life or prosperity, and sall under weakness, poverty, and distress, Psal. xc. 6. Ezek. xvii. 9. 10. Psal. cii. a.; or when they less their sair profession, or activity in grace, and become apparently carnal and wicked, or inactive and slothful in holiness, Matth. xiii. 6. Jude xii. Psal. cii. 4. The top of Carmel shull wither; the mest fertile and well inhabited places shall become barren and desolate, Amos

i. 2.

WITH HOLD. See RESTRAIN.

WITHIN; 1.) In the infide of a house. city, vessel, &c. Ezek. iii. 24. (2.) Ere a certain time be sinished, Lev. xxv. 29. Judg. xi. 26. (3.) In the heart, Mat. xxiii. 25.—27. 2 Cor. v. 7. 4. In the church, as members thereof, 1 Cor. v. 12. WITHOUT; (1... On the outfide of an house. &c. 2 Kings x. 24. (2.) Wanting possession, worship command, assistance, company, happiness, Eph. ii. 2. 2 Chr. xv. 3. 2 Kings xviii. 25. 1 Pet. iii. 1. (3.) Not members of the church, 1 Cor. v. 22. 13. Col. iv. 5. (4.) Shut out from heaven; cast into hell, Rev. xxii. 15. '5.) Publicly in the ordinances of the gospel, and among the Gentiles, Prov. i. 20. Song viii. 1.

W!THS; twisted boughs, willows, &c. fuch as those wherewith faggots are often bound together, Judg. xvi.

7.8.

WITHSTAND; effectually to oppose, Dan. xi. 15. Paul withstood Peter to the face, when he sharply rebuked him, and checked his dissimulation, Gal. ii. 11.

WITNESS. (1.) One who folemnly, or upon oath, gives his declaration concerning a matter, Numb. v. 13. No person is to be condemned on the testimony of one witness; but at least two or three are to depose harmonioully for proving the fame or a fimilar fact. As fome men, especially such as are given to fwearing in their common conversation, by prejudice, or by the influence of a bribe, are ready to fwear falfely, God, to deter the Hebrew witnesses from false swearing, appointed them to begin the execution of the fentence against him that was condemned to death upon the footing of their deposition, by cashing the first stone at bim, Deut. xvii. 6. 7. witness was detected of false testimony, he was condemned to the very same form of punishment to which his talse deposition tended to bring his neighbour, Deut. xix. 6 .- 18. When our Saviour was crucified, his adversaries fuborned as many false witnesses as they could; but their tellimony never agreed on any thing criminal, Mark xiv. 55. 56. False with-sfes too were suborned against NABOTH and STEPHEN, 1 Kinga xxi, 10. 13. Acts vi. 13. God is a witness, and swift witness, against finners, WIT [567] WIT finners, false swearers, or others: he observes, and will speedily manifest and punish their sin, Jer. xxix. 23. Mal. iii. 5. Christ is a witness given to the people: faithfully and folemnly he de clares to men the various truths of the gospel; and the conditution of his per fon and mediation, and his word, miracles, oath, death, and ordinances, do all concur to atted the fame, Rev. i. 5. iii. 15. If lv. 4. The Holy Ghott is a witness: by his powerful miracles, and by his influences on the confcience of men, he attells the truth of God's word, and the Meffinhship of Christ by caufing to understand the marks of real grace laid down in fcripture, by fhining on, and quickening our holy dispositions, and enabling us to discern the reality of our grace, and by a mighty application of the promifes, he bears witness with our spirits, that we are the children of God, Rom. viii. 16. Heb. x. 15. As the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost, are heavenly witnesses, attefting the mission and incarnation of Christ, and his being given to us, and cternal life in him; fo the Spirit, i. e. the Holy Ghost's extraordinary and ordinary influence, and his refidence in the hearts of his people, the water, the purity and holiness of Christ's life, the doctrines of the pospel, the ordinance of baptism, and the fanctification of the faints, and the blood, the expiatory fuffering of Chrift, and representation of it in the supper, the justification of his people, and their fufferings for his fake, do all on earth attest the same: and he that believes hath the witness in himself: has the truth attested and verified in his heart, and his confcience bears witness thereto; and he has the fix witnesses as it were dwelling in his foul, John v. 7 .- 9. Mens own confcience and spirit bears witness, by caufing them to affent to the truth of the gospel, Rom. vi. 16. Prophets, apoftles, and ministers, are witnesses: upon their certain knowledge, they foleanly declare the truth concerning God's perfections, will, and work, and concerning Jesus's person, and offices, and states; and concerning the world, that the deeds of it are evil, Rom. iii. 22. Acts x. 43. v. 32. The faints are God's winnesses: by their profession and practice, they folemnly attest the excellencies of a God in Christ, the truth and importance of his word, the grace and glory of his works, and the vanity of every thing in comparison of him, If. xliii. 1c. 12. xliv. 8.: and when they bear witness unto death, they are called MARTYRS, Rev. ii. 14. The minifters and Christians who oppose the abominations of Antichrift, are Chrift's two, finall, but sufficient number of nustneffer, who, affilted of God. continue prophelying, adhering to, and declaring divine truths, clothed in fack loth, in a humble, diffreffed, and mourning condition. They fland before God, are under his special care and protection, and live as under his eye: fire goeth out of their mouth to hurt their enemies; the gospel they preach or profess, tends to the ruin of Antichrift, and their prayers bring judgements upon him: they shut heaven by solemn censure, or by declaring of God's threatenings. Nor does the rain of gospel-truth or influence fall on the Popish state; and their witneffing occasions bloody wars. Antichrist at last almost ruins them; but God shall suddenly render them more powerful than ever. Rev. xi. 3. -19. See CHURCH. - Whatever manifests the truth of any point, is called a witness; so the impudent shew of finners countenance, and their boldnefs in fin, is a witnefs against them, that they deferve and are ripe for calamities, II. iii. 9. Job's troubles were witnesses of his guilt, and of God's great difpleasure with him, Job x. 17. xvi. 8. The moon is a faithful witness, that God keeps his covenant with day and night, to cause them return in their featon; and the rainbow is a faithful witness, a never-tailing token of God's covenant to preferve the earth from a fecond deluge, Pfal. lxxxix. 37. Rain and fruitful feafons are witnelles of God's continued patience and kindness to men, Acts xiv. 17. The fettlement of the true religion in Egypt, was a witness to the Lord; a proof of his redeeming power and kindness, and of his exact accomplishment of his promifes, If. xix. 20. (2.) WITNESS or TESTIMONY, fignifies also the folemn declaration of a witness, or the truth attested, 1 John v. 9. Acts xiv. 5. The two tables of the moral law are called a testimony, because they were proofs of the covenant-relation between God and Ifrael, and infallibly declared what he required of them, Exod. xxv. 16. 21. xxxi. 18. The whole word of God is called his testimonies, as therein is Tolemnly declared what we ought to believe, and practife, or expect, Pial. xix. 7. His law is a testimony, as it solemnly declares his will and our duty, 2 Kings xi. 12. The gospel is a testimony that declares what God has done for and is ready to give to funers, for their eternal falvation, 1 Cor. i. 6. ii. 1. 2 Tim. i. 8. The witness or testimony of Jesus, is the truths he declared, and of which he is the subject-matter and end, and which his people believe and profess concerning him, Rev. xx. 4. i. o.; and it is called the faints teftimony, as they profess and adhere thereto, even unto death, Rev. xii. 11. xi. 7. To have the testimony of Jesus Christ, is to preach his gospel, and abide firmly in the profession, faith, and maintenance of his truth, Rev. xix. 10. WITNESS, BEAR WITNESS, OF TESTIFY, is, (1.) Solemaly to declare a point before a judge, Acts xx. 24. xxvi. 5. (2.) Boldly and folemnly to declare any point, John iii. 11. v. 32. 1 Tim. vi. 13. (3.) Seriously and folemnly to lay a charge or a truth home to mens conscience, Pl. 1.7. Nen. xiii. 15. WIZARD. Sec WITCH.

WO, is a word of mourning. Wo evorth; alas for! Ezek. xxx. 2. Woes one; alas! how unhappy I am! Pfal. cxx. 5. A wo, is an heavy calamity; the rife of Popery and Mahometifin, the 396 years ravage of the Ottoman Turks, and the fearful overthrow of Popery and Mahometifin, are the three terrible woes, that, under the 5th, 6th, and 7th apocalyptic trumpets, fall on the inhabitants of the earth, Rev. viii. 13. ix. 12. xi. 14. Wo, in curses and threatenings, denotes the approach of some heavy calamity. Mat. xxiii. 13.—29. Worut, full of distress and forrow, Jer. xvii. 26.

WOLF. Wolves are four footed beafts of the dog kind, with their tail bending inward, and their ears pricked up. Their head is squarish, and their hair greyish. They are crafty, greedy, ravenous, fierce, and of a quick smell: they abide in forcits, and are great enemies to cattle: they howl initead of barking: they can bear hunger long, but are then exceeding fierce, and will fall on either man or beast that comes in their way, or even upon one another. Hence in the evening, when they come hungry out of their holes, they are most sierce and dangerous, Jer. v. 6. Hab. i. 8. Nay, they are ordinarily timorous, except when hunger prompts them. Throwing of stones, fight of fire, found of bells or of finging, it is faid, terrifies them. In cloudy and dark days, they attack flocks of sheep, but go contrary to the wind, that the sheep. dogs may not fmell them out. It is faid, the females grow more fruitful by one, every year till the ninth. Many other things I omit, as I suspect them to be fabulous. Wicked rulers and others, chiefly perfecutors, are likened to woves: their god is their belly; they delight in darkness; they harafs and dellroy Chrift's sheep; and if mercy change them not, they shall howl for ever in hell, Ezek xxii. 27. Matth. x. 16. The well dwells with the lamb, and the leopard lies down with the kid; and the young lion and the fattling together, and a little child leads them; and the cow and bear feed and tie down together, and the fucking child puts his hand on the hole of the app, and the weaned child puts his hand upon the cockatrice-uen, when perfecutors, and the very worlt of men, are converted by the gospel, and kindly coalesce with the poorest and meekest faints, into one church, If. xi. 6 .- 8. lxv. 25. The Chaldeans, and the Jewish rulers, are likened to evening wolves, to mark their infatiable avarice, and readiness. WOM [569] WOO readiness to deftroy every one that comes in the way, Jer. v. 6. Hab. i. 8. Zeph. iii. 3. The tribe of Benjamin ravene as a wolf; their warriors were fierce: twice, 25,000 of them put about 360,000 of the other tribes to flight near Gibeah, and the remnant of them feized the young women of Shiloh, Judg. xx. xxi. In the beginning of his reign, haut mightily haraffed the Philistines, Moabites, and others, and dettroyed most of the Amalekites, I Sam. xiv. xv. By means of Mordecai and Etther, two Benjamites, Haman and about 75.000 of the lews enemies were flain, Eth. ix. After ceasing his perfecution of the faints, how ufeful was Paul in ravaging the kingdom of Satan, and converting multitudes to Christ! Gen. xlix 27.

WOMAN. See MAN.

WOMB; that part of the mother's belly wherein children are conceived and nourished till their birth, Luke i. 31. The womh of the morning, are the clouds which distil their drops of dew; and may represent the church, in the apostolic age, bringing forth multipudge to Christ. Pfal. ex. 2 multitudes to Christ, Pfal. cx. 3. WONDER; MARVEL; (1.) To be ftruck with furprife at the fight or thought of any thing strange and uncommon, Jer. iv. 9. (2.) To exercife a reverential regard to any thing; or with wonder to adore and ferve it, Rev. iii. 13. Wonders of Marvels, (. Things strange and attonishing, as the more rare appearances of nature, Pfal. cvii. 27.; or the miracles which God wrought in delivering Ifrael out of Egypt, Pfal. cv. 27. (2.) A token or fign: thus Isaiah was a avon er on Egypt and Ethiopia, as his walking without his upper robe, and barefoot, was a prefage of calamities to these countries, If. xx. 3. The faints are wonders, or men wondered at: they are objects of the wonderful kindness and care of God, and are wondered at by carnal men, as persons foolish and odd in their faith and practice, If. viii 18. David was a wonder to many; was a kind of spec-VOL. II.

tacle, because of his diffress, Pfal. IXXI. 7. WONDERFUL, MARVELLOUS; hard to be done; not éafy, or impoffible to be understood, 2 Sam. xiii. 2. Job v. 9. Christ is wonderful; i his divine nature; in his eternal generation; in his office of Mediat r, and the execution thereof; in the depth of his debasement, and glory of his exaltation; in his kindnefs to his people; in his dwelling in their heart by faith, he is altogether amazing and incomprehentible, If. ix. 6. God thewed himself marve lous upon 705: he inflicted very uncommon troubles upon him, Job x. 16.

on him, Job x. 10. WOOD; (1.) The timber of trees,

Gen. xxii. 6. They used it for fuel, though they had but little of it in Judea; and it was all private property: and to fall under the woon, is to faint under the most slavish service, as bearing of wood, Lam. v. 13. Cedar is the wood of Lebanon, Song iii. 9. See CHA-RIOT. The Affyrian army before [erusalem were as wood or fuel, when the Lord by some fiery plague cut off 185,000 of them in one night, If. xxx. 33. Doctrines vain, empty, and talfe, which cannot abide the trial of God's word, which is likened to a fire, are called woo!, I Cor. iii. 12. (2.) An idol made of wood, Hab. ii. 19. (3.) A FOREST, or multitude of trees growing together; or the place where they grow. It is probable that marshes producing shrubs were called woods. In fuch a one, might David's battle with Absalom be, as it is certain ancient warriors used to encamp in them; and they were extremely fatal to a flying army, 2 Sam. xviii. 6. 8. There were a variety of forests in Canaan; as the forest of Hareth, in the fouth of Judah, I Sam. xxii. 5.; of mount Ephraim, Josh. xvii. 18.; of Bethel, 2 Kings ii. 14.; and of Carmel, 2 Kings xix, 23. On the east of Jordan was a forest called the good of Ephraim, because there lephthous had routed and cut off multitudes of the Ephraimites, 2 Sam. xviii. 6. Judg. xii. 5. We read 4 fo of the forest of Arabia, 11. xxi. 13.; but that of Leba-4 C on is the most noted, and it is called the king's forest, as the Persian kings took it under their special care, Neh. ii. 8. The Affyrian army is called a forest: how numerous, and how state ly was their appearance! but how foon were they confumed by the wrath of God! If. x. 18, 19, xxxii, 19, Egypt and her numerous cities, or their large army under Pharaoh-necho, is called a forest, Jer. alvi. 23. Jerusalem is called the forest of the fouth field; it lay near the fouth of Canaan; the Chaldeans marched fouthward to it. and numerous were its houses and inhabitants, Ezek. xx. 46. A dangerous and troublefome-like condition. is likened to a wood, where ferpents and wild beafts abound; and to fleep safely in wildernesses and woods, is to enjoy the most complete fafety and happiness, Ezek. xxxiv. 25.

WOOL was anciently plucked off the sheep, though alive; and so a fleece borne by a sheep at a time, was called by the Romans Vellus, the pluck ing. In China the sheep are shorn thrice every year. Anciently the best wool was had from about Damascus, Ezek. xxvii. 18.; now the Spanish is reckoned the best in Europe. In countries either too cold or too hot, the wool is coarfe or short. Snow is like weel, in foftness and whiteness; its broad flakes are like locks of wool, and it warms the earth as a woollen garment does the body, Pfal. cxlvii. Crimfon-like, or very aggravated transgressions, are as white wool, when fully pardoned, If. i. 18. perstition, carnal sloth, and self-righteousness, are like wool that causeth how defiling and fatiguing! Ezek. xliv. 17. See WHITE.

WORD; (1.) A speech, expressing report, request, command, promite, &c. Gen. xxxvii. 14. xliv. 181 Exod. viii. 13. Dan. iii. 28. 2 Sam. vii. 25. The kingdom of God is not in word, but in power; God does not exect his church by mere words, but by the almighty influences of his pirit, 1 Cor. iv. 20. Men tove not in word, nor in tongue, but in deed and in truth, when they show their love, not chiefly in kind speeches, but in kind works, 1 John iii 18. (2.) The thing about which a speech is made: fo the affair of John Baptist's birth, is called a word, Luke i. 65. "o whom hast thou uttered words? an whose spirit came from thee? Doft thou not know, that he to whom you speak knows all that you have faid; and that his circumitances are not proper for fuch a discourse? Have you not rather repeated what Eliphaz faid, than fpoken under the direction of God's Spirit? and what encouragement have you ever given to my drooping spirit? Job xxvi. 4. The word of Golis, (1.) Jefus Chritt, who, by the Chaldee paraphrast, and by the apostles and others, is called the word. He is the express image of his Father, as words are of our thoughts. He spoke for us in the council of peace; he spoke all things into being at the creation; he spoke to the ancient patriarchs and prophets; he preached the gospel in the days of his fle h; he speaks for men in his intercession; and fpeaks to their hearts in the day of his power; and he is the great subject. matter of what is spoken in scripture, John i. 1. 4. Rev. xix. 13. (2.) The declared will of God in the scripture, doctrines, commands, promifes, threatenings, histories, predictions, Rev. xix. o. Rom. ix. 6.; and it, chiefly the gospel, is the word of Christ, as he is the author, subject-matter, and end of it, Col. iii. 16. The word of righteousness, as it reveals to us the righteoutness of Christ, is the sole price of our salvation; and it teaches us to follow righteoulness, faith, and charity, Heb. v. 13. It is the word of taith is a declaration of divine truths, to be received and credited by us, as the ground of our claim to falvation, Rom. x. 8. It is the word of falvation, as it reveals and offers to us a full falvation; and by believing and improving it, are we possessed of begun falvation, and prepared for eternal glory, Acts xiii. 20. It is the works of this life: it is now preached to men; and by it they become partakers of eternal life, Acts v. 20. The word of God's grace, and the word of life, or eternil life, is either Christ, who is freely given to be our Saviour, and by whom we have our spiritual and eternal life; or the word of God's gospelpromifes, which declare and convey the free favours of God to men, for the quickening and eternal falvation of their foul, Acts xx. 32. I John i. John vi. 68. Phil. ii. 16. The award of the oath, is God's aucient and folemn declaration, that Christ should be a priest for ever, Heb. vii. 18. The word of wisdom and of knowle ge, is an eminent faculty wifely to take up and publish divine things, 1 Cor.

WOR [571] WOR

To WORK; to act in making, forming, ordering, or upholding things, 1 Cor. xii. 6. James 1. 3. Pfal. lii. 2. (z.) To prepare; make meet: fo God works glory for his people, and he works them into a meetness for it, Pfal. xxxi. 18 2 Cor. v. 5. To work Got's judgements, is to obey his laws, observe his ordinances, and be duly affeeted with his strokes, Zeph. ii. 3. All things work together for the good of the faints; their troubles work for them an exceeding and eternal weight of glory; God, by his wife disposal of them, and by his influence accompanying them, makes them concur to alarm and excite them to their duty here, and to prepare them for the future glory hereafter, Rom. viii. 28. 2 Cor. iv. 17.

A WORK of DEED, (1.) Temporal labour. Such as may be done on the fix labouring days, Exod. xx. 9. (2.) Any kind of agency in thought, word, or act, Eccl. xii. 14. (3.) An uncommon or miraculous work. John vii. 21. (4.) The thing effected by any agency or influence: so all creatures are the work of God's hands. Joh xxxiv. 19. (5.) The materials for forning an effect out of, particularly for building, Prov. xxiv. 27. (6.) The wages or reward of a work, Lev. xix. † 13. J. b vii † 2. Rev. xiv. 13. The work of God is, (1.) That which he effects, as of creation, Gen. ii. 2. : or of providence, John v. 17. If. v. 1 .. Hab. iii. 2 ; or of redemption, John ix. 4. Thele are God's marvellous works, I Chron. xvi. 12. Rev xv. 3. In redemption, each of the divine persons have their distinct station and work. See God. (2.) The works which God commands us to do, John vi. 25.; and fo fervice done to Christ is called his work 1 Cor. xv. 58. xvi. 10. Phil. ii. 3 . Faith is the work of God, as he produces and maintains it in us, and as he commands us to practife it, John vi. 29. Mens works, are either, (1.) Good, proceeding from a right principle and motive, directed by God's law, and in a right manner, calculated to promote his honour, and our own true happiness. Such works not being performed under the law as a covenant, cannot enter into our justification; nor, because of imperfection, are they fit to do it; but they manifest one to be justified, and possessed of true faith; and justify him against the charges of men, Eph. ii. 10. Rom. iii. 20. Gal. ii. 16. James ii. 24. Or, (2.) Bad works, which are performed by men not united to Christ, not possessed of true grace, not performed from regard to the authority of God, nor with a view to promoto his glory: these are works of the flesh, and see s of the voay of indwelling fin; flow from a carual and corrupt nature, and cannot justify, but are an abomination to the Lord. Pfal. lix. 6. If. lvii. 2. Gal. v. 19. Row, viii. 13. They are dead works; proceed from no spiritual life, shew one s death or deadness in fin, and of themselves tend to prepare for eternal death, Heb. vi. 1. ix. 14. these are quorks of the law, that have fome fen blance of conformity to the law as a covenant: and to be of the works of the law, is to trust to our own works for eternal happiness, Gal. iii. 10.: but works of the law in general, are whatever it commands, Rom. in. 20 28. Some are works of darknefs, shameful transgressions of God's law, Rom. xiii. 12. Eph. v. 12. Thefe 4 C 2 are also the deeds and works of the devil, as he tempts to and exemplifies many of them, John viii. 41. 44. But his works also include the ruin of men, which he effects, I John iii. 8. Idols are the work of errors; error instigates men to form and worthip them, and they lead men from one error to another, Jei. x. 15. A WOREMAN is, (1.) One that labours in some handicraft, If. xl. 19. (2.) A minister who labours hard in preaching the gospel, 2 Tim. ii. 15. And WORKMANSHIP is, (1.) The art and labour in forming of things, Exod. xxxi. 2. (2.) The thing formed by art, 2 Kings xvi. 10. We are God's workmanship, made by him in creation, renewed by him in regeneration, being created anew in Christ Jesus, capable of, and difposed to good works. Eph. ii. 10. WORLD. The Jews diffinguith the world, in respect of place, into the lower world of earth and air, the world of heavens and ftars, and the highest world: or, as others, the world of earth and air, the world of angel-, the world of spheres and stars, an the highest world of spirits departed alled the third heaven. In refpect of duration, they diffinguish it into the old world before the flood, the prefent world before the Meffiah, the world to come under the Messiah, the world of the refurrection, and the eternal world. In allufion to these divisions, Paul mentions worlds, Hely. i. 2. In feripture, world denotes, (1.) The world containing; and that either the whole frame of heaven and earth together, and all things therein, John i 1. or the heavens and what they contain, Pfal. xc. 2.; or the ha bitable part of the earth, Pfal. xxiv. 1. xaviii. 7. (2.) The men that awell on this earth; and that either all of them Rom. v. 12.; or an indefinite number of them, John vii. 4. If. xiii. 11.; or many. a great part of them, Matth. xvin. 7. John iv. 42. Matth. xx.v. 14. xxvi. 13. Rom. i. 8. x. 18.; or all or must of the subjects of the Roman empire, fo called because of its extent, Luke ii. r. Rev. xiii. 3.

WOR 572 WOR

or the Gentiles as diftinguished from the lews, I John ii. 2.; or God's chofen people, his elect, Pfal. xxii. 27. John iii. 16. vi. 33. 51.: they may be fo called, because they are the subflance of the world, and because chiefly gothered from among the Gentiles; and hitherto mostly out of those countries once subject to the Romans: or the reprobate, wicked, and curfed part of the men on earth; fo called, because they are the greatest part of the men on earth | John v. 19. John xiv. 17. 22. xv. 19. xvii 9. Rev. xiii. 3. (3.) The carnal corruption that prevails on earth, Gal. i. 1. Eph. ii. 2. Jam. i 27. 1 John ii. 16. 4.) A worldly or earthly flate and condition, Pfal. lxxiii. 12. Luke xvi. 8. John xviii. 36. 1 John iv. 5.; to which may be reduced, the outward pomp, pleafure, and good things of a present life, Gal. vi. 14. 1 Cor. vii. 31. This world, denotes this earth in its present carnal and corrupt state, Tit. ii. 12. Chrift's kingdom is not of it, is not of an earthly rife, form, or tendency, John xviii. 36. That world, denotes the heavenly state, Luke xx. 35. The avorld to come, fignifies the gospel-period, after the refurrection of Christ, or the church in her New-Testament form, Heb. ii. 5. vi. 5.; or the future and eternal state, Matth. xii. 32. The elect and faints are given out of the world; fet afide from the rest of mankind, to be faved by, and fubject to Chrift, John xvii. 6.; but they are not out of it in respect of their abode, while they live on earth, John xvii. 15. Mens tongue is a world of iniquity; its words contain inconceivable wickedness; or, it is an ornament of iniquity, which oft fets off fin in fair colours, Jam. iii. 6. Worldly, is what is of a carnal and earthly nature, Tit. vi. 12. Heb. ix. 1.

WORMS, are creeping animals, almost infinite in number, and even in kinds: nay, vast numbers of insects, as bees, wasps, slies, &c. are worms in their first state of life. As worms are produced from eggs, multitudes of them breed in the human body from eggs thither conveyed. Multitudes of difeafes, as the itch, &c. are produced in the skin by a kind of worms. It feems Job's diffemper was owing to a collection of worms neftling in his skin and slesh, Job vii. 5. It is certain Herod was eaten up alive by them, Acts xii. 23.; and dead corples are devoured by them, Job xxi. 26. miv. 11. Some have even thought, that all matter was composed of living vermin. To denote mens earthlinefs, meannels, weaknels, and expolure to danger and corruption, they are called worms, Job xxv. 6. Mic. vii. 17. To mark our Saviour's debasement and bloody fuffering, he calls himfelf a fearlet-coloured avorm, and no man, Pfal. xxii. 6. Confeience, as for ever upbraiding and tormenting the wick ed in hell, is called a worm that dieth not, but as it were, for ever preys on their vitals, If. lxvi. 24. Mark 1x. 44.

WOR [573] WOR

WORMWOOD; an herb, of which Tournefort fays there are 24 kinds. It has a very bitter tafte, but is useful in medicine for killing worms in the belly, is a fine medicine for the stomach and liver, and is useful in the jaundice and dropfy: the very fmell of it is odious to vermin. Idolatry, profaneness, apostaly, and other wickedness, are likened to wormwood; how difagreable to God and his people! and in the end, how bitter to finners themfelves! Deut. xxix. 18. Heb. xii. 15. The end of an harlot is bitter as wormwood, and sharp as a two-edged fword; what pain, and ruin of character, body and foul, follows upon whoredom and uncleanness! Prov. v. Affliction and oppression are like cuormatoo, Lam. iii. 15. 19. See STAR.

WORSHIP; to bow down with reverence; and so worship, is, (1 \ Civil reverence, given to one of authority or worth, Matth. ix. 18. xviii. 6. Luke xiv. 10. (2.) Outward religious homage, given as an acknowledgement of Deity, Matth. iv. 10. Dan. iii. 5. 12. 14. (3.) Inward religious honour, whereby one thinks on, trusts to, loves and fears God, because of his infinite excellency, mercy. power, wif-lom, and the like, John iv. 74. The faints are the circumcifion, or really renewed perfons, who worship God in the spirit, with their spiritual powers, actuated by the Holy Ghost, and in the way of viewing and dealing with God as a most pure spirit, and have no confirence in the flesh, renouncing all dependence on the world, and particularly on their own righteoufness for acceptance, or on their strength for performance of duty, but rejaice in Christ. as their hufband, righteoufness, thrength, portion. and Lord, Phil. iii. 3. The church's enemies come and worthip before her feet, when they subject themselves to her authority, and manifest a due reverence and regard to her, Rev. iii. 9. Men worship the aragon and beist, when they adore the Romish emperors and popes, and comply with their superstitious, finful, and bla phemous laws, Rev. xiii. 4. Men worship devils, when, in compliance with their temptations, they profess their false doctrines, adore idols, that reprefent them, and deal with them in charms, and divination; or when they worship under the name of faints, perfons monstrously wicked, Rev. xix. 20. Deu. xxxii. 17.

WORST. The Chaldeans were the sworst of the Heathen, exceedingly given to idolatry, divination, covetousness, cruelty, &c. Ezek. vii. 24.

WORTH, is the just value of any thing, I Kings xxi. 2. WORTH, or worthy, is, (1.) Valuable; deferving; thus Jefus is worthy of all honour and glory, Rev. iv. 1 .. v. 9.12. Valiant men are called worthies, they could do great and mighty exploits, which deferved praise and reward, Nah. ii. 5.; and wicked men are avorthy of fearful calamities, Rev. xvi. 6: and the world is not worthy of eminent faints; it deferves not their prefence or ufefulnefs, Heb. xi. 38. (2.) Meet; answerable to; thus the faints walk worthy of the Lord, and of their vocation, Col i. 10. 1 Theff. ii. 12. Eph. iv. 1. The faints are worthy; being accepted in Jefus's imputed righteoutnefs, they by fanctification are made meet for the eternal glory, Rev. iii. 4. Luke xxi. 36. WOULD to God: O if God would grant; I wish to God, Exod. xvi. 3.

To WOUND; (1.) To make fores in the body with a fword, fcourge, or the like: and a wound, is a fore made by a fall, a fword, or like instrument, 2 Kings viii. 29. (2.) To distress, Deut. xxxii. 39. Song v. 7.: and fo great affliction in the foul, Prov. xviii. 14. and outward on the body, character, family, or nation, is called a wound. Job xxxiv. 6. Prov. vi. 33. Jer. x. 19. xv. 18. Reproof is called a wound, because it pains the offender, and tends to bring forth or expel the corruption of his offence, if it is kindly taken, Prov. xxvii. 6. The words of a tale. bearer are as wounds; they mar or ruin the character, trade, health, and prosperity, of men. Prov. xxvi. 22. Both fins and afflictions are wounds. If. i. o. One's wounds flink and are corrupt, when fins prevail, and lie heavy on the mind, and when afflictions exceedingly abound, Pfal. xxxviii. 4. See sound.

WRAP; (1.) To roll up in a covering, 1 Kings xix. 13. Men wrap up fin, when they agree together in it, and take methods to conceal it. Mic. vii. 3. The fword is wrapt up for flaughter; it is kept from rull by sheathing, and is just ready to execute the judgements of God on the Jews, Ezek. xxi. 15. (2.) To fasten; take hold of: the roots of the wicked are wrapt about the heaps of good soil, when they have a promising appearance of a stable prosperity, Job viii. 17.

WRATH; (1.) A furious passion, prompting one to revenge injuries, and do hurt, Gal. v. 20. (2.) The hurtful effects of such a surious passion, Prov. xxvii. 3. (3.) The just punish ment of crimes, Rom. xiii. 4.5. God's wrath denotes, (1.) His holy indignation at and readiness to punish sin, Rom. i. 18. (2.) His manifestation of his hatred at fin, in the just punishment thereof. in time and eternity, Psal. xc. 12. 1 Thess. v. 9. Men pass their days in God's wrath, when they spend them under the tokens of his displeature, Psal. xc. 9. His chastisement of his people, is called a little wrath; it marks his displeasure at their sin. but his love to their person; and it is far less durable or heavy than the destruction of the Jewish nation, which is called wrath to the uttermost; or than the future punishment of the wicked, which is wrath to come, still but a beginning, If. liv. 8. 1 Theff. ii. 16. i. 10. Wrath bringeth the punishments of the sword; mens wrath against the faints procures. and God's wrath against men brings on, fearful calamities, Job xix. 29. Men treasure up for themselves ourath against the day of wrath, when they expose themselves to just punishments, in time and through eternity. Rom. ii. 5. To be wroth, is to be full of wrath: God is wroth with his people as a kind Father, Plal. lxxxix. 38.; but he is not wroth with them as an angry Judge, If. liv. o.

WREATHS, or WREATHEN-WORK, was a kind of net-work interlaced with the form of fprigs, leaves, flowers, and fruit, and as it were twifted in the form of a rope: with fuch a golden wreath was the ephod faftened on the high-prieft's fhoulders: fuch a wreath, with 200 figures of potnegranates, was around the pommet of the pillars in the porch of Solomon's temple, Exod. xxviii. 14. 2 Chron. iv. 12. 13. Mens transgressions are arreathed or twisted about their neck, when they are fast entangled in the punishment of their fin, Lam. i. 14.

WREST; to turn by force to a wrong fense or purpose: so words are wrested, 2 Pet. iii. 16. Psal. lvi. 5. Judgement is wrested, when unjust fentences are given for or against men, Exod. xxiii. 2, 6.

WRESTLE; to struggle with one for victory. Jacob not only struggled with the Angel by handygrips, but chiefly by earnest and humble prayers for the bieffing, Gen. xxxii. 24.—26. With great wrestlings, or wrestlings of God. i. e. with violent defires and earnest endeavours, Rachel thought she obtained children by her handmaid, Gen. xxx. 8. The faints wrestle not with seeth and blood, but with principalities palities and powers; they watch againft, they relift temptations, and cry to God for support, and deliverance from fin, Satan, and the world, Eph.

WRE WRO

WRETCHED, is the same as MI-SERABLE. Sinners are wretched, destitute of the grace and favour of God, and under the power of their lufts, and liable to the everlafting vengeance of God, Rev. iii. 17. Saints are wretched, when fore afflicted with temptations, troubles, divine hidings, and particularly with the flirting and prevalency of indwelling fin, Rom. vii. 24. To see one's own wretchedness, is to suffer great mifery and difgrace, Numb.

WRING; to press out moisture. The wringing off the head of the sacrificed bird, imported the exquisiteness of Christ's sufferings, Lev. i. 15. v. 8. The wicked wring out and drink the dregs of God's cup of wrath, when, with great pain, they fuffer his vengeance to the very uttermost, Psal. lxxv. 8.

WRINKLE; (1.) A furrowy blemish in the face or body, occasioned by old age or dillress, Job xviii. 8. Deformity of fin, or affliction, Lph.

V. 25. WRITE; (1.) To note down any thing on a book or table, If. x. 1. Arabia and Egypt they anciently wrote on stones, by staining or colouring, which continued for many generations. The children learnt to write by marking letters on whitened boards, or in the fand or dust. This is soon forgotten; that in books continues longer; but that on stones or rocks is most lasting, Job xix. 23. 24. Nor was that on linen short-lived. (2) To count the number in writing, If. x. 19.);) To declare a thing as quite certain, and mark it in a prophecy, Jer xxii. God's fealed book being written within and without, or on both fides of the paper, imported the vait quantity of matter contained in it, Rev. v. 1. God writes his law on mens hearts, when he deeply impresses it on their soul, and forms their inward qualities into a conformity with it, lob xxxi. 32. Heb. viii. 10. He wrote bitter things against Job, when he sentenced him to and executed upon him fore afflictions. Job xiii. 26. The faints being written in heaven, in the book of life, or among the living, denotes their being divinely chosen, and predestinated to eternal life and happiness, Luke x. 25. Heb. xii. 23. Rev xxi. 27. But God's vuriting up the people, denotes his involment of them among the true members of his church, Pfal. lxxxvii. 5. Mens writing God's law on the posts of their house, or the table of their heart. imports their frequent thinking and fpeaking of it, as an evidence of its being deeply impressed on their heart, Deut. vi. 9. Prov. iii. 3. Men are written in the earth, when they are rendered very debased and wretched, as if forgotten by God and his church, Jer. xvii. (3.

WRONG; what is unreasonable and unjust, Exod. ii. 13.

WROTH. See WRATH.

Y A R

YARN. Solomon brought great quantities of linen yarn from Egypt; but some render the word MIK-VEH, a collection, viz. of horfes, 1 Kings x. 28.

YEA, denotes, (1.) Affirmation, Matth. ix. 28. (2.) Constancy and earnestness, Philem. 20. Phil. i. 18. iii. 8. (3.) Doubting, Gen. iii. 1.

Y

 $Y \in A$

The Son of God preached to men, is not yea and nay, but in him it is yea; all the promifes are in him, yea and The gospel-doctrines concerning Jefus Chrift, have no inconfiftencies, no inconstancy, but all harmonize in matter and tendency: every promife is infallibly confirmed by his word, and ratified by his blood, 2 Cor. i. 19. 20.

T'here

YEA [576] YEA

There is with one yea, yea. and nry, nay, when his purposes are inconstant, and his declarations inconsistent, 2 Cor. i. 17. Let your conversation be yea, yea nay, nay: let your speech consist of simple affirmations or denials, without the least appearance of an oath or imprecation to consirm what you say, Matth. v. 37. Let your yea be yea; and your nay, nay: let your affirmations and denials be altogether simple and candid, Jam. v. 12. YEAR, that space of time wherein the fun finishes his course through all the figns of the Zodiac circle of the heavens, confifting of the four feafons of Spring, Summer, Harveil, and Winter. It consists of 365 days 5 hours 40 minutes. The patriarchs before the flood appear to have divided their year into 12 months, each confifting of 30 days; and whether they added 5 days to the last, or had an intercalary month every 5th or 6th year, to exhaust the odd time of 5 days 5 hours and 49 minutes that was over in each year, we know not. Some think the Egyptians and others once reckoned the time of one revolution of the moon their year, and that this is the fource of their extravagant reckonings concerning antiquity. It is more certain, that before the Hebrews departure from Egypt, they reckoned by a year, confifting of 12 months, each of which confifted of 30 days, and began their year about the beginning of our September. Possibly the Chaldean year was much the fame, till Nabonaffar, about the time of Hezekiah, ordered them to reckon the year by 12 months, or 365 days; and I suppose the Egyptians foon after admitted this form. After long confusion, the Greeks reckoned the year by 12 months, of 30 days each; but feem afterwards to have reckoned by 12 moons, or 354 days. They mostly began their year at the Summer folftice, when the fun is most northerly in June; but the Macedonians began theirs about the middle of our September. At first, the Ro man year confifted of 10 months, or 304 days. King Numa extended it to 12 months, or 355 days, and every fecond year they added 22 or 23 days by turns. Julius Cæfar, their first emperor, fixed it at 365 days and 6 hours, whi h in four years make one day, which in the fourth is added to February and occations that year being called leap year. By this year we still reckon our time; but as it includes about II minutes too much, this, in 130 years, runs the reckoning forward one day, and in our reckoning had run forward the year full 11 days, till this was rectified by the introduction of the new style among us, as it was in feveral countries abroad, by Pope Gregory, almost 200 years ago. The old Persian year began about the beginning of June, and confifted of 365 days, or 12 months. Most of the Mahometans reckon their year by 12 moons, or 354 days 8 hours 48 minutes 38 feconds and 12 thirds; and fo in about 35 years the beginning of their year runs backward through all the feafons. The Jewish year too was of the lunar kind, reckoning by 12 moons: their facred year began in March, because therein they came out of Egypt at the new moon; in which the names and order of their months, were, 1 Abib or Nisan; 2 Zis or Jair; 3 Sivan; 4 Thammuz; 5 Ab; 6 Elul; 7 Ethanim or Tizri; 8 Bul or Marchesvan; 9 Chisleu; 10 Thebet; 11 Shebet; 1 Adar; and on every third year they added an intercalary month, formed out of the odd days, and called it Veadar, or fecond Adar. It is generally agreed, that all their odd mouths, as first, third, &c. confisted of 30 days, and all the even ones of 29; but Selden's old calendar gives 30 days to the even months, and 29 to the odd ones. Their civil year began with Ethanim the seventh month of the sacred, as it was supposed the world was created about that time; and fo Abib was the feventh month of it .- Months, in the reckoning of all nations, appear to have had their rife from the revolutions of the moon.

In norance of chronology, and pride of antiquity, made the Egyptians, Chaldeans,

YFA [577] YFA

Chaldeans, Chinese Indians, and others, to run up the creation of the world, or even the rife of their own nation, to the distance of a ridiculous number of years; but the learned now generally acquiefce in or near to the chronology of Bishop Usher, according to which the creation took place 4004 years before our common account from the birth of our Saviour: but it is fufpected that common reckoning begins two or three years too late. Caverhill will have our Saviour born A. D. 6. The 130 years of the Hebrew fojourning began at Abraham's call to leave his native country, Gen. xii. 1. Exod xii. .c. 41. The 400 years of the fojourning of his feed began at the birth of Isaac, Gen. xv. 13. The about 450 years mentioned, Acts xiii. 20. may reach from the birth of Isaac to the settlement in Canaan; or from that fettlement, reckoning the years of bondage different from the years of the judges, to the government of Samuel. The fixty-five years, against the end of which, Ephraim, or the ten tribes, were to be no people, i.e. have no form of government at all, and scarce any be left in Canaan, extends from the fourth year of Ahaz to the 22d of Manaffeh, Is. vii. 3. The years of an hireling, denote exact ones; and it feems were three on end, If. xxi. 16. xvi. 14. In prophetic flyle a year fignifies three hundred and fixty years, and a month 30, a day being put for a year; and fo three years and an half, and times, time, and half a time, or 42 months, or 1260 days, denote the twelve hundred and fixty years duration of Antichrist, Rev. xi. 2. 3. xii. 6. 14. The five months ravage of the locusts, may denote the period between A D. 6c6 and 760, in which Popery and Mahometism mightily gained ground, Rev. ix. 5. 10. The year, month, day, and hour, of the Turkish ravage, is 391 years from 1281 to 1672, or 396 from 1302 to 1698. See Antichrist, Gog.

YEAR too fignifies the feafon or period in which a thing happens. The three years of Gov's patience with the barron Jews, may denote the time of Vot. II.

the ministry of John Baptist and Christ? and the fourth may denote the time after Christ's resurrection, before the breaking out of their ruinous war, Luke xiii. 6 .- 10. The year of visitation, is a feafon of remarkable calamities, Jer. xi. 23. The year of Gad's redeemed, is that feafon in which he effectuates the redemption of his chofen; as, the period of our Saviour's debasement, the primitive gospel perind, and the period of Antichrift's ruin, If. lxiii. 4. In allusion to the year of release and jubilee, the period of the elect's conversion to Christ, or the gospel period, is called the acceptable year of the Lor , If. Ixi. 2. God's years, are the unbounded duration of his existence, Heb. i. 11.; or the periods of his most noted works, as of bringing Ifrael out of Egypt, the incarnation of Christ, &c. Pf. lxxvii. 10. So man's months are his time of life, Job xiv. 5.; and he possesset months of vanity, when he is long under trouble and disappointment, Job vii. 3.

Whether the Millennium, or THOU-SAND YEARS of Satan's confinement, and the faints reigning with Chrit, denote precifely so many years, or only a very long time, we dare not ffirm. When this period begins, is not aureed. The beginning of it at Christ's returrection, or at the fall of Heathenism in the Roman empire, about A. D. 323, is scarce worth while to notice: nor can we think, with others, that it began at the reformation from Popery, about 20 years ago. The mournful condition of the church too plainly teltilies, that Satan is not prefently bound, but freely goes about feeking whom he may devour. We expect, that after 30 years of terrible bloodshed and confusion, at the downfal of Antichrift, and 45 years of the fpreading of the gospel, it will be arrived at its glory, about A. D. 1941, or 2091, Rev. xi. 2. 3. Dan. vii. 25 -27. xi. 7. 11. 12.: but we dare not be positive that our view of these texts is absolutely certain. Some think, that during this Millennium, the wicked shall be all cut off from the earth, and the deceafed faints.

4 D

or at least the marcy: a rife from the dead, and reign with Christ, who hall defcend from heaven, and in his manhood refide among them; and that at the end of the thousand years, the wicked being raifed from their graves, shall attack the faints in war, and think to destroy them. An opinion of this nature, with fome variations, obtained not long after the age of the apostles, and has been espoused by a variety of very learned Protestants. They plead, that the martyrs are faid to rife from the dead, in the same sense that the rest of the dead rife, at the end of the Millennium: that the faints shall enjoy new heavens, and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteoufness: that God shall bring his only begotten Son into the worla, and put all things under his feet: that the meek shall inherit the earth, shall fit upon thrones, and receive an hundred fold in this life; and the irrational creature be delivered from the bondage of corruption, into the glorious liberty of the fons of God, and the time of the restitution of all things happen, Rev. xx. 4. 5. 6. 2 Pet. iii. 5. -13. Heb. i. 6. ii. 5. Matth. v. 5. xix. 27.-29. Rom. viii. 19. 20. Acts iii. 20. 21. But it may be replied, That fundry of these texts do not in the least come up to the point; but may denote the faints spiritual privileges here, or their eternal glory hereafter; or may relate to the last judgement: or even could quadrate with a happy state of the church on earth, without supposing the human presence of Christ, the death of all the wicked, or the refurrection of the martyrs in their bodies. This refurrection of the faints does not necessarily import the revival of the deceased, but the noted reformation, deliverance, and comfort of the church, in the fuccessors of the martyrs, Rom. xi. 15. Ezek. xxxvii. 1.- : 4. Pfal. lxxxv. o. Hof. vi. 2. 3. Zech. x. 9. And the death of the wicked during the Millennium, must in like manner fignify, a depression of their power and authority; and their revival at the end, import a recovery of their power and influence. We may add, How can this doerine of the Millennium, as above histed, accord with other paffages of femptore? How can it confift with the faint- letting their affections on things above, and not on things on the earth; or looking at things eternal, not at things temporal? Col. iii. 1. 2 Cor. iv. 8. How could it could with the faints happiness, to leave the celestial state. and return to our earth, not in bodies fashioned like unto Christ's glorious body, but in bodies needing meat and drink? Phil. i 23. iii. 21. If their hodies are raised spiritual and in orruptible, as is faid, I Cor. xv. 42. 49 what comfort could even thefe receive from the meat, drink, or clothing on earth? or what folly would it be for Satan to gather his troops to cut off incorruptible and spiritual bodies? Nay, who can imagine, that the wicked, when raifed up to everlasting damnation, shall have leifure to attack the faints? Moreover, the dead in Christ are reprefented as all rifing together; and fuch as are alive on the earth have their bodies changed in a moment, I Cor. xv. 51. 52. On thefe, and the like accounts, we cannot believe that the happiness of the Millennium will amount to any more than a peaceable flate of the church, wherein great multitudes of Jews and Gentiles shall be converted to Christ, and enjoy much fpiritual and delightful fellowship with him and with one another. — One day is with the Lord as a thousand years, and a thousand years as one day: in proportion to his infinite duration, the one is no longer than the other, 2 Pet. iii. 8.

YELL; to cry as a young lion. The Affyrians and Chaldeans yelled against the Jews; with terrible noise, and avaricious greed, they ravaged the country, and murdered the inhabitants, Jer. II. 15. The Medes and Persians, and even the Chaldeans, made a terrible yelling, or outcries of joy or grief, when Babylon was taken, Jer. li 38.

YELLÓW hair, betokening the leprofy, might denote a weakness and stupidity under the reigning power of fin, Lev. xiii. 30.—36.

YERNING

 $Y \cap U$

YERNING of howels, imports the flirring of the most tender pity and affection. Gen. xliii. 3c. 1 Kings iii. 26.

YES Γ ERDAY; (τ) The day before, 1 Sam. xx. 27. (2.) Any time lately paft, Job viii. 7. (3.) All time palt. Christ is the fame yesterday, todiv and for ever; he is the same under the 3ld Testament, and during the gospel, and eternal period. Heb. xiii. 8. A thou and years are in God's fight as yefferday: he exactly knows all paft things, and thousands of years bear no proportion to his infinite duration. Pf. XC. 1.

YET; (1.) At that or this time, John ii. 4. (2.) Notwithstan ling, Jam.

ii. 10.

Y!ELD; (1.) To produce, Gen. iv. 12. xlix. 20. (2.) To furrender; submit, Prov. vii. z1. Rom. vi. 19. Men yield themselves to the ford when they receive his unspeakable gift, submit to his righteoufness as their robe, and to his law as their rule, 2 Chron. xxx. 8.

YOKE; an instrument put on the neck of cattle, for crawing ploughs, wa gons, and the like: and the cattle yoked together in one plough are called a yoke, 1 Kings xix. 9. The law of God is a yoke, which galls the carnal man, as it binds him to his duty; but as received in Christ, it is an easy yoke; receiving excitement and strength from Jefus, men with pleafure and comfort obey it; and it is much eatier than the tervice of fin, the flavery of the broken covenant, or the bondage of the ceremonial law, which is called a yoke, or yoke of bondage, as the fervice required by it was carnal and burdensome, Matth. xi. 29. 30. Gal. v. 1.

B n lage or flavery is called a yoke; in it men are obliged to fuffer and labour in a mott debased manner, Lev. xxvi. 13. If. ix. 4. x. 27.; and a yoke of iron, to express its hard and painful influence, 1 Kings viii. 5 . Deut. xxviii. 48. Affliction, whether penal or correctory, is called a yoke; it diffresses mens perfons, circumstances, and spirit: and it is the 30ke of transgressions, because inflicted on their account, Lam. iii. 27. i. 14. Marriage is called a yoke, as persons therein joined are bound to ferve God, and affift one another; and they are unequally yoked, when they are different in their religion, and are much fo in their tempers and circumstances, 2 Cor. vi. 14. Paul calls his fellowpreachers his true yoke-fellows, as they laboured in the fame fervice of Christ as he did, Phil. iv. 3.

YOUNG: that which has lived but a fhort while, John xii. 14. The Jews reckoned persons young till married or marriageable, Deut. xxviii. 57. Nay, Johna is called joung, at fifty-fix years of age, as is feems he was then in the prime of his strength. Rehoboam is called young and tender at forty-one, 2 Chron. xiii. 7. Sodom is called the Jews younger fifter, because the power thereof was far inferior to that of the Jews, Ezek. xvi. 46. 61. Youth; (1.) Early age, or what is done in it, Eccl xi. 9. 10. And hence the first beginnings of nations, as of Israel in the wilderness, and at their entrance into Canaan, is called their youth, Jer. ii. 2. Ezek xvi. 22. Hof. ii. 15. (2.) Young perious, Job xxx. 12. If. xl. 30. Christ's youth, is either the early period of the Christian church, or his new con-

Z

Z A AHether ZAANAN, a city de-ftroyed by the Affyrians, was one of the tribe of Naphtali, in the plais of Zaaranim, or Zanaim . or it it was Zenah, a city of Judah, we know not, Mic. i. 11. Judg. iv. 11. Josh.

ZAC

xix. 33. xv- 37.

verts, Pial. cx. 3.

Wether ZACCHEUS was a Gentile, or rather a Jew, is not fo certain, as that he was a chief publican-

4 D 2

lelus

Jefus paffed through Jericho, going to fuffer at Jerusalem, Zaccheus had a great curiofity to fee him; but as he was low of stature, he could not, till he climbed up on a sycamore tree. When Jefus came to the spot, he bade him come down hastily, as he intended to dop at his house. With great joy Zaccheus came down, and conducted our Saviour to his house. While the Jews murmured, that Jefus was gone to be the guest of a publican, Zaccheus, convinced of his fin, told him, that he intended to give the half of his goods to the poor, and, according to the Roman law, to restore fourfold to every body he might have wronged by false accusation. Jesus told him, that after all, it behoved him to expect no happiness by his own repentance and good works, but merely through Christ, the falvation of God, now come to his house, and sent to feek and fave loft finners, Luke xix. I .-- 10.

ZACHARIAH, ZACHARIAS, ZE-CHARIAH; (1.) The fon of Jeroboam the 2d, and the 4th descendant of Je-Perhaps his father left him an infant. It was about 23, or perhaps no more than 1-1 years after, that he mounted the throne, and having reigned fix months, was murdered by Shallum the fon of Jabesh, A. M. 3232, 2 Kings xv. 8. - 11. (2.) The fon of Tehoiada the chief prieft, who is perhaps also called Azariah. Having reproved King Joash, his coufin, for his idolatry and wickedness, that un grateful wretch ordered him to be stoned to death in the court of the temple. In his dying moments, he told them, that the Lord would speedily avenge his death, 2 Chron. xxiv. 20. -2:. (3.) The fon of Jeberechiah, or Barachiah, who had understanding in the visions of God, and encouraged Uzzian in his piety, and perhaps withflood him when he attempted to offer incense, 2 Chron. xxvi. 5. He was one of the faithful witnesses that attefted Isaiah's writing concerning Maher-shalal-hash-baz, Is. viii. 2. (4) The fon of Barachiah, grandfon of Id-do, and 11th of the leffer prophets. He returned from Babylon with Zerubbabel; and while yet young, began to prophely in the fecond year of Darius Hyttaspes, A. M. 3184, about two months after Haggai. They two mightily encouraged the Jews in their building of the second temple, Ezra v. 1. After Zerubbabel had exhorted the people to repentance, the Cord appeared to him as a man on horfeback, in the middle of a plot of myrtle-trees, in a low place, thereby intimating, the presence of God with, and care for his people, in their diffrefs: and hinted to him, that Jerufalem flould be rebuilt. By the vision of four borns frayed away by four carpenters, was hinted, that God would raise up Jewish governors, that should resist and harass the Ammonites, Moabites, Samaritans, and Philitlines, the enemies of Judah, Zech. i. By the visionary measuring of Jerusalem, was hinted, that it should be rebuilt; and the prophet was informed, that its inhabitants should be very numerous, and the Lord should marvellously protect them, chap. ii. By the vi/ion of Fo-Shua the high priest's preservation from Satan, and the change of his filthy robes for the apparel, and he and his fellow priefts being crowned with gold, was hinted, the fatety and glory of the priests under the second temple. the vision of the stone with seven eyes on it, was hinted, that the temple should, under the care of divine providence, he finished, and Christ come in his feafon, chap. iii. By the vision of a candlestick with seven branches, place i between two olive-trees that iffued oil out of themselves, might be fignified, the comfort of the Jews by means of Zerubbabel and Jothua, and the comfort of the church by Christ and his Spirit, chap. iv. By a large flying roll, suritten all over with curses, was hinted the speedy and extensive vengeance of God against false swearers and The visionary ephah. filled thieves. with a woman callet wickenness, and that in with a heavy covering of lead, and carried by two winged women into the land of Shinar, imported the speedy and terrible vengeance taken on Babylon, about four years after, by the Medes and Perfians, or the terrible ruin and dispersion of the Jews, about 40 years after our Saviour's afcention, chap. v. By four chariots proceeding from between brazen mountains and traverling the earth, was fignified the fate of the Chaldean, Perfian, Grecian, and Roman empires, and the fate of ministers, in the various periods of the gospel-church. By an order to make crowns of filver and gold for Joshua, and for Heldai or Helem, Tobijah, Jedaiah, and Hen, was hinted, the glory of the Jewish priesthood, and the glory of Christ, as the builder of After directing his church, chap. vi. the Jews concerning falling, and inculcating a variety of moral duties, he foretels their happiness, and the vast number of their profelytes and favourites, chap. vii. viii He then foretels the destructive wars of Syria, Phenicia, and the country of the Philistines; the prefervation of the Jews under their Egypto-Grecian and Syro-Grecian oppreffors: the birth, and mjurious abuse of the Messiah; the publication and fuccefs of the gospel; the ruin of the Jewish church and state; and the conversion of the Gentiles to Chrift, in the apostolic and millennial periods, chap. ix. --- xiv.

Z A C [581] Z A D

(5.) ZACHARIAS; an ordinary prieft, of the course of Abia. He and his wife Elifabeth were eminently godly and blameless; but she had been long barren. About 15 months before our Saviour's birth, as Zacharias was burning incenfe in the temple, the angel Gabriel appeared to him, and told him that his wife flould bear him a fon called John, who should be the fuccefsful harbinger of the Messiah. the priest refused to credit the message, the angel told him, that his dumbnefs till the event flould verify the prediction. When he came out of the temple, he could speak none, but made figns to the people who were praying in the court, that he had feen a vition. When his turn of ministration was finished, he went home: his wife, after about nine months, was happily delivered of a fon. Contrary to the remonstrances of their friends, Elitabeth infifted the child should be named John: Zacharias being confulted by figns, wrote that he should be so called. Hereupon he recovered the use of his fpeech, and uttered an hymn of praises to God, for the donation of the Meffiah, whose birth was at hand; and turning himfelf to his babe, foretold, that he should, by his instructions, prepare the nation to receive the Messiah. Luke i.

Who that ZACHARIAS, the fon of Barachias, who was flain between the porch of the temple and the altar; whether he was the fon of Jehoiada, whofe name has much the fame fignification as Barachia, i. e. a bleffer of the Lord; or the fon of Jeberechiah, whom perhaps Ahaz murdered between the porch and the altar, for opposing his idolatrous worship; or the prophet above mentioned, who was perhaps murdered in that place; or the father of the Baptist, who might have shared the same fate, perhaps about the time when his fon was a public preacher; or, if it was one Zacharias the fon of Baruch, whom Jefus forefaw the Jews would murder in that place, a little before the last destruction of their city, is not agreed by the learned. But be who he would, the coming of all the bloodshed, from that of Abel to that of this Zacharias, upon the Jewish nation, imports, that as their rejection and murder of Christ and his apostles approved the whole of it, it fhould be all revenged on them, Matth. xxiii. 34.—36. Luke xi. 50. 51.

ZADOK; the fon of Ahitub. In his person, appointed high priest by Saul, that high office was returned to the samily of Eleazar, after it had continued near 120 years in the house of Eli, and the samily of Ithamar-Both he and abiathar were a kind of high priests under the reign of King David; but it seems David chiesly consulted Zadok, as perhaps he was a prophet. Both the two, at David's desi re,

ZAI ZEB

ciefire, tarried at Jerusalem during Abfalom's rebellion, and procured him proper information, 2 Sam. xv. xvii. They, too, infligated the tribe of Judah, to make all the hafte they could, to bring David home after the rebellion was suppressed, lest the other tribes should get the start of them, 2 Sam. xix. 11. 12. Zadok, inflead of joining Adonijah. was one of those most active in the coronation of Solomon, and actually anointed him to the royalty, and came to be folc high priest after Abiathar's confinement, 1 Kings i. ii.: and was fuc ceeded by his ion Ahimaaz. - Another Zadok, fon of another Ahitub, was high priest long after, and Jerusha his daughter feems to have been the wife of King Uzziah, and mother of Jetham, 1 Chron. vi. 12. 2 Chron. XXVII. I.

ZAIR: a place in the land of Edom, : Kirgs viii. 21.

ZA' MON or SALMON; a hill near Shechem, where it feems the fnow lay thick: and the Canaanitish carcafes were like the fnow of Salmon, when they covered the wnole furface of the ground; which was a delightful fight to the Hebrews, Judg. ix. 48. Ixviii. 14.

ZAMZUMMIMS, or Zuzims; a race of terrible giants, probably iprung from Ham, and which dwelt on the east of Jordan, and had their country ravaged by Chedorlaomer, Gen. xiv. 5. They were afterwards cut off, or driven from it, by the Ammonites, Deut. ii. 20.

ZAPHNATH. See Joseph.

ZARAH, or ZERAH; the fon of Judah by Tamar, and twin-brother of Pharez. Of his five fons, Ethan, Zimri, Heman, Calcol, and Dara, fprung the Zarhites, who were less numerous than the posterity of Pharez, Gen. xxxvIII. 28. 29. 1 Chron. ii. 6. Numb. xxvi 20.

ZARED, or ZERED; the name of a brook that runs into the river Arnon; or of a valley, Numb. xxi. 12.

ZARFPI AH, or SAREPTA; a city of the Zidonians, on the shore of the Mediterranean sea. It seems they had a glass-work at it. Here Elijah lodged some time with a widow, I Kings xvii. . 10. Luke iv. 26. bout A. D. 400 it was still of some note, and its wines were exceeding heady.

ZÁRETHAN, ZARTANAH, OF ZE-REDATHAH; a place on the west of Jordan, near to which the waters thood in heaps, as Joshua passed a good way below. Near to this place, in the plain of Jericho, and almost over against Succoth, were the large vessels of the temple formed of metal, Josh. iii. 16. 1 Kings iv. 2. 2 Chroń.

iv. 17.

ZEAL; an eagerness towar is or against a thing, 2 Kings x. 14. God's zeal, is his wife, high, and holv regard to his own honour, and to the weltare of his people, 2 Kings xix. Mens zeal, is either holy, which is an intelligent and prudent eagernefs, to have God honoured, true holiness promoted, and error and wickedness opposed and extirpated, Psal. lxix 9 Numb. xxv 12.; or ignorant and furious, when men are zealous without knowledge of the nature of things, and prudence, and are zealous chiefly for trifles, or even for tin, Rom. x. 2. Phil. iii. 6. ZEALOUS, eagerly concerned and active about a thing, Numb. xxv. 11. Tit. ii. 14.

ZEBAH, ZALMUNNA.

MIDIAN; GIDEON.

ZEBEDEE. See JAMES.

ZEBOIM; one of the four cities which perished together wall till m, Gen. xiv. xix. Perhaps it has about the north-we't corner of the Dead fea. A valley of Zeboim, or Spotted Jerpents, was near to Jericho, Sam. xiii. 18.; and hereabouts the Benjamites had a city of this name, which continued till after A. D. 400 Neh. xi. 34. ZEBUL. See Gaul.

ZEBULUN or ZABULON, the fixth ion of Jacob by Leah, boil about A. M. 22 6. From his mee ions, reacd, Elm, and Jahleel, crung three numerous families. When this tribe came out of Egypt, their fighting men amounted to 57,400 men, comman led by Eliab the fon of Elon: they increased $100 in the wilderness. Their fpy to fearch Canaan, was Gaddiel the fon of Sodi; and their prince to divide it, was Elizaphan the fon of Parnach, Gen. xxx. 20. xlvi. 11. Numb. i. 9. 31. xxvi. 26. 27. xiii. 10. xxxiv. 25. They had their inheritance on the fouth of the tribes of Asher and Naphtali, and had the sea of Galilee on the east, and the Mediterranean on the west: they enriched themselves by their fisheries, their seatrade, and making of glass: they were very honest in their dealings, and, notwithstanding of distance, were punctual attenders of the worship of God at Jerusalem, Gen. xlix. 13. Deut. xxxiii. 18.—20 They did not drive out the Canaanites from Kitron or Nahalol, Judg. i 30. But they and the Naphtalites, under Barak, were very active in routing the hoft of Jabin, Judg. iv. 10. v. 14. 18. They affifted Gideon against the Midianites, Judg. vi. 35. Elon, a Zebulunite, was for ten years judge of Ifrael, Judg xii. 11.: and 50,000 of them attended at David's coronation to be king over Ifrael, and brought large quantities of provision, 1 Chron. xii. 33.40. Pfal. lxviii. 27. They were oppressed, and many of them carried captive to the east, by Tiglathpileser, 1 Chron. v. 26. Such as remained in their country did partly join with Hezekiah in his reformation, 2 Chron. xxx. 11. Their country was fignally bleffed with the early inftructions and miracles of our Saviour; and perhaps most of his disciples were of it, Il. ix. !: 2. Matth. iv. 13. 15. Perhaps there was also a city called Zebulun near Aceho, which is faid to have been built in the form of Tyre and Sidon, and to have been taken and burnt by Cestius the Roman abont 1. D. 66. Josh. xix. 27. ZEDEKIAH, the fon of Josiah, ZEDEKIAH, the fon of Josiah, by Hamutal the daughter of Jeremiah, a prince of Libnah. When Nebuchadnezzar carried Jehoiachin prisoner to

Babylon, he made M taniah his und cle king in his stead, after he had caused him swear to be his tributary, and changed his name to Zedekish. He began to reign when he was 21 years of age, and reigned 11. Contrary to manifold warnings of Got by the Prophet Jeremiah, he and his people hardened themselves in their idolatry and other impieties, 2 Kings xxiv. 17. 2 Chron. xxxvi. 10.-- 6. Ezek. xvii. 13. -In the first year of his reign, he fent Elafah the fon of Shaphan, and Gemariah the fon of Hilkiah, to Babylon, probably along with his tribute: with these, Jeremiah feems to have fent his letter to the captives at Babylon, Jer. xxix. bout four years after, he either went himself, or at least tent Seraiah, the brother of Baruch, to Babylon, with whom Jeremiah fent his predictions against Babylon, to be read by him, and then cast, fixed to a stone, into the Euphrates, Jer. li. 59 .- 64. In the ninth year of his reign, Zedekiah, contrary to folemn treaty with Nesuchadnezzar, entered into a league with Pharach-hophra of Egypt, and, it feems, with the other nations around, to throw off the Chaldean yoke. Nebuchadnezzar quickly marched an army into Judea, and laid fiege to Jerusalem. Alarmed herewith, he and his fubjects difmiffed their bond fervants, whom they had retained longer than the law allowed, and begged, that Jeremiah would pray for them. Meanwhile, the Egyptians marching an army into Canaan, Nebuchadnezzar raised the siege of Jerusalem to attack them. During this interval, the Jews forced back their fervants, and drew new punishment on their heads. Having defeated or driven back the Egyptians, Nebuchadnezzar renewed his fiege of Jerusalem. Zedekiah often confulted the Prophet Jeremiah, but had not patience to hear, or refolution to tollow, his good counfels. Jeremiah urged him to go out, and fubmit himfell to Nebuchadnezzar', mercy, and it thould be well with him. For fear of derifion, he declined declined compliance, and it is like, Pelatiah the prince, who foon after had a miserable end, disfueded him, Ezek. xi. 13. Zedekiah, as Jeremiah had warned him, fell into great ignominy by his refusal to surrender. When Terusalem was taken, he and a number of his troops fled off in the night; but the Chaldeans purfued, and overtook them near Jericho. He was carried prisoner to Nebuchadnezzar at Riblah of Syria, who, after upbraiding him with his treachery, ordered his children to be murdered before his face, and then his eyes to be plucked out; after which he loaded him with chains, and fent him to Babylon, where, after some time, he died peaceably, and was honourably interred by his friends, Jer. xxi. xxvii. xxxii 4. -7. xxxiv. xxxvii.-xxxix. 2 Kings ZEDEKIAH, the fon of Chenaanah, and the fon of Maaseiah, were both false prophets. See MICAIAH; AHAB.

ZEEB; a Midianitish prince, who gave name to a place in or near to the lot of the Ephraimites, and not far from Jordan, Judg. vii. 25.

Perhaps ZELAH, where Saul and his family were buried, was the fame as ZELZAH, not far from Ramah; but in the fouth frontier of the tribe of Benjamin, Josh. xviii. 28. 1 Sain.

x. 2. 2 Sam. xxi. 14.

ZELOPHEHAD, the fon of Hepher, of the tribe of Manaffeh, died in the wilderness, not in any of the more noted provocations. Not long before Mofes's death, his five daughters, Mahlah, Tirzah, Hoglah. Milcah, and Noah, for he had no fon, applied to Moses to have an inheritauce in Canaan, as heirs to their father. The Lord approved their demand; only confined them to marry fuch as were of their own tribe: and it was divinely enacted, that to prevent the portion of one tribe going into that of another, no heirefs should marry out of her own tribe: or if she did, the lost her inheritance, Numb. xxvi. 33. xxvii. xxxvi.

ZEMARAIM; a city of the Ben-junites near Bethel, and near to which was a mount of the same name; at the foot whereof. Jeroboam had rocketo of his army killed by Abijah's troops, Josh. xviii. 22. 2 Chron. xiii. 4.

The ZEMARITES were the descendants of Canaan by his tenth son. It is like, they built and peopled Simyra a city of Phenicia, near Orthofia, Gen. x. 18.

ZENAS: the only pious lawyer we read of in fcripture. Whether his learning respected the Jewish or the Roman law, we know not; but he was a noted Christian, whom, together with Apollos, Paul defires litus to bring with him to Nicopolis, and to take care they were fufficiently provided for in the journey, Tit-iii. 13.

ZEPHANIAH . (1.) A prophet, the fon of Cushi, and grandfon of Gedaliah: he appears to have lived in the time of King Josiah, and after his children were grown up, to wear robes of a foreign fashion, Zeph. i. 1. 8. In his first and third chapters, he inveighs against the wickedness of the Jews; foretels their calamities and captivity, and their deliverance therefrom. the fecond he exhorts the Jews to repentance, and foretels the ruin of the Philistines, Moabites, Ammonites Ethiopians, and Affyrians. (2.) ZE-PHANIAH the fecond priest, or fagan, under Seraiah the chief priest. By him Zedekiah, oftener than once, confulted Jeremiah, and requirted his prayers in behalf of the kingdom, Jer. xxi. 1. xxxvii. t To him Shemaiah directed his letter accusing Jeremiah as a madman, and he read it to Jeremiah, chap. xxix. 24.—29. Jerusalem was taken, he, and Seraiah the chief prieft, were carried to Riblah, and there murdered by the order of Nebuchadnezzar, 2 Kings xxv. 18. Perhaps he lived too early to be the father of Hen and Josiah, the priests, Zech. vi. 10. 14.

ZEPHAATH, or ZEPHATAH. Sec.

HORMAH.

ZERAH; (1.) A fon of Judah. See ZARAH. (2.) A king of Cush, who, in the time of Asa, invaded the kingdom of Judah with a million of footmen, and 300 chariots; but being feized with a panic, most of them were cut off, 2 Chron. xiv. 9—15.

kingdom

ZER [585] ZIM

ZEREDATHAH. See ZARETAN.

ZERESH. See HAMAN.

ZERUFBABEL, the fon of Shealtiel or Salathiel and of the royal family of David. As Salathiel, who is called the fon of Jehoiachin, might yet be the fon of Neri, a delcendant of Nathan the fon of David, being begot by Jehoiachin on the widow of Neri, whom he had married, or he might be adopted by Neri; or might marry the only daughter of Neri, Chron. iii. 17 Luke iii. 27.: fo Zerubbabel might, at once, be the immediate fon of Pedaiah, and the grandion of Salathiel; or, Pedaiah, a younger brother, might have married Shealtiel's widow, and Zerubbabel be the fon he raifed up to his brother, 1 Chron. iii. 19. Matth. i. 12. Sheshbazzar is said to build the second temple, and was prince of the Jews, it feems he is the very fame with Zerubbabel, and the one is his lewith, and the other his Chaldean name, Ezra v. 16. i. 8. 14. Zech. iv. 5. Cyrus delivered into his hands the facred vessels, which had been carried to Babylon, to the number of 5400, and appointed him governor of the returning captives of Judah. After conducting 42,360 of them, together with 7337 fervants, from Babylon to Judea, he laid the foundation of the fecond temple, and restored the worship of God by facrifice. Notwithstanding of manifold obstructions to the work by the Samaritans, whom the Jews refused to allow to concur with them, he and Joshua the high priest, encouraged by Haggai and Zechariah the prophets, at last finished the temple, about 20 years after it was begun, Ezra i.-vi. Hag. i. ii. Zech. iv. He left behind him feven fons, Meshullam, Hananiah, Hashubah, Ohel, Berechiah, Hasadiah, Jushab-heted, and a daughter called Shelomith. Some two of these sons, otherwise named, are the Rhefa, from whom the Virgin Vol. II.

Mary descended, and the Abiud, from whom Joseph her husband sprung, I Chron. iii. 19. Luke iii. 27. Matth. ii. 13. Did not Zerubbabel presigure our divine Saviour, who is the signet on God's right hand; and who has all things necessary for the welfare of the church delivered into his hand; and who brings back his people from all their wandering and captivity, and builds the temple of the church, with shoutings of grace, grace unto it, and bears all the glory, Hag. ii. 23.

ZIBA. See Mephibosheth. ZIDON. See Phenicia

ZIF, or JAIR; the second month of the facred, and eighth of the Jewish civil year. It consisted of 29 days, and answered in part to our April-On the 14th day of it, such as had been unclean, or on a journey, that they could not observe the passover in the preceding month, observed it now; and on it the passover-festival was kept in the sirft year of Hezekiah's reformation, Numb. ix. 2 Chron. xxx. 15. 26. On the 10th of it, the Jews observe a fast for the death of Eli, and another on the 28th, for the death of Samuel.

ZIKLAG; a town fituate in the extreme parts of the tribe of Judah fouthwards, not far from Horam, where the Ifraelites received a defeat while they fojourned in the wildernels. In the division of Canaan, it was first given to the tribe of Judah, Josh. xv. 31. and afterwards to that of Simeon, Josh xim. 5. It was, however, in postession of the Philistines when Achish, king of Gath, allotted it to David and his men to dwell in.

ZILPAII. See JACOB.

ZIMRAN; the eldelt of Abraham's fix fons by Keturah. He was the father of the Zimri, or Zamarenes, in Arabia-Felix, where we find the city Zebram or Zimram, Gen. xxv. 2. Jer. xxv. 25.

ZIMRI; a general to Elah, the for of Baasha king of Israel. As his master drunk heartily at Tirzah, he murdered him, and mounted the throne. He immediately murdered the whole.

4 E. 1072

royal family, as had been predicted to Baacha. Hearing of this catastrophe, the royal army broke up the siege of Gibbethon, and hasted to dethrone Zimri. Finding himself incapable to defend it, he set the palace on fire, and burnt himself and family to death, after a short reign of seven days, I Kings xvi. 9.—20. See Cozbi.

ZIN; the name of a place about the fouth west of Idumea: but whether it was the name of a city, or if it was the name of a part, or of the whole of the wilderness of Paran, we know not. Numb. xiii. 21. xx. 1. Josh. xv. 3.

ZION, or Sion; (1.) A top or part of mount Hermon, or an arrangement of hills near to it. Pfal. cxxxiii. 3. (2.) Cellarius, Lightfoot, and others, think the other famed mount Zion was to the north of the ancient Jebus; but Reland has offered a variety of arguments to prove that it was on the fouth of it. We, with the authors of the Universal History, think the south part of Jerusalem stood on mount Zion, and that the king's palace flood on the north fide of it, and the temple on mount Moriah, to the north-east of it, 2 Sam. v. 1. I Kings viii. 1. Pf. xlviii. 2.: but as mount Moriah was but at the end of it, it was fometimes called Zion: and even the temple and its courts are fo called, Pfal. Ixv. 1. Ixxxiv. 7.; and the worshippers at the temple, if not the whole inhabitants of Jerufalem, are called Zion, Pfal. xcvii. 8. allufion hereto, the church, whether Tewish or Christian, or heaven, is called Zion: how graciously was she chofen of God for his refidence! how firm is her foundation, and how delightful her profpect! how folemn and fweet the fellowship with and worship of God therein! Pfal. cii. 13. If. ii. 3. Heb. zii. 22. Rcv. xiv. 1. If. li. 11.

ZIPH; two cities of the tribe of Judah, one of which lay about eight miles castward from Hebron, which is perhaps that beside Maon and south Carmel, and whose inhabitants, tho' of the same tribe, were so eager to have David cut off, that they informed Saul of his hiding places, and instigated him to come and apprehend him; and the other was fomewhere about the borders of Edom, Josh. xv. 24. 55. I Sam. xxiii. 14.—26. xxvi. I. Pfal. liv. title.

ZIPPORAH; the daughter of Jethro or Reuel. Her marriage with Moses, and bearing him two sons; her accompanying him part of his way to Egypt; her angry circumcision of her child; her return to her father's house; her coming with her father some months after to Moses; and Aaron and Miriam's jealousy of her influence over him, have been related in the article Moses, Exod. ii. iv. xviii. Numb. xii.

ZIZ, or ZIZA; an hill in the fouth of Canaan, near the valley of Berachah. We suppose it was north of En-gedi, 2 Chron. xx. 16.

ZOAN, or TANIS; a very ancient city of Egypt, Numb. xiii. 7.; and fomewhere in the lower part of that country, not very far from the Mediterranean fea. It was probably the capital for many ages, If. xix. 11. xxx. 4.

ZOAR, or BELA, was one of the five cities that rebelled against and was reduced by Chedorlaomer, Gen. xiv. It feems to have been in the utmost danger of destruction, along with So-DOM and the other three; but Lot begged, that as it was but fmall, it might he preferved as a refidence for him. His request was granted, and the place was afterwards called Zoar, the little one. Gen. xix. 20. 21. 22. It feems to have flood fome where about the fouth end of the Dead lea. Probably numhers of the Moabites fled hither from the ravages of the Affyrian and Chaldean troops, If. xv. 5. Jer. xlviii. 34.

ZOBAH. was a kingdom of Syria, near about where Damascus stands, and had Rehob and Hadadezer for its kings, 2 Sam. viii.

ZOHELETH; a noted stone near En-rogel, at which Adonijah held his usurpation-feast. Whether this stone was used by the young men, to exercise themselves in rolling it; or if the sullers beat their cloth upon it, we know not, I Kings i. 9.

ZOPHAR,

ZOP [587] ZUZ

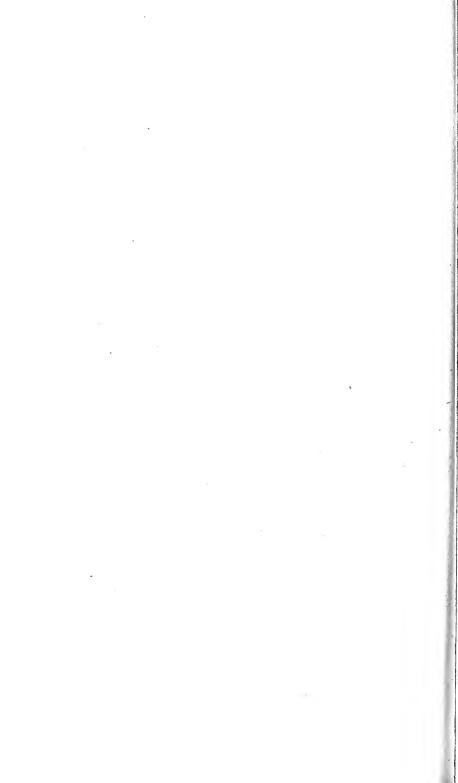

ZOPHAR, the Naamathite. one of Job's three uncharitable friends, and who fpoke twice against him. Job ii. 11. xi. 20.; and was pardoned by means of Job's prayers, Job. xlii. 7.—9. Whether Naamath was the name of his ancestor, or of his city, we cannot determine: nor whether he was king of the Mineans, or of the Nomades or wandering Arabs.

ZORAH: a city of the Danites, near the border of Judah. Here Samfon was born, Judg. xiii. 2. Its inhabitants are called Zorites and Zorathites, 1 Chron. 11. 54. iv. 2. Probably this was one of the cities which Rehoboam fortified for the fecurity of his kingdom, 2 Chron. xi. 10.

ZUPH; a Levite, and one of Samuel's ancestors. As he was the chief of the Zuphites, he probably occasioned their territory to be called the land of Zuph, and their city Ramath-zophim, or Ramath of the Zuphites, 1 Chron. vi. 55. 1 Sam. ix. 5. i. 1.

ZUZIMS. See ZAMZUMMIMS.

CHRONOLOGY OF FACTS

Relative to the History or Predictions of Scripture, &c.

(1.) We dare not affirm, that fome things here are fixed to the precife year. (2.) We have fometimes followed a different authority from what we followed in the body of the Dictionary, as we knew not which was most

Before Chrift. Year of the world.

14004 THE world's creation; Adam's fall; Cain's birth, Gen. i.—iv. 23875 Cain murders Abel, and is divinely banished to Nod.

130 3874 Norh is born, to the great comfort of his parents, Gen. iv. v. 987 3017 knoch, the leventh from Adam, is translated to heaven.

153612468 God commands Noah to warn the now fearfully corrupted inhabitants of the world of the approaching flood, and to call them to repent, Gen. vi. 656 23.18 Methuselah dies, aged 969 years. The flood overflows the earth, and continues a whole year, Gen. v.-ix.

775 2246 Peleg is born. About this time, or about 240 years after, at his death, Babel is built, languages confounded, and mankind difperfed; and Noah is faid to have removed eastward, and founded the kingdom of China, Gen. xi.

1787, 2217 Or 240 years later, Nimrod founds his kingdom at Babylon, and Ashur his in Asfyria; and foon after Mizraim founds the kingdom of Egypt, Gen. x. 9, 10. xii. 1920 2084 The Arabian shepherds invade Egypt, and found a kingdom, which continues about 259 years. 2006 1998 Noah dies, aged 950 years; and two years after Abram is born.

2079 1925 Chedorlaomer fubdue: Sodom, and the adjacent kingdoms. 2083 1921 Abram, called of God, leaves Ur, and begins his pilgrimage.

2092 1912 Chedorlaomer and his allies waste the eastern part of Canaan, defeat the allied army of Solom, Gomorrah, &c. take Lot captive; but are defeated by Abram, Gen. xiv.

2107 189 Sodom and its neighbouring cities are destroyed, Gen. xix.

2108/1896/ Iffact is born to Abraham; and not long after, Moab and Ben-ammi to Lot, Gen. vxi. xix.

21.43 1863 Isaac is intentionally offered in facrifice; and feven years after, he is married to Rebekah, Gen. xxii xxiv.

2183 1821 Abraham dies, 15 years after the birth of Jacob and Efau.

2265 1739 Jacob returns from Padan-aram with a numerous family, after he had there ferved Laban for 20 years. About a year after, Judah marries a Canaanites, by whom he had three sone, Er, Onan, and Shelah, Gen. xxviii.—xxxviii.

2276 1728 Joseph is fold into Egypt, five years after his mother's death.

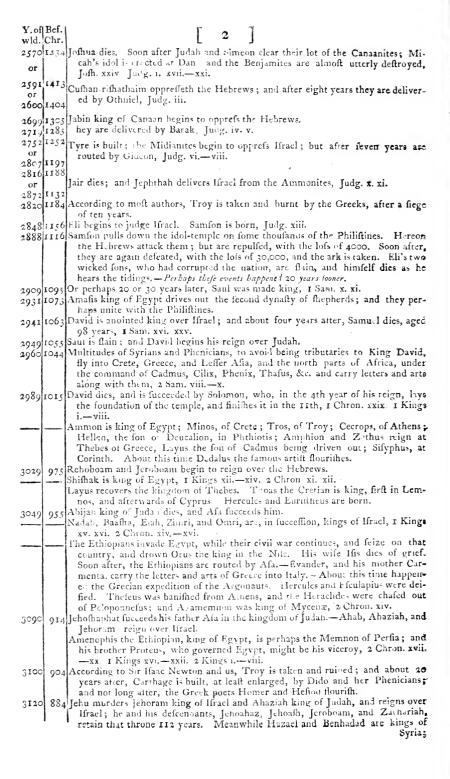

22881716 Ifuac dies, about 43 years after he had bleffed Jacob and Efau, Gen. xxxv. with 2289[1715] Joseph interprets Pharaoh's dieant; and the seven years of plenty begin, Gen. xli. 2299 1705 Jacob and his family come into Egypt, in the third of the feven years famine, Gen xlvi. with xlii.-xlv.

23691635 Joseph dies, aged 110 years, Gen 1. 24301574 The oppression of the 1t brews, and murder of their children is begun, Exod. i. ii. Acts vii. Pfal. cv.

2513 1491 Mofes, in the 80th year of his age, brings the Hebrews out of Egypt; and E. gypt is almost ruined by ten plagues, and the drowning of their army, Exod.

iii.-xv. Pfal. cv. 2553 1451 Mofes dies, and the Hebrews enter Canaan; and after fix years are fettled in it, Deut. xxxiv. Josh. i .- xxi. Perhaps a body of fugitive Canaanites found a fecond kingdom of shepherds in Fgypt. Liftur

Y. of Bef.	[3]
	Syria; Athaliah, Joath, Amezeah, and Uzziah, kings of Judah; Mæris, Cheops, and Cechrin, of Egypt, 2 Kings ix +xv. 2 Chron. xxii. +xxvi.
3150 854 4	colony of the Eolians remove from Greece to Leffer Affa; and about 50 years after, another of Loians; and the Heraelides return to Peloponnefus.
3142 862 Or	perhaps 50 years later, Jonah preached to the Ninevites.
	zžiah begins to reign over Judah: with him were fuccedively cotemporary, Jeroboam, Zacharian, Shallum, Menan m, and Pekahiah, kings of Ifrael; Mycerious, Nitocris, Gnephectus, Bocchoris, and others, in Egypt; Amos, Hofea, Micah, and Itriah prophefy.
3228 776 11	he Greek Olympiads be in, each of which contained four years.
	1, the founder of the Affyrian empite, invade Canaan, one is built, or at least much enlarged and walled.
3257 747 TI	nt kingdom of Babylon is founded by Nabonaffar or Baladan, probably the for of Pul the Affyrian: he gave name to the famed wra of Ptolemy the histotians
3283 721 th	tham king of Jusah dies, and is fucceeded by Ahaz. glath pilefer king of Affyria fubdues Media, Syria, and part of the ten Hebrew tribes.—So and Sevechus are kings of Egypt, 2 Kings xv. xvi 2 Chron. xxviii. al manefer king of Affyria carries the ten tribes of Ifrael into captivity, in the
3294 710 50	fixth year of dezektah, 2 Kings xvii. nnacherib and his Affyrian hoft are cut off before Jerofalem; and foon after he is murdered by two of his own fins, and fucceeded by Efarhaddon, 2 Kings xix.
	If. xxx-n. the Me is revolt from the Affyrians, and erect a kingdom of their own. About this line, Tirhakah is king of Ethiopia; Merodach king of Babylon; Lycurgus lawgiver at Sparta; and the Greeks invade Sicily, and there found a multitude 3336 668 E	of circs. archiddon king of Affyria, after extending his empire from Media to African Ethiopia, die; and most of the western provinces of his empire revolt. Psammin us, after long war, deseats the other cleven princes of Egypt, and becomes king.—The Messen of Peloponnesus, after two long and bloody wars with the Lacedemenians, are betrayed by the Arcadians, and obliged to retire into Sicily; but Newton places this 70 years later, A. M. 3406. About this time Nahum prophesical.
3363 641 A	tanfet king of Jutah dies, after a reign of 55 years. mon king of Judah dies, and Jofiah factords him, 2 Kings xxi. 2 Chron. xxxiii. terrible war rages between the Modes and Alfyrians. Nineveh is once and a- gain belieged.
	china, and invide Media and Affyria. About this time Zepnaniah and Jetemiah begin to prothefy.
- A	bout this time Eattus founds a Grecian kingdom in Ovene; and not long after, Phalantus founds the Greek state of Tarentum in Italy.
3398 606 (of h king of Judah is flain, 2 Kings xxiii. 2 Chron. xxxv. yaxares king of Media cantes invite all the nonle Scythians who ruled his kingdom to a feaft, and murders them, drives the reft out of his territories, and feaz-s on Armenia, Pontus, and Coppadocia, provinces of the Affyrian empire, abopolaffar, who recovered the kingdom of Bobglon from the Affyrians, dies, 3103 607	and Nabocolaffar, or Nebuchadnezzar the Great, fucceeds him, 2 mings xxiv. Div. 1.—iv.
	for a furious war of fix years, the Medes and Lydians make a peace; and they, together with the Babylonians, beliege and defiroy Nineveh, and put an end to the Affyrian empire, after it had continued about 170 years, Nov.i.—iii. he Jewish capital and temple are burnt to the ground by the Chaideans, about the 2-th of July, 2 Kings xxv. Jer. lii. haraoh-hophra, or Apries, receives a terrible defeat from the Cyrenians: this
1 1	begins his difafters. fter fustaining a siege of 13 years, the Tyrians leave their city to the Chaldeans, who cut the materials of it into the sea, and seave the place like a scraped rock,
	Ez-k. xxvi. Thile the Ez-yptians are in a flate of rebellion against Pharaol-hophra, Nebuchad-
3435 569 N	nezzar invades and fubdues the country, and makes Amalis, the chief of the rebels, his general or deputy in that kingdoni, Ezek xxix.—xxxii. ebuchadnezzar becomes diffracted Dam iv Pharaoh hophra, having got a number of mercenary foldiers from Ionia and Caria, attempts to reduce the tractor Amalis. (A 2)
	the A.J.

Y. of	Bef.	f . 7
	Chr.	L 4 J
		mass, but is descated; and Amass commences king, is a noted lawgiver, and reigns 44 years, Ezek. xxix.
3443	561	Nebuchadnezzar dies, and is succeeded by Evil-merodach.
		solon the Athenian lawgiver, and Thales the philosopher, flourish. Solon died 3456	548	A. M. 3445, and Thales twelve years after, Jer. lii. 2 Kings xxv. Cyrus and Darius the Mede, after a long war, and a variety of conquests, defeat
373	340	the huge allied army of Balfhazzar king of Babylon, Crafus king of Lydia, and Amalis king of Egypt: and the kingdom of Lydia, after it had flood 248 years.
3466	538	is made a province of Persia. Babylon is taken by Cyrus and Darius, and an end put to the kingdom of the Chaldeans, after it had stood 200 years, and their empire above 70. Dan. v.
3468	530	Cyrus fucceeds his uncle and father-in-law in the whole Medo-Persian empire; the
-		Jews return from their captivity in Babylon, Ezra i. Nch. vii. The Carthaginians. originally a colony of the Phenicians, reduce a great part of Sicily. A plague raging at Carthage, they facrifice their children to appeale their gods. The Carthaginian army being defeated in Sardinia, are declared exiles by their own fenate; but returning home, they take Carthage by force, and put the fenators to death.
3475	529	Cyrus dies, and is succeeded by Ahasuerus or Cambyses.
3482	322	Artaxerxes the Magus being killed, Darius Hystaspis, whom we think Ahasuerus the husband of Esther, is chosen king of Persia, by the neighing of his horse, Ezra vi. Elth. i.—x.
3499	505	Tarquin, fon of Tarquin the Second, king of Rome, having ravished Lucretia, her relations, in revenge, abolish the royal government of the state, and two annual confuls are appointed instead of the king.
3502	502	Ariftagoras, a Persian officer, being fined for his miscarriage, stirs up the Ionian Greeks to revolt from Darius, and is affifted by the Athenians. This begins the war between the Persians and Greeks, which ended in the ruin of the Persian empire.
		A terrible war rages between the Romans and the Sabines, in which the latter 3519	485	are often defeated Darius Hyftafpis king of Perfia, after one fruitlefs invafion of Greece, dies, when just ready to begin a second, and at the same time to march against the revolted 3524	180	Egyptians.
33	400	Xerxes king of Persia, after reducing Egypt to a worse serviced than before, marches an army of near 3,000,000 of sighting men into Greec, and engages the Carthaginians to invade the Greek colonies in Sicily at the fame time. The most of this army was ruined, and Xerxes forced to escape homeward in a fish- ing boat.
3540	464	Artaxerxes Longimanus, or long bands, fucceeds Xerxes his father in the throne of 3547	457	Perha, and reigns 41 years. In the 7th year of his reign, he fends Ezra, and
3500	444	in the 20th, Nehemiah, to premote the repairs of Jerufalem. Some think him Ahafuerus the hufband of Effher, Ezra vii. viii. Neh. i. ii.
3573	431	The Peloponnesian war, betwixt the Athenians and Lacedemonians, breaks out,
2582	422	and lasts 52 years.
3582	422	Sanballat builds a temple on mount Gerizzim, for Eleazar his fon-in law, where he and his fucceffors officiate as high-priefts of the Samaritans, John iv.
3595	4°9	Nehemiah dies, after he had governed the Jews about 36 years. About this
3600	404	time, or tweive years later, Malachi prophefies, Neh. xin. Mal. i.—iv. Darius Nothus king of Perfia dies in the 19th year of his reign, and is fucceeded
3333	404	by Artaxerxes Mnemon, who reigns 44 years. In the beginning of his reign, his brother Cyrus attempts to wrest the government from him: and Xenophon, an affiftant of Cyrus, after his defeat and death, makes the famous retreat with _	Terrible wars rage between the Syracufans and Carthaginians.—A dreadful plague depopulating the city and territory of Carthage, their tributary Africans and 3620	384	the Sardinians revolt. The Gauls take and burn Rome, but are routed by Camillus.
363.5	369	Epaminondas and Pelopidas, Thebans, having freed their state from the yoke of 3644	360	the Lacedemonians, attempt to render it the missers of all Greece. The cruel Artaxerxes Ochus succeeds his father in the throne of Persia. He
0-44		cruelly murders the Jews.
	-	Philip king of Maccdonia begins his conquests; Dion frees Syracuse from the ty,		ranny of Dienyfius the Elder. After

Y. of Bef.
wld. Chr.) 3654-350 After 64 years struggling to free themselves from the Persian yoke, Egypt is	terribly ravaged and reduced, nor has a native ever fince reigned therein. 3668 336 Alexander the Great of Macedonia begins his reign; in two years finishes th	e reduction of Greece, begun by his father. In A. 31. 3671 he marches into 2 in three years reduces the whole Perfian empire; and in A. M. 3681 di	Afia; Bahylon. About the fame time, or foon after, Jaddua the Jewish high-dies, Dan. vii. vii. xi. After fome years contention among his captains for the chief ra'e, Ahxan	der's empire is divided into four principal parts; but the two mest noted and la	fling were the Engdoms of Egypt and Syria, Dan. xl. A terrible war rages between the Romans and Samnites; the Syracufans and	other
Sicilians are cruelly opprefied by the tyrant Agathotles, who makes war the Carthaginians.	with
6690: 314 Seleucus, after much flruggling with Antigonus, another of Alexander's cap renders himfelf king of Babylon, and not long after of Syria, &c	tains, 3692 312 The ara of the Schucida, or kingdom of the Greeks in Syrin, begins.
3712 292 Simon the Juft, a famous high prieft and governor of the Jews, dies. 3719 285 Demetrius the fon of Antigonus dying, Sciencus king of Babylon feizes on a	II his dominions in Afia and Syria.
mans About the fame time the Sabines are reduced: feveral Greek	states unite themselves in the Acharan league, and are headed by Aratus: the C invited by the king of Bithynia, to affist Lim against his rebellious brother,	lauls, enter Afia, and fettle in Galatia.
and Lacedemonians, Pyrrhus king of Epirus is flain, in an attack upon Spa	irta.
3754 250 Arfaces erec's the potent kingdom of the Parthians. 3772 232 The first war, of about 30 years, between the Carthaginians and Romans, w	herein the former loft 700 ships of war, and the latter 500, is finished, to the advantage of Carthage.—Sicily foon after is given up to the Romans. The diffusided ineccepaties of Carthage rife in arms; and after three year bloody war, are reduced by the Carthaginians. Meanwhile Rome is overfile by the Tiber; and the upper part of it is burnt to the ground.	owed
3777 227 The Carthaginians, under Hamiltan the father of Hannibal, invade Spain, a nine years reduce the most of it.	nd in
3786 218 Upon Hannibal's taking and defroying the city Saguntum in Spain, the Re	mans declare war against the Carthaginians. Hannibal marches from Spain into and there, though ill supported by his state, maintains the war against the	Italy, Romans about 22 years, and fometimes reduces them to the very brink of His frate obliging him to bring home his army to protect their country, to	ruin.
3808 196 cond Carthaginian war foon after ended, to the advantage of the Romans. A while the Romans had conquered the most of Spain. Antiochus the Great of Syria wars with Ptolemy Philopater of Egypt, Dan.	xi.
3812 192 While the Romans wage war with the Gauls, and Nabis tyrannizes at Sparta tiochus the Great, infligated by the now fugitive Hannibal, and after va	, Anconqueits of the fhores and ifles of the Mediterranean, enters into a league	with part of the Greeks in Europe, and commences a war against the Romans in two years he is obliged to sue for peace on the most shameful terms. A	About this time, Philopamen, lord of the Greeks of the Acharan league, carries war with Nabis, the tyrant of Sparta.	on a 3829 175 Seleucus king of Syria is poisoned by Heliodorus his treasurer, and intended u	furp-er of the throne. Antiochos Epiphanes, his brother, fucceeds him; who about 12 years, proves a terrible feourge to the Jews and Egyptians, and a	, for t laft dies miferably, Dan. viii. xi. 3837 167 Mattathias, a Jewish priest, finding that the high-priests were monsters of wie	cked.
ness, and bought their office from, and every way complied with the w	icked
Antiochus, he levies an army, and he and his fons, Judas, Jonathan, and S Maccabeus, perform wonders of bravery against the Syro-Grecians, and at	imo n : laft deliver their country, Dan. viii. xi. Perfes, the king of Macedonia, and his allies, the Epirots, Achwans, and B nians, are reduced by the Romans, and the power of the European Gree abolished.	ks is 3855, 149 The Romans fend home 300 noted Achaans, after they had kent them prife	oners about 1; years. While the Carthaginians are engaged in war with Maff	iniffa king
	_

Y. of Bef. wld. Chr. king of Numidia, the Romans villanously declare a third war with them; which, in two or three years, iffues in the total ruin of the Carthaginians, and the utter demolition o their capital, A. M 3858. 132 Attalus, the last king of Pergamus, dies, and the Romans pretend to be his heir. 3872 The Romans finish their conquests of Spain .- Soon after Hircanus, the Jewish king, entirely shakes off the Syro-Grecian yoke, and conquers the Samaritans, Edomites, and others. 117 Ptotemy Physicon dying, leaves the kingdom of Cyrene to his fon Apion; and em-3887 powers Cleopatra, his queen, to bestow Egypt upon his other two sons, Alexand r, or Lathyrus, as the picates. 115 The two brothers, Cyzicenus and Gryphus, contend in war for the kingdom of Syria .- Not long after, the Scordifci of Thracia cut off the Roman army of Portiu Caco: and the Cimbri from Germany ravage France and Switzerland. After murdering Hiempfel, his adoptive parent's eldest fon, Juguit' a feizes on the whole kingdom of Numicia; but, after much bloodshed, is taken captive by the Roman, and not l ng after, nickingdom reduced to a province. 3898 106 Alexander Janneus, the fon of Hir anus, increeds his brother Ariftobulus in the government of the Jews, and raifes that nation to a confiderable pitch of grandeur; rendering hanfelt mafter of the territories around, and compelling the people to leave their dwellings, or receive circumcifion: but by wars rendered his kingdom unhappy. He so heartily hated the Pharmees, who had done him fome outrage, that, having defeated the rebels, he caused 800 of the principal Pharifees to be crucified on one day, while he and his concubines feafted upon an opposite scaffold: he, moreover, caused their wives and children to be butchered before their eyes. After his death, his wife, by his advice, favoured the Pharifecs 94 Tigranes of Greater Armenia recovers his father's throne; is chosen king of Syria, 3910 and conquers Armenia the Less, Cappadocia, &c. Mithridates king of Pontus begins to flourish, who for 26 years carries on a most terrible war against the Rollins. Sometimes his conquelts were very extensive, containing Lesser Asia, and extending to Greece.—Sylla and Lucuilus, the Roman Generals, obtain creat advantages against him, but Pompey finally reduces him. 85. After the Romans had reduced their revolting confederates in Italy, a civil war 3916 commences between Marius and Sylla, two of their chief men, which, for a confiderable time, renders Rome shambles of human blood. It is faid, Sylla murdered about 100,000 cicizens, and murdered or proferibed 90 fenators and 2600 knights. 71 The Roman flaves rife in arms against their masters, but are reduced with the loss 3933 of 50,000. Next year, the famed Heraclea of Pontus is betrayed, plundered, and reduced to ashes by the Romans. 68 Crete is reduced by the Romans. 3936 67 Pompry attacks the pirates, and in four months takes or links 1300 of their ships, 3937 kills 10,000, and takes above 20,000 of their forces prisoners, and takes 120 of their towns or strong holds. 64 After the reduction of Pontus, Pompey recovers Syria, and next year, under pre-3940 tence or deciding between Hircanus and Aristobulus, takes Jerusalem on a Sabbath-day, enters the fanctuary, and views the furniture thereof. 54 Crassus the Roman perfidiously seizes 28,000 talents pertaining to the Jewish tem-3950 ple, and never after prospers. 52 Cassius the Roman attacks the poor remains of the Jews that fided with Aristobu-3952 lus, and carries off 30,000 prifoners. 44 After Julius Cefar had murdered multitudes of the Helvetians Gauls, Belgians, 3960 and Britons, in his wars with these nations, and instructe numbers of Romans in his civil war with Pompey, he becomes emperor or dictator for life, but is foon after murdered. Cassius, one of his murderers, imposes a tribute of 700 talents upon the Jews. 38 Jerusalem is taken by i erod and Sosius the Roman. 3966 30 After two years spent in war with Brutus and Cassius, the destroyers of Julius Ce-3974: for, and welve more with Antony his partner, Augustus becomes sole emperor of the Romans. After reducing the empire to a pacific state, Augustus pretends to be willing to lay 3996 down his authority. The citizens of Rome are found to be 4,233,000.—Horace and Mecenas die. Cæcilius Isiodorus dies, worth 4116 slaves, 3600 oxen, and 200,000 of other cattle, and three millions Sterling in cash.

Our

Y. of Bef. wld. Chr. 3 Our Saviour is born *; peace reigns throughout the whole world; but Caverhill 4001 contends, that he was born A. M. 4009, or A. D 6. Matth. i. Luke ii. Herod dies; Archelaus fucceeds him as king, 2|Five feditions happen in Judea, and are headed by Judas or Theudas, and by Si-4002 A.D. mon, Athronges, &c. Acts v. 4004 I Christ's parents return from Egypt, and settle at Nazareth. 7 Judas of Galilee and Sadducus raile a bloody infurrection in Judea. 4010 14 Augustus die- on the 19th of August, and Tiberius, his adopted stepson, succeeds 4017 him, Luke iii. 17 A most terrible earthquake overturns 12 cities in Lesser Afra, and buries most of 4020 the inhabitants in the ruins. Tacfarinas, a Numidian, begins to raife commotions in Africa, which continue feven years. 26 Caiaphas is made high-prieft; Pilate governor in Judea. 4029 4031 28 Or two years before, John Baptitt begins to preach. Jesus is baptised, Matth. in. Mark i. Luke iii. 4036 33 Christ is crucified, rifes from the dead, and afcends to heaven. The Holy Ghoss defcends on the apolities; and multitudes of Jews, at Pentecoft and afterwards, are converted to Christ, Matth. xxvi. -xxviii. Luke xxiu -xxiv. Acts i. -v. 35 Or five years after, Paul is converted, Acts ix. xxii. xxvi. 4038 37 l'iberius dies, and Caius Caligula, his a topted fon, fucceds him; who, in the 4040 4th year, is succeeded by Claudius, the son of Drusus, grandson of Tiberius. 41 Cornelius and his family are baptifed, Asts x. xi. 4044 44 James the brother of John is beheaded; Herod is eaten up of worms, Acts xii. 4047 48 Two tumults happen at Jerusalem, in one of which 10,000 Jews are killed by the 4051 Romans.—At this time, it is faid the citizens of Rome amounted to 6,900,000, which is almost the number of the whole inhabitants of England. 52 The council of apostles is held at Jerutalem. 4055 Claudius having, with 30,000 men, in cleven years, drained the lake Fucinus by a great canal, exhibits a diverting flow, of 19,000 criminals in 100 gallies, engaged in a fea-fight 53|Felix succeeds Cumanus in the government of Judea; and next year Nero succeeds 4056 Claudius in the empire. 4067 64 Nero, now become a monfter of crucky, causes burn Rome; and laying the blame on the Christians, commences a perfecution against them. - Geslius Florus succeeds Albinus in the government of Judea. At his arrival, the Jews pelt him with stones, which occasions a dreadful feries of murders, rapines, &c. Rev. vixii. 67 100,000 Jews are massacred at Cesarea, Ptolemais, and Alexandria, besides multi-4070 tudes that Florus murdered in other places. Cestius Gallus lays siege to Jerufalem at the feast of tabernacles, but suddenly raises it without a reason, and has 4500 of his troops cut off in their retreat. Velpasian invades Galilee with an army of 60,000, takes Gadara, Gamala, &c. Matth. xxiv. Luke xxi. Mark xiii. 68 Nero, now become odious to all for his murders, &c. hearing of the revolt of the 407 I German legions, caufes kill himfelf. After Galba, Otho, and Vitellius, had each of them been emperor fome months, Vespasian is chosen emperor by the armies in Judea and Egypt. 4072 69 V-spasian leaves Titus his son to prosecute the war against the Jews. 4073 70 Jerusalem is taken and razed; and in three years more, the war, in which about 1,350,000 Jews are cut off, is finished, and the land of Judea is fold for the emperor's use, Deut. xxviii. xxix. xxxii. Matth. xxiv. Luke xix. xxi. 4084 81 After a fhort reign of two years, Titus dies, and is succeeded by his bloody and brutish brother Domitian. Apollonius Tyaneus, a Heathen magician, and ape of Chrift, flourisheth. His lite was not written till about an hundred years after, from tabulous memoirs and traditional romances. 95 After barbarous murders of multitudes of Romans, Domitian riff s a fecond perfe-4098 cution against the Christians; but by his wife and others, is next year affashinated, to the great joy of his fubjects, and is succeeded by Nerva. 98 Frajan, the adopted fon of Nerva, fucceeds him : his wars with the Dacians and 4101 Parthians, Arabs and Jews, mostly fuccefstel, dillinguish his reign. He perfecuted the Christians, Rev. vi. xii. * A Chronological History of Christ, or harmony of the four Evangelists, may be seen in Introduction to Self-interpressing Bible, p. 108,-114. The 116 The Jews of Syria, Egypt, &c. revolt, and are reduced with great bloodfied; but are fearce quieted till about 20 years after, when Adrian cut off Barcocaba their leader, and 580,000 men, deftroyed 985 towns, &c. Perhaps about a million of Jews were cut off, besides those which fell by the sword, Deut. xxviii. Matth. xxiv. Luke xvii. xix. xxi.

[8]

A.M.A.D.

4119

137 Adrian, in the 20th year of his reign, finished his new city of Jerusalem, which he called Elia Capitolina; and next year he died, and was succeeded by Antoninus Pius. Both of them were perfecutors of the Christians, Rev. vi. xii.

4166 163 Marcus Aurelius, another perfecutor, succeeds Autoninus Pins. His reign is noted for diffressful wars with the Parthians in the east, and with the Germans, Marcomans, and Quadrans in Europe.

4195 192 The temple of Vesta, and the temple of Peace, where the vessels of the Jewish fanctuary were deposited, are burnt to the ground.

- 1196 193 The Saracens defeat the Romans. After a butchering reign of twelve years, the Emperor Commodus dies, and is fucceeded by Severus, who, in his victorious
- reign of 18 years, almost recovers the pristine grandeur of the empire.

 Or fix years later, Artaxerxes, a noble Persian, having rendered himself king of his country, demands from the Romans their territories in Asia, and receives a terrible defear.
- 4253 250 While Decius the emperor terribly perfecutes the Christians, a plague, of fifteen years continuance, begins to ravage the empire, Rev. vi. xii.
- 262 Odenatus fets up for king of Palmyra or Tadmor; and for cleven years, he and Zenobia his queen perform wonders of bravery against the Perfians and Romans.
- 4316 313 After the Christians had for ten years been terribly perfecuted by the Heathens, and after the empire had for about 100 years been a feene of bloody ftruggling with the Perfian, and with the Goths of various denominations, and with a multirude of afurpers, Conftantine the Great defeats Maxentius the Heathen emperor, and publishes an edica in favour of the Christians, Rev. vi. xii.
- 4326 323 Conftantine having defeated Licinus his heathenish partner, becomes fole emperor, and applies himself to abolish idolatry and superstition; and in about two years after, convenes the council of Nice to settle the assairs of the Christian church.
- 2329 Conftantine begins to build Conftantinople, where Byzantium had been built about 987 years before; and foon after the imperial refidence is removed to it, A. D. 334, and so more opportunity is given for the rife of Antichrist.
- 4340 337 Conftantine the Great dies, and divides his empire among his three fons, Conftantine, Conftant, and Conftantius. Great contention and war in the empire, and bloody perfectation of the orthodox by the Arians, enfue, Rev. viii.
- 4364 361 Julian the apostate, and nephery of Constantine, succeeds the last of his sons, and re-establishes Paganism; but is cut off, after he had been Cesar seven years, and emperor two.
- 4308 395 Theodofius the Great dies, after he had been emperor 16 years, and with great activity had brought the empire, and the Christian church, to much the same condition as Constantine the Great had left them in.—After his death ensued terrible ravages of the Goths, Huns, Vandals, &c. till the western part of the empire was abolished. Meanwhile the church was plagued with the continued Arian, and the rising Pelagian, Nestorian, and Entychian heresies, and the contentions and persecutions that issued therefrom, Rev. viii.
- 4448 445 The Britons, subject to the Romans, being terribly distressed by the Scots and Picts, invite the Saxons into England for their assistance. These barbarous Heathens, from time to time, assisted by their countrymen from Germany, ruin the British church, and nurder most of the ancient Britons, except a small handful in Wales. Soon after the Saxons become a kind of Christians.
- 476 Augustulus the last emperor is deposed by the Heruli, and other Barbarians, which he had disbanded from his army, headed by Odosser, whom, though but a private soldier of the guards, they had chosen for their general or king. About this time the empire began to consist of ten particular sovereignties.
- 4496 493 Odoacer is reduced, and treacherously murdered by Theodoric king of the Goths, who seizes on his territory; but about 60 years after, in A. D. 553, this kingdom of the Goths is reduced by Narces, the samed general of Justinian, the emperor of the eastern parts of the Roman empire.
- 4609 606 After the Roman bithops had long, and chiefly for the last 300 years, by force or fraud, struggled for the supremacy over the whole Christian church, Bonisace the Third, by flartery of the base Phocas emperor of Constantinople, procures himself the character of universal bishops; and from this time we date the rife of Antichrist, kev. ix. x. xi. xii.

Much

1 1	-1	Γ 9	+
A.M.A.	6 Much about the i		, the eastern impol	lor, commenced his before he made h	iis public appearance,	Rev. ix. f 11.	•
4625 6	Mahomet was expe	elled from Mecca; up word. From this, t T, viz. of Mahomet,	he æra of the Mah	to propagate his de- ometaus, called the 4635 63	Or two years later, dom of Perfia, a	the Mahometan Sarac fter it had, for 400 ye	ens conquer, and put	an end to the king- ourge to the Roman
4669 66	6 Pope Vitalian, it is	faid, orders, that pu	blic prayers be perfe	rmed in the Latin tongue, and fo m By this time, the ea	arks the weltern chur aftern, or Greek churc	ches with an implicit h, was much alienate	fuhjection to Rome. d from the Romish.
4,13, 7.	2 Great contention ab eaftern emperors Great of France Popes and others	, Leo Ifauricus, Cot and Germany, and	istantinus Copronym:	as, and Charles the
4717 71	4 The Saracens enter finally driven out	Spain, and continue	there about 900 yea	rs before they were
4755 75	2 Pope Zacharias he	gins to dispose of k	ingdoms, and gives a	way the kingdom of is thut up in a mo	rue heir and line, to F mastery. In return o	f which, Pepin, abo	ut four years after, piaces adjacent, a	hen to commence a nd Charles the Great	the fon of Pepin, h	aving, by the Pope's affistance, seized	the kingdom of the I	combards, confirms t	he Pope's civil right up to the Pope.	and adds thereto; na
4763 76	OAbout this time, the After reducing the	e empire of the Sarac kingdom of Erance	ens was in its princip	al grandeur.
4003	Great has the title	e of Emperor confirm	ed to him by the Pop	e. This is the rife of the German en in their power b difpleafed his Hol	npire. Afterwards y y the Pope; and fur iness	ve find the German idry of the emperors	electors confirmed deposed when they 4823 82	Claude bishop of Ti	arin, with great bold	ness and success, prop	agates the truth in here to it, Rev. x	ery. Multitudes abo	at Savoy and Piedmon	nt embrace, and ad-
4913 91	By this time, the Sa their empire much	tracens were divided i	nto a vast number of	f fovereignties, and
	The Seljukian Turk	s, who had, for almo	st 300 years before,	been pouring them-
5083 108	the four fultanie	forth-east, into Peri s or kingdoms of B	ia, Mesopotamia, Ai aodad. Damascus. Ai	menia, &c. erected not far from the l	Euphrates. But fome	place the erection o	f Tangrolipix king-
	ix. 13. &c.	. D. 1033 or 1037, a		igdad in 1041, Rev.
5069 106	6 William, with an as	my of Normans, con	quers England.
3099109	of Canaan from	the Turks and other	Mahometans. At the	he expense of many millions of lives,	this war is to no pur ian Turks not a little	pofe carried on about	200 years. Mean-
5163 116	About this time, or	fooner, the Walden	les in Savoy, Piedmo	nt, and the fouth of
	France, become	famous in their zealo nillion of them are af	us opposition to Anti	ichrist; and on that 5206 120	The French and Ve	metian Croisaders, in	their way to Canaan	drive the usurping
	pire, for 57 years.	intinople from has ca	pital, and retain it,	and part of the em-
5213 1210 -63 -6	The Tartars, under	Jenghiz-khan and l nd found the three Ta	iis fons, over-run aln irtar empires of Chin	nost all Asia, and a a, Persia, and Kip-5284 128	jak. Or about 20 years la	ter, the Ottoman Tu	rks found their emp	oire, and begin their ravages on the Ch		•
	Bruce and Baliol	, occasions a ruinous	and lafting war bet	ween Scotland and 40 or 50 years after, ons a fatal and per l	land.	(B)
	A OPT III	(د ۱		About

5373 1370 About this time, Wickliffe and his followers in Britain become famous for their hold opposition to Popery, and their adherence to truth, Rev. v., xiii, xiv

About this time, John Hufs and Jerome of Prague, and Ger Bohemian and other German followers, commence their apposition to Popery, and are terribly perfecuted and murdered, R v. xi. xiii. xiv.

5403 1400 Tamerlane, with a great army of Tartars, ravages a great part of Afra, and gives the Ottoman Turks a most terrible deseat, and carries about their Emperor Bajazet in an iron cage.

5456 1453 Constantinople is, with prodigious bloodshed, taken by the Ottoman Turks. On this occasion, multitudes of Greeks retire into the western parts of Europe, and contribute to the revival of learning in Itale, &c.

5495,1492 America is difcovered by Columbus, a failor of Genoa, supported to the King of Spain.

5520 1517 The Reformation from Popervistegun by Luther Zwinglius, &c , and for about 50 years makes afteraffing progrefs. That i me year, about 90,000 German Boors take up acms, but are crushed, Rev. xin. xiv.

5528 1525 The war of the Anabaptifts, Boors, &c. begins in Germany, in which about 600,000 perith.

n this and the year following, about 500,000 or 600,000, mostly Protestants, defert their habitations in the Netherlands, and see into other countries, to avoid the terrible cruelty of the Duke of Alva, deputy of the King of Spain, who boassed, that besides those slain in war, he cut off above 18,000 by the hand of the public executioner.

5601 1.598 After near 40 years struggling, and the murder of perhaps near a million, the Protestants of France obtain in their favour the edict of Nantz, but which is recalled by Lewis XIV. A. D. 1685.

5021/1618 The German Emperor commences a war against the Protestants of Bohemia, and of the Palatinate of the Rhine, which once threatens the ruin of the Protestant interest in Germany; but after a war of 30 years, most of them, except the Bohemians, have their liberties confirmed to them by the treaty of Munster, or Westphalia, in 1648.

5644 1641 While God grants a noted revival to the churches in Britain, the Papifts of Ireland maffacre about 200,000 or 300,000 of the Protestants.

5691 1688 The attempts of James II. of England, and Lewis XIV. of France, to ruin the Protestant interest, are checked by William Prince of Orange and King of Bri-5717 1714 An attempt to overthrow the Protestant religion in Britain is happily frustrated, by the feafonable death of Queen Anne, and accession of the family of Hanover.

5869 1866 About this time, we expect the downfal of Antichrift, and Mahometism.

59:4 1941 We expect the full glory of the Millennium: but others more learned and judicious, place this, and the former event, 150 years later than our calculation.

Though, by reason of frequent uncertainty, the explication of the PROPER NAMES of Scr pture is of less importance, especially for fuch as cannot trace their derivation from the Original Languages; yet, to gratify some Readers, I shall subjoin what I think the real or most probable Signification of a great many of them.

ARON; mountainous, teaching. Abaddon; destruction. Abana; Ponv Abarim : passages, furies. Abda; fervant, bondage. Abdiel; the fervant of God. Abdon; fervice, cloud of judgement. Abednego; fervant of Nego, or light. Abel, Hebel; vanity, vapour. Abel; mourning, when it fignifies a place.

Abez; an egg, muddy. Abi, my father. Abiah, Abijah; the Lord my father. Abialbon; my father overfees the building. Abiathar; excellent, or furviving father. Abib, green fruits. Abidah, father of knowledge. Abidan, my father is judge. Abiel, God is my father. Abiezer, my father's help.

TI

Abigail, my father's joy.
Abihail father of strength, or trouble. Abihu, he is my father. Abijah, the Lord is my father. Abijam, father of the fea. Ahimael, a father from God. Animelech, my father is king. Abinadab, my father is a willing prince. Abinoam; my father is beautiful. Abiram, Abram; high father. Abishag, my father seizes.
Abishai, father of the present, or oblation. Abilhua, father of falvation. Abifhur, my father is firm, upright. Abital, father of the dew. Abitub, my father is good. Abiud, my father's glory or praife. Abner, father's lamp. Abraham, father of a multitude. Abi dom, father of perfect peace. Accad; a petcher, a sparkle. Accho; close, pressed. Achaia; grief, trouble. Achan, Achar; bruifing, trouble. Achbor; a rat, inclosing the well. Achfah; adorned, bursting the vail. Achshaph; poison, tricks, bursting the lip. Achzib; liar, running, delaying. Adadah; the witness of the affenibly. Adah; an affembly. Adaiah; the wirness of the Lord. Adam, Adamah, Adami, Admah; earthy, reddish, man, comely. N. E. If the names of the ten Antediluvian patriarchs, Adam, Sheth, Enosh, Kenan, Mahalalcel, Jered, Enoch, Methuselah, Lamech, Noah, be jointly explained, their fignification is, Man being placed in a wretched and lamentable condition, the bleffed God shall descend, teaching, that his death produces to debused and smitten men, rest and consolation. Adbeel; a cloud, or vexer of God. Adar, Ador; excellent, flock. Addi; my witness, ornament, prey. Adon; foundation, Lord. Adiel; witness of the Lord. Adin, Adinah, Adnah; adorned, voluptu-Adithaim; two affemblies, or testimonies. Adlai; my complaint, direction. Adonibezek; Lord of Bezek. Adonijah; my master is the Lord. Adonicam; my Lord hath raifed. Adoniram; my Lord is high. Adonizedek; Lord of equity. Adoram; their beauty, power, praise. Adoraim; double excellency. Adrammeleh; the king's glory. .Adramyttium; the court of death. Adullam; their complaint, their building. Agabus; a locust, father's teast. Agag; roof, floor. Agrippa causing pain at the birth.

Agur; gathered, itranger.

Ahab; brother of the father. Ahavah; being, generation. Ahaz; feizing, feeing. Ahaziah; feizure, or feeing of the Lord Ahiah, Ahijah; brother of the Lord. Ahiezer; brother of help. Ahikam; a brother raising up. Ahilud; a brother born. Ahimaaz; brother of the council. Ahiman; a brother prepared. Ahimelech; brother of the king. Ahimoth; brother of death. Ahinoam; brother of beauty. Ahio; his brethren. Ahira; brother of evil, or shepherds. Ahif mah; my brother supports. Allishar; brother of a prince. Ahitophel; brother of folly or ruin. Ahitub; brother of goodness. Ahihud; brother of praife Ahlab; fat, milky. Aholah; tent. Aholiab; tent of the father. Aliolibah; my tent in her. Aholibamah; my high tent. Ai, Aiath, Hai; a heap. Ajalon; chain, strength, deer-Akkub; fupplanter. Alameleh; God is King. Alexander; an helper of men. Allon-bachuth; oak of weeping. Almodad; God meafures. Alphens; learned, chief. Amalek; a people licking. Amana; truth, firmness. Amariah; word or command of the Lord. Amasa; a people forgiving. Amafai; the people's present. Amaziah; the strength of the Lord. Ammi, Ammah; my people. Amminadib; my people is free, princely, and willing, Ammi-hud; my people of praise. Ammi shaddai; the people of the Almighty. Ammon; the people. Amnon, Amon; firmness, truth, softer-father. Amori; commanding, bitter, rebellious. Amos; weighty load. Amoz; strong, robust. Amphipolis; a city encompassed with the sea. Amplias; large. Amram; a people exalted. Amraphel; a speaker of hidden things, of judgement, or ruin. Anah; answerer, poor, afflisted. Anak; a collar, ornament. Anammelech; king of sheep. Anathoth; answers, afflictions, poverty. Andrew; a stout strong man. Andronicus; a victorious man. Aner; answer, song, afilection, of light. Anna, Annas; gracious, afflicted, humble. Antioch; equal to, or against a chariet. (B 2) Antipas :

Antipas; against all. Apelles; separation, discourse. Aphek; a rapid stream, strength. Apollonia, Apollos, Apollyon; destruction, a destroyer. Apphia; truitfulness. Aquila; an cagle. Ar ; watching, empty, uncovered. Arabia; defert, evening, raven, mixed. Aram; highnefs. Ararat; the curse of trembling. Araunah; ark, joyful cry, curfe. Arba; four. Archelaus; prince of the people. Archippus; master of the horse. Archurus; gathering together. Ard; command, descent. Areli; the light or feeing of God. Areopagus; Mars hill or town. Aretas; pleasant, virtuous: but in the Arabic, plower, tearer. Argob; fat land. Ariel; altar, light, or lion, of God. Arioch; long, tall, thy lion. Ariftarchus; best prince. Aristobulus; good counfellor. Ármageddon; hill of Megiddo, or of fruits, destruction of troops. Arnon; great joy. Aroer; heathy, naked skin. Arpad; that makes his bed. Arphaxad; healer, releafer. Artemas; whole, found. Afa; physic. Afahel; work of God. Afaiah; work of the Lord. Afaph; gatherer, finisher, Ashdod, Azotus; pouring, leaning, pillage, Asher, Ashur, Assyria; happy. Ashima, a frame, crime.

Ashkenaz; spreading fire. Ashtaroth; flocks, riches. Asia; muddy, boggy.

Askelon; weighing, fire of infamy. Asnappar; unhappiness of the bull.

Affir; prisoner, fettered. Assos: approaching.

Afyncritus; incomparable. Atad; a thorn.

Athaliah; bar of the Lord. Actalia; increasing, fending.

Aven; vanity, idols, trouble, iniquity, force, wealth.

Augustus; increased, majestic.

Azariah; help or court of the Lord. Azekah; strength of walls.

Azgad; strong troop, or fortune. Aznoth; ears, hearings.

Azur; affistance.

Baalah; her idol, a lady. Baal-berith; Lord of the covenant.

Baal-hamon; lord of a multitude. Baal-hermon; lord of the oath, or of ruia. Baali; my lordly husband. Baalim, lords, idols. Baal-zephon; lord of the north, or fecret. Baanah; in the answer, or affliction. Baasha; in the work, seeks, wastes. Babel, Babylon; confusion, mixture.

Baca; mulberry trees. Bahurim; choice, valiant. Bajith, or Beth; a house. Balaam: fwallower of the people.

Balak; a waiter, licker. Bamah, Bamoth; high place. Barabbas; fon of the father, or of shame.

Barachel; bleffer of God. Barachias; bleffer of the Lord.

Barak; thunder. Barjefus; fon of Jefus. Barjona; fon of Jonas.

Barnabas; fon of prophecy or comfort. Barfabas; fon of the oath, or return. Bartholomew; fon of the suspender of the waters, or of Ptolemy. Bartimeus; son of the perfect. Baruch; bleffed, kneeling. Barzillai; made of iron.

Bashan; in ivory, change, or sleep.

Bashemath; persumed. Bathsheba; daughter of the oath, or of fullness, or the seventh daughter. Bedad; folitary, in the bosom. Bedan; in judgement.

Beelzebub, Baalzebub; lord of flies.

Beer; a well.

Beer-la-hai-roi; the well of him that liveth and feeth me.

Beersheba; the well of the oath. Bel; old, nothing.

Belial; without profit, yoke, or afcent. Belshazzar, Belteshazzar; master of the fecret treafure. Ben; fon. Benaiah; fon or building of the Lord. Ben-ammi; fon of my people.

Benhadad; fon of Hadad. Benjamin; fon of the right hand. Benoni; fon of my forrow.

Beor; burning, brutish. Berachah; bleffing, kneeling.

Berea; heavy.

Berith; covenant. Bernice; bringer of victory.

Befor; glad news, incarnation. Beth, house, temple.

Bethabara; house of passage. Bethany; house of fong, humility, grace.

Beth-birei; house of my Creator, or choice, Beth-car; house of the lamb or knowledge. Bethel; the house of God.

Bether; division, search.

Bethefda; house of mercy or pouring.

Beth-gamul; house of recompence or weaning, or of camels.

Beth-haccerem;

Beth-haccerem; the house of vineyards.
Beth-horon; house of wrath or liberty.
Bethlehem; house of bread or war.
Bethphage; house of early figs.
Bethfaida; house of truits, fishing, or hunting.

Bethshan; house of ivory, sleep, or change.

Bethshemesh; house of the sun. Bethuel; sonship of God.
Beulah; married.
Bezaliel; in the shadow of God.
Bezek; lightning, in chains.

Bildar; in fharp pains.
Bildad; old friendship, or motion.
Bilhah; old, troubled, spreading.

Birsha, in evil. Birshiah; daughter of the Lord. Birshon; division, fearch.

Bithynia; inner country, violent haste.

Blaftus; fprouting.
Boanerges; fons of thunder.
Boaz, Booz; in strength.
Bochin; weepers.

Bozcz; muddy. Bozrah; in distress. Bul; old age.

Buz; despised, speiled.

NABUL; dirty, displeasing. Caiaphas; feeking, vomiting, a rock. Cain; possession. Calah; favourable, like green fruit. Caleb; dog, basket, hearty. Calneh, Calno; our finishing. Calvary; place of skulls. Camon; refurrection. Cana; zeal, possession, nest, reed. Canaan; merchant, afflicter. Candace; governor of children. Capernaum; place of repentance or pleasure. Caphtor; pomegranate, bowl. Carchemish; a lamb, taker away. Carmel; vineyard of God. Carmi; my vineyard. Carpus; fruitful. Casiphia; money, covetousness. Cedron, Kidron; black, mournful. Cenchrea; fmall pulse, millet. Cephas; rock, stone. Cæfar; cut, hairy, divine. Chalcol, who nourifhes or supports all. Chaldea, or Chefed; cutting with the teeth, milking with the fingers. Chebar; force, as pure wheat. Chedorlaomer; as a race of commanders, roundness of the sheaf. Chemosh; handling, taking away. Chenaniah; preparation of the Lord. * Cherethims; cutters off, piercers. Chileab; perfection of the father. Chilion; perfection, wasting. Chilmad; as teaching or learning. Chimham, like to them. Chios, opening.

Chisleu; rashnels, confidence. Chittin; bruifers, golden. Chloe, green herb. Choraziu; the mysteries. Cushan-rishathaim; the blackness of iniquia Chuza; vision, prophecy. Cilicia; rolling. Clauda; lame, mournful. Clement; mild, merciful. Cleophas; learned, chief. Coloffe; whitening, punishment. Coniah; stability of the Lord. Corinth; fatisfied, adorned. Cornelius; horny, fun-beam. Cosbi; liar, fliding away. Crefcens; growing. Crete; cut off, carnal. Crispus, curled. Cush, Cushan; black. Cyprus, fairnefs. Cyrene; a wall, coldness, meeting.

ABBASHETH; flowing with honey, Dagon; corn, fish. Daimanutha; exhausting leanness. Dalmatia; vain brightness. Damaris; little woman. Damateus; bloody fack, fimilitude of burn-Dan, Dinah; judgement. Daniel; judgement of God. Dara; race of shepherds, or wickedness. Dathan, Dothan; laws, rites. David, Dod; dear, beloved, uncle. Deborah, Daberah, Debir; oracle, word, thing, bee. Decapoiis; ten cities. Dedan; their breasts or friendship. Delilah; fmall, poor, bucket. Demas; popular. Demetrius; belonging to Ceres the goddese of corn. Derbe; a sting. Deuel; knowledge of God. Diana; light-giving, perfect. Dibon; abundance of understanding. Didymus; a twin. Dimon; red, bloody. Dinhabah; giving judgement. Dionysius; divinely touched. Diotrephes; nourished by Jupiter. Doeg; uneafy actor, fisherman. Dor, Dura; generation, dwelling. Dorcas; semale of a roe-buck. Drufilla; dew-watered. Dumah; filence, likenefs.

EBAL, or dispersed heap.
Ebed-melech, servant of the kingEben-ezer, stone of help.
Eber; passage, sury.
Ebiasaph; gathering, sather.
Ed, witnes.

Eden,

[14]

Eden, pleafure. Edom, red. Edrei; great mass, cloud of the wicked. Eglah, Eglon; heifer, chariot, round. Ehud, the praiser or praised. Ekron, barrenness, torn away. Elah, Elath; an oak, curfe, strength. Elam; secret, virgin, an age. El-beth el, the God of Bethel. Eldad, favoured of God. Elealeh, afcention, or offering of God. Eleazer, Eliezer; help of God. Elhanan, God is gracious. Eli, my offering. Eli, Eloi; my God. Eliab, my God is a father. .. Eliaca; knowledge of God. Eliskim; my God arifes or revenges. Eliam; my God's people. Elias, or Elijah; my God is the Lord. Eliashib; my God will bring back. Eliathah; my God comes. Elihoreph; my God of winter or youth. Elihu; himfelf is my God. Elika; pelican of God. Elim; strong ones, rams, harts, valleys. Elimelech; my God is king. Eliphalet; my God of deliverance. Eliphaz; the endeavour of God. Elisheba, Elisabeth; oath of God. Elisha, Elishua; extensive salvation of God. Elishah; lamb of God. Elishama; my God hears. Elihud; my God be praised. Elizur; my God is a rock. Elkanah; God is jealous, or possesses. Elnathan; God hath given. Elon; oak, grove, strong. Eluza; God is my strength. El, mas; forcerer. Eminis; terrible ones. Emmaus; hot baths, Emmor. See Hamor. En, or Ain; eye or fountain. Endor; fountain of race, dwelling. Engas; praile-worthy. :Au cglaim; fountain or eye of calves, chariots, or roundnefs. Et gedi; well of the goats, or happiness. En-mishphat; well of judgement. Enoch; teaching, dedicated. Enon; fountain, dark mais. Enosh; miserable, desperate. Enrogel; the fuller, or traveller's well. Enshemesh; the sun's well. Epaphras; foamy. Epaphroditus; agreeable, handsome Epenetus; praife-worthy. Erhals; weary, flying.

Ephraim, Ephrath; very fruitful.

Epicurus; giving assistance. Er; watch, enemy

Ephron; dust.

Erastus; lovely. Erech, length, health. Efarhaddon; binding joy, or the point. Efau; perfectly formed. Efek; contention. Ethbaal, Ethbaal; fire, or man of Baal. Eshcol; bunch of grapes. Estaol; a stour woman. Esh emoa; hearing, woman's bosom. Eil:; near separated. Efrom, or Hezron; dart of joy, division of Efther; a star, excellent myrtle. Etam; their bird or covering. Etham; their strength, or fign. Ethan, Ethanim; strong, valiant. Ethiopia; burnt face. Eubulus; prudent in counfel. Eve; living, enlivening. Evil-merodach; foolish Merodach. Eunice; good victory. Euodias; sweet favour. Euphrates; fructifying. Eutychus; fortunate. Ezekiel; God is my strength. Ezel; near, walking, dropping. Ezion-geber; wood, or counfel of man. Ezra; help, a court.

FeI.IX; prosperous, happy. Festus; joyful. Fortunatus; lucky.

Gaash: storm, overthrow. Gabbatha; high, elevated. Gabriel; God is my excellency. Gad; a troop, good fortune. Gadarenes; walled in, hedged. Gaddiel; my troop or fortune is from God. Gaius; earthy. Galatia; white, milky. Galeed; heap of witness. Galilee; heap, rolling, wheel. Gallim; heapers, rollers. Gallio; liver on milk. Gatam; their lowing, or touch. Gath; wine press. Gath-rimmon; press for promegranates Gaza, or zza; strong, goatish. Geba; a hill, cup. Gebal; boundary, limit. Gebim; grashoppers, high ones. Gedaliah; greatness of the Lord. Gehazi; valley of fight. Gemariah; accomplishment of the Lord. Gennefaret; garden of the prince. Gera, Gerar; pilgrimage, dispute. Gergafenes; who come from pilgrimage, or difpute. Gerizzim; cutters. Gerfhon; stranger there. Gershon; change of pilgrimage. Gefhur; valley of oxen.

Gether :

[15]

Gether; vailey or press of inquiry. Gethsemane; valley or press of oil. Giah; direction, figh. Gibeah, Giocon; the hill. G. con; bruifing, breaking. Gilboa; heap of inflamed (welling. Gilead; heap of witness. Gilgal; rolling away. Giloh, Gilon; rejoicing, overturning. Gittain; two presses. Gob; grashopper, eistern, height. Gog; roof, covering. Golan, Goliath; heap, rolling, discovery. Gomer; finishing, confunding. Gomorrah; people rebellious and fearing. Gofhen; approaching. Gozan; fleece, nourishment. Gur; whelp, dwelling, fear.

ABAKKUK; embracer, wrestier. Hadad; joy, outery. Hadadezer; joyful outcry of help. Eladadrimmon; joy or cry of pomegranates. Hadar; beauty, chamber. Hadaffah; myrtle-tree. Hadoram; a cry lifted up, their cloak or power. Hadrach; chamber, or beauty of tenderness. Hagar; a stranger, fearing. Haggai; folemn feast. Haggith; folemn rejoicing. Ham; heat, brownnefs. Haman; noife, preparation. Hamath; heat, anger, wall. Haman-gog; multitude of Gog. Hamor; an afs, clay, wine. Hamutal; his heat of dew. Hanameel, Hananeel; grace and pity from or of God. Hananiah; the grace and gift of the Lord. Hannah, Hanun; gracious. Hanoch, See Enoch. Haran; hilly, finging, hot wrath. Harod; trembling, Harosheth; dumbness, deafness, tillage. Hashmonah; embassy, present. Havilah; painful, bearing. Havoth; villages. Hazael; beholding God. Hazarmaveth; court of death. Hazelelponi; forrow, or plunging of the face. Hazeroth; courts, villages. Hazor; court, hay. Heber; passer over, wrath. Hebron; fellowship, enchantment Helam; their army, a dream. Helbon; fatnefs, milky. Heldai; worldly. Helkath-hazzurim; field of rocks, or firong Heman; trouble, tumult. Hen; grace, rest.

Termous; curie, deftraction

Hermes; gain

Hephzibah; my delight is in her.

Herod; glory of the skin. Heshbon; invention, soon built. Heth; fear, trembling. Hethlon; fearful dwelling. Hezekiah; the strength and support of the Lord. Hezron. See Efrom. Hiddekel; sharp sounding. Hiel; life of God. Hierapolis; holy city, Higgaion, Hegai; meditation-Hilkish; the Lord my portion. Hillel; praifer, foolish. Flinnom; their shricking. Hiram, Huram; their whiteness, or liberty Hivites; lively, ferpents. Hobab; favoured, beloved. Hobah; friendship, secrecy, debt-Hodaiah, Hodaviah; the Lord's praife. Hoglah; her festival, throwing. Hophni; covering me, my fift. Hor; conceiver, thewing. Horeb; dry, defert, ruinous. Horhagidgad; hill of fortune. Hori; free man, wrathful. Horam, Hormah; curse, ruin. Horon, Horonaim; raging, wrath. Hofea, Hofhea; Saviour. Hul; piin, fand, birth, hope. Huldeh; habitable world. Hupham, Huppim; bed-covering. Hur; white, hole, liberty. Hushai; haste, silence, shame. Huzzab, molten. Hymeneus; belonging to marriage, JAALAM; hidden, young man.

Jaazaniah: attention Jaazaniah; attention, balance, or nous ishment of the Lord. Jabal; producing, gliding away. Jabbok; emptying, difpelling. Jabesh; dryuefs, shame. Jabez; forrow, trouble. Jabin; understanding, building. Jachin; establisher. Jacob, James; heeler, fupplanter. Jael; a kid, afcending. JAH; everlasting, self-existent. Jahaz; quarrel, dispute. Jair; the enlightener. Janna; answer, affliction, poverty. Japheth; perfuation, enlargement. Japhia; enlightening, groaning. Jareb; contender, revenger. Jared; descending, ruling, Jasher; upright, rightcous, Jason; healer. Javan; deceiving, forrowful, clay, dirt. Jazer; helper. Ibhar; chofen one. Ichabod; where is the glory? Iconium; coming, likeness. 1ddo; his power, praife, ornament, or wit-Ldumez, [16]

Idumea, as Edom. Jebus; trading, contempt. Jedidiah; well beloved. Jeduthun; who gives praise, his law. Jegarfahadutha; heap of witnefs. Jehouhaz; the Lord fees, or takes possession. Jehoash, Joash; fire or offering of the Lord. Jehoiachin, Jeconiah; preparation or esta-bloshment of the Lord. Jehoiada; praise, or knowledge of the Lord. Jehoiakim; the Lord will establish, or raise up. Jehonadab, Jonadab; the Lord gives freely. Jehoram, Joram; the Lord will exalt. Jehoshaphat; the Lord will judge. JEHOVAH; self-existing, giving being or existence. JEHOVAH-TZIDKENU; the Lord our righteoutnefs. Jehu; himself, existing. Jehudijah; praise of the Lord. Jemima; handsome as the day. Jephthah; the opener. Jephunneh; the beholder. Jerah; the moon, the fmell. Jerahmeel, tender mercy of God. Jeremiah; exaltation of the Lord. Tericho; his moon, his fmell. Jerimoth; heights, rejections. Jeroboam; the contender, or increaser of the people. Jerubbaal ; let Baal plead. Jerubbesheth; let shame plead. Jerusalem, vision of perfect peace. Jerusha; inheritor, banished. Jeshimon; desolation, desert. Jeshurun; upright. Jesse; my present. Jesui; equal, proper, flat country. Jesus, Jeshua; a Saviour. Jether, Jethro; excellent, remaining, search. Jetur; keeping order, hilly. Jeush; guawed, affembled. Jew; of Judah.

Jezebel; ifle of the dwelling or dunghill.

Jezreel; feed of God.

Jezrahiah; the Lord arifes brightly. Igdaliah; greatness of the Lord. Jidlaph; dropping. Ijon; eye, well. Illyricum; rejoicing. Imlah; fulness, circumcision. Immanuel; God with us. India or Hodis; his praise. Joab, fatherliness. Joah, brotherhood. Joannah, grace or gift of the Lord. Job; weeping, sobbing, hated. Jochebed, glory of the Lord. Joel; willing, commanding, fwearing. Joezer, helper. Joha, enlivening. Johanan, John; grace of the Lord-Jokshan; hard, scandalous. Jonah; a dove, oppressing.

Jonathan, the Lord hath giver. Joppa, or Japho; comeliness. Jordan; descent, river of judgement. Jorim: the Lord exalts, or cafts. Jose; raiser, pardoner, saviour. Joseph; addition, increase. Joshua, the Lord the Saviour. Josiali, the Lord burns. Jotham, perfection of the Lord. Iphediah, redemption of the Lord. Ira; city, watch, fpoil, pouring. Irad, wild afs. Irijah, fear or fight of the Lord. Ifaac; laughter, joy. Isaiah, salvation of the Lord. Iscali; anointing, covering. Iscariot, man of the bag, hire, or murder. Ishbak; empty, forsaken. Ishbibenob; sitting in force, in word. Ishbosheth, man of shame. Ishi; my man, my falvation. Ishmael, God will hear. Ifrael, princely prevailer with God. Islachar; hire, recompence. Italy, calves. Ithamar, ifle of palm-trees. Itheel; God comes, God with me. Ithream, excellency of the people. Iturea; guarded, mountainous. Ivah, perverseness. Jubal; produce, trumpet. Judah, the praise of the Lord. Julia, foft and tender hair. Junia; young, belonging to Juno. Jupiter, Lord and helping father. Justus, righteous. fon, i. e. Ishmael. Kedar; blackness, sorrow. Kedemah; eastern, beginning. Keilah; the divider, cutter. Kemuel, God has raifed him.

Kadesh, Kedesh; holiness.

Kadesh-barnea, holiness of the sugitive Kenaz; this nest, possession, or lamenta-Keren-happuch, horn of painting. Ketnrah; perfumed, incenfe-burner. Kezia, Cassia; surface, angle. Keziz, furthest end. Kibroth-hattaavah, graves of lust. Kidron. See Cedron. Kir, Kirjath, Kerioth; city, wall, calling, reading, meeting. Kir-haretheth; city of the fun, or with walls of burnt brick. Kiriathaim, the two cities. Kirjath-arba, city of Arba. Kirjath-arim, city of watchers. Kirjath baal, city of Baal. Kirjath-jearim, city of woods. Kirjath-sannah, city of bushes, or hatred. Kirjath fepher, city of books, or letters. Kish, Kishon; hard, straw, old, entangling.

Rittim. See Chittini. Kobath; affembly obedience, bluntness. Kurah; bald, 'rozen, calling. Kushaiah; hard ess, or chain or the Lord.

AADAN, for pleafure. Laban; white a brick. Lacmin, walker, telf-exister. Lahmi; my bread, or war. Laish, a lion Lamech; poor, debased, stricken. Laodicea, just people. Lapidoth, lamps. L zarus; nelpless, helped of God. Leah, wearied. Lebanon; white, frankincenfe. Lebbeus, strong-hearted. Lehabim, flames. Lehi, jaw bone. Lemuel, God is with them. Levi. joined, affociated. Libnah, Libni; whiteness. Lybia, Lubim; hearty. Li s, nets. L char begetting of the word.

Leis Serri L i; wrapt up, myrrh, rofin. Lue Luke, Lucius; light giving. Lu der; morning ftar, light bringer. Liz reparation, almond, or hazzle-bush. Lycaonia, full of wolves. Lydda or Lod, Lydia or Lud; begetting; birth.

NAACHAH squeezing.

Maaseiah, work of the Lord. Macedonia liften up. Machin; understanding, selling. Machpelah, double. Magdala; a tower, greatness. Magog covering, melving. Mahalaleel; praited God praifer of God. Mahalath; melodiou-fong, infirmity. Macanaim, two armirs. Maham-dan car p of Dan. Mather shalai- ash baz; hastening to the fpoil, he nattens to the prey. Matlah, Mahlen; fong, infirmity. Makkenah; profration, adoring. Malcham their king. Malchiel, God is my king. Malchifbua, my Ki g 15 a faviour. Mammon; riches, multitude. Manire; rebellious, changing, fat, high. Manaen. See Menahem. Manna, prepared postion. Manoah; rest, a present. Maon, dwelling. Marah, bitternefs. Mark; polite, shining. Mary. See Miriam. Mafrekah ; whittling, hiffing.

Maffah; temptation, trial.

Matrimy; a prifou.

You. 11.

M - tun; gift, reins, their death. M. ttathias, Matthias, Matthew; gift of the Matthat; gift, giver. Mebunnai; the builder. Medad; measure, juice of breasts. M dia or Madai; measure, covering. Megaido; declaring, precious froit, spoil, Mehetabeel; ho good is God? Mehujael; proclaiming God, or blotted out and finitien of God. M lech; a king. Mel. hi-zedek; king of righteoufnefs. Mehta; refuge, honey. Memphis; drooping, honey-comb. Menahem, Manaen; comforter. Mene; he has numbered. Mephibosheth; from my mouth proceeds Merab; fighter, multiplier.

Merari, bitter, provoking. Mercurius; merchant. Meribah, strife. Meribaal; strife of Baal.

Merodach-baladan; bitter bruifing of Baal, the lord; bruifed myrrh of the old lord or judge.

Merom; high place, lifted up. Meroz; secret, leanness.

Meihech, Meshach; drawn by force furrounded.

Meshelemiah; peace, persection, or recompence of the Lord

Metopotamia; between the rivers.

Melliah arointed. Methufael; death is hell.

Methushelah; his death produces, at his death shall be the breaking out, viz. of the flood.

Micah; poor, humble, ftricken. Michaich Michael; who is like God. Michal; who has all, all is water.

Michaedh; the poor or striker is taken a-Midian, Medan; judgement, habit, covering. Migrou; lear, farm, throat.

Milcah; queen. Milcom; their king.

Miletum; red, fearlet, foft wool.

Millo; filling up.

Minni, Minnith; numbered, prepared.

Mirian, Mary; exalted bitterness of the sea, lady of the ea.

Mishael; who is asked for, God takes away. Mifrephoth-main, ; burnings of waters, melting furnaces.

Mitylene; purity, press.

Mizar; little.

Mizpeli, Mizpali; a watching.

Mizcain , tribulacions.

Minfon; a diligent beker, a rememberer.

Meab of defathe

Moladah; generation, birth.

Molech,

Molech, Moloch, Malluch, Malchus; king.

Moroccai; bitter bruifing, myrrh bruifed. Moriah . doctrine, or fear of the Lord. Moleroth; teachings, corrections, bonds. Mofes; drawn out of the water.

Mushi: toucher, withdrawer. Myra; flowing, weeping. Myfia; criminal, abominable.

Nahoth Nabalash Comely, pleafant. Naboth, Nebaioth; fruits, words, prophe ies, Nadab; voluntary, princely, free.

Nagge; brightnefs.

Naharai, Nahor; hoarfe, hot, dry, angrv. Nahshon, Nahash; serpent, soretelling, bra-

Nahum, Naum; comforter, repenting.

N in; beauty, pleafantnets.

Naomi; my agreeable pleafantness, my comely one.

Naphish; refreshing the foul. Naphtali; my wrettling.

Narciffus; stupidity, furprife.

Nathan; giver, gift.

Nathanael, Nethaneel; gift of God. Nazareth; kept, flower, branch.

Neapolis; new city. Nebat; beholder.

Nebo; speaker, prophet, fruetisier.

Nebuchadnezzar; Nebo's conqueror of treafures: Nebuchadrezzar; Nebo's roller of treafures: others think, it figuifies tears, groans, and trouble, of judgement.

Nebuzaradan; Nebo's winnower of lords or judgement.

Necho; smitten, lame. Nehelamite; dreamer.

Nehemiah; comfort or repentance of the Lord.

Nehushta, Nehushtan; brass-work, serpent, touthfaying.

Ner; bright lamp, land new tilled.

Neri, my light.

Neriah; light of the Lord. Nethinims, given, consecrated.

Nicanor; a conqueror.

Nicodemus; innocent blood, conqueror of the people.

Nicolas, Nicolaitans; conquering the people.

Nicopolis; city of victory.

Niger; black.

Nimrim; leopards, changes, rebellions. Nimrod; rebellion, ruler's fleep.

Nimshi; rescued, touching.

Nmeveh; pleafant dwelling.

Nifan; flight, itandard, trial.

No; dwelling.

Noadiah; witness, assembly, or ornament of the Lord.

Noah; rest, comfort,

Neb; prophecy, discourse.

Nobah; barking. Nod; vagabond, wandering, Nohhah; tottering Noph. See Memphis. Nun; fon, postericy, eternal. Nymphas; bridegroom.

BADIAH; fervant of the Lord. Obal; old age, flux. Obed; * fervant. One -edoni; a fervant of Edom. Obil; old, brought, weeping. Ocron; diffurber. Oded; to lift r hold up. Og; a cake, bread baked in the asher. Ohel; taberneele, brightness. Olympas; heavenly. Omar, Omri; commanding, fpeech. Hhomri; the af of corn-On, Onan; pain, force, iniquity, Onefimus; profitable. Oneliphorus; bringing profit. Ophel; tower, obfcurity. Ophir; abounding with ashes, Ophrah ; dust, lead, a fawir Oreb; a raven, evening, mixture. Othniel; the time of God. Ozen:; fasting, eagerness.

DAARAI, Peor; hole, opening. Padan-aram; palace of Syria, or Syria of the two, i. e. rivers.

Pagiel, intercession with God. Paler, Palti, Phalti; deliverance, flight.

Pamphylia, all tribes. Paphos; hot, boiling.

Paran; beauty, glory. Parmenas, abiding.

Parosh; a flea, fruit of moths.

Paruah; flourishing.

Pashur; extending the whole, whiteness, or freedom.

Patara, interpreting oracle. Pathros, corner of dew or water.

Patmos; turpentine-tree, fqueezing.

Patrobas, father's steps Pau; crying, appearing.

Paulus, Paul; little.

Pedahzur, redeeming rock. Pedaiah; redemption of the Lord.

Pekah, Pekahiah; opening of the Lord. Pelatiah; deliverance or flight of the Lord, Peleg, divition.

Pelethites; judges, destroyers. Peniel. Penuel, Phanuel; face of God, Penninah; pearl, precious stone.

Perga, very earthy.

Pergamos; height, raising up. Perizzites, scattered in villages.

Persians, Persis, Parthians; divided, horsemen.

Peter, a rock.

Pethuel, enlargement or persuasion of God.

Phallu; admirable, hidden.

Pharez,

[19]

Pharez, Perazim; breaking forth violently. Pharpar, Parbar; fruitful. Phebe; fluning, pure. Phenice; red, purple, palm-tree. Phichol, completed mouth Philanelphia, love of brothren. Philemon; affectionate kiffer. Philetus; beloved, escaped. Philip, Philippi; love or horfes. Philistines, Palestine; rolling, wrapping, digging, fearching. Phitologus, lover of learning. Phinehas, beholding trust or protection. Phlegon, burning. Phrygia; dry, barren, burnt. Phurah; growing, fruittul. Phygellus; little, fugitive. Pihahiroth; pats of Hiroth, opening of liberty. Pilate armed with darts. Pinon, Punon; beholding, pearl, jewel. Pirathon; feattering, breach, revenge. Pigah; hill, height, fortrefs. Pisidia; pitchy. Pifon; changing, doubling, wide month. Pithon; perfuation, gift of the mouth. Pontius, Pontus; of the fea. Prifca, Prifcilla; ancient. Pro horus, chief of the choir. Puah corner, groaning, appearing. Pudens, shame-faced. Pul; bean, destruction. Pur, lot. Put or Phut, fatness. Punel, God is my fatness. Purcoli; stinking, little wells. QUARTUS, the fourth.

R AAMAH; thunder, bruifing. Rabbah; greatness, contention. Rab, master: Rabbi, my master. Rachal; injurious, perfuming. Rahab; proud, quarrelsome, largeness. Rakkath, Rakon empty, spittle. Ram, Ramah, Ramath, Arimathea; high, lifting up, rejected. Ramathaim zophim, double Ramah of the watchmen. Rapha, Raphu; healing, loofing. Reba; the fourth. Rebekah; fatted, pacified. Rechab; fquare, riding chariot. Regem; stoning, purple. Rehabia, the Lord will extend. Rehob, Rehoboth; street, wideness, Reh boam, enlarger of the people. Rehum; mercitul, friendly. Rei, my friend. Remaliah, the Lord exalts, or rejecta, Remmon, Rimmon; height, pomegranate. Rei hael, God heals. Reptidin, jeds of reft. Resen, a bridle.

Reu or Ragau, his friend. Reuel, Raguel; triend of God. Reuben, see a son. Re mah, lofty. Rezin; voluntary, runner. Rezon: lean, small, secret, prince. Rhegium, breach. Rheta; will, courfe. Rhoda, Rhodes; a rofe. Riblah; budding, fifting. Riphath; healing, releafe. Riffath; watering, dewy. Rizpath; bed, coal, free stone. Rodanim : defeending, communding. Romamti-ezer; exalting, help. Rome; ftrength, height Rosh; head, beginning poison. Rufus, red. Ruhamah, having obtained mercy. Rumah; exalted, rejected. Ruth; drunk, fatisfied.

SABEANS. See Seba, Sheba. Sabta, furrounding. Sabtecha; furrounding, or caufing to firike. Salah. See Shelah Salamis; peaceful, toffed. Salathiel, Shealtiel; asked of God, loan of God. Salem, Salim, Salmon, Salome; peaceable, perfect, reward. Samaria; guard, prifon. Samla; raiment, left hand. Samos, fandy. Samfon; fon, fervice. Samuel, afked of and lent to God. Sanbaliat; fecret bush, or enemy. Sanfannah; bushy. Saph, Suph, Sippai; rushes, end, flat, three fhold, bafon. Saphir, Sapphira; relation, book. Sarah, lady; Sarai, my lady. Sarfechim, mafter of the wardrobes or per-Satan, burning adverfary. Saul; afked, lent, grave, hell. Scythian; bowman, tanner. Seba, Sabeans; drunken, furrounding, old. Sebat, Shebet; twig, sceptre, tribe. Segub; fortified, raifed high. Seir, Shaarini; hairy, goat, devil, tempeft, barley, gate. Semei; hearing, obedient. Sennacherib; bush of the fword, drought; or folitude. Sepharvaim; the two books or feribes. Serah; lady of feent, morning flar Seraiah; prince or fong of the Lord. Serug, Saruch; brauch, twining Seth, Sheth; placed, appointed.

Shaalbim, Shaalbin, Shaalbon; pertaining

(C 2)

Thadrach;

Shaalim; foxes fifts, paths.

Shealishat three, third, prince.

foxes.

Shadrach; tender nipple, a follower of Shach Shallum, Shalman; peaceable, persect, re-

Shalmaneser; peace, persection, or reward, chained; perfection of Affyria.

Shanigar; aftonished, stranger. Shambuth, Shamman; desolation, astonish-

Shamir, Shemer; prison, bush, lees, thorn. Shammuah ; heard, obeyed.

Shaphan; rabbit, their lip.

Shaphat, judging.

Sharai; my prince, my fong.

Sharazer; master of the treasury. Sharon, a princely plain. Shashak, fixth bag of linen.

Shaveh; a plain, equality.

Shearian; gate, or ftorm of the Lord.

Sheba, Shebna; captivity. conversion, recalling from captivity.

Shecheni; shoulder, part, early. Shedeur, destroyer of fire.

Shekel, weighing.

Shelan, Saia; fending, reft.

Shelemiah; perfection, peace, or reward of the Lord

Sheleph, drawing out.

Shelomith, Shulamite; peace, perfection, or recompence.

Shelumiel; God is my peace, perfection, and Shem, Sem; putting, name, renown. Shemaiah; hearing of the Lord.

Shemariah; guard, or diamond of the Lord. Shemeber, name of strength, or wing.

Shemida; name of knowledge.

Shemiramoth; names of exaltations. Shen; tooth, ivory, change

Shenir; fleeping, or renewed, lamp. Sheva; vanity, height, tumult.

Shibboleth; stream, bridge, ear of corn.

Shichron, drunkenness, gift, wages.

Shiloah, Siloam; fent. Shiloh; peace, folvation.

Shinieah, Shiniei; hearing, obedient.

Shinar; shaking out.

Shiphrah; handsome, trumpet. Shittim; thorns, turners away.

Shobab; turned back.

Shobach, Shophacli; a dove-house.

Sheah; a pit, fwimming, humiliation, meditation, speech.

Shual; fox, fid, path.

Shunem: their change, repeating, or fleep.

Shur; beholding, wall, ox. Shuthan, Sufanna; lily, rofe. joy.

Shuthelah; planting, drinking pot.

Sibmah, Shebam; turning, captivity, reft, oid age.

Siddim, bruifed fields.

Sibon; rooting out, conclusion. Sihor Shihor; black, trouble, early,

Silas, or Tertius; the third.

Silvanus, woody. Simeon, Simon: hearing, obedient.

Sin, Sinar, Seneh, Sivan; bush. Sion, or Shion; noise, tumult.

Sirion, breast-plate. Sifera, view of horfes or fwallows.

Smyrna, myrrh.

Sodi, my fecret. Sodom; their feeret: but in the Arabic it fignifie, hidden pit, anxious defire, repentance. Solomon, the fame as Shelomith. Sopater, Sofipater; faving the father.

Sor k; hiffing, yellowish, vine.

Softhenes; strong faviour.

Spain; rabbits, precious. Stephanas, Stephen; a crown.

Succoth, Socoh; tabernacles. Succoth-benoth: tents of daughters.

Sur, departure.

Suff, my horfe, moth, or fwallow.

Sychar, drunkennefs. Syene, the fame as Sin.

Syntyche; fellowship, converse. Syracufe; violent drawing.

AANACH; thy humbler, answerer, or affl.cler.

Taanath shiloh, fig producer.

Tabbaoth, funk deep.

Tabbath, goodness. Tabeel, God is good.

Tabitha; clear fighted, wild goat.

Tabor; choice, purity. Tabrimmon; good pomegranate.

Tadwor; paim-tree. Talmai, Telem; furrow.

Tamar, palm-tree. Tammuz : concealed

Tabhumeth; comfort, repentance. Tarshish; blue-coloured, making poor.

Tartak, chained up.

Tartan; their law, or instruction.

Tatnai, overfeer of prefents.

Tebah; butchery, cookery. Tebeth, goodness.

Tekel, weighing.

Tekoah; found of the trumpet, or suspension. Tel-harsha. heap of the plow.

Tel-melah, heap of talt.

Tema, Teman; admiration, perfection, fouth. Terah, breathing feent.

Teraphim; images, batenefs, reproach.

Tertullus; a cheat, crested singer.

Thaddeus; praise, confession. Than fh; hastening.

Thamah; blotting out.

Thebez; muddy, eggs, fine linen.

Theophilus, lover of God.

Thessalonica; victory over the Thessalians. Theudas, the fame as Thaddeus.

Thomas, a twin, found.

Thyatira; daughter, facrifice of bruifing las bear.

Tiberias,

2 I

Tiberias, Tiberius; from the river Tiber. Tibni; my straw, or understanding. Tidal; knowledge of high things, breaker of the yoke.

Tiglath-pilezer; the captivating work of Pul the Affyrian; or the wonderful binder of captives.

Timnath; figure, reckoning. Timeus, Timon; perfect, honourable.

Timotheus, honour of God. Tiphsah, passage over.

Tirhakah; inquirer, dull lawgiver.

Tirzah, well pleasing. Tishbeh, turning back. Titus, honourable.

Tob, goodness.

Tobiah; goodness of the Lord.

Tob-adonijah, the goodness of the support-

Togarmah; bony, breaking of bones.

Tohu, living and declaring. Toi, Tou, wandering.

Tophel; ruin, folly, tasteless. Tophet; a drum.

Trophimus, well educated. Tryphena, delicious.

Tryphofa, very shining.

Tubal; confusion, world, bringing back. Tubal-cain; Cain shall be brought back; worldly possession. Tychicus, fortunate.

Tyrannus, reigning prince. Tyre, or Tzur; the rock, strong.

CAL, prevalent power. Ulam; their folly, the porch. Ulla; lifting up, burnt-offering, leaf, little Unni; poor, afflicted, answerer. Ur; light, fire, a valley. Urijah, Uriah; light of the Lord.

Uriel, God is my light. Uthai, my time.

Uz, council.

Uzzen-sherah; the attention of the rest; the ear of flesh.

Uzzah; strength, goat.

Uzziah, the Lord is my strength.

Uzziel, God is my strength.

Vashni, the second.

Vophii; fragment, leffening.

ABBAI; my flowing. L Zabdi; my portion, or dowry. Zaccai, Zaccheus; pure, just. Zachariah, memory of the Lord. Zachur, Zacher; remembered. Zadok; righteous, justified.

Zaham; crime, filthineis.

Zalmon, Zalmonah; shadowy, image.

Zalmunna; shadow, or tingling of prohibition, or commotion.

Zamzummims, projectors of crimes. Zanoah; forgetfulness, desertion.

Zarah, Zerah; east, brightness, rifing Zarephath; cafting of metals, a crucible; refining.

Zebadiah, Zebedee; the Lord is my portion.

Zehoim; painted, deer, serpents. Zebul, Zebulun; dwelling.

Zedekiah, righteoufness of the Lord.

Zecb, wolf. Zelek, noify.

Zelophehad, the shadow of sear. Zelotes, full of zeal and jealoufy.

Zelzah, noon-tide.

Zenas, living.

Zephon, Z phaniah; the secret of the Lord. Zephath, Zepho, Zephi, Ziphion; beholding, covering.

Zereda, Zeredatha; ambush, plan of power.

Zeror; binding, root.

Zeruah; leprous, wasp.

Zerubbabel; stranger in Babel; alien from confusion.

Zeruiah; pain, or chain of the Lord. Ziba, Zibiah; army, battle, stag.

Zibeon, painting.

Zichri; my remembrance or male. Zidon; hunting, fishing, venison. Zif; brightness.

Ziklag; measure, pressed down. Zillah; shadowy, tingling of ears.

Zilpah; dropping. Zimran; fong, vine, pruning. Zimri; my pruning vine, fong.

Zin; buckler, coldness. Zion, Sion; a dry fepulchral heap.

Zior; ship of the watcher. Ziph; falfity.

Zippor, Zipporah, Zophar; turning about, bird, goat.

Zithri; my leanness, my herb, savoury.

Ziz; flower, branch.

Zoan; motion, laying up. Zoar, Zair, Zior, Zuar; small, chies.

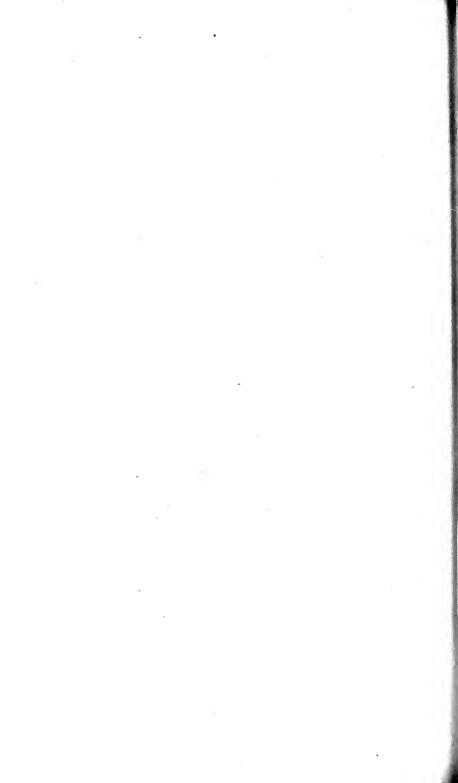

Zobebah; fwelling.

Zophah, Zophim, Zuph; beholding, honeycomb, roof, covering. Zorah; leprofy, scab.

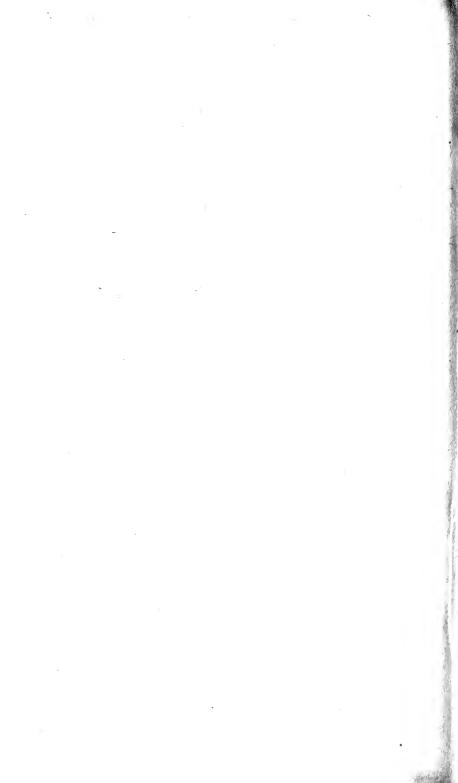

Zur; stone, rock, from edge.

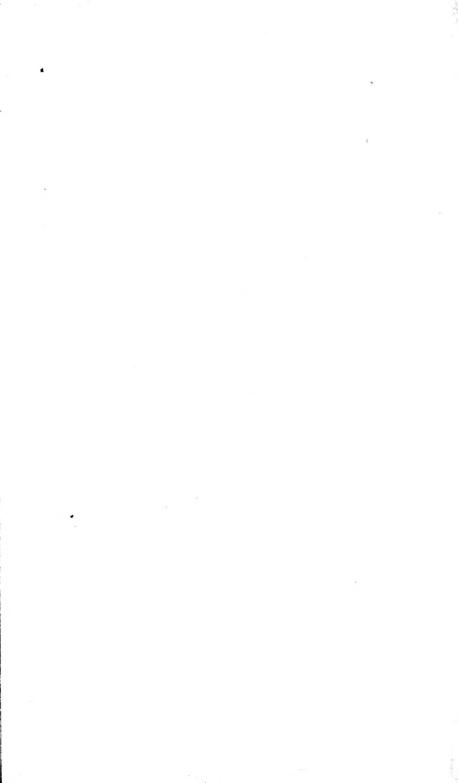

Zurishaddai; the Almighty is my rock, or Zuzime; posts of a door, splendor, beauty:

at a. t. with

